Assisting her will be Judy Stokes, vice-president; Marie Fisher, secretary-treasurer. Dr. B. C. Badger, head of the Math Department, will serve as the new sponsor.

Anne, a junior from Warwick, is majoring in biology and general science. She is a member of the Monogram Club, social chairman for the Baptist Student Union, co-chairman of Y-Come, and has been elected senior class treasurer for next year.

SAI

Another honorary society, Sigma Alpha Iota, has elected its leaders. Nancy Evans will guide the music society as president.

Jean Helms, vice-president; Janet Underwood and Mary Blair, co-secretaries; and Judy Mason, treasurer, will work with her.

Nancy is a sophomore from South Hill. She is a music major and a member of the choir.

French Club

The French Club has chosen co-presidents for the coming year—Bonnie Bryant and Bonnie Mann Hammersly.

Working with them will be Wirtley Raine, vice-president; Lillie Rodgers, secretary; and Nancie Johnson, treasurer.

Bonnie Bryant, a junior French and Spanish major from Front Royal, is this year's president of the French Club, co - advertising manager of the Rotunda, and a member of the Spanish Club. Bonnie Hammersly is a junior English and French major from Farmville. She is a member of Beore Eh Thorn, honorary English society; Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society; Delta Zeta social sorority; and Cotillion Club. She was day-student representative to Student Goverument first semester.

Art

(Continued from page 1)

painting of pink spray flowers in the exhibit.

A small abstract silver pin, a clay serving tray, a chip-carved box, and a tray with black and gold figures represent Ann's contributions to the exhibit.

Carole's portion of the exhibit includes a woodcut, two oils, two watercolors, and a pencil sketch of a tobacco market.

Mary Fem is displaying a pen and ink drawing, a pencil drawing of the Rotunda entitled "8 AM," a silk screen replica of "Evolution," a copper knife, and silver earrings.

Addie is exhibiting a pencil drawing, a crayon drawing, an oil, and a woodcut. Her crafts are enameled copper trays.

Department Display

Besides the exhibit in the library, the Art Department has an exhibit in its area in West Wing. In this exhibit are varieties of paintings and crafts which represent the works of all art students.

Following the lecture by Mr. John Canaday Wednesday, the Art Department will honor him with an informal reception in the Browsing Room of the library.

Committee Heads

The committee for arrangements, under Miss Virginia Bedford, Art Department chairman, are Martha Clark, collector of student work; Carole Lassiter, publicity and catalog of the exhibition; Melinda Franklin and Mary Pem Lewis, arrangements for the exhibit; and Amy McFall, informal reception.

Students Continue Class Registration

Registration for sophomores for the fall semester of the 1959-60 session will be held in the Sophomore Rec Thursday, April 16, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Freshmen will register there April 23.

Students will not be excused from classes for registration as they have been assigned an hour for registration according to free periods on their class schedules for this semester.

Seventeen hours is the maximum class load approved without special permission. If anyone wishes to carry more than 17 hours, a permit must be secured from Mr. Bittinger.

After the schedules have been submitted to the "Final Approval Desk," the student is not permitted to drop any course or add a new course without permission. Each student will be given a "Program of Classes" and a "Tentative Program Card," which should be filled in in ink.

Faculty News

English teachers of District "P" of the Virginia Education Association heard Dr. R. C. Simonini, Jr. as their guest speaker at a dinner meeting in Roanoke April 9. In his talk on "A New Look at Grammar" Dr. Simonini discussed some new material in structural linguistics which are being introduced in public school English teaching throughout the country.

Alumnae Meeting

Dr. Francis Lankford and Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, alumnae secretary, will attend a dinner meeting of the Danville Chapter of the Alumnae Association Wednesday, April 22, where Dr. Lankford will address the group.

Art Alliance

Mrs. Janice Lemen took part in the meeting of the Art Alliance of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts Saturday, April 11. The Art Alliance convenes annually at the Museum to discuss matters of importance to State art enthusiasts. It is composed of group members of the Virginia Museum.

The Alliance began with three simultaneous meetings of representatives from schools, colleges and civic groups respectively. Following luncheon, representatives heard a review of the current biennial exhibition, "Virginia Artists 1959."

Roanoke Conference

Dean E. R. Boggs, and Mr. Charles H. Patterson, Jr., Associate Professor of Education, are attending the annual meeting of the elementary principals and supervisors conference being held in Roanoke this week.

Dr. Boggs is serving as educational consultant for the different group discussions and summarized the work of all of the discussion groups on the program this morning.

Contest Extension

The deadline for the Philip Morris contest has been extended to May 1. Half of each sorority's total entry must be turned in in the Main Rec by April 23. The Longwood sorority or Hampden-Sydney fraternity winning will receive an RCA Victor 17 inch television set.

All Philip Morris, Marlboro, and Parliament soft-packs will count three points; all others will count two points.

Begin turning in your wrappers now!

Cultural Program Scheduled Abroad

Nine major European countries will be visited during the third annual Comparative Government Workshop Abroad to be conducted by the School of Government and Public Administration of The American University from June 23 to September 3.

The field study group will tour Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, France, Great Britain, Yugoslavia, Liechtenstein, and Vatican City.

Seminars include discussions with European officials and public affairs leaders and field trips to agencies and organizations of selected European governments. There will also be free time for visits to cultural and historical locations.

The workshop gives six college credits, either graduate or undergraduate, and is open to students with a basic background in government, history, or political science who have never visited Europe.

For further information, contact Dr. Emmett Mittlebeeler at the School of Government and Public Administration, The American University, 1901 F St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

'Letter To Editor' Wins State Contest

Immajean Gallimore, a freshman from Roanoke, has been announced as one of the two state winners in the Christian Endeavor's Citizenship Contest.

Judging is on the basis of "A Letter to My Editor" on the subject, "Speak For Christian Citizenship," along with a record of the young person's activities in school, church and community.

She will compete in the regional contest with top winners becoming eligible for the Albert H. Diebold Award's, totaling $1,000. First place winners in the finals will be announced April 27 and will receive a cash award of $200.00 plus a trip to the 45th International Christian Endeavor Convention in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, July 6-11.

Immajean addressed her letter to Mr. Larry Gould, editor of the Roanoke World News.

Faculty Changes

(Continued from page 1)

with the business matters of the college. He has been the department head since 1955.

His successor, Mr. Brooks, received his B.P.E. degree from Springfield College in 1930 and was later awarded his M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1942. He has been a member of Longwood's faculty as associate professor of education since 1957.

Associate Professors

Promoted from the rank of assistant to associate professors were Miss Annie Lee Ross of the Art Department, Mr. James Marvin Helms of History and Social Sciences, and Mr. Robert E. Merritt of Natural Sciences.

Miss Ross received her B.F.A. from Bethany College in 1934 and M.A. degree in 1941 from Ohio State University. She started teaching at Longwood in 1950 as instructor of art and in 1952 was promoted to assistant professor.

Mr. James Helms received his B.S. degree from Chemoon College in 1948 and his M.A. from the University of Virginia in 1955. He has been a member of Longwood's faculty since 1954 at which time he was an instructor of history. In 1955 he was made assistant professor.

Mr. Robert E. Merritt gained his B.S. degree from New York State College for Teachers and his M.S. from Cornell University. He was appointed to Longwood in 1953 as assistant professor of biology.

Do You Think for Yourself? (THIS SHORT QUIZ WILL TIP YOU OFF!*)

1. When your friends impart confidences, do you feel (A) uncomfortable, or (B) complimented? A☐ B☐

5. Do you find that you work or study more effectively (A) under supervision, or (B) on your own schedule? A☐ B☐

2. Do you prefer a task which demands (A) the organization of complex details, or (B) a constant flow of ideas? A☐ B☐

6. Is it your feeling that close friendships with superiors would be (A) a great help, or (B) actually a hindrance to your career with a firm? A☐ B☐

3. Would your first reaction to a difficult committee appointment be that you had been (A) "stuck," or (B) honored? A☐ B☐

7. Which, to your mind, has the greater influence on you in making a good grade: (A) the instructor, or (B) the subject matter of a course? A☐ B☐

4. If you were a contestant on a quiz program which of these question categories would you prefer: (A) popular songs of today, or (B) current events? A☐ B☐

8. Do you believe that the saying "haste makes waste" is (A) always true, or (B) often false? A☐ B☐

9. Which would weigh more heavily in your choice of filter cigarettes: (A) the opinions of friends with similar tastes, or (B) your own considered judgment? A☐ B☐

It is usually the case that men and women who really think for themselves come around to VICEROY as their brand of filter cigarette . . . for two very good reasons: VICEROY is the one cigarette that gives them a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste.

If you checked (B) on any six of the nine questions . . . you really think for yourself!

Familiar pack or crush-proof box.

© 1959, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows — ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER . . . A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

Support May Day Festivities

The Rotunda

Attend Teck Concert Thursday

VOLUME XXXVIII | Longwood College, Farmville, Va. April 29, 1959 | No. 19

May Day To Retell 'Snow White' Story

Dorm Construction Begins, Mottley Submits Low Bid

Construction began last week on the Leola Wheeler Dormitory at Longwood College. Scheduled for completion by September, 1960, the new building will house 184 students.

General contractors are Mottley Construction Company of Farmville who submitted the low bid of $536,800. Architects are Thompson and Payne of Roanoke.

The new building will be the first and central building in a group of three that are expected to be constructed within the next five years. The structure will face a court yard formed by the rear of Jarman Hall, the front of Stevens Hall, and by the north side of Cunningham Hall. The rear of the building will face Ely Street and will fill space formerly occupied by private residences which were purchased by the college.

The dormitory will be four stories high. Entrance will be gained through doors leading from the court yard. On the first floor will be a suite of rooms for the head resident, vestibules, parlors, utility rooms, and four student rooms. The second and fourth floors will be identical, each having 30 student rooms, clothes pressing and storage rooms. The third floor will have 28 student rooms and a recreation area plus the pressing and Student rooms will be built in units of two with a connecting bath. Each room will house two students and will be approxmately 11 by 16 feet plus entrance ways and closets.

With the completion of the Leola Wheeler Dormitory, plus South Cunningham Hall which was completed by September 1958, and other dormitories and classroom facilities planned; Longwood College will increase its capacity to nearly 1700 boarding students by 1970. This expected increase is based on the assumption that the college will continue to enroll the same percentage of Virginia high school graduates then as it does now. The expansion is Longwood College's attempt to meet the forthcoming increase in college enrollments and to help meet the increased demand for qualified teachers in Virginia.

The new dormitory is named for the late Miss Leola Wheeler, a former professor of speech and drama at the college.

storage spaces.

Sophs, Juniors Fill Positions In Class

The sophomore and junior classes held elections for the chairmen of various committees and the junior house president for the year 1959-60.

The sophomore class elected Joyce Odom and Sandra Watkins as their junior dance co-chairmen. Bobby Koons was elected as house president in place of Beverly Kersey who will not return in the fall. Nancy Speakman was appointed to be the senior banquet chairman and Sheila Galloway was appointed to serve as scrapbook chairman. The sophomore Circus chairmen are Jean Dancy and Mary Hite Grayson.

The junior class elected Marie Messick and Carole Lassiter as circus co-chairmen. Carolyn DeHaven and Ann Mixon were elected to serve as the senior dance co-chairmen. Jo Ann Garner was elected to serve as class historian.

Two Music Students To Give Piano Recital

Nancy Glenn Taylor and Jo Ann Garner, both music majors, will present a joint piano recital Sunday, May 3 at 4 p.m. in Jarman Hall.

The program will begin with Bach's "Suite in E Flat Major," which is comprised of six dance movements, played by Nancy. Following will be Mozart's "Sonata in B Flat Major, K. 570," by Jo Ann.

After intermission, Nancy will play an "Intermezzo in A Minor" and "Ballade in G Minor" by Johannes Brahms, "Prelude in E Minor" and "Prelude in B Major" by Frederic Chopin, followed by the contemporary composition "Clog Dance" by Howard Hanson.

Concluding the recital, Jo Ann will play "Prelude in D Flat Major" and "Prelude in G Minor" by Chopin, "Nocturnal from Triakontameron by Leopold Godowsky and finally "Serenata Andaluza" by Manuel deFalla.

Tech Choral Group To Give Program In Jarman April 30

The Virginia Tech Glee Club will present "Concertime" here at Longwood College tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in Jarman Hall.

Consisting of approximately 52 members, the glee club will be under the direction of Miss Helen Rose Holland and will be accompanied by Rollin Wehman. Harold Hollans will act as Master of Ceremonies.

The program will include 15 varied numbers ranging from "De-Aimals a-Comin'," a Negro Spiritual, to the popular hit tunes of "Catch A Falling Star" and "Donna."

The featured selections will include an accordian solo entitled "Caravan," two numbers sung by a quartet who call themselves "The Tech Tones," and the favorite "Moonlight and V. P. I." from the glee club's album "Music From V. P. I."

The Longwood College choir will serve as hostess for the visiting glee club at a dinner which will be held before the performance.

Admission will be free for all Longwood students.

Whipple To Attend Harvest Festival

Claudia Whipple has been chosen to represent Longwood College in the second annual Harvest Festival next fall.

Representatives from Virginia women's colleges serve as princesses in the festival.

Claudia, a physical education major from Middlebrook, is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, the Monogram Club, Student Government, and president of the A. A. When asked how she felt about being a princess in the festival, Claudia said, "I am very excited and thrilled and I think it is a wonderful honor to represent Longwood there."

The Harvest Festival, a newly started classic, was initiated last year when VPI played Virginia. The princesses, in addition to riding on floats in the parade, have special seats for the football game.

Carolyn DeHaven represented Longwood College at the Festival last year.

—Staff Photo

THIS IS A BEAR? May Day chairman Lou Heier, business manager Ann Glover, and Katherine Key help Joanne Hartman try on her May Day costume.

Additional Groups Choose Officers For Coming Year

Boerc Eh Thorn

Heading the honorary English society, Boerc Eh Thorn, will be Yvonne Webb, a junior from Rocky Mount.

Yvonne is an English and Spanish major, and this year she is secretary of the Spanish Club and historian of Boerc Eh Thorn.

Assisting her as vice-president will be Norrish Munson; as secretary, Cjille Johnson; as treasurer, Dale Freddy; and as historian, Rose Marie Lawrence.

Granddaughters

Serving as head of the Granddaughters will be Helen Riley, a junior from West Point majoring in Library Science and Social Science. She is president of the Library League, and a member of the Spanish Club.

The officers are Jean Johnson, vice-president; Agnes Massie, secretary; Frieda Hamlet, treasurer; and Ginny Moss, social chairman.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Pi Delta Epsilon has elected Barbara Rossiter president.

She is a junior business major from Arlington. This year she is vice-president of her class, and she has been elected to that office for next year also. She will be business manager of the Colonnade next year, and vice-president of Pi Kappa Sigma social sorority.

Other officers for the journalism fraternity will be Norrish Munson, vice - president; Barbara Bishop, treasurer; Nancy Donaldson, secretary; and Julia Williams, historian.

Kappa Delta Pi

Marie Smith will head Kappa Delta Pi, the honorary education society.

She is a junior English and social science major from LaCrosse. This year she is vice-president of Boerc Eh Thorn and will be vice-president of Wesley Foundation next year. Marie is a member of the Cotillion Club.

Her officers will be vice-president, Christine Jones; secretary, Yvonne Webb; treasurer, Barbara Rossiter; and historian, Joanne Tench.

Longwood Players

Becky Jones has been chosen to lead the Longwood Players for the coming year.

Becky, a junior home economics major from Washington, Virginia, has been active in the dramatic group for several years.

Other officers are vice-president, Annie Lee Young; secretary, Emily Shelton; treasurer, Joan Kidwell.

(Continued on page 4)

Sorority Meeting

There will be a meeting of all sorority members, pledges, and advisers in Jarman Hall immediately after lunch on Thursday, April 30. Miss Ruth Wilson, adviser to the Pan-Hellenic Council, requests that everyone attend.

Student Teachers To Visit Roanoke

Approximately 65 juniors will visit the Roanoke schools Monday May 4, and Tuesday, May 5.

The girls, who will do their student teaching there next fall, will meet the principals of the school in which they will teach upon arrival. They will then go to the school where they will spend the day with their supervisors.

The students going to Roanoke the first nine weeks will leave at 7:30 a.m. Monday. Those who will teach during the second nine weeks will leave at the same time Tuesday.

Miss Jenelle Spear, assistant dean of women, will accompany the first group to meet the housing situation. Mr. Richard Brooks, who will head the Department of Education next year, will go the second day to meet the administration of the schools.

The purpose of the trips is to acquaint the students with the school where they will teach and the administration with which they will work.

McFall To Reign Over Festivities; VMI Cadets To Escort Princesses

By SANDRA WEAVER

Saturday, May 2, at 3 p.m., the Dell at Longwood Estate will be transformed into the Black Forest as the 1959 May Day honor, Longwood's 75th Anniversary with the recreation of one of the world's best loved fairy tales, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

VMI Escorts

Upon entering the Dell, the Queen of May, Amy McFall, and her court, escorted by first classmen from Virginia Military Institute, will be whisked away to Snow White's land of dreams and heartaches. The seven nymphs of spring conveying them will be portrayed by dancers, Katherine Wallace, Betty Britton, Sandra Watkins, Barbara Simpkins, Yvonne Webb, Bonnie Mann Hamersly and Donna Marquette.

As the scene develops, the character of Snow White unfolds through the talents of Vicki Brinkley, playing opposite Norma Redman as the long-awaited Prince Charming, and Nancy Donaldson as the kind and gallant Huntsman.

Of a more serious and foreboding character will be Mary Ellen Moore portraying the mean apple-bearing witch who, along with Sandra Ferebee, the wicked step-mother queen of Snow White, will reveal many strange sights for onlookers.

Seven Dwarfs

Maintaining a mood of jollity and delightful chaos throughout the story will be the wonderful protectors of Snow White, the Seven Dwarfs. Carol Boley will be the light-headed Dopey, Billy Jo Altizer is Sneezy and Ginna Chapman, the fierce yet gentle Grumpy. The lighthearted Happy will be portrayed by Sue Beardmore; Sleepy is Faye Salmon; Bashful is Nancy Knight; and the last of the merry dwarfs, Doc, will be played by Connie Goodman.

The forest will come alive as Snow White's animal friends and even the trees and the flowers captivate the audience with their gay dances and antics. Barbara Odom will act as a happy-go-lucky squirrel, and Carol Mathews, a lively rabbit. Joanne Hartman will be the seemingly ferocious bear, and Dottie Boswell, the inevitable skunk.

The freshman physical education classes will supply groups for the dances of the other forest animals, the bluebirds, and the traditional May Pole Dance.

Committee Heads

The committees, led by May Day chairman Lou Heier, have been at

(Continued on page 4)

Dance To Feature Castle Of Rhythm

By GLORIA BARDEN

"Castle of Enchanted Rhythm" will be the theme of the May Day dance here May 2 in the Main Rec from 9 until 12 p.m. This annual dance will climax the day's festivities.

The Vagabonds, a ten-member group, from Lynchburg, will play for the dance. The group recently played at Longwood for the Slater banquet.

Decorations

The Rec is to be decorated like the inside of a castle. A chandelier hanging from the center of the room will send out streamers of crepe paper to each corner, giving a wheel-like effect. Each section of the wheel will contain one of the four basic colors used for decorations. These pastel colors are yellow, blue, pink, and green. Committee members are busy making paper curtains which will adorn the windows to help carry out the theme.

Midway in the dance, the figure by the May Court will be performed.

Receiving Line

The receiving line will consist of Dr. and Mrs. Francis G. Lankford, Miss Ruth Wilson, Miss Jenelle Spear, Miss Elizabeth Burger, Mrs. Kathleen Cover, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bobbitt, and Mr. Raymond French.

Chaperones for the dance will be Dr. Earl R. Bowes, Miss Elizabeth Gibert, Mr. and Mrs. James Helms, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ray Merchent, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Wamsley, Mr. R. C. Simonini, Miss Virginia Wall, Miss Grace Dee Miss Barbara Dowd, Miss Virginia Bedford, Dr. [illegible], Dr. Gordon Moss, and Mr. Clifford Smith.

Tickets are now on sale and will continue to be sold the remainder of the week. The price of the tickets is $2.50 a couple. Dress will be semi-formal.

"WHISTLE WHILE YOU WORK," say Longwood's Seven Dwarfs as they frolic during May Day practice.

Complacency

In case you don't know or have never bothered to find out, the library does subscribe to numerous Virginia newspapers and several out-of-state papers. It even receives weekly news magazines! In our opinion these publications don't suffer from over-handling! The apathetical unconcern that pervades the student body is evidence that our reading habits make no progress beyond the comic strips and the engagement announcements. Our ignorance is unbelievable, but our unconcern is frightening.

It is appalling that in the wake of "the Suez crises" there should be any student who cannot identify Nasser or who cannot give the exact geographical location of Egypt. It is hard to believe that there is anyone who does not know what the Vatican is — especially after the election of a new Pope. May 11 is the wedding day set for "Liz and Eddie," and maybe there is someone who also knows that an all-important Summit Conference will begin on this date. Three days prior to graduation will be a time filled with activities for us, but will anyone stop to think that May 27 is also the deadline that Khrushchev has set for the withdrawal of troops from West Berlin? The fate of the world hangs in the balance and "we couldn't care less!"

The fact that we can recognize Fidel Castro's picture in the paper and that "he looks so cute with his beard" is not enough. Not only must we know names and dates, but we must understand the significance of the act and its relationship to the future of the "free world." Contemporary society is becoming more demanding of its youth. It is less willing to accept ignorance or to condone the stupidity of laziness. We are heirs to a world battle-scarred and torn apart by world tension.

Yes, the problems are overwhelming and our being well-informed may not solve anything. This, however, is no reason to allow ourselves to be lulled into a complacent self-satisfaction due to ignorance born out of laziness.

—Merle Ridinger

Timely Topics

Christian Herter was chosen Secretary of State to succeed John Foster Dulles. Herter, a former member of Congress and former Governor of Massachusetts, entered the State Department early in 1957 as under-secretary. Herter is not likely to make changes in basic United States policies as the new Secretary of State, but his diplomatic technique may vary considerably from that of John Foster Dulles.

Dalai Lama denied abduction at his first appearance before newsmen since fleeing from his Communist-dominated homeland, Tibet. The Dalai Lama stated that he was not forced into India by Tibetan rebels, but fled of his own free-will after the Red Chinese attacked his summer palace. The Buddhist god-king charged that Red China had violated its promise of self-rule for Tibet, and killed or enslaved many Buddhist holy men. This statement sent a chill through Prime Minister Nehru's government, which is trying to maintain good relations with Red China.

National guardsmen rescued 21 hostages from rioting convicts at Montana State Prison. The gaurdsmen stormed the prison with bazookas, machine guns and rifle fire ending 36 hours of rebellion. The riot started Thursday afternoon with one officer's death and ended with the murder and suicide or double suicide of two mutineer leaders.

In Richmond, April 23, the Senate decided to amend its local pupil placement bill making the applications for another school year deferred. There is no chance of getting the bill passed even as an emergency measure.

The National Education Association has stated that the deep South is spending less for its public education than any other section of the country. It also stated that its people are the least educated. On the other hand, in the South the citizens are spending more of their personal income to support the schools than richer states.

—Judie Welch and Martha Gray Shirley

A Successful Performance

The stage is set, the actors know their cues, the behind-the-scene crews have completed their work — and the performance is about to begin. Yes, through each individual's contribution Longwood will present its most successful May Day Saturday. Good luck!

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination periods by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 168.

Cherry Gorham ..... Editor-in-Chief

Chris Kamen ..... Managing Editor Dale Priddy ..... Business Manager
Jo Ann Clements ..... News Editor
Joann Kleinecke ..... Feature Editor
Nancy Lassiter ..... Sports Editor
Sandra Weaver ..... Desk Editor
Anne B. Pope ..... Photography
Carole Lassiter ..... Art
Arlene Mckay ..... Circulation Manager
Bonnie Hancock, Marie Mesick ..... Advertising Managers
Miss Mary F. Nicholls ..... Faculty Advisor

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press, Dallas Intercollegiate Press, Columbian Scholastic Press Association. Rating first places, Intercollegiate Press.

NEWS STAFF: Alice Maupin, Assistant News Editor; Mattie Blount, Assistant ... Mary Hazel Mayhew, Assistant Sports Editor; Judy Dietrich, Assistant ... Nancy Lassiter, Photography Editor; Contributors: Sandra Lipford, Peg Conway, Louise Hutchinson, Marion Pleasant, Judie Welch, Margaret Cole, Lindsay Jennifer Gilliam, Jane Stuart, Reporters: Bonnie Hancock, Gayle Hutchinson, Miss Martin, Camelia Watson, Jane Carpenter, Susan Cottman, Pat Hall, Bonnie Bowman, Phyllis Cyrena Hardin, Mary Lewis Elmore, Page Dickie, Rose Marie Lawrence, Lucy E. Nance, Bill Buckingham.

CIRCULATION STAFF: Jane Pierce, Assistant Manager; Linda Saunders, Frances Mann, Nancy Lee Cox, Circulation Assistants; Lou Yarbrough, Betsy Thomas, Sue Ellen Sites, Anne Lillaston, Sheila Galloway, Shirley Hughes, Carolyn Elliott, Emmy Beckham, Neva Arms, Carolyn Davis, Margaret Hurd, Virginia Kemp, Barbara Ann Page, Lillie Rogers, Lucy Boggs.

ADVERTISING STAFF: Liz Eller, Janet Stanley, Mary L. Elmore, Carolyn Grinstead, Sue Mc..., Nancy Shaw, Doris Cuppy, Nancye Allen, Ann Stuart, Margaret Lee.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of ... Subscription rate $2.50 per year. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

'Evening Of Drama' Marks End Of Fine Arts Festival

By NORRISH MUNSON and CAT OZMON

"An Evening of Drama," presented by Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity, and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs, marked the close of the second annual Festival of Fine Arts at Longwood College. The production of "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams, directed by Mrs. David Wiley, clearly emphasized a story which challenges one's intelligence and capacity for action.

Desperation Theme

In this delicate work Williams retains a highly objective attitude toward his picture of a life of failure. The story is located in the context of a large world, which demands a wide awake attitude toward a society that is ailing and torn with the conflict of a Second World War. In a world that no longer affords them shelter, the life of the Wingfield family seems all the more defeated. "Lives of quiet desperation" are led by each of these characters.

Molly Workman, as Amanda Wingfield, the mother, gave an outstanding performance of a little woman of great but confused vitality, clinging frantically to another time and place. Even though the character's life was that of paranoia, failing to establish contact with reality and living vitally in illusions, Molly succeeded in showing, through bodily movement and voice, that she was not paranoiac.

Vicki Brinkley as Laura Wingfield, the daughter, lived a situation even graver than that of her mother's. Because of a childhood illness which left her crippled, Laura's separation results in the fact that she is like a piece of her own glass collection, too exquisitely fragile to move from the shelf. Vicki, working with the handicap which this role afforded, ably controlled and maintained the illusion of a delicate cripple.

Billy Graham, as Tom Wingfield, the son and narrator of the play, gave a fine performance in his initial speaking role on the Longwood stage. George Hunter did well with his role as Jim O'Connor, a "nice, ordinary young man."

Unusual Lighting

Being a memory play, the lighting was not realistic. In keeping with this atmosphere, the stage was dim, with shafts of light focused on selected areas or characters. This free imaginative use of light gave a mobile, plastic quality to the play.

Another extra-literary accent in this play was provided by the use of music. A single recurring tune was used to give emotional emphasis to suitable passages. It served as a thread of connection and illusion between the narrator and the subject of his story. Between each episode it returned as reference to the nostalgic emotion.

Despite the brief time allotted for rehearsal, the director, actors, and crew provided the audience with an enjoyable "Evening of Drama."

Canaday Explains Abstract Designs

Members of the Longwood faculty and student body heard Mr. John Canaday, chief of the Division of Education of the Philadelphia Museum of Art, speak about "Modern Art and Tradition" April 15 during the second annual Fine Arts Festival.

Mr. Canaday used slides to illustrate how modern art is a continuation or purification of traditional art.

Tracing the development of modern art through the classical or intellectual school, Mr. Canaday began with Poussin, moved to David, then went to Seurat and ended with Mondrian. The emphasis was on shape and control.

In the romantic or emotional school, Mr. Canaday began with Reubens, moved to Delacroix, then went to Van Gogh, and ended with Jackson Pollack. Here the emphasis was on texture, design and color.

Socially Speaking . . .

Diamonds, Pins, KA Ball Headline Society Memo

By SANDIE FARISH and PAT FOSTER

Noticed any unusual excitement lately? Have the girls on your hall been squealing with delight? It's because diamonds and fraternity pins are in the air!

Diamonds, Pins

Bubbling with excitement over their diamonds are Mary Bettie Watkins who wears the ring of a Hampden - Sydney sophomore, Larry Hammer, who is a KA; Beverly Clayton is engaged to Jim Kemper; and Merrilee Ogburn's fiance is a freshman from William and Mary, Sterling Horner.

Suzanne Grammer captured the heart of her guy, senior Jack McCall, who belongs to Delta Upsilon at U.VA.

Another happy gal is Beretta Yoman who received a Sigma Chi pin this week end from Steve Banks of Hampden-Sydney.

Going to W. and L. for spring dances were Cherry Gorham, Mary Linda Logue, Becky McGrath, and Carole Manley. Attending Spring Formals at V. P. I. were Joann Kleinecke, Norma Wilson, Audrey Campbell, Edna Green, Nancy Mills Neil Ward, Betty Ruffin, Billie Jean Shores, Betty Sue Barbee. Chris Kamen and Melinda Franklin went to V. M. I. and bowled the Kewdets over, while Ann Hardy was seen at Duke having a wonderful time.

KA Festivities

The KA's "Old South Ball" at Richmond highlighted this week-end's events. Longwood belles on the arms of their handsome confederate gentlemen were Ginny Whipple, Brooks Dietrich, Nan McLaughlin, Betty Wood, Harriett Butterworth, Dottie Nelson, Peggy Harris, Ernestine Stoltz, Barbara Sinkins, Frances Harvey, Jean Dunagan, Marie Fisher, Anna B. Pope, Carolyn Crockett, Betty Jane Allgood, Barbara Chaffin, Mary Ellen O'Conner, and Page Landers.

The KA Inaugural Ball was the scene for Marie Fisher, Barbara Simpkins, and Jean Dunagan.

Seen at U. Va. were Patsy Seklie, Nancy Shaw, Ginny Price, and Marie Messick; welcomed by R. P. I. was Becky Hardy; and

(Continued on page 4)

Humor?

By JANE STEGALL

Hello . . . I'm back again . . . I know everyone is excited! I understand that next week is May Day week end and they're going to give some sort of program out in the Dell. They were telling me the story, but I didn't catch much of it. I will tell you what I know though.

Once upon a time there was a girl named Snow White. Now I don't know why she was named that . . . but she was. Anyway, she got lost in the woods and ended up in the house of seven warts. I guess she belonged to the 4-H or something 'cause she didn't like to see it dirty and cleaned it up. I'm different though . . . dirt to me is just matter out of place. Anyway, after she cleaned up the housekeeper came back with her seven kids and just raised cain. The seven kids liked her though—except for Grumpy, and he didn't like anybody. I don't know why he grumpled so much. Some people grumple because they don't get what's coming to them; others, because they do. (I do know how to spell grumble . . . I just didn't want to.)

Anyway, the housekeeper was mad . . . I guess she was insulted because Snow White had cleaned her clean house—so she gave Snow White a poisoned apple. Now here is where I think the story may have some relation to Adam and Eve. Just before she died she was singing a song . . . I figured she must have taken some pictures or something because the words to the song went "Some day my prints will come." Anyway, the woodchopper found her and kissed her and she came back to life and everything worked out. By the way . . . A kiss is the only agreeable two-faced action I know of.

Well, that's what I remember of the story. I don't know whether it's right or not. We'll find out this week-end at the Dell See 'ya there.

Combined Choirs Present Concert

By Frances Harnsberger

A most enjoyable evening of music was presented April 14 at the Fine Arts Festival when the Washington and Lee Glee Club, the Longwood Choir, and the Madrigal Singers of Longwood presented a choral concert in Jarman Auditorium.

The Longwood Choir, directed by Dr. John W. Molnar, opened the program with two songs by Purcell and two songs by Handel. Well-performed, three songs were gay and light and "With Drooping Wings" was sad.

The Washington and Lee Glee Club, directed by Mr. Robert Stewart, sang several romantic songs by Rodgers, Kern, and Persichetti. These songs, some of them from musical comedies, were well-liked by the large audience. Other songs by the W and L Glee Club were from early church music. These were somber and performed in a more serious mood than the lighter numbers in W and L's repertoire.

Dressed in Elizabethan costumes, the Madrigal Singers, directed by Mr. James McCombs, sang both Scotch and English madrigals. Best liked by the audience was the "Echo Song" by di Lasso.

The major work of the concert was the "Liebeslieder Walzer" by Brahms, which was sung by the combined glee clubs under the direction of Mr. Robert Stewart. Sung in German, the group of waltzes featured a love theme expressed in various moods. The performance of this work was a major accomplishment by the two glee clubs. Both W and L and Longwood appeared to have a mastery of the music.

Candid Comments Reveal Culture

By LILLIE ROGERS

There are some things that can't be done second-hand. To enjoy a cigarette one has to smoke, to be an alcoholic one must drink. To appreciate art and acquire "Culture," one has to approach a painting at one time or other. With this thought in mind, one finally coerces oneself to attend an art exhibit (one such as the one in Jarman) including ten to twenty samples of water colors—for a beginning.

Heading logically for a corner—corners are such easily recognizable starting points — the ingenue comes upon a painting of a church on a hill. Simple. Nice white church, nice green hill. Feeling that this [illegible] not so difficult after all, one's self [illegible] voice from behind.

"Impressionistic, don't you think?"

"Definitely so," comes the response, also strident, "and isn't the foreshortening beautifully worked out! Quite a good use of intermediate colors too."

I looked back at my picture for reassurance: then I moved on to the next painting, that of a forest. One tree was standing alone on one half of the painting, and two trees were squeezed together on the other half. I was seized with an uncontrollable urge to move one of the trees and restore ease. Came the first strident voice again.

"What a wonderful balance of lightness and space!"

And the also strident response, "Sort of cubism, don't you think?"

I left the cubism forest and hurried over to another corner which seemed safe. A distinguished-looking gentleman was standing in front of a painting, with his hands behind him in a thoughtful manner. Obviously a connoisseur—a good one to follow—I decided. We strolled past several, each one carefully considered by the connoisseur, without comment. Finally he turned to me to deliver his bon mot: "Do you know," he inquired dully, "where I could get a drink of water?"

After indicating the water fountain, I dejectedly went to another corner and began again. The next painting was that of a church—like the first, but different. One of the windows was a spiraling blue. A glaring red seemed to be reaching from the door. I didn't like it. The now familiar strident voices resumed their unsought criticism.

"What a wonderful technique. What emotion!"

"And the marvelous sweeping effect!"

Moving on, we came to a painting of what I decided triumphantly, could have passed for Eliot's "Waste Land." Not daring to progress further in my thoughts, I waited.

"Oh, how extremely depressing! I don't believe this is of the same caliber as the rest."

"Definitely not. Too restrained. Really not very good perspective."

I began to feel admiration for the waste - whatever - it - was. Almost a sort of comradeship. What wonderful technique it revealed. What foreshortening, what emotion! I suddenly felt a most insistent thirst. Nodding imperiously to my two followers, I headed for the water cooler.

Examination Schedule

Second Semester
1958-59 Session

Examination Day and Date	8:05-11:05 Morning	1:05-4:05 Afternoon
Friday, May 22		Reading Period
Saturday May 23	11:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes
Monday, May 25	10:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	2:05 MWF Classes MW & FW Classes
Tuesday, May 26	8:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	10:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & FW Classes
Wednesday, May 27	9:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	9:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & FW Classes
Thursday, May 28	1:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	11:05 TT Classes 2:05 TT Classes
Friday, May 29	8:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	3:05, 4:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes TT Classes

TUESDAY, May 26, 7-10 p.m. — Conflicts, Room 21

Any student with an examination conflict should notify the professor responsible for administering one of the examinations in conflict. The professor will deliver the examination for the student to the Dean of the College before the Tuesday evening examination conflict period.

Church News

By FRANCES HARNSBURGER

Why come to the Y-Come? Come to learn more about the activities of the "Y" and in that way learn how you can be an active supporter of your Y.W.C.A.

Plans are now being made for Y-Come May 5. Our guest speaker will be Miss Moser, Y.W.C.A. Regional Secretary, who will explain the local and national "Y" movement program.

Catholic

Attending the Piedmont Executive Committee Convention at the University of North Carolina the week end of April 4-6 were Arlene McKay, Shirley Murray, and Mary Kay Rice. This convention elected officers for the Piedmont Providence of Virginia and North Carolina.

Newman Club has elected Shirley Murray, president; Pat Hickey, secretary and Kathie Crowder, treasurer for the coming year.

Methodist

The Wesley Foundation has elected officers for the coming year. They are president, Margaret Shropshire; vice-presidents, Helen Brown and Marie Smith; secretary, Alice Mundy; and treasurer, Doris Kesling. Committee chairmen have been chosen and they, with the officers, were installed at the regular meeting of the Council.

Those attending Camp Richmond this past week end were Ann McCants, Ann Elliott, Alice Mundy, and Malinda Ayres.

Spring Retreat for the old and new council members will be held the week end of May 8-10.

The Spring Banquet for the Wesley Foundation was held April 23 in the Fellowship Room at 5:45. Featured entertainer was Mrs. Sally Wingo from Amelia.

Presbyterian

Representatives of Westminster Fellowships from 15 colleges met at Hampden-Sydney April 25-26 for the spring retreat. Several Longwood students were present at this retreat.

West-Fel will sponsor a bike ride with a picnic to Sydnor's Lake May 3. We will leave from the church in the afternoon. The exact time will be announced later.

Baptist

The Longwood B.S.U. held its annual picnic at Dr. Johnson's farm Sunday, April 26. All had a very enjoyable time, especially since members of the Tech B.S.U. were also present. For vespers the Tech Quartet sang, and W. T. Covington, past president of both the V.P.I. and state B.S.U., spoke on "Personal Soul Witnessing."

Another recent activity of the B.S.U was the State B.S.U. Spring Retreat held April 17-19 at Eagle Eyrie. Longwood was represented by 37 delegates. The Longwood B.S.U choir sang Saturday evening; Jo Ann Garner and Helen Hines served as pianists. Cherron Kelly and Jo Ann Garner were chairmen of discussion groups.

On May 11, Bill Cody of the Foreign Mission Board will speak at 7 p.m. on the "Far Eastern Student." He will also show slides taken on his trip to the Far East last year.

Orchesis Recital Termed Success

By NORRISH MUNSON

An "Evening of Modern Dance," sponsored by Orchesis, honorary modern dance society, and the Department of Physical Education, marked the opening of the second annual Festival of Fince Arts at Longwood College. The program ranged from works to the music of Malament and Chopin, to the jazz elements of Brubeck, Gershwin, and Rodgers. Jazz themes predominated, reaching a climax in Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

The most exciting portion of the program was "Color is a Woman," reflecting the rainbow-hued range of character and moods of a woman. Outstanding performances were given by LaVerne Collier in "Purple," the schemer; Tweety Lambiotte in "Silver," the patrician; and Donna Marquette in "Gold," the greedy. Also included in this theme and variations were "White," the young in heart; "Blue," the dreamer; "Red," the violent; and "Yellow," the laughter.

"Patterns of Forces," showing individual and group reactions to forces within and without, opened the second half of the program. Of the numbers included in this portion, one unusual interpretation was "Almost Good," with Connie Goodman as soloist of the definite jazz beat.

Joan Dorsey, president, and Dottie Marshall, vice-president, of Orchesis, agreed that "it was hard work, but we'd certainly do it over again if we had to." Special mention also goes to Elsie Dick for her splendid work as chairman of the costume committee.

All in all, the dance concert, the most unusual ever attempted by Orchesis, provided an evening of variety and enjoyment.

Executive Of YWCA To Visit LC Campus

Miss Frances Moser, Southern Region secretary for the National Student Y.W.C.A, will arrive May 5 for a two-day visit on the campus.

During her stay she will confer with the Y.W.C.A cabinet, faculty advisers, president, and other officers. She will also meet with Dr. Francis Lankford, president, and Miss Ruth Wilson, dean of women.

Miss Moser's visit is part of the program of the National Student Y.W.C.A to provide advisory and informative services about the work of the "Y" to the local associations.

MOTHER'S DAY
is
MAY 10
. . . surprise her with a gift
from
MARTIN THE JEWELER

Sports Spotlight

By MARJORIE FREESE

While Hampden - Sydney and Randolph - Macon have been battling it out for the lead in the Little Eight baseball conference, the Norfolk Division of William and Mary has edged up on them and passed them in its rating. The Braves have defeated both the Tigers and the Yellow Jackets by a score of 6-2.

Twice the U. Va. Cavaliers have trounced the N. C. State Wolfpack. The scores of the doubleheader were 4-3 and 11-4. These wins raised the Cavalier rating in the Atlantic Coast Conference to 5-3, while they downed State's, 4-6.

Virginia Tech raised its standing in the Southern Conference in a doubleheader against Davidson. The scores were 9-5 and 7-2. This makes Tech's seasonal rating 6-4 and its conference rating 5-2.

In track Tech slammed West Virginia 79-51.

Tennis

Randolph Macon's tennis team routed Richmond with a score of 9-0.

Davidson cracked down on VMI with another 9-0 victory.

Golf

In golf Vriginia Tech had it over its military rival VMI. The score was 6 1-2 to 1 1-2 But Bridgewater kept its average by winning over Roanoke 11-7.

Washington and Lee downed George Washington -2. And Richmond defeated West Virginia 6-3.

Honorary Groups Give Spring Bids

Several honorary societies have issued bids.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity, has issued bids to two juniors and three sophomores. The juniors, Dale Preddy and Carole Lassiter, are business manager and art editor, respectively of the Rotunda. Judy Harris, editor of the Colonnade; Carolyn Oliver, editor of the Virginian; and Cherry Gorham, editor of the Rotunda, also received bids.

Boerc Eh Thorn

Boerc Eh Thorn has issued spring bids to the following juniors: Anita Eanes, Julia Mae Holland, Joan Kidwell, Carol Sanders, Betty Simmons, and Barbara Simpkins. The new members will be initiated into the English society May 1.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu initiated on April 22 the following new members into their social science society: Patricia Cleveland, Betty Elliott, Dixie Hilliard, Nancy Johnson, Rose Marie Lawrence, Linda McPherson Dale Preddy, Emily Umbarger, Chris Wilson, and Mr. James Helms.

Kappa Delta Pi

Frances Gilleople, Joan Kidwell, Nancy Mills, and Elizabeth McLoughlin are new members of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society.

To Longwood Girls—
Special on all tennis equipment.
Buy yours today!
Southside Sundry

Select a lasting gift for Mothers' Day
At
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
Bibles, Religious Books,
Best Sellers, Cookbooks
Wide Selection

—Staff Photo

A WINNING SERVE — Tennis manager Gladys Patrick prepares for a match.

LC Athletes Plan For Hockey Camp

By WILLIE TAYLOR

September, 1959, will find the gates of Camp Tegawitha, in Tobyhanna, Pennsylvania, opening once again to the Longwood hockey player.

As one drives up the lane, between two hockey fields, thoughts such as these rush through one's head, "Which field will we play?"; "Which cabin will we live in, 'Clover' or Jack in the Pulpit'?".

The first night there Miss Applebee, the English lady who introduced hockey to the Americans, appears and gives the hockey schedule for the week.

The next morning finds everyone awake and ready to fight her way through the fog to the "Lodge" for breakfast. Shortly after breakfast, with their uniforms on and their sticks in hands, the young people and the old start toward the hockey field. Each day of the week one receives about three of four hours of stick work and game.

Despite all the "charlie-horses" and "Pennsylvania showers," every one there learns many new skills and techniques in hockey, gains speed, durability, accuracy of action, and just a complete knowledge of the game under the proper and experienced instruction of English and American coaches.

Other colleges, universities, club teams and high school teams, have players there receiving the same type of learning the Longwood players. do. Everyone plays, learns, and grumbles together.

Those from Longwood who are interested in going to hockey camp this year are Mable Healy, Mate Fadely, Carolyn Thorpe, Faye Ripley, Gigi Maitland, Alma Wright, Winnie Egolf, Doris Kesling, Virginia Parker, Jeanette Talbott, Morag Nocher, Bobbie Caples, Trina Childress.

Relax . . . at the SNACK
with your friends!
Main Rec and Senior Rec

LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP
Gifts That Are Different
LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP

Green 'N Whites Lead Class Tennis Matches

The Green and Whites went ahead to take the first group of class tennis singles played Saturday, April 25, and Monday, April 27.

Singles

Freshman Carrie Inge won her match with sophomore Jeannette Townsend by default, and sophomore Barbara Brantley took her match with Jean Gardy by default. Claudia Whipple, a junior, also lost by default to senior Lou Heier.

Senior Delo Dove defeated freshman Ginny Peters 6-1, 10-8, and senior Sandy Tarter won over junior Doris Kesling 6-0, 6-1.

On Monday sophomore Clara Lee Parker defeated junior Jean Fairfax 6-3, 6-3; sophomore Martha Gray Shirley beat junior Julie Hollyfield 4-6, 6-2, 7-5 in a close game. Sophomore Mary Hite Grayson ran over Gigi Maitland, a freshman, 6-1, 6-4.

Freshman Trina Childress defeated Pat Callahan 6-0, 6-1, and Wendy Warren, also a freshman, won by default over Pat Southworth, a sophomore.

Fall Doubles

The doubles matches were started in the fall and at that time Clara Lee Parker and Nancy Speakman defeated Jean Fairfax and Pattie Norman; Linda Vess and Nancy Andrews beat Ginny Peters and Gigi Maitland. Also, Mary Hite Grayson and June Elmore won over Keaton Holland and Wendy Warren by default; Trina Childress and Winnie Egoff took their game by forfeit. Mary Mercer Wright and Martha Gray Shirley lost to Jean Fairfax and Jean Gardy, and Barbara Brantley and Gladys Patrick took a match from Carolyn Thorpe and Jeanette Townsend. Also, Jeannette Talbert and Pat Southworth defeated Doris Kesling and Jean O'Connell, and Lou Heier and Delo Dove took their match by default.

Miss Gladys Patrick has expressed the hope that no more games will have to be forfeited.

Spring Doubles

The double matches, which will be resumed soon, will feature Lou Heier and Delo Dove playing; Clara Lee Parker and Nancy Speakman; Jean Fairfax and Jean Gardy playing Linda Vess and Nancy Andrews; Barbara Brantley and Gladys Patrick playing Mary Hite Grayson and June Elmore; and Jeanette Talbert and Pat Southworth, Trina Childress and Winnie Egoff.

The deadline for games in the second round will be Friday, May 1. All matches in the second round of the tournament must be played off by that time or they will be forfeited.

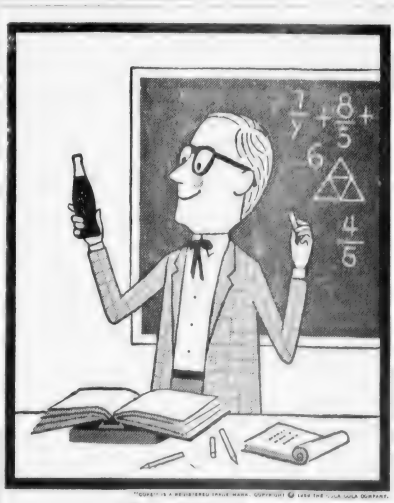
Monogram Elects Martin As Leader

Judy Martin has been elected president of the Monogram Club gor the coming year.

Other officers are Doris Kesling, secretary; and Mate Fadely, treasurer.

Judy is a junior social science major who comes from Bracy. Besides her activities in the Monogram Club, she was class volley ball manager, plays class softball and is on the A. A. Council and a member of Cotillion Club.

Commenting on her election, Judy said, "I was surprised and honored. I am looking forward to working with the other Monogram members."



Besides election of officers, the club will have a picnic May 6 at Goodwin's Lake. Sue Rawlings is in charge of arrangements.

The members of the Monogram Club are selling doughnuts at May Day practices.

Assembly Speaker

Professor Onkar P. Bhatnagar, who teaches modern Indian history at Allahabad University, India, will be guest speaker at assembly on May 5. Professor Bhatnagar is guest professor on the staff of the Woodrow Wilson Department of Foreign Affairs at the University of Virginia during the current semester.

The Longwood College band will play a few numbers at assembly on May 12. After this entertainment, the Colonnade staff will award the prizes for its annual literary contest.

Q.E.D.

Yes, it's been demonstrated time and time again, that for real refreshment it's Coke every time! Add up that cold crisp taste, that lively lift and you really have a drink worth going after. So whenever the crowd has a multiple thirst, make the high sign of good taste . . . pass around the Coca-Cola! Quod Erat Demonstrandum!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED . . . HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
LYNCHBURG BOTTLING COMPANY

Staff Photo

ANOTHER TOUCHDOWN for Pi Delta Epsilon members as they defeat Student Government 10-6.

Institute Of Culture Gives Lecture Series

The Southern colleges and leaders and orators before, during and after the Civil War were the topics discussed at Longwood's third annual Institute of Southern Culture lecture series April 24.

College Plight

Dr. Mary Elizabeth Massey, professor of history at Winthrop College, spoke at the first lecture on the plight of Southern colleges at the time of the Civil War.

"When the Civil War came to the campus, it came with vengeance, violence and fury that shook the institutions to their very foundations, destroying the works of many years and bequeathing a ruined educational system of the post-war generation," Dr. Massey summarized as the effects of the war on the colleges of the South.

Inflation hit colleges harder than any other single factor, according to Dr. Massey. At the University of Virginia, she cited for illustration, the average professor's salary dropped from $1,134 in 1861 to $32 in 1864. Students could even pay their tuition in produce.

The situation in women's colleges was not so bad, Dr. Massey stated. Enrollments increased in some schools, she said, due to the fact that girls sought safety from the battlefield.

Longwood, then Farmville Female Institute, was advertised in the Richmond Examiner (September [illegible]) as "located in an accessible, healthy quiet town, far from the scenes of danger and excitement."

Bourbon Planters

The Bourbon planters were at the top of the social and political order of the South before and after the Civil War, Dr. John K. Bettersworth declared at the evening lecture.

[illegible] dean of Mississippi State University, said "The Bourbons [illegible] saying things that weren't there . . . yet. That is how they brought prosperity to themselves and their South."

The Bourbon planter, before the war, was a self-educated man, Dr. Bettersworth stated. Public education [illegible] the planters grew up. After the war, however, [illegible] to education and supported higher education in [illegible] schools.

[illegible] the Bourbon, the [illegible] own [illegible] upon a higher [illegible] and [illegible] was used [illegible] standard of education."

Southern Orators

[illegible] Wiley, associate professor [illegible] Longwood, closed [illegible] lecture on the eloquent Southern orators who spoke for the South prior to the war.

The "orator of secession," W. Y. Yancy, Mr. Wiley referred to as a noted Southern speaker. Mr. Wiley discussed also the character of the Southern tradition of oratorical eloquence as demonstrated by the anti-slavery and dis-union debates prior to the war.

WALKER'S

[illegible]

[illegible]

Burkeville, Va.

Tel. 3280

Kay Sorority Honors Tenth Anniversary

Alpha Chapter of Kappa Delta celebrated its tenth anniversary since reactivation on this campus last Saturday.

At this time the sorority dedicated its Kappa Delta - Gamma Theta Scholarship to Kappa Delta's first national president, Mrs. Genevieve Holladay, a member of the original Kappa Delta at Longwood College.

Other activities included initiation services, dinner banquet, a slumber party for the chapter members at Longwood Estate, and a garden breakfast at the home of Miss Stubbs, adviser to the group.

Dr. and Mrs. Lankford, Miss Carrie Sutherlin, and many alumnae were present for the festivities. Among the latter was Mrs. Thomas D. Patterson, Alpha Province president.

May Day

(Continued from page 1)

work since the latter part of February. The committee heads are Mary Linda League, May Court chairman; Dodie Webster, music; Katherine Key, costumes; Sara Oliver, props; Cora Straughan and Annis Norfleet, May Day dance; Norrish Munson, theme; Nancy George, programs and publicity; and Winnie Egolf, transportation. Ann Glover is serving as business manager, and Donna Boone is working with the main characters in the pageant.

Court

Reigning over the festivities with Queen Amy McFall will be Betty Bacon Culpepper, maid of honor; Gin Kuyk, Ann Glover, Lillian Lee Benson, Jane Proffitt, Annis Norfleet, Beverly Korsey, Brenda Ray Drewry, Kitty Good, Kay Revelle, June Elmore, Jeanine McKenzie and Fran Gallahan.

Practices at the Dell have begun. Mass rehearsals will be held tomorrow and dress rehearsal will take place on Friday.

New Officers

(Continued from page 1)

Library League

The Longwood Library League has chosen Claire Floege president for the coming year.

Other officers are Emily Umbarger, vice - president; Frances Norton, secretary; and Jane Hanger, treasurer.

Claire is a junior elementary major from Arlington. She is a member of the Longwood Players.

Faculty Presents Fine Arts Recital

By CAROLYN DeHAVEN and JO ANN GARNER

On Thursday evening of the Fine Arts Festival the Department of Music presented Miss Josephine Bailey, organist; Mr. Clifford L. Smith, trumpeter; and Mr. Walter E. Urben, pianist, in a joint faculty recital.

The program opened with Henry Purcell's "Ceremonial Music for Organ and Trumpet," performed by Mr. Smith and Miss Bailey. This selection consists of various trumpet voluntaries, including a voluntary on the Doxology.

Following this, Miss Bailey played "Elute Solo" by Thomas Arne, "Andante Quasi Allegretto" by Jonathan Battishill, and "Gavotte" by Samuel Wesley, three short pieces light in character. Miss Bailey closed her portion of the program with "Fantasia and Fugue in G Minor" by J. S. Bach. Her selection of compositions showed the versatility of good organ registration.

The last half of the recital was made up of three selections played by Mr. Urben: "French Suite III in B Minor" by Bach; "Sonata in E Flat Major," K. 282, by Mozart; "Polonaise in A Flat Major," Op. 53, by Frederic Chopin. This sonato was unusual in that it began with the Adagio movement instead of the usual Allegro movement. The Polonaise, which was familiar to the majority of the audience, was well received.

Local Pi Gamma Mu Serves As Hostess To Visiting Delegates

The Longwood chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, was host to members of Pi Gamma Mu chapters from Radford and Elon Colleges for the Institute of Southern Culture at Longwood April 23.

The delegates met with the Virginia Gamma chapter of Longwood, attended the Institute lectures and were taken on a tour of the campus.

Saturday morning at the coffee hour, plans were made for further inter-chapter activities, one of which is to be a fall meeting at Longwood. At that time, representatives from the various schools which make up the Atlantic Region will gather to discuss definite plans for a spring regional conference in 1960.

Campus Sororities Choose Officers For 1959-60 Year

The eight national sororities on campus have recently elected officers for 1959-60. The following girls have been chosen to represent the groups:

Alpha Sigma Alpha

The officers for Alpha Sigma Alpha will be president, Kay Pierce; vice-president, Tae Wamsley; rush chairman, Liz Fentress; secretary, Addie Richardson; treasurer, Dottie Gills and Pan-Hellenic representative, Tae Wamsley.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Alpha Sigma Tau has selected as president, Nancy Donaldson; vice-president, Mary Ann Montague; secretary, Katherine Key; treasurer, Lois Johnson; rush chairman, Ann Hardy and Pan-Hellenic representative, Mary Hite Grayson.

Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta has chosen president, Blanche Ingram; vice-president, Barbara Simpkins; secretary, Barbara Chaffin; treasurer, Marie Fisher; rush chairman, Janet Wainwright, and Pan-Hellenic representative, Louise Johns.

Kappa Delta

Kappa Delta's officers will be president, Chris Wilson; vice-president, Carolyn DeHaven; secretary, Mary Pem Lewis; treasurer, Sandra Watkins; and rush chairman, Cora Straughn.

Pi Kappa Sigma

In Pi Kappa Sigma the officers are president, Norrish Munson; vice-president, Barbara Rossiter; secretary, Linda Jo Saunders; treasurer, Nancy Lee Cole; rush chairman, Barbara Brantley and Pan-Hellenic representative, Joyce Pendleton.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Sigma Sigma Sigma has chosen the following girls: president, Ann Mixon; vice-president, Annie Lee Young; secretary, Judy Harris; treasurer, Betty Ann Harrell; and Pan-Hellenic representative, Annis Norfleet.

Theta Sigma Upsilon

Theta Sigma Upsilon will be headed by president, Dixie Hilliard; vice-president, Connie Goodman; secretary, Kathy Wallace; treasurer, Ruth Talley; rush chairman, Jackie Poole and Pan-Hellenic representative, Barbara Bishop.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Leading Zeta Tau Alpha will be president, Julia Williams; vice-president, Helen Wente; secretary, Joyce Ellis; treasurer, Wirtley Raine; and Pan-Hellenic representative, Neil Ward.

Socially Speaking

(Continued from page 2)

enjoying the atmosphere at Davidson College in North Carolina were Nedlee Chapman and Nancy Wingfield.

Randolph Macon was the setting for Melissa Rowe, Judie Welch, and Sue Crutchlow; Kay Hudgins, Mary Mercer Wright, Linda Doles, and Judy Eckstrom danced to the music provided at Lynchburg College.

Going to V. P. I. this past week end were Sue Blair, Pattie Dillard, Parker Patterson, Elouise Shrieves, Jean Dancy, and Norma Wilson; Mary Strickland's interest was at the University of Richmond's PiKA party.

Lychnos Speaker

Mrs. Isabelle Tucker, state superintendent of secondary education in mathematics, will be the guest speaker at a meeting sponsored by the Lychnos Society April 30.

The lecture, which is open to the college, will be in Steven's Hall at 7 p.m.

A discussion will follow her talk.

Leaves Of Absence Granted Faculty

The following members of the faculty have received leaves of absence and grants for further study and research during the summer of 1959:

Miss Lora Bernard, assistant professor of home economics, University of Tennessee; Miss Helen Draper, professor of modern languages, study and research in France; Dr. Foster [illegible], assistant professor of English, University of Virginia; Mrs. Janice S. Lemen, associate professor of art, Art Students' League, New York.

Also, Mr. James K. McCombs, assistant professor of music, will attend Eastman School of Music of the University of Rochester; Mr. William A. Noble, instructor in history and social sciences, McGill University, Stanstead, Quebec; Mr. Clifford Smith, assistant professor of music, Pennsylvania State University; Mr. David W. Wiley, assistant professor of speech and drama, Indiana University.

Do You Think for Yourself? (THESE QUESTIONS CAN TELL YOU A LOT ABOUT YOURSELF!*)

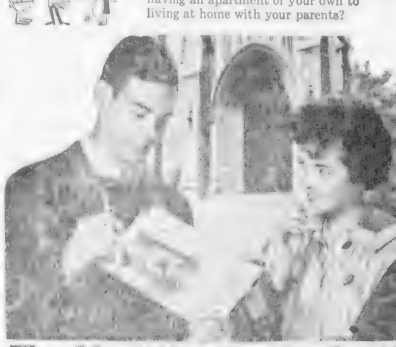
1. When you feel that certain fads are foolish do you talk against them? YES ☐ NO ☐

2. Do gadgets such as new cigarette lighters often intrigue you so you want to take them apart? YES ☐ NO ☐

3. Do you think that political candidates should write their own speeches instead of using a "ghost writer"? YES ☐ NO ☐

4. Given the choice, would you prefer having an apartment of your own to living at home with your parents? YES ☐ NO ☐

5. Do you prefer a salesman who is anxious to make a quick sale to one who will patiently answer all your questions about the product? YES ☐ NO ☐



6. When arriving late for a party, are you inclined to join a group of close friends rather than attempting to strike up new acquaintances? YES ☐ NO ☐

7. If you met somebody with a beard, would you tend to consider him "offbeat" and treat him with reserve? YES ☐ NO ☐

8. Are you normally reluctant to go on a "blind date"? YES ☐ NO ☐

9. Do you base your choice of a cigarette on what people tell you rather than doing your own thinking? YES ☐ NO ☐

You'll notice that men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. Their reason? They've made a thinking choice. They know what they want in a filter cigarette. They know that VICEROY gives it to them! A thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste!

If you have answered "YES" to three out of the first four questions and "NO" to four out of the last five . . . you really think for yourself!*

Familiar pack or crush-proof box.

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows — ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER...A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

The Rotunda

VOLUME XXXVIII | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., May 13, 1959 | No. 20

Almond To Address Longwood Seniors

DR. RUFFIN, head librarian, completes her work in Longwood's library after 13 years' service.

Dr. Ruffin To Retire From College Library

In June, after 13 years of outstanding service to Longwood, Dr. Beverly Ruffin will retire as head librarian of Longwood College.

A native of Hanover County, Dr. Ruffin began her work in the Hanover Public School System. Several years later she attended the College of William and Mary where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and received her A.B. degree in 1923.

Works at Sweet Briar

Prior to 1928 when Dr. Ruffin received her B.S. in library science from Columbia University, she served as acting librarian at Sweet Briar College. From 1929 to 1934 she worked as catalog librarian at the University of Florida, returning to Columbia in 1934 to receive her M.S. in library science. Upon leaving Columbia she served in the library of Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Ruffin returned to Virginia in 1940 to serve several years as the Nottoway County librarian. Four years later she received her Ph.D. from the University of Chicago where, while studying there, she acted as head of the Cataloging Department at Northwestern University.

Comes to Longwood

In 1946 Dr. Ruffin came to Longwood as librarian. As head of the Library Science Department at Longwood, Dr. Ruffin has had the opportunity to work closely with many public school librarians in Virginia. As a teacher of library science she has held positions at the University of Florida and the University of Illinois.

Dr. Ruffin feels that any of the success she may have obtained at Longwood and in other colleges, "is due largely to the very fine librarians with whom I have worked."

After her retirement, Dr. Ruffin will work in the library at Mary Baldwin College. She hopes to return often to Farmville to see her many friends, and to watch the interesting changes taking place at Longwood.

Wagner To Leave

Mr. Wilfred Wagner, Longwood's Slater Food Manager, will be promoted July 1. He will leave the college for a year's training in Baltimore and then reassignment.

"Mr. Wagner has rendered unusually fine service to the college and I know all of us will miss him greatly. We rejoice that his good work here has been recognized by Slater with a promotion," President Lankford stated.

A replacement will be named at a later date.

Senior Assembly Purpose Pondered

By MATTIE BLEWETT

(A conversation between two freshmen who have been studying drastically hard for a test on Shakespeare.)

"Harken! I heareth a sadful noise in yonder Rec."

"'Tis the class of '59 practicing some of their class songs."

"Why art their tones so sorrowful?"

"Because they prepareth for the senior assembly on the nineteenth of May."

"Pray tell, what ist a senior assembly?"

"I knowest not exactly. Let us asketh this little man with the glasses and green tie who ist about to entereth the Rec."

"We beggeth your pardon, sir, but couldeth you tellest us what a senior assembly ist?"

"Why sure, sure thing. I'd be happy to. Uh, traditionally it is the last assembly of the year. Dottie and Cass—Dottie Boswell and Cass Connor—have been in charge, uh, in charge of planning this year's. The class of 1960 will march into the auditorium dressed in white. They will be followed by the class of 1959. After everybody's seated, the program will begin.

"Uh, devotions will be given by Helen Jean, uh, Helen Jean Young, the "Y" president. The president of the Athletic Association will present the color cup; and the president of Student Government will announce the winner of the Lancaster Scholarship. Uh, next Lillian — Lillian Rosson, president of the senior class—will make a farewell speech. Following a—a response by the junior class president—the junior class will sing a little for the seniors. Uh, the seniors will end the program by—uh— by singing songs which they have written during their four years at Longwood. Now you know?"

"Yes, sir, and we thanketh you muchly."

School Plans To Remodel This Summer

Repairs, restorations and face-liftings will take place this summer on the Tea Room, the Rotunda, Freshman Parlor and Ruffner.

Tea Room Changed

The Tea Room is going to be made larger, more modern and lighter. Dirt is going to be scooped away from the windows which will become French doors leading onto a patio. Meals may be served outdoors in pretty weather. The kitchen will be enlarged and modernized. The heating system will also be modernized so there will be no more ducking and dodging pipes.

Rotunda Rebuilt

At last classes will be able to hold "sings" around the Rotunda with as much stomping as the feet will take. The entire Rotunda area will be rebuilt and made safer. However, the appearance will not be changed.

Automatic fire doors will be installed in doorways that connect Student with Tabb, Tabb with the Infirmary, and Post Office with Ruffner. The stairways on Post Office will also be repaired.

In Ruffner, the two stairways leading up to "Dead End" will be taken out. In their place will be one metal stairway patterned after those on "Tackey Alley."

Freshman Parlor

In the place of those stairways, a door will be built along the north end of the Freshman Parlor, leading to the small hall outside the west of the parlor. The space where the stairways were will be occupied either by dormitory space or closets. The Freshman Parlor will be moved down taking in Dr. Simpkins' office and the place where the old stairway was.

Tackey Alley

Second and third floor "Tackey Alley" will be renovated and made into classrooms. However, these rooms will be used as dormitory space until the new dorm is completed. They will accommodate four girls to a room and one girl to an office. In the future the Business Department will occupy the classroom on second floor "Tackey Alley" and there will be history and social science classes on the third floor.

Baths to take the place on those on 2nd and 3rd "Tackey Alley" will be installed on Main Ruffner over Miss Spear's office and the Faculty Lounge.

Walkways Added

The walkways between Ruffner and West Wing will be bricked up at all levels to the roof line and an elevator will be installed there.

This is the last of a series of major restorations on the older buildings of the campus.

Thetas Merge

Theta Sigma Upsilon, national social sorority, will officially merge with an international sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta, June 20. At this time the presidents of all Theta chapters will be initiated into Alpha Gamma Delta at the national convention held at French Lick, Indiana.

National Pan-Hellenic council served as coordinator for the merge, and the final decision was made by the members of Theta. With the addition of the Thetas there will be 83 chapters.

Dixie Hilliard will represent the new Gamma Lambda chapter at the convention.

GOVERNOR ALMOND

College Announces Summer Program

The administration has announced that a large number of the present student body has indicated that they will attend the 1959 summer session of Longwood College. The calendar for the session is as follows:

Three-Week Session

Graduate and Advanced Undergraduate Courses:

June 14 ..... Dormitories open
June 15 ..... Registration 9-12 a.m.
June 15 ..... Classes begin
July 3 ..... Examinations

Six-Week Session

Graduate and Advanced Undergraduate Courses:

July 5 ..... Dormitories open
July 6 ..... Registration
July 6 Classes begin (6-day wk.)
August 6 and 7 ..... Examinations

Eight-Week Session

Undergraduate Courses:

June 14 ..... Dormitories open
June 15 ..... Registration
June 16 ..... Classes begin
August 6 and 7 ..... Examinations
August 8 ..... Graduation Exercises

Short courses are scheduled in the six-week and eight-week sessions.

The first meal served in the dining hall will be at 6 p.m. Sunday, June 14.

Hearing Sermon, Receiving Degrees To Conclude Graduation Activities

The 75th commencement exercises of Longwood College will be held in Jarman Auditorium May 31 when President Francis G. Lankford, Jr. will confer Bachelor Degrees on 178 graduates and Master Degrees on three post-graduates.

The commencement address will be delivered by Governor J. Lindsay Almond Sunday, May 31; at 11 a.m. of the same day, the Rt. Rev. David Sheppard Rose, suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia, will give the bacculaureate sermon.

Governor Almond will speak on the subject of early and public education in Virginia and will deal primarily with the era of Dr. William Henry Ruffner who served as Virginia's first superintendent of public instruction and later as Longwood's first president.

Two-Day Program

The two-day program will begin Saturday, May 30, at 3 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium with Class Day exercises. Lillian Rosson, class president, will give the welcome address and Donna Boone, class historian, will give the history of the graduating class. The giftorian, Helen Jean Young, will present the class gift to the college and also gifts to the class officers at this time.

Other ceremonies will include the transferring of the symbol of office from the president of the class of '59 to the president of the class of '60, Connie Goodman.

Immediately following Class Day, the traditional Daisy Chain will be formed in front of the Rotunda by the seniors and their little sisters.

Dr. and Mrs. Lankford will hold a reception Saturday night at 8:30 p.m. at their home for the seniors, their parents, and friends.

Lantern Parade

The Lantern Parade, which is also a graduation tradition, will take place at 10:30 p.m. The parade, comprised of seniors and little sisters, will begin at the Student Building and end in the Rotunda with a serenade.

The senior class has begun its final schedule of events as undergraduates. The first event on the note of graduation will be that of Senior Assembly, May 19. At that time the seniors will recall all songs and memories associated with their class, with Cass Corner and Dottie Boswell acting as co-chairmen of the assembly.

Senior Banquet

The annual senior banquet will take place in the dining hall tomorrow night with Charlotte McGee serving as chairman. The sophomores have planned the entertainment and decorations for the evening.

Va. Court Orders Area Integration

The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals exploded the ruling of Judge Sterling Hutcheson postponing integration in Prince Edward County schools until 1965 last Tuesday.

In the reversal of Judge Hutcheson's district court decision, the three-judge appeals court ordered Prince Edward to take immediate steps to admit qualified Negro children into the white high school in September.

The appeals court added a further requirement that the county school board must formulate plans for the admission of children into the elementary schools, "without regard to race and to receive and consider applications to this end at the earliest practical day."

Private Schools Planned

Blanton Hanbury, president of the Prince Edward Educational Corporation, released a statement Thursday morning from the executive committee that expressed the intention to proceed in establishing private schools in the county.

The situation is undergoing study by Longwood College officials since it will affect student teachers. As yet no definite plans have been made.

Dr. Lankford has said, however, that "No student expecting to do student teaching in the fall need leave with the feeling that an opportunity won't exist. We will certainly provide facilities."

Rotunda Merits Top Recognition

Paper Rates Third At Virginia Level

The Rotunda tied for a third place rating with the University of Richmond Collegian at the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association convention Saturday.

The Proscript of Richmond Professional Institute and the Flat Hat of William and Mary placed first and second respectively in the competition which was judged by members of the Virginia Press Association for the colleges. A trophy given by Reynolds Metal Company was awarded the winning paper.

The purpose of the convention and the critique of the papers is to acquaint the student journalists with the work of college publications throughout the state.

Linda Doles served as vice-president of the group which held its meetings at the William Byrd Hotel in Richmond. Carolyn Oliver, editor of the 1959-60 Virginian; Dotty Brown, class representative for the annual; and Cherry Gorham, editor of the Rotunda, also represented Longwood. Other members of VIPA attending were delegates from Virginia Military Institute, the University of Richmond, Richmond Professional Institute, William and Mary, and Mary Washington.

Included in the week end activities were a business meeting, luncheon, election of officers for the next year, and tours of the Richmond newspaper offices and several printing companies.

A critique service for college annuals will set up later in the year. By having it after the publication of 1959 yearbooks the incoming editors will receive more direct help.

Gorham Elected

Cherry Gorham has been elected as secretary-treasurer of V.I.P.A. for the coming year.

Other officers are president, Bob Boswell, news editor of the RPI Proscript; vice-president, Joyce Fooks, editor of the Mary Washington Bullet; and Bill Clayton, managing editor of the William and Mary Flat Hat. Lloyd Johnson from the University of Richmond and Press Rowe from Washington and Lee will also serve on the executive committee.

First Class Rating Awarded By ACP

The Associated Collegiate Press has awarded the Rotunda a first class rating in competition with other college newspapers in the class.

First semester papers, edited by Linda Doles, competed with 48 other weekly papers from colleges of similar enrollment across the United States. Fourteen other papers in this category received the same rating.

The critique service, open each [illegible] to ACP members, analyzes the newspapers according to coverage, content, photography, [illegible]. This year the Rotunda scored particularly high on [illegible] and sports reporting.

[illegible] made for improvement included shorter sentences and paragraphs, a broader scope of coverage, and more use of active voice.

The [illegible] critical service of the ACP consisted of 160 newspapers ranging in size from daily publications at larger universities to monthly ones at junior colleges. Five judges with extensive journalistic experience scored the entries.

No Loss Felt

Traditionally, a farewell editorial to graduating seniors stresses their loss to the school. Longwood, however, will feel no sense of bereavement.

Our seniors have proven unusually capable in every area of campus leadership and achievement; this will not cease with their departure. Instead Longwood, because of the seniors, will remain equally strong in every phase of campus life. They have revealed a love and understanding of Longwood in countless ways — not just through their outstanding achievements as individuals or a class, but by their support of every activity. Their most important contribution, however, is the training they have given their successors. Through this the outgoing seniors and their ideals will endure at Longwood.

One of the most important roles any leader can play — and as seniors each individual is a leader — is to set the stage for later performances. This part has been well played by the class of 1959, and the curtain will rise in the fall for those of us remaining. The preparation given us has been such that we can step forward with no qualms or uncertainty.

No, Longwood's senior class will never really leave. Their contribution will be perpetuated by the succeeding senior class, and it, in turn, will leave an increasingly rich legacy to those following it, a legacy which began as the influence of the seniors of '59. And for this we are unfailingly grateful.

Anniversary Plaudits

Graduation in 1959 marks the midway in our celebration of Longwood's 75 years of teacher education. Graduation takes from our ranks a most vital and significant segment of our students. Therefore, thanks and praise are being given at this time to those members of our student body who have contributed so effectively in talents, interest, and gifts to our anniversary year celebrations.

The student publications have featured this occasion and the student organizations have emphasized this event in many of their activities. There has been a cooperative effort from the student body toward giving due recognition to our attainment of 75 years of service in teacher education here at Longwood College.

While such a spirit has always been a characteristic part of Longwood, another fine demonstration of cooperative endeavor merits recognition. And for this support of the Longwood students, we are grateful.

Elizabeth Burger, Chairman
75th Anniversary Committee

May Day Tribute

This 75th year at Longwood College has been celebrated in many wonderful ways, but no other has been such a success on the part of the entire school as has our annual May Day Pageant.

Sitting among the record-breaking crowd of over 2,000 at the Longwood Estate Dell, I was amazed as always to see what a professional production a group of Longwood girls can present.

On the hill overlooking the Dell, watching a little nervously but confidently with pride for the students' accomplishment, stood Lou Heier, the girl who coordinated the entire pageant. As May Day chairman, Lou did a marvelous job, another of her many services to Longwood.

As the spectacular fantasy, "Snow White," unfolded before us, not only the colorful costumes, the rythmic dances, and the captivating characters who were presenting the lovely fairy tale could be seen. Also evident were the hours of planning; the inspiration, responsibility, and dependability of each leader; the cooperation of the many participants; the hard work and time spent by every individual; and — most of all — the enjoyment each had derived from working with fellow students and contributing a little of her time and talent to her college.

College, as any other phase of life, rewards one as much as one gives to it. As a member of the class of '59 I have no regrets about my classmates' giving to their college. And if this year's May Day is an example of the giving of the other students, much success is in store for Longwood's future.

—Linda Doles

The Rotunda

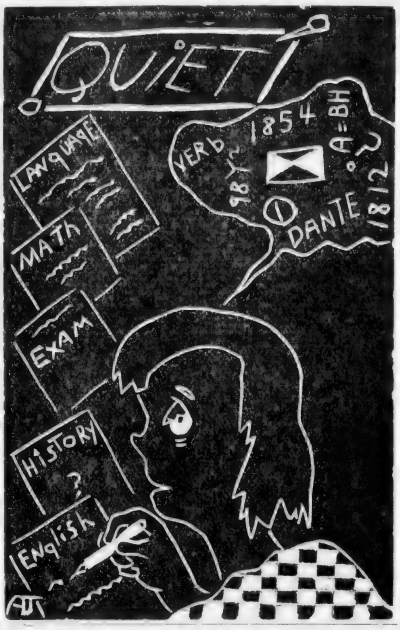
ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination periods by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia, Box 168

Cherry Gorham ..... Editor-in-Chief

Chris Kamen ..... Managing Editor Dale Preddy ..... Business Manager
Jo Anne Dawson ..... News Editor
Joann Kleinecke ..... Feature Editor
Nancy Lechler ..... Sports Editor
Sandra Weaver ..... Desk Editor
Anne H. Pegram ..... Photography
Carole Lassiter ..... Art
Alice McKee ..... Circulation Manager
Bonnie Bryant, Marie Messick ..... Advertising Managers
Miss Mary F. Noble ..... Faculty Advisor

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)



Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Ratin: First class). Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating first place). Intercollegiate Press

NEWS STAFF: Nancy Massie, Assistant News Editor; Martie Brewett, Assistant Feature Editor; Mary Ivey Mann, Assistant Sports Editor; Judy Detrich, Assistant Desk Editor; Lynn Goldfish, Assistant Photography Editor; Carolyn Gee, Sara Smith, Pat Foster, Frances Hasselbacher, Margie Freese, Jodie Welch, Martha Lou Shands, Jacobs Lipton, Alice Steger, Jacquelyn Dennis, Bonnie Gerry Edmonds, Mary Shafer, Claudia Wilson, Elsa Carravella, Susan Crisman, Pat Hines, Brenda Page, Jo Ann Baldwin, Mary Leech Bonnoir, Page Davis, Rose Margo Longmire, Dottie Nance Buckingham.

CIRCULATION STAFF: Kay Pierce, Assistant Manager; Linda Saunders, Frances Mann, Nancy Lee Carson, Carolyn Austin, Jean Thomas, Sue Allen, Susan Anne Dunnivant, Joanne Grabowski, Shirley Hughes, Carolyn Elliott, Emma Hamilton, Nancy Vann, Catherine Price, Margaret Baird, Virginia Kemp, Barbara Ann Lesh, Lenore Young, Peg Blair.

ADVERTISING STAFF: Bo Tate, Janet Stanley, Mary L. Elliott, Carolyn Grinstead, Ann M. Smith, Nancy Branscomb, Nancy Shaw, Doris Clapp, Nancye Allen, Ann Smith, Beverly Graham.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March ... 1918. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

Match-Mates Make News In Spring, Summer Styles

By JACKIE GIBSON

Match-mates are the latest thing for spring and summer. Everything and anything matches. Take for example, the very popular two-piece dresses: bathing suits with matching beach coat; skirt and bermudas; skirt, bermuda and blouse combinations. If there is something you need a match for, it can be arranged.

Paisley prints continue to rank high fashion-wise. Imagine, now you can buy paisley print rainwear, as well as florals and a new "tiger" print that is also becoming popular for bathing suits.

Fashion designs can be inspired by almost anything and for spring one can find skirts in a "pyramid" shape designed for walking. Some are slimmer than others, and they make their appearance in casual clothes of the high-style category.

Waist Emphasized

A result of the recent rediscovery of the normal waist, the midriff is a flattering extension of it. Insets and wide belts that rise right up under the bustline score the midriff as a starting point for skirt drapery, the contrast of another color, and the accent of flowers.

A waistline style is the double skirt which can be found in an evening coatdress worn open from the waistline to hem. It shows another skirt underneath in white; a yellow sash ties at the waistline.

Material is also doing double-duty this spring. Take the sheers for curtains which have new shape retention ability—they'd make the perfect summer skirtwaist or the floating dance dress at the country club. New dacron felt skirts may be seen as draperies or upholstery.

Students Model

Nothing is impossible in the realm of the fashion world. Longwood's home economics students used their imagination to create designs in line with those mentioned earlier. Under the direction of Miss Bernard, the classes presented a fashion show yesterday depicting the seasons of the year.

Humor?

By JANE STEGALL

Well, Seniors, 18 more days and you will be gone forever, never to see your friends again. Remember how you began college four years ago? You started at the bottom and worked up.

Some of you had to work your way through college, but for others of you, like Lillie and Koziah, college had to work its way through you. Yes, college has been hard and you didn't always make the best marks . . . but let's blame some of it on the professors. I have a professor whose motto is "He who knows not, and is sure he knows, is a college youth; flunk him." Now we can say that flunking isn't all our fault. Yes, you will all be leaving . . . You're now college bred—a four year loaf on Father's dough. Soon you will be presented with a sheepskin to cover your intellectual nakedness.

As you launch yourself into the cold world, just remember not to let the future get out of hand. All you girls with unplanned futures, avoid men with a past. To you prospective teachers I want to give the secret of teaching. It's pretending that you've known all your life what you just learned ten minutes before class. To all you would-be brides Odom, Betty Brown, Helen Jones, Lassiter, and others, I hope you will be as contented as you seem him to the halter. To all of you we wish the best of luck, because you may need the best to keep other things from getting the best of you.

We won't say good-bye because you're not leaving for another two weeks. We do say, however, that when you leave we hate to see you go. Bye everybody for this year.

Socially Speaking . . .

Diamonds, Pins, Ring Dance Highlight Week End

By SANDIE FARISH and PAT FOSTER

Springtime equals romance. Proving this are the proud Longwood girls who are displaying their recently received diamonds, pins, and miniatures.

Diamonds Received

Longwood freshman Elaine Stein is wearing the sparkler of Longwood senior, John Lynn. Elaine Weddle's diamond was presented her by Walter Chestnut. Putting the gleam in Norma Wilson's eye to match the gleam on her finger was Franklin Mitchell, a senior at Virginia Tech. Jo Ann Sloop is wearing Marvin Simmons' diamond. He is a student at the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond. Kay Pierce is the happy fiancee of Barry Long, a student at VPI.

Pins Acquired

News Item! The Greeks are throwing away their jewelry again! Girls in the news are Melissa Rowe, Chris Wilson, Nancy Wingfield, Mary Ann Barker, Nancy Brisentine, and Cherry Gorham.

Melissa's KA pin came from V. C. Sutton, of Randolph-Macon. Chris Wilson was pinned by a William and Mary Sigma Nu, Benny Johnson.

Nancy Wingfield became John Thomas' sweetheart at his fraternity's Sigma Chi Sweetheart Ball at Davidson College in North Carolina. Mary Ann Barker is sporting the Phi Gamma Delta pin of University of Richmond senior, Larry Roppius. University of Virginia Theta Chi, Howard Noel, pinned Nancy Brisentine; and another Phi Gamma Delta, from W. and L., Don Partington, presented Cherry Gorham with his pin.

Ring Dance

"Moonlight and V.P.I." helped to provide the mood for Longwood girls at Ring Dance. Miniatures were received by Virginia Van deRiet and Violet Scott. Virginia was presented hers by Lindsey Gardner, and Violet's came from Peyton Barlow.

Others attending the dance were Nancye Allen, Carol Boley, Betty Gay Byer, Ann Damron, Nancy Cole, Jo Ann Garner, Matilda Powell, Nancy Lee Page, Kay Pierce, Janet Stanley, Mary Wright, Katherine Wallace, Norma Wilson, Calvert King, Rose Marie Lawrence, Linda Lane, Mary Anne Montague, Doris Puryear, Sue Blair, Pattie Dillard, Barbara Heck, Becky Jones, Betty Spivey, Violet Scott, Lee Burnette, Rosemary Henry, Nancy Shaw, Barbara Cole, Bettie Lockridge, Norma Anne Routt Doris Tolley, Sally Thomas, and Virginia Van deRiet.

By the way, Nancy Shaw led the Ring Figure. Congratulations!

Apple Blossom

Cass Connor represented Longwood College as a princess at the Apple Blossom Festival. Attending the festival were Jane Stanley, Peggy Mullin, Duner Cahill, Dixie Hilliard, Susan Eddy, Ann Mayo, Frances Tune, Carolyn Hughes, Nancy Ann Parker, Helen Jean Taylor, Taylor Rowell, Kathy Gillespie, Glenda Chamberlain, Sally Pleasant, Susan Bierer, Susan Crisman, Carletta Wisecarver, Agnes Massie, Jackie Skelly, Betty St. Clair, Patsy Spencer, Bonnie Bryant, and Ann Clark.

Theta Chi Queen

Sue O'Hara traveled clear to Colgate University where she was elected queen of the Theta Chi's

(Continued on page 4)

Senior Sneak Day Flies By Leisurely At Keysville Lake

By JUDY DETRICH

"Those seniors are pretty sneaky—but this is the sneakest thing they've done all year," declared the sizzling freshman. "The idea of them swimming and boating all by themselves—without us—makes me boil," she continued. "Of course, I must admit that it was nice of them to leave before breakfast—it's the first time this year I haven't had to wait in line." Finally she smiled in triumph. "And besides when those Green 'n White's got back here they were Red!"

After several "private: other - classes - keep-out" meetings, the long-awaited Senior Sneak day became a reality for the Class of '59.

Linda Doles reported, "We left at 7:30. Well, really we left at 6:45 to get the cars which were parked up by the high school because the juniors threatened to let the air out of the tires—but we left Longwood at 7:30."

The senior class en masse caravaned out to a private lake near Keysville. They spent the day swimming, boating, sunning, playing bridge and—eating! The Slater System supplied a picnic lunch featuring fired chicken; reports from all sides indicate that they "ate all day long."

Almost everyone spent the time in or about the water. In the middle of the lake was a slide and a raft (which almost sank because there were so many people on it). Judy Eckstrom commented, "It was wonderful — with two reservations. For one thing none of us had enough sense to get out of the sun and got burned to a crisp. And, number two, those dead fish in the water!" She added that it was a perfect day of leisure.

There was some excitement too. Beginning swimmer Violet Moore was about to paddle towards shore when a piece of the raft hit her, taking away her breath! She says that the next thing she knew "green - badge-of-courage" Willie Taylor had pulled her from the water and there was a big crowd gathered around her. Soon she had completely recovered, with only a Norma Wilson's eye to match the gleam on her finger was Franklin Mitchell, a senior at Virginia Tech. Jo Ann Sloop is wearing Marvin Simmons' diamond. He is a student at the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond. Kay Pierce is the happy fiancee of Barry Long, a student at VPI.

Pins Acquired

News Item! The Greeks are throwing away their jewelry again! Girls in the news are Melissa Rowe, Chris Wilson, Nancy Wingfield, Mary Ann Barker, Nancy Brisentine, and Cherry Gorham.

Melissa's KA pin came from V. C. Sutton, of Randolph-Macon. Chris Wilson was pinned by a William and Mary Sigma Nu, Benny Johnson.

Nancy Wingfield became John Thomas' sweetheart at his fraternity's Sigma Chi Sweetheart Ball at Davidson College in North Carolina. Mary Ann Barker is sporting the Phi Gamma Delta pin of University of Richmond senior, Larry Roppius. University of Virginia Theta Chi, Howard Noel, pinned Nancy Brisentine; and another Phi Gamma Delta, from W. and L., Don Partington, presented Cherry Gorham with his pin.

Ring Dance

"Moonlight and V.P.I." helped to provide the mood for Longwood girls at Ring Dance. Miniatures were received by Virginia Van deRiet and Violet Scott. Virginia was presented hers by Lindsey Gardner, and Violet's came from Peyton Barlow.

Others attending the dance were Nancye Allen, Carol Boley, Betty Gay Byer, Ann Damron, Nancy Cole, Jo Ann Garner, Matilda Powell, Nancy Lee Page, Kay Pierce, Janet Stanley, Mary Wright, Katherine Wallace, Norma Wilson, Calvert King, Rose Marie Lawrence, Linda Lane, Mary Anne Montague, Doris Puryear, Sue Blair, Pattie Dillard, Barbara Heck, Becky Jones, Betty Spivey, Violet Scott, Lee Burnette, Rosemary Henry, Nancy Shaw, Barbara Cole, Bettie Lockridge, Norma Anne Routt Doris Tolley, Sally Thomas, and Virginia Van deRiet.

By the way, Nancy Shaw led the Ring Figure. Congratulations!

Apple Blossom

Cass Connor represented Longwood College as a princess at the Apple Blossom Festival. Attending the festival were Jane Stanley, Peggy Mullin, Duner Cahill, Dixie Hilliard, Susan Eddy, Ann Mayo, Frances Tune, Carolyn Hughes, Nancy Ann Parker, Helen Jean Taylor, Taylor Rowell, Kathy Gillespie, Glenda Chamberlain, Sally Pleasant, Susan Bierer, Susan Crisman, Carletta Wisecarver, Agnes Massie, Jackie Skelly, Betty St. Clair, Patsy Spencer, Bonnie Bryant, and Ann Clark.

Theta Chi Queen

Sue O'Hara traveled clear to Colgate University where she was elected queen of the Theta Chi's

(Continued on page 4)

Exam Excellence Takes Technique

By JOANN KLEINECKE

Some people find that exams make them a little nervous. However, it's all in the technique you use. If you will just follow a few simple rules, everything will be peachy. This is not a new experience, and although the instructions may be a bit complicated, the results are always different and exciting (different, anyway).

Your roommate will certainly enjoy being in on the fun, so why not do this thing together? Two heads are better than one, or so I've been told. (Personally, I have an aversion for two-headed people.) After you have carefully gathered all the necessary study ditties into one big (?) room, take a running jump into the delightful debris and begin. Since you only have five books to read, ten notebooks to study, and 50 pages of names to memorize by tomorrow, you won't have a bit of trouble.

First Fix Food

First, fix yourself a snack—you'll need energy. Make this a super-duper sandwich—It's sure to cheer you up! In between salami, scatter a few pickles, some finely crushed pretzels and potato chips, and glue the whole thing together with a big blob of crunchy peanut butter.

After accomplishing this feat, turn on the Hi-Fi with some soft, soothing records like Louis Armstrong's loudest jazz selections, "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue," or something equally as relaxing. If you can still hear yourself think, you're ready for the next blunder—uh— step. Get the coffee perking and light about five cigarettes, being careful to distribute them evenly over the room so that you can smoke and pace. Instead of sugar in your coffee, try some granulated No-Doz—it's guaranteed to wreck your system in not less than eight hours time.

Relaxed yet, hmmm? Well, if you still have a few qualms, the best thing to do is to get out the college girls' friend, The Psychiatrist's Manual for Beginners, and analyze yourself. In about 15 minute's time, you will have developed so many neuroses that the rest of your troubles seem simple and you're at last ready to study.

The key to the whole situation is to never become discouraged if you don't learn much in the first four hours. Everyone needs to warm up, and you're no different from the rest of the maladjusted millions. So, you still can't read all your notes after 15 tries. Some people can't ever read theirs. Just keep plugging away.

Roomie to Rescue

Here's where your roommate comes into the picture. It's fortunate that she has no exams for the next day because, naturally, she will be only too happy to keep you company until 5 a.m. She will, of course, have a cheerful supply of jokes to tell, and she'll be sure to make you feel excellent by telling you how she made an "A" in the same course the past semester without cracking a book.

Add to these facts the small, but significant item that roomie is having a small party (50 or so) in the room at this time, and you have the ideal set-up.

Now that you are positively assured of becoming a nervous wreck and getting a wonderful grade on the exam, you can very diplomatically suggest that your "friends" depart, lock your devoted roommate in a closet, and go to bed with a feeling of remarkable accomplishment! After all, remember that it is always darkest before the dawn. So, cheer up! It will all be over the day after, and then you can happily look forward to another jolly study hour. Now, really what could be greater than exams?!

Green 'N Whites Lead Color Cup Competition

More Organizations Elect Officers For Coming Year

Cotillion

Recently elected president of the Cotillion Club is Addie Richardson, a junior art major. She is a member of Longwood Players and will serve as secretary of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority next year.

The other officers are Annie Lee Young, figure leader; Mary Pem Lewis, business manager; Liz Fentress, secretary; and Katherine Key, treasurer.

FBLA

The Future Business Leaders of America have elected Christine Jones, a junior business education major, president. Christine is a member of the Cotillion Club and the Tri-County Club and has recently been elected vice-president of Kappa Delta Pi, vice-president of S. E. A., and devotional chairman of the Baptist Student Union.

Serving with her will be Lois Johnson, vice-president; Alice Raines, secretary; Eloise Shrieves, treasurer; Carol Barnes, reporter; Mary Thomas Owen, historian; and Sylvia Cogville, parliimentarian.

SEA

Heading the Student Education Association will be Callie Johnson, a junior English major. She is a member of the Cotillion and Spanish Clubs and is now serving as corresponding secretary of the Virginia Student Education Association. Next year, she will be secretary of Boerc Eh Thorn.

Assisting her will be Chris Wilson, vice-president; Norrish Munson, secretary; and Mate Fadely, treasurer.

Pi Gamma Mu

The new officers of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity, have been elected for the coming academic year. They include Frances Jones, president; Emily Umbarger, vice-president; Betsy Elliott, secretary; Linda McPherson, alumnae secretary; Dale Preddy, treasurer; Pat Cleveland, reported. Anita Eanes was appointed archives chairman.

Orchesis

Norrish Munson has been chosen as president of Orchesis, honorary modern dance society, for the coming year. Other officers are LaVerne Collier, vice-president, and Sandra Watkins, secretary - treasurer.

Norrish, a junior English major, lives in Roanoke. In addition to her work in Orchesis she is president of Pi Kappa Sigma social sorority and has been active in the Longwood Players.

The dance group has also issued bids to Jill Green and Jean Marie Heller, who will serve as apprentices next year.

AKG

Barbara Bishop will lead Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership society, for the coming year. Working with her will be Carol Mathews, vice-president; Jo Ann Garner, secretary; and Jean O'Connell, treasurer.

Barbara is a junior art major from Roanoke. This year she has served as editor of the Virginian, and she is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon and Theta Sigma Upsilon social sorority.

AKG Holds Supper For Club Leaders

The AKG Leadership Conference was held at Dr. and Mrs. Lankford's home May 4 at 5 p.m. Supper was served on the lawn.

Members of AKG, the new presidents of organizations, members of Pan-Hel and the "Y" attended the conference at which Dr. Boggs spoke on leadership.

Four Attend Workshop

Four members—Minnie Lee Dean, Carol Matthews, Barbara Bishop, and Jean O'Connell — attended the national workshop at Parley's Island, South Carolina, the past weekend.

Plans were discussed and made for the coming year. The next workshop will be held at Lander College, Greenwood, South Carolina.

LC's Tennis Squad Captures Matches From W&M Rivals

The Longwood varsity tennis team won their only game of the season with the William and Mary tennis team May 8 by winning three out of five matches.

The girls who went to Williamsburg for the games were Barbara Brantley, Gladys Patrick, Sandy Tarter, Mary Hite Grayson, and Lou Heier.

Barbara won her singles games, 6-1, 6-2 and in doubles, Barbara and Lou won 7-5, 2-6, 6-5. However, Lou lost her match 6-2, 8-6.

Sandy won by a 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 score. Mary Hite and Gladys lost their doubles match 6-2, 3-6, 8-6.

"The matches as a whole were close and everyone played well," commented Gladys Patrick, class tennis manager.

Team Appreciates Coach

The whole team seems to be particularly pleased by the enthusiasm which Miss Barbara Dowd, physical education instructor, has shown for the entire team.

"Miss Dowd has shown considerable interest in the girls, as well as their games. She also has put in a lot of extra time." This comment by Barbara Brantley expresses everyone's feelings.

Participation and interest this year in both class and varsity tennis has been very good. Twenty-six people came out for the class tennis, and 19 for varsity.

The State Council of Higher Education visited Longwood Monday to study various aspects of the college program.

Dr. Dabney Lancaster, president emeritus, serves as president of the council.

Tigers Win

Hampden-Sydney's win over Bridgewater, 7-5, gave the Tiger baseball team the title to the Little Eight Conference (8-1) and the Southern Division of the Mason-Dixon Conference (11-1).

The Tigers will play for the Mason - Dixon Championship against the winner of the northern division sometime during the week end. If Hampden-Sydney is the victor of that game, it will be the forth consecutive year that they have won the Mason-Dixon Conference Championship.

The Tiger team batting average is .291. Leon Hawker, who has the highest batting rating of the team, has an average of .438. Buck Dodson, Tommy Davis, Larry Hammer, and Roy Sisk all are hitting over .300.

Sports Spotlight

By MARJORIE FREESE

Hampden-Sydney defeated Bridgewater 7-5, to win the Little Eight baseball title and the Southern Division of the Mason-Dixon Conference.

Track

Maryland's track team captured the Atlantic Coast Conference with 106 1-2 points. This score broke the record which had been 83 1-2 points. Duke came in second with 37 points; North Carolina was third with 30 points; South Carolina had 20.

The Citadel won the Southern Conference track championship with 61 1-2 points. Second was Furman with 45 1-2, and V.M.I. with 34 was third.

Roanoke won the Little Eight track title with a score of 74 1-2 points. The Norfolk Division of William and Mary came in second with a score of 45 1-2.

Golf

Hampden-Sydney's golf squad had been doing very well. They have had six wins in seven matches. They will send representatives to the Mason - Dixon track tournament in Baltimore on May 12.

STRUGGLING FOF THE COLOR CUP are class presidents (l. to r.) —Green and White—Cora Straughan, Lillian Rosson, and Red and White—Connie Goodman, Ellen Powell.

Longwood's Archery Team Downs W & M By 59 Points

The Longwood archery team defeated William and Mary in an archery tournament Friday, May 8.

Nancy Andrews took first place with 360 points; William and Mary's Sue Foutz came in second; Clair Floege was third with 295 points.

The varsity archery squad, which was formed in preparation for Friday's tournament with William and Mary, includes Trina Childress, Clair Floege, Nancy Andrews, Gigi Maitland, Gail Cunningham, Morag Nocher, and Faye Ripley.

Longwood's squad won with a total of 1405 points while William and Mary's final score was 1346. Members of the squad taking part in the tournament were Nancy, Clair, Trina, Gigi and Gail.

Intramurals

The color cup intramurals in archery began on Monday. The Red and Whites and Green and Whites are evenly matched this year, with experience on one side and numbers on the other.

Archers participating in the class tournament will have their high scores sent to the Woman's Intercollegiate Telegraphic Archery Tournament. From these, two teams of eight archers each will be chosen.

Classes Continue Color Cup Rivalry

Although the "red and whites" are still fighting, the "green and whites" have their sights set on the Color Cup.

As it stands now, the "green and whites" were victorious in the intramural hockey, basketball, and volleyball games as against the "red and white" victory in the "Color Rush."

Class games are still to be played in tennis, softball, and archery.

The lead has been taken again by the "green and whites" in tennis. Barbara Brantley won a default over Clair Pacley due to an injury. Trina Childress played Wendy Warren, Dolo Dove played Lou Heier; and Mary Hite Grayson played Sandy Tarter.

The class softball games will be played May 14 and 15. Instead of the usual "round-robin" type of tournament, two games between the "red and whites" and "green and whites" will be played the first day and the winners of these games will compete for finals the second day.

Winnie Ezolf, softball manager, expressed hopes for good participation in the games and had this to say about the practices: "Considering all the other activities going on, it was rather successful and a lot of fun."

The class archery games were played in class Monday, May 11.

Faculty Members Attend Meetings

Miss Ruth B. Wilson attended the state convention of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honorary educational society for women, at Virginia Beach last weekend. She is president of the Farmville chapter.

On Friday, May 1, Miss Wilson spoke at the Baptist church to the Farmville Council of Church Women on "How Much is Enough?"

Miss Jenelle Spear represented Longwood College at the dedication of Frederick College in Portsmouth May 11. A junior college, Frederick featured an academic procession, a luncheon, and a tour of the campus.

A study of "Etymological Categories of Present-Day English and Their Productivity," by Dr. R. C. Simonini, Jr., is one of the features in the current issue of "Language Learning," a journal of applied linguistics published by the University of Michigan.

EASTMAN KODAK FILM AND CAMERA
at
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

Relax . . . at the SNACK
with your friends!
Main Rec and Senior Rec

SCARAB WATCHBANDS
AND BRACELETS
Yellow and White Gold Filled
at
MARTIN THE JEWELER

LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP
Gifts That Are Different
LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP

HIP, HIP, HURRAY
for the
GREYHOUND® way
to save money!

Got the good word about Greyhound Scenicruiser Service®? It's the latest, the greatest way to go... with air-conditioning, picture windows, air-suspension ride and complete restroom! You'll have a ball headin' home on a Greyhound—it's often faster than other public transportation, and always less expensive!

COMPARE THESE LOW, LOW FARES:

Richmond	$1.00
Roanoke	3.15
Newport News	4.20
Washington, D. C.	4.90

*plus tax

BAGGAGE PROBLEMS? You can take more with you on a Greyhound. Or, send your belongings by Greyhound Package Express. They arrive in hours and cost you less!

IT'S SUCH A COMFORT TO TAKE THE BUS...AND LEAVE THE DRIVING TO US!

GREYHOUND

3rd & Garden Street
PHONE No. 742

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. © 1959 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Abracadabra

Foolish boy—the best way to make a bottle of Coke disappear is to drink it! Yes, swallow after swallow, that cold crisp taste is so deeply satisfying . . . and the lively lift is so bright and cheerful the whole day seems happier, just like magic. So open sesame! Just uncap the bottle and get ready for The Pause That Refreshes!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
LYNCHBURG BOTTLING COMPANY

'59 Virginian Gives Honor To McCorkle

The 1959 Virginian [illegible] yesterday dedicated [illegible] to Mr. Thomas A. [illegible] chemistry.

Mr. "Mac," as he is commonly known [illegible] has been [illegible] for 37 years as [illegible] advisor to The Virginian [illegible] decade.

He received his A.B. degree from Washington [illegible] 1914 and his M.S. degree from University of Chicago in 1916.

He [illegible] at the [illegible] Longwood.

MR. McCORKLE

Students Receive Colonnade Awards

Lee Burnett, LaVerne Collier, and Sandra Wessels [illegible] the Longwood Colonnade [illegible] the art, poetry, and short story fields respectively.

Judy Harris, Colonnade editor announced the winners in yesterday's assembly.

Lee was awarded $10 for her drawing "Man Seeking Solace" which will appear on the cover of the next issue of the Colonnade.

Lexington

Annapolis was the scene for Dottie Brown; W. and M.'s campus welcomed Bev Kersey, Shirley Mills and Sue Gosnell; Louisbury College entertained Betty Elliott; and Randolph-Macon provided the fun for Frances Norment, Pooh Butterworth, Ann Norfleet, Ann McDonald, Sheila Galloway, Glenna Snead, Becky Wooldridge, Pat O'Neil, Hannah White, and Judie Welch: Lynchburg College received Otelia Rollings and Judi Tucker; and MCV was the scene for Alma Wright and Barbara Gamage.

The Theta Chi's were up to their usual merrymaking — this time at Tappahannock. Enjoying the swimming, water-skiing, boat rides all weekend were Katie Fulton, Charlotte Haile, Pat Morgan, Shirley Powell, Patti Norman, Dottie Gills, and Becky Wooldridge.

Also going to Lexington, but to visit W. and L. were Adair Camp, Fay Salmon, Beverley Gaskins, Shelby Johnson, Brenda Dod, and Mary Kay Rice.

Enjoying the company of their VMI Keydets were Nancy Inge Jacqi Dietz, Melinda Franklin, Iris Hess.

Socially Speaking

Continued from page 2)

amidst gala celebrations.

University of Virginia was the place of activity as usual as the following enjoyed a typical U. Va. week end: Jerri Rakes, Barbara Bolster, Nancy Inge, Bonnie Irby, Sally Myers, Nancy Pretty, Connie Porter, Judy Robertson, Sandra Watkins, Joyce Brooks, Maxine Lewis, Margaret Shropshire, Louise Johns, Sarah Lampton, and Blanche Ingram.

Poetry [illegible] was "Adventure in Two Landscapes: Green and Grey," "An Unfortunate Reoccurrence" was the title of the short story for which Sandra received $10.

Edmonia Leech won second prize in the poetry field. Second place in the [illegible] went to Judy Harris, and third place to Sandra Weaver. Honorable mention in the short story section went to Sandra Clements.

Second place winners received a prize of $5. Third place prize was $3.

No [illegible] were awarded in the essay field, but Joann Tench received honorable mention for her essay, "A [illegible] Movement."

[illegible] Dr. Marvin Schlegel were the judges of the literary work.

Graduating Seniors Select State-Wide Teaching Jobs

Graduation is just around the corner for seniors and many have accepted teaching positions in Virginia and made other plans for the fall.

Charlotte McGhee, Alice Cheatwood, Nancy Cross, Betty Culpepper, Ann Glover, Ella Gray, Nancy Knowles, Mary Ellen Moore, Lillian Rosson, Doris Clapp, Evelyn Skalsky, Anne Adams, Melinda Franklin, Louise Norman, Sarah Hastings and Charlotte Gray have accepted jobs with the Henrico County school system.

In Fairfax County Vicki Brinkley, Cass Conner, and Nancy Forrest will represent Longwood. Pat Campbell and Carole Vick have accepted jobs in Prince George County. In Danville Nancy Copeland and Frances Wilkinson have accepted positions.

Dorothy Cothern, Shirley Grizzard, Joan Brooker, Delores Dove, Shirley Wilson, Jane Adams, and Jackie Hayser have accepted positions in Martinsville, South Hampton, Petersburg, Henry County, Newport News, Langley Field, and Bedford County respectively. Also, Helen Jean Young will teach in Covington and Rebecca Parker will teach in Norfolk County.

The following girls have accepted teaching positions for next year: Minnie Lee Dean, Alexandria; Dottie Boswell, Fairfax County; Shirley Howard, Danville; Violet Scott, Norfolk County; Shirley Lacy, Henrico County; Mrs. Eva Utley, Amherst County; Gayle Cunningham, Fairfax County.

Lois Harrison and Barbara Ensmann, Chesterfield County; Faye Garrett, Norfolk; Catherine Harris, Chesterfield County; Linda Allen, Newport News; Anna S. Wallace, Covington; Virginia Shelton, Norfolk County, and Mary Morgan Blair, Pittsylvania County.

Betty Smith will attend the Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky, and Charlotte Jewell has accepted a job with the Appalachian Power Company. Amy McFall will attend Cranbrook Academy of Art. Natalie Tudor will be attending the University of Maryland and Dorothy Marshall will attend Music Therapy School of New Jersey Overbrook Hospital.

Sneak Day

(Continued from page 2)

rip in her swimsuit to remind her of the experience. Violet's comment? "The only thing I can say is — leave it to me!"

Everyone seems to agree that Sneak Day is worth waiting for. Henrietta Dollins stated, "I have no comment whatsoever — except that it should happen once a week instead of once a year!" Ann Glover chimed in, "It was neat, neat, absolutely neat! It was the neatest thing we did this year. It was really neat."

Meanwhile our freshman friend seems to be doing some frantic figuring as she scurries down the hall, "Free cuts . . . just three more years . . . Senior Sneak Day . . .

College To Acquire Urban Scene In Oil

An urban scene painted by William Fletcher Jones of Richmond will be Longwood's sixth picture in a collection of paintings by Virginia artists.

The Committee for the Purchase of Paintings by Virginia Artists selected the printing at the Virginia Biennial Exhibit in Richmond March 13. The exhibit is a competitive show held at the State Museum every two years.

The painting remained on exhibit at the Museum until April 30. It was then sent to Longwood to be placed in a site where the faculty and students might enjoy it.

Mr. Jones, who manages the Pyramid Gallery in Richmond, painted the 24 by 40 inch view of a city only two years ago. He chose blue and white for the predominating colors in the picture. An alumnus of Richmond Professional Institute, Mr. Jones studied with Hans Hoffman, famous art teacher.

Mrs. Janice Lemen, chairman of the purchase committee; Mrs. Virginia Bedford, chairman of the Art Department; Miss Emily Barksdale; and Miss Annie Lee Ross are the permanent members of the committee. Miss Virginia Tyree acted as this year's temporary member.

Madrigals To Sing

The Madrigal Singers will present a radio program of selected songs Sunday, May 17 at 5 p. m.

They will sing "Come Again, Sweet Love Doth Now Invite," "Echo Song," "O Can Ye Sew Cushions," "Nymphs and Shepherds," and several others.

A record will be made of the radio program.

Timely Topics

By JUDIE WELCH and MARTHA GRAY SHIRLEY

The peace conference in Geneva seems to be shaping up to be more like a battle in the cold war. The West appears to be on the defensive in these negotiations, with Khrushchev on the offensive. Khrushchev is following up his move which he made in November when he gave the "United State, Britain, and France six months to get out of West Berlin or see Russia make a separate peace treaty."

John Foster Dulles, a victim of cancer at Walter Reed Hospital, has just contracted a mild case of pneumonia. It has made him somewhat weaker, but his condition is said to be satisfactory.

The International Health Year is a proposal now before a group representing the United Nations which, if passed, will take effect in 1961. It is a plan whereby extensive research will be made on cancer, heart ailments, children's diseases, mental disorders, tuberculosis, and studies of atomic radiation.

Frank Sinatra, modeling an $8,000 mink coat, took art in a benefit to help raise money for the mentally retarded children. There were many laughs when Milton Berle and Dean Martin appeared as auctioneers for the occasion.

Church News

Group Activities End

Presbyterian

Last Sunday the Westminster Fellowship installed the new officers. Fellowship hour followed this service.

Next Sunday Mr. Moore, minister from Eagle Rock, California, will speak at the West-Fel meeting. Mr. Moore is the father of Dave Moore, senior at Hampden-Sydney and a former program chairman.

Plans have been completed for the fall council retreat which will plan the programs for next year. This retreat will be September 12-13.

The final Bible study will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in Dottie Hamilton's apartment. The theme of the study will be "The Life and Mission of the Church."

Methodist

The Wesley spring retreat to plan programs for next year was held May 8-10 at the Center. Those attending were old and new council members.

The senior program will be held May 17. An outdoor vesper program and retreat is planned as the program for May 24. This will be the last program of the year.

Mrs. Eva North Cunningham head resident, has been selected to be the Wesley class Sunday School teacher for next year.

Tech Camp To Train Prospective Leaders

The V. P. I. Agricultural Extension Service conducts a leadership training camp each summer from August 13 through August 16 for the benefit of outstanding young men and women in any organization.

This camp, whose program is designed to provide leadership training for the young men and women so that they can offer more service in their respective schools, communities, and counties, is located at Virginia Beach.

Anyone desiring further information may see Susan Bierer, Tabb 308.

Longwood To Receive Portrait Of Grainger

A portrait of Mr. James E. Grainger, a former member of Longwood's faculty, will be presented to the college on May 30 in the West Wing of the English department.

The portrait of Mr. Grainger, which was painted by his sister, Mary Grainger, is being donated by Longwood's alumnae. Mrs. Alice Grainger Remsburg, their sister, will present the painting on behalf of the family.

Mr. Grainger was chairman of the English department from 1910 to 1950 and is known as an outstanding Virginia educator. He is responsible for the founding of Boerc Eh Thorn, a local honorary society in English.

During the presentation ceremony Molly Workman, president of Boerc Eh Thorn, will pay tribute to him.

STUDY FOR EXAMS
with
Barnes & Noble
College Outlines!
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
Phone 441-J

HELP WANTED
WOMEN
[illegible]
Interesting, healthful work. $1,000 for 90 days. Come in to see M. Swain, Hotel Weyanoke, only on Saturday, May 16th.

[illegible]
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
220 High Street
Farmville, Virginia

Do You Think for Yourself? (THIS TEST WILL GIVE YOU A CLUE! *)

1. If your parents exhibited "baby pictures" of you to a friend, would you be (A) embarrassed? (B) merely interested in your friend's reaction? (C) just plain annoyed? A☐ B☐ C☐

2. You are making a speech—and suddenly find you have a large hole in your clothes. Would you (A) excuse yourself and leave? (B) pretend you didn't know the hole was there and finish the speech? (C) cover up the hole with a handkerchief? A☐ B☐ C☐

3. Would you rather have the characteristics of (A) U.S. Grant? (B) Thomas Edison? (C) J. P. Morgan? A☐ B☐ C☐

4. You have taken your date to dinner and find you haven't money to tip the waiter as well as take your date home. Would you (A) ignore the waiter? (B) take him aside and tell him you'll tip him next day? (C) tip him and walk your date home? A☐ B☐ C☐

5. Mathematics is your poorest subject, yet you are fascinated by the idea of being an atomic physicist. Would you (A) try to overcome your difficulties with math? (B) pick an easier occupation? (C) ask yourself if it's physics you like or its glamour? A☐ B☐ C☐

6. Your roommate is a nice person, but suddenly takes to asserting an ability to foretell the future. Would you (A) notify the authorities? (B) ignore the whole thing? (C) give him tests to prove to him he's wrong? A☐ B☐ C☐

7. Do you believe the maxim "It's a long lane that has no turning" is (A) a complete non sequitur? (B) a well-known fact? (C) an allusion to a common phenomenon? A☐ B☐ C☐

8. Would you rather have as a birthday present (A) something expensive? (B) something long-lasting? (C) something beautiful? A☐ B☐ C☐

9. In choosing a filter cigarette, would you pick one that (A) claims it filters best? (B) merely says it tastes good? (C) gives you a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste? A☐ B☐ C☐

If you're the kind of person who thinks for yourself . . . you use judgment in your choice of cigarettes, as in everything else. Men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. Their reason? Best in the world. They know that only VICEROY has a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste.

If you have checked (B) in three out of the first four questions, and (C) in four out of the last five . . . you think for yourself!

© 1959, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Familiar pack or crush-proof box.

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows — ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER...A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

Welcome
Class Of '63

The Rotunda

Try-Out
For Fall Play

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., September 30, 1959 | No. 1

—Staff Photo

CONNIE GOODMAN, circus chairman, dreams of October 24 as the circus spirit once again takes over Longwood.

Goodman Chosen To Serve As AKG Circus Chairman

By CHRIS KAMEN

Connie Goodman, a senior from Fries, Virginia, will serve as general chairman of Alpha Kappa Gamma's 1959 Longwood Circus production.

This gala festivity, which has been an annual tradition at Longwood since 1927, will be climaxed October 24, as classes compete for float and skit awards.

Sponsored by the national honorary fraternity for leadership, Circus plans are now underway by each class. Scheduled practices will begin October 5.

As representatives of each class, chairmen have been selected to lead groups on skit and parade. General class chairmen are Carol Lassiter and Marie Messick, seniors; Mary Hite Grayson and Jean Dancy, juniors; Jane Pennington and Winnie Egolf, sophomores; Alice White and Ann Tweedy, freshmen.

Circus day begins with the student body participating in a parade through Farmville. Each class marches together, displaying its colors and floats symbolizing its secretive skit plot.

Beauty is also a feature of Circus. The queen is selected from the senior class and her court is composed of deserving members from each class. On Circus night these girls receive their honors and are then revealed to the audience.

Competition reaches its peak when each class presents its original skit, which is judged on originality of plot and class participation, and vies for the distinctive honor of being chosen first place winner.

It is Connie's wish that everyone will participate in some way to help make this year's Circus a huge success.

Frosh Elections

The freshman class elected Alice White and Ann Tweedy as co-chairmen of Circus for their class this year at a meeting September 22. Judy Pollard and Caroline Phillips were elected as float chairmen. Mr. Raymond French was selected as freshman class advisor.

Class Cappings Open Fall Term

Frosh Withstand Rigorous Ratting

By Neal Banks

"Rat! What's my name, rat?" And the race was on.

All freshmen donned white beanies and cowered expressions as one of Longwood's best-known traditions got underway last week. Sixty-two proved powerful and forbidding and the "rats" rose to meet the occasion with due respect. It was a week that sophomores and freshmen alike will never forget.

For instance, what clever and cunning freshmen decorated the Rotunda with green and white during dinner Tuesday? What sophs retaliated with the gruesome "spirit of '62" that was hanging Wednesday morning? These questions may remain unanswered, but they were things that added to the fun and confusion of Rat Week. From the capping on Monday to "Rat Court" on Saturday it was a memorable period.

Perhaps the biggest surprise came Thursday night. The "Red 'n Whites," dressed in trench coats and hats, walked the halls of Ruffner without a word while amazed freshmen watched from their rooms. There were those who were brave enough to step out into the halls, and perhaps even to laugh; for their bravery they were rewarded with black crosses on their doors the following morning.

Starting Friday, the "rats" felt the full pressure of '62's power. Aching limbs and bruised knees stand as the testimony. Hell Night began as the sophomores formed a single line and approached Ruffner Hall through the Colonnade. Dressed in black and chanting "On your knees, Rats," they entered the Rotunda and circled Joan as the freshmen rushed into hiding. No place was safe, however, and before long the lowly "rats" were praising '62, tourkling, and swimming through the dorm.

Saturday was spent keeping appointments. One "rat" is even on record as having gone to the laundry ten times in a half hour period. The end for all but 100 was reached; and with Rat Courts, these 100 full-fledged Longwood freshmen fell into bed Saturday night, carrying with them the secrets of their final experience.

(Continued on page 3)

—Staff Photo

A BEGINNING AND AN END—Patsy Carr ends her reign as she caps top rat of '63, Jo Anne White, while other top rats watch.

Faculty Number Rises

Longwood College has added to its faculty and staff for the coming 1959-60 session.

Included in the additions to the mathematics department are Dr. Ruth W. Stokes, associate professor of mathematics, and Mr. J. Hunter Ballew, instructor in mathematics. Dr. Stokes received her A.B. from Winthrop College, her M. A. from Vanderbilt University, and her Ph. D. from Duke University. Before coming to Longwood, Dr. Stokes was associate professor of mathematics at Syracuse University. Mr. Ballew received his A.B. and M. Ed. at the University of North Carolina. Before coming to Longwood, he taught at the Metairie Park Country Day School in Louisiana.

Miss Lucy Ann Dunlap, new instructor in speech and English, received her A. B. from King College and her M. A. from the University of North Carolina.

Instructing in the history department is Dr. Robert D. Higginbotham, assistant professor of history with an A. B. and a M. A. from Washington University and a Ph.D. from Duke University. He formerly taught at the College of William and Mary.

Mr. Richard D. Gochenour from Cradock is a new instructor in business education. He received his B. S. from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and has done graduate work toward an M. S. at VPI. He has had some business experience by working in a bank and serving as Coordinator of Business Education in Cradock High School.

Mr. Lewis O. Turner, a new assistant professor of education with an A. B. from Lynchburg College and a M. Ed. from the University of Virginia, has had experience in elementary education and has served as a graduate assistant at the University of Virginia. Mr. Turner comes to Longwood from Appalachian State Teachers Col-

(Continued on page 4)

Lankford To Cap Seniors Of 1960

Orientation, Changes Greet LC Students

With Senior Capping only two days away and Freshman Capping over, Longwood College has officially opened the school year 1959-60 with an enrollment of over 1000 students.

Friday evening at 5 p.m. seniors will be capped in Jarman Auditorium by Dr. Francis G. Lankford. Guest speaker for the evening is Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, and Jean Dancy will sing.

Freshmen Oriented

Amid the confusion of reconstruction, the freshmen were introduced to their orientation program. Under the supervision of Jean O'Connell, vice-president of Student Government, orientation leaders familiarized the freshmen with the Student Handbook. Designed to fully acquaint them with life and traditions at Longwood, the process comprised their entire first week of school.

Freshmen officially entered Rat Week September 21, when they were capped by the sophomores. Ratting continued throughout the week, ending on the following Monday at Big Rat Court.

Construction Continues

Progress on the construction of the new dormitory northwest of Stevens Hall is advancing as planned, and will be completed for the opening of the next school session. The remodeling of the Tea Room is expected to be completed within the month.

Administration Changes

The beginning of the year has also seen many changes and additions in the administration. Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss is newly appointed Associate Dean, with Mr. M. H. Bittinger resuming his position in instructing history and social sciences. With the return of Dr. James Wellard and Dr. Gardner B. Taplin of the English Department from research abroad, and the addition of eight new faculty members, the foundation for the new year is complete.

Paper Announces Staff Revisions

This year there have been seven major changes in the staff of the Rotunda. They are as follows:

Editorial Staff: Replacing Chris Kamen as managing editor is Jo Anne Parsons. Jo Anne is a junior from Richmond and was past news editor. Taking Jo Anne's place is Sandra Weaver, a sophomore, who served as desk editor last year.

Judy Detrich, a sophomore and last year's assistant desk editor, has become desk editor; and Pat Hurst, a member of the junior class and previously a reporter, has taken Judy's office.

Business Staff: In the position of local advertising manager is Janet Stanley, replacing Bonnie Bryant Gochenour. Janet, a junior served on the advertising staff previously.

Kay Pierce, a junior, is replacing Dale Preddy as Business Manager while Dale is in Roanoke student teaching. Sue Ellen Sites, a junior, is taking over Arlene McKay's office as circulation manager. Arlene is also in Roanoke.

On the editorial and business staffs are also apprentice freshmen and upperclassmen.

Fall Convocation, Symposium Close Anniversary Year

Dr. You Chan Yang, Korean ambassador to the United States, will give the opening address at the seventy-fifth anniversary Convocation service to be held in Jarman Hall October 13, at 11:15 a.m.

A Symposium on teacher education with Dr. Davis Y. Paschall, state superintendent of public instruction, serving as moderator, will begin at 2:30 p.m. and bring to a close the year-long program celebrating 75 years of teacher education at Longwood College.

Panel topics and speakers are "The History of Teacher Education," Dr. Marguerite Roberts, dean, Westhampton College of the University of Richmond; "The Contributions of the Liberal Arts College of Teacher Education," Dr. William F. Quillian, Jr., president, Randolph-Macon Woman's College and "Current Trends in Teacher Education," Dr. William H. Cartwright, chairman, Department of Education, Duke University.

Interrogators of the panel are Dr. Edward Alvey, Jr., dean, Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia, and Mr. Harold W. Ramsey, superintendent of schools, Franklin County.

The president's reception will follow the Symposium in Student Lounge.

Prince Edward Area Integration Order Affects Community, College Education

County Initiates Private System, First In Country

Three weeks ago in a dramatic scene unmatched throughout the nation, Roy R. Pearson, administrator of the private school system in Farmville, formally opened the eight schools of the Prince Edward School Foundation.

This was the launching of the first known county-wide system for private schools. This system will include approximately 1500 elementary and secondary white students.

The course of study offered in the private school system will be the same as last year with the exception of physical education. The vocational courses include a business department, an industrial arts department and home economics departments. The school has a 9000-volume library.

Mass schooling has not been arranged for the Negroes of Prince Edward County. However, schooling has been arranged for 50 Negro students at Kittrell Junior College and High School near Henderson, North Carolina. No accurate count has been made of the number of Negro children attending schools outside the county. The NAACP coordinator for the county said he knew of some children who have left the county to live with relatives in other states and attend schools there. He said he was aware that a number had enrolled or were planning to attend school in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, and othe states.

Most of the 60-member Negro faculty who staffed the 13 county schools have gained employment elsewhere. Children of these teachers are therefore attending school where their parents are employed.

Schedule Changes

Any student desiring to make a schedule change should see Dr. Moss before Friday, October 2. After this date no credit will be given for any changes made. A class may be dropped up to October 16.

Outlying Regions Draw Teachers

Four area counties have student teachers from Longwood College for the first time as a result of the Prince Edward decision to abandon public schools for the current term.

Thirty-nine future teachers are now doing their practice teaching in Buckingham, Cumberland, Charlotte and Appomattox counties. Another 35 girls are engaged in practice teaching in Roanoke, a system devised in recent years because of the college's expanding enrollment.

The juniors and seniors who are now traveling 30 to 50 miles a day to schools in the adjacent counties would formerly have done their student teaching at the Farmville Elementary and High Schools.

Appomattox County schools took the largest number of student teachers, 14. The teacher training program there places students from Longwood at Pamplin Elementary and at Appomattox Elementary and High School.

(Continued on page 4)

College Boards

All new applicants for admission to Longwood College for the 1960-61 session and thereafter will be required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. The results of this test are needed, in addition to the regular entrance requirements as stated in the current Longwood College Catalogue, before a student's application will be considered for admission.

The Scholastic Aptitude Test is given in December, January, February, March, May and August. Further information may be obtained from high school guidance counselors or principals, or from the booklet entitled "Bulletin of Information, Scholastic Aptitude Test," which may be obtained free by writing to the College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey.

A Spring Vacation?

Although the song laments that "it's a long, long time from May to December," Longwood students will assert that it seems like an even longer time from December to May.

The stretch from Christmas vacation to the end of school does appear an interminable time. Exams and mid-term tests fall in the interim as well as the usual multitude of extra-curricular activities. In addition, almost every campus office switches leadership during March or April. All of these factors unite to bring faculty as well as students to the point of exhaustion. In the fall semester Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations constitute "breathing spells." Is it possible, students frequently wonder, to have a slightly longer holiday between semesters and in the spring for the same purpose?

Change School Calendar?

Obviously, the school calendar is carefully planned to comply with state attendance requirements and to give maximum satisfaction to those affected by it. Surely no one, considering the long Christmas holiday, could complain of not having adequate vacations first semester. On the other hand, people do occasionally remark that they would rather have the Christmas vacation begin a few days later and have more time at Easter. This idea, like that of beginning fall classes several days earlier, overlooks the difficulty of maintaining an equal number of days in each semester. To "switch" would force exams to begin and end earlier. Second semester would then begin in late January instead of February.

Rather than begin the spring semester earlier, then, consider the possibility of adding those extra days gained from beginning earlier in September at the end of the first semester. The result would be a "breather" of four or five days for everyone — not just those who complete exams early. In addition, faculty members would have more time to correct examination papers and average grades.

Add Day At Easter?

The problem of a spring or longer Easter vacation remains. Clearly it would take too many revisions to add a spring vacation, and one of only a few days would have little value, anyway. If Easter were extended, however, the whole picture would change. Madison College, whose calendar is similar to ours, gives an additional day of vacation at Easter. Students and faculty there enjoyed a holiday last year from noon the Thursday preceding Easter to 8 a.m. Wednesday of the next week.

That one extra day here would help immeasurably. Those having to spend most of a day traveling to and from school would have four full days at home. Everyone would have more time to relax, wash and iron spring clothes — and even complete term papers and parallel reading.

Cut Founders' Day Holiday?

How could the calendar be adjusted to gain such a day? Some years ago Founders' Day was not considered a holiday. Many students have voiced approval of the idea of resuming classes on that day and adding the time to Easter instead. If objections arise because of a lack of space for visitors that week end, we must question where they stayed when the students used to remain here. On Longwood's high school week ends, rooms are found for 75 to 100 extra girls — in Ruffner and Tabb alone. If for Founders' Day Student Building and Cunningham were added, there should be ample space for everyone. Students today would surely not object to relinquishing their rooms and doubling up for one night. Through meeting each other in the week end's activities the current and former students might also form a closer bond, a beneficial by-product of switching the day of vacation.

Examined in this light, it seems possible to increase vacation periods and yet not drastically alter the college calendar. The result would be the improved morale and gratitude of the student body — and, we feel sure, the faculty as well.

(Editor's Note: Through talking to or letters to the editor we like to hear what you, the students, think about this or other plans you might have to suggest. Let us know now before next year's calendar is completed.)

On Oriented Freshmen

With the capping of the top rats Monday night, Longwood's orientation program officially came to a successful conclusion.

Through the first week, a confusing maze of tests, meetings, and parties, some 300 freshmen came to learn of Longwood and her customs. With registration and the beginning of classes they learned that college has a serious side as well, and a balance was struck. Proof of this came first with the successful results of the orientation test and then with the spirit created through the traditional ratting ceremonies.

The behind-the-scene work of those who participated in the first week of orientation was tremendous. It involved months of preliminary planning, volumes of correspondence during the summer, and even frantic last-minute study of Handbook revisions by student orientation leaders.

One not acquainted with ratting might not fully see any of its beneficial aspects but in what other way can the sophomores — and juniors and seniors as well — so quickly get to know the freshmen? And, inversely, the freshmen certainly get to know the upperclassmen, as well as their own classmates! The esprit de corps developed among them as they became full-fledged "green and whites" is a very real thing now; the class of '63 is here to stay.

And so to everyone who had a part in the orientation program — faculty, the "Y," the orientation leaders, and even the sophomores — a note of thanks is due for a job well done.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 3, 1933. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

—Staff Photo

DR. WELLARD begins work on a new book after returning to Longwood from a one-year leave of absence.

Scholar-Journalist Tours, Teaches In Iran For Year

By Joann Kleinecke

Most teachers have a problem at first trying to learn the names of their students, but Dr. James Wellard of Longwood's English Department had double trouble when he taught in Iran's college system this past year. One of his classes had a roll of 80, and another had 140! The statistics do sound staggering, but Dr. Wellard observed that "they didn't all come at once all the time."

He described the country where he and his family spent the past year as a "very primitive, untouched land." Since the Moslem calendar is used in Iran, it is still the year 1336 there; and insofar as cultural development goes, it very well might be that year in actuality. Iran has about the same climate as Virginia, only much drier. It is a land of mountains, deserts, and scarce water — hot in summer and cold in winter.

The people themselves are divided into two distinct classes—the very rich and the very poor. The "thousand families," as they are called, possess the wealth, while the rest of the population lives a substandard existence in small villages scraping a living from the soil.

Iranian school systems are roughly like those in America, but they have very few pupils percentagewise for their population, and, of course, not nearly as many schools. Although the children are now being urged to attend elementary school, only about 2 per cent ever go to college, and the illiteracy rate is from 85 to 90 per cent.

Dr. Wellard taught journalism classes in various colleges and universities all over Iran. There are about 12,000 students in the University of Tehran which impressed the professor-author with its beauty and modern aspects. However, the rest of the colleges in outlying regions were of a very low standard with bad physical conditions. Social life on the campus is non-existant for Iranian pupils. "There are no social activities, such as clubs, sororities or fraternities," remarked Dr. Wellard. "They just go to school.

Most of the schools are free, including the universities. The Shah pays for them by means of oil revenues. Anyone may go to these schools but naturally one must have an education to do so, so the educated are found among the rich who could afford a basic or elementary period of training beforehand.

Dr. Wellard's transportation to the various colleges and universities around the country consisted of a DC-3 plane piloted by Americans. Planes are used more as a form of necessity than luxury, because "there are no roads of our sense of the word and scarcely any railroads. Often our landing had to be delayed to give sheep that had wandered on to the runway time to move on," chuckled the professor.

Magic Of Madras Sparks Wardrobe

Fall Styles Feature Plaids, Bulky Knits

By BARBARA CHAFFIN

Madras . . . Madras . . . Madras. This seems to be a limelight fabric around Longwood this fall. The "grind" doesn't have that grim atmosphere when everyone is wearing a Madras skirt or blouse or (for those of us who don't have an unlimited expense account) belt! Madras is a perfect transitional fabric which provides the answer to those wardrobe problems until the weather becomes chilly enough for woolens.

Speaking of chilly weather, the lovely wool plaids this year are enough to capture any young collegian's fancy. Bright, eye-catching plaids make pleated or slim skirts the center of attraction at any gathering—academic or social! Coordinate sweaters add a colorful note. Bulky knits or the popular blends of wool and orlon will give any 'LC Lady" a smooth and fashionable line. If the skirt is in a basic shade, then a paisley print shirt will complete a subdued but very smart outfit.

Now that everyone is well attired for sporting occasions we'll call a halt to this fashion scoop. Oh! Don't forget a circle or bar pin on your collar. They are sparkling for blouses or sweaters. And with this final touch we'll slowly fade for now. Have fun with fashions.

Thirst For Knowledge Unquenched By Cupid

By Sandie Farish

Well, here it is, the start of another college year, and I'll wager that many girls will have a hard time settling down, due to all the excitement arising from pins, diamonds, and wedding bands.

Wedding bells rang all summer long for several Longwood Ladies! Mrs. Massey Joyner was the former Alice Raines; Ann Sites' name now reads Ann Sites Huff; and Randolph-Macon graduate, Emmett Smith Grogan, claims Ann McDonald as his bride. Still another recent bride is Nancy Moran, whose marriage vows to Billy Swann were solemnized in August. Congratulations, girls—"ain't love grand?"

"Diamonds are a girl's best friend" agree Brenda Rae Drewry, Martha Gray Shirley, Betty Anne Harrell, and Janice McCleuny.

Brenda's name from Hampden-Sydney graduate, Tommy Fennell; Martha Gray's was presented by Goodloe Saunders of Campbells College; Betty's sparkler was from Geter Vermillion, a medical student at U. Va.; and Janice was given hers by Bill Mahone of Newport News.

Another pleased gal is Georgie Lee Harrell, who is engaged to Jimmie Copeland, of Holland, Virginia. The sparkle in Brenda Owen's eye matches the sparkler on her finger presented by Bob Wyatt. Joyce Carr's ring came from Bobby Webber.

Adelaide Hudson is the proud bride-to-be of William and Mary student, Ralph Johnson, and Lynn Madrin is engaged to "Sleepy" Langslow from Newport News. Dottie Harrison's beautiful ring comes from Charter Wells, Hamdpen-Sydney graduate and student at Union Theological Seminary. Frances Gillespie's was given hers by Cecil Harkins Richland. I hear that Lou Booth is engaged to Julian Murphy.

Those gorgeous Greek letter pins are exchanging hands again. Proving it is Nancy Pretty. Nancy's Theta Chi pin belongs to Sutt Farley from U. Va. Dodie Webster now wears George Massios' pin; he is a student at the U. of Md. Judie Welch has Bill Vose's ATO pin; Bill attends the U. of Mich. Still another, Julia Houser, is wearing the pin of Jacque Deshons, a graduate student at the U. of Penn. Jacques graduated from Hampden-Sydney last year.

More of Hampden-Sydney's frat pins are floating around Longwood's halls on the sweaters of Longwood girls. Frankie Click's KA pin was given her by Jack Harrington; Lois Peter's Sigma Chi pin belongs to Mike Dills. Betty Jones' KA pin was presented by Jimmy Edwards, who has graduated from Hampden-Sydney; and Becky Wooldridge, a most recent lucky gal, was surprised by Jack Waring with his Theta Chi pin Saturday night. Sunday Gretchen Zimmerman received Howard Whitney's Kappa Sig pin.

On the social front, we find Hampden - Sydney entertaining as usual. Saturday night the Sigma Chi's played host to Jean Dancy, Barbara Chaffin, Pat O'Conner, Carolyn Elliot, Helen Fox, and Sandie Farish, at a hi-fi party.

Last weekend Barbara Simpkins was enjoying herself, I am sure, at the UNC-Clemson game played at Chapel Hill, Traveling to UVa. this weekend for the UVa.-Clemson game were Sandy Johns, Louise Johns, Dotty Brown, Ellen Grady, Judy Harris, Barbara Dunnavant, and Sarah Lampton. Those famous UVa. parties must have really added the right touch after the game.

Past Summer Defies Deductive Reasoning

By JUDY DETRICH

Premise No. 1: At Longwood everybody hates to have fun. Premise No. 2: Summer is the time for fun. Add a few "ifs," and "therefores" and we have a conclusion that must be proven false, invalid, all wet — namely that Longwood students hate summer!

How to disprove this gem of reasoning? Easy—research. Women of Longwood, how did you avoid fun for three months?

Europe Draws Two

First of all there is a freshman, Brenda Nichols by name, who went out of her way to avoid fun. Brenda went to Europe. She tried to flee Dame Fun's clutches in London, Paris, Geneva, Barcelona, Brussels. In Holland, in the Alps, in the Balearic Islands. Did she escape? No. For example: After having fun in the Balearics, she packed her toothbrush and made haste to leave. Then she found that her plane reservations had fallen through. What to do? She and her friends (eight other girls) boarded the nearest Algerian cowboat to cross the sea to Marseilles.

They spent part of the night huddled in deck chairs, trying to sleep to the tune of "Home on the Range"—Algerian style, of course. "Ah hah," they thought. "Do you suppose these cowboys can play poker?"

"Well," says Brenda, "they could and we did. We couldn't speak their language, but we won."

Brenda, naturally, prides herself on having tried to avoid fun, however she has to admit that everything about her summer — from beatnicking in Paris to the night spots in Spain — was great fun.

Still skeptical? You still don't think anyone could have fun in Europe and that's why a Longwood girl would go there? Then hear cosmopolitan Edmonia Leech. Unlike Brenda, Edmonia's trip took her to Northern Europe, especially to the British Isles and to the Scandanavian countries. Edmonia is sorry, skeptics, but she has to admit that her summer tour was—alas!—enjoyable.

Some Even Work

Lots of us worked this summer in offices, at camps, in summer schools. An example is Junior Page Davis. Ask her if her work avoided interest and fun.

"No," says Page, "in fact, I'd like to do the same thing next summer, if that's possible."

"What," you explode, "could you have done that would make you want to return to your same job?"

"Simple," Page says, "I assisted Dr. Brumfield in his work in the biology division of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tenn. Just our section was tremendous—larger than this campus. We students lived in dormitories and were free to do as we liked after work."

"Believe it or not," exclaims Page, "one of the most enjoyable things we did was fossiling (?). Dr. Hallaender, the head of our division, was addicted to fossil hunting and often a group of us would leave at an unheard-of hour of the morning to go hunting."

More research shows more travel for more reasons. Sandra Clements, Colonnade short story writer, spent part of her summer nosing around in New York (Greenwich Village). One of her experiences was seeing "Sweet Bird of Youth" by Tennessee Williams. "It was typical Williams," she comments, "very typical Williams."

National conventions offered representatives Norrish Munson of Sigma Kappa, Ann Mixon of Sigma Sigma Sigma, Dixie Hilliard of Alpha Gamma Delta, and Cris Wilson of Kappa Delta a chance to travel and—let's face it—have fun in Iowa, Indiana, Missouri, and Utah.

Summer is over. The travelers, career girls, beauty queens, campers, beachcombers, sea divers, loafers have turned back to their books. Mr. Skeptic, don't be satisfied with our proof. Go ahead. Ask anyone at Longwood; be fearless; approach one of us and whisper, "Would you like for me to abolish summer?" . . . Good-bye, Mr. Skeptic.

Dear Eloise

Tuesday (late!)

Dear Eloise,

Jeepers! I meant to write long before now, but, honest-to-George, there have been so many things to see, to learn and to do. Let me give you a little "info" about college life, LC in partic!

The first week was more like a "get-acquainted" week. There were orientation meetings to get us acquainted with the many, many rules. Everyone from the president on down was there to tell us what we could do, what we couldn't do, and what happened if we did do what we weren't supposed to do. There were girls in white to get us acquainted with the YWCA and the faculty. There were coke parties to get us acquainted with the upperclassmen; and there was even a picnic to get us acquainted with the food (yum!) which, as far as I was concerned, needed no introduction.

The following Friday professors arrived, classes began, and my first year of education in an institution of higher learning was officially underway. For the first time in my complete life I'm taking Francais. (That's French for French.) It's such a romantic language. The only thing lacking in our class is a masculine profile. My history professor is a little different from most people, he's always referring to us as "nicey nice" little ol' freshmen. I rather like all my profs and classes, but those I have at 8 in the morning are simply awful! It makes like a real gruesome twosome!

Dorm life is the most! Always something is happening. There are water battles in the showers, pillow battles in the room, and word lashings when the housemother catches up with us. Oh! What fun.

This past week has been solely dedicated to getting to know the marvelous red 'n white sophomores. Praise '62! We, the lowly rats, have been doing the bidding of our superior upperclassmen. My list of activities has included writing letters to bald-headed Uncle Henry, digging worms, standing on my head while stacking greasy b-b's, and sweeping the stairs with a toothbrush. Good exercise for any growing girl!

Golly! Eloise, I've learned so much in the short while I've been here. For instance, a "major" is not an officer in the armed services but someone endeavoring to receive her degree in physical education!

You must write soon and tell me about all the latest happenings in Frog Hollar. I'm dying to know!

Mervin called last night!

Must dash! Time for class!

Love ya,
"Fuzzy"

Hampden-Sydney Schedule

October 10	Emory & Henry	Away
October 17	Western Maryland	Homecoming
October 24	Johns Hopkins	Home
October 31	Washington & Lee	Petersburg
November 7	Franklin & Marshall	Home
November 14	Centre	Home (Dad's Day)
November 21	Randolph-Macon	Away

AA Council Presents Review Of LC Sports To Guide Newcomers

The Athletic Association presented its annual demonstration September 24 at 4 p.m. with the purpose of acquainting the freshmen with the various sports offered at Longwood.

A short review was given of each of the following sports: volleyball, basketball, modern dance, swimming, tennis, hockey, archery, softball and wisket.

The managers of the class and varsity teams were also introduced. They are class volley ball, Faye Ripley and Clara Lee Parker; varsity basketball, Carolyn Thorpe; class basketball, Sara Buston and Linda Suddith; tennis, Gladys Patrick; archery, Trina Childress; and softball, Winnie Egolf.

Football Fanfare

By MARJORIE FREESE

With last week's games, the fall season of football officially started.

The Cavaliers lost their first game of the season to William and Mary. The score was Virginia 0, the Indians 37. That game was the first between Virginia and William and Mary since 1952.

It was a close game between North Carolina and Clemson. That score was the Tarheels 18, the Tigers 20. Carolina scored in the last minutes of the game, but could not make the extra points.

Hampden-Sydney won its first victory in the Little Eight Conference and also in the Mason-Dixon Conference when it beat Bridgewater by a score of 39-7.

Maryland trounced West Virginia 27-7. Sophomore Dick Novak is Maryland's prize. The Terrapin coach is banking on Dick to pull Maryland out of the slump which it has been in for the past three years.

Virginia played Clemson in their second game of the ACC. The Cavaliers bowed to the Tigers and a 47-0 loss.

William and Mary lost its game against Navy. The score was 29-2. The Indians got their 2 points in the second quarter with a completed pass for a conversion.

The VMI coach's statement that Penn State just had a superior team came after VMI was beaten by the Penn State team 21-0.

VPI was strong in the first half of their game with Wake Forest. They had an eleven point lead. But in the second half the Gobblers crumbled. Wake Forest won the game 27-18.

West Virginia played the University of Richmond with the Mountaineers winning 10-7. And W and L broke into the win column by defeating Centre 45-8.

Timely Topics

Smiling, amiable Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, after a barnstorming tour of the United States, arrived unshaken and apparently unchanged at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington Friday. He was more than ready for talks with President Eisenhower which covered topics ranging from disarmament to Berlin and the Laos crisis.

Hardly bothering to look out the window during his tour, Khrushchev let himself be carted from Manhattan streets to Pennsylvania countryside, from Iowa cornfields to Hollywood studios.

It fast became obvious that the beaming, hard - boiled Premier came not to see but to be seen. But if Khrushchev thought Americans could be impressed with a show of strength, he learned differently. Sweet and sour by turns, he unfailingly pressed home his message: "There are only two nations which are powerful—the Soviet Union and the U. S. You people must accept the facts of life. You must recognize that we are here to stay." Uncheering, unapplauding Americans listened thoughtfully, went home unmoved and mostly unimpressed by the round-faced, gesturing man who deftly evaded questions and handled dinners, press conferences, luncheons and speech-making with all the diplomacy of a veteran.

The high point of Khrushchev's visit came when he and President Eisenhower got down to matter-of-fact issues at Camp David in Maryland — issues that are primarily responsible for world tension and lack of peace.

AA Presents Four Blue Blazers

Fadely, O'Connell, Kesling, Whipple Merit High Honor

By Mary Byrd Micou

The Athletic Association highlighted a demonstration for the freshmen Thursday with its annual presentation of the blazer awards to four seniors.

After an afternoon program featuring demonstrations of all major athletics at Longwood and a picnic behind Tabb Hall, AA president, Claudia Whipple made the awards of blue blazers to Doris Kesling, Jean O'Connell, Claudia Whipple and Mate Fadely.

Kesling Expresses Pleasure

"To be awarded a blazer is a most high honor and I feel very humble but grateful in receiving one." Thus Doris Kesling expressed her sentiments upon receiving her blazer. Doris is a physical education major from Radford. She has played varsity hockey for two years as well as class hockey, basketball, tennis, volleyball and softball. A member of the Athletic Association for all her four years, she has attended hockey camp for two years.

She is also a member of the YWCA Council, treasurer of the Monogram Club, and treasurer of the Wesley Foundation. Doris plans to teach physical education after graduation, but has not yet decided where she would like to work.

Blazer to Carry Memories

"I am completely surprised, and so happy with it. I will always remember Longwood when I wear it," says Jean, a biology major from Springfield. Jean hopes to remember Longwood while teaching in Virginia and later in the teaching service abroad, possibly in Hawaii.

She has participated for three years in class volleyball, class hockey and varsity hockey. She has played archery and class basketball as well as taking part in swim meets. Jean is a member of the H2O Club, Alpha Kappa Gamma, the Newman Club, the Monogram Club, and Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority.

Fadely Active in AA

Mate is a physical education major from Edinburg. She has been an active member of the Athletic Association for three years as well as the Monogram Club, Student Education and the Cotillion Club.

A member of the varsity basketball team for three years and hockey team for two years, Mate has also played basketball, hockey, softball, and volleyball.

AA President 'Excited'

Both Mate and Claudia expressed themselves as being "excited and happy" to be honored with the blazer award.

Claudia, another physical education major, is from Middlebrook. She is president of the AA Council, of which she has been a member for three years. She earned her blazer partly through active participation in class basketball, hockey, volleyball and softball. She, too, has played varsity basketball for three years and varsity hockey two years.

Claudia is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority, the Monogram Club, the Cotillion Club, and the Granddaughters Club.

Recipients for the blazer awards are selected by senior members of the AA Council and its advisor on the basis of sportsmanship, variety of participation, scholarship, number of points received, and their contribution to college athletics. The highest athletic award, the white blazer, was not achieved by anyone this year.

—Staff Photo

BLUE BLAZERS AWARDED to four seniors—Doris Kesling, Jean O'Connell watch as Mate Fadely assists Claudia Whipple with her blazer.

—Staff Photo

HOCKEY CAMP girls take a break—(seated l. to r.), M. Fadely, C. Thorpe, A. Wright, J. Talbott, M. Healy, M. Grayson, V. Parker, (standing l. to r.) T. Childress, B. Caples, B. Brantley, F. Ripley.

LC Hockey Players Travel To Camp Tegawitha In Pa.

Hockey Camp, an annual occurrence, was held September 4-11 in the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania.

Longwood was honored when Mary Hite Grayson and Barbara Brantley were asked to play on the exhibition team. The team was made up of the better players attending the camp, and presented exhibition games daily.

Longwood students attending were Mary Hite, Barbara, Pat Southworth, Mate Fadely, Bobbie Caples, Mable Healey, Jeanette Talbot, Winnie Egolf, Virginia Parker, Trina Childress, Alma Jean Wright, Pat Shelton, Faye Ripley, Morag Nocher, and Carolyn Thorpe. Accompanying the players was Miss Brockenbrough. Also present were Miss Burger, Miss Hobson who assisted with freshmen gym classes, and Miss Applebee, the founder of hockey in the United States.

Classes for instruction in hockey were held in the afternoon while strategy meetings were conducted in the evenings. The teaching staff included instructors from Scotland and England.

Amid sore muscles, hot weather, and losing Mate in Washington, D. C., on the way to camp, the girls managed to succeed in picking up points on teaching others how to play hockey.

Church News

This year the "Y" will have Morning Watch in the Episcopal Church every Thursday morning beginning October 1 at 7:45 a.m. This is a quiet time at the beginning of the day for meditation with prayers led by a member of the student body.

Evening prayers, sponsored by the "Y," are for all students regardless of creed. All students are invited to prayers after dinner.

Methodist

The Wesley choir will practice every Thursday at 5 p.m. in the church. New members will be most welcome. The drama group will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Center. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Episcopal

Mr. James Helms will talk to members of the Canterbury Club next Sunday. His topic will be "The History of the Church in Virginia." Before the talk a supper for Canterbury chums will be held at 6:30 p.m.

Canterbury Club members will be studying "The Mission of the Church in the World Today" during the year. The first semester will be devoted mainly to a study of the foreign missionaries of the Episcopal Church.

Presbyterians

Dr. Graves Thompson, professor at Hampden-Sydney College, will speak on "Music" at the regular meeting of the Westminster Fellowship October 4 at 7 p.m. Immediately after the program fellowship hour will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Catholic

The Newman Club will meet every Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the home of Miss Ross. Each third Wednesday of the month will be open to any Longwood student for discussion of Catholic theology.

A tea is to be given for the Newman Club members on October 31 by the women of St. Therese Catholic Church at the home of Mrs. Putney.

Newman Club Sunday is the second Sunday of each month and all Catholic students are asked to receive Communion in a group.

First Game Saturday

Hockey Tryouts Begin '59 Season

Tryouts for another hopeful hockey team were held September 25, 28, 29. Due to the loss of many valuable senior members, chiefly new recruits will compose the team.

On the agenda for the 1959-1960 team are seven inter-collegiate games and the Tidewater Tournament. Longwood will open its hockey season here October 3, at 2 p.m. with the Norfolk Division of William and Mary.

Games are posted and will be announced in the dining hall.

Managers for the team are sophomore Virginia Parker and junior Pat Southworth.

Pat Southworth, in speculating on the forthcoming team says, "We are all working hard and hope to have a successful season. We hope to have a lot of student support."

The schedule for the 1959-1960 hockey team is as follows:

Sat., Oct. 3, here, Norfolk W&M;
Tues., Oct. 6, away, Roanoke College;
Sat., October 10, away, Richmond Club;
Sat., October 17, here, Westhampton;
Sat., Oct. 24, here, Stratford;
Tues., October 27, here, Hollins;
Sat., October 31, Tidewater Tournament;
Sat., Nov. 7, away, Madison.

Rats

(Continued from page 1)

And then Monday night the news which all freshmen awaited was passed out—the top rats for the class of '63. Patsy Carr capped Jo Ann White, of Norfolk, as head "rat," and Ginny Peters named Lefty Snider as second in command. Ann Green, Connie Coster, Scottie MacGregor, Sandra Freedman, Grace Bottino, Annice Bailey, Nancy Hood, Cissie Griggs, Janice Harris, and Sue Spicer were selected to assist Jo Ann and Lefty next year during the "week of terror." Orchids went to Ann Tweedy, Sally Sims, Suzanne Shipp, Nora Elliot, Josie O'hop, and Gibi Britt.

It was a week the freshmen will never forget. If we could interview every one of them, the opinion would be unanimous: it was a wonderful, gratifying experience, and every "rat" would say, in all sincerity, "Thank you, sophomores, for making our first few weeks at Longwood such full, happy ones!"

Mr. Funk & Mr. Wagnalls

"In re this matter of Good Taste," said Mr. Funk to his secretary, "take a definition."
"Taste: sensations . . . excited . . . by the . . . action of the gustatory nerves . . ."
"And add this," put in Mr. Wagnalls. "Taste: the faculty of . . . appreciating the beautiful . . ."
"That," said Mr. Funk, "wraps it up. Mr. Wagnalls, will you join me in a Coca-Cola?"
"So good in taste . . ."
"And . . . in such good taste!"

Drink Coca-Cola

SIGN OF GOOD TASTE

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
LYNCHBURG BOTTLING COMPANY

YOUR COLLEGE JEWELRY
may now be selected
— at —
LONGWOOD JEWELERS
Charge Accounts to Everyone!

THE DOROTHY MAY SHOP extends a Cordial Welcome to all
LONGWOOD STUDENTS

BARNES & NOBLE COLLEGE OUTLINES
Come In and Get Your FREE BOOK!
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
Phone 441-J

Student Teaching Begins For LC Education Majors

Each year, with the opening of Longwood, a series of two-week student teaching units is launched. Every education major must, before graduation, complete the student teaching.

Student teaching at Appomattox for the first nine weeks are Jeanne Blount, Barbara Copeland, Nancy Donaldson, Mary Flowers, Jo Ann Garner, Peggy Hooper, Jean Paxton, Jean Gayle Ruth Talley, Joan Gordon, Jean O'Connell, Helen Wente, Jean Dunagan, and Jo Ann Smith.

Teaching at Cumberland are Annie Lee Young, Nancy C. Johnson, Helen Rilee, Marie Messick, Linda McPherson, Joan Marr, Creel, and Billie Jo Altizer.

At Buckingham are Barbara Bray, Mary Ann Walker, Barbara Bishop, Jane Callis, Ruth Denton, Dixie Hilliard, Bonnie Keys, Annis Norfleet, and Julia Williams.

Longwood student teachers at Charlotte Court House are Barbara Bunch, Sylvia Webb, Joann Tench, Tae Wamsley, Elizabeth Fentress, Deanne Hogge, Doris Kesling, Judith Martin, Becky McGrath.

The following are student teaching in Roanoke for the first nine weeks: Nancye Grey Allen, Frances Gillespie, Joyce Spencer, and Edith Ward, all at Woodrow Wilson Junior High School. Gay Ashworth, Anne Elliott, and Claire Floege are at Crystal Spring School. Janet V. Ayers, Carolyn DeHaven, Nancy Harnsberger, Elizabeth Johnson, Nancy Knight, Norrish Munson, and Addie Richardson are all teaching at William Fleming School. Sue Blair and Doris Puryear are at Virginia Heights School. Audrey Campbell and Dale Preddy are teaching at Morningside School, and Sylvia Coyville, Mary Eustace, Bonnie Hamersly, Joanne Hartman, Julia Holland, Callie Johnson, Katherine Key, Rose Marie Lawrence, and Elaine Shrieves are teaching at Jefferson High School. Margaret Henry and Arlene McKay are teaching the first nine weeks at Lee Junior High. Jean Johnson and Ann Snyder teach at Grandin Court School; Linda Lane and Mary Ann Montague are at Wasena School. Judson Mason is the only girl going to Jackson Junior High the first nine weeks.

New Sigma Kaps Complete Merger

The Pi Kappa Sigma national sorority merged with Sigma Kappa national sorority in May, 1959, has been recently completed by the new Delta Nu Chapter of Sigma Kappa at Longwood.

Its members were pledged and initiated here by the province president, Miss Harlow McCory of Chevy Chase, Maryland, Mrs. Mildred Cripin, Sigma Kappa alumnae, and Kaye Sisk and Sandra Stevenson from the University of Maryland.

After formal ceremonies, the Delta Nu Chapter entertained the presidents, sponsors, and PanHellenic representatives of each of the seven other sororities on campus with a reception in the Student Lounge.

Also present at the reception were various members of the faculty and administration and Mrs. Marcia Mae Glover of Wesleyan University, a past national officer of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority.

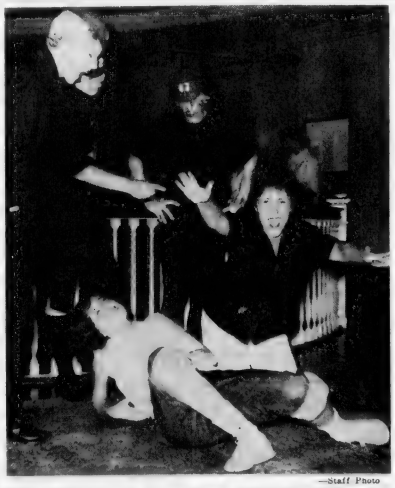
Mrs. Marion Council, Norrish Munson, Burks Keith, Barbara Rossiter, Linda Jo Saunders, and Nancy Lee Cole served in the receiving line.

Norrish Munson, president of the newly initiated Delta Nu Chapter, attended the Sigma Kappa National Convention at Iowa State College in August when she was initiated.

Senior Elected Queen Of Seafood Festival

Margaret Graham, a senior sociology major from Poquoson, was elected Queen Lorelei X of the annual Seafood Festival held in Hampton, September 18-19.

Sponsored by the American Legion of Poquoson and Penninsular Legions, Margaret collected votes at one cent each to raise money for the Lions Club's fund for the blind. Topping six contestant with $2001.9 out a total of $2,2 Margaret was crowned Queen Lorelei X at half-time of the Hampton Benedictine High football game Friday night.



Margaret reigned over the Queen's Parade, the Queen's Banquet, and the Queen's Ball during the tenth annual Seafood Festival.

Queen Lorelei X will also reign over the Oyster Bowl game October 10 in Norfolk.

BEST WISHES for a Successful School Year!
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

KOURY'S HAIR STYLIST
Located at The Dorothy May
MR. KOURY formerly of
Thalhimer's French Salon
Richmond
You are cordially invited to our ultra-modern salon designed for your comfort and featuring the latest fashions in hair-cutting, permanents and hair-coloring.
PHONE 1658

We Are Always Happy to Serve You!
MARTIN, the Jeweler

—Staff Photo

HELL NIGHT lives up to its name as sophomores Pat Hickey, Jo Savage, Winnie Egolf rat Sandra Freedman and Sue Spicer.

Hilliard Attends Meet For Formal Initiation As Sororities Combine

Dixie Rae Hilliard, representing the Gamma Lambda chapter of Theta Sigma Upsilon of Longwood College, attended the twenty-second International Convention of Alpha Gamma Delta this summer. At this time the sororities merged and Dixie was initiated into Alpha Gamma Delta. She is the undergraduate president of the Gamma Lambda Chapter for the '59-'60 year.

Theta Sigma Upsilon members at Longwood pledged Alpha Gamma Delta September 19, and will be initiated by their chapter president October 10.

The convention was held at French-Lick, Indiana, June 27-July 2. Miss Barbara Dowd of the Gamma Zeta Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta, also attended the convention.

Faculty

(Continued from page 1)

lege, Boone, North Carolina. He has done graduate work on the doctoral level at the University of Virginia.

Miss Virginia E. Walker, part-time instructor in Latin, has had teaching experience in the public schools of Virginia and more recently taught at Randolph-Henry High School, Charlotte Court House. She received her A. B. from Randolph-Macon Woman's College.

Mr. Sterling C. Adams, an assistant professor of music, received his B. M. and M. M. at the Conservatory of Music, Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Adams has done graduate work on the doctoral level at Indiana University, and he has taught at Davis and Elkins College and served as a piano assistant at Indiana University.

Serving as assistants in the foreign language departments are Sara Pizarro of Mexico, informant in Spanish, and Georgette Remignon from northern France, informant in French.

New staff members are Mrs. Vivian Clarke, secretary, and Mrs. Louise B. Hubbard, assistant housekeeping supervisor. Taking Mr. Wagner's place in the dining hall is Mr. Class.

Whipple Journeys To Harvest Fete

Claudia Whipple will arrive in Roanoke Friday to represent Longwood in this year's Harvest Bowl Festival.

For the second year, the Junior League of Roanoke is sponsoring the Festival, which is centered around the VPI—William and Mary football game Saturday, October 3.

Claudia and princesses from colleges throughout the state will serve in the court of Harvest Queen Julie Payne and Maid-of-Honor Sue Williams, Miss Virginia of 1959.

The princesses will be escorted to the Festival events by VPI cadets. Friday evening the Junior League will entertain the queen and her court at a dinner party at Roanoke Country Club.

The court will ride on a gala float in the Harvest Bowl parade to Victory Stadium Saturday morning. Before the game the court will be introduced and will sit in special boxes during the game. Claudia and the other princesses will wear long white formals for the parade and game.

A dinner dance honoring the court will be held Saturday evening at Hotel Roanoke.

Last year the Harvest Bowl game drew the largest crowd to a college football game that Victory Stadium has ever held, except for the VPI-VMI Thanksgiving games.

Carolyn DeHaven was Longwood's princess last year and served in the court of Miss America of 1959, Mary Ann Mobley.

Practice Teachers

(Continued from page 1)

There are nine each in the Buckingham and Charlotte County schools. Cumberland County has seven student teachers.

Of the 39 located in the area county schools, 17 students are taking the nine straight weeks of training. The remaining 22 will practice two days a week for the whole semester.

To reach the school in the neighboring counties the girls are transported in three cars and two station wagons owned by the college.

WILSON'S HOME & AUTO SUPPLY
TOP TEN RECORDS

1. Sleep Walk
2. The Three Bells
3. I'm Gonna Get Married
4. (Till) I Kissed You
5. Sea of Love
6. Red River Rock
7. Mack the Knife
8. Broken-Hearted Melody
9. I Want to Walk You Home
10. Put Your Head On My Shoulder

Student Council Presents Recommended Alterations

A student evaluation committee report announced at the first assembly evaluated certain aspects of the school and recommended ways for improvement.

Their report is merely recommendations at this stage, not rules. The Student Goverment is working on these ideas which are as follows:

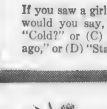
The Student Government shall be comprised of three branches: The Honor Council, which will deal with all Honor Code offenses; House Council, which will decide and administer punishment for all houses; and a Student Council, which shall be the legislative body of Student Government and which will punish all social offenses such as dating and drinking.

The elections could be revised with the establishment of an Electoral Board. This board will receive nominations from students and screen the nominees according to eligibility requirements. Nominations for the major and minor elections shall come from members of the student body. There will be restricted campaigning.

The time of the assembly would be changed to 11 a.m. on either Tuesday or Thursday. Proper conduct during assembly programs shall be enforced by members of House Council.

A point system might be established whereby an officer of an organization will receive a certain number of points for that office. The number of points a student may have will be determined by the scholastic average of the student.

It was suggested that the standard of admissions be raised and that students be required to maintain a higher scholastic average.



A revision in the cut system is to be made in order to raise the standards of Longwood. It is suggested that letters not be written to parents when a student overcuts a class unless there is evidence that her grades have been harmed. Dean's List and second semester seniors will have unlimited cuts. Numerical grading would give a student a more accurate average.

This year emphasis is being placed on the revision of elections and the cut system.

Do You Think for Yourself?
(SHARPEN YOUR WITS ON THIS!*)

If you saw a girl in a bathing suit on a ski slope, would you say, (A) "What—no skis?" or (B) "Cold?" or (C) "The pool closed three months ago," or (D) "Stay right here—I'll get the guard!" A☐ B☐ C☐ D☐

Do you think the statement "It's always darkest before the dawn" is (A) an astronomical truism? (B) a good reason for getting home early? (C) a piece of hopeful philosophy? (D) an argument for night watchmen?
A☐ B☐ C☐ D☐

Do you think that a man who can pole-vault 16 feet but doesn't like to, should (A) go out and do it anyway? (B) keep the whole thing to himself? (C) do a bit of self-analysis on why he doesn't like to go so high? (D) have the bar set lower?
A☐ B☐ C☐ D☐

When you choose a filter cigarette, do you (A) ask all your friends, and take their word for what's best? (B) take the one that makes the loudest claim? (C) investigate the facts, then use your own judgment? (D) go for the filter that gives you taste plus filtering?
A☐ B☐ C☐ D☐

It's a wise smoker who depends on his own judgment, not opinions of others, in his choice of cigarettes. That is why men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. They know only VICEROY has a thinking man's filter—the filter with more research behind it than any other . . . the filter that changed America's smoking habits. And only VICEROY has a smoking man's taste.

If you have checked (D) in three out of four questions, you're pretty sharp . . . but if you picked (C)—man, you think for yourself!*

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows—
ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER . . . A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!
©1959, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Support Your Class In Circus

The Rotunda

Buy Your Annual Today

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., October 7, 1959 | No. 2

Korean Ambassador To Speak At Convocation

Alpha Kappa Gamma Reveals 'Peanuts' As Theme Of Annual Circus

—Staff Photo

CATCHING THE CIRCUS SPIRIT, AKG members, Ruth Denton, Barbara Bishop, Carol Mathews, Jean O'Connell, Jo Ann Garner, and Connie Goodman clown their way through Circus preliminaries.

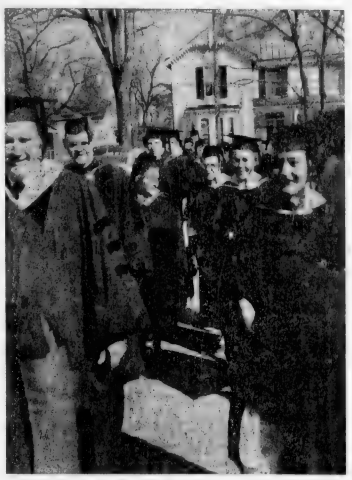
Symbol To Spice October 24 Show Of Skits, Floats

By Sandra Weaver

I am a peanut, the heart of a circus. You find me everywhere under the Big Top . . . on the concession counters ready to be sold, in the small hands of an excited child, and finally you find me being crushed under the feet of the many people who have enjoyed and cast me aside. However, I do not die, for I am abundant. I am a peanut, the core of Circus for 1959.

Against a background of peanuts, intermingled with delicious popcorn, cotton candy and much gaiety, the spirit of "Peanuts" will come alive as the theme of Alpha Kappa Gamma's traditional fall Circus, October 24.

Escorted by lively clowns, the audience will enter the Big Top, still chattering and brimming with the thrill and fascination of the afternoon parade, which saw the culmination of weeks of hard class work in competition for the winning float.



As the excitement dies down, and silence prevails in Jarman Auditorium, spectators will be heralded by the Ringmaster as she slowly, but confidently, takes over as Mistress of Ceremonies introducing . . . the clowns with their white paint and their hearts . . . hearts big enough for the whole world. Their humor, salty as peanuts will reach every member of the audience, filling them with merriment and carnival spirit. Then the Animal Trainer appears, controlling her menagerie of wild beasts with her mighty whip, and the show begins with sparkling colored lights playing from stunt to stunt in the presence of the reigning queen of Circus and her court.

Classes Compete

The climax of the Circus festivities will come as the competition for class skits and floats increases throughout the evening and ends with the presentation of awards in Jarman Hall. Following the awards, the spectators may continue on to the Midway in the Main Rec where classes and campus organizations will have their booths.

As representatives of each class, chairmen have been selected to

(Continued on page 4)

FALL CONVOCATION will see an academic procession to Jarman Auditorium October 13.

Celebration Ends Anniversary Year

Broadcast Features History Of Longwood

By Mary Byrd Micou

Longwood's Convocation, a final observance of 75 years as Virginia's first state supported college for women, will close October 13 with a Symposium.

Ambassador To Speak

The celebration will feature an address by Dr. You Chan Yang, Korean ambassador to the United States, at 11:15 a.m. in Jarman Hall. Dr. Yang, born in Pusan, Korea, studied at the University of Hawaii from 1916-1917. Also an alumnus of Boston University, he received his degree in medicine there. Dr. Yang practiced as a physician and surgeon in Honolulu from 1923-1951. Honorary chairman of the American-Korean Foundation, he has been active in the organization of the League of Friends of Korea, as well as the Korean independence movement. Dr. Yang was leader of the Korean Community in Hawaii following the departure of Dr. Syngman Rhee for the United States, and served from 1939-1951.

Dr. Yang will be met in Richmond Monday, October 12, by Dr. Francis Lankford and members of the faculty. After television, radio, and newspaper interviews, he will be honored with a dinner at the Lankford home, where he will be a guest.

Procession Begins Program

An academic procession including representatives from 34 colleges and scholastic societies, as well as the faculty, administration, and seniors of Longwood will begin the ceremonies at 10:45 a.m.

With classes dismissed at 10:30 a.m., the students will have an opportunity to attend the events. Special student hostesses will serve the guest table at the luncheon in the dining hall. Campus hostesses and ushers from Longwood's student body will help to welcome the guests.

Special invitations to the Symposium and the President's Reception have been extended to heads of all student organizations and to all members of Student Government for the past four years.

The President's Reception concluding the anniversary celebration will be in the Lounge of the Student Activities Building.

The Symposium, a panel discussion of the history, trends, and contributions of teacher education will begin at 2:30 p.m. All Longwood students are invited to hear Sym-

(Continued on page 4)

College Thespians Disclose Players For Irish Tragedy

By Joan Kidwell

Sean O'Casey, the Irish writer who wears a turtle-neck sweater and a silvery-white goatee, is the author of "The Plough and the Stars," the play chosen for production November 12, 13, and 14 by the Longwood Players.

This tragic drama which concerns the Easter week rebellion of the Irish Citizens Army against English rule in 1916, is a typical O'Casey play. His great love for Dublin, his ability to make a story of death, tragedy, love, and war come alive totally through the living speech of his characters—these are evident in "The Plough and the Stars."

Actually, several little wars are hidden under the cover of the Rebellion. They are the private wars of the selfish people of the Irish tenement in which the play is set. Nora Clitheroe and her husband, Jack, a commandant of the Irish Citizens Army, act out a tragedy of love. Nora will be played by Mary Beth Olson; and Jack, by Norton Howe. Bessie Burgess and Mrs. Gogan, portrayed by Neal Banks and Patsy Anne Scott, are two old busy-bodies whose comic battling is both comical and disgusting.

Peter Flynn, played by Paul Larsh and the Covey, played by Alan Stein, will also entertain with their political feud. Along with Fluther Good, portrayed by Garnett Smith, and Elaine Lohr as Mollser, Mrs. Gogan's consumptive child, these characters make up the tenement dwellers of the play.

Bill Kempton as Lt. Langon, John Meyers as Captain Brennan, Randy Keller as Corporal Stoddart and Sam Terry as Sergeant Tinley form the armies of the Irish and English adversaries. Also in the play is a tavern scene with Bill Ragsdale acting the part of the bartender and Bobbie Caples as Rosie Redmond, a woman of ill repute. Mary Kay Rice will portray "A Woman," a wealthy lady who, caught in the fighting, is quite disturbed over getting out of the city without mussing her hairdo.

In the technical aspect of the drama, Mr. David Wiley will direct the play with Matilda Powell as assistant director, Judy Stokes as technical director and Cecil Kidd as stage manager.

Longwood Enrollment Shows 986 Students

The enrollment for the fall session at Longwood College is 968 students. The total enrollment may be broken down into the following classifications:

Virginia boarding students, 878; Out-of-state boarding students, 41; Virginia day students, 46; and Out-of-state day students, 3.

By classes there are in the freshman class, 362; sophomore, 263; junior, 183; senior, 155; and special students, 5.

The 1959 fall enrollment shows an increase of 6 students when compared with the enrollment of the fall session of 1958, 962 students.

—Staff Photo

A NEW CREST is shown by Dixie Hilliard, president of Alpha Gamma Delta, and Connie Goodman (r.) to Sigma Kappa officers (l.), Ann Clark and Barbara Rossiter.

Alpha Psi To Present Three One-Act Plays

"Move a little further upstage on that line, please."

This is an example of what one might have heard when passing the small auditorium or Jarman auditorium recently. For the past two weeks a small group of Longwood and Hampden-Sydney students have been rigorously rehearsing for the Alpha Psi Omega presentation of three one-act plays. These plays will be presented Thursday night, October 8, in Jarman Hall.

League Directs 'Bore'

"The Bore," written by Anton Chekhov, is being directed by Mary Linda League, a senior and president of Alpha Psi Omega. This play involves a wealthy landowner who has loaned out all his money. Finding himself unable to collect and in a bad financial state, he visits a wealthy widow with the intent of asking her for a loan.

The cast consists of Malinda Walker as Luka, Mary Beth Olson as Mrs. Helena Ivanova Popov, and Buddy Booberg as Grigora Stepanovich Smirnov. Malinda, Mary

(Continued on page 4)

Thetas To Merge With Alpha Gams

Theta Sigma Upsilon members will be come members of Alpha Gamma Delta Saturday, October 10. The initiation will take place in the "Y" Lounge of the Student Building with Mrs. H. Flemmer, Executive Secretary of Alpha Gamma Delta Fraternity serving as installing officer.

Saturday at 10 a.m. there will be a workshop for all returning alumnae, and throughout the week end there will be individual officers' conferences with the initiation officer. At 2 p.m. the initiation of 21 undergraduate Theta Sigma Upsilon members and 10 Theta Sigma Upsilon alumnae will take place. Marian Paud, a member of one of Longwood's first Theta pledge classes will be among the latter.

An installation banquet will be held at Longwood Estate Saturday evening. Sunday morning the group will attend the Methodist church. Sunday afternoon the presentation tea of the Gamma Lambda Chapter will take place. Attending the tea will be the faculty, administration, presidents of all campus organizations, head residents, campus leaders, representatives from the Richmond Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta, all province officers and undergraduate officers from Gamma Omicron of West Virginia Wesleyan College and Queen's College of Charlotte, North Carolina, and Miss Barbara Dowd, president of the local Alpha Gamma Delta alumnae.

LC To Offer Credits For Televised Classes

Longwood is offering credit for nationally televised classes in physics and chemistry sponsored by the American Association of Colleges of Teacher Education, The American Chemical Society, and the National Broadcasting Company.

The classes, televised over NBC-TV stations, are taught by national authorities. The physics class is broadcast at 6 a.m. and is immediately followed by the modern chemistry class at 6:30 a.m.

A student who wishes credit for either of the courses watches the lectures, performs the assignments, and mails them to the college coordinator. The coordinator at Longwood is Mr. T. A. McCorkle. Periodically the students meet at the college with the coordinator for discussion and written work.

Three semester hours of credit are awarded for the successful completion of a semester of work in either of the subjects. Students who want to receive graduate credit for the course must be admitted by the Graduate Council of Longwood College.

Lankford Receives Honorary Degree

Dr. Francis G. Lankford, Longwood president, will receive an honorary Doctor of Law degree at the Trustee Convocation at Randolph-Macon College October 9.

Honorary degrees will also be conferred upon Dr. Grellet Simpson, chancellor of Mary Washington College, and R. Bower Hardesty, president of the State Teachers College of Maryland. All three men are graduates of Randolph-Macon.

Dr. Lankford holds the degree of B.A. with Phi Beta Kappa honors from Randolph-Macon, and the M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Virginia. He has served as Longwood president since 1956.

A Place For Prayer

For many years the cabinet of the YWCA has looked forward to the day when a Prayer Room could be permanently set up here on campus. Such a dream became a reality when last year's cabinet chose the "Y" cabinet room as the site for the Prayer Room.

Since then we have begun to equip the room, so that it now serves the student body as a place for mediation, thought, and prayer, and also as the library for those books owned by the "Y." Though this room is not yet completed, we invite everyone to use it at any time. We have for years felt the need for such a place on campus where one can be alone with himself, his thoughts, and his God — a place where one can escape for a few moments the hustle, bustle of college life. This is your Prayer Room — we sincerely hope that you will indeed benefit from it.

In the back of the Prayer Room a library for student use can be found. There are many books there which have been selected for your use, including some which are helpful in planning Prayers or Morning Watch. Every year new books are added to the "Y" library that will enlighten and interest students. We hope that you will find these books most useful throughout the year.

If at any time you have suggestions for the Prayer Room or the library, please give these to a member of the "Y" Cabinet. The "Y" belongs to you, the student body. Its facilities are your facilities.

—Jean Peyton, President YWCA

Your House Council

House Council is an organization whose purpose is to promote more favorable living and study conditions. We of the House Council would like to bring to the attention of the student body some of the important rules which we feel are essential to your best interests.

Strict study hours will be observed in every dorm from 8 p.m. to 9:45 p.m. Surely one hour and 45 minutes is not too long for complete silence when so much can be gained.

For your own safety, the use of electrical appliances in the room is prohibited; it is a serious fire hazard. In all dormitories facilities for cooking and pressing are provided; therefore it is not necessary to disregard this rule. If appliances are found in use in the rooms, they will be taken by the Head Resident and kept the remainder of the semester.

Students are reminded that proper conduct in the dining hall is expected at all times. This is simply a matter of good taste.

The rules of House Council have been carefully evaluated to make them more effective for you. The responsibility of House Council does not rest exclusively with the Council; it is the responsibility of every member of the student body. The success of House Council depends on you.

—Neil Ward, House Council President

Circus Indifference

With the approach of Circus we expect an air of anticipation, a feeling of surpressed excitement. Yet this year the magic has not yet captured 100 per cent of the student body.

October 24 may be a dance week end at many colleges, but that doesn't mean that the individuals affected can remain lackadaisical toward Circus. In every class's planning lie many little jobs that must be done before hand. You can participate by helping with costumes, running off stencils for a stunt, even finding that red or green convertible—the list is practically endless.

Your work now determines your class's success in Circus.

More On Vacations

Editor's note: In the last week many students have expressed a verbal interest in the proposals made in this column for securing a larger interval between exams and a longer Easter holiday. To make the faculty and administration fully aware of this interest, however, we must show it in an even more tangible form. PLEASE, if you approve of the idea, have another, or don't approve — write a letter to the editor. It doesn't need to be long; just help us create an awareness of the situation.

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 168.

Clancy Gorham ..... Editor-in-Chief

Chris Kappen ..... Managing Editor
Dale Priddy ..... Business Manager
Jo Anne Eastwood ..... News Editor
Joann Kleinecke ..... Feature Editor
Nancy Lentine ..... Sports Editor
Sandra Wright ..... Desk Editor
Anne B. Lockhart ..... Photography
Carole Lancaster ..... Art
Arlene Nelson ..... Circulation Manager
Bonnie Reese, Marie Messick ..... Advertising Managers
Miss Mary F. Nichols ..... Faculty Advisor

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class, Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating, first place), Intercollegiate Press.

NEWS STAFF: Agnes Massie, Assistant News Editor; Mattie Blissett, Assistant Feature Editor; Mary Byrd Mason, Assistant Sports Editor; Judy Derrick, Assistant Desk Editor; Linda Southall, Assistant Photography Editor; Columnists; Jeanette Franklin, Jan Lowe, Frances Hawthorne; Marie Freese, Jimmie Veach, Martha Scott Gentry, Janice Gibson, Jane Stroud, Reporters; Dorthy Baker, Gerry Ferris, Mary Stuart Cranwell, Claudia Wilson, Sue Gutweiss, Susan Crisman, Pat Hunt, Rosanna Digiorgio, Gaetta Barden, Mary Lewis Elmore, Page Davis, Rose Marie Lawrence, Typist; Nancy Pennington.

CIRCULATION STAFF: Kay Pitzer, Assistant Manager; Linda Saunders, Frances Mims, Nancy Lee Cox, Carolyn Young, Gay Ashworth, Nancy Thomas, Sue Ellen Sims, Anne Lancaster, Sylvia Gwaltney, Shirley Hughes, Carolyn Elliott, Kenny Peckham, Nancy Ann Caldwell Davis, Margaret Hurd, Virginia Kemp, Barbara Ann Cole, Lillian Young, Lucy Blair.

ADVERTISING STAFF: Lu Ellen Janet Stanley, Mary L. Elmore, Carolyn Grimstead, Vol M. Gentry, Nancy Branscomb, Nancy Shaw, Doris Clapp, Nancye Allen, Ann Snell, Beverly Gordon.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 3, 1894. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by BIBLER

"I JUST HEARD A HORRIBLE RUMOR—THAT THE TRUSTEES WILL REQUIRE ALL PROFESSORS TO PASS TH' ENTRANCE EXAM."

Professor Teaches, Tours On Research Trip To Italy

"When is the next boat for Italy?" This might well be heard from Longwood's wandering scholar, Dr. Gardner B. Taplin, associate professor of English. He has been to Italy six times since 1947 — all through the courtesy of fellowships. Besides a Guggenheim Fellowship last year, Dr. Taplin received faculty fellowships from the University of Indiana for 1958-59 and 1953-54. He has taught at both the University of Indiana and Boston University.

Dr. Taplin received the Guggenheim Fellowship which is given to a few selected writers and scholars from the summer of 1958 to September 1959.

Before leaving for Italy to do research on Italian life and culture and their influence upon American writers from Cooper to Hemingway, Dr. Taplin did some research in this country to get background. Then in September he sailed from Boston on an Italian line. In Rome he lived at the American Academy where those with Guggenheim and Prix-de-Rome Fellowships live, paint sculpture, and write, thus pursuing their individual interests.

DR. G. B. TAPLIN

Meets Pope

Although Rome, unlike Venice, has cars for transportation, Dr. Taplin says that the local bus and walking were his favorite means of traveling; this was one way he met the people. In Rome he also lived with an Italian family near the Vatican and through an official at the American Embassy he had an audience with the late Pope Pius XII.

In the spring the scholar stayed with an Italian family in Florence whose home was near the Brownings' palace. During his stay there he visited Pisa where he climbed the Leaning Tower. He commented, "The Tower of Pisa leans to one side more than one may suppose."

Praises Pizza

Dr. Taplin commented on his love for Italian cooking, claiming pizzas and spaghetti among his favorites. The restaurants, which are good and not very expensive, are centers where the people come to watch TV give-away programs. (Fiats are awarded instead of American Cadillacs!)

(Continued on page 3)

Socially Speaking

Roanoke Harvest Festival Provides Party Week End

By Sandie Farish

Parties . . . parties . . . and more parties! Yes, things are beginning to get back into full swing. This past week end found Longwood ladies visiting many other college campuses to cash in on some fun.

Highlighting the week end, perhaps, was the Harvest Bowl, played in Roanoke. Pretty Claudia Whipple represented Longwood as a princess in the queen's court. Others attending were Jean Dunagan, Nancy Morton, Patsy Spencer, Linda Poff, Linda Davenport, Frances Norment, Cornelia Banks, Virginia Van deRiet, Beverly Gaskins, Jane Brooke, Joann Kleinecke, Nell Ward, and Ann Scott.

Lexington Lures

Having a wonderful time with their handsome VMI Keydets were Brenda Dod, Margaret Griggs, Betty Jean Cliatt, and Julianne McLellen. Also traveling to Lexington, but to visit Washington and Lee just across the road, were Diana Snow, Judy Purcell, and Virginia Wilson. Rumors are circulating about some terrific frat parties there; what do you say, girls?

Nancianne Frye traveled to Tennessee to be entertained at Tennessee Tech. Randolph-Macon provided the setting for Ann Ruckmann, while Virginia Episcopal School in Lynchburg played host to Brenda Lee Smith.

Hampden-Sydney Parties

On the home front, Hampden-Sydney was a scene of activity. Friday night the Pikas, Chi Phis, and the Sigma Chis created a din of happy noise and confusion with fraternity parties.

At the Sigma Chi house were Brenda Smith, Lani Robinson, Nancy Mustard, Vanetia Remaine, Gari Dickson, Margie Shumate, Wistie Rochelle, Blanche Ingram, Rita St. John, and Lucy Wilson.

Having an equally good time at the Pika house we find Sara Oliver, Virginia Parker, Dottie Rowe, Jane Brooke, Emmy Lou Critchen, Frankie Click, Joanne White, Yvonne Webb, Cherry Gorham, Dotsie Brown, Alice Layne, Patsy Carr, Barbara Malone, Dureda Brumback, Nancy Hood, Peggy Rath, and Pam Bullen.

The Chi Phis played host to Shirley Day, Barbara Rossiter, Beverly Gaskins, Ann Scott and Jean Maupin.

Traveling around Fraternity Circle from house to house were Sarah Decker, Kay Nottingham, Bobbi Loth, Josie O'Hop, Sally Sims, Rosa Pettit, Marilyn Miller, Jean Barnett, Linda Parker, Annice Bailey, Neal Banks, Paula Clark, Nancy Shaw, B. J. Allgood, Jean Dancy, Mary Bettie Watkins, Pat Sadler, Gretchen Zimmerman, Laura Butler, Archer Cassada, Jerri Rakes, Betty Patterson, Pat Morgan, Margaret Tatterson, Bettie St. Clair, Nancy Wingfield, Ginny Peters, Pooh Butterworth, and Suzanne Shipp.

Also, Ann Bass, Katie Fulton, Liz Dozier, Linda Sullivan, Sandra Wise Dotsy Moody, Bonnie Irby, and Lena Kay.

Saturday night Fraternity Circle at Hampden-Sydney repeated Friday night's party-time, but at the Kappa Alpha and Kappa Sigma houses. The crowd enjoyed themselves as always.

French, Spanish Informants Comment On College Ways

By Lillie Rogers

Do you think of France as a country where all the girls look like Brigitte Bardot and smell of Chanel No. 5, and Mexico as a country where everyone takes siestas and young girls are chaperoned by unyielding duennas?

Such impressions as these are not uncommon, but listen to what Georgette Regmigon and Sara Pizarro, Longwood's foreign language informants, have to say about these and other customs of their respective countries.

Georgette, who comes from Tarbes, an industrial city in southern France, says that although many French girls "try to wear the hair and clothes like Brigitte, the starlet is not as popular in France as in America."

"Oh yes, we do take siestas," contributes Sara. "That is, the people at home do; however, the shops and restaurants do not close until very late."

Sara comes from Mexico City which has 4,000,000 people, and which she describes as being "much too big."

The two girls became interested in Longwood through last year's language informants, Jacqueline Ducousso and Laura Molina. Although they have been here only a short length of time, both Sara and Georgette are impressed by Longwood's friendly atmosphere.

"The girls are, how you say, very sympathetic," explains Sara. "If you have a problem, they are always ready to help you."

Both girls agree that Americans are less well informed about foreign countries than other countries are concerning us.

"In Mexico, we have radio stations that play nothing but American songs," exclaims Sara, who says she cannot "rock 'n roll" but "likes very much to cha-cha-cha."

Georgette admits that she can "bop" a little, and adds that American jazz is currently popular in France.

American film stars such as Cary Grant, Rock Hudson, Tony Perkins, and James Dean, are well-known in both France and Mexico where the teen-agers show the same enthusiasm as their American counterparts; their parents reaction is also much the same as ours in the United States.

"One day," relates Sara, "I bought a magazine and cut out all of the pictures of James Dean and put them on my wall. My father asked, 'What is that?' I said, 'Daddy, that's James Dean.' He said, 'Off! Take it down!'"

Georgette explains that everything here is still too new to really offer many contrasts. Both girls, however, have found American eating habits to be quite different from their own.

"The French eat very little for breakfast," says Georgette, "usually only 'cafe,' and perhaps bread and butter. Bacon and eggs, the forte of Americans, are seldom eaten, except by farm workers."

Sara adds that the Mexicans are justly noted for their spicy foods. "Antojitos Mejicanos," one of the most popular dishes, is a mixture of the tortilla and various chiles. Sara says the Mexicans eat "much too much" for breakfast, and have dinner at 9 p.m.

Georgette and Sara have also noticed contrasts in American social customs with those of their own countries.

"Dating is not a social thing in France as it is here," Georgette explains. "In France, the boys and girls just 'get together'."

Georgette adds that as yet she doesn't know enough American boys to compare them with the traditionally romantic Frenchmen.

Sara says that in Mexico dating is not thought of as "dating." There, one thinks in terms of "I'm going to go out."

The girls often have chaperones on their "goings out," but they are usually only another couple or a girl friend.

"Our families are not so very strict," Sara added, "If a girl has a little sense here (tapping her head), she will not have to worry."

Sara's personal comment on Mexican boys—"Right now, they are very difficult!"

—Staff Photo

INFORMANTS PREPARE "DICTADO"—Sara Pizarro and Georgette Regmigon use listening room record player.

Library Exhibits Institute Series Of Faculty Books

The Institute of Southern Culture has placed an exhibit in the college library featuring books, pamphlets, and film strips on "The South in Education," the theme of this year's lectures.

In addition to the works of guest professors, there are books on exhibit by the following Longwood professors:

"The South Old and New," "A History of the South," "Pitchfork Ben," "Tillman; South Carolinian," "South Carolina During Reconstruction," and "The Tillman Movement in South Carolina" are among the books written by Dr. Francis B. Simkins, professor of history.

Dr. Marvin W. Schlegel, professor of history, has written "Franklin B. Gowen: Ruler of the Reading," "Conscripted City," and "Virginia on Guard." He helped write "Cavalier Commonwealth," and contributed to "Pursuits of War," edited by W. Edwin Hemphill.

In the "Social Education," February, 1959, issue, Dr. Gary Dunbar, assistant professor of geography at U. Va., has written "The Fallacy of the Zonal Concepts of Climates" with Dr. Charles Lane, professor of geography and geology. In collaboration with Mr. Philip Larimore he wrote "Bringing the Field into the Classroom" for a geographical bulletin.

Other books exhibited include "The Life of Elizabeth Barrett Browning" by Dr. Gardner Taplin, associate professor of English, and "Shaftesbury and the French Deists" by Dr. Dorothy Schlegel.

"Virginia in History and Tradition" and "The South in Perspective," bound books of the preceding lectures, can be purchased at the treasurer's office for $2 each.

Taplin

(Continued from page 2)

One of the most colorful Italian customs takes place on St. John's festival in Florence when the people don costumes and play an old-fashioned game of soccer in the public square. Even the horses are brightly dressed for the occasion, and a brilliant display of fireworks follows the game.

Rotunda Rates High

The Associated Collegiate Press has announced that the Rotunda has merited a first class rating for the spring semester of 1958-59.

This national collegiate press service, which critiques some 398 college papers twice a year, ranked 22 weekly papers from schools with an enrollment similar to Longwood's in the first class category.

The Rotunda, edited by Cherry Gorham, received a superior rating in sports coverage, editorials and editorial page make-up. News sources and balance were graded excellent.

Suggestions made for improvement were more boxes and pictures below the fold, more variety of headline sizes, less wordiness and shorter paragraphs.

Wilson Foundation Gives Fellowships

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation announces its 1959-60 program of 1,000 fellowships in the humanities, and in the social and natural sciences, to encourage undergraduates now in their senior year to undertake graduate work in order to enter the college teaching profession.

Students who receive a Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship will be paid $1500 plus tuition and dependency allowances for a year of graduate study at a university of their choice in the United States or Canada. The first Woodrow Wilson Fellowship awarded a Longwood graduate was given last year to Molly Workman, who is using it to study for her master's degree in English at Duke University.

Candidates may not file applications directly, but will be sent application forms after personal nomination by a member of the faculty. Any student expecting to graduate in the spring of 1960 may learn more of the details of this Fellowship by consulting the departmental chairman in his major field, or the local representative of the Foundation, Dr. Marvin W. Schlegel of the Department of History.

The deadline for receiving nominations for the 1960 Fellowships is October 31, 1959. Application blanks will be mailed directly to the student on receipt of a faculty nomination.

Timely Topics

Controversies Reign

Internationally: Last week Khrushchev went home. His voyage across country, climaxed by talks with Ike at Maryland's Camp David, has all the earmarks of a history - making Odessey. Leaving Andrews Air Force Base in fine humor, Khrushchev delivered what was perhaps his most effective speech in the U. S.: "As a result of the useful talks we had with President Eisenhower, we came to the agreement that all of the pending international questions should not be settled by force, but by peaceful means — by negotiation . . ."

What Khrushchev meant was this: under pressure from U. S. and European heads, Khrushchev agreed to lift all ultimatums or threats on Berlin and to meet soon with Western powers for peaceful negotiation. If nothing else was accomplished, observers agree that this concession on the part of Communism's strong man is the beginning of what might prove to be the most effective set of peace talks thus far.

Nationally: At the President's press conference aired nationally on ABC-TV last week, Ike, venting his disgust at steelmen and unionites alike, raped out, "I'm sick and tired of what is apparently an impasse in the steel strike . . . I am not going to allow American workers to remain unemployed. . . This is an intolerable situation. It must not continue."

Whether the President will invoke the Taft-Hartley Act is a matter of open speculation. Already major industries have been forced to lay off workers, even while United Steelworkers' President David J. MacDonald walked out of Manhattan negotiations, said conclusively, "We are going home. This farcical filibuster has ended."

SCARAB BRACELETS
$2.20 each
GOLD FILLED
$12.65
MARTIN, The Jeweler
Farmville, Va.

OCTOBER 8, 1959
$1.00 Stationery for only 50c
Christmas Cards
½ Price
2 Rolls of Film
69c
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

HAVE "REC-TIME"
NOW!
visit your
SNACK BAR

Burger Obtains Fame In Hockey

Iler Helps Novice For College Team

By Nancy Lechler

The "red and white" hockey teams at Longwood certainly have something to be proud of, for from their ranks has come an international hockey figure.

Miss Elizabeth Burger, associate professor of science here at Longwood, reached the very top in hockey when in 1956 she was asked to become an honorary member of the United States Field Hockey Association.

Iler Coaches

Credit is given by Miss Burger to Miss Iler, for it was under Miss Iler's supervision that the student teachers began hockey at the Farmville College High School where Miss Burger played for two years. Before transferring to William and Mary College, Miss Burger played hockey at Longwood her freshman and sophomore years on the varsity squad and for the "red and white" class team.

She readily admits that one of the main reasons for choosing William and Mary over Duke University was that the former had a vacancy on its varsity hockey team. She not only succeeded in obtaining this position but also in her senior year she attended the National Hockey Tournament.

However Miss Burger's already outstanding career did not end here. In 1939 she played on the team representing the United States in the Women's Hockey Association. This team toured the Dutch West Indies, Trinidad and British Guiana with the best record of any United States team abroad.

Plays Abroad

In 1950, Miss Burger was captain of the United States team which went to South Africa and Rhodesia. At the International Conference held in England in 1953, she was an official delegate as well as vice-captain of the United States team which toured the British Isles and Holland.

For the Australian Conference, Miss Burger played a triple role. She was umpire, player, and manager for the American team. After the conference, they toured New Zealand and made the circle around the world before their return.

Miss Burger's hockey activities have been limited for the past three years because of her graduate studies in the field of science education. She does serve as coach and director at Miss Constance Applebee's Hockey Camp in the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania. She is also one of the few qualified hockey umpires in the United States.

Right now Miss Burger is busy in helping the United States Field Hockey Association to plan the International Conference to be held at Goucher College in Maryland in 1963.

—Staff Photo

MISS ELIZABETH BURGER, with an experienced eye, inspects her prized hockey stick.

Football Fanfare

By Marjorie Freese

World Series time is here. The two rivals playing this year are the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Chicago White Sox with the Dodgers slated as the 11-10 favorite.

On the gridiron this week the Cavaliers were downed by Florida 55-10. This was the third straight loss for Virginia. The Cavaliers held the lead 10-8 in the first half. When the second half started, they crumbled and the Gators leaped ahead to trounce the Virginia team.

Tech beat W&M for its first victory of the season by a score of 20-14. This put the Indians' rating at 1-1 for the state record.

Washington and Lee, apparently coming out of the slump which they have been in for the past several years, defeated Dickinson 42-14.

The North Carolina rivals battled it out to a 20-12 win for the Tarheels. N. C. State scored twice, but missed all its extra points. This was North Carolina's first victory of the season and their first win in four years over State.

Citadel pulled itself out of an absolute defeat by scoring two touchdowns in 58 seconds in the last half of its game with Davidson. The score was a 13-7 Southern Conference victory for the Citadels.

Bridgewater, like Virginia, received its third straight defeat this week end. Guilford College, which is relatively inexperienced, trounced Bridgewater 52-7.

Church News

Methodist

Nancy Martin, a junior from Appomattox, has been appointed Wesley Foundation president following the resignation of Margaret Shropshire Jones.

A panel discussion on Christian beliefs was featured at the Coffee Hour held last Friday in the Student Center. A large group of students participated in the discussion. Miss Ruth Wilson and Mrs. Beulah Eva were featured guests.

Baptist

The BSU freshman Sunday School class elected officers September 27. Joyce Outland and Marilyn Hobbs were elected secretary and president, respectively.

'59 Hockey Team Shows Strength With New Talent

The 1959-1960 hockey team will be relying on new prowess to some extent this season.

The team this year is composed of 27 members, including six freshmen and 21 sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Returning with the benefit of varsity experience are juniors, Mary Hite Grayson, Barbara Brantley, and Pat Southworth.

Freshmen team members are Flossie Barnard, Ellen Brady, Janice Harris, Lindy Hatch, Carol Buckner and Lefty Snyder.

Upperclassmen include Barbara Brantley, Bobbie Caples, Trina Childress, Winnie Egolf, Mate Fadley, Mary Hite Grayson, Mable Healy, and Doris Kesling.

Also on the team are Morag Nocher, Jean O'Connell, Anne Palmer, Clara Lee Parker, Virginia Parker, Faye Ripley, Jo Savage, Patsy Shelton, Pat Southworth, Jeanette Talbott, Carolyn Thorpe, Claudia Whipple and Alma Jean Wright.

Commenting on Longwood's victory in the opening game with the Norfolk Division of William and Mary, varsity member Barbara Brantley says, "The team had more spirit and better teamwork than they displayed during any of the practices."

Registrar Announces Sororities' Averages

Sorority averages for the spring semester of 1959 released by the Registrar, Miss Virginia Wall, and Dean Ruth Wilson, Pan-Hellenic adviser, are as follows:

Zeta Tau Alpha	2.02
Alpha Gamma Delta	1.77
Alpha Sigma Alpha	1.73
Alpha Sigma Tau	1.71
Kappa Delta	1.69
Sigma Kappa	1.69
Delta Zeta	1.60
Sigma Sigma Sigma	1.43

Zeta Tau Alpha will receive the scholarship cup for maintaining the highest yearly average for 1958-59. Their average was 1.94.

Your Authorized
NEBBISH DEALER
LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP
Across From
Jarman Auditorium

Band Progresses

Oboes, clarinets, drums, coronets . . . yes, we got 'em all in the music building, and, thanks to Mr. Clifford Smith, the instructor, most of them are being played this year. After numerous failures in past years we finally have a real band underway. The group displaying their talents in assembly are not to be confused with our regular band. Any resemblance is purely accidental! Just an advertising stunt.

When Mr. Smith joined the faculty last year, plans were made and hopes began to soar. Music majors were taught to play instruments and asked to recruit experienced members. Soon the number began to swell as we grew in quantity as well as quality. Towards the end of the semester we made our debut in assembly and were warmly received.

Graduation struck hard as it took most of our percussion section as well as parts of other sections. Now, we are slowly rebuilding and plan to play in the circus parade the end of this month.

We still have room for you too if you want to join! Just come on over to the band room on Monday night at 7 p.m. We furnish the instruments!

Remember . . . the more . . . the noiser!

TEN TOP TUNES
1. Sleep Walk
2. Mack the Knife
3. The Three Bells
4. 'Till I Kissed You
5. I'm Gonna Get Married
6. Sea of Love
7. Put Your Head On My Shoulder
8. Red River Rock
9. Teen Beat
10. Broken-Hearted
WILSON'S HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

Longwood Ladies Open New Season Conquering W&M

Playing their first game of the season, the Longwood hockey team defeated the Norfolk Division of William and Mary October 3 on the Longwood hockey field.

Four goals were scored in the first half, and two in the second, giving Longwood an easy 6-0 win over the visiting team. Carrying the team to victory by scoring were Barbara Brantley, Winnie Egolf, and Lindy Hatch.

Starting players for the first half were Virginia Parker, Lindy Hatch, Barbara Brantley, Winnie Egolf, Mate Fadely, Jeanette Talbott, Jean O'Connell, Mary Hite Grayson, Morag Nocher, Pat Southworth, and Annie B. Palmer. During the second half substitutes were Carolyn Thorpe, Trina Childress, Florence Barnard, Doris Kesling, Alma Wright, Faye Ripley, Mable Healey, and Jo Savage.

Longwood has seven more games plus the tournament scheduled for this season. The next game is with Roanoke College.

Loan Fund Opens To LC Students

The National Defense Education Act of Congress, with the purpose of finding and educating more of the nation's talent, has provided for loan funds from which undergraduate and graduate students may borrow money to complete their higher education.

Longwood is now approved for participation in this student loan program.

To be eligible for this loan, each borrower must be a full-time undergraduate or graduate student; he must be in need of the amount to follow his courses of study; and he must be capable of maintaining a good academic standing.

A sum not exceeding $1,000 may be borrowed in one year's time and during the entire course in higher education the amount may not exceed $5,000. Repayment of the loan must begin with an interest rate of 3 per cent per year one year after the borrower ceases to be a full-time student. Within 10 years it must be completed.

To obtain the student loan, the application for financial assistance, available in the office of the dean of the college, must be filled out and checked by the dean for its eligibility.

Glamourana

By IDA SOUTHALL

SKIN TYPES

There is great variety in skin types, and what is good for one kind might be very bad for another. For the best possible skin care you must determine your skin type. A creamy cleanser is best for dry skin, while soap and water are best for oily skin. For sensitive skin, special cosmetics should be used. There are many more different types to choose from.

There is great variety in hair types, and it is important that you get the permanent that is right for your hair. Leave it to an expert to determine the kind you need. Variety Beauty Shop, Farmville.

OPEN WEDNESDAYS

For the smartest figure try the 5 & 5 Custom Shop next door. A few treatments and you will see the difference.

Calendar Of Events

	Time
Monday
1—Choir	4 p. m.	Every Monday
2—Baptist Student U. Council	5 p. m.	Every Monday
3—Wes. Foundation Council	5 p. m.	Every Monday
4—Northern Neck Club	7 p. m.	First Monday
5—Panhellenic Council	5 p. m.	First Monday
6—AA Council	7 p. m.	1st, 3rd Monday
7—Monogram Club	After AA	First Monday
8—Virginian Staff	7 p. m.	Every Monday
9—Sigma Alpha Iota	7 p. m.	1st, 3rd Monday
10—YWCA	7 p. m.	2nd, 4th Monday
11—Rec Swim	4:50 p. m.	Every Monday
12—Eastern Shore	9 p. m.	First Monday
Tuesday
1—French Club	4 p. m.	Second Tuesday
2—Spanish Club	4 p. m.	First Tuesday
3—Sororities	5 p. m.	Every Tuesday
4—Student Government	7 p. m.	Every Tuesday
5—FBLA	7 p. m.	Second Tuesday
6—Library League	7 p. m.	Second Tuesday
7—SEA	7 p. m.	Third Tuesday
8—Home Economics Club	7 p. m.	Second Tuesday
Wednesday
1—Rotunda Staff	7 p. m.	Every Wednesday
2—Choir	4 p. m.	Every Wednesday
3—Colonnade Staff	4 p. m.	Every Wednesday
4—Orchesis	4 p. m.	Every Wednesday
5—YWCA Council	5 p. m.	1st, 3rd, 4th Wednesday
6—Kappa Delta Pi	5 p. m.	Second Wednesday
7—Lynchos Society	7 p. m.	Second Wednesday
8—Longwood Players	7 p. m.	First Wednesday
9—Newman Club	7 p. m.	Every Wednesday
10—Rec Swim	10 p. m.	Every Wednesday
Thursday
1—Choir	4 p. m.	Every Thursday
2—Beore Eh Thorn	4 p. m.	Third Thursday
3—House Council	5 p. m.	Second Thursday
4—Baptist Choir	5 p. m.	Every Thursday
5—Methodist Choir	5 p. m.	Every Thursday
6—Band	1 p. m.	Every Thursday
7—H2O Club	7 p. m.	2nd, 4th Thursday
8—Pi Delta Epsilon	7 p. m.	First Thursday
9—Alpha Psi Omega	7 p. m.	Third Thursday
10—Alpha Kappa Gamma	7 p. m.	2nd, 4th Thursday
11—Granddaughters Club	7 p. m.	First Thursday
12—Pi Gamma Mu	7 p. m.	2nd, 3rd Thursday
Friday
1—Rec Swim	4:50 p. m.	Every Friday

Convocation

(Continued from page 1)

postum moderator Dr. Davis Y. Paschall, state superintendent of public instruction, and members of the panel, Dr. Marguerite Roberts, dean of Westhampton College; Dr. William F. Quillian, Jr., president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College; and Dr. William H. Cartwright, chairman of the Department of Education at Duke University. Panel interrogators will be Dr. Edward Alvey, Jr., dean of Mary Washington College, and Mr. Harold W. Ramsey, superintendent of Franklin county schools.

WRVA Features LC

Radio station WRVA will broadcast a program featuring Longwood's history with emphasis on the 75th anniversary program Saturday October 10, at 6:30 p.m. Dr. Lankford, Miss Elizabeth Burger, and Mr. A. Ray Merchent will participate in the radio broadcast.

The committee which has planned and organized the year-long anniversary program is headed by Miss Elizabeth Burger, assisted by Mrs. Mildred D. Davis, Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, Dr. George W. Jeffers, Mrs. F. B. Simkins, and Mrs. Elsie Stossel.

Faculty News

Dr. R. C. Simonini, chairman of the Department of English, has been elected to the College Section Committee of the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE), a professional organization of teachers of English at all school levels—elementary, secondary, and college.

Members of Section Committees help guide the affairs of their Sections within the framework of the 52,000-member Council and are responsible for deciding on both the academic and administrative matters pertaining to the teaching of the language arts.

Dr. John W. Molnar, chairman of the Department of Music at Longwood College, has been awarded a research grant by the University of Richmond and Longwood College, to study "Art Music in Colonial Virginia." Dr. Molnar will present his findings in a paper before the Institute of Southern Culture, at Longwood, in July, 1960.

Dr. Earl R. Boggs, dean of Longwood College, will represent Longwood at the forty-second annual meeting of the American Council on Education held October 8-9 in Washington, D. C.

The main focal point of the assembly will be "College Teaching."

The annual meeting is held for representatives of organizations and institutions which have membership in or are affiliated with the group and invited guests.

October 9, Dr. Blanche Badger, head of Longwood Math Department, will go to Mary Washington College to the District A meeting of the VEA. At this meeting Dr. Badger will address the mathematics group on "Modern Trends in Materials and Methods of Teaching Mathematics."

OCTOBER 8th
Farmville Day Special!
Books $1.00
Values to $5.00
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
200 High Street
Farmville, Virginia

KOURY'S HAIR STYLIST
Located at The Dorothy May
MR. KOURY, formerly of Thalhimer's French Salon
Richmond
You are cordially invited to our ultra-modern salon designed for your comfort and featuring the latest fashions in hair-cutting, hair-styling and hair-coloring.
EXport 2-5481

YOUR COLLEGE JEWELRY
may now be selected
— at —
LONGWOOD JEWELERS
Charge Accounts to Everyone!

Dignified Seniors Unravel For Capers After Hours

By Barbara Chaffin

The "E" in SENIOR certainly stood for energy and pep a couple of Saturday nights ago (September 26 to be exact). Actually it was morning—1 a.m.—when a number of seniors were vaccinated with "energy and pep."

The telephone booth sitting in the hall of third floor South Cunningham had no phone connected with it. "Annie B." (Palmer) was among the first to notice its idleness. She and her cohorts began pushing it up to various people's doors late at night. One can imagine the panic when some unsuspecting victim tore out of her room to catch her ride for student teaching, only to find herself surrounded by a phone booth instead of the hall!

The "energy and pep" girls soon tired of this. They decided to load the phone booth on the elevator and pay Cherron Kelly a visit. This lively expedition r o u s e d some housemothers; especially when the crew began t e s t i n g the phone booth's capacity for people!

This story has a very nice ending and a very true moral. When the phone booth was finally back in its nook on third floor, Mrs. Eastham, pretending to talk on the phone that wasn't there, said, "Please do not disturb us any more tonight, we are tired and we want to go to bed." The prank was truly taken in Longwood good nature. Mrs. Eastham danced to "Five Foot Two" and everyone went off to the land of nod.

The moral of this little bedtime story is . . . Seniors may be dignified, but they still love to play . . . and sometimes in a telephone booth way!

Stairs, Tea Room Undergo Repairs

Noticed any steps missing lately? Because of remodeling at Longwood during the summer, many upperclassmen have given freshmen directions, only to find the indicated stairway missing.

Also, under renovation is the Tea Room, which will be made larger and more modern. French doors will lead onto a patio, where meals will be served in warm weather. A modernized heating system will eliminate the ducking and dodging of pipes.

Automatic fire doors were installed in doorways that connect Student with Tabb, Tabb with the Infirmary, and Post Office with Ruffner. The stairways on Post Office were also repaired.

In Ruffner, the two stairways leading up to "Dead End" were removed. A metal stairway such as those on "Tackey Alley" is being used instead.

A new Freshman Parlor is located where Dr. Francis Simpkins' office and the old stairway formerly were.

Second and third floor "Tackey Alley," are remodeled for classroom space, but until the new dorm is completed, these are being used as dormitory rooms. In the future the Business Department will occupy the classrooms on second floor "Tackey Alley" and there will be history and social science classes on the third floor.

The walkways between Ruffner and West Wing are enclosed and an elevator has been installed.

Renovation on the older buildings of the campus will be completed this year.

Circus

(Continued from page 1)

lead groups on parade and booth activities. Float chairmen are as follows: Mary Pern Lewis, senior; Pat Hampton, Sandie Watkins, juniors; Leo Pagenhart, sophomore; and Judy Pollard, Caroline Phillips, freshmen. Booth chairmen are Doris Kesling, senior; Julie Thomas, Janice McClenny, juniors; Katie Fulton, sophomore; and Wisty Rochelle, Beth Goodwyn, freshmen.

General class chairmen are Carol Lassiter and Marie Messick, seniors; Mary Hite Grayson and Jean Dancy, juniors; Jane Pennington and Winnie Egolf, sophomores; and Alice White and Ann Tweedy, freshmen.

AKG Committees

Committees headed by members of AKG are as follows: publicity, Barbara Bishop; stunt, Carol Mathews; parade, Jean O'Connell; decoration and booth, Ruth Denton; animals and clowns, Joanne Garner; and queen and court, Barbara Bishop and Connie Goodman.

Alpha Kappa Gamma invites everyone to this year's Circus and expresses their very best of hopes that the student body will participate in, and enjoy Circus to its fullest extent, as the tantalizing aroma of "Peanuts" fills the October air.

McCombs To Give Evening Program Of Vocal Classics

Mr. James McCombs, assistant professor of music at Longwood, will present a vocal recital on Thursday, October 15, at 8:15 p.m. in Jarman Hall. He will be accompanied by Miss Josephine Bailey.

During the past summer, Mr. McCombs, baritone, appeared at Union Theological Seminary as soloist in the first New York performance of the new oratorio, "The Invisible Fire," by Cecil Effinger. While in New York, he also coached with Viola Peters, an opera coach at Juilliard School of Music and the Metropolitan Opera House.

A graduate of Mississippi Southern College and Columbia University, Mr. McCombs also studied with private teachers at Juilliard School of Music. He came to Longwood in 1956, and now teaches private voice lessons and directs the Madrigal Singers.

Mr. McCombs will begin his recital with four old English songs: "Come Again, Sweet Love," John Dowland; "I Attempt From Love's Sickness To Fly," Henry Purcell; "Have You Seen but a White Lily Grow," and "Once I loved A Maiden Fair," written in the time of James I.

Next, he will sing "The Four Serious Songs" of Johannes Brahms: "Denn es Gehet," "Ich Wante Mich," "O Tod," and "Wenn ich mit Menschen." Each of these songs has a Biblical text.

An aria, "Eri tu che Macchiavi," from "The Masked Ball" by Giuseppe Verdi, will follow.

After an intermission, Mr. McCombs will sing five songs by Gabriel Faure. The first three are the cycle songs from "Poeme d'un Jour": "Rencontre," "Toujours," and "Adieu." Following these will be "Automne," and "Fleur Jetee."

To conclude his program, Mr. McCombs will sing five English and Irish folk songs: "Must I Go Bound," County Derry; "She Moved Through the Fair," County Donegal; "I Wish I Had the Shepherd's Lamb," Glens of Antrim; "Lord Randal," Somersetshire; and "Oliver Cromwell," Suffolkshire.

One-Acts

(Continued from page 1)

Beth, and Buddy are freshmen, and this is their first attempt at Longwood dramatics.

Powell Teaches 'Lesson'

Matilda Powell, a junior and co-technical director of the Longwood Players is directing "The Lesson" by Ionesco. The cast of this presentation includes Elaine Lohr as the pupil, Barbara Simkins as the maid, and Jerry Ringwald, as the professor. Jerry is remembered for his role in "Pygmalion." Elaine, a freshman, and Barbara, a senior, will be making their debut on the Longwood stage.

"The Lesson" tells of a young woman who goes to see a noted professor to obtain her total doctorate. The lesson given by the professor to prepare for this degree ends rather violently for both pupil and professor.

Shelton Undertakes Shaw

George Bernard Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband," is directed by Emily Shelton, a junior and Longwood Players officer. This one-act drama tells of a young poet who becomes infatuated with a well-to-do young matron. Because of his love, he writes poems of adoration to her. The matron's husband, discovering these poems, reacts in a most unusual manner.

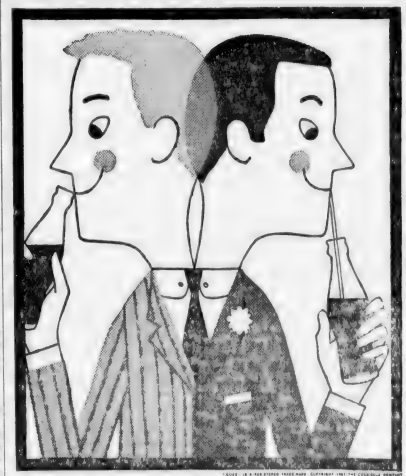
Seen in this play will be Edward Geopfert as Aureora Bompus, Randy Keller as Teddy Bompus, and Bobbi Caples. Randy and Bobbi are remembered for their roles in "Mid-Summer Night's Dream." This will be Edward's first dramatic attempt at Longwood.

—Staff Photo

JUST HOW BIG IS A PHONE BOOTH?—Upperclassmen try one for size.

84 Attain Dean's List

Eighty-four students achieved Dean's List grades for the spring of 1959 semester, the Registrar's office has announced. To be eligible for Dean's List a student must have an average of 2.5 or better for the semester.



The students are as follows:

Jane Adams, Sue Agee, Patricia Areford, Gloria Barden, Coreta Bennett, Barbara Lee Bishop, Carol Boley, Barbara Bolster, Pauline Brightwell, Nancy Brisentine, Lee Burnette, Martha Burrough, Rose Marie Byer, Laura Carson, Nancy Cecil, Nedlee Chapman, Doris Clapp, Jo Dearing, Carolyn DeHaven, Ruth Denton, and Delores Dove.

Also, Anita Eanes, Mary Elizabeth Eustace, Barbara Ferneyhough, Immajean Gallimore, Jo Ann Garner, Audrey Gill, Frances Gillespie, Connie Goodman, Cherry Gorham, Mary Hite Grayson, Shirley Grizzard, Bonnie Mann Hamersly, Ann Hardy, Sally Harney, Marie Harrison, Sarah Hastings, Catherine Hawley, Barbara Heck, Margaret Henry, Dixie Hilliard and Dorothy Hofmeyer.

Others achieving this honor are Barbara Hurst, Christine Jones, Virlinda Joyner, Roberta Koons, Mariam Lambiotte, Lindy Landsdown, Margaret Layman, Ruth Looper, Jeanette Metcalf, Carol Ann Miller, Elizabeth Mohr, Barbara Moore, Mary Ellen Moore, Nancy Morris, Elizabeth Nichols, Frances Norton, Judith Owen, Anne B. Palmer, Brenda Parsley, Jackie Poole, Patsy Powell, Ann Ranson, Lillie Belle Rogers, Barbara Rossiter, Lillian Rosson.

Martha Rucker, Betty Simmons, Emily Smith, Marie Smith, Cora Staughan, Willie Taylor, Nancy Taylor, Joann Tench, Natalie Tudor, Frances Tune, Julia Grey Wallace, Jacqueline Waller, Frances Weaver, Rebecca Weeks, Charlotte Weinberg, Julia Williams, and Molly Workman.

Of Two Minds

On the one hand, you have Thirsty G. Smith. Good taste to him means zest and zip in a beverage, sparkle and lift and all like that . . . On the other hand, T. Gourmet Smythe perceives good taste as the right, fit and proper refreshment for a Discriminating Coterie. So? . . . Have it both ways! Coca-Cola . . . so good in taste, in such good taste.

Et vous?

Drink Coca-Cola

SIGN OF GOOD TASTE

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by LYNCHBURG BOTTLING COMPANY

Attend
Circus Practice

The Rotunda

Buy
Virginian Now

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., October 14, 1959 | No. 3

Work Of Korean Diplomat Involves Informing People

By Judy Detrich

"In the olden days, an ambassador was defined as someone who lied for his country." With this statement, Dr. You Chan Yang began a wise and thoughtful dissertation of his duties as Korean Ambassador to the United States.

"However," he continued, "I do not think of myself in this capacity. An ambassador is sent to this country to make friends and to interpret his country's problems and conditions to the government and to the people of the United States."

In 1951 Dr. Yang consented to his appointment, presented his credentials in Washington, and accepted a new role, vastly different from that of medical doctor.

Dr. Yang is a small man, yet his manner reassures and suggests a great strength and wisdom. In his double role as ambassador in Washington and delegate at the UN when he is visiting various parts of this country, or presenting America to the Korean people, this man is ever mindful of his ideas concerning Communism and the Free World.

Softly and slowly he began to speak about the things which concern him most. "The world is not as large a place as so many people seem to think. For illustration, I met here at your college a man I had not seen in 30 years—Dr. Jeffers. We had been in school at Boston University together and now we meet again, years later, on this campus in Virginia. The world is no longer very large; the problems of Korea and of all the Free World are the problems of the United States."

Danger of Complacency

He continued to say that it is easy for Americans to become complacent for they think that the communists will never attack, but this is not so. They have done so before—in Korea—and if they can, they will do so again.

"Communism is like termites," said Dr. Yang, "and America is like a wall. The wall looks nice, but inside there are termites working to eat up the wall. Unless chemicals are used to destroy the termites, and to save the wall, this strong, fine wall will crumble and it will be too late to save it."

One chemical we can use is awareness. Americans must be prepared, on guard, and never complacent. Dr. Yang feels that it is the people of America who must realize the dangers of Communism. We must be stirred to action. Individuals must be informed and must urge their governmental representatives to aid the other nations in the struggle for freedom.

"Being ambassador," Dr. Yang concluded, "often seems wearisome and frustrating, but it is always important—and interesting."

Murder Film Of Year To Play In Farmville

Otto Preminger's "Anatomy of a Murder," based on the Robert Traver novel which was last year's No. 1 seller, will be shown October 18-20 at the State Theatre.

It stars James Stewart, Lee Remick, Ben Gazzara, Arthur O'Connell, Eve Arden, Kathryn Grant and Boston attorney, Joseph N. Welch.

Famed bandleader and composer Duke Ellington not only wrote the film's musical score and played it, but he also appears in the film.

The story, written for the screen by Wendell Mayes, is about a criminal assault and the killing and trial which followed. The film is said to be a dramatic, suspenseful, and entertaining version of the book, with the added excitement which stems from actual location scenes.

Alteration Service

The Home Economics Club is again sponsoring its alteration service. Bring all garments to the Home Economics Department on Thursday at 1 p.m.

The Home Economics Club will hold a picnic at Longwood Estate, October 15 at 5:30 p.m. The picnic is being given especially for all freshmen home economics majors. All girls are requested to meet at the Home Economics building at 5 p.m. for rides to Longwood Estate.

For further information see Annie Lee Young.

Rotunda Pictures

Has your picture appeared in the Rotunda? If so, you may purchase it from Annie B. Palmer in South Cunningham 322 or Linda Sudduth, Tabb 24.

A regular snapshot will cost 25 cents, a five by seven, 75 cents; and an eight by ten, $1.00. Other shots which have been taken but have not been used may also be purchased. Orders must be paid for in advance. If Annie B. or Linda are not there, they ask that you leave a note.

Warriner, Wyatt To Vie For Queen Of Tobacco Bowl

Luncheons, rehearsals, dances, parades—these comprise a part of the active life of a princess.

Representing Longwood at the annual Tobacco Festival from October 14-17 will be princess Mary Lee Warriner, a sophomore, Miss Amelia, and princess Martha Wyatt a freshman, Miss Caroline county.

The queen, who will be chosen from among 29 princesses, will be crowned at the Tobacco Bowl game. She will receive a $1,000 scholarship.

The girls won the honor of becoming Miss Amelia and Miss Caroline county through their beauty in an evening gown. The contest for the queen of the Tobacco Bowl, however will be judged on beauty, figure, poise, general conduct, and talent. Each contestant sends in two pictures, one of which is in a bathing suit.

For her talent, Mary Lee will model a white brocaded-taffeta evening gown which she made—in only four days! After graduation from Longwood, Mary Lee plans to attend UVa or MCV to study medical technology.

Martha will present a comedy monologue. She also will wear an evening gown that she made. Upon being chosen as Miss Caroline county, Martha cried, "I'm so happy!" She is majoring in biology.

Their busy schedule of activities includes the following: Wednesday, a princess dance at the John Marshall Hotel where they will have

(Continued on page 3)

Wilson To Crack Whip At Circus October 24

Staff Photo

SOPHOMORE Betsy Wilson, Animal Trainer, prepares to crack whip as she warms up for her performance in "Peanuts."

Parade, Carnival, Skits To Produce Gala Atmosphere

By Sandra Weaver

A whip snaps, the cry of a wild beast fills the air, and Betsy Wilson officially becomes Animal Trainer for Circus, 1959, October 24 at 4 p.m.

As animal trainer, Betsy will lead the parade which traditionally marks the beginning of Circus festivities. Directing the parade, which will be highlighted by the area National Guard Color Guard, Betsy will lead the students dressed in their class colors, marching beside their class floats, circus animals, clowns, a gay red fire engine loaded with young Circus enthusiasts, and the Longwood band. The group will move down Pine Street to route 460 and proceed along Main Street, circling back to the campus via High Street.

'Misbelief'

Betsy's reaction to her being selected as Animal Trainer was one of "complete misbelief," rather than surprise. "When I first heard, I simply couldn't believe it. As a matter of fact, I still can't and probably won't 'til Circus day. But I will say that it's an honor I never, ever, imagined, and I hope I can live up to Longwood's expectations."

Last year Betsy portrayed a child in her class' "dreamworld" Circus skit and worked on the float committee. She is currently vice-president of the sophomore class, an officer in Kappa Delta social sorority and is on the Assembly Committee.

In addition to her duties in the parade, the Animal Trainer will conduct the show featuring the animals prior to the presentation of class skits in Jarman Hall beginning at 8 p.m. The evening Circus program will also climax the afternoon festivities as the Ringmaster announces the prize-winning float of the afternoon parade.

Promotes Spirit

When asked what Circus at Longwood meant to her, Betsy replied, "It is one of the finest traditions we have; we couldn't do without it and I wouldn't want to. It is the best way I know of to promote class and school spirit, and a wonderful atmosphere of fun."

At the present time, Circus practices are now underway as each class is busily preparing their skits and designing float entries. Still working on promoting 100 per cent class participation, each class urges their members to "please" help with some phase of the activity. Even though many will not be able to be here on Circus week end itself, there are many important things that must be done prior to the final program.

General chairman for Circus this year is senior Connie Goodman. Mrs. Kathleen Cover and Mrs. Earl R. Boggs are the faculty advisers for the honorary leadership fraternity, Alpha Kappa Gamma, sponsor of the annual college Circus.

Convocation Marks Ending Of Longwood Anniversary

The opening address at Convocation by Dr. You Chan Yang, Korean ambassador to the United States, highlighted the final observance of Longwood's 75th anniversary on Tuesday morning, October 13.

In his address, Dr. Yang stressed the importance of education in the Free World. He spoke of the great educational achievements made in Korea during the past 14 years and described several aspects of Korean college life.

Suggests Student Exchange

Dr. Yang expressed his hope that someday American students will spend a year on a Korean campus, just as many now go to European schools to study for a year.

In regard to the proposed expansion of cultural contacts with the communists, Dr. Yang suggested that ". . .consideration first be given to encourage a priority of exchanges with . . . the Free Nations and the Far East."

In closing, Dr. Yang explained the need for more study and broader educational backgrounds. "Every student and scholar in the free world," he said, "is now a soldier in the front line for freedom . . . If we are all strong and informed and conscious of our precious freedoms, the Communists will never bury us! We shall survive! We shall prosper! We shall live in dignity! We shall rear our families in freedom!"

An academic procession including the faculty, administration, and seniors of Longwood, as well as representatives from 34 colleges and scholastic societies, began the ceremonies in Jarman Hall at 10:45 a.m.

Panel Stresses Education

The Symposium, a panel discussion on teacher education, was held at 2:30 p.m. with moderator, Dr. Davis Y. Paschall, state superintendent of public instruction.

Topics and speakers were "The History of Teacher Education," Dr. Marguerite Roberts, dean, Westhampton College of the University of Richmond; "The Contributions of the Liberal Arts of Teacher Education," Dr. William F. Quillian, Jr., president, Randolph-Macon Woman's College; and "Current Trends in Teacher Education," Dr. William H. Cartwright, chairman, Department of Education, Duke University.

Panel interrogators were Dr. Edward Alvey, Jr., dean, Mary Washington College of University of Virginia; and Mr. Harold W. Ramsey, superintendent of schools, Franklin county.

The President's Reception, which was held in the lounge of the Student Activities Building, brought to a close the Longwood anniversary program celebrating 75 years of teacher education.

Longwood students were excused from classes at 10:30 on Tuesday so

(Continued on page 4)

Faculty To Visit For College Days

Five members of the administration will represent Longwood College in the College Day programs of Virginia.

Going to various parts of the state to visit high schools are Dean Earl Boggs, Miss Ruth Wilson, dean of women, Miss Josefe Spear, assistant dean of women, Mr. Henry Bittinger, associate professor of history; and Mr. Boyd Coyner, retired professor of psychology.

The College Day programs, which began September 28, and will continue through December 4, are designed to acquaint high school seniors with Virginia colleges and to assist them in selecting a college to attend. Each Longwood representative will visit high schools according to a schedule submitted by the Scheduling Committee for the Association of Virginia Colleges.

At the visitations, the representative will meet with students and parents and discuss admission requirements, expenses, curricula, scholarships, and regulations. The representative will issue catalogues, career bulletins, view books and similar materials.

Also at the visitations, students may make plans to visit the campus on a high school week end.

'Most Happy Fella' Visits Tonight

The first of Longwood's lyceum programs, Frank Loesser's hit musical, "The Most Happy Fella", will be presented in Jarman Hall, October 14 at 8 p.m.

The story concerns itself with the romance of an elderly vintner, played by Richard Wentworth, and his mail order bride, portrayed by Carolyn Maye.

Tony, the grape grower, has sent a photo of his handsome foreman to help sway Rosabella's affections. When she arrives, she finds she is betrothed to a man who is the very opposite of what she expected. This is the theme of Sidney Howard's Pulitzer Prize play, "They Knew What They Wanted," from which "Fella" is adapted.

PORTRAYING SCENE from "The Most Happy Fella" to play in Jarman tonight is Dee Harless starring as "Cleo" and Robert Dixon starring as "Herman."

Both Mr. Wentworth and Miss Maye have toured the country in their respective roles. Mr. Wentworth has been seen as Tony in all the major Eastern music tents and theatres, plus appearing in numerous Broadway plays and with the New York Opera Company. He is also well known on the concert stage and has scored successes in the light operatic circles. His stage partner, Miss Maye, was seen in her current role in the original Broadway production of "Fella."

The often humorous, often touching trials and reconciliations of the two lovers are told in the nearly three dozen musical numbers which make up the show. The enchanting music ranges from "Standing on the Corner, Watching all the Girls Go By," "Big D," and "Abbondananza" and "My Heart is So Full of You," "Like a Woman Loves a Man," and "Joey, Joey."

This song drenched show, which combines the free-wheeling musical comedy approach with emotionally charged musical drama, was hailed by Walter Winchell as "a most happy smash" and was revived on Broadway twice.

"The Most Happy Fella" was the recipient of the New York Drama Critic's Award as the best musical of the year (1956-57).

Circus Echoes

October 20, in Jarman Hall, the student body of Longwood College will see slides of some of the early Circuses here.

The first Circus was held in December, 1927, in the gym. An interesting comparison will be made of the themes, the costumes, the make-up, the floats, and the characters of Circuses yesterday and today.

Chi Speaks

Take one skull, two crossbones, eight white-robed individuals, add a dash of excitement, and brew well to the tune of "Chloe." You now have a staunch group who are held fast by undying loyalty, strong bonds of friendship, and firm purpose. Season with spirit. This is Chi!

You may think that you know all about us, but there is little that you really do know! You will see our banners hanging in the Rotunda and on the AA field. You will see us "walk" the Colonnade. You'll see our red paint. In the spring, you will see us burn and reveal our identities, but these are merely the outward evidences of our organization.

Curiosity is a natural instinct of man, but excessiveness is not a sought-after quality and should not be a part of Longwood College. We question the purpose of curiosity when it blinds a person to the spirit and ideals for which Chi stands.

Our real purposes are deep and strong. To us Chi is more than an organization. It is an institution as old as the college itself — one of the many traditions which are interwoven with the spirit of Longwood. We hold this spirit next to our hearts, and realizing that its existence depends on each student, we strive to kindle its flame and keep it burning.

The purpose of Chi is not published, but can only be found in the hearts and minds of those who have sought it.

—CHI

Circus Magic

Circus is the big project of the entire student body for the fall semester. Each girl takes a part in it, for she cannot miss catching the Circus spirit. But are you in the midst of the excitement? If you aren't, perhaps it's because you don't know what Circus time at Longwood means.

Remember the thrill you felt as a child when you first entered the Big Top? You stood beneath the canvas-roofed tent, captivated by the unfamilar bustle of the clowns and a little scared at the thought of seeing at closer range those ferocious-looking animals so carefully caged in the parade that afternoon. As the lights dimmed, spotlighting a dashing red-jacketed figure standing in the center ring in a top hat, you knew fairyland was almost within your grasp.

Our Longwood Circus is like that. The seniors have secrets they are keeping from the juniors; the juniors would be quite upset if the sophomores knew what they have been practicing so persistently. The singing in the Rotunda is done with just a bit more intensity and certainly with a lot more excitement as the number of days until Circus drops lower and lower.

Finally the day itself arrives, and the excitement in the air suddenly reaches a peak. Final touches are put on the floats, and the classes parade behind them down the street. That night the tension in each backstage room is almost too much to bear. When the message, "Get lined up — it's almost time," is received, girls, so alive and sure a moment before, suddenly become a little nervous. Then the opening chorus begins for a SUPER COLLOSAL Circus.

Yes, anticipation, excitement, and anxiety mingle and mount. Once again you're a child swept away in a magical world. Come one, come all! Join the cry of "Peanuts, popcorn, and cotton candy." It's Circus time.

Footfalls

Unfamiliar footsteps echo through Longwood's student halls late at night.

A prowler? Probably it is only the night watchman making his rounds, but it may not be. An unauthorized person could easily enter one of the buildings through a door left open by an unthinking student.

At about 6 p.m. each evening all but certain designated main entrances are locked and checked by the night watchman. Obviously this is done as a safety measure. Yet sometimes students hurrying to or from the Rec or library will, without thinking, take a short cut through another door. Yes, these doors can be opened from the inside by pressing the panic bars, an essential fire safety measure. But the fact remains that unless completely closed they will not latch again; thus, an easily accessible and noticeable entrance is created.

House Council, in recognition of this problem, has repeatedly called to the student body's attention the rule prohibiting the use of unauthorized doors. A week's campus results for those failing to comply. This penalty is certainly not unmerited when the potential danger involved is recognized.

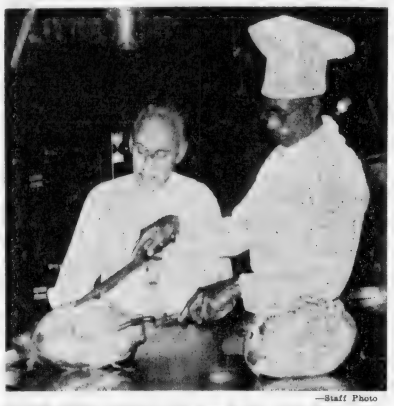
Perhaps it does take a few minutes longer to walk to one of the open doors but that deters no intelligent student who is aware of the purpose behind the regulation. Longwood's safety — and our own — is vastly more important. Let's keep those doors locked.

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination periods by the students of Longwood College, Farmville Virginia. Box 168.

Cherry Gorham ..... Editor-in-Chief



Chris Kamen ..... Managing Editor Dale Freddy ..... Business Manager
Jo Anne Parsons ..... News Editor
Joann Kleinecke ..... Feature Editor
Nancy Lechler ..... Sports Editor
Sandra Wenner ..... Desk Editor
Anne B. Palmer ..... Photography
Carole Lassiter ..... Art
Arlene Mckay ..... Circulation Manager
Bonnie Bryant, Mattie Messick ..... Advertising Managers
Miss Mary P. Nichols ..... Faculty Advisor

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor).

Member: Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class), Columbia Scholarship Press Association (Rating first place), Intercollegiate Press.

NEWS STAFF: Agnes Massie, Assistant News Editor, Mattie Blewett, Assistant Feature Editor, Mary Byrd Mimms, Assistant Sports Editor, Judy Dersch, Assistant Desk Editor, Linda Suddath, Assistant Photography Editor. Columnists: Sandra Parish, Pat Lester, Frances Harrarberger, Marie Frere, Julie Welch, Martha Ann Stirley, Jackie Gibson, Jane Stegall. Reporters: Deanne Hogge, Gerry Edmonds, Mary Shafer, Claudia Wilson, Sue Caravella, Susan Crisman, Pat Hurst, Brenda Parsley, Gloria Barden, Mary Leach Elmore, Page Davis, Rose Marie Lawrence, Taylor, Nancy Buckingham.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 8, 1924. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

—Staff Photo

SLATER FOOD manager of Longwood, Mr. Clark instructs employee on carving of ham before it is served to students.

LC Slater Staff Manages Food Buying, Preparation

By Barbara Chaffin

Can you visualize 1100 pounds of beef? 400 chickens? 480 dozen eggs? 100 pounds of cheese? or 350 pounds of pork? These items may appear on the shopping list for the Longwood dining hall in the span of only one week.

Longwood students usually eat three meals a day, as is our custom, but do we know what goes on behind the scenes as our meals are prepared? More students should take the time to peep into the kitchen. They would probably feel quite important if they did because their food is prepared with so much care and skill. Food at Longwood is served by the Slater Food Service Management which is a corporation whose main purpose is to feed people.

Twenty-seven employees staff the kitchen. These are especially trained people who work in shifts, leaving the kitchen vacant only between the hours of 10 p.m. and 4 a.m. The kitchen here at LC serves as a training center for managers, cooks, and bakers in the Slater System.

The equipment in our kitchen is first rate and is kept in splendid condition. Cooking apparatus includes 12-gallon coffee urns, deep fryers, open grills, ovens, steam ovens, and salad bowls, all of stainless steel. Twice weekly all the stainless equipment is throughly cleaned from the ceiling to the new tile floor.

Sanitation is of the utmost importance. All dishes are washed in detergent and kept in a sanitary place. There is a filter and ventilation system for grills and ovens. This is also cleaned twice weekly. Waste material is removed from the kitchen periodically throughout each day.

There is no area which holds more importance than another in the preparation of food in the Slater System here at Longwood; each is important to its own speciality. For instance, the bake shop would be most important to the making of desserts. In the Slater System, the most essential and important area is the consideration of each employee. Through this consideration we continue to be fed wholesome food.

Alpha Psi's Plays Unveil New Talent

By Joan Kidwell

The one-act plays, presented by Alpha Psi Omega under student direction, are given to discover new talent from Longwood and Hampden-Sydney. In this respect, the performances last Thursday may certainly be labeled a "complete success."

"Boor's" Control Polished

Directed by Mary Linda League, Buddy Booberg, a Hampden-Sydney freshman playing Grigora Stepanovich Smirnov, gave an excellent performance as the stubborn woman-hater in Anton Chekhov's play, "The Boor." With Mary Beth Olson as Mrs. Popov and Malinda Walker as the maid, the production showed the polished control needed in a Chekhov play.

Mary Linda added the novelty of silent-picture piano playing, making the play a hilarious melodrama.

Caples Termed 'Promising'

"How He Lied to Her Husband," one of George Bernard Shaw's poorer plays because of its rather silly comedy, was still a success in revealing Bobbie Caples as a promising actress for future productions. Bobbie drew many laughs from the audience as Mrs. Bompus "the smartest woman in the smartest set in South Kinsington."

Directed by Emily Shelton, the play included a quite realistic fight scene between Randy Keller as Mr. Bompus and Edward Geopfert as Henry, one of Mrs. Bompus' admirers.

Powell Shows Versatility

Matilda Powell directed Ionesco's "The Lesson," a satire on modern education which could have had even more lines cut than it did. Matilda overcame the obstacle of having three different candidates for the role of the professor end up in the infirmary by playing the part herself. Her ability was complimented by one member of the audience heard to say, "That young man who played the professor was the best of all"!

Elaine Lohr demonstrated talent born of experience as the frustrated, confused student. Barbara Simpkins the professor's housekeeper, gave direction to the final calamity of the play—the stabbing of the student by the professor.

Sparse settings were no handicap to the acting efforts of any of these three casts, but the lighting on the scenes would have been better had it been brighter to show off the effective costuming.

See Picture, Page 4)

Socially Speaking

Fun-Seeking Students Travel Around State

By Sandie Farish

Congratulations are in order for Rosemary Fleming who has accepted the engagement ring of John Tompson, of Richmond. And Charlotte Haile is wearing Charlie Frischkorn's Theta Chi pin.

The Oyster Bowl in Norfolk highlighted the week end of events. Margaret Graham, Queen Loreli X, made her appearance in the pregame parade and festivities. Keeping the true Navy spirit, even though Syracuse won, and cheering their handsome midshipmen up at the parties were Sandy Johns, Helen Wente, Frances Gray, Linda Davenport, Ann Bass, and Sandie Farish.

Others who went to see the game were Kay Hubbard, Elsie Albertson, Sandra Watkins, Doris Tolley, Ann Hardy, Beverly Gaskins, and Dodie Webster.

Tech Homecoming

Virginia Tech Homecomings attracted quite a few girls. Seen on the arm of their special cadets were Rita Cleveland, Elizabeth Fentress, Helen Fox, Betty Olive, Norma Route, Sue Spicer, Jean Dunnagan, Archer Cassada, Barbara Ann Cole, Lee Burnette, Pat Hurst, Sally Thomas, and Judy Corse.

Still others attending were Carol Waton, Neal Banks, Joan Barnett, Raye Turner, Judy Pharr, Katie Fulton, Dottie Nelson, McKay Brown, Gretchen Latchford, Victoria Malley, Frances Norment, Rosemany Henry, Marianne Zimmerman, Virginia Van deRiet, Mary Ruth Flowers, and Jane Callis.

Going to Lynchburg to cheer their favorite team on to victory for the VMI-UVa game were Gayle Paschal, Barbara Simpkins, Ruth Denton, Pat McMillen, Candy Coleman, Betty Wood, Elaine Bane, Violet Powers, Sally Ann Smith, Mary Alice White, and Barbara Fernerhough.

Even more party-goers were found around Virginia on various college campuses. University of Richmond lured Linda Jo Saunders, Anne Clarke, Bonnie Irby, Ann Howell, and Ann Allen.

Randolph-Macon frat parties attracted Sandra Wise, Carolyn Davis, Pat Cleveland, and Ann Ruckman. William and Mary entertained Chris Wilson, Shirley Mills, Sue Gosnell, and Scotty McGreggor. Emory and Henry welcomed Sarah Lee Myers and MCV provided the fun for Alma Wright.

Traveling to Fork Union Military Academy were Pamela Bullen, Diane Davis, and Norah Elliot. Going out to the state were Margaret Powers, who visited Concord College in West Virginia, and Beretta Yeoman, who went to the University of Maryland.

Hampden-Sydney

On the local front at Hampden-Sydney, the Theta Chis and KAs entertained with record parties Friday night. At the KA house were Oreta Norris, Joann Kleinecke, Justine Blount, Virginia Parker, Frances Harvey, Lee Holt, Nancy Shaw, Ginny Whipple, Sally Smith, Vanetta Remaine, Bobbyee Bolster, Judy Robertson, Patti Norman, Gretchen Zimmerman, Ginny Peters, Fran Gallahan, Becky Tuck, and Audrey Gill.

Enjoying themselves at the Theta Chi house were Emily Shelton, Demetria Koumparakis, Anita Parks, Becky McGrath, Tinsley Crump, Pat Sweeney, Bobbie Meadow, Gerry Edmonds, Suzanne Grammer, Betty Dawson, Ginger Culpepper, Charlotte Haile, and Kathy Koelz.

Dividing their time among both houses were Susan Kelley, Peggy Gnoseh, Lena Kay, Libby Predmore, Emmy Lou Critcher, Susan Rust, Alice Joy Peale, Ellie Bogan, Frankie Ware, Jo Anna Young, Dudlie Brooks, Nancy Hood, Dureda Brumback, Lois Gardner, Donna Inker, Carolyn Buscemi, Bobbie Loth, Josie O'Hop, Harriet Hunt, Kay Nottingham, Drani Whitley, Lou Hoggard, Anne Bradley, Charlene Owen, Barbara Lee Martin, Sally Sims, Betty Chappell, Marilyn Miller, Ann Peters, Cape Sammis, and Gail Dickson.

Also Janice Harris, Rosa Pettit, Jean Smith, Alice Pizer, Joan Wood, Mary Beth Olson, Donna Frantzen, Norah Elliot, Glenna Snead, Margie Shumate, Carolyn Rancorn, Shirley Powell, Pat Morgan, Jerri Rakes, Jo Savage, Jean Dancy, Mary Bettie Watkins, Pat Callahan, Jean Helms, Alma Wright, Sue Sharp, and Rita St. John.

Mathematical Models Win Stokes 'Who's Who' Fame

By Joann Kleinecke

A lot of people have hobbies, but Miss Ruth Stokes' put her in "Who's Who in American Women."

Miss Stokes is Longwood's newest addition to the Math Department, so logically, her hobby is mathematical models (cones, rectangles, etc.). She has been interested in these models for a long time, but her interest developed much more when she began teaching. "The models helped to clarify the mathematical meaning," Miss Stokes observed.

A high spot in Miss Stokes' career was her invitation to speak before the International Conference of Mathematicians at Harvard in 1950. She exhibited her models there and has been asked to do so in eight states. The mathematician has lectured to teachers, professors and students in many different places, and lists a visit to West Point as one of her most interesting trips.

Miss Stokes received her BA Degree from Winthrop College, did post-graduate work at Brown and taught high school in South Carolina for awhile. She got her MA from Vanderbilt and was assistant math professor at Winthrop for five years. She left to get her Doctorate at Duke and returned as head of Winthrop's Math Department, a position which she held for 10 years. Miss Stokes transferred to Syracuse University where she taught for 12 years prior to coming to Longwood.

"One of my most exciting experiences was my position as the visiting lecturer at American University in Beirut, Lebanon," commented Miss Stokes. During the part of a year that she was abroad, she had a leave of absence from Syracuse and then returned to teach for the duration.

Miss Stokes teaches three sections for freshman math and one for senior and graduate students, plus working on research projects in her spare time. She expects it to take about a year to "get fully into the routine of things." She is writing two books—one on collecting material for mathematical models, and another on women mathematicians. "By the latter, I hope to disprove the theory that there are really no outstanding females in the field," she stated.

When asked her opinion of Longwood, she not only commented on the college and its students, but the climate of Virginia also. "I was very much impressed with the cordiality of everyone. They don't seem to be in such a rush. It was also a big jump from such a cold northern climate to the nice, warm weather you have here."

Grants Awarded To Newton, Fallis

Gloria Newton and Androniki Fallis, freshmen, are attending Longwood College on scholarships granted by the State Council of Higher Education on the basis of merit and need.

The scholarships were conferred by the state under a $50,000 student aid program set up by the 1958 General Assembly. Gloria and Niki are among 16 state students who received the awards. Of the students at least one must be from each of the 10 congressional districts.

Gloria was granted a $2,500 scholarship, the largest amount offered by the program. Niki, who received a $1,500 scholarship, is from Danville.

Gloria, valedictorian of her class at Buckingham Central High School, was also awarded other scholarships. She received a State Teachers Scholarship of $50 which is given annually to the most outstanding student planning to enter teaching, science, or engineering fields.

Niki, who was second in her class at George Washington High School, received an $800 Danville PTA scholarship for four years. In addition, she won the Longwood freshman class scholarship of $300 for one year.

Dear Folks

Monday

Dear Mom, Dad, and Andy,

Meant to write long before now; haven't had time. Been very busy. Profs give long assignments; have only short while to do them. Besides, never get any work done on week end, it seems. After classes Sat. am. wash clothes, hang clothes clean room (make bed, throw clothes in closet), shampoo hair, roll hair, dry hair. Eat lunch.

Make short trip to town. Gab with girls; watch hockey game; gab with girls. Go to Rec. Drop in library (read funnies); play short hand of bridge (lose every time!); eat dinner; take shower.

Mervin comes. We go out. Short time, bell rings; say goodnight. Sign in, go upstairs. Gab with girls, roll hair. Fall in bed. Exhausted!

Must rush; late for movie. Circus practice after!

Write.

Love ya,
"Fuzzy"

P. S. Send Food!

Tables Turned As Faculty Spends Summer Studying

While the Longwood students were enjoying their summer vacations, various members of the faculty spent their summer studying.

Dr. Edgar F. Stillwell, assistant professor of biology, did research work at the University of North Carolina under a fellowship given by the American Physiological Society. He did research work on fish cancer.

At the Biological Division of the Oak Ridge National Laboratories, Oak Ridge, Tennessee, Dr. Robert Brumfield, professor of biology, did research work on the effects of chemicals and radiation on cell growth. This is a continuation of research done here. This project was supported by the National Science Foundation.

Here in Farmville, Mr. Robert Merritt, assistant professor of biology, studied the nesting competition between starlings and bluebirds.

In the English Department, Mr. F. B. Gresham, assistant professor of English, studied in the graduate school of the University of North Carolina. He specialized in courses in child literature.

Mr. David Wiley, assistant professor of speech and drama, attended the graduate school of Indiana University. He took courses in theater and public address.

Dr. Richard K. Meeker, associate professor of English, did research on the short stories of Ellen Glasgow under a grant from the University Center in Virginia. Dr. Meeker also attended a conference on Literary Criticism at Georgetown University.

In the Business Department, Mr. W. G. Leeper, assistant professor of business education, attended the University of Tennessee during the intersession, at which time he took graduate work in business education.

Mr. Richard Gochenour, new instructor in business education, took graduate work in Business Education at VPI for the entire summer.

In the Physical Educational Department, Mrs. Emily K. Landrum attended the summer session at New York University where she took graduate work in the area of physical education.

Timely Topics

On the International Scene: Prime Minister Macmillan and his Conservative Party were given an overwhelming vote of confidence Thursday, as they swept to a third straight term in office and a gain of 22 seats in the House of Commons (over a loss of 23 for the Laborites). Macmillan's triumph, largely a personal one, strengthened the common front of the Western allies by clearly stating, in tangible form, the attitude of the British people toward England's foreign policy.

In another corner of the world this week, Premier Khrushchev visited Red China's Number 1 Communist, Mao Tse-tung, and the burden of his message struck Western onlookers as unexpectedly cheering. The crux of his speech: "If we are strong, it does not mean that we should resort to force to test the stability of the capitalist system. That would be wrong. The people would not understand and would never support those who took it into their heads to act in this way."

In the Nation: Adolfo Lopez Mateos, president of Mexico, arrived last Friday in Washington where he was greeted with a 21 gun salute and the traditional abrazo from President Eisenhower. The reason for his visit is mainly to talk over trade problems between the two countries and to return the visit of Ike last February when the two talked business and vacationed at Acapulco.

Before the President could obtain a strike-ending court injunction after invoking the Taft-Harley Act, he needed the report of a three-man committee named to collect the facts surrounding the prolonged steel parleying. Consequently, steelmen estimate they will not be back on the job for another week, perhaps longer, and that at least two weeks will be needed to get the mills going again.

Meanwhile, on piers from Maine to Texas, Friday longshoremen, still unable to reach an agreement over hourly wages (the union demands 50 cents more per hour; management offers 30 cents), were forced back to work by a T-H mandate.

COME IN!

SWEATERS .....$3.98 up

SKIRTS .....$3.98 up

The

DOROTHY MAY SHOP

TEN TOP TUNES

1. Mack The Knife
2. Put Your Head On My Shoulder
3. Sleep Walk
4. (Til) I Kissed You
5. The Three Bells
6. Teen Beat
7. I'm Gonna Get Married
8. Mr. Blue
9. Red River Rock
10. Poison Ivy

WILSON'S HOME AND AUTO SUPPLY

Football Fanfare

By Marjorie Freese

It was a close game between VMI and Virginia this past week end. The deciding points occurred in the last quarter when Butch Armistead intercepted a pass and dashed 20 yards to make the score VMI 19, Virginia 12. This interception made up for a fumble that Armistead made earlier in the game.

Another close game was the Florida State-VPI game. Again the deciding points occurred in the last quarter. The score was Tech 6, Seminoles 7, with Tech failing to make the extra point to tie with Florida.

Clemson stomped the far outclassed NC State with a score of 23-0. This was another ACC victory for Clemson.

Another ACC game was played between North Carolina and South Carolina. After the past two defeats, North Carolina finally came through to win, showing some of the power predicted for them before the season started. The score was the Tar Heels 19, South Carolina 6.

William and Mary's homecoming game was not in their favor. Furman defeated W&M 8-7. The Indians were ahead until the last two minutes of the game, when Furman came through to make the winning points with a pass.

Maryland's coach is not happy with his boy Dick Novak who fumbled the ball just as the Terps were about to make their first goal. This goal cost Maryland the game. Wake Forest scored three points in the first quarter; both teams scored seven points in the third quarter; and the final score was Wake Forest 10, Maryland 7.

Hampden-Sydney trounced Sewanee 35-0. The most exciting touchdown was made by Tom Davis after a 97 yard run down the field to the goal line.

W&L suffered its first loss after two wins when Franklin and Marshall College defeated the Generals 28-14.

HAVE "REC-TIME"

NOW!

visit your

SNACK BAR

—Staff Photo

REMINISCING, Miss Olive T. Iler looks into the past.

Class Tennis Singles Begin, Rain Brings Complications

Gladys Patrick, manager of the tennis team, has announced the postponing of the deadline for the first round of class tennis singles because of rain.

Three matches have been played already. Two of the three were won by Red and Whites, as Carrie Inge defeated Alma Wright 6-0, 6-0; and Wendy Warren took her match from Elizabeth Dunn 6-0, 6-1. "Pat," a Green and White, won her match with Lou Booth 6-0, 6-0.

Miss Barbara Dowd, of the Physical Education Department, is coaching the tennis team for her second year.

Patrick has this to say about class participation in the matches this year. "It is alway encouraging to see many people participating in the class sports, because we feel that this is an important part of the Longwood spirit. This year we were very pleased by the outstanding interest shown in class tennis, as 42 students signed up to play."

"Too many girls fail to sign up because they feel they haven't the ability, but anyone who knows anything about tennis, or who simply likes to get out and play, shouldn't hesitate to sign up for the class matches. Tennis is a fascinating sport and one which everyone can enjoy."

"Even though it is too late to sign up for the singles now, I hope many students will sign up for doubles in the spring. In the spring we also select the varsity tennis team. Last year we had an undefeated team. We already have matches scheduled in the spring with William and Mary, Westhampton, and RPI."

Faculty News

Dr. Francis G. Lankford, president, and Miss Josephine H. Magnifico, assistant professor of mathematics, will travel to various parts of the state October 19 for respective meetings and conferences.

Dr. Lankford will speak to the teachers of Brunswick county on "Overall Instructional Challenges to Classroom Teachers Today." Both he and Miss Magnifico will attend the afternoon steering committee meeting of the Virginia Education Association in Richmond to plan a conference concerning the teaching of mathematics.

Four members of the Longwood English Department faculty have taken part, or are scheduled to participate, in several state and interstate meetings concerned with English in education this fall.

Dr. R. C. Simonini, Jr., head of the English Department, spoke at Charlottesville October 2 to the VEA District J Meeting on "Improving English Usage." Dr. Simonini, in addition to numerous other positions, served on the Board of Directors of the National Council of Teachers of English and heads the NCTE Committee on International Cooperation.

Dr. Richard K. Meeker will take part in a panel discussion of "Advanced Standings and Advanced Placement" at a meeting of the College English Association of North Carolina and Virginia October 24 at Duke University. Dr. Meeker, associate professor of English, at present holds the office of secretary-treasurer of the American Association of University Professors.

Dr. Foster Gresham spoke to a pre-school convention of high school teachers of English in Tazewell county on "The Teaching of Literature in High School."

Mr. David Wiley is slated to speak on "Drama Activities in the High School" in Richmond at a meeting of the Virginia Association of Teachers of English October 30.

Classes Begin Practice In Intramural Hockey

Class hockey games will not begin until November, but it is necessary for a person to have eight practices in order to play.

This year, due to a change in the Athletic Association rules, anyone playing on the varsity teams cannot play on the intramural teams. This makes it very necessary that anyone who can play should come out and support her class.

Lois Peters and Jo Savage are the managers for the class hockey games. Practices are on Tuesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. and Monday and Wednesday at 3 p.m.

Jo Savage commented, "we hope everyone will participate for her class so we will have some good games."

Tobacco Bowl

(Continued from page 1)

appointed escorts and Thursday, a talent show at the Mosque and a style show luncheon at Miller and Rhodes. Friday, there will be a luncheon at Thalheimer's, an illuminated parade Friday night, and the Tobacco Festival parade show. Saturday the Tobacco Bowl game between UVa and VPI and to close an exciting memorable experience will be the Tobacco Ball at the Hotel Jefferson.

Your Authorized

NEBBISH DEALER

LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP

Across From

Jarman Auditorium

YOUR COLLEGE JEWELRY

may now be selected

— at —

LONGWOOD JEWELERS

Charge Accounts to Everyone!

Iler Discloses History Of Longwood Sports

By Betty Jane Allgood

A native New Yorker, but a Virginian by adoption, Miss Olive T. Iler, associate professor of physical and health education, has enriched the lives of many Longwood College girls.

Since 1925, when Miss Iler joined the faculty of the Farmville State Teacher's College, her instruction has meant an introdution to hockey, basketball, tennis, golf, and volleyball to countless girls.

Miss Iler graduated from Boston University, where she was a member of the varsity hockey team. She began her formal education at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, New York. Here her interest was changed from home economics to physical education. Her favorite sport was tennis, because of the popularity this sport shared within her family.

Sees Phys Ed Changes

Teaching under the administrations of Dr. Jarman and Dr. Lancaster, Miss Iler has seen various changes in the physical features of the physical education department. When hockey was first introduced here in 1927, the playing field was located in the area of the present tennis court. (A grain mill was located on the present field!) Not until 1938, with the addition of the swimming pool, was a physical education major offered.

Recounting some of the earlier team experiences, Miss Iler recalls overnight trips by bus or train for the hockey players. Miss Iler and Miss Brockenbrough accompanied the girls.

Miss Iler does not feel that it is as important to boast of a seldom-losing team, as to instill a love of sports and skill in playing. She sees sports as a vital part in our social world. Several graduate Longwood hockey team members have joined hockey clubs in Washington and Richmond.

Miss Elizabeth Burger, one of Miss Iler's "children," has reason to be noted with interest. Miss Burger has been an international hockey player, and has always been interested and helpful in the sport at Longwood.

In 1943 the Longwood annual, The Virginian, was dedicated to Miss Iler in recognition of her remarkable work and influence on campus.

Today she looks forward to a new field house, which would afford adequate facilities for all college girls; thus, they could practice physical skill daily. This she feels is vital. With such extensive experience with Longwood girls, Miss Iler's advice is to be valued.

Hockey Captains

The co-captains of the '59 varsity hockey team are Mate Fadely and Pat Southworth.

Mate, a senior from Edenburg, has played hockey for three years. Pat, a junior from Fredricksburg, has played hockey since her freshman year.

Serving as co-managers are Pat Southworth and Virginia Parker. Virginia, a sophomore, hails from Andersonville. This is her first year on the varsity team.

LC Team Downed By Richmond Club

The Longwood hockey team played at Roanoke College October 6 winning both games with scores of 6-0 and 3-0.

Westhampton College, Richmond, was the scene October 10, of the third game for the Longwood College team. The Richmond Club, composed of coaches from different schools in and around the Richmond area, defeated Longwood 3-1.

Starting players for the first half were Mate Fadely, Winnie Ezolf, Barbara Brantley, Lindy Hatch, Jean O'Connell, Mary Hite Grayson, Morag Nocher, Jeanette Talbott, Pat Southworth, Annie B. Palmer, and Virginia Parker. Substitutes during the second half were Trina Childress, Carolyn Thorpe, Faye Ripley, and Jo Savage.

A second game was played by Longwood's second team with the Virginia Creepers, who have just formed with the club, winning by a score of 3-0.

The next game on schedule is with Westhampton College here at Longwood on Saturday, October 17 starting at 2 p.m.

Super Sub!

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew breathe.

Perhaps for this reason, the "Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only soft drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet.

Naturally (or you wouldn't hear about it from us) it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not unexpectedly, reconditioning are quite respectable.

Rugged hot, these submariners. Great drink, Coke!

Drink Coca-Cola

SIGN OF GOOD TASTE

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

LYNCHBURG BOTTLING COMPANY

1959 Graduates Enter Diversified Vocations

Many of last year's graduates from Longwood are now beginning their careers, this time as teachers rather than students. Many other graduates have obtained positions in business, while others are going to graduate school.

City Systems

Teaching in the city school system of Alexandria are Minnie Lee Dean and Constance Levinson; in Covington, Anna S. Wallace and Helen Jean Young; in Danville, Carolyn Copeland and Shirley Howard. In Hampton are Nancy Brubeck and Carole Manley; in Lynchburg, Mrs. Vann Thacker Blackwood, Jacqueline Harper, and June Lee May; in Martinsville, Rose Byer and Dorothy Cothern.

Newport News and Warwick are host to Linda Allen, Joann Fivel, Gayle Hitchins, Ann LaBonte, Agnes Lowry, Margaret Moore, Lois Ogburn, W. Faye Salmon, and Shirley Wilson. Faye Garrett and Pat Leak are in Norfolk; Barbara Odom in South Norfolk. Joan Brooker and Ann Wheeler in Petersburg; and Eleanor Gurganus Binkley and Patricia L. Areford in Portsmouth. In Roanoke are Jo Ann Baldwin, Linda Fleshman, Octavia Loftin, Virginia Price, Carol Sandidge, and Jean Turner. In Staunton are Donna Boone and Catherine Ormon.

Teaching in the county school systems of the following counties are Amherst, Mrs. Eva Utley; Campbell, Mrs. Hilda B. Tonkins; in Chesterfield, Coreta Ann Bennett, Mary W. Davis, Henrietta Dollins, Barbara Ensmann, Catherine Harris, Barbara Hurst, and Emily Johnson. In Dinwiddie are Helen Chaffin and Joanne Miatland.

Also teaching in the following counties are Fairfax, Dorothy Boswell, Victoria Brinkley, Adair Camp Constance Carlton, Catherine Connor, Gayle Cunningham, Joan Dorsey, Nancy Forrest, Barbara Heck, Virlinda Joyner, Margaret Layman, Gwendolyn Melton, Elizabeth Nichols, and Patsy Powell. In Giles county are Sylvia Bivens; Halifax, Mrs. Jane Kell Newbill, Hanover, Joyce Tharrington.

The following counties also serve as hosts to Longwood teachers: Henrico, Anne Adams, Alice Cheatwood, Nancy Cross, Elizabeth Culpepper, Melinda Franklin, Nancy George, Ann Glover, Charlotte Gray, Ella Louise Gray, Sarah Hastings, Nancy Knowles, Shirley Lucy. Also, Charlotte McGhee, Betty Maynard, Mary Ellen Moore, Louise Norman, Lillian Rosson, Evelyn Skalsky, and Mary Strickland are there. Henry county has Dolores Dove; Mecklenburg, Jacqueline Fore; Montgomery, Doris Ayers; Nansemond, Mrs. Emma Harrell Gardner; Norfolk, Margaret Harris, Anne Keziah, Rebecca Parker, Violet Scott, Virginia Shelton, Ernestine Stoltz and Elva Jane Wynne.

Teaching in Pittsylvania are Mrs. Mary Morgan Blair; Prince George, Patricia Campbell and Carole Vick; Princess Anne, Betty Griggs, Jo Lynn Holland, Burks Keith, Virginia Kuyk, Alice Rawlings, Betty Spivey, Barbara Staton, and Julia Grey Wallace. In Prince William are Imogene Blackwell, Juliet Robinson, Charlotte Simms, and Jo Ann Sloop Roanoke; Nancy Andrews, Mrs. Marilyn King Campbell, Betty Smythers, and Willie Taylor; Scott, Gail Jessee; Southampton, Shirley Grizzard. In other counties are Westmoreland, Mrs. Anne Presson Davis; Wythe, Sandra Fitzgerald Tarter; York, Joan Heavyside, Della Higgins and Betty Roawls; Charlottesville Education Foundation, Claudette Cooper.

Out-of-State

The following graduates are teaching outside of the state: In Alabama, Jerrye Edwards Mayhew; in California, Elizabeth McLoughlin and Roberta Silcox; Delaware, Mary Lee Roach. In Florida are Linda Doles and Martha Rucker; Maryland, Barbara Gamage and Elaine Weddle; Nevada, Margaret Newton; Oklahoma, Josephine Bailey; West Virginia, Judith Eckstrom.

Schools and universities around the country are host to the following girls who are doing graduate work: University of Tennessee, Louise Heier and Jacqueline Waller; University of Maryland, Della Hooper and Natalie Tudor; Duke, Molly Workman. Amy McFall is attending Cranbrook Academy of Art; Dorothy Marshall is going to New Jersey Overbrook Hospital, and Betty Lee Smith is at Baptist Seminary.

Longwood graduates who are in occupations other than teaching are: Jane Adams, Langley Field; Ann Baker, secretary, Office of Education, Washington; Betty Sue Barbee, actuary, Life Insurance Co. of Virginia. Also Mary Frances Beck, social welfare, Lexington; Charlotte Jewell, Appalachian Power Company; Pat Farrington, Personnel Department, Page Communications Engineers, Washington.

Graduates in other occupations are: Gloria Gardner, secretary, Cameron Village, Inc., Raleigh, N. C.; Rose Price Jones, VEPCO, Richmond; Mrs. Helen McCraw, assistant Home Agent, Buckingham county. Others are Frances McLoughlin, lab technician, Fullerton, California; Merle Ridinger, social service, Danville; Hardy Williams, American Tobacco Company, Richmond.

Church News

Methodist

Mr. and Mrs. Turner and family were guests at the Coffee Hour held last Friday. Mr. Turner is a new assistant professor of education.

Bible study began October 11. The Reverend Joe White led the first session.

Episcopal

The Canterbury Club will have a party for Longwood and Hampden-Sydney freshmen October 18 in the parish house. Before the party at 7 p.m. vespers will be held in the church.

There will be a Corporate Communion for all Episcopal students on Wednesday, October 21 at 7:45 p.m.

Presbyterian

October 11 at 7:30 p.m. there will be a supper meeting at the Presbyterian Church. All those wishing to go please sign a list placed on the church bulletin board. Following the supper Linda Poff will speak on "Ecumenics." The supper will take the place of the regular fellowship hour.

Baptist

Save cash and class cuts! Attend the BSU State Convention at Bristol October 30-November 1. Watch for other news and publicity on the cost and theme of the convention.

The general meeting of the YWA will be helped October 20 at the BSU Center.

October 13, Jean Fairfax, Nancy Morris, Barbara Elder, and Virginia Hanover accompanied Joan Spencer, the BSU counselor, to Richmond. They attended the appointment service for foreign missionaries by the Foreign Mission Board.

Convocation

(Continued from page 1)

that they would have the opportunity to attend the program.

Other Anniversary Events

On January 1 of this year, the cancellation of a stamp commemorating Longwood's anniversary was held in Farmville. The official opening of the year-long celebration was held last spring on Founders Day.

Various events during the year—including the Fine Arts Festival, the Institute of Southern Culture, the spring water pageant, the Freshman Production, and the graduation exercises — celebrated the anniversary.

Circus Rehearsals

Wednesday, Oct. 14	Freshmen	Sophomore Rec	10-10:50 p.m.
	Sophomores	Sophomore Rec	7- 7:50 p.m.
	Juniors	Jarman Hall	7- 7:50 p.m.
	Seniors	Jarman Hall	10-10:50 p.m.
Thursday, Oct. 15	Freshmen	Jarman Hall	10-10:50 p.m.
	Sophomores	Jarman Hall	7- 7:50 p.m.
	Juniors	Junior Rec	7- 7:50 p.m.
	Seniors	Senior Rec	10-10:50 p.m.
Monday, Oct. 19	Freshmen	Jarman Hall	7- 7:50 p.m.
	Sophomores	Jarman Hall	10-10:50 p.m.
	Juniors	Junior Rec	10-10:50 p.m.
	Seniors	Senior Rec	7- 7:50 p.m.
Tuesday, Oct. 20	Freshmen	Gym	7- 7:50 p.m.
	Sophomores	Gym	10-10:50 p.m.
	Juniors	Jarman Hall	7- 7:50 p.m.
	Seniors	Jarman Hall	10-10:50 p.m.
Wednesday, Oct. 21	Freshmen	Jarman Hall	10-10:50 p.m.
	Sophomores	Jarman Hall	7- 7:50 p.m.
	Juniors	Junior Rec	10-10:50 p.m.
	Seniors	Senior Rec	7- 7:50 p.m.
Thursday, Oct. 22	Mass Rehearsal	Jarman Hall	7-10:50 p.m.
Friday, Oct. 23	Mass Dress Rehearsal	Jarman Hall	7-10:50 p.m.
Saturday, Oct. 24	CIRCUS

—Staff Photo

DIRECTORS of one-acts, Mary Linda League, Matilda Powell and Emily Shelton, discuss outcome of plays.

Dr. Schlegal To Speak

Pi Gamma Mu will present Dr. Marvin Schlegel at 7 p.m., October 15, in the Virginian Room. He will speak on the subject of Russia and the Middle East. The student body is cordially invited.

Nature Nurtured Species Finesse Biological Hunters

By Neal Banks

Amid the muck and mire of Watkins Pond can be found on any given day those who find their greatest pleasure in rubbing shoulders with nature.

Those biological lassies have stories and anecdotes to relate that make the science trips sound like safaris into the deepest depths of darkest Africa.

For instance, on Mr. Merritt's most recent trip, a number of Longwood ladies found themselves wading through mud ankle-deep. Jean O'Connell fought for 15 minutes before she was free of the clinging goo.

On the more civilized side, the freshmen biology majors had to arise at 5:45 a.m. last week to watch an eclipse of the sun from the roof of Cunningham. When asked what impression it had left on them, they merely looked blank and moaned "Eclipse? What eclipse? Who has their eyes open at that hour of the morning?"

The science trips have also provided many girls with hobbies. Nancy Speakman has recently taken to collecting spider webs, and no tree or mountain is too high to climb if one of these precious gems can be found at the top.

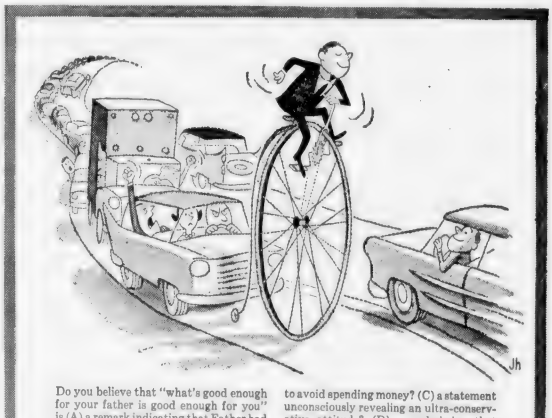
The student teachers too find the trips profitable. There are numerous types of aquariums to be made if one just hikes long enough to find the material. When the surrounding countryside failed to yield what was needed, the girls looked elsewhere. Has anybody noticed the lack of sand at the new dormitory site, or the diminishing supply of foliage in the greenhouse?

To complete the picture, there are the bird watching expeditions which get underway early in the morning. The bird must be sighted and then followed; this can prove difficult. And dedication it must be, in order to scramble through the underbrush with no regard for comfort. Anyone who has crawled over a barbed-wire fence in a tight skirt can appreciate this.

It's all in a day's work for the biology majors.

'Y' Plans Installation

Installation of freshmen into the YWCA will take the place of prayers tomorrow, Thursday, at 6:45 p.m. in the Episcopal church.



The annual YWCA retreat will be held this year on October 17, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Marvin Schlegel. Plans will be made for the coming year, especially those for Religious Emphasis Week in February.

BIBLES--WIDE SELECTION
Revised and King James
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
200 High Street
Dial EX 2-4027

SCARAB BRACELETS
$2.20 each
GOLD FILLED
$12.65
MARTIN, The Jeweler
Farmville, Va.

KOURY'S HAIR STYLIST
Located at The Dorothy May
MR. KOURY, formerly of Thalhimer's French Salon
Richmond
You are cordially invited to our ultra-modern salon
designed for your comfort and featuring the latest fashions in hair-cutting, hair-styling and hair-coloring.
EXport 2-5481

Do You Think for Yourself?
(PUT THESE QUESTIONS ON YOUR BRAIN-PAN AND SEE IF THEY SIZZLE*)

Do you believe that "what's good enough for your father is good enough for you" is (A) a remark indicating that Father had things pretty fancy? (B) a parental trick to avoid spending money? (C) a statement unconsciously revealing an ultra-conservative attitude? (D) an admission that you deserve as big an income as Pop?

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐ D ☐

If you saw a man on his hands and knees in the street, searching for something, would you (A) try to find it before he does? (B) tell him it isn't worth getting run over for? (C) ask him what he's doing down there? (D) offer to buy it from him when he finds it?

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐ D ☐

Do you think that the old saw "an apple a day keeps the doctor away" is (A) simply a trick to get you to eat apples? (B) rough on the doctor? (C) a health precept that can apply to other fruit, too? (D) applesauce?

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐ D ☐

Would you choose a filter cigarette because (A) of what is said about the tobacco? (B) you could hardly tell the filter is there? (C) it has the most advanced filter design? (D) it claims to filter well because it tastes weak?

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐ D ☐

Why do men and women who think for themselves usually smoke Viceroy? Because they've found out the Viceroy filter is the best of its kind ever developed, for finest tobacco taste. A thinking man's filter.

And they know Viceroy delivers a rich, satisfying taste that's never been equaled. A smoking man's taste.

A thinking man's filter . . . a smoking man's taste. How about you trying Viceroys?

By the way, if you checked (C) in three out of four of these questions . . . man, you think for yourself!*

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows—
ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER . . . A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

©1959, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Welcome
To Longwood
Alumnae, Parents

The Rotunda

Listen
To College
Radio Program

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., October 21, 1959 | No. 4

Grayson To Serve As Ringmaster For Circus

—Staff Photo

RINGMASTER Mary Hite Grayson can scarcely believe that she will don the symbolic top hat Saturday.

Dress Rehearsal Friday To Climax With Presentation Of Royal Court

By Sandra Weaver

Selected by Alpha Kappa Gamma, sponsor of Longwood's traditional Circus, Mary Hite Grayson, Circus ringmaster for 1959, will serve as mistress of ceremonies as "Peanuts" reigns in Jarman Auditorium, October 24 at 8 p. m.

With a top hat in her right hand and a leather riding crop in her left, Mary Hite, a junior physical education major from Radford, will step out of a large peanut bag to welcome the Circus audience. She will talk them into an even gayer Circus spirit, and then introduce the Animal Trainer and her animals as the evening festivities begin. Following the animals' ferocious act will be the class skits.

Can't Express Feelings

In reaction to being asked how she felt, having been chosen, Mary Hite fell silent. Looking rather sheepish, she replied, "This is one of the most exciting things that has ever happened to me and ever will. There are so many things to say that I . . . I just can't. The one thing I can say is that I only hope I can do as good a job as has been done in the past, and that I please the student body as well as everyone else."

Besides seeing that the show runs smoothly, Mary Hite will announce the prize-winning float from the afternoon parade and climax the evening by disclosing the prize-winning skit.

Participating in last year's Circus, Mary Hite sang in her class' chorus and worked on the float. She is a deans' list student, secretary of the Athletic Association, secretary of the H2O Club, rush chairman of Panhellenic Council, and a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, Cotillion Club and the varsity hockey team.

Queen Announced Friday

Something entirely different will be done with the presentation of the Circus court. The identities of the queen and her court will be disclosed at mass dress rehearsal Friday night. Saturday afternoon each representative will lead her class float in the parade as she rides in a convertible of her class color.

Mass rehearsal for the Saturday evening event will be held Thursday at 7 p.m., and mass dress rehearsal will be held Friday at 7 p. m. in Jarman. At the Friday

(Continued on page 4)

Hearing Tuesday

Students To Discuss Stu Gu Suggestions

The new proposals presented by the Student Government Association of Longwood College will be discussed at a public hearing Tuesday, October 27, at 7 p.m. in the small auditorium.

All interested students are urged by the Student Government Association to familiarize themselves with the proposals and attend the meeting.

The proposals are as follows:

1. NECESSARY SCHOLASTIC ACHIEVEMENT: In order that a student be eligible to return as a sophomore, she must attain an academic average of .8. To return as a junior or senior, she must attain a 1. cumulative average.

2. CLASS ATTENDANCE: A. A student whose name appears on the Dean's List—2.5 average—for the preceding semester is entitled to unlimited cuts. B. Second semester seniors are entitled to unlimited cuts. C. A student with a 2. average for the preceding semester is entitled to four absences from each class during a semester. D. A student with a 1.5 average for the preceding semester is entitled to three absences from each class during a semester. E. A student with a 1. average for the preceding semester is entitled to two absences from each class during a semester. F. A student with less than a 1. average for the preceding semester will be entitled to one absence from each class during a semester.

3. MAJOR ELECTIONS: A. Each class shall nominate four candidates for each major office. B. Each class shall elect two class members to serve on a screening board. C. The screening board shall be composed of the eight elected class representatives, the heads of the four major organizations, and the chairman of major-minor elections. D. The screening board shall narrow the nominations to three candidates for each major office. E. The candidates are to be introduced in an assembly one week before elections.

4. MINOR ELECTIONS: A. A screening board shall nominate three candidates for each minor office. B. The screening board shall be composed of the four newly elected heads of the major organizations, the four out-going heads of the major organizations, and the chairman of major-minor elections.

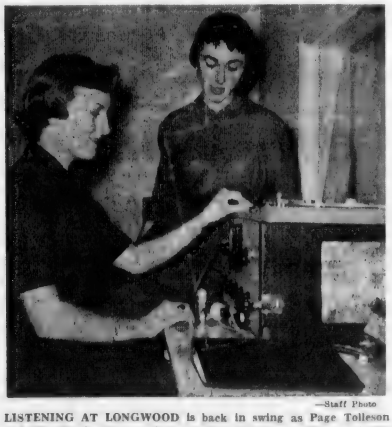
KD To Celebrate 62nd Anniversary

Kappa Delta social sorority will celebrate its 62nd anniversary October 23.

Forty-five thousand members in 98 college chapters and 308 chartered alumnae associations in the 50 states will pay tribute to Kappa Delta's founding.

This year the Kappa Deltas here will join with the Theta chapter of Kappa Delta at Randolph-Macon to celebrate in Lynchburg. The national president, Mrs. Genevieve Forbes Morse, will be main speaker at a banquet at the Lynchburg Country Club.

Kappa Delta was founded at Longwood October 23, 1897. On Founders' Day special tribute will be paid to its two living founders, Mrs. Arthur M. White of Norfolk, and Mrs. James Southall Wilson of Charlottesville. Mrs. Wilson is the granddaughter of John Tyler, tenth president of the United States.



The Kappa Deltas received the scholarship award at the convention this summer at Salt Lake City, Utah.

'Y' Quiz Program

The assembly for October 27, will be a quiz program on current events, sponsored by the YWCA.

Mr. James Helms will be quizmaster for the program. He will ask questions on local, state, national, and international events. Participating in the program will be one student from each class.

The program is being given to stimulate interest in world affairs, which is one of the objectives of the YWCA this year.

—Staff Photo

LISTENING AT LONGWOOD is back in swing as Page Tolleson and Miss Dunlap prepare for a program in Longwood's own studio.

College Radio Enthusiasts Broadcast In Own Studio

The standard procedure for success is to begin on the ground floor and work your way up.

The radio workshop of the Longwood Players, under the direction of Mr. David Wiley, associate professor of speech and drama, will undoubtedly follow this order when they begin using the new radio studio located in the basement of West Wing Ruffner.

The studio, designed by Mr. Wiley, is being constructed in connection with a college program to provide more complete facilities for Longwood's audio-visual department. Consisting of two rooms, the studio will be used not only for the workshop broadcasts, but also as a laboratory for speech classes.

Previous college programs have originated directly from Farmville's WFLO radio station. When the station was moved recently, the greater distance made the programs more difficult to prepare and present.

The new studio will not only facilitate preparations but will also give students better opportunities to develop their skills and interests in the medium.

Two Weekly Shows

At present there are approximately 10 students from Longwood and Hampden-Sydney connected with the workshop. Under the supervision of Miss Lucy Dunlap, instructor of speech, the group will present a fifteen minute program each Wednesday at 3 p.m. Entitled "Listening at Longwood," the program will feature news of campus events through interviews and informal discussions. Plans for the immediate future include a program on Circus and one on French customs.

A more formal 30 minute program, "Longwood Speaks," will be presented each Sunday afternoon. This program will place special emphasis on the cultural and educational advantages of Longwood. Tapes of the program will be sent to interested universities and stations. For the time being, only Richmond and University of Virginia will receive tapes.

First Program Today

The first "live" broadcast originated from the new studio today, October 21.

The mechanics of the "live" transmission will be very similar to those used for broadcasting Sunday church services. The programs will travel over a telephone "loop" to WFLO where they will be amplified and be sent out.

Mr. Wiley is quite enthusiastic over the increased advantages the studio will offer in training, entertainment, and publicity. He urges any students interested in working with the project to contact Miss Dunlap or some member of the workshop.

Alumnae To Meet Circus Week End

The Farmville chapter of the Alumnae Association will host approximately 35 members of the association October 23 and 24.

The local chapter arranged the council meeting for Circus week end and will provide Circus tickets to alumnae presidents and representatives from chapters in Virginia and adjoining states. Mrs. J. Spencer Burger, association national president, will be on hand for the event.

The group will assemble Friday evening for a dinner in the snack bar, followed by a business meeting. Saturday morning they will meet again in the Alumnae House.

Dr. and Mrs. Francis G. Lankford will entertain the group at a tea at their home Saturday afternoon.

At the business meetings the council will discuss their fund-raising campaign for an endowment fund, [illegible] and arrange for more chapter reorganization, reports Mrs. Elizabeth F. Jones, Farmville alumnae secretary.

Professors Take Graduate Classes During 'Vacation'

While Longwood students were relaxing from their studies and enjoying sun and sports, many professors were turning the tables by going to summer school.

Among those faculty members at various schools during the summer were Mrs. Josephine H. Magnifico, assistant professor of mathematics. At the University of Michigan she attended the National Science Foundation Institute for personnel in arithmetic.

Also in the Math Department, Mr. J. Hunter Ballew, new instructor in mathematics, attended the graduate school of the University of North Carolina.

In the History Department, Mr. James Helms, assistant professor of history and social studies, did work on Nathaniel Bacon for his doctorate.

Miss Lora Bernard, assistant professor of home economics, did graduate work in clothing and textiles. She studied at the University of Tennessee.

In the Art Department, Mrs. Janice Lemon studied water and oil colors under Mr. Sidney Gross in New York City.

Mr. James McCombs, assistant professor of music, studied voice and coaching at Columbia University. While in New York, he also coached with Viola Peters at Juilliard School of Music and the Metropolitan Opera House.

Mr. Clifford Smith, assistant professor of music, did doctoral work at Pennsylvania State this summer where he studied instrumental music.

Also in the Music Department, Miss Mary Kemble studied music education at the University of Maryland.

(Continued on page 3)

Visiting Scholars Program Brings Campus Lecturers

The Visiting Scholars Program was established in Virginia in 1946 to encourage distinguished scholars to visit Virginia colleges.

These outstanding scholars meet informally with the faculty and students and give lectures, addressing a class, a seminar, the student body, or a public audience.

Visiting Longwood on October 9, Peter Laslett, an English historian at Cambridge, talked with American history students. October 13, Longwood, in co-operation with Hampden-Sydney College, presented Miss Harriet Fitzgerald, director of Abingdon Square Painters, New York, who lectured on painting.

The following scholars have been invited to lecture here in the near future. C. Colleer Abbott, professor emeritus of English language and literature, Durham University. Mr. Abbott has been asked to lecture on English literature.

Theodore Besterman, director of the Voltaire Institute and Museum at Geneva, may lecture on French literature. Enid Mary Starkie, lecturer in French literature at Oxford University, formerly at the Sorbonne, has been asked to talk on French literature, also. None of these invitations have been confirmed as yet.

Plans have been made to invite, in the second semester, John Gassner, professor of playwriting at Yale University, who will take part in the Fine Arts Festival.

John G. Kemeny, professor of mathematics and chairman of the department at Dartmouth College, has been asked to come for an assembly in April. Virgil Thomson, a composer and music critic, has been invited to lecture on music for a March assembly.

Circus Meal Tickets

Alumnae and guests here during Circus week end may buy their meal tickets in the Home Office. Prices for these tickets are breakfast, 50 cents; lunch and Sunday supper, 60 cents; and dinner including noon meal Sunday), 75 cents. It is suggested that guests obtain these tickets in advance since a limited number of people can be seated in the dining hall.

Final Toast To '75th'

An old lady of 75 years, Longwood has certainly belied her age in the wealth of activities celebrating her advent.

Beginning at 6:30 a. m., January 1, with a commemorative stamp cancellation, she has pursued a busy schedule throughout the year. Now, with the conclusion of Convocation and the Symposium, her official celebration as the first state teachers college for women has come to a close.

Looking back, we see the hustle and bustle of Founder's Day with its returning alumnae as the formal beginning of the "birthday party." On its heels came the Festival of Fine Arts and then the Institute of Southern Culture. Graduation of 178 seniors and the accompanying speech of Governor J. Lindsey Almond was yet another event in the chain.

Proud members of the college's family have worked unceasingly to assure the success of this year-long "party." Faculty, administration, students, and outside guests deserve a congratulatory note for their contributions of time and talents.

Guiding and co-ordinating the entire program was the 75th anniversary committee under the chairmanship of Miss Elizabeth Burger. To them, in particular, goes an especially appreciative "thank you" for a job so splendidly done.

With such a successful party after 75 years, image what an extravaganza 100 years will see!

Thank You, Students

Nineteen hundred fifty nine — our 75th anniversary celebration began with "Joan Speaks," a student production by the class of 1962. Thus, from the start the students have fostered the emphasis on Longwood's anniversary.

Founders' Day in March was the anniversary celebration for the alumnae. At this time the anniversary gifts from the students were presented to the Endowment Fund and Alpha Kappa Gamma presented the flags for Jarman Auditorium. And again, the students kept eyes turned to 75 years of teacher education at Longwood College through dedications of special programs such as the water pageant, spring play and May Day. The Fine Arts Festival and the Institute of Southern Culture showed the same emphasis. The college publications have featured the 75th anniversary observance, the college annual choosing this theme for the 1959 Virginian. Graduation for the seniors of 1959 marked their final observation of the anniversary year when the Governor of Virginia spoke on the contributions of this college to public education.

All of you present students have experienced the 75th anniversary Convocation and Symposium. This was your day. Dr. Yang was brought here for your enjoyment and inspiration. Guests from other colleges were invited to join in your special day. Our buildings were decorated with beautiful flowers for this occasion, but these buildings became alive with you students. You students at Longwood College were the hostesses and you were lovely, dignified and most hospitable — our own Longwood girls.

We have looked back together to 75 years of teacher education at Longwood College. We have looked into the past — and now, our challenge is in the future. You students are a most significant part of the years ahead for your Alma Mater.

—Miss Elizabeth Burger
Chairman, 75th Anniversary Committee

Obligation Or Opportunity?

How often do we ignore and by-pass the opportunity to supplement our education? And how often is this opportunity untactfully abused?

Longwood has and will continue to open her doors to many educators specialized in their respective fields, educators in their own right because of the vast amount of wisdom and knowledge that they bring to share with all those who will listen. But how many do grasp the opportunity to open their minds and listen to those speakers and performers sponsored by various assemble committees and organizations. I'm afraid a far greater number than those in attendance are often found "sighing with relief" because a certain program is not required and they do not "have to attend." How much of an audience would some of the speakers have if not one "unreasonable," as the saying goes, professor required his students to attend?

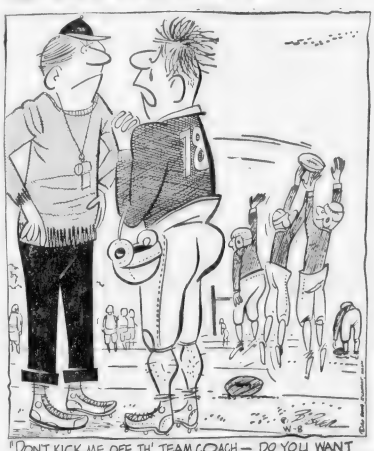
Then there are programs and "required" attendances where we find those that very ill manneredly prefer sleeping to listening and writing letters to paying attention.

How do we as students represent ourselves and our schools? How often do we take the opportunity to listen and learn and increase our very curriculum? Upon graduation there will be no curriculum to follow, no "required" programs for enjoyment and aid in learning, and most probably, never again so much for so little in the way of educational facilities will be ours for the offering.

How well are we taking advantage of these advantages, or are we abusing them?

—Jo Anne Parsons, Managing Editor

The Rotunda



ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 10, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville Virginia, Box 168.

Cherry Gorham ..... Editor-in-Chief
Chris Rasmow ..... Managing Editor
Dale Preddy ..... Business Manager
Jo Anne Parsons ..... News Editor
Joan Kavanaugh ..... Feature Editor
Nancy Lankford ..... Sports Editor
Sandra Worsser ..... Desk Editor
Anne H. Barney ..... Photography
Carol Leonard ..... Art
Arlene Mckay ..... Circulation Manager
Bonnie Bryant, Marie Mesaick ..... Advertising Managers
Miss Mary P. Nichols ..... Faculty Advisor

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 3, 1934. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by BIBLER

Socially Speaking

Pins, Parties, Festival Accent Fall Week End

By Sandie Farish

Congratulations, Carol and Pat! On Saturday night, Carol Sprague accepted the DU pin of UVa sophomore, Colin Blaydon, and Patsy Carr received Hampden-Sydney Jimmy Slaughter's PiKA pin.

Tobacco Bowl

The Tobacco Bowl Festival in Richmond attracted many. Mary Lee Warriner and Martha Wyatt were a credit to Longwood as princesses in the festivities.

Watching VPI win over UVa were Kitty Reid, Sally Thomas, Marianne Zimmerman, Ann Allen, Laura Butler, Barbara Railey, Jo Ann Gardner, Duran Hallett, and Lucy Swink. Others also attending were Susan Kelley, Leo Pagenhardt, Bonnie Irby and Dottie Nelson.

Having a wonderful week end at W and L for Openings, we found Cherry Gorham, Mary Linda League, Virginia Wilson, Judy Purcell, Paula Clarke, Norah Elliott, Barbara Moyer, Sarah Sims, and Merle Holaday.

NC Parties

Elon Homecomings were thoroughly enjoyed by Pat Morgan, Virginia Ferguson, Agnes Massie, Beverly Gaskins. Also in North Carolina, but at Duke, were Ann Hardy and Judy Owen. Marion Meyer was welcomed at the University of Richmond, and Dudlie Brooks was entertained at Ferrum Junior College.

Traveling to the state of Maryland to impress all those Naval Academy midshipmen were Dottie Brown, Gail Deaver, Sue Caravella, Brenda Dod, and Betty Wood.

II-S Kappa Sigs

Journeying out to Hampden-Sydney for the Kappa Sigma record party Friday night were Becky McGrath, Annie Lee Young, Anne Mixon, Susan Rust, Brenda Drewry, Billie Shores, Josanne White, Emmy Lu Critcher, Alma Wright, Sue Sharp, Lucy Wilson, Betsy Hurt, Bonnie Irby, Brenda Dod, Betty Wood, Anne Wells, and Nan McLaughlin.

Joan King, Linda Davenport, Sally Sims, Jane Martin, Sandra Wise, Patsy Miller, Donna Frantzen, Paula Clark, Elizabeth Purcell, Ellie Bogen, Marilyn Miller, Lou Hoggard, Gail Crawford, Nancy Hood, Rosa Petitt, Ginny Peters, Kitty Good, Archer Cassada, Judith Welch, Pooh Butterworth, Ann Coleman, Fran Gallahan, Patti Norman, Laura Butler, Betty Jones, and Ann Allen.

Theta Chis

The Brookneal Flashes really provided a terrific beat at the Theta Chi combo party Saturday night. Agreeing were Jean Dancy, Jane Freeman, Laura Cliborne, Margie Shumate, Archer Cassada, Pat O'Conner, Mary Lee Barnes, Mary Alice White, Carolyn Elliot, Carolyn Ransom, Bonnie Garter, Betsy Kelsey, Ann Howell, Carolyn Grinstead, Ginny Peters, Holly Thompson, Anne Mayo, Patsy Carr, Jean Bass, Claudia Wilson, Sue O'Hara, Lois Peters, Dottie Harrison, Frankie Click, and Susan Rust.

Sue Spicer, Sandra Johns, Frances Gray, Blanche Igram, Barbara Rossiter, Joanne White, Billie Shores, Emmy Lu Critcher, Demetria Koumparakis, Anita Parks, Suzanne Shipp, Sara Oliver, Becky McGrath, Mary Ann Walker, Billie Jean Altizer, Frances Harvey, Yvonne Webb, Justine Blount, Carol Cutler, Aleta Goodwyn, Peggy Roth, Charlotte Hale, Bobbie Meader, Linda Davenport, Kathy Koltz, Suzanne Grammer, Ann Simmons, Katie Fulton, and Sandie Farish.

Chi Phis

The Chi Phi record party entertained Roberta Cobb, Ginger Culpepper, Lena Kay, Suzan Kelley, Frances Norment, Sally Smith, Keaton Holland, Kathi Crowder, Diane Leavitt, Kathy Gillespie, Jane Martin, Liz Dozier, Sarah Buston, Betty Rice Dawson, Dona Marquette, Donna Claes, Annice Bailey, Lois Gardner, Jean Smith, Carol Nye, Peggy Hughes, Vanetta Remaine, Gari Dickson, Diane Whitley, Cape Sammis, Kay Nottingham, Wistie Rochelle, Anne Snow, Nancy Hood, Betty Paulette, Betty Chappell, Becky Brehm, Carol Walton and Brenda Smith.

Also, Harriet Hunt, Donna Frantzen, Lani Robinson, Noami Talbott, Marilyn Miller, Lou Hoggard, Ellie Bogan, Anne Bradley, Dureda Brumback, Mary Field, Idella Boyer, Julie McClellen, Josie O'Hop, Nancy Mustard, Amelia Edmundson, Suzanne Davis, Ellen Brady, Becky Hoflin, Judy Solby, Sylvia Abbott, Dona Scarbrough, Bobbi Goodman, Alice Pizer, Mary Beth Olson, Mary Todd, Fran Webster, and Susan Rollins.

Becky Wooldridge, Oreta Norris, Dee Albertson, Carolyn Oliver, Brenda Parsley, Alice Layne, Kackie Turner, Linda Poff, Lucy Wilson, Sally Pleasant, Jane Crowl, Dottie Gills, and Elaine Johnson.

Dear Mervin

Saturday night

Dearest Mervin,

It seems like ages since we last gazed into each other's bifocals. How I long for the sight of your freckled face with its big grin, showing your gleaming white tooth. My vertebrae tinkles whenever my thought turns to you.

The weeks here at LC are filled with many doings and much work. For this I am thankful, as it makes me think less of you. My English professor is giving our first test this Tuesday. I think I may take my first class cut.

Mervin, do you realize that we have been going steady for exactly one month, two weeks, fourteen hours, and forty-three minutes? And they said it wouldn't last!

Good-night, my handsome Romeo.

Love ya,
"Fuzzy"

Ballew Notes Experiences As Weatherman In Japan

By Judy Detrich

The young men walked through the Rotunda and were heading towards West Wing. "Heavens," thought the housemother, "they're from Hampden-Sydney!"

She was off like a bat. "Boys, boys, where are you going at this hour?"

A somewhat amused young man turned around. "Me?" he said. "Madam, I teach here. My name is Mr. Ballew and I'm on my way to tutor this boy in math." Somewhat flustered, the hostess beat a hasty retreat and the "boys" went on their way.

Japanese Weatherman

Mr. J. Hunter Ballew is a native of Marion, N. C. He studied mathematics at the University of North Carolina. After completing his undergraduate work, he spent three and a half years in the Navy. True to naval tradition, he volunteered (was picked!) for post graduate school in California where he studied meteorology. He was then sent to be a weatherman in Japan.

Last year he taught in the Metairie Park Country Day School, a small co-ed prep school in New Orleans. He observed, "New Orleans is very cosmopolitan—I like it."

Although he is no longer officially employed as a weatherman, Mr. Ballew still practices forecasting. "A few weeks back, I went down to a UNC game and I took with me a raincoat, umbrella, galoshes, and all of that paraphernalia. When I got there I parked the car quite a distance from the stadium. I got out and looked around and I predicted fair weather. So I left my rain gear in the car and headed for the game. Well, I got settled . . . and drenched twice."

Sports Car Enthusiast

Aside from math and the weather, Mr. Ballew's interests range from photography to golf to sports cars. He relates, "I had a red MG until about a week before school. But I wrecked it and so my enthusiasm has been dampened a little."

When he heard of an opening in the math department here at Longwood, Mr. Ballew accepted the position because, although he enjoyed New Orleans, he was interested in teaching on the college level. In the future he plans to start work on his doctor's degree.

In comparing his work in Louisiana with his classes here, Mr. Ballew concluded, "I find it much harder to concentrate in class now."

Diplomat - Doctor Tells Lighter Side

By Judy Detrich

When he left Longwood last Tuesday, Korean Ambassador Yang plunged back into the hectic and serious side of his diplomatic duties. Despite his close contact with the weighty problems of the world, Dr. Yang retains a cheerful outlook and a very fine sense of humor.

Resigns Medicine

When President Syngman Rhee asked him to serve as ambassador, Dr. Yang was faced with a most serious decision. At the time he had a well established practice in Hawaii.

"You see," he explained, "the medical profession changes rapidly. A year, or even six months away from my work, could mean that I am no longer a first-rate doctor. Since I feel it is inhuman to be a second - rate doctor, I knew that once I left my practice for this job, I could never return to medicine."

He, his wife, and his children now live in Washington. His daughter Sheila, (he explains, "We Koreans are often called the Irish of the Orient, so Sheila must have an Irish name.") is a freshman at Finch College in New York City. She is interested in art, but is

(Continued on page 4)

—Staff Photo

MATHEMATICAL MODELS are shown by Dr. Ruth Stokes to Mr. Hunter Ballew, another newcomer in the Math Department.

Smart Accessories Furnish Finishing Touches For Fall

By Barbara Chaffin

Where would your Sunday attire, class attire or date attire be without accessories? Can you imagine your good looking sheath with no high heels or no jewelry?

Those finishing touches found in hats, collars, shoes, and gloves are essentials to any clothing no matter how exclusive the dress may be.

Moth-proof bags are being shoved away and boycoats are making their appearance as cold weather comes on. One change though—racoon collars are an added note. This new accessory not only provides warmth, but is most attractive against a camel-colored background.

Fur trim is everywhere—on hats, on coats, on suits. A sporty walking suit is transformed into an elegant outfit by a small (or large) fox collar. Fur bands will give your hair a halo of loveliness. (If you have an aversion to large headpieces, the fur band is your answer!)

Derbys are a delight in hats this year. They are pert and sylish for dress-up or sports occasions. Felt or velveteen seem to be the most popular fabrics for derbys.

Along the lines of head accessories, leather tams and feather cloches are stunning. They can be purchased for nominal prices and are quite practical.

From head to toe your ensembles for fall can be blended or accented by the accessories you choose. A variety of colored shoes are good, especially in royal blue or burnt orange. Of course, basic black suede or leather is always versatile to select in shoes.

A final word about accessories—be a little choosey when you go to buy. Think about your whole wardrobe and remember that an old dress can have a bright, new look if its accessories are carefully selected.

H-S Homecoming To Feature J H Contest

Alpha Grabba Garbage Joins Fraternal Ranks

By Edmonia Leech

It is 6:45 a.m. at Longwood College, and in the dining hall the student waitresses are beginning to go into action. These girls are members of the Alpha Grabba Garbage Association, which is dedicated to service and linen-changing in the most popular of all Longwood's departments, her food factory.

Just what problems and rewards do these students encounter in their daily tasks? Why not take a look at a typical day in the life of one of these industrious and dedicated girls.

Beat the Clock

It is 6:45 a.m. and in a particular hall (which shall remain nameless), a particular student waitress (who shall be called Gertie in order to protect the innocent), is making her daily mad dash to get dressed and to the dining hall by 7:50. Her efforts are attended by an environment of discouragement, for she constantly fails in this endeavor.

However, her time is improving. (This morning, for instance, she arrives at 7 a.m. — yesterday it was 7:05.) After setting up her tables, she joins her chapter of the AGGA which is seated at a table near the alcove, ready to nab the first unlucky student who tries to remove silver or a glass from an alcove table.

Now the AGGA takes up its first item of business, which is who got up the latest and still made it to the dining hall before being counted absent? Page Tolleson wins hands down. This is a crushing blow to Gertie, who up to this time has held the championship. She leaves the meeting in disgust, and picking up six flower pots, she heads for the trucks where she stands, patiently guarding her growing treasure of silver. She notices that Sylvia Guilliams and Evelyn Fort are getting more silver than she is; so she waits until they are looking in another direction, then grabs two of their flower pots and heads for the dish-washing room.

Over the roar of the dish-washer, she hears the battle raging between the two who suspect each other of the theft. She has no regrets, however, for she has an 8 a.m. class, and she has only five minutes to get her tables cleaned off and reset. She is doomed to disappointment.

The Every-Morning Coffee Club has chosen her tables for their usual social get-together. After removing the sugar, milk, and water pitchers three times, only to have them immediately replaced from another table by a member of the Coffee Club, she gives up this futile struggle and goes on to class.

Professional Immunity

She is five minutes late, but the professor will not accept her excuse that as a member of the AGGA she is immune to being counted tardy. She suddenly remembers that she was always five minutes late to her 8:05 classes before she became a member of this honorable society; therefore, she decides not to make an issue of it.

Eleven forty-five finds Gertie getting out of class on the third floor of the Science Building. She barrels down the hall and jabs her thumb against the elevator button . . . Minutes pass . . . She decides the stairs will be quicker, so she flies down these three at a time and rushes out the front entrance.

Now for the 100-yard dash to the dining hall. Gertie, at a dead gallop, whizzes past startled students. She hears the squeal of brakes as she barely beats an approaching car to the intersection, but nothing distracts her from her ultimate goal. The way is clear and she continues her undiminished pace until she reaches the smoker. There she is confronted by a mass of students, each pushing forward with the unrelenting ambition to be the first into the dining hall.

"This requires desperate strategy," Gertie decides. Setting her elbows like oars over the side of a boat, she rows through the crowd, then after exhaling for several minutes, she manages to squeeze through the crack in the door.

"My table can wait," she decides and heads for the front to pick up her daily rations. She has hardly taken her seat before she sees Betty Lou Dunn coming toward her brandishing two soup ladles. With horror, she suddenly remembers that yesterday morning she asked several members of the Coffee Club to move from one of her tables to Betty Lou's. Apparently, however, Betty Lou has forgiven her, because she only asks Gertie if she needs any help in getting her tables set up.

Final Blow

Lunch is served without incident, and after resetting her tables, Gertie goes to look at the bulletin board to see if she has to work dinner. A lump rises in her throat as she looks at the board and realizes that she was supposed to have had lunch off. Tearfully she runs to her friend and fellow AGGA member, Sandra Phlegar, and sobs out her sad story.

"I have the week end off. Why don't you let me work for you tonight? I have a fee of course," Sandy thoughtfully adds.

"Oh, what loyalty to your work you have," Gertie breathes, as she pays off her confederate.

With a lighter heart Gertie skips out of the dining hall, waving as she goes, to Nancy Speakman and Laurice Hamlet, who are thoughtfully filling everyone's salt and pepper shakers.

"Long live the AGGA," she chants as she enters the gloom of the smoker.

Football Fanfare

By Nancy Lechler

Before an audience of 24,000 spectators the Virginia Tech Gobblers stomped the University of Virginia Cavaliers at the tenth annual Tobacco Festival in Richmond Saturday. The score of this game was an easy 40-14.

The star player of this Tobacco Festival was Alger Pugh, a halfback for Tech. Pugh scored three times on runs of 36 and three yards and a one-yard pass play from Frank Eastman.

Dick Voris, UVa. coach, commented, "Pugh is the best back in Virginia. We've said that all along." Pugh was awarded the game ball as a trophy for the 18 points he scored.

Virginia Military Institute acquired the best record in Virginia, 3-1-1, by defeating William and Mary 26-7, Saturday at the Civitan Bowl game in Norfolk.

Washington and Lee again showed a surge of strength by a tie with Randolph-Macon 33-33.

Hampden-Sydney lost their first home game to Western Maryland, 20-14, also losing their Mason-Dixon Conference lead.

Army surged back after being beaten twice to defeat Duke 21 to 6 at Duke's homecoming game.

The Tar Heels of UNC bowed to the University of Maryland 14-7 at College Park, Maryland.

Coming Games

Games of interest to be played this Saturday, October 24, are Virginia-Vanderbilt at Charlottesville; VMI-Davidson at Lexington; W&M-GW at Williamsburg; H-S-Johns Hopkins at Hampden-Sydney; R-M-Bridgewater at Randolph-Macon; NC State-Duke in Raleigh; Wake Forest-UNC in Winston - Salem; Florida State-University of Richmond in Florida; Villanova - VPI at Villanova.

Males Total Eight

Eight men students are currently enrolled at Longwood.

Frank M. Watson and William D. Pleasants are new students, and Samuel H. Bailey, William W. Lee, Charles R. McClung, David J. McKinney, Guy F. Matthew, Jr., and Robert B. Thomas, Jr., are former students.

TRI-CAPTAINS—Tom Davis, Bill Benson, Marshall Ebert discuss plans for the Homecoming game with their coach.

Hockey Schedule

The schedule for the remaining Longwood hockey games to be played this season is as follows: Sat., October 24, here, Stratford Tues., October 27, here, Hollins Sat., October 31, Tidewater Tour. Sat., November 7, away, Madison.

Timely Topics

Steel Highlights News

In the world: Decadence and destroyed hopes have marked the reign of Iraq's Premier Abdel Karim Kassem. Last week, some of Kassem's tactics were violently challenged—with bullets.

In late September, after a farcical trial, Kassem had ordered the execution of 13 Iraqi officers. The charge was treason, but so far as many people could see, their only crime was failure, for the revolutionary group they led struck abortively, tipping off Kassem's police and settling their own fate and that of the 13 officers at their head.

The upshot of the matter is tightened restrictions on Baghdad, with heavy military controls imposed by the shaken Premier. Kassem is steadily losing the support of his army. And once public approval slips, they are the only group that can keep him in power. When and if they fail him, Kassem's crumbling empire may finally topple, leaving the way open for the patient, hopeful Communists.

In the nation: The costly steel strike lingers on, over the angry supplications of President Eisenhower and the damaging shortage of steel not only to the nation's business, but to defense projects as well. President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers described management's offers as "totally unacceptable."

But, contrary to strike history, the stumbling block to these negotiations is not money, but a vital clause in steel's standard wage contract. Management claims that this section fosters "featherbedding and loafing." And steel knows that, in a concession on this point, management could build up efficiency to the point where 100,000 men would be out of jobs.

Last Monday, the President's fact-finding committee was due to report on the situation. Even with this time limit hanging over their heads, negotiators still were unable to reach an agreement. Nothing remains now but the court injunction which will force workers back on the job under the Taft-Hartley Act.

H2O Club Issues Bids To 15 New Members

The H2O Club, Longwood's honorary swimming club, has issued bids to 15 new members.

They are Beverly Kersey, Cherry Gorham, Lou Booth, Ann Norfleet, Wendy Warren, Mary Kay Rice, Melissa Rowe, Ruth Talley, Jean Helms, Khaki Turner, Gerry Ludwick, Julie Hollyfield, Jane Freeman, Nancianne Frye, and Page Davis.

Barbara Brantley has been elected treasurer of the club.

The H2O Club's plans for the coming year include a Christmas water pageant, a spring work shop or water pageant, and a spring meet for the color cup.

Tryouts for the Christmas Water Pageant, December 10 and 11, will be held after Circus.

Educator To Speak

Dr. Richard Brooks' "Education Measurements" class will have Mr. Alfred L. Wingo as their guest speaker October 22. Mr. Wingo is co-ordinator of guidance, testing, research and surveys for the Virginia State Board of Education.

Mr. Wingo, who introduced the new statewide testing program, will talk to the class on the skills and concepts needed by classroom teachers and counselors in test interpretation.

While at Longwood Mr. Wingo will lunch with Dr. Francis Lankford and faculty members of the Department of Education.

LC Defeats Westhampton In Hard-Fought Contests

Longwood's hockey team defeated Westhampton Saturday in its most difficult game to date.

The Westhampton team went down to LC 1-0, but the game was hardfought.

The Little Colonels, a professional team of high school and college coaches, defeated Westhampton by the same score earlier in the season. Longwood's scheduled clash with the Little Colonels next Saturday should be an important one for hockey fans.

In the Westhampton victory, Longwood's line-up of regulars was utilized, with Jo Savage at center half and Flossie Harris between the goal posts. The only goal, scored during the first half of the game, was realized through the teamwork of the backfield and the forward line.

The first half was largely an offensive game for the LC players, but during the second half it became a defensive effort as Longwood was hardpressed to prevent several Westhampton goals.

In the second feature of the afternoon, Longwood's second team showed improvement as the girls downed Westhampton's second team 2-1.

Before the games the Longwood ladies presented Miss Olive Iler and Miss Rebecca Brockenbrough of the Physical Education Department with corsages of white carnations. On Saturday night the hockey team celebrated its victory with an overnight party at Longwood Estate.

Next Saturday's game with the Little Colonels is scheduled for 2 p.m. The Circus parade has been moved to 4 p.m. so that everyone will be able to go out and support the hockey team.

Singles Continue

As the class tennis singles continue to be played, the Red and Whites remain ahead.

Trina Childress, a red and white, defeated Mable Healey 6-1, 6-4. Lindy Hatch, a freshman, was able to take her match from Keaton Holland 6-2, 6-3.

Team manager Gladys Patrick commented that she hoped to have the first round finished this week.

Tigers Pin Hopes On Senior Benson For H-S Victory

This coming week end the Hampden-Sydney Tigers will play their homecoming game against Johns Hopkins University.

Seventy-seven years ago, Hampden-Sydney football history started with a game against Richmond College. Since that time, the Tigers have had their victories and their losses, but win or lose, the team has always been loyally supported.

Hampden-Sydney's chief obstacle this time will be Oz Garcia, a senior, who plays tailback position. Garcia, who stands 5'10" tall and weighs 170 pounds, is a prime example of the competition that the Tigers will be up against. The average poundage for the Johns Hopkins team is 198 pounds for the line and 185 for the backfield.

Johns Hopkins, undefeated so far, has racked up 92 points in two games. On the defensive, they have only six points scored against them.

The boy of the Hampden-Sydney Tigers that Johns Hopkins wants to stop is Bill Benson, Tiger All-American. Benson, a senior, plays fullback position.

There are many players that will give Johns Hopkins trouble. Among these are the tri-captains—Tom Davis, a senior, who plays quarterback; Marshall Ebert, also a senior, who plays on the line; and Benson. Several freshmen will also be a threat to Johns Hopkins, among them Howard Clabough, a master at place kicking. Lewis Everette plays fullback, but he can quarterback as well and is thought to be the best backfield prospect since Benson.

This encounter has come to hold second place only to Randolph-Macon as the "most wanted game." On November 21 the Tigers will play against the Yellow Jackets. This will be the first in a series of games called the Annual Shrine Bowl.

Professors

(Continued from page 1)

Mr. Sterling Adams, the new instructor in music and piano, did his dissertation at the University of Indiana.

TEN TOP TUNES

1. Lonely Street
2. Mack the Knife
3. Put Your Head on My Shoulder
4. Teen Beat
5. You Better Know It
6. Mr. Blue
7. Give Me Love
8. I'll Be Seeing You
9. The Worried Man
10. Primrose Lane

WILSON'S HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

YOUR COLLEGE JEWELRY may now be selected — at — LONGWOOD JEWELERS Charge Accounts to Everyone!

Your Authorized NEBBISH DEALER LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP Across From Jarman Auditorium

Glamourama

By IDA SOUTHALL

LIP BEAUTY

There is no doubt about it, the lipstick industry truly flourishes in this country. How much of it you use is not important, but how you use it is. If you can learn how to use a lipstick brush you can have lovelier lips. In the long run it is the easiest way to apply lipstick. First brush on the outline then fill in the color.

There is no doubt about it, healthy hair is pretty hair. If you have dry scalp or dandruff, your hair will suffer for it. Try scalp treatments at Vanity Beauty Shop, Farmville. Phone EX 2-4460.

OPEN WEDNESDAYS

For the smartest hairdo in the S & S Cording Shop is not open. A few treatments and you will see the difference.

White-Capped Freshmen Disclose Multitude Of Talents, Interests

By Sandy Bryant

Upperclassmen, have you ever stopped to take a good look at those girls who wear the white beanies? There are 368 freshmen at Longwood this year, and included in this group are quite a few talented girls.

Although most freshmen are Virginians, some come from such distant states as Florida, Georgia, New York, Illinois, and Oklahoma.

Frosh Score Well

The freshmen made a good showing on the English tests given at the beginning of the year. According to Dr. Richard K. Mecker, there were more better scores, and fewer poor scores than there have been in the past. Also, there are two classes of advanced math for those freshmen who placed high on the math test.

The music program at Longwood interests many of the newcomers. Thirteen freshmen have been selected to be in the choir, and others plan to join the band.

Peters Plays Xylophone

One freshman you will probably see performing this year is Ann Peters from Salem. Ann, 18, has been playing the xylophone since she was 10. She has performed for civic clubs, school programs, conventions, and has appeared on television in Roanoke.

For musical ability, Ann won a $150 Salem Woman's Club scholarship, and placed second in a district Lions Club competition. An elementary education major, Ann also plays the trumpet, piano, baritone horn, and bell-lyre.

Grosch Rocks 'n Rolls

Another freshman to watch for is Peggy Grosch, a business education major from Hopewell. Peggy, 18, has never studied voice, but she has been singing in and around Hopewell for quite a while. She originally started her singing in a high school quartet but later began doing solo work at church and school.

She has performed for civic clubs, on the radio, and at rock and roll shows. Although she occasionally sings a more serious type of music, Peggy classifies herself as a rock and roll singer and often accompanies herself on the piano.

Snider Helps Vet

A physical education major, Joyce (Lefty) Snider from Annandale has some interesting experiences to relate about her job. She has worked for the past three summers and during week ends as a veterinarian's assistant. Lefty bathed, combed, and fed the dogs and cats, and often held them down during operations. One of the hardest jobs, according to Lefty, is to bathe a Great Dane without getting wet.

Lefty commented that in all of her three years of work with the animals, she was never bitten.

Kay Creates Dances

Another talented freshman is 17-year-old Lena Kay, a dancer from Warwick. Lena, who has taken dancing lessons for 12 years, has performed for schools, civic clubs, and has appeared at the Warwick Hotel and the Golden Age Club in Newport News as a guest dancer. She also performed in the Cotton Blossom Minstrel and gave programs for the Methodist Children's Home in Richmond.

This past summer, Lena won a dancing contest in North Carolina sponsored by a woman's club. She received an offer to go to New York as a teen-age model, but chose to come to Longwood and become an English teacher instead. Lena especially likes to perform oriental, jazz, tap and creative dances.

Keep your eyes on those girls in the white beanies. There are many other freshmen who have talents and interesting experiences they would like to share.

Social Sororities Extend Fall Bids

Seven social sororities at Longwood have bid a total of 29 girls during fall rushing.

AGD

Pledging Alpha Gamma Delta are Mary Blair Booth, Nancy Evans, and Claudia Wilson.

AST

Welcomed to Alpha Sigma Tau are Patricia Hampton, Jeanine McKenzie, Judith Owen, Julie Thomas, and Doris Tolley.

DZ

Delta Zeta received Geraldine Evans, Marion Elliott, Suzanne Grammer, and Frances Norment as pledges.

KD

Kappa Delta pledges are Robbin Arthur, Keaton Holland, and Clara-Miles Shumadine.

SK

Pledging Sigma Kappa are Elizabeth Jones, Betty Patterson, Jean Underwood, and Mary Bettie Watkins.

SSS

Sigma Sigma Sigma pledged Anne Wells and Betty Wood.

ZTA

Welcomed to Zeta Tau Alpha are Nancy Branscomb, Bettie Jean Cliatt, Susan O'Hara, Patricia Southworth, Bettie St. Clair, Gaynor Vanlandingham, Joan Verlander, and Fannie Marie Weinberg.

Figures In Fairy Tale Star As Marionettes In Lemen's Art Group

"Turn me loose fo' I knock the stuffin' out o' you!"

The class laughed as Br'er Rabbit tried desperately to free his hand from the little black tar baby in Mrs. Janice Lemen's educational art, where the group has been producing marionette and puppet shows. The puppets are hand made of papier mache, clay, cloth, paper, wire, and string and used in the familiar fairy tales with original dialogue added.

Rug Display

What do you do with your old woolens? Mrs. J. E. Bedford, mother of Miss Virginia Bedford, puts hers to a unique use in those hand-hooked rugs in the art department.

The designs were done by Miss Bedford and Mrs. Janice Lemen, for whom Mrs. Bedford hooked the rugs.

Church News

Methodist

Prayer meetings are held in the Center Tuesdays at 4:30 p.m. The student body is invited.

Devotions on WFLO this week are being led by members of the Wesley Council.

Dr. Hudgins will lead the third and fourth sessions of the Bible study of Luke. These meetings are held on Sunday nights in the Fellowship Room of the church. The third session will be October 25 and is entitled "Listen to Him." The fourth session, entitled "The Last Week," November 1 will conclude the Bible study.

Baptist

Dorm prayer meetings will be held October 26 and 27 at 10 p.m. The theme and place of the meetings are posted on the church bulletin board.

The BSU convention will be held at Bristol, October 30-November 2. "Toward Maturity in Christ" is the theme this year and the cost per person is about 10 dollars. If you are interested in attending the convention, see Joan Spencer in the BSU Center or Cherron Kelly in Main Cunningham 42.

New Voices Selected For Madrigal Singers

The Madrigals, an acappella singing group, has been organized under the direction of Mr. James McCombs.

The group, which sings in four-part harmony, is made up of Nancy Evans, Edmonia Leech, Katherine Turner, De Anne Hogge, Carol Pierce, Wendy Warren, Pat Sadler, Jean Dancy, Melissa Rowe, Mary Booth, Zee Tapp, Ann Howell, and Peggy Henry.

The officers are Mattie McNeil, president; and Ann Howell, secretary-treasurer.

The Luckless Legion by Irwin Caplan

Drivers under 25 were involved in 27% of the fatal accidents in 1958.

SCARAB BRACELETS
$2.20 each
GOLD FILLED
$12.65
MARTIN, The Jeweler
Farmville, Va.

KOURY'S HAIR STYLIST
Located at The Dorothy May
MR. KOURY, formerly of Thalhimer's French Salon
Richmond
You are cordially invited to our ultra-modern salon designed for your comfort and featuring the latest fashions in hair-cutting, hair-styling and hair-coloring.
EXport 2-5481

—Staff Photo

CLASS CIRCUS CHAIRMEN (standing) J. Dancy, M. H. Grayson, A. White, C. Lassiter, (seated) J. Pennington, W. Egolf, A. Tweedy prepare for the big day Saturday.

Yang

(Continued from page 2)

thinking of being a social worker some day. Sheila made her debut in New York and Washington, where she led the Cotillion figure. Dr. Yang added that this summer she went to Detroit to appear in an ad for the Simca car.

The Yang's son, Channing, attends the Kent School in Connecticut.

Saint or Sinner?

Dr. Yang belongs to many professional, honorary, social, and charitable organizations. Perhaps the most interesting, and most puzzling, is the Circus Saints and Sinners. In response to a question about this mysterious organization, Mr. Yang grinned and pointed to a small pin on his lapel.

"You see," said he, "this is the emblem of our club—a small gold pitchfork with a halo on its handle. Circus Saints and Sinners is a national charity organization. Occasionally we hold a large banquet featuring entertainment and a 'Fall Guy.' The Fall Guy, usually an important dignitary, becomes the brunt of all ridicule."

Dr. Yang was Fall Guy at the National Convention in Atlantic City. "What you must do," he smiled, "is prove you can be a good sport, that you can take it. They really ride you."

The Circus?—all the things that the child remembers, the hurdy-gurdy, the peanuts, the animals, the band. The Saints and Sinners?—a group of circus-loving and fun-loving people. Dr. Yang?—"Ah, says Dr. Yang, "I am one of the sinners."

FBLA Extends Bids To Freshmen Majors For Year Of 1959-60

The new members of the Future Business Leaders of America have been elected for this year.

They include Mary Virginia Barbour, Ellen Jean Bogan, Judith Bright, Virginia Carol Brockwell, Phyllis Carwile, Brenda Duke, Dianna Euksuzian, Patricia Anne Gaulding, Muriel Goldman, Diane Pezzella, and Caroline Phillips.

Others are Patricia Sweeney, Lana Jo Tuck, Gwendolyn Lee Watkins, and Diane Whitley.

An installation service was held for the new members in the game room October 12 after which a business meeting was held.

The officers of this organization are Christine Jones, president; Frances Norton, vice-president; Alice Jeyner, secretary; Eloise Shrieves, treasurer; Carol Barnes, reporter; Mary Thomas Owen, historian; and Sylvia Cogville, parliamentarian.

State Theatre
Farmville, Va.
WED., THURS. OCT. 21-22
Japanese Science Fiction Thriller!
"THE MYSTERIANS"
FRIDAY THRU THURSDAY
OCTOBER 23-29
The entertainment world's most wonderful entertainment!
RODGERS & HAMMERSTEIN'S SOUTH PACIFIC
COLOR by DE LUXE
Produced by BUDDY ADLER · Directed by JOSHUA LOGAN · PAUL OSBORN
SHOW TIMES
1:00 - 3:30 - 6:20 - 9:00
PRICES
ADULTS
Afternoons .75
Evenings $1.00
CHILDREN:
All Day .50

Johnson Presides At P-TA Meeting For Entire State

Dr. Edgar M. Johnson spent October 12, 13, and 14 presiding over the annual convention of the Virginia Congress of Parents and Teachers, of which he is president.

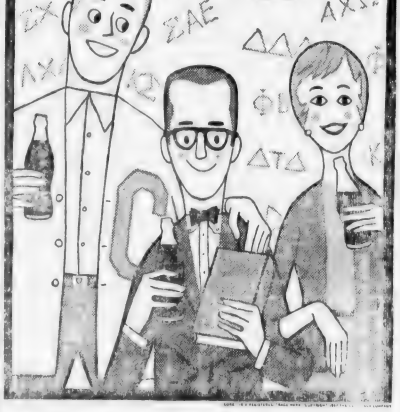
One thousand two hundred and thirty delegates attended the convention with over 400 local units represented. Over 100 cities and counties in the state were represented.

Mrs. Ralph W. Frosh, national juvenile protection chairman spoke first on "Strengthening the Home, Source of Our Nation's Greatness." Dr. Lawrence Derthick, United States commissioner of education, spoke on "Challenge of the Changing World."

Dr. Marshall Fishwick, professor of American Studies at Washington and Lee University, followed with "Changeless Things in a Changing World."

Moderator of the symposium, "Education for a Changing World," was Dr. Charles G. Caldwell, chairman of the Department of Education at Madison College.

Among the other main speakers were Dr. E. W. Rushton, superintendent of the Roanoke City Schools; Dean Martha Grafton, Mary Baldwin College; Mr. John P. Fishwick, Norfolk and Western Railway; Colonel Francis Pickens Miller; and Dr. Lewis T. Rader, General Electric Company at Waynesboro.



Ringmaster

(Continued from page 1)

night rehearsal anyone wishing to take pictures of Circus is requested to take them at this time.

Each student participating in Circus is required to pay 25 cents in its support. All other students wishing to attend mass rehearsal and everyone planning to attend Saturday night will have to purchase a ticket for 25 cents which will go on sale Wednesday night after supper. All those in the skits will have the opportunity to see all of the skits at dress rehearsal.

The complete profits made from Circus are donated to a school project.

Lambda Omega Rho
Some fraternities get athletes. Some get brains. This fraternity gets virtually everybody, including women. It has fanatically loyal members in more than 100 countries around the world. It has no pin and its only ritual is the simple act of enjoying Coca-Cola every single day of the year.
Its name? L O R—Lovers of Refreshment.
Join up today.
SIGN OF GOOD TASTE
Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by LYNCHBURG BOTTLING COMPANY

Attend
Union Vespers

The Rotunda

Read
Schlegel's Review

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va. November 4, 1959 | No. 6

Freshmen Choose Pollard For Presidential Guidance

JUDY POLLARD

Judy Pollard, a freshman business major, has assumed the responsibilities and duties as president of the class of '63.

When asked how she felt about being chosen for this honor she replied with a grin of delight as well as of humility, "I've never had such a shock in my life. I thought they must have called the wrong girl. I just didn't think anyone knew me!

"But I can say that I truly hope that I can live up to the trust that the class has shown in me. I only hope that I won't let them down."

Judy's career began in junior high school when she was elected president of the Student Government Association. At Thomas Jefferson in Richmond, she was a homeroom representative to the SCA and during her senior year she was made corresponding secretary for this organization.

She was also secretary of the Honor Council, a member of the National Honor Society, and a member of the Latin Club. She sang in the acapella choir for two years and worked in the school guidance office.

Judy taught Sunday school in the Ginter Park Methodist church and took part in the activities of her youth fellowship.

When asked if she had anything she wanted to say, she answered with much enthusiasm "I sure do! We've got a wonderful class and if we can keep up the wonderful green 'n white spirit that we have, we can really accomplish something!"

White Vice-President

Vice-president for the freshmen will be Alice White.

Alice, who comes from Suffolk, was vice-president of her SCA during her junior year and president of the same organization during her senior year. She attended Virginia Girls' State, was vice-president of Tri-Hi-Y, and president of the Tidewater District Hi-Y conference.

Fallis, Tweedy on Government

Niki Fallis and Ann Tweedy, were chosen to represent their class in the Student Government Association.

Niki, of Danville, was the vice-president of the Student Government Association during her senior year, vice-chairman of the district SCA, and she attended the SCA convention. Niki was also vice-president of the Inter-Club Council, a member of the Judiciary, a member of the Foreign Student committee, and a representative to Girls' State.

Ann, from Rustburg, was active in her SCA for two years, an officer of her freshman class, president of the Beta Club, president of the Library Club and of the student body. She also was a member of the debate team, the glee club,

(Continued on page 4)

O'Casey Play To Introduce New Talent

The Hampden-Sydney and Longwood freshman classes will bring fresh talent to productions of Sean O'Casey's play, "The Plough and the Stars," November 12, 13, and 14 in Jarman Auditorium.

Backed by acting experiences in high school plays, theatre guilds and summer stock, Mary Beth Olson as Nora Clitheroe, Neal Banks as Bessie Burgess, Elaine Lohr as Mollser, and Bill Cassidy as Peter Flynn will make their college theatre debut.

Garnett Smith will be back on the Longwood stage this year as Fluther Good. Last year Garnett was awarded the Little Oscar for his performances in "Pygmalion" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Also old hands in the acting field are John Myers, Randy Keller, Bill Kempton, and Bill Fagsdale who will play Captain Brennan, Corporal Stoddart, Lt. Langdon and the bartender, respectively, in "The Pough and the Stars."

Jack Clitheroe will be portrayed by Norton Howe, senior; Sam Tarry, junior, will play Sergeant Tinley; and Alan Stein, junior, will play the Covey. These Hampden-Sydney students are new to Longwood's stage.

Patsy Ann Scott, a junior, as Mrs. Gogan and Mary Kay Rice, a sophomore, as the Woman will complete the cast.

Production Heads

Sue Beardmore and Dibby Mohr were elected co-chairmen of the sophomore production at a class meeting Thursday, October 29.

The production is scheduled for Friday night, November 20, at 8 p.m. in Jarman Hall. Sue and Dibby will take charge of organizing the committees and deciding on a theme.

5 Students Show In Art Exhibition Touring Virginia

Eight works by students from the Longwood Art Department have been selected for exhibition throughout Virginia, along with representative art work from Madison College and Richmond Professional Institute.

The exhibition, sponsored by the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, was assembled by the art department of the Virginia Education Association.

Contributions by Longwood students included "Street Scene," a watercolor by Carole Lassiter, and another watercolor, "The Village," by Martha Clarke, a former student. Martha also entered a woodcut entitled "Pride and Joy."

Barbara Bishop has three works included in the exhibition—two oil paintings entitled "Composition in Red and Blue," numbers one and two, and "The Silent Birds," a woodcut.

A woodcut by Laverne Collier, "Solitary Flutist," and a serigraph, "Tapestry," by Lee Burnette conclude the Longwood entries in the exhibition.

The display will come to Longwood some time this year.

Botanist To Address Group Here Thursday On Trends In Science

Dr. Loren C. Petry, retired botanist from Cornell University, will speak here at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Dr. Petry will give his address in the lecture room on the first floor of the science building where he will speak on "Trends in Science." He will be at Longwood until Friday morning for those who would like to ask him questions.

The Lychnos Society, a local honorary organization for mathematics and science majors, invites the freshmen and transfer students especially interested in mathematics and science to hear Dr. Petry.

A reception will follow the lecture for those attending the lecture.

Alpha Kappa Gamma Fall Tapping Recognizes Outstanding Leaders

NEW AKG MEMBERS include (standing) Mary Linda League, Doris Kesling, Nancy Donaldson, Julia Williams, Jean Peyton and (kneeling) Ann Hardy, Mary Hite Grayson.

LC Joan Chapter Selects Seven For Achievement

In recognition of their leadership achievements during their college years, Longwood's "Joan" chapter of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary leadership fraternity, tapped seven students.

Seniors Nancy Donaldson, Doris Kesling, Mary Linda League, Jean Peyton and Julia Williams, and juniors Mary Hite Grayson and Ann Hardy were the honored seven.

Nancy Donaldson

Nancy Donaldson, a senior from Roanoke is a business education major. Here at Longwood she is business manager of the Virginian, secretary of Pi Delta Epsilon, president of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, and a newly elected member of the Student Education Association. Last year, Nancy served as president of the H2O Club, chairman of last year's Christmas water pageant, fire chief and treasurer of the junior class.

In speaking of the honor given her Nancy said, "I feel very, very humble and I hope I can live up to the standards and ideals of AKG."

Doris Kesling

Doris Kesling, a senior physical education major comes from Radford. She has been a member of the Athletic Association council for four years, the varsity hockey team for three years, the Wesley Foundation, four years, and has played on all of her class teams.

She is now treasurer of the Monogram Club, on the Y-Cabinet, and has been a member of House Council. This summer Doris worked at Camp Easter Seal and in the future plans to do some type of therapy work with handicapped children.

Upon being tapped, Doris said, "There are just no words to express my feelings. I was completely shocked and surprised and at the same time I was very humble."

Mary Linda League

Senior Mary Linda League came to Longwood from Salem to study history. While at Longwood she has been stage manager of three major plays, directed two one acts, served as chairman of May Court and secretary of Longwood Players.

At the present Mary Linda is president of Alpha Psi Omega, art editor for the Colonnade, and is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority, and the Cotillion Club.

"I am thrilled, excited, and very, very surprised. I truly hope I can meet the challenge that has been presented to me." With this Mary Linda summed up her feelings.

Jean Peyton

Jean Peyton is an elementary major from Snell. For her senior year she is serving as president of the YWCA, co-chairman of the Virginia Area YWCA, and is a newly elected member of the Student Education Association.

Jean has been active in the Baptist Student Union for four years and has served on the council for three, has been president of her class [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

Poll On Rotunda Interests Puts Social Column First

What do you turn to first when you get your copy of the Rotunda every Wednesday?

This question was asked to several students in an unofficial survey and the general trend seems vastly concerned with the latest pinnings and engagements and what girls were seen at what houses for the campus parties.

The editorials are also of great interest to many girls, as are the features. Students want to know about the happenings in the various organizations and clubs. Such news as rat week, Circus, and productions are timely topics the whole school is curious about.

The sports page drew less enthusiasm than anything else, but still there are a large number of athletic-minded lassies who wouldn't be happy unless they were up-to-date on Longwood's hockey team.

When asked what suggestions could be made to improve our student newspaper, some girls asked for more information of the "gossipy' type, while some would like to see a column inserted that would act as an exchange with other schools.

More fashions polled a high vote, as did a weekly article on wise and witty sayings.

One senior, when asked what ideas she could contribute, said, "I think the Rotunda should devote a column to the girls who are campused. It should tell why and for how long," When asked what the headline should be to announce such a column, she remarked gibley, "Who's who before student government?"

74 Upperclassmen Issued SEA Bids

Seventy-four Longwood juniors and seniors have been named new members of the Student Education Association.

All student teachers and two juniors from each department, recommended by faculty heads were asked to join.

New members are Dotty Harrison, Doris Kesling, Helen Wente, Barbara Stephenson, Ann Scott, Jo Dearing Smith, Carolyn Oliver, Ann Jenkins.

Other newcomers are Barbara Copeland, Clara Shumadine, Dixie Hilliard, Laura Cliborne, Louise Broth, Anne Lee Lillaston, Barbara Fisher, Marie Smith, Pat Marsh, Peggy Hall, Nancy Morris, Ann Lee Young, and Jane Callis.

Also, Mary Flowers, Joyce Odom, Judy Owen, Pat Lowery, Peggy Tyer, Delaura Ablertson, Joan Kidwell, Chris Wilson, Ann Ruckman, Helen Brown, Barbara Bray, Jean Creel, Mary Pem Lewis, Gladys George.

Elizabeth Elliott, Liz Fentress, Fricida Hamlet, Anna Belle Pope, Paulita Patterson, Barbara Bonner, Jean Dancy, Betty Rose Bell, Alice Josner, Judy Martin, Pat Southworth, Anita Eanes, Jean Helms, and Ann Norfleet are also new members.

Others to [illegible] Carolette Metcalf, Mary Hanes, Sandra Parker, Justine Blount, Virginia Van de Riet, Carolyn Axsom, Marie Messick, Peggy Hooper, Jo Ann Smith, Mary Anne Walker, Carole Lassiter, and Wirtley Raine.

Also Bonnie Gregg, Ann B Palmer, Alice Mundie, Beverly Lippert, Frances Grey Sparrow, Lelia Bachus, Augusta Lester, Jo Wood ers, Billie Jean Shores, Jean Gardy, Billie Jo Altizer, and Margaret Graham.

LC Library Features Exploring In Books

Libraries all over the United States are observing November 1-7 as Book Week, the purpose of which is to encourage reading.

The Longwood library will have a special display, showing the theme of this national week, "Go Exploring in Books." The display will also feature the new books added to the library.

For the students interested in the arts, there will be new books on poetry, music and art. The scientific-minded will be interested in the new books on space. The athletically - inclined will enjoy reading the new sports books.

Class Registration

The seniors registered for the spring semester November 3. Juniors will register November 10 for second semester classes.

The schedule for sophomores and freshmen has not been set up yet; they will be notified at least a week ahead of time. Mrs. Watkins, executive secretary, suggests that they start deciding now what subjects they want to take.

Schlegel Reviews Wellard's Novel

By Mrs. Dorothy B. Schlegel

"Disturbing" was the label given by a recent reviewer in the New York Herald Tribune to James Wellard's latest novel, The Affair in Arcady.

After reading this "Peyton Place of Illinois," as the publisher's blurb has termed it, one is forced to agree with the Tribune's appraisal of the book. It is disturbing, of that there is no doubt.

What, one must ask, is the reason for this effect of a novel, which, in its first pages, threatens to be little more than the usual brittle characterization of a lost generation? Why does the reader put down the book at the close with his heart filled with an overwhelming pity for the human plight?

The answer to the question lies in the fact that Clive Marshall, the author-protagonist of the book and the representative of all mankind as well, is confronted at every turn with a spectre as implacable and as chilling to the free human spirit as Death itself—the Necessity for Conformity.

What makes the human situation even more pitiable is that man, in his struggle to maintain his individual integrity, is beaten at the outset not only by those fearsome Others in his society, but by his own baser instincts as well. It is his realization of his defection from his own ideals that is the source of man's greatest despair.

The pity of the matter is that there is no cure for this tragic flaw, for not only is it inherent in the very nature of humankind, but it is, at times, even necessary, as the author suggests, to keep the race in fine fettle.

Wellard unrolls his tragedy in the town of Arcady, Illinois, named symbolically for that southern rural section of Greece, which, though it has been invested by poets with an aura of charming simplicity, was actually brutalized and de-humanized by its remoteness from the centers of thought. Arcady, Illinois, represents not only the average small town in the United States, but also the condition of man in life.

In this outwardly charming, but actually backward, community the author sets forth the plight of his three human puppets, who must cope, each on his own plane, with the mandates of his neighbors.

No matter then by what method each of these three personages attempted to solve the problem which besets all thinking humans — by violence, by evasion, or by rationalization—each one of them was, in some way, sullied by his contact with his fellows. Each idealistic free human soul had looked up, like Iphigenia on the altar at Aulis, to meet only the cold, hos-

(Continued on page 4)

Editorial Policy

Many students have asked us to explain the editorial policy of the Rotunda, so this is directed not just to those individuals but to the entire student body and administration.

The editorials may be written by a staff member or by guest writers, usually faculty or heads of campus organizations. As listed on the masthead, unsigned editorials are the thoughts of the editor. All others are signed by the contributing writer.

Opinionated columns on the feature or another page generally run under the by-line of the author who may state his opinion within the realm of good taste. Even if the name of the author is not expressed, it must be known by the [illegible] before the story can be published.

The Rotunda not only will accept but invites Letters to the Editor. It is important to the life of the college that student attitudes be thus reflected. These letters, however, must be written legibly, in good taste, and signed. As in the columns, the author's name may not be printed, but the editor must be informed of the source.

The ideas stated in these columns, letters, and editorials, belong solely to the author; they are not necessarily shared by the entire staff. We do, however, wholeheartedly believe in the writer's privilege to express in print his beliefs and will, accordingly, stand behind him.

Circus Appreciation

Only by looking at an event in retrospect can one fully see the complete picture. In this manner we review Circus 1959.

Gradually gathering momentum, Circus moved forward to a climax October 24. It is always amazing to see the results of the effort and countless hours of work going into a production revealing the true blue and white spirit. Our thanks are extended to the student body for their continuous support in this traditional "big week end" on our campus.

Playing a major role in each class' success were the producers of the framework for each skit — the class chairmen. With that "red and white" or "green and white" gleam in their eye they proudly presented their class for all to see. Our hats are off to the classes, their chairmen, and sponsors!

The audience often fails to recognize those behind-the-scene workers, the Longwood Players and their sponsor, Mr. David Wiley. Without their assistance in lighting, props, make-up, and costuming, the polished production could not have been. They, too, deserve a note of thanks.

The extravaganza took on broader outlines with the aid of the townspeople of Farmville. They deserve recognition for their innumerable contributions which added so much to the week end.

Yes, Circus 1959 is only a memory now, but it is one gradually strengthened throughout its 32 years. Thousands of people have nurtured this tradition — and future Longwood "generations" will perpetuate it.

To the years ahead. . . .

—Alpha Kappa Gamma

And Then Winter

A variegated silhouette of trees resembling a patchwork quilt against the incomparable blue backdrop of the sky.

[illegible] tree of hue indescribably brilliant, spiraling toward Heaven.

A puff of smoke on the horizon, accompanied by the aerial [illegible] leaves.

The rustle caused by two small bodies scuffling over a shabby football in a heap of drying leaves.

[illegible] one morning to catch a hoary sprinkling of frost tipping each blade of grass.

[illegible] recess in the air whose companion is a [illegible] sky.

[illegible] sensation of loss — the loss of golden October before the inevitable clutch of gray November.

And winter's reign is almost here once more.

The Rotunda

[illegible] PUBLISHED NOVEMBER 29, 1920

[illegible] weekly except during holidays and examinations [illegible] Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia, Box 168.

Editor-in-Chief

Business Manager
Managing Editor
News Editor
Feature Editor
Sports Editor
Desk Editor
Photography Editor
Art Editor
Circulation Manager
Advertising Managers
Faculty Adviser

[illegible] Virginia Associated Collegiate Press [illegible] Press Association, Rating first, plural

[illegible] Assistant [illegible] Editor, Pat Hurst, Assistant [illegible] Editor, Sandra [illegible] Chaffin, Mary Elizabeth [illegible] Editor, Joan Caldwell, Jane [illegible] Editor, Barbara Ann Agee, [illegible] Editor, Nancy Lane, Ann [illegible] Editor, Linda Hargett, Edmonia [illegible] Editor, Joan Vergnol, Elaine Bane, Bobbi [illegible]

[illegible] Manager, Kay Pierce, Assistant Manager [illegible] Manager, Peggy Lee Ferguson, Dottie Brown, [illegible] Manager, Mack Wilmot, Jane Hershberger, Nan [illegible] Manager, Barbara Ann Gale, Anne [illegible] Manager, Linda Young, Sandra Bryant, [illegible] Manager, Patricia Sweeney, Dolores [illegible] Manager, Nancy Buckingham

Assistant [illegible] Manager, Ann Smith, Beverly Gaskins, Nancy [illegible], Mary Simmons, Vincet Flowers, [illegible], Nancy Bumgardner

[illegible] Office at Farmville, Virginia, under [illegible] regional advertising by the [illegible] of the Intercollegiate Bureau.

Richmond Area To Present Season Of Entertainment

"Travel and Adventure," a series of motion pictures and narrations will be presented at the Mosque from November through April. The series, sponsored by the Kiwanis, will include pictorial visits to Scotland, Rumania, the Philippines, Greece, Antarctica and Italy.

"Scotland" will be shown November 12 and 13; "Rumania" December 10 and 11; and "The Philippines" January 14 and 15. "Probing Antarctica," "Greece and the Aegean Islands," and "Italy: Tale of Ten Cities," will be presented in February, March, and April, respectively. Season's tickets for the series are available.

"The World of Carl Sandburg," a play based on selections from the poet's published and unpublished works, will be presented at the Mosque November 4. Starring Bette Davis and Gary Merrill, the play is one of the many recent attempts to honor and emphasize Sandburg's influence.

The Alfred Deller Trip, an English group noted for their use of 17th and 18th century instruments, presented a concert program Friday, October 30 at 8:30 p.m. at the Virginia Museum Theater. Selection included works by composers Froberger and Robinson, several English folk songs, and lute accompaniments to excerpts from Shakespeare.

The Virginia Museum Theater will also present a series of lectures by Dr. John White, music critic for the Times Dispatch, during November, January, February, and April. Information about the lectures may be obtained from the museum box office.

Several plays have been scheduled for the month of November. William Inge's Broadway hit, "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," will star Joan Blondell at the WRVA Theater November 13.

"Where's Charley?" presented by the Barksdale Theater, will extend its scheduled performances until November 14. This musical comedy opened in September and has played to nearly 3,000 persons.

"Guys and Dolls," Runyon's celebrated comedy, will open November 6 at the Renaissance Theater.

Skill, talent, and energy are generously combined in the season's entertainment offered in Richmond.

Ballet Furnishes Diverting Evening

By Barbara Chaffin

Richmond, October 31 — The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo selected some of their more colorful ballets to perform this evening. These were somewhat in keeping with the festive air created by the date October 31 — Hallowe'en — noted the various students attending the ballet from Longwood.

Members of the audience who had never seen a truly classical ballet found their opportunity as the curtain rose on Variations Classiques. Precision technique characterized this ballet. Movements were subdued and traditionally classic.

The second and longest ballet included in the repertoire was Harlequinade. This ballet told the story of happenings on a New Year's Eve in Venice.

Harlequinade is a lively ballet, colorfully costumed, and quite active. While this ballet was not particularly in keeping with Hallowe'en celebrations, its spirit did contribute a festive air. Prima Ballerina, Nina Novak, danced the leading role.

The Grande Pas de Deux from Don Quixote followed and was a delightful bit of classical ballet brightened by its Spanish origin.

This ballet was danced by Nathalie Krassovska and George Zoritch. The former dances in the Ballet Russe as one of the outstanding ballerinas and Mr. Zoritch dances in the capacity of Premier Danseur of the company.

The ensemble rendered a series of Slavonic Dances as a final number for the evening. These dances were Polish, Russian, and Ukranian folk dances. The dancers were attired in costumes of the native countries represented.

The repertoire for the evening was most timely, and the dances were executed with the usual skilled and perfected performance peculiar to the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

Library's New Books By Familiar Authors Include Latest Fiction

Never judge a book by its movie! This could easily be the motto of the Longwood College Library.

Since school has started many new and interesting books have been added to the shelves. In the way of novels, "Seek the Fair Land" by Walter Macken, "The Town House" by Norah Lofts and "The Cave" by Robert Warren are new. "Celia Garth" by Gwen Bristan, and "Love and Money" by Noel Clad have proven popular among students.

"Mrs. Arris Goes to Paris" by Paul Gallico and "Love in the Mist" by Rosalie Backard are also in much demand.

Donning the nonfiction shelves for the first time are "Dead Sea Scrolls" by John Allegro, "King of Ponleue" by Alfred Dugger, "The Conquest of the Antarctic" by Norman Kemp, "Theatre USA" by Barnard Hewitt, "What We Must Know About Communism" by Harry and Bonardo, and "Art Appreciation Made Simple" by John Sedgwick, Jr.

These books cover all fields and are quite educational. Remember—Books are friends; that's why people never cut them!!

Socially Speaking

Formals, Frat Parties Provide Study Relief

By Sandie Farish

The beautiful diamond everyone is admiring on the left hand of Mary Ann Hamner was presented her by Waverly Copely, a graduate of Randolph-Macon.

Freshman Scherri Gates has been displaying a diamond from Jimmy Wade of Richmond acquired October 24. Congratulations!

The same goes to Zee Tapp, who is sporting the gorgeous West Point pin of Cadet Dart Andrews, a second classman at the United States Military Academy.

Tech Formals

Fall Formals was the big event of the week end, held at VPI. Traveling to Blacksburg for a glorious time with their special cadets were Rosemary Henry, Linda Dennis, Helen Taylor, Marion Elliot, Dona Marquette, Dottie Nelson, Kitty Reid, Lee Burnette, Charlotte Baugher, Susan Johnson, Lucy Trotter, Carolyn Elliot, and Mary Ruth Flowers.

Also seen there were Linda Kay Hartman, Archer Cassada, Carol Boley, Nancy Cole, Rita St. John, Marianne Zimmerman, Kathy Wallace, Sally Thomas, Jo Ann Garner, Rita Cleveland, Diane Daughty, Carole Lassiter, Jackie Poole, Barbara Stephenson, and Patricia Sweeney.

Marie Fisher recently saw that special man in her life at the Ohio State football game and parties held in Columbus, Ohio. Fun . . . yes! ! !

NC Campuses

North Carolina seemed to hold a magnetic attraction over our college girls, as many were drawn to various Carolina campuses for big week ends. Nedlee Chapman and Betsy Hurt were entertained at Davidson; Wake Forest welcomed Judy Smith, Jackie Boggs; and Duke received Ann Hardy.

Seen at North Carolina State were Anne Balderson, Judith Beckner, Carolyn Rancorn, and Sue Sharpe. Having a grand time at UNC was Sandra Bryant, and equally 'living it up' was Marion Meyer, who traveled farther north to be made welcome at George Washington.

Back in Virginia, we found Frances Norment at Lynchburg College, Lena Kay and Joan King at the University of Richmond, Mary Kay Rice at U.Va., and Ann Ruckman at Randolph-Macon. At the Hampden-Sydney - Washington and Lee game in Petersburg were Frankie Click, Frances Harvey, and Kitty Good.

Lambda Chi

At Hampden-Sydney, the Lambda Chi's entertained Friday night with a combo party. The music was supplied by Buck Dodson and other members of the "inspired rhythm makers"! Having a grand time were Susan Rust, Frances Harvey, Emmy Lu Critcher, Barbara Rossiter, Beverly Gaskins, Betty Chappell, Becky Brehm, Donna Frantzen, Brenda Smith, Mary Warren, Judy Purcell, Nancy Hood, Rosa Pettit, Lynne Davenport, Lena Kay, and Ginger Culpepper.

MALE MINORITY—Charles McClung, Guy Matthews, Dr. Marvin Schlegal, adviser; Sonny Bailey and (standing) David McKinney, Bill Pleasants, Frank Watson discuss their Longwood status.

Longwood Male Enrollment Feels Left Out On Campus

By Jane Stegall

At Longwood this year we have a total of eight men students. I guess all of us wonder at one time or another just why a boy would choose to come to Longwood College. So . . . I, being my bold self, proceeded to find out.

When I approached Ronald Gray Lawhourne with this question, his answer was that it was convenient and also economical. Longwood offered him as good a curriculum as any other college on its level in the South, and also fulfilled his interests. (They being girls as well as books!)

Feels Outnumbered

His only argument against us was the shortage of men students now enrolled. Sometimes, he pointed out, he felt outnumbered and almost afraid to speak up in class for when he did so, 40 eyes all stared at him.

The men students get no recognition and almost never participate in college activities. Ronald felt this was bad regardless of the number of boys enrolled. He said that in the future, if Longwood was to keep par with other colleges, it would have to admit more men and sooner or later build dormitories to accommodate them.

When I asked Ronald about the men's student government, he was sort of "in the dark" concerning its function. So . . . I approached Dr. Marvin Schlegel, their adviser. Dr. Schlegel pointed out that the constitution of this government was drawn up at a time when enrollment was expected to increase. That was about ten years ago and there were about thirty boys here.

Enrollment Decreases

Many events have taken place since then, due to action by the legislature. They were afraid to permit enrollment because dormitories would have to be built and this would prove too expensive. Hence, enrollment has gradually continued to decrease.

In the summer Dr. Schlegel feels there is a much more sensible system in operation concerning the governing of our men. Since there is a greater percentage of men enrolled, they have a seat in our government. During the winter, however, Dr. Schlegel described their separate student government as a "farce."

In the future, he hopes to see something more worthwhile and beneficial worked out for the boys. Meanwhile . . . we stay segregated.

Color Cup Rivalry Typifies True Spirit Of Longwood

By Mary Byrd Micou

Every day girls enter the Home Office in Ruffner Hall to meet Bill, to say hello to Uncle Joseph who is passing through Farmville, or to pick up an unexpected special delivery letter.

Of the hundreds of students who walk in and out of this center of social activity, many do not notice a small symbol of the Longwood spirit which has stood on the mantel in the Home Office for 40 years.

It is a symbol which materially takes up very little space, but which has a very big place in the heart of every true Red and White and Green and White. That symbol is the color cup.

Publications Mention

Although the dates engraved on the trophy begin with the year 1945, there is mention of the color cup as early as a 1920 issue of the Rotunda. The 1935 Virginian gives the classes winning the cup as far back as 1927.

The color cup was presented to Longwood by the Athletic Association, which has been in existence almost as long as the college itself, to promote interest in athletic activities.

According to Miss Olive Iler, head of the Physical Education Department, at one time points were awarded to the classes having members on the varsity teams. This practice has been altered, and point awards are now based strictly on class contests.

The color cup, however, is more than a trophy awarded to the class winning the most games of hockey, softball, volleyball and basketball.

It represents the intangible something that impels girls to postpone studies, break dates, and cram their schedules in order to make up those eight practices so their class can win the color cup.

Source of Value

Why does the color cup excite so much enthusiasm? It cannot be because "everyone else is doing it."

Certainly there must be a more compelling motivation than this to keep Longwood students for 40 years working for color cup points, though class competition is an exciting and enjoyable outlet. It cannot be for personal gain—recognition goes only to the winning class as a group.

Then are we silly college girls playing over some scraps of ribbon tied on a silver cup? We do not think so.

That silver cup contains the real spirit of Longwood College, the spirit which makes the college girls work for the good of class and college with no promise of personal reward.

The color cup—like Circus, May Day, the Rotunda and the Joan statues—is truly a material symbol of Longwood's spirit.

Church News

YWCA

The YWCA will hold its annual Campus Chest Drive the week of November 9-14. The goal this year is $200. The money is given to the cancer fund, the heart fund, muscular dystrophy fund, and other like organizations.

Plans are being made for Religious Emphasis Week, which will be held in February. Dr. John W. Myers of Roanoke, pastor of Greene Memorial Methodist church, will be the guest minister. He is father of sophomore Sally Myers.

Morning Watch is held every Thursday morning at 7:45 a.m. in the Episcopal Church.

Baptist

There will be a group discussion of the book of Phillipians November 4 at 7 p.m. at the BSU Center.

BSU members attended the State BSU Convention in Bristol last week end. The theme of the Convention was "Toward Maturity in Christ."

Sunday School classes are held at the BSU Center each Sunday from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m.

Methodist

Union Vespers will be held at the Episcopal church November 8 at 7 p.m. All students are invited to attend.

A large crowd attended the Hallowe'en party in the Center last Friday night.

Your Authorized
NEBBISH DEALER
LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP
Across From
Jarman Auditorium

ATTENTION!!
With this coupon, one
Free Coke.
November 4-5 Only
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

H2O Pageant Heads

Carol Mathews, with Bonnie Keys as her assistant, will head the annual Christmas water pageant sponsored by the H2O Club.

Tryouts are taking place this week at 7 p.m. in the pool for the December 10 and 11 production. The numbers in which people will swim will be posted at a later date on the wires. Rehersals will start in several weeks.

Campus News

Radford

Larry Elgart and his orchestra, "the first choice of dancing America," will play for the fall dance, sponsored annually by the Radford College German Club, November 21.

Mary Washington

At Mary Washington ten campus honoraries tapped new members at a student body meeting. Membership requirements for the honoraries are a B average in the major field, and an all over C average plus a certain number of hours completed in the major field. Each department has at least one honorary for which majors are eligible.

RPI

Two temporary changes have been made in the office of the dean of students at RPI. Mr. William R. O'Connell, Jr., has been named acting dean of students and Mrs. Jane B. Gladding will serve on part-time basis as dean of women.

The Dairy of Anne Frank was the first one-act production given by the Little Theater at RPI.

Virginia Intermont

Enrollment at Virginia Intermont includes girls from 24 states and five countries, Florida, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania are the states with the largest number of girls represented.

W & L

The Openings Dance issue of the Southern Collegian was banned from publication by the Student Publications Board of W and L. Due to certain off-color elements, the magazine, already printed and ready for distribution, was delayed indefinitely. Editor Jerry Susskind indicated that he will delete the objectionable portions of the magazine, but keep the rest of the book intact and attempt to come out with the issue by Homecoming week end.

The 1500 copies of the magazine which had already been printed were destroyed.

Hockey Practices Required To Play For Class Games

Nearing the Thanksgiving season, practices for class hockey games are underway.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors must have eight practices to qualify for the team; freshmen, only four. Practices are at 3 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays, and at 4 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

No varsity hockey team members are eligible for the class team. Co-chairmen for class hockey are sophomores Lois Peters and Jo Savage.

During the week of November 16, the Circus spirit is reborn with the green and whites and red and whites vieing for the coveted Color Cup. Each class will play its sister class first and then the other classes.

The freshmen - sophomore bout will be last on the schedule.

Co-chairman Jo Savage, commenting on the class teams, says, "I hope everyone will come out and support her class team so that we can have some good hockey games."

Timely Topics

Castro Flings Accusations At US Over Illegal Flights

In the hemisphere: Shaken by two major defections since his revolutionary party took over Cuba, Castro has come flying back with a host of accusations flung at the U. S. Government. Crux of his message: the United States is allowing illegal flights to Cuba to originate in Florida.

Cause of the furor: Ex - Hero Major Pedro Diaz Lanz who has assaulted Havana with a barrage of anti-Castor pamphlets, an action which moved the irate Premier to another marathon four-hour bombastical TV address. "Genocide," he raved, "against our women and children. We give the U. S. a naval base in our country, and they give war criminals bases to bombard us."

Although U. S. legal minds are looking for ways of arresting Lanz, so far he has broken no laws.

A hurricane, pushing across the small fishing resort of Manzanillo in Mexico's state of Colima, just a bare 100 miles north of famed Acapulco, plowed inland over small villages and towns, killing and maiming hundreds and stacking up damage in the millions. Relief efforts are handicapped by the inaccessibility of the terrain, except by air, and heavy flood waters that make air-drops of supplies perilous and sometimes wasteful. It is Mexico's worst disaster since the Mexico City earthquake in August, 1957.

In the nation: In line with the television industry's new policy, everyone is now making a clean breast of everything, even programs like Person to Person and Jack Parr. All those that might be suspected of shady dealings have been suspended by the network.

Only 13 quiz-panel-contest shows survive out of the melee, and if they, like all the rest, are dropped, the total loss in sponsors' fees will soar to a bank-breaking $80 million.

The height of the scandal came when Congressional blood hounds finally scented Van Doren out of his hole, to disclose the unsavory fact that the hero-wizard is himself sullied with corruption. If nothing before had killed the shows, that was a thrust to the gullible American heart.

In the world: French President Charles de Gaulle indicated last week that he thinks spring is a much better season of the year for summit conferences.

The suggested date, December 19, for a Western consultation still stands. Both President Eisenhower and Britain's Macmillan are expected to fly to Paris in mid-December to discuss problems to be taken up in the top-level meetings in the spring.

GET YOUR COPY!!
Dr. James Wellard's
"The Affair in Arcady"
$3.75
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
Phone EX 2-4027

Grayson, Brantley, Southworth Make Hockey Tournament Teams

Mary Hite Grayson and Barbara Brantley made the Tidewater first hockey team, and Pat Southworth was chosen for alternate on the second team at the Tidewater Tournament.

The Richmond Club served as hostesses for the tournament which was played at Westhampton College in Richmond October 30-31. All college and club teams in the Tidewater district were invited to play in this tournament.

Team Wins, Ties

The Longwood team beat William and Mary Friday, October 30.

Saturday morning, in the pouring rain, Longwood played the Little Colonels" and the game ended in a the season defeated Longwood 3-2. As one of the Longwood players commented, "the team seemed determined to prove that we could come up again against the Little Colonels" and the game ended in a 2-2 tie.

Barbara and Mary Hite will play in the Southeast Tournament November 14 at Hollins College. Those players chosen at the Southeast Tournament will go on to play in the national tournament later in November.

Barbara, a junior physical education major from Suffolk, made the second team last year at the tournament. "I wish everyone from the Longwood team would have made it," was one of Barbara's comments.

She added, "I never expected to be on the first team. I felt it remarkable for Mary Hite and me to make the first team because only five players selected were not coaches."

Mary Hite, who is a junior physical education major from Radford, counts this the second year she has made the first team. She stated, "Barbara, Pat, and I hope to represent Longwood the best we can. I was happy over being selected for the first team, and I am looking forward to playing in the Southeast Tournament."

Pat has been playing in Tidewater Tournaments since her high school days, having been selected for the second team for the past two years. Last year Pat served as captain of the team.

Another person from Longwood participating in the tournament was Miss Elizabeth Burger, who has been active in hockey. She was chosen last year to serve on the selection committee at the '59 tournament where she served as chairman.

Fifteen Attend

Fifteen members of the Longwood team attended the tournament. They were Mate Fadley, Claudia Whipple, Doris Kesling, Barbara Brantley, Carolyn Thorpe, Pat Southworth, Mary Hite Grayson, and Faye Ripley.

Also Virginia Parker, Clara Lee Parker, Jo Savage, Trina Childress, Florence Barnard, Lindy Hatch, and Lefty Snyder.

TIDEWATER TEAM MEMBERS. Pat Southworth, Mary Hite Grayson, Barbara Brantley sign in Saturday after their Richmond hockey trip.

Tech Rallies Over Spiders With Pugh's Touchdowns

By Marjorie Freese

Virginia Tech defeated the Richmond Spiders 51-29. But it was not as big a slaughter as it seemed. Tech was hard pressed during the whole game. Several times the Spiders held the leading score over the Gobblers. But each time the Gobblers seemed to rally and reverse the score standing. The Tech hero of the game was Alger Pugh who scored three touchdowns.

Hampden-Sydney won over W&L by a score of 12-0. Both teams were at a disadvantage because of ankle-deep mud on the field. The promising young freshman, Lewis Everette, proved that he was all the coach was hoping for in the backfield. The game gave Hampden-Sydney a rating of 4 and 2, while W&L's standing is 2-2-2.

Virginia as yet has not broken its losing streak. This game against Wake Forest made the seventh straight game that they have lost.

The ACC rating for the Deacons is 3-1 while it was the second ACC defeat for the Cavaliers. The Deacons scored five touchdowns to make the score against Virginia 34-12.

The Citadel gave William and Mary a trouncing, outscoring them 38-13. The Citadel now stands in the top drawer of the Southern Conference with a 4-0 league standing. They have a 6-1 overall record. The principal attraction of the game was the pass thrown by Paul McGuire, the first that he has ever thrown in his four-year varsity career.

Maryland was defeated with a 22-6 victory by South Carolina in a ACC game. Maryland, who started the season with a bang, seems to have blown itself out. South Carolina scored in the first and last quarters, whereas Maryland scored only in the last.

LC Team Upsets Hollins Opponents

In a two-game hockey bout here October 27, Longwood faced a long-driving Hollins team.

Longwood came through and won both games 1-0 and 2-0 in what were considered by many to be the best games of the season.

On the starting line-up for Longwood were Mate Fadely, Winnie Egolf, Barbara Brantley, Lindy Hatch, Jean O'Connell, Mary Hite Grayson, Morag Nocher, Jeanette Talbott, Pat Southworth, Annie B. Palmer, and Virginia Parker.

The Longwood team had been forewarned of a formidable opponent. Playing for the Hollins team was a center chosen to represent the Southeastern District at Nationals. A similar honor was received by Lou Hear, a Longwood graduate, last year.

Union Vespers will be held Sunday, November 8, at the Episcopal church. The Hampden-Sydney Religious Emphasis Week speaker will address the combined church groups.

Trumpeter Ferguson Features 'New Sound' For Collegiate Dances

Young people today, particularly college-age crowds, want a sound with which they can find a personal identification.

This is the view of Maynard Ferguson, the gifted young trumpeter and bandleader who is so hot with college dancers these days.

Ferguson thinks it is a serious error to try to recapture the sounds of the "swing era."

Ferguson, who has an enormous sense of responsibility toward the young audiences for which he plays — particularly insofar as he is looked on as representative of jazz— told Down Beat:

"Kids today rebel against the tunes and the styles of music their parents liked. You have to give them something they can feel belongs to them.

"If the disc jockey had promoted Monk's recording of 'Round About Midnight' as something brand new, and let the kids discover it for themselves, it could have set as big a musical fashion as rock and roll."

Ferguson, who is featured on the cover of the October 1 Down Beat, added, "I try to keep that in mind when I'm playing for young college crowds."

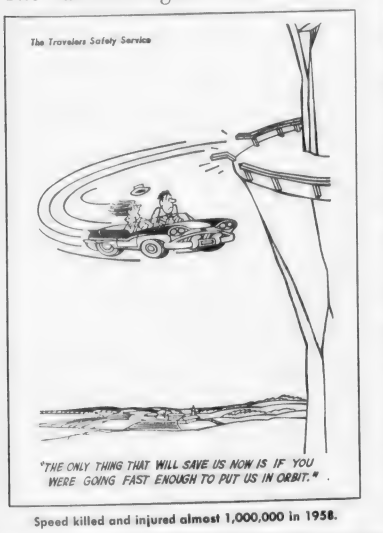
—Copyright 1959 Down Beat Magazine

SCARAB BRACELETS
$2.20 each
GOLD FILLED
$12.65
MARTIN, The Jeweler
Farmville, Va.

Glamourama

By IDA SOUTHALL

NICE NAILS . . .



Can be yours at less cost at a Old nail polish should be removed with an oily polish remover. File nails from tips to center, with an emery board. Use a nail brush when washing hands. Push cuticles back and if necessary, use cuticle remover. Warm hands before and you are ready for the nail polish.

Nice long nails or short if you choose the color wisely. To make sure the color you want goes well with your coloring, seek the advice of a color stylist. Make your appointment at Vanity Beauty Shop Farmville, Dial LN 2-4160.

OPEN WEDNESDAYS

For the smartest linen see the S & S Couture lines pictured. A few coordinated ensembles will see the difference.

The Luckless Legion by Irwin Caplan

Speed killed and injured almost 1,000,000 in 1958.

Student Poll Indicates Periodical Preference

By Judy Detrich

Magazines come in all sizes, at all prices, and to suit all tastes.

A poll of favorite magazines in the dorms at Longwood would range from "Harper's" to "True Romance" and "Modern Confessions."

It seems that many people use magazines as a diversion from weighty thoughts. "Redbook," "McCalls," and "The Saturday Evening Post" top the list for those who like—quote—nice little love stories that end well.

Several magazines offer a chance to keep up with world news. Nancy Lechler thoughtfully commented that she reads "Life" because it is an interesting way of keeping up with the news. For the same reason many girls subscribe to "Time" or "Newsweek."

Create Impression

Magazines, too, are useful for creating impressions. Hear Jean Underwood: "Well, if Mr. Helms asks me, I'd say I love 'Newsweek' or if Mrs. Gee asks, I guess I'd say 'Better Homes and Gardens,' but if my friends ask me, I'd say 'Playboy.'"

"Playboy" is the favorite of lots of people. One third floor Student girl, who wishes to remain anonymous, is mildly enthusiastic about it, too. "I see it every month," she says vehemently. "for the Jules Feiffer cartoons, of course. I love Jules Feiffer cartoons." . . . Of course.

Quite naturally fashion magazines do a big business around here. The big four, "Seventeen," "Mademoiselle," "Vogue," and "Bazaar," are handled by wistful girls until the pages literally crumble when touched.

No Time To Read

Then there are those who have no time for magazines. Virginia Kemp voices their sentiments, "I get 'Mademoiselle.' I get it, but I don't read it. All I ever have time to do is look at the pictures."

If there are many movie magazine fans here, they are amazingly silent; not a one has yelled for equal space in this article.

No poll would be very respectable without mention of "The New Yorker" and "The Atlantic Monthly." Both of these are read with interest by a loyal minority.

"Motive," a Methodist student publication, rates favorably because of its contemporary and open-minded articles and features pertaining not only to religion, but also to music, books, and art.

There are also students who subscribe to trade magazines. Among these is editor and author, Judy Harris. Judy includes "The Writer's Digest" and "The Writer" among her list of magazines. However, the magazine to which she devotes most time and thought is a local one, the Colonnade.

Roanoke Beckons Student Teachers For Nine Weeks

The following girls will leave November 16 for a nine week period of student teaching in Roanoke:

Jean Dettmer, Mary Hankins, Mate Parish, Constance Whipple, Anne Clarke, Peggy Douglas, Beverly Gaskins, Penelope Jones, Sylvia Roper, Ann Scott, Nell Ward, Ruth Marie Starr.

Also, Carolyn Axsom, Pat Cleveland, Caroline Mosby, Mary Linda League, Frances Harvey, Pat Lowery, Anne Poole, Peggy Barbara Fernstrom, Betty Lightfoot, Sandra Parker, Mary Lee Jones, Virginia McClanahan, Connie Ann Miller, Norma Rountree, Linda J. Saunders, and Anne Tinnin.

Three girls will do their student teaching in Martinsville Monday through Friday, November 16 to 20, are Brenda Dunn, Barbara Rossiter, Frances Grace Van Mason, Ann Smith, Joyce Spencer, Chris Wilson, Bessie Weaver, Sandra Johnson, Ann Rountree, Jane Oakley, Nancy Mills, and Patricia Marsh.

Many girls have completed their student teaching and will return to class [illegible] two days [illegible] will continue their student teaching.

Others include Lindy Landstown, Carolyn Thorpe, Bobbie Caples, Judy Tucker, Judie Welch, Gerry Edmunds, Suzanne Grammar, Frances Norment, Marion Elliott, Carletta Wisecarver, Jerry Rakes, Sandie Barnish and Peggy Jean Hall.

Cotillion Club Extends 50 Bids To Fall 'Goats'

Cotillion Club bids were recently issued to 50 upperclassmen. Those accepting bids will become fall goats, and they are as follows:

Jean Peyton, Pat Shelton, Shirley Day, Ann Durham, Norma Routt, Laura Butler, Jackie Poole, Diana Snow, Joan Creel, Nancy Mills, Marie Messick, Nancy Branscomb, Joan Verlander, Sue O'Hara, Margie Freese and Claudia Wilson.

Also, Linda Forrest, Rita St. John, Ellen Grady, Julia Williams, Neil Ward, Shirley Harmon, Jean Underwood, Mary Lee Warriner, Audrey Gill, Anita Eanes, Judy Harris, Linda Poff, Pat Foster, Ellen Powell, Betsy Wilson, Virginia Parker, Ann Ransom, Sally Thomas, Bunny Vernon, Sally Pleasant and Leo Pagenhardt.

Newspaper Staff Adds 21 Freshmen, 21 Upperclassmen

The Rotunda staff has 42 new staff members this year. Twenty-one freshmen and one transfer have joined the staff. The other 22 are upperclassmen.

The news department received the following reporters: Ann Agee, Betty Jane Allgood, Elaine Bane, Neal Banks, Ellie Bogan, Sandy Bryant, Barbara Chaffin, Betty Rice Dawson, and Barbara Dunnavant.

Also new are Liz Eller, Carolyn Elliott, Judy Gale, Bobbi Goodman, Kay Hubbard, Shelvy Kerr, Joan Kidwell, Susan Lane, Edmonia Leech, Jane Martin, Ross Pettit, Lillie Rogers, and Gaynor Vanland, ingham.

New additions to the circulation staff are Delores Antoine, Dottie Brown, Helen Brown, Tinsley Crump, Jean Gates, Mary Rob Harris, Ann Smith, Sue Spicer, Pat Stout, Patricia Sweeney, Janet Wainwright, and Marie Waller.

The advertising department has Joyce Books, Betsy Croswell, Diane Doughty, Susan Eddy, Violet Flowers, Ann Green, Mary Renolds and Sylvia Roper as new assistants.

Freshmen

(Continued from page 1)

and the Tri-Hi-Y.

Clark Secretary

Paula Clark, a business major from Charlottesville, is secretary.

During high school Paula was vice-president of her junior class and secretary of the senior class. She was a member of the Student Council and Girl's Athletic Association. Paula was a cheerleader for five years and the recipient of the Citizenship Award. In her senior year, Paula also served as an assistant secretary of Lane High School.

Treasurer Parker

Linda Parker from Norfolk was elected treasurer.

At Granby High School her activities included three years of cheerleading, membership in the Y-teens, Tri-Hi-Y, Keydette Club, House of Representatives, and the drill team. Other organizations of which she was a member include Nonuette, a singing group, Madrigal Singers and Senior Chorus.

Exchange Papers

Longwood receives exchange papers each week from various colleges. These papers are kept in the Library Reference Room, so students may catch up on college news.

The Rotunda is sent in exchange each week to the following colleges:

Hampden-Sydney, VMI, VPI, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, University of Richmond, Bridgewater, RPI, Randolph-Macon Men's College, Roanoke, Lynchburg, Mary Baldwin, Radford, Madison, Sweetbriar, Hollins, Bluefield, and Pikesville College in Kentucky. There are also papers from several Virginia high schools.

Any student wishing to exchange papers with colleges other than those listed, may contact Nancy Lee Cole.

NEA Enters TV With Film Series

The National Education Association, in company with 50 affiliated state education associations, has entered the television field with a new 13-week series of half-hour films entitled "The School Story."

According to William G. Carr, executive secretary of NEA, this expansion of the Association's public service television programming marks the first time that a national non-commercial television series has been "built around the problems, aims, and achievements of education in this country."

"The School Story" will be available to television stations in 261 major TV markets during the 1959-60 school year. Viewers of the series will see many important issues in education explored — from how first-graders learn reading skills to the curriculum program of a comprehensive high school to the missile laboratories of a great university.

Each affiliated state education association will handle bookings on TV stations in its state. It is anticipated that most stations will book "The School Story" once a week for 13 weeks during the school year.

Campus Paintings Include Varied Watercolors, Oils

By Edmonia Leech

A number of paintings by Virginia artists are displayed in various buildings on campus.

These paintings, which include both watercolors and oils, have been presented to the college by the alumnae; obtained through the fund for the purchase of paintings by Virginia Artists which depends upon support from student organizations, alumnae, and friends; loaned to the college by faculty members; or placed in the college on long-term loan by the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

Alumna Paints Oils

Among these is a group of 12 oil portraits painted by a Longwood alumna, Julia B. Mahood. The majority of the paintings in this group are in the Reference and Reserve Book Rooms of the library.

The group consists of portraits of outstanding professors, heads of departments, alumnae officers, and college officials of the period from about 1900 to 1945. One of the most outstanding of these is the portrait of Dr. Dabney Stewart Lancaster, the fifth president of Longwood College. This painting hangs in the Rotunda.

All of the portraits by Julia Mahood were presented to the college by the alumnae or by friends of the college.

Of the oil landscapes, those found in the Rotunda and the lounge of Student Building are probably the best.

Of particular note is "Blue Ridge Farm," by Horace Day. This landscape, which shows lovely contrasts and complements in greens and golden yellows, hangs to the left of the stairs in the Rotunda.

One of the most striking oil landscapes on exhibit is the study of a city in mist, which is hanging in the Browsing Room of the library. The painting has a three-dimensional effect brought about by the use of sharply contrasting lines rising out of muted blue-white areas and brilliantly colored geometrical shapes.

Watercolors Exhibited

There are a variety of watercolors being exhibited, most of them landscapes. In the Rotunda is an opaque water color, "Rocky Fields," by Elizabeth Nottingham (Mrs. Horace Day).

"Confederate Monument," and "Johns Memorial Church," by Vann Blackwood, a former resident of Farmville, are on exhibit on the ground floor of the library.

Other watercolors by Virginia artists may be seen in the faculty women's lounge, and in the office of the dean of women.

LONGWOOD JEWELERS

where

all college jewelry may be selected.

Charge accounts to everyone!

TOP TEN RECORDS

1. Primrose Lane
2. Don't You Know
3. Put Your Head On My Shoulder
4. In the Mood
5. Lonely Street
6. Mack the Knife
7. I'll Be Seeing You
8. Willy, Quit Your Playing
9. Unforgettable
10. Teen Beat

WILSON'S HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

Alpha Kappa Gamma Taps

(Continued from page 1)

Circus representative her freshman year and a member of the Freshman Commission. She is also a member of Student Government Association and Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority.

In reaction to her being tapped, Jean said, "I am very, very happy and surprised, and most grateful for this opportunity for service."

Julia Williams

The final senior to be tapped is Julia Williams, an elementary major from Louisa. She is editor of the Student Handbook, assistant editor of the Virginian, vice-president of House Council, and president of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority.

Julia is also a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, Kappa Delta Pi, Cotillion Club, and a newly elected member of the Student Education Association.

When asked how she felt about being tapped into Alpha Kappa Gamma, Julia said, "I feel surprise, pride, and honor. It isn't very often in life that we are singled out; therefore, I feel these things very deeply.'

Mary Hite Grayson

Mary Hite Grayson, a physical education major from Radford, and a junior here at Longwood had this to say when asked how she felt. "It was such a thrilling surprise! However, I realize the challenge in receiving such an honor and only hope that I will be able to foster the high ideals of AKG as others before me have done."

Active in sports, Mary Hite has played varsity hockey three years, varsity tennis, basketball, and all class sports.

She is currently serving as secretary of the Athletic Association, secretary of H2O Club, is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, Cotillion Club, Panhellenic Council, and has recently received a bid to Student Education Association. Circus activities this year kept her busy as she served as junior co-chairman, and ringmaster.

Ann Hardy

Another junior and an elementary major from Richmond is Ann Hardy. Ann is a Student Government representative, serves on the Y-Cabinet, and is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority and Cotillion Club.

In the past Ann served as president of both her freshman and sophomore class, and was on the Freshman Commission.

Ann felt that "There are so many things that I feel, but just can't put into words. Everything I can think of just seems so inadequate. I will say that I appreciate the challenge that it presents, and will certainly try my best to meet it."

State College Choir Meets In Richmond

The All-State College Choir met in Richmond Thursday and Friday, October 29 and 30. Rehearsals were held on three days and ended with a performance at the Mosque on Friday night for the delegates of the VEA Convention.

The delegates for All-State Choir from Longwood were Jean Helms, Nancy Evans, Jean Dancy, Wendy Warren, Maddie McNeil, Melissa Rowe, Nancy Kelly, and DeAnne Hogge.

Mr. Sterling Adams of the Music Department accompanied the choir.

Humanities Meeting To Draw Moss Nov. 7

Dr. D. G. Gordon Moss, associate dean at Longwood, will attend the Virginia Humanities Conference at Virginia Military Institute November 7.

The general topic of the meeting is "The Meaning and Purpose of the Humanities in Virginia Colleges and Universities." Various group discussions and a luncheon will also be included in the program.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Dr. Moss will attend the Homecoming game of his alma mater, Washington and Lee University.

Novel Review

(Continued from page 1)

tile, steel-blue stares of the correct people, the pillars of society.

It is this bitter realization of the compromises and evasions of the average weak individual, when confronted with the demands imposed by society and by his own animal needs, that render the book disquieting to the reader and the human situation infinitely pathetic to all thinking men.

(Editor's Note: The above article consists of excerpts from a review by Mrs. Dorothy Schegel, associate professor of English at Longwood.)

Compliments of a Friend

They kept warning me this would happen if I didn't think of some super way to describe that absolutely unique good taste of Coca-Cola. So who's a Shakespeare? So no ad . . . that's bad! But, there's always Coke . . . and that's good!

Drink Coca-Cola

SIGN OF GOOD TASTE

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Contribute To Campus Chest

The Rotunda

Attend The Fall Three-Act

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., November 11, 1959 | No. 7

Clements To Edit College Handbook For Coming Year

Students Elect Howell To House Council Post

Sandra Clements will serve as editor of the student Handbook for the coming year. "I'm very flattered that I should receive such a post, and I hope that I can do as good a job as Julia did. If the student body cooperates as much as they have in the past, I'm sure that my job will not be too difficult."

House Council Treasurer

Ann Howell was elected treasurer of House Council at the November 3 assembly.

Sandra, a junior from Glen Allen, is a history major. Her contributions to Longwood include work on Circus during her freshman, past membership in the Spanish and the Richmond clubs, and work on the script committee for May Day of last year. Working with the Colonnade, on which she serves as chort story editor this year, is another of Sandra's activities.

In high school, Sandra contributed to the literary magazine and was editor of her school newspaper.

SANDRA CLEMENTS

The Handbook is published by the Student Government Association to acquaint new students with the rules, traditions, and organizations of Longwood. It also points out the revisions in any rule from year to year.

Ann, a sophomore from Richmond, is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority, the college choir, and the Madrigals. Active in class projects, she has helped write the music for their Circus skits for two years.

Senior Dance Band

The Senior Dance will be held Saturday, December 12, in the gym from 8 to 12 p.m.

Larry Elliott and his orchestra will provide the music for the dance, with Elaine Powell starring as vocalist for the band. The German Club at VPI had Larry Elliott to play for their Fall Formal this year.

Tickets will go on sale after Thanksgiving. The price will be announced at a later date.

Freshmen Select 12 For Commission

Freshman Commission members have been elected by the class of 1963.

The traditional 12 are Wistie Rochelle, president; Scotty MacGregor, vice-president; Lefty Snyder, treasurer. Other members are Annice Bailey, Dudley Brooks, Janice Harris, Elaine Lohr, Rosa Pettit, Libby Predmore, Vanetta Remaine, Sally Sims, and Sue Spicer.

Judy Pollard, president of the freshman class, will serve as an ex-officio member.

The main purpose of the Commission is to aid the YWCA program and to train for future Y leadership.

Some of their duties consist of trimming the traditional Christmas tree in the Rotunda, having charge of the Christmas Banquet and hanging of the greens. Their duties also include aiding the freshmen next year. They are now working with the Campus Chest which is now in progress.

Southern Historians Travel To Convention

Four history professors and two senior history majors will travel to Atlanta, Georgia, for the annual meeting of the Southern Historical Association November 11-15.

Dr. Marvin Schlegel, Dr. Francis Simkins, Mr. James Helms, Mr. Donald Higgenbotham, Emily Umbarger, and Frances Jones will attend a series of lectures held at the Hotel Biltmore there.

This is the 25th anniversary of the association which has members from almost every state in the union who are interested in southern history.

Historians from many areas will present these lectures, and the delegates, selecting those of the most interest to them, will attend one each morning and another in the afternoon.

Players, Jongleurs To Present O'Casey Drama Nov. 12-14

OPENING NIGHT approaches as Norton Howe, Neal Banks, Garnett Smith, and Mary Beth Olsen continue rehearsals.

Cast, Stage Crew Polish Practices As Thursday's Curtain-Time Nears

The Longwood Players and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs will present Sean O'Casey's tragic drama, "The Plough and the Stars," November 12, 13, and 14 in Jarman Hall at 8 p.m

The play concerns itself with a small group of Irelanders caught up in the Easter week rebellion of the Irish Citizens Army against English domination in 1916. Beneath the noise of the rebellion are several private wars of the selfish people of an Irish tenement.

Play Cast Named

Senior Norton Howe and Freshman Mary Beth Olson, newcomers to the Longwood stage, will portray Jack Clitheroe, a commandant in the Citizens Army, and Nora, his wife.

Providing much of the comedy will be the two old busy-bodies, Bessie Burgess and Mrs. Grogan, played by Freshman Neal Banks and Junior Patsy Anne Scott.

Affording entertainment in their own right are Peter Flynn, characterized by Bill Cassidy, and the Covey, portrayed by Allen Stein, in a political feud. Garnett Smith as Fluther Good and Elaine Lohr as Mrs. Grogan's child, Mollser, complete the tenement dwellers in the play.

Representative of the Irish and English armies are Bill Kempton as Lt. Langon, John Myers as Captain Brennan, Randy Keller as Corporal Stoddart, and Sam Terry as Sergeant Tinely. Found in the tavern are Bill Ragsdale as the bartender and Bobbie Caples as Rosey Redmond. Mary Kay Rice will play "A Woman," worried about getting her hair do mussed in the fighting.

Behind-Scene Directors

Found making last minute checks on the nights of performance is the director, Mr. David Wiley. A few steps behind him is the assistant director, Matilda Powell.

Back stage seeing that all the facets of the technical end of the play are in smooth running order and that the actors are in place are the technical director, Judy Stokes, and the stage manager, Cecil Kidd. Aiding Cecil are the assistant stage managers, Emily Shelton, Carolyn Paulette, and Carolyn Elliott.

Also back stage are the technical crews. Mary Lou Wood and her lighting crew are carrying out the lighting designs of Ann Mixon. Maddie MacNeil and the property crew are putting the furniture in place. The scenery crew, headed by Liz Eller, is checking to see that the set is ready for the first act.

Joan Kidwell, sound technician, is getting her tapes and records in order. Helen Grey Garter and her group are helping the actors into their costumes, designed by Annie Lee Young. Applying the actors with grease paint and powder is Julie McLellan, assisted by her crew.

The actors are ready, the technical crews are ready, and up goes the curtain on "The Plough and the Stars."

College To Receive Guests From State High Schools

The freshman class and the Northern Neck Club will be hostesses to students from 15 Virginia high schools for the coming week end, November 14 and 15.

Approximately 52 high school juniors and seniors are expected to register Saturday morning between 9 and 12 a.m. for this year's first high school week end. All of the girls will be accommodated by freshmen in Ruffner Hall.

Those guests who arrive soon enough may visit Saturday morning classes and get a glimpse of college academics. Following lunch in the dining hall, college administrators will meet with the group in the little auditorium and explain the college curricula and answer questions about Longwood.

In the afternoon the members of the Northern Neck Club will take the group on a tour of the campus. At 5:30 p.m. a picnic supper will be served in Tabb Rec for the guests.

Entertainment Saturday evening will include the play, "The Plough and the Stars," to be presented in Jarman Auditorium. After the play, the guests are invited to attend the dance in Main Rec.

At 12:15 a.m. the freshman class will give a sing in the Rotunda in honor of the visitors.

After Sunday breakfast in the dining hall, the various college church groups will meet the girls in the Rotunda to attend Sunday morning services.

Sunday lunch will formally conclude the activities for the week end, but the guests are invited to spend the rest of the day here.

Girls from the following high schools will be here for the week end: Appomattox, Crewe, Cumberland, Great Bridge, Highland

(Continued on page 4)

Committee Chairmen Work Toward Night Of Soph's Production

The committee chairmen have been chosen for the sophomore production which will be held Friday, November 20, at 8 p.m., in Jarman Hall.

The committees and chairmen are as follows: head committee chairman, Lois Peters; music, Jane Pennington and Maddie McNeil; dance, Donna Marquette; script, Peggy Green; props, Carolyn Elliott; tickets, Frances Hoyle and Pat Dike.

Other heads are make-up, Ann Simmons and Judi Tucker; programs, Linda Jeffries, Claudia Wilson and Nancy Pretty; posters, Lee Burnette; costumes, Ann McCants; stage, Jean Cloud; scenery, Leo Pagenhardt and Katie Fulton; lights, Charlotte Haile and Mary Lou Wood.

Heading up the production are Sue Beardmore and Dibby Mohr, co-chairmen, who were elected during a sophomore class meeting held October 29.

The title and theme of the production are being kept a secret by the class until the time of production.

Campus Chest

The YWCA is holding its annual Campus Chest Drive this week with a $200 goal.

A door-to-door canvass will be made during the drive, and organizations here on campus are asked to contribute. The money is given to the cancer fund, the heart fund, the muscular dystrophy fund, and other like organizations. Please help the "Y" make this drive a success.

YWCA Announces McClenny Head Of Yule Pageant

The YWCA has elected Janice McClenny as chairman of the Christmas pageant.

Janice, a junior, has been active in the Baptist Student Union since her freshman year and is now serving as chairman of the enlistment committee.

As chairman of the Christmas pageant, she will be in charge of planning and directing the pageant. Tryouts for non-speaking parts will be held at a later date.

This year the pageant will be held on December 16. At this time the Madonna will be revealed. Also, White Christmas offerings will be presented by the various organizations.

A highlight of the pageant is the announcement of the student who portrays the Madonna. From nominations of the YWCA cabinet, the student body elects a girl who exemplifies a Christian life and is respected by all who know her.

The entire student body attends the pageant, which is given on the night before the Christmas holiday begins.

The theme of the Christmas pageant will be announced later. Past pageants have featured tableaux and a chorus.

Three Sororities Hold Celebrations; Honor Founders

To observe the date of their founding, Alpha Sigma Alpha, Alpha Sigma Tau, and Sigma Kappa will hold special programs in the coming week.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Alpha Sigma Alpha, which originated on Longwood's campus November 15, 1901, will observe Founder's Day Sunday by attending church as a group. They are planning a banquet November 13 in the Tea Room with a special program. One of their original founders, Mrs. H. F. Gilliam, will be one of their guests.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Alpha Sigma Tau, founded November 4, 1899 at Michigan State Normal College, Ypsilanti, Michigan, will observe Founders' Day with a banquet in the Tea Room November 16. Mrs. Earl R. Boggs will be their main speaker. A candlelight service will be held at the banquet.

Sigma Kappa

Sigma Kappa, founded November 9, 1874 at Colby College, Waterville, Maine, will celebrate their first Founders' Day on this campus. Sigma Kappa was formerly Pi Kappa Sigma. A dinner in the Tea Room will commemorate their 85th anniversary.

Lyceum November 16 To Present Comedy Of Shakespeare's Shrew

"The Taming of the Shrew," one of Shakespeare's earlier comedies, will be presented by Canadian Players at Jarman Hall, November 16, at 8 p.m.

Theme of Musical

Many people will recognize it as the story from which the musical "Kiss Me Kate" was taken.

It tells of the marrying of two sisters, Katherina and Bianca. Katherina, the elder, is bad tempered, and no one will consent to marry her. Her father, Baptista, vows that the younger daughter, Bianca, will remain single until a husband is found for Katherina.

Bianca has many suitors, all wishing to marry her, so they persuade their friend, Petruchio, to bid for the hand of the wealthy shrew. In this way they will free Bianca to choose among them.

Petruchio Tames

Petruchio goes to Baptista and asks for the hand of Katherina. He receives permission to woo her and roughly does so. Then when he finally marries her, he tames her by opposing her every wish.

In the meantime, Bianca has chosen the young Lucentio and they marry secretly. The play concludes with Petruchio and Katherina returning home where a contest is staged to prove that the shrew has really been tamed.

Stars Experienced

Kate Reid will star as Katherina and Max Helpmann will play Petruchio. Miss Reid has worked with a number of stock companies in Canada and starred in several plays in England. She has played leading roles in Candadian television, including a number of dramatic performances which have brought her many notices.

Mr. Helpmann, born in Australia, began his career as a song and dance man. He became a car racer, crashed and broke his back, and thus ended his career as a dancer.

He went to England in 1936 and worked in repertory companies for three years. During World War II he joined the Royal Navy, and came to Canada in 1952. He has toured on three occasions with the Canadian Players.

"Canadian Players" was formed in 1953 and its plays have been seen by audiences throughout Canada and the United States. Everywhere critics and audiences acclaimed this young and vigorous Canadian group.

Advance tickets for this performance may be secured at the college business office, or at the box office the night of the performance. Longwood students do not have to pay admission.

Timely Topics

In the World: Over Kashmir's northern border, dividing India from Tibet, Red China's guerrilla forces filtered down into the portion called Ladakh, cut up an Indian border patrol, and brought forth scores of indignant protests from India's press, socialists, the All-Students Congress and even Indian Communists.

The once popular, hard-driving Prime Minister Nehru now comes in for caustic policy blamed for Red China's troublemaking, for the first time in many years, people were talking of war with sullen, tough-minded defiance. Red China's pattern was becoming all too clear: a series of blandishments covering up another wave of territory-nibbling.

Last week, Nehru took a tougher stand before a Congress Party rally, said he, "China may be a big country, but India is not small. We are not afraid. We are not weak."

In the nation: Neither the avid campaigning of Presidential hopefuls, nor the recent T-H injunction that forced steelmen back to work this week, can override the front page persistence of the TV quiz show scandals.

In the vortex of the storm is the man who rose to fame and fortune via the question and answer game, only to reveal that he not only knew his show, Twenty-One, was fixed, but that he had been spoon-fed the answers before he went on the air. Last week, both NBC and Columbia University were feeling the resentment of youthful, frank-faced Charles Van Doren. Columbia students demonstrated for Van Doren's return, but Dr. Grayson Kirk, university president, indicated that the case was closed.

Both NBC and CBS are snowed with suit cases filed by former contestants on various quiz shows who were eliminated early in the competition, and now claim that they could have won more had their opponent not been helped to victory.

In space: Russia recently published photographs taken on the moon's far side and transmitted back to earth from Lunik III. Although the pictures, at first glance, did not reveal much difference between the two sides, close investigation showed a real wealth of information on the hidden face, most of it a fascinating revelation for moon scientists.

Russia hopes to gear Lunik to resend the pictures in the hope that it will eliminate the streaks in the photographs caused by electronic troubles in transmission. Next steps: to land a station on the moon without damaging the instruments.

—M. E. H.

Dining Hall Express

Do you like to stand in the breakfast line five or ten minutes each morning? Most of us are none too cheerful at 7:30 a.m as it is, and having to wait doesn't improve the situation.

We recognize the problems involved for the waitresses having to reset tables after we've drowsily worked our way through three cups of coffee. In fact, we could scarcely blame them for yielding to the temptation of dumping the remaining contents of the water pitcher down our backs some day at 8:04 when they have an hour-quiz scheduled for 8:05.

But isn't there some simple solution which might help relieve the entire situation? Isn't there some method to shorten those long, long lines that suddenly materialize about 7:30 each day? Some students do not have the time to wait even a few minutes; others don't want anything more than cereal and perhaps coffee or fruit juice.

Many supermarkets have "express" check-out counters for customers with only a few items. A similar system, it appears, might be successfully employed in the dining hall. We see it is possible to run an additional line to the center of the tables—or to a separate table? This could routinely carry cereal, coffee, and fruit or fruit juice—nothing more. Thus the people who want only a small breakfast would not have time to eat more quickly, and leave the dining room earlier. Thus this addition would facilitate the waitresses' jobs as well.

There must be many more ideas among the student body which could also help remedy the problem. Letters to the editor or suggestions to the foods committee can lead to action. What a place such as an "express line" work!

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1939

Editor-in-Chief

Business Manager
Managing Editor
News Editor
Feature Editor
Sports Editor
Copy Editor
Photography Editor
Art Editor
Circulation Managers
Advertising Managers
Faculty Adviser

Member of Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of Collegiate Digest

NEWS STAFF

ADVERTISING STAFF

Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service, Inc.

LITTLE MAN on CAMPUS by BIBLER

"THOSE FELLOWS IN TH' BUSINESS DEPARTMENT WILL STOP AT NOTHING TO BUILD UP THEIR ENROLLMENT."

Socially Speaking

Homecomings, H-S Parties Cheer November Grayness

By Sandie Farish

Thrilled over her recently presented diamond ring is Brenda Johnson. The lucky groom-to-be is Bobby Chapman of Farmville.

Opening Dances

University of Virginia was truly the place to be this past week end. "Openings" were literally tops! For proof, just ask Marion Elliot, Sue Agee, Carol Sprague, Sue Caravella, Pattie Barnes, Sally Smith, Dotsy Moody, Katie Fulton, Leo Pagenhardt, Nancy Pretty, Sandra Little, Nancy Parker, Frances Tune, Lillian Young, Laura Butler, Sue O'Hara, Pat Sadler, Jean Bass, Pat Norman, Ann Coleman, and Sandie Farish.

Also, Sarah Lampton, Barbara Dunnavant, Carolyn Elliot, Claudia Wilson, Bonnie Garter, Jane Freeman, Ellen Grady, Kathryn Turner, Doris Tolley, Nancy Shaw, Louise Johns, Pat Barrow, Judy Harris, Barbara Ferneyhough, Helen Gray Garter, Beverly Gaskins, Linda Dennis, Kay Nottingham, Annice Bailey, Elizabeth Jones, Diana Euksuzian, Frances Whitten, Alice Pizer.

Homecomings

Homecomings at the University of Richmond proved to be quite entertaining for Joan King, Lena Kay, Charlotte Baugher, Page Tolleson, Barbara Bolster, Patsy Spencer, Jean Dancy, Jane Pennington, Martha Burrough, Ann Howell, and Margaret Shumate. Also going to Richmond, but to visit RPI was Louise Powell.

More and more homecomings—this time, at Washington and Lee. Seen there were Cherry Gorham, Merle Holaday, Raye Waple, and Norah Elliot. Traveling to Randolph-Macon was Pooh Butterworth, and going to Annapolis to visit the Naval Academy and her guy was Dottie Brown.

H-S Pikas

On the local scene, various fraternity houses at Hampden-Sydney entertained Friday and Saturday night with parties. The PiKA house atmosphere was enjoyed Friday night by Barbara Rossiter, Trina Chidress, Claudia Whipple, Patsy Carr, Suzanne Shipp, Joanne White.

(Continued on page 3)

Hair Trends Show 'Ups' And 'Downs' With Latest Styles

By Barbara Chaffin

A woman's hair has been a mark of vanity through many decades. We are about to see the end of another decade and hair styles remain of utmost importance in the fashion limelight.

Believe it or not, here at Longwood, students are more conscious of fashions in hair styles than one might suspect.

Familiar questions such as "Who has the curlers?" or "Isn't it my turn to use the curlers?" may echo through nearly any LC dormitory this fall.

The curlers which are being referred to come in various dimensions and materials. They are cylindrical in shape and vary from two to five inches in length. This particular type of curler helps in achieving that casual, loosely-waved look which is the current trend in hair styles.

The ultimate in coiffure design seems to be centered around one feature: a loose, light and almost wind blown effect. Of course, this is subject to many changes according to the person wearing the style.

Traditional hair parts are scarce. When parts do appear, they are usually diagonal and more often than not, there is no part at all. New trends are not severe; moreover, they are soft and quite feminine.

That in - between length which formerly created such a problem stage for hair has been capitalized on. Many new hair-dos are about ear length and the top has more height than before due to the use of bulky curlers.

A new style does not have to be a carbon copy of everyone else. If you are contemplating a change, find one which fits the shape of your face. Experiment and be a little extravagant — it's wonderful for your morale.

Classified Ads

By Jane Stegall

WANTED:

One keg of vodka by Dr. Schlegel's Russian history class.

By student body — No 8:05 classes for dining hall waitresses.

By Mary Mercer Wright—Ability to master first two letters of alphabet by senior year—BA.

By everyone — Answer sheets.

By Carol Mathews — A "holdup man" for water pageant.

By everyone — More methods courses.

By everyone — Three sheets in the laundry.

By Ann Mixon—In student teaching—to make "the little things" count.

By sophs for a super production—A superficial movie produced by a super.

By Mr. Wiley — Thanks for his "lucky stars" (in the play!).

For Christmas — Your past forgotten and your "present" remembered.

By students — Final exams not counted as final.

By seniors— A hockey team.

By Nell Ward — Students not keeping their radios on all night before Christmas vacation playing "Silent Night."

By all seniors — A ceremony to mark the end of college study and the beginning of education.

Morning Scene Produces Dining Hall Personalities

By Joann Kleinecke

Of those poor unfortunates on campus who have to get up in the morning, most wouldn't last until lunch without some extra push. Thus we have that institution known as breakfast. To most students, this means a trip to the dining hall and, if one is observant, a very enlightening period so far as different personalities go.

For instance, there is the sleepy lass who uses her roommate as a seeing-eye dog en route from room to dining hall. She can be seen hanging onto said roomie's trench coat-back—head down and shoes dragging in the dust. She just can't seem to get those baby blues open before 10 a.m. at the earliest. Needless to say, she wreaks sheer havoc in her 8:05 typing class!

Then there's Grouchy Gelda who responds to any cheery morning greeting with a muffled "Grumpf!" But don't judge so quickly—she's actually quite friendly, and begins to wake up after her ninth cup of coffee.

At this time, Gelda decides to really greet her neighbor in return. After an ear-splitting good morning, she proceeds to slap her pal on the back with such vigor that the aforementioned young lady could easily qualify for the cornflake-spitting section of the National Olympics and come through with at least second place.

The miss loved by all is Picky Patsy, who turns over and holds up to the light every egg, piece of toast and sausage cake she sees. Obviously, this girl is not to be fooled! Patsy then measures the juice in each glass and scrutinizes the doughnuts with a practiced eye of one who must have only the biggest and best.

This little operation having taken only 15 minutes or so, Patsy saunters off to eat in leisure, having no 8 a.m. class. Meanwhile, those behind her quietly gnash their teeth and are only too happy to eat in the two-and-a-half minutes that are left for them.

Bettie Blunder hasn't quite gotten her supply of coordination for the day yet. After neatly tripping someone in back of her in line, she proceeds cautiously to the nearest table with a tray full of goodies.

These were originally destined for Bettie's tummy, but her table-mate looks just precious with a coffee cup on her head, strips of bacon over each ear, and plums (plus lots of juice) in her lap. It seems that our buddy slipped on a passing ant just as she was about to sit down.

Oh, joy! Melancholy Mildred is the gal with more troubles than almost everyone else. If it's been invented, and it's bad, she's either had it, has it now, or is positive she'll have it in the future.

Milly will expound at great length about her toothache, her grandmother's operation, the horrible world condition and the high statistical rate of college flunk-outs. By the time she begins to launch into all the work she has to do this week, and how much fun today isn't going to be, those around her have left — somewhat hurriedly. Anyone for going back to bed, getting up, and starting over again — without Mildred? Hmmm?

Bringing up the rear is her class' pride and joy, Lucille the Lazy. She has recently thrown all her make-up in the trash barrel because she just can't seem to find the energy to put it on in the morning and never seems to have time during the rest of the day.

She has no problem about combing her hair either—she just wears curlers and a scarf until late afternoon. She has a bit of trouble getting in the dining hall door, as her wide pajama sleeves just will get caught on that nasty knob! Lucille finally frees herself from this somewhat awkward position and lopes on her merry way; pulling her raincoat up under her chin and adjusting a loose bedroom slipper.

Vive la people!

'Holly' Tells Highlights Of Summer Vacation

By Judy Detrich

"And so I wound up back here at Longwood, leaving my suitcases in Roanoke. I didn't have sheets or towels — much less clothes."

Thus Julia Hollyfield concludes a breathtaking account of her trip around the world.

After school last May, she

JULIA HOLLYFIELD

journeyed to New York and from there flew—via England, France, Switzerland, and Italy—to Iran. Her destination was her parent's home in a Standard Oil field in the vast Iranian desert about 150 miles from the Persian Gulf.

Iran's 'Oven'

"When I got off the plane in Abadan, where my father was to meet me, I thought I was walking into an oven . . . as for the desert, there is absolutely nothing except sand and rock. There is nothing green or growing except a few scrubby bushes and a little dried up wheat."

"Holly" relates her typical day in Iran: "We would get up at 4:15 a.m. because by noon the temperature was about 170 degrees. If you wanted to do anything, it had to be done before then. Almost every morning about five of us would go horseback riding across the desert —on Arabian stallions.

When we returned, around 9 a.m., we would have breakfast together. I'd get home around 11 and spend the rest of the day at the pool. At night there were parties or—even in the middle of nowhere—movies."

"1338 is the date of this year according to the Iranians, and that's about how primitive they are .The people live in mud brick house—sometimes without even a roof over them. There are no modern facilities. The men herd or hunt and their main food is sheep or goat's meat."

Insulation Theory

"What is really paradoxical is the way they dress. Both the men and the women wear long black trousers. Then the men wear long, robe-like affairs and the women wear dresses—four or five of them! They have some sort of theory about insulation; however, for the most part, they do go barefoot.""

Holly added, "While I was there I saw herds of wild camels and some desert caravans, but I didn't have a chance to ride one of them."

August 31, she started her trip back—by continuing around the world. Globe - trotting Holly visited Fgkistan, Thailand, China, Formosa, and Japan. From Tokyo she flew to Hawaii, to San Francisco, Salt Lake City, up to Ontario, and finally to Roanoke. On September 16, she breezed into Farmville to complete her circle and to start her senior year here at Longwood.

Holly's trip was a kaleidoscope of human scenes; every time she turned around there was something different. Bankok she describes as a beautiful city with its ancient architecture and temples. While she was there she saw a five-and-a-half ton, solid gold, sitting Buddah. Thailand, she observed, is a rich country.

Two Chinese Dresses

Of all places she visited, Holly likes Hong Kong best, and hopes to return to China soon. In Hong Kong she had two dresses made for

(Continued on page 4)

Student 'School Marms' Pass On Tricks Of Trade

Notice to new student teachers: Here are some notes from your classmates who, with nine weeks of experience, are equipped to tell you all the "ins and outs" of the business. They offer you some advice, some problems and some laughs.

Marriage Proposal

Perhaps you will have a marriage proposal as Helen Brown did from one of her fifth-grade pupils at Appomattox. He also gave her his baby picture as a memento.

Helen says her biggest problem is discipline, and that the students sometimes think of her as someone to play with. Her advice: "Don't play with them."

Confucius Fan

Also at Appomattox is Ruth Talley who teaches history and government. Ruthie tells about the time she assigned a report on Athens or Sparta and one student refused to write about either. He liked to read Confucius and wanted to live in China; so he wrote on China.

Ruthie says her biggest problem is the two days a week teaching plan. One of her supervisors helped solve this problem by allowing Ruthie to teach the course material which he supplements on odd days with newspaper articles, movies, etc.

Farm Dilemma

General science and chemistry are Billie Jo Altizer's field at Cumberland High. She teaches many students who have grown up on farms, and finds that she cannot always answer their questions pertaining to agriculture. At present her students are arranging a week end visit to a farm especially for ...r.

Evidently Billie Jo's lack of agricultural knowledge has not hurt her popularity as a teacher—she received three votes for homecoming princess from her homeroom!

Even with identical twins who try to trick her, Billie Jo says her only problem is discipline. "Stay on your side of the desk at all times," she advises.

Venetian Blinds Condemned

Addie Richardson, just back from teaching art at William Fleming in Roanoke, has a collection of tales too long to print. She advises that you never teach in a classroom with venetian blinds. One in Addie's class never worked, and when she climbed on a desk to fix the blind, she tumbled off into a trashcan. The loss of dignity in front of her class wasn't as serious as her torn nylons.

Another time Addie was giving a lecture on safety in handling tools and bunson burners to a woodcarving class—when she burned her finger.

Addie's biggest problem was being mistaken for a student every time she tried to buy coffee in the school cafeteria.

All these student teachers feel that one of the greatest problems is getting down to a level where the students understand. Upon reaching this level, however, the problem becomes keeping up with their eagerness to learn. As Billie Jo put it, "If you don't have a vivid imagination, you'd better get one."

Only 39 More Shopping Days!
'Til CHRISTMAS!
Shop Early
at
LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP
Across From
Jarman Auditorium

TEN TOP TUNES

1. Don't You Know
2. Unforgettable
3. In the Mood
4. Primrose Lane
5. First Love, First Tears
6. Danny Boy
7. Pretend
8. Plenty Good Lovin'
9. The Clouds
10. You're Gonna Miss Me

WILSON'S HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

Tests In Swimming Scheduled This Month

The juniors will take their swimming test November 12 or November 19 at 5 p.m.

All juniors who have not taken a swimming class and seniors who have not taken the test must report to the pool at one of these times.

Anyone who can't come at the designated time because of a conflict should see Miss Barbara Dowd.

GET YOUR COPY!!
Dr. James Wellard's
"The Affair in Arcady"
$3.75
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
Phone EX 2-4027

PAGEANT HEADS Hannah White, Julia Hollyfield, Beverly Kersey, Shirley Mills, and Cherry Gorham help select music for H2O water show.

Color Rush

Red and Whites will race against the Green and Whites to hang their banners from the dorms at Longwood. This is more formally known as Color Rush.

Color Rush will be held November 19, prior to the freshmen-sophomore, junior-senior hockey games.

Five of the fastest runners from the freshmen and junior classes, and also from the sophomore and senior classes will be selected to race. Tryouts will be held during the week before the races.

Color cup points are obtained from the event.

Football Fanfare

By Mary Byrd Micou

Rain may have dampened the spirits of football fans across the state this week end, but it failed to stop Virginia's college teams.

Evidence of this fact is the University of Richmond's 26-0 homecoming victory over George Washington Saturday at City Stadium in Richmond.

Fans viewed a more exciting battle at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, Saturday as VMI's Keydets topped Lehigh, 7-6.

Although playing one of their finest games of this season, the Virginian Cavaliers were unable to stop South Carolina Saturday in Charlottesville. The Gamecocks came from behind three times before their fourth-quarter 32-20 victory.

VPI traveled to Cayon, Texas to score a 26-21 victory over West Texas State. A 25-yard scoring pass in the last 11 seconds of the game made this win possible.

Death Valley was the scene of another close game as Franklin and Marshall College defeated the Bainnden-Sydney Tigers 28-26.

West Virginia Tech visited Ashland to deal Randolph-Macon a blow in the form of a 34-6 defeat.

Clemson's Tigers, defending Atlantic Coast Conference champions, rolled over Duke with a 6-0 victory over the Blue Devils at Clemson.

The William and Mary team converted pass interceptions into a winning score for the Tribe as they conquered Davidson 25-7 in North Carolina.

West Virginia University bowed to Southern California's Trojans in Los Angeles, yielding by a score of 36-0.

The Georgia Bulldogs took possession of first place in the Southeastern Conference when it whipped Florida, 21-10 at Jacksonville.

Vanderbilt scored its third win of the season this week end, upsetting Kentucky 11-6.

North Carolina State gave up a last-minute touchdown to Mississippi Southern, and the Wolfpack lost 19-14.

Class Teams To Compete November 17

Longwood's traditional class hockey games have been scheduled for November 17.

The sister-class games will lead the rivalry. The freshmen team will play the juniors, and the sophomore class will play the senior class team.

November 18 the freshmen team plays the seniors, and the sophomores play the juniors.

The most competitive game of all is November 19, when the freshmen class vie with the sophomore for freedom from their rat caps.

Also on November 19, the juniors will vie with the seniors.

Points from the class games will go towards the color cup. The Green and Whites are in possession of the cup at the present.

Friday, November 13, ends the general hockey practices. Eight practices are necessary for all upperclassmen to play.

Faculty News

Wilson To Averett

Miss Ruth B. Wilson, dean of women, will represent Longwood November 12 and 13 at the 100th anniversary celebration of Averett College at Danville.

Spear To Maryland

Assistant Dean of Women Jenelle Spear attended the annual meeting of The Regional Association of Women Deans and Counsellors in Bethesda, Maryland, November 6 and 7.

Boggs At U. Va.

Dr. Earl R. Boggs, dean of the college, attended the conference of Summer Session Deans and Directors at the University of Virginia November 5. Dean Boggs is chairman of this conference.

Lankford To Washington

Dr. Frances G. Lankford will travel to Washington Saturday, November 14, to attend a luncheon given by the alumnae chapter there.

'Longwood Speaks'

Sunday, November 15, at 12:30 p.m., over WFLO, "Longwood Speaks" will feature three members of the English Department faculty.

Dr. Foster Gresham will discuss with Mrs. Mildred Davis and Dr. R. C. Simonini proposals that have been made to the Virginia Association of Teachers of English.

"Listening at Longwood," broadcast every Wednesday at 3 p.m., is designed particularly for the listening interest of students at Longwood.

Chairmen Begin Work On H2O Water Show

One of the feature attractions at Longwood in December is the Christmas water pageant, where a holiday spectacular is performed in the water.

The forthcoming pageant will be presented in three shows December 10 and 11.

Mathews, Keys Chairmen

Chairman for this year's pageant is senior Carol Mathews, a social science major from Salem. Carol served as the assistant chairman for the preceding Christmas pageant.

Her activities include class government representative for three years and membership in Alpha Kappa Gamma, Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, the Cotillion Club, and the Roanoke Club.

Serving as assistant chairman is senior Bonnie Keys from Dumfries. Bonnie is president of the H2O Club.

She is also a member of Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority, the Y-Cabinet, Longwood Players, and the Wesley Foundation.

Rehearsals November 12

Practices will begin November 12. Six numbers will practice nightly with each rehearsal lasting one half hour. Mass rehearsals are scheduled for December 8 and 9.

The price of admission will be 35 cents.

Committee heads for the water pageant are as follows: Backdrops, Annis Norfleet and Beverly Kersey; costumes, Shirley Mills and Nancianne Frye; music, Nancy Donaldson and Lois Peters; publicity, Cherry Gorham; programs, Julie Hollyfield and Jean Helms; lighting, Barbara Brantley and Dixie Hilliard; props, Ruth Talley and Hannah White.

Chairman Carol Mathews, commenting on the pageant, says, "The interest and participation that have been shown by the students, especially the freshmen, have been wonderful. If this is any indication of a good performance, this year's pageant should fall in line with previous successes. The work of everyone will make it such."

Socially Speaking

(Continued from page 2)

Pat Sadler, Lucy Trotter, and Lena Kay.

KA's

The KA record party entertained Ginny Whipple, Katie Fulton, Betty Wood, Frankie Click, Frances Harvey, Ann Scott, Virginia Parker, Beverly Gaskins, Barbara Simpkins, Betsey Kelsey, and Betty Chappell.

Others seen on the nearby campus were Shirley Day, Pattie Norman, Jean Dancy, Betty Patterson, Lois Peters, Becky Brehm, Mary Beth Olson, Paula Clarke, Vanetta Remaine, Lois Gardner, Harriet Hunt, Gari Dickson, Lou Hoggard, Peggy Hughes, Kay Nottingham, and Joyce Outland.

Others included Mary Garland Lipscomb, Dot Womack, Judy Purcell, Norah Elliot, Rosa Pettit, Susan Rollins, Nancy Shaw, Pat Callahan, Alice Layne, Sally Pleasant, Sue Sharpe, Lucy Wilson, Susan Rust, Rosemary Henry, Wendy Warren, Sarah Buston, Linda Davenport, Roberta Cobb, Bonnie Irby, Bobbie Meador, Jean Underwood, Jane Martin, Charlotte Haile, Liz Deichmann, Dotsy Moody, and Susar Kelley.

Theta Chi's

Saturday night, the Theta Chi combo party was fun for Suzanne Grammer, Liz Eller, Sally Myers, Carolyn Rancorn, Kitty Good, Suzanne Jones, Joyce Dunkley, Charlotte Haile, Nan McLoughlin, Martha Gray Shirley, Becky Wooldridge, Becky McGrath, Sara Oliver, Demetria Koumparakis, Tinsley Crump, Gerry Edmonds, and Carolyn Axom.

KA's

The Kappa Alpha house entertained for the second time in one week end. Seen there were Frankie Click, Frances Harvey, Ann Scott, Pat Sweeney, Judy Duke, Jane Price, Claudia Whipple, Ann Bass, Oreta Norris, and Joanne White.

Party-hopping between the two houses were Ginger Culpepper, Sarah Buston, Bobbie Meador, Brenda Dod, Ginny Whipple, Linda Davenport, Judy Coarse, Betty Wood, Betty Chappell, Rosa Pettit, Joy Moore, Bobbie Hughers, Idella Boyer, Eleanor Fowler, Dot Fretz, Ann Peters, Harriet Hunt, Neva Arnn, Betsy Kelsey, Mary Alice White.

Also, Joanne White, Suzanne Shipp, Betsy Wilson, Carol Nye, Barbara Gray Martin, Garie Dickson, Vanetta Remaine, Susan Rollins, Diane Davis, Barbara Krogleh, Jean Smith, Frankie Ware, Judy Pharr, Julie McLellen, Beth Goodwyn, Mary G. Lipscomb, Gail Deaver.

Varsity Season Ends For Longwood Team With Madison Victory

Longwood's hockey team remained undefeated and unscored upon in collegiate competition this season by winning the last games against Madison College, 1-0 and 2-0, November 7 at Harrisonburg.

In the first game Lindy Hatch, freshmen left inner, made the goal. Freshman Carol Buckner, center forward, and sophomore Winnie Egolf, right inner, each scored in the second game.

Starting line-up for Longwood included Barbara Brantley, Claudia Whipple, Mate Fadely, Virginia Parker, Mary Hite Grayson, Trina Childress, Jo Savage, Pat Southworth, Carolyn Thorpe, Faye Ripley, and Lindy Hatch.

The Blue and Whites wore gloves and sweat shirts while playing, to ward off the biting cold and wind; Madison girls sported ear-muffs.

Seniors Mate Fadely, Jean O'Connell, Anne B. Palmer, Doris Kesling, and Claudia Whipple have played their last hockey game for Longwood.

8 Exposure Film
Developed 39c
12 Exposure Film
Developed 55c
All Prints Oversized!
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

LONGWOOD JEWELERS
where
all college jewelry may be selected.
Charge accounts to everyone!

Visit Your
SNACK BAR
for Contemporary Cards,
Candy and Cokes!

State Theatre
FARMVILLE, VA.
WED., THURS. NOV. 11-12
KIM NOVACK
FREDERIC MARCH
"MIDDLE OF THE NIGHT"
FRI., SAT. NOV. 13-14
CLINT WALKER
EDWARD BYRNES
JOHN RUSSELL
"YELLOWSTONE KELLY"
Sunday, Monday, Tuesday
NOV 15-16-17
CURT JURGENS
MAY BRITT
"BLUE ANGEL"
WED., THURS. NOV. 18-19
MARIO LANZA
ZSA ZSA GABOR
"FOR THE FIRST TIME"

Points To Ponder

Albert Schweitzer in "Memories of Childhood and Youth":

No one has a right to say to another: "Because we belong to each other as we do, I have a right to know all your thoughts." Not even a mother may treat her child in that way. All demands of this sort are foolish and unwholesome. In this matter, giving is the only valuable process. It is only giving that stimulates. Impart as much as you can of your spiritual being to those who are on the road with you, and accept as something precious what comes back to you from them.

—Macmillan

Robert Lewis Stevenson in "Virginibus Puerisque and Familiar Studies of Men and Books":

Hope, they say, deserts us at no period of our existence. From first to last, and in the face of smarting disillusions, we continue to expect good fortune, better health and better conduct, and that so confidently that we judge it needless to deserve them.

—Dutton

Robert Raynolds in "The Choice to Love":

Love between man and woman, like any other love, is a relationship in spiritual greatness. It is a love generous in offering and generous in receiving; it is full of laughter, mercy and rejoicing. Love nourishes but does not possess; in love we affirm one another but do not dominate. To love is not to win or lose but to help and be helped.

—Harper

—The Reader's Digest

Group To Analyze Graduate Classes

Approximately 12 educators will come to Longwood tomorrow for a discussion of the graduate program.

The men, school superintendents and directors of instruction from surrounding counties, will study the present course offerings and consider possible additions.

From Amelia will come Mr. O. A. Norton, superintendent; from Appomattox, Mr. E. J. Smith, director of instruction; Halifax, Mr. R. L. Lacy, superintendent and Mr. Frank Chaffin, Jr., director of instruction: Mecklenburg, Mr. A. B. Haga, superintendent, and Mr. E. A. Payne, director of instruction.

Also attending the meeting will be Mr. H. L. Blanton, superintendent Nottoway; Mr. T. J. McIlwaine superintendent, and Mr. Harold Cumberland; Mr. J. J. Fray, superintendent, and Mr. Hunter Jones, director of instruction Campbell and Mr. W. H. Seawell, superintendent, Brunswick her. "I bought the material and took it to my French tailor around 7 one evening. By 9 the next morning, the [illegible] beautiful!" One is of turquoise embroidered silk made in the Chinese fashion and the other is a straight black sheath which Holly designed herself.

'Holly'

(Continued from page 2)

Because he prefers that each place keep its own characteristics, Holly was disappointed with Tokyo and Hong Kong. She commented that both of these cities are like American cities.

Galloping across the desert on an Arabian stallion. . .2 a.m. rickshaw rides in Hong Kong . . . discovering that Americans are better than the Italian. . .tea in England and [illegible] in Europe are a few of the adventures and sensations experienced by cosmopolitan Hollyfield. A once-in-a-lifetime experience for her? No. Holly plans to spend the Christmas holidays in Italy or South America.

High Schools

(Continued from page 1)

Sprain, Jefferson Senior, Lee-Lexington Norcom, Norview, Petersburg, Prince George, Jefferson, Woodrow, and Washington-Lee.

The [illegible] schools not yet heard from, is posted on the bulletin board outside Miss Wilson's office. The names of the girls coming are listed on it. Any [illegible] girl who plans to come may [illegible] it on this list.

The next big [illegible] which will be in February will be sponsored by the Richmond Club [illegible] January 29.

SOPHOMORE CHAIRMEN Sue Beardmore and Dibby Mohr run through production number. (See story on Page 1)

College Professors Publish Institutes's Lecture Series

By Ann Agee

Longwood College has among its faculty many writers of fiction and nonfiction.

Two of the latter, Dr. R. C. Simonini, and Dr. Francis B. Simkins, have recently published books related to the Institute of Southern Culture at Longwood. Each book contains a series of lectures given at Longwood "to promote the study of traditional aspects of Southern Civilization."

Dr. Simonini's book, "Virginia in History and Tradition," contains eight lectures, ranging from random themes, as in the first one by Dr. Simkins, to the specific, such as one written by Dr. Marvin W. Schlegel.

Dr. Schlegel, author of his own book, discusses, along with Lawrence Burnette, Jr., the problems of writing history for Virginia public schools. They find that Virginians "want an idealized version of their history, frown upon controversy, try to avoid new interpretations . . ."

Other lectures in the book deal with Southern literary themes and with Civil War fiction.

The second book dealing with the Institute of Southern Culture is "The South in Perspective," edited by Dr. Francis B. Simkins, published by the Cavalier Press, 1959. In this book are included the six lectures in the second series, with a foreword by Dr. Simkins.

One of the lectures, "Jamestown Revisited," by Marshall Fishwick, is a lively interpretation of the spirit of Virginia. Another, "The Changing South," by Gordon W. Blackwell, deals with the decline of the Negro population in the South, and the trend toward metropolitanism.

Professor Dorothy B. Schlegel, in a lecture on "James Branch Cabell and Southern Romanticism," gives Cabell a much higher place in American literature than he is usually accorded. Dr. Richard K. Mecker, writes in "The Youngest Generation of Southern Writers," an analysis of those authors born about 1920. Clyde L. Manschreck, professor of religion at Duke University, writes a controversial lecture on "Religion in the South: Problem and Promise."

Finally, in the series of six lectures, Charles F. Lane's talk, "Southern and Quasi-Southern Cultural Landscapes," is an argument that political state lines are not reliable cultural boundaries for the South.

These lectures for the Institute of Southern Culture may best be evaluated in the words of one reviewer of the books, Edward Younger. ". . . as the first step in an ambitious and laudable program, they are promising."

LC Student Teachers Return From Roanoke As 28 Others Leave

New faces appear on campus as student teachers return from Roanoke [illegible] Those returning are:

Nancye Allen, Alice Gay Ashworth, Janet Ayres, Audrey Campbell, Sylvia Cosville, Carolyn DeHaven, Felecia Elliott, Mary Eustace, Claire Floege, Frances Gillespie, Bonnie Mann Hamersly, Nancy Harnsberger, Joanne Hartman, Margaret Henry, Julia Holland, Callie Johnson, Elizabeth Johnson, Jean Johnson, Katherine Key, Nancy Knight, and Linda Lane.

Also [illegible] Talbot Mabry, Arlene McKee, Mary Anne Montague, Norrish Munson, Dale Preddy, Addie Richardson, Eloise Shreves, Ann Snyder, Joyce Page Spencer, Elizabeth Taliaferro, and Lee Ward.

Sue Ann Blair and Doris Purvear have also completed their nine weeks of student teaching in Roanoke but will not return to school this semester.

Monday, November 16, 23 more Longwood students will be due in [illegible] their student teaching. Their nine weeks will end [illegible] January 26.

Schlegel Begins Revisions On Norfolk's History Book

Dr. Marvin W. Schlegel has been asked by the city council of Norfolk to bring up to date its general history, "Norfolk: Historic Southern Port."

Dr. Schlegel, professor of history and social studies at Longwood, was given the go-ahead to begin work on the revision of the city's general history a little over two months ago.

Mr. Thomas J. Wertenbaker, who originally wrote "Norfolk: Historic Southern Port," had been commissioned in 1958 to revise his work, but because of illness was forced to give up further writing. Dr. Wertenbaker suggested to the city that the work be turned over to Dr. Schlegel, the author of "Conscripted City," a one-volume history of Norfolk's activities during World War II.

In August Dr. Schlegel visited Wertenbaker at Princeton and agreed to complete the job. Dr. Wertenbaker turned over to Dr. Schlegel the material which he had collected during the year before he was forced to give up his work.

Dr. Schlegel terms Norfolk "an up-and-coming city," and says he believes it to be one of the first cities to commission the writing of its history. He hopes to have completed the major portion of his work before the summer of 1960.

The revision of "Norfolk: Historic Southern Port," will include the addition of about a half-dozen chapters and the correction of errors in the existing book.

Dr. Schlegel taught in Norfolk in 1947 and 1948 at an extension of William and Mary.

AAUW Holds Meeting

Representatives of branches of the American Association of University Women from five nearby sections met at Longwood Saturday, November 7, for an area workshop.

The delegates came from Farmville, Danville, Sweet Briar, Lynchburg, and Bedford. About 60 people had lunch in the tea room, after which they attended a program in which the topic "World Economic Revolution: United States Policies" was discussed.

Church News

Methodist

Girls who attended the Fall All-State MSM Conference at Radford last week were Aleta Goodwyn, Elaine Lohr, Margaret Vaughan, Beth Moore, Ann McCants, Marie Smith, Nancy Hague, Bunny Vernon, Ruby Jakeman, Susan Coe, Peggy Henry, and Ann Elliott. Malinda Ayres, the Wesley director, accompanied the group.

The theme of the convention was "The Church and the World's Need." Dr. Samuel Stumpf, head of the Department of Philosophy at Vanderbilt University, was the speaker.

The Total Enlistment program will be held tonight in the center at 7:30 and the following Wednesday. Please come.

Baptist

On Thursday members of the BSU will entertain parents at McGuire Hospital in Richmond.

Baptist Students will have Fall House Cleaning at the center November 14. At this time the redecoration of the center will be completed with new furniture, rugs, and slipcovers. Come over any time during the day and lend a hand.

The freshman - sophomore YWA Circle will meet in Student 205 November 17 at 10 p.m. The junior-senior YWA Circle will meet in Barbara Elder's room in South Cunningham at the same time.

The program for the Baptist Training Union November 15 will be a panel discussion on religion and psychology.

Song Contest

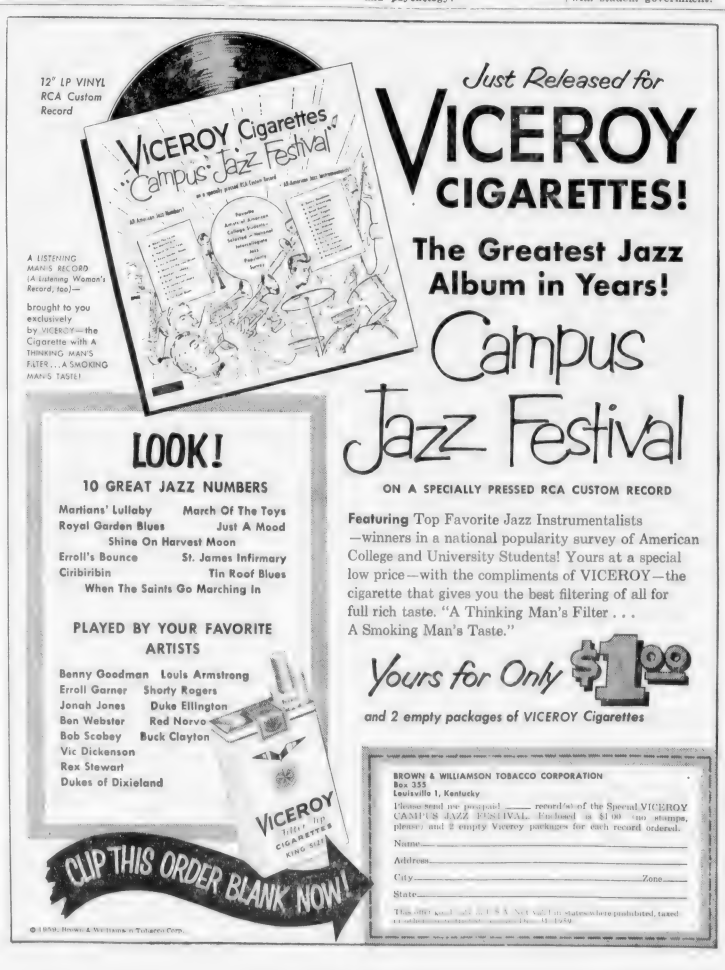
The assembly program for Tuesday, November 17, will consist of the annual Athletic Association song contest.

Sponsored by the Athletic Association, this is part of the color competition. Each class will present an orginally composed school song, and a prize will be awarded to the class whose song is judged best by a faculty committee.

Your Honor Societies

Pi Delta Epsilon Attains 50th Year

This year is the fiftieth anniversary of the establishing of Pi Delta Epsilon, the country's oldest national honorary journalistic fraternity.



The first chapter was organized at Syracuse University, December 6, 1909, and has since expanded to 75 chapters. The Longwood chapter was established in 1950.

Membership in the fraternity is open to juniors and seniors who have shown outstanding service for at least one year on either the college yearbook, magazine, or newspaper.

In providing a common meeting ground for staff members of all major publications, the organization promotes journalistic ethics, writings, and mechanics.

Officers for the year 1959-1960 are president, Barbara Rossiter; vice-president, Norrish Munson; secretary, Nancy Donaldson; treasurer, Barbara Bishop; historian, Julia Williams.

As a major project this year, Pi Delta Epsilon hopes to publish a student directory. Last year was the first time this convenient reference was distributed to the student body. Also among last year's activities was a football game with student government.

Buy Virginian Before Thanksgiving

The Rotunda

Support Sophs Attend Production

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., November 18, 1959 | No. 8

'Who's Who' Recognizes 17 Prominent Seniors

Sophomores' Production November 20 To Depict Days Of Vaudeville

Variety Of Acts, Authentic Attire To Spark Evening

"Another opening — another show!"

Jarman Hall will be transformed into the Palace Theater on Friday, November 20, at 8 p.m. when the sophomores present their production, "Command Performance," a reminiscence of vaudeville.

The show will include dances, songs, comedy routines, and pantomines.

Burnes, Allen Emcee

George Burnes and Gracie Allen, played by two sophomores, will act as masters of ceremonies for the production. They will introduce the various acts, and present a routine of their own.

The Charleston, a dance popular in the 1920's, is among the four dance acts which will be presented.

Several vaudeville favorites, such as Eddie Cantor and Tallulah Bankhead, will be portrayed. Other acts will include the Keystone Cops and a barbershop quartette.

Period Costumes Borrowed

Authentic costumes are being lent for several of the acts by Mr. and Mrs. John Mohr, parents of Dibby Mohr, a co-chairman of the production. Other costumes will be borrowed from the Longwood Players.

Wendy Warren and Jane Pennington will accompany the chorus on two pianos.

Many of the sophomores who are not in one of the acts are members of the chorus.

Co-chairmen for the production, who were chosen by the sophomore class, are Sue Beardmore and Dibby Mohr.

Committee Heads

Heading up the committees is Lois Peters and the committees and chairmen are as follows:

Music, Jane Pennington and Mattie McNeil; dance, Donna Marquette; script, Peggy Green; props, Carolyn Elliott; tickets, Frances Hoyle and Pat Duke; make - up, Ann Simmons and Judi Tucker.

Taking charge of the programs are Linda Jeffries, Claudia Wilson, and Nancy Pretty; posters, Lee Burnette; costumes, Ann McCants; stage, Jean Cloud; scenery, Leo Pagenhardt and Katie Fulton; lights, Charlotte Haile and Mary Lou Wood.

The public is invited to attend. There will be an admission charge of 35 cents.

STUDENT LETADERS selected for "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" include (sitting) D. Hilliard, C. Goodman, J. Peyton, J. Garner, (standing) C. Matthews, J. Williams, J. O'Connell, R. Denton, and N. Donaldson.

Contributions On Campus Form Basis For Selection

By Joann Kleineckle

Seventeen Longwood seniors will appear in the 1959-'60 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

These girls, chosen for their scholarship, contributions to extra-curricular activities, and promise of future usefulness, will have their names published along with those of other outstanding students in universities and colleges throughout the United States.

The final selection taken from lists of nominees compiled by student and faculty committees includes Barbara Bishop, Ruth Denton, Nancy Donaldson, Jo Ann Garner, Connie Goodman, Dixie Hilliard, Mary Linda League, Carol Matthews, Ann Mixon, Jean O'Connell, Jean Peyton, Barbara Rossiter, Nell Ward, Helen Wentz, Claudia Whipple, Julia Williams, and Chris Wilson.

Barbara Bishop

Barbara Bishop, an art major from Roanoke, is president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership society; in Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority, the Roanoke Club, Cotillion Club, and Pi Delta Epsilon. She has served as secretary of the Pan-Hellenic Council, was editor-in-chief of the 1958-59 Virginian and is a senior representative for the Virginian staff this year.

Ruth Denton

An elementary major from Abingdon, Ruth Denton has been active in the Student Government Association. She was class representative her freshman and sophomore years, treasurer her junior year, and this year is president of the association. Ruth is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, the Wesley Foundation, business manager of the Handbook, and has served on the Pan-Hellenic Council.

Nancy Donaldson

Business major Nancy Donaldson has been very active in water pageants and directed the Christmas water pageant last winter. The Roanoke senior was president of the H2O Club last year, treasurer of the junior class, is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, the Cotillion Club, Roanoke Club and Pi Delta Epsilon. Nancy, who was tapped for Alpha Kappa Gamma this fall, served as assistant business manager of the Virginian and is business manager this year.

Jo Ann Garner

Jo Ann Garner, from Chase City, is known for her very active participation in the various musical activities here at Longwood. The music major is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, the Cotillion Club, Student Education Association Kappa Delta Pi, and Sigma Alpha Iota. Jo Ann served as vice-president and accompanist for the choir last year and is president this year. She was junior Circus co-chairman last year and a member of Circus court.

Connie Goodman

Connie Goodman, a math major from Fries, is senior class president, a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority, Orchesis, the Lynchos Society, and the French Club. She was co-chairman of the junior dance, the junior class representative to Student Government and served as this year's general Circus chairman.

Dixie Hilliard

Dixie Hilliard, president of Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority, is an elementary major from Danville. She has played on the varsity basketball team, is a member of Cotillion Club, and has headed committees for the junior dance, and last year's water pageant. Dixie, a member of the choir since her freshman year, has been a soloist

(Continued on page 4)

AKG To Hold Convention November 20

The Alpha Kappa Gamma national convention will meet November 20-22, at Lander College in Greenwood, South Carolina.

The official Longwood delegates will be Carol Matthews and Ruth Denton. Mrs. Kathleen Cover, adviser, will accompany the group.

The following girls are representatives: Nancy Donaldson, Ann Hardy, Doris Kesling, Jean O'Connell, Jean Peyton, and Julia Williams.

There will be seven circles attending the convention, among them Joan Circle, Longwood College; Florence Nightingale Circle, University of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C.; Olympian Circle, Queens College, Charlotte, N. C.

Also, Clara Barton Circle, Columbia College, Columbia, S. C.; Florence Sabin Circle, College of Charleston, Charleston, S. C.; Sister Kenny Circle, Lander College, Greenwood, S. C.; and Helen Keller Circle, Erskine College, Due West, S. C.

Miss Elizabeth Burger is the national executive secretary-treasurer of Alpha Kappa Gamma. Nancy Brubeck, a 1959 graduate of Longwood, serves as national Torchbearer editor.

Estimates Thursday

Mid-term grade estimates will be given out Thursday, November 19, between 1 and 2 p.m. All freshmen will receive their grades from their faculty advisers then. Upperclassmen can get theirs from their mail boxes at this time.

Christmas Fiesta To Give Customs Of Spanish Lands

The Spanish club will present "Fiesta de Navidad," a Christmas festival, December 4 at 8 p.m. in the Main Rec.

The fiesta will portray Spanish Christmas customs and will include an array of Spanish songs and dances.

Christmas Story

Members of the Spanish classes will present the story of Mary and Joseph, "Las Posadas," which is customarily sung by the Spanish at Christmas time.

Another skit, "El Dia de los Reyes," will enact the day of the kings. On this day, January 6, Spanish children put their shoes outside the door and the kings fill them, just as Santa Claus fills the stockings of American boys and girls.

Break Pinatas

A highlight of the festival will be the breaking of the pinatas, which is a gala holiday custom. The pinata is a balloon-like bag filled with candy and nuts and hung from the ceiling. A person blindfolded breaks the bag and all scramble for the candy and nuts.

There will be four pinatas, each made by two girls from each Spanish class. The pinatas will be judged and the most attractive one will receive a prize.

Committee Heads

The chairmen of the committees for the festival are Bobby Koons, program; Ann Ranson, refreshments; Leslie Hall, tickets; Becky Tuck, props and decorations; Kaye Huffman, clean - up; and Sara Pizarro, song leader.

Tickets to the festival will be 25 cents per person and may be purchased from any Spanish club member.

Magazine Format To Show Changes With Fall Edition

The first issue of the Colonnade for the year 1959-60 will come out November 23.

The Colonnade, which is a literary magazine, is published three times a year—November, March, and May. The editor this year is junior Judy Harris.

The November issue will feature poems and short stories. Also, Mrs. Barbara S. Meeker, a former Longwood student and Colonnade editor, has reviewed the book, "The Cave," by Robert Penn Warren.

Changes are occurring this year in the magazine format. The new magazine will be 6 by 9 inches with about 40 pages as compared to the 7 by 12 inch 20-page issues of the past.

According to Judy, other changes will be no parody issues and no more center-page spreads.

She is now looking for a cover design which can be used permanently by varying the color from time to time. Students who have suggestions are encouraged to submit their designs to Judy, Dr. Richard K. Meeker, faculty adviser, or any staff member.

Students are also invited to contribute samples of their art, poetry or short stories to Dr. Meeker or to Judy.

Adams PlansProgram Around Piano Classics

Mr. Sterling Adams, assistant professor of music, will present a piano recital in Jarman Auditorium the evening of December 1.

Included in the program will be "Sonata in E Major," "Sonata in D Minor," and Sonata in B Flat Major." He will also play "Prelude, Chorale and Fugue" by Franck.

Following an intermission, Mr. Adams will play two intermezzos by Brahms, "Sonetto del Petrarca, No. 123" by Liszt and "Sonata, Op. 1" by Berg. The program will be concluded with Debussy's "L'isle Joyeuse."

YWCA Basket Drive Perpetuates Tradition

The annual Thanksgiving basket drive for food to be given to needy families in this area will continue through November 20.

A dedication service will follow after dinner in the Rotunda November 23. This service of Thanksgiving readings and songs will be held in place of the evening prayers.

Immediately following the dedication service, a Y-Come is scheduled in the Student Lounge. The Thanksgiving highlight of this service will be a presentation of short talks given by the local ministers on the "meaning and significance of Thanksgiving in our present day life."

Freshmen and transfers are particularly urged to support this new custom.

Annual Deadline

The deadline for buying the 1960 Virginian has been set at Wednesday, November 25. Staff members will be on the halls each evening to take money for subscriptions. The annual is priced at five dollars.

Senior Dance Co-Chairmen Develop Plans

The Seniors will hold their annual Christmas dance December 12 from 8 to 12 [illegible] the Longwood College gymnasium. Lucy Elliott and his Orchestra will supply the music for the dance.

Heading the [illegible] committees this year are seniors Ann Mixon and Carolyn Dellaven.

Ann, an elementary major from Roanoke, is a member of the Cotillion Club, technical director for the Longwood Players and assembles and a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority.

Acting as co-chairman with her is Carolyn Dellaven, a music major from Bedford. Carolyn is a member of the [illegible] Club, Alpha Iota, SEA, and Kappa Delta social sorority.

Acting as chairman of various committees are Addie Bethea and [illegible] Lancaster, decorations; Ann Northcutt, music; Norrish Munn, [illegible]; Mary Anne Montague, program; Sara Oliver and Katherine Key, party; [illegible]; Dixie Hilliard and Betty Taliaferro, publicity; Peggy Jones and Helen Rossiter, favors; Arlene McKay, invitations; and Lee Johnson, [illegible].

Party in Senior Room

Attired in white gowns, the seniors will present a figure during the dance. Afterward they will attend a party in the Senior room with their dates. The party will be [illegible].

Invitations to the dance are [illegible] and senior colonnaments.

Tickets priced at $2.50 per couple will go on sale Dec. 1. There will [illegible] tickets. The dance will [illegible] p.m.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN Peggy Green, Lois Peters, Carolyn Elliott and Ann McCants outline sophomore production progress.

Irritating Inattention

Dear Editor,

I would like to comment on the inattention of the students at Longwood.

This is particularly at the various meetings the student attend. [illegible] seem oblivious to anything except their own conversation. Of course the meeting is in complete disorder because of "small talk."

At times [illegible] also attend that are interested in hearing, which is impossible due to the continual buzz of voices all around.

A little consideration for the other person goes a long way.

—A Student

Days Of Thanks

Within the next week much will be heard about the Thanksgiving season. As November 26 draws near you anxiously await the holiday when you shall be with families and friends to celebrate the day. What thoughts and thanksgivings will be yours on that day? Still further can you question yourself — for what things have I to be thankful every day?

How often we take things for granted! How long has it been since you gave thanks for the privileges and opportunities that are yours here at Longwood College; for the many friendships and acquaintances that are yours; for strength and health of body; for the beauty of the day? Truly each day there should ring a sincere song of thanksgiving from your heart.

Our eyes often overlook those many beautiful small things for which we should be so thankful. For there are eyes who have never seen a sunset, a friend's smile, an autumn tree. Often our ears are deaf to the many blessings around us, while we forget those who have never heard. We treat a body so carelessly while others suffer or long for the ability to move, to walk. Many are the idle words we mutter without remembering those lips that are mute. How many precious gifts we have for which to give thanks to Him who provides such for us!

How will you spend the official Thanksgiving Day — or is every day a thanksgiving day to you?

—Jean Peyton, President, YWCA

The Rotunda

[illegible] PUBLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1959

Publication week [illegible] examination periods by the [illegible]

[illegible]

Dale [illegible] Theresa Mauzinger
Jo Ann [illegible] Mary Sue Lester
Sandra [illegible] Susan Gilbert
Joanne [illegible] Tommye Lester
Nancy [illegible] Peggy Lester
Judy [illegible] Dana Gilbert
Anne [illegible] Hedgepeth Lester
Carole [illegible] Ann Lester
Arlene [illegible] Carmichael Maxwell
Mary [illegible] Virginia Mauzinger
Dr. James [illegible] Nancy Nelson

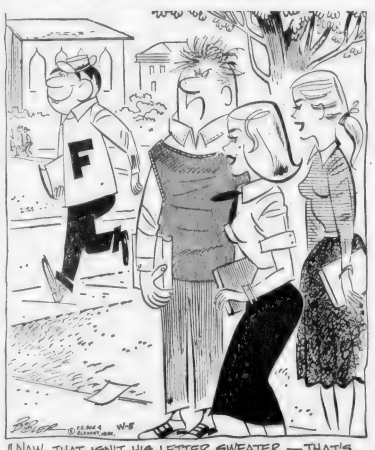
[illegible]

Mary [illegible] Associate Press
(Rufus [illegible] Intercollegiate Press)

NEWS [illegible]

[illegible]

Circulation [illegible]



[illegible]

ADVER[illegible]

[illegible]

Entered [illegible] Virginia, under the Act of [illegible] by the National [illegible]

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS BY BIBLER

"NAW, THAT ISN'T HIS LETTER SWEATER — THAT'S HIS GRADE AVERAGE."

Banks Hailed Superior In 'Plough And Stars'

By Jean Kidwell

There is a farm legend which goes "If you draw a circle of chalk on a barn floor, swing a hen around in the air and then set her down in the circle, she won't be able to cross the line. She is a prisoner in the chalk circle."

How aptly such a tale describes the situation in Sean O'Casey's play, "The Plough and the Stars," presented last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday by the Longwood Players.

This drama is the portrayal of people swung around in the circle of environment and bound by nothing more tangible than a chalk line — the tenement buildings in which they live and their self-imposed ignorance of any fuller life than that involved in alternating spiteful fighting among themselves.

War Effects

This play is a picture of Ireland during the 1916 Easter Week rebellion against English rule. The story of human characteristics of selfishness, love, death, struggle and slum existence is true of human emotions everywhere. The war involved has the effect of any war at any time—it absorbs and commands the actions of all concerned.

High comedy followed by stark tragedy emphasized the mood of war and conflict but perplexed the audience. The swift change from comedy to tragedy left them bewildered as to whether to laugh or cry at such lines as Jack Clitheroe's, "Oh, well, if you're goin' to be snotty." This was a serious moment of the play between Jack and his wife, Nora, who wants to break the circle by raising them out of the slums.

The love scene between Nora, played by Mary Beth Olson, and Jack, Norton Howe, was unconvincing and awkward.

Love Proves Tragic

The tragedy of their love grows, however, as Mary Beth convincingly portrayed Nora's passage from mere anger and distress through hysteria to the final calamity of paranoia after Jack is killed and she loses their baby.

Garnett Smith as Fluther Good, Bill Cassidy as Peter Flynn, and Alan Stein as the Covey are all bound by the circle but enjoy their lives. Their pleasure lies in "thwartin' and tormentin' " each other.

These characters represent the general public, all ready to dress up in brass buttons and plumes and sing of brave deeds. But when the fight starts, they duck to the center of their circle and play a game of tossers, slipping out only to raid a pub.

Garnett Smith gave his usual unusually good performance in his first attempt in a character role. In the drunk scene and the bar scene, he was "hammy" but hilarious.

The bar scene was one of the finest episodes of the play. Bill Ragsdale gave an excellent interpretation of the bartender—not so much through speech as through actions and expressions. Bobbie Caples as Rosie Redmond was appealing but not exactly the prostitute type.

The one character not bound by the circle is the consumptive child, Mollser, played by Elaine Lohr. Though tuberculosis is the result of tenement conditions, Elaine raised Mollser beyond the circle and the people therein. When she dies, it is by the hand of God and not by the war.

Patsy Ann Scott, as Mrs. Gogan, participates in the war when it suits her pleasure. She is thrilled with the thought of seeing men "hangin' at th' end of a rope . . . eyes bulgin' an' . . . legs twistin' and jerkin'." Patsy Ann was convincing and comical in the fight scene with Mrs. Burgess.

Banks Excels

By far the star of the drama was Neal Banks as Bessie Burgess. Bessie is the protagonist and antagonist; she is the one who opposes the war and in the end dies through it; she is the example of the extremes of character—apathy and self-sacrifice. Bessie is the seer, the predicter of action.

Neal not only played Bessie; she was Bessie and it was a pleasure to watch her performance.

Praise must be given to the scenery and lighting effects. The four complete sets were a credit to behind-the-scenes crews. Lighting was brilliant and intensified the mood, particularly the red during the battle scenes and dimness during episodes of deep emotion.

Student Teachers Report Essential Courses Lacking

Future student teachers, have you had a course in Tumbling 367? How about "The Care and Handling of Green Snakes," 202? Or "How to Answer Unanswerable Questions Posed by Precocious Fourth Graders" 223?

From the reports of student teachers just back from assignments in Roanoke, such courses are absolute essentials.

Janet Ayres, who taught history at William Fleming, found a course in carpentry would have been helpful when someone "borrowed" the door knobs from her classroom. No one could get in or out until a talented student picked the lock. Janet says that she was so nervous on her first day of teaching that she went through two days of lesson plans in the first half hour of class.

Jean Johnson, who taught the fourth grade at Grandin Court School, was completely stumped when one of her pupils asked "Just how does a river start, Miss Johnson?"

Teachers may not get paid much, but the profession might prove lucrative if one doesn't have a conscience. One of Jean's pupils offered to ask her father (who works for the Greyhound bus line) to get Jean a bus ticket back to college since the little girl had forgotten to bring her teacher a good-bye gift.

What to do with a parting gift of a squirrel's tail was a problem faced by Many Anne Montague who taught the fourth grade at Wasena School. When one of her students learned that Mary Ann was leaving, his only comment was "Ah, heck! Just when I was getting better."

On her last day of teaching, Arlene McKay told her seventh grade at Lee Junior High that she had a surprise for them. One little girl said, "Oh, Miss McKay, I know what it is. You're engaged!" Then one of the little boys said, "No,

(Continued on page 4)

Socially Speaking

Dads Select 'Good' Queen, H-S Festivities Offer Fun

By Sandie Farish

News Flash! Longwood junior, Kitty Good, was crowned Dad's Day queen at Hampden-Sydney during the football game halftime festivities. Representing Kappa Sigma fraternity, she was a credit to Longwood and Hampden-Sydney.

Longwood can be justly proud of three other students also. Senior Barbara Rossiter represented the PiKAs, Mary Bettie Watkins, sophomore, was the Kappa Alpha candidate, and senior Barbara Bunch represented Sigma Chi.

Receive Diamonds

"Diamonds are a girl's best friend," agree Nancy Buckingham and Ellen Powell. Nancy is flashing the beautiful diamond Jody Dixon of Norfolk presented her while Ellen's sparkler came from Gordon Perkinson.

Ginny Whipple is excited over the KA pin given her by Tommy Davidson of Hampden-Sydney.

A few of our "traveling Longwood ladies" were seen on various campuses in and out of the state of Virginia. In Virginia, Linda Poff was seen at the KA dance at Roanoke College, Judy Harris and Betty Ann Harrell visited UVa., and Jane Callis was entertained at the University of Richmond.

Lexington's VMI lured Margaret Powers, Doris Tolley, Brenda Dod, Jean Dancy, Sally Sims, Pat McMillen, Bev Kersey, Nancy Inge, Nancy Harnsberger, Ann Snyder, and Sue Spicer.

Party In NC

North Carolina attracted many. Ann Simmons, Sandra Bryant, and Jean Underwood had a ball at UNC; NC State welcomed Carole Buckner, and Davidson entertained Nancy Wingfield.

Enjoying the Duke-Wake Forest game were Mary Lee Warriner and Pat Stout. Traveling all the way to New Jersey to visit Princeton University was Rebecca Reamy.

Attend Dad's Day

Quite a number enjoyed the Dad's Day game, festivities, and parties at Hampden-Sydney. Congratulating Kitty Good were Ginny Peters, Gretchen Zimmerman, Lois Peters, Mary Alice White, Beck Tuck, Holly Thompson, Margy Shumate, Carol Boley, Oreta Norris. Also, Cherron Kelly, Louise Johns, Carolyn Oliver, Pat Callahan, Margaret Tatterson, Lee Walker, Donna McIlwaine, Becky Wooldridge, and Betty Jane Allgood.

Getting into the fun and swing of things were Nancy Shaw, Dottie Brown, Patsy Scott, Libby Arehart, Ann Allen, Pooh Butterworth, Patsy Carr, Judy Dodson, Shirley Day, Betty Chappell, Nancy Cecil, Fran Gallahan, Audrey Gill, Margaret Green, Carolyn Grinstead, Melissa Harrell, Shirley Harmon, Pat Morgan, Shirley Mills, Ann Mayo, Maxine Miller, Judy Jones, Suzanne Ship, Jo Savage, Pat Sadler, Carolyn Rancorn, Gerry Rakes, and Shirley Powell.

Dance at H-S

Others seen out at the 'hill' were Norah Elliot, Barbara Kurfes, Susan Rollins, Jean Smith, Carol Nye, Betsy Boswell, Rosa Pettit, Lois Gardner, Bebo Purcell, Judi Davis, Dedi Davis, Joyce Outland, Dudlie Brooks, Frankie Ware, Nancy Channalt, Brenda Almond, Joan Ivy.

Others include Donna Oakes, Harriet Hunt, Mary Warren, Ann Greene, Brenda Smith, Marty Wyatt, Pam Bullin, Shirley Russell, Joanne Vinson, Cape Sammis, Joan Barnett, Judy Turner, Jo Bartley, Gwen Watkins, Suzanne Jones, Anne Bradley, Janice Harris, Nancy Hood, and Shirley Martin.

Dancing to the terrific combo rythmns were Betty Paulette, Bobbi Loth, Charlene Owen, Aleta Goodwyn, Carolyn Buscemi, Lani Robinson, Wistie Rochelle, Gari Dickson, Betty Stack, Suzane Davis, Donna Frantzen, Marilyn Miller, Peggy Roth, Betty Keel, Gail Crawford.

Still others were Idella Boyer, Bobbie Hughes ,Becky Brehm, Muriel Goldman, Alice White, Jane Bowling, Josie O'Hop, Virginia Wilson, Diana French, Vonnie Jones, Betty Jones, Annette Poindexter, Barbara Muehler, and Kay Nottingham.

Find Combos Fun

Others "cutting a rug" were Katie Fulton, Liz Deichmann, Gaynor Van Landingham, Betty Dawson, Mary Lou Grasty, Marjorie Freese, Bonnie Irby, Leo Pagenhardt, Carol Sprague, Kathi Crowder, Susan Kelley, Charlotte Haile, Ann Bass, Ginger Culpepper, Sally Myers, Joyce Farr, Gerry Edmonds, Sally Smith, Carletta Wisecarver.

Also, Shelvy Kerr, Nell Horsley, Dotsy Moody, Frances Norment, Roberta Cobb, Joan King, Jane Martin, Nancy Nelson, Bobbie Meador, Liz Dozier, Nan McLaughlin, and Sandie Farish.

Seen partying from house to house along fraternity circle were Sara Oliver, Beverly Gaskins, Carol Matthews, Emmy Lu Critcher, Mary Anne Montague, Nancy Pradel, Betty Olive, Carol Cutler, Tinsley Crump, Frankie Click.

Another group included Duner Cahill, Justine Blount, Claudia Whipple, Billie Shores, Robin Authur, Clara Miles Shumadine, Barbara Simpkins, Norrish Munson, Paulita Patterson, Becky McGrath, Blanche Ingram, Mary Lee Jones, Demetria Koumparakis, Barbara Stephenson and Yvonne Webb.

An Autumn Night

By Matilda Powell

Beauty speaks,
And mankind dare not breathe.

Silent the night
As the moon makes its snail-paced way
Across the darkened sky.
Veiled in mystery by the chiffon clouds,
It hangs, keeping watch in the loneliness of the night.
The wind stirs,
Caressing the lean, limber limbs,
Kissing its lover earth,
Lightly, as a moth brushing its wings on the spider's web.
The half-foliaged trees, silhouetted against the sky,
Whisper to one another their tales of bygone days,
Whisper their predictions of coming winter.
The firefly stars beckon invitingly,
Then play hide-and-seek with the moon and the clouds.

Ah, no more, no more;
Let beauty rest
And mankind catch his breath.

Tidewater Hockey Games Give Experience, Pleasure

Hollins College played hostess to the Southeastern Hockey Tournament held November 15-16.

Four teams were selected from this tournament to compete at the National Hockey Tournament in Washington.

Representing the Tidewater District from Longwood were juniors, Mary Hite Grayson, Barbara Brantley, and Pat Southworth. The girls were accompanied by Miss Olive Iler, Miss Elizabeth Burger, and Miss Rebecca Brockenbrough.

Team districts represented at the tournament were as follows: Tidewater, Blue Ridge, Washington, Baltimore, and Delaware.

Each district was represented by a first and second team. Mary Hite and Barbara played right half and center forward, respectively, on the first team, and Pat played fullback on the second team.

Highlighting the tournament was an exhibition game played Sunday. At this time the four teams were selected to play at the National Hockey Tournament.

The Southeastern District will play hostess at the National Tournament to be held in Washington. This enabled the selection of four teams from this district, instead of the usual two.

In the Southeastern Tournament the Tidewater team played the Blue Ridge, Washington and Baltimore teams. The competition was not for a winning team, but among the individual players who were vying for selection as representatives to the National Tournament.

Of interest to Longwood Hockey fans were three former graduates playing for the Washington team. They were Nancy Richardson, '58; Carole Wolfe, '58; and Loretta Kuhns, '57. A good showing of Longwood alumnae also attended the game.

The theme of the National Tournament in Washington will be "Physical Fitness." This will be in relation to the physical fitness movement initiated by President Eisenhower. For this reason, the tournament should be nationally publicized.

Scheduled for an appearance at the game is Vice-President Richard Nixon, chairman of the Physical Fitness Committee.

The Longwood girls participating in the tournament commented on the good planning that Hollins showed as hostess. As such they entertained for the visiting teams at a banquet Saturday night and at several teas.

Choir's Holiday Plans Include VMI Concert

The Longwood choir's Christmas program includes an appearance with the Virginia Military Institute glee club and a performance in Richmond.

The choir will join with the VMI glee club December 13 to present their annual Christmas concert. Mr. J. Pierce will conduct the combined choral groups. Mr. James McCombs will lead the Madrigal Singers for a portion of the program.

Although the final program is not decided, the glee clubs will definitely combine voices for the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah."

December 6, the Longwood choir will go to Richmond where they will sing at the First Baptist Church.

SEA Meeting Draws Delegates To Roanoke

Joann Tench, Callie Johnson, and Janice McClenny, accompanied by Mr. Charles Patterson, attended the Student Education Association convention at the Hotel Roanoke Friday and Saturday, November 13 and 14.

Callie Johnson served as the corresponding secretary for the meeting.

Highlights of the convention were speeches by Dr. Williams, executive secretary of the VEA, and by Dr. Holt, president of the University of Tennessee, who spoke at the banquet on Friday night.

There were delegates attending who represented the high school chapters of the Future Teachers of America and the college student's organization, the SEA.

WATER PAGEANT CHAIRMEN Bonnie Keys and Carol Matthews discuss plans for show.

H20 Pageant To Spotlight 'Carols By Starlight'

"Carols by Starlight" has been selected as the theme of the Christmas water pageant sponsored by the H2O Club, December 10 and 11.

Although the numbers in the pageant are planned around Christmas Carols, the mood is semi-religious. "Ave Maria," a slow moving number performed by the synchronized swimming class is actually the only religious number.

Other numbers include "We Three Kings" by a trio; "O Holy Night;" "I Saw Three Ships," a diving number; "O Little Town of Bethlehem;" "O Come All Ye Faithful;" "Angels from the Realms of Glory;" "Greensleeves;" "Joy to the World;" "The First Noel;" and "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear."

Plans are now to place a carolers' scene against the black cheesecloth backdrops used for the first time in last year's spring water pageant.

Co-chairmen of the production are Carol Matthews and Bonnie Keys.

Committee heads are as follows: Annis Norfleet and Beverly Kersey, backdrops; Shirley Mills and Nancianne Frye, costumes; Nancy Donaldson and Lois Peters, music; Cherry Gorham, publicity; Julie Hollyfield and Jean Helms, programs; Barbara Brantley and Dixie Hilliard, lighting; Ruth Talley and Hannah White, props.

Practices begin November 18, and mass rehearsal will be held December 8 and 9.

Carol Matthews asks that, "anyone interested in helping the H2O Club on any committee, see either Bonnie or me."

Timely Topics

Ike's Trip, India's Border Highlight News For Week

Abroad, the keynotes in the news are Ike's planned visit to nine countries of Southern Europe and Asia, preceding the Dec. 19 presummit conference in Paris, and India's trouble - infested Kashmir border, separating Ladakh from Red China.

At home, interest is still pinpointed in the ever-present steel crisis, hanging on the thin 80-day thread, and the disclosure of deceit and perjury in the television industry.

In an effort to raise the U. S.'s already high stock and to get in a diplomatic hand-shaking of his own, President Eisenhower announced his decision recently to take a nine-nation swing around Europe and Asia.

High point of his visit will be India, troubled now by a festering problem that neutralist Prime Minister Nehru hopes to ease with the visit. Ike will fly out of Andrews Air Force Base, Maryland, around midnight, December 3.

While talking with Nehru, it is expected that Eisenhower will voice his disapproval of Red China's infringement into Indian territory. Nehru himself seems uncertain over a settling action that will declare India's intentions. Last week, goaded by student uprising and unfavorable press notices, Nehru exploded in his monthly press conference. "What do you expect me to do, or India to do, get excited, stand on its head, run about, write leading articles, morning and evening? What do you expect me to do, really, really?"

Across the nation, opinion is still lodged unfavorably against the stubborn, uncompromising positions of both management and labor.

Political pros feel that the apparent indifference of steel negotiators to reach a settlement will play a large part in the forthcoming presidential campaigns, and that candidates, taking their cue from the issue of gain and economic wealth, will aim an attack at U. S. softness and materialism.

The evidence of fraud and deception in the TV industry, shown to be a long-standing and accepted procedure, was so shocking to millions of people that the New York Times was moved to write: "What has been revealed is deplorable in respect to the level of public morality both in the industry and in the individual."

College To Buy Suits, All Students To Enjoy School Swimming Pool

To enable all students to enjoy the college swimming pool, the H2O Club has launched a new project. If the new plan is carried through, the college will buy all tank suits which have been sold to individual students.

The swim suits will be college property and any college student will be able to simply ask for a suit in her size when she wishes to use the pool. Students in swimming classes will follow the same procedure.

Tentative payments for suits already owned by students have been set up. New suits, sold for $4.50, will be bought back by the school for $3.75. New suits bought from the college last year for $4.50 can be re-sold to the school for $2.25.

Girls who bought second-hand suits this year will be paid $1.75 when they are returned. Second-hand suits which were bought last year for $2.50 will sell for $1.25.

Students owning tank suits who have not received notice concerning the sale are to contact Mrs. Eleanor Bobbitt by Friday, November 20.

Classes Compete

The sister class hockey games were played November 17.

The freshmen team played the juniors, winning 2-0. Josey O'Hop and Carol Nye made the goals.

The sophomores defeated the senior team with a score of 2-0. Lois Peters made both goals for the sophomores.

Color Rush is after the games between the juniors and seniors and the freshmen and sophomores on November 19.

Expert Coach Visits, Tells Hockey History

By Carolyn Elliott

Since coming to the United States in 1931 to attend Harvard Summer School, Miss Constance Applebee has continued to make annual visits, encouraging and coaching amateur fans in the game of field hockey.

This past week Miss Applebee spent at Longwood coaching the class teams and visiting Miss Elizabeth Burger.

Began Women's Hockey Here

Miss Applebee is known as the starter of women's field hockey in the United States. In the summer of 1901, at the request of the head of the physical education department at Vassar College, Miss Applebee demonstrated the first game of women's field hockey in this country in back of Hemingway Gymnasium at Harvard.

The same year she demonstrated this game to several other northern colleges. Because the sport was well liked by the students and professors, hockey began to grow.

In 1905 Miss Applebee became physical education instructor for Bryn Mawr College, holding this position for 25 years. During this time, eight teams organized clubs around the Philadelphia area.

The first team from the United States went to England in 1920 where they saw a real game of hockey for the first time.

Hockey Association Founded

The next year, England was invited to play in this country. At a banquet held during this visit, the United States Field Hockey Association was founded.

Two years later Miss Applebee organized the first hockey camp in this country. Twenty-five campers were enrolled for each of the periods. Today she directs this same hockey camp which draws an average enrollment of 250 school, college, and club players.

Miss Applebee was recognized early by the USFHA when honorary membership in this organization was given to her. She is also honorary editor of the Eagle, the official publication of the USFHA. On the 50th anniversary of her introduction of hockey to this country, she was again honored.

Continues Coaching

Although Miss Applebee maintains a home in Bexley, England, she has become an American citizen. Having coached hockey from coast to coast in California, she still spends the season in active coaching.

Miss Applebee expressed her feeling about the game when she replied that "hockey should be kept as a amateur game and played for the sake of the game."

Football Fanfare

Tech-VMI To Vie Thanksgiving Day

By Marjorie Freese

Virginia Tech has the honor of breaking West Virginia. It was a cold day, that could have been the reason that West Virginia's team touchdown seemed slowed.

The score was the Gobblers 12, the Mountaineers 0. This puts Tech in the Spotlight for Big Five and the Southern Conference. It seems as though it will be the usual great competition between VMI and VPI in their annual Thanksgiving Day game.

VMI smashed the Citadel, 32-8, to stay in the Southern Conference race. The Citadel came into the game with great hopes and expectations and a record of 4-0. But the Keydets bowled them over. The Keydet's score in the Southern Conference is 4-0-1 against Tech's record of 3-0.

Virginia did it again. It lost. This time the winning team was North Carolina with a score of 41-0. The North Carolina team broke two ACC records. These were the number of first downs in a game and total offense. There was a total of 32 first downs.

The Natives were on the warpath as the William and Mary Indians defeated the Florida Seminoles 9-0. Florida was really stunned because it was slated as the favorite.

Washington and Lee was defeated by Sewanee with a 14-15 score.

Hampden-Sydney topped Centre 19-14. The Tigers were in some trouble at the beginning of the game when Centre was leading by 7-0, and they pulled ahead in the third quarter to win.

Glamourama

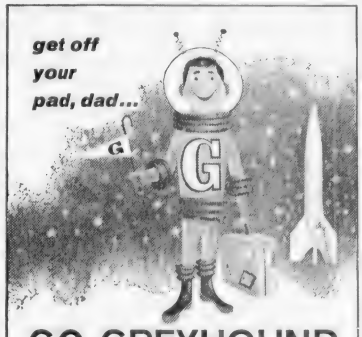
By IDA SOUTHALL

COORDINATED COLORS

Hair coloring gets more popular all the time. Just as you choose your clothes in becoming colors, you must choose your hair color in a becoming color too. To be sure your hair is a color that adds to your appearance and is right for your complexion, consult a color artist. And the style must be as right for you as the color. If you want your hair cut in the style that's best for you, come to Vanity Beauty Shop, Farmville. Dial EX 2-4460.

OPEN WEDNESDAY

For the smartest figure try the S & S Contour Shop next door. A few treatments and you will see the difference.



GET YOUR COPY!!
Dr. James Wellard's
"The Affair in Arcady"
$3.75
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
Phone EX 2-4027

TEN TOP TUNES

1. Don't You Know
2. Unforgettable
3. In The Mood
4. Primrose Lane
5. First Love, First Tears
6. Danny Boy
7. Pretend
8. Plenty Good Lovin'
9. The Clouds
10. You're Gon'na Miss Me

Get Your Records at
WILSON'S HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

LONGWOOD JEWELERS
where
all college jewelry may be selected.
Charge accounts to everyone!

GO GREYHOUND
(for out-of-this-world savings!)

No, there's no Greyhound Scenicruiser® Service to outer space—yet. But if you're rocketing home for the holidays, there's no better way to go! It costs less than driving your own jalopy, too. With this exclusive Greyhound Service, you get more—pay less. Get in orbit...go Greyhound.

COMPARE THESE LOW, LOW FARES:

EX 2-5153 *plus tax

BAGGAGE PROBLEMS? You can take more with you on a Greyhound. Or, send your belongings by Greyhound Package Express. They arrive in hours and cost you less!

It's such a comfort to take the bus . . . and leave the driving to us!

GREYHOUND

Mens' Honorary ODK Guides AKG Charter

By Lillie Rogers

The history of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary society for leadership, is closely allied with the growth of Longwood.

In 1927, several students at the State Teacher's College at Farmville felt that there was need for an organization which would unite the leaders of the various college activities.

Encouraged by Miss Florence Stubbs, a member of the faculty, they wrote to 16 colleges in the southeast searching for information of similar organizations.

Influenced By ODK

An enthusiastic response was received from Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president of Washington and Lee, who suggested that the students contact Omicron Delta Kappa, an honorary organization for men at the University of South Carolina. His suggestion was followed, and, in the spring of 1926, the Joan circle of Alpha Delta Rho, based on the constitution of Omicron Delta Kappa, was established at the college.

On January 28, 1928, at the University of South Carolina, another honorary society for women, Gamma Omega Pi, held its first tapping to initiate members.

These two new organizations realized their similar interests and purposes and decided to merge under a new name. On May 12, 1928 at Queens College, the two societies became the first charter members of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Today Alpha Kappa Gamma circles, all named after outstanding women, are located in South Carolina, North Carolina, and Virginia.

Taps Twice Yearly

The Joan Circle at Longwood was named for Joan of Arc, already a patron saint of the college. Twice each year membership in the circle is open to girls who have caught the spirit of Longwood and have shown strength in athletics, campus leadership, social leadership, or scholarship.

Each fall the Joan Circle sponsors Circus. Another yearly project is the Christmas door-decorating contest.

Through these and other activities, and through recognition by membership, Alpha Kappa Gamma attempts to foster the ideals exemplified by Joan of Arc.

The officers this year are as follows: president, Barbara Bishop; vice-president, Carol Matthews; secretary, Jo Ann Garner; treasurer, Jean O'Connell; historian, Ruth Denton.

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of articles to acquaint the student body with the college honorary societies. Last week Pi Delta Epsilon was featured.)

Teachers

(Continued from page 2)

that's not it. She's going back to school and she's going to take two classes—'How to Catch a Man' and 'How to Hold Him After He Has Been Caught'."

Some of Callie Johnson's English students at Jefferson High wanted to call her by her first name. She had to send one boy to detention hall for this reason. After being mistaken for a student, Callie developed the habit of looking at her feet to make sure she had on heels.

Callie says she didn't realize what an influence teachers had on students, but within two weeks, six girls had their hair cut just like hers.

Ann Elliott's fourth graders at Crystal Spring wanted to know if she were married. When she said no, they called her Mrs. Elliott anyway.

Such are the problems of teachers. Isn't it a wonder that so many can't wait to get that diploma and move into their own classroom.

Alpines Count 10

The cigarette contest now in progress between Longwood sororities and Hampden-Sydney fraternities has one major rule revision. Alpine wappers will count 10 instead of 5 points as previously announced. The competition closes December 3, but half of each group's boxes must be turned in by November 23.

SENIOR DANCE HEADS Carolyn DeHaven and "Mo" Mixon compare progress reports for coming event. (See story on page one) for various Longwood programs and assemblies.

'Who's Who' Recognizes 17

(Continued from page 1)

Mary Linda League

An English major from Salem, Mary Linda League has been outstanding in various phases of dramatics at Longwood. A member of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority, she acted as student director for several plays and was one of the co-chairmen for the 1958 May Day dance, a committee head for May Day of the same year. Mary Linda was secretary of the Longwood Players, is stage manager this year and art editor of the 1959 Colonnade. She was tapped for Alpha Kappa Gamma this fall.

Carol Matthews

Carol Matthews, a social science major from Salem, was class representative to Student Government for two years, was secretary of the association last year, and is senior class representative this year. She was animal trainer for Circus her sophomore year and co-chairman for last year's winter water pageant. Carol is a member of the H2O Club, Cotillion Club, Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, and is vice-president of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Ann Mixon

An elementary major from Roanoke, Ann Mixon is a member of the Cotillion Club, the Longwood Players, Baptist Student Union, the Roanoke Club, and Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority. "Mo" was Circus ringmaster her junior year, worked on lighting for the 1959 May Day Dance and designed the lighting for this fall's play, "The Plough and the Stars."

Jean O'Connell

Jean O'Connell, a biology major from Springfield, has been an active participant in Longwood sports. She has played varsity basketball and hockey, and was one of this year's recipients of a Blue Blazer. Jean, who is vice-president of the Student Government Association, is also treasurer of Alpha Kappa Gamma and a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, H2O Club, Cotillion Club, Newman Club, Monogram Club and Orchesis. She was president of the junior class and treasurer of the AA Council last year.

Jean Peyton

President of the "Y," Jean Peyton is an elementary major from Snell. She is a member of the Cotillion Club, Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority and is co-chairman of the 1960 State Y-Conference. Jean was president of her class her freshman and sophomore years, a member of the Y-Cabinet last year, and is one of the new members tapped by Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Barbara Rossiter

Barbara Rossiter, a business major from Arlington, is the business manager of the Colonnade and president of Pi Delta Epsilon. She is also vice-president of the senior class, treasurer of Kappa Delta Pi, and a member of Cotillion Club and Sigma Kappa social sorority. Barbara served as one of the co-chairmen for junior dance last year.

Neil Ward

Neil Ward, also a business major, is from Richmond. She was house president her freshman year, treasurer of House Council her sophomore year, vice-president last year, and is president this year. The literary editor of the Virginian for 1959-60, she was a junior class representative to the annual last year and a member of the Colonnade business staff. Neil is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority, the Pan-Hellenic Council, and Kappa Delta Pi.

Helen Wente

An elementary major from Warwick, Helen Wente is vice-president of the "Y," vice-president of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority, and a member of the H2O Club and Cotillion Club. Helen served as secretary of her class her freshman and sophomore years, headed committees for both water pageants last year, and is serving her third year as class representative to the Virginian.

Claudia Whipple

Claudia Whipple, a physical education major from Middleburg, is president of the AA Council this year. She has played class hockey, basketball, volleyball and softball and has played varsity basketball three years and varsity hockey for two years. Claudia is in the Monogram Club, Cotillion Club, Granddaughters Club and Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority. She also represented Longwood College in Roanoke's Harvest Bowl Festival this year.

Julia Williams

An elementary major from Louisa, Julia Williams is House Council vice- president for this year. She is also president of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority, a member of Cotillion Club, historian for Pi Delta Epsilon, and assistant editor of this year's Virginian. Julia was co-photography editor of the 1959 Virginian, editor of this year's Handbook, and is one of the new members of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Chris Wilson

Chris Wilson, an elementary major from Hopewell, is serving as president of Kappa Delta social sorority for the second year and is vice-president of the Student Education Association. A member of Cotillion Club, she has been a class representative to Student Government for two years.

High School Guests Carry Varied Recollections Home

The size of the college and the new and unusual dormitory life were only two points that senior high school girls from 17 Virginia schools felt they would remember from the week end spent here November 14-15.

Newport News High School, with 15 representatives, and Jefferson High School, with nine, were the schools with the largest number of girls attending the first high school week end of the year.

Other schools represented were as follows: Appomattox, Blacksburg, Crewe, Cumberland, Great Bridge, Highland Springs, Lane, Lexington, Osbourn, Petersburg, Prince George, Thomas Jefferson, Wakefield, Washington- Lee, and Garfield.

Summing up most of the girls' feeling about their stay here, Marlene McSweeney of Newport News High School said, "The congeniality of the people at Longwood is simply wonderful. It seems to be one of the nicest and most comfortable schools in the South. The feeling of pride in the college is fabulous."

Registration for the visiting girls was carried on Saturday morning by members of the Northern Neck Club, assisted by members of the freshman class.

After lunch college administrators met with the visitors to acquaint them with Longwood's policies. A picnic supper followed campus tours held in the afternoon.

The evening's entertainment consisted of the Longwood Players' production. Later that night the freshmen presented a sing in the Rotunda for the guests.

Library Shows Work By Virginia's Artists In Two-Week Displays

Assembled by the Art Department of the Virginia Education Association, art exhibitions from the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts are sent to the Longwood library once a month for two-week periods.

These exhibits feature art work done by Virginia school students, and Virginia artists.

"Art in Elementary and Secondary Schools," which was here until today, featured still life, portrait and "action" pictures by Virginia students. For the most part, these pictures were colorful and needed no explanation as to what they represented.

The next exhibit will be in the library from December 1-14, and will be "Water Colors, Prints, and Drawings by Virginia Artists."

Appearing in February will be an exhibit including work by Longwood students.

Lychnos Society, Granddaughters Extend Fall Bids

Lychnos

Lychnos honorary society in science and mathematics, issued bids yesterday to the following upperclassmen:

Seniors Jean O'Connell, Bonnie Keys, and Tae Wamsley; juniors Carol Boley, Barbara Bolster, Page Davis, Janice McClenny, Judy Owen, Joyce Odom, Nancy Speakman, Doris Tolley, and Wirtley Raine.

Granddaughters

The Granddaughters Club of Longwood has issued bids to girls who are the daughters and granddaughters of Longwood alumnae.

The following received bids: Julia Waldo, Barbara Gray Martin, Margaret Vaughan, Anne Bolderson, Gari Dickson, Bobbi Mast, Suzanne Jones, Sally Anne Smith, Louise Parrcell.

Also receiving them are Phyllis Carwile, Betty Brothers, Becky Helfer, Shelbey Jean Lucy, Frances Turner, Annice Bailey, Kay Nottingham, Ann Tweedy, Jean Pollard, Sally Wiley, Anne Greene, Jo Anna Young, Judith Ashley, Sarah Boswell, Betty Browning.

Others include Betsy Croswell, Courtney Dowell, Laurice Hamlet, Eleanor Jones, Marilyn Rae Miller, Rosa Pettit, Diane Virginia Pezella, Elizabeth Robinson, Wister Rochelle, Mildred Swift, Alice White and Joanne White.

Henry Ward Beecher:

"I can forgive, but I cannot forget," is only another way of saying, "I will not forgive." Forgiveness ought to be like a canceled note—torn in two and burned up, so that it never can be shown against one. —Quoted by Herbert V. Prochnow in "A Family Treasury of Inspiration and Faith" (W. A. Wilde)

—Reader's Digest

Church News

Methodist Group Attends World Christian Seminar

METHODIST

Attending the World Christian Community Seminar at Mary Washington College November 21-22 will be Ann Elliott, Nancy Hague, Bea Rowles, and Malinda Ayres, director of the Wesley Foundation. The speakers for the seminar will be from Chile, Africa, Japan, Egypt, the Phillippines, and the United States.

Plans are being made to attend the U. N. Model Assemble to be held at William and Mary February 19-21. Linda McPherson, Bea Rowles, Pat Barrow, Judy Martin, Deanne Hogge, and Becky Carpenter are meeting now to prepare for this assembly.

Methodist students are asked to donate to the Christmas Stocking Fund, which is for inmates of state institutions. Envelopes will be given out for this purpose. See either Nancy Martin or Malinda Ayres for details.

BAPTIST

Norma Jean Baker, representative of the Carver School of Missions and Social Work will be at the BSU Center December 1. Anyone interested in talking with Miss Baker about graduate study in the social or mission field may make appointments with Joan Spencer.

NEWMAN CLUB

Last week the Newman Club had their Religious Emphasis Week with the Reverend Francis Celinski.

The Newman Club Convention will be held at the University of Virginia November 20-22. The following girls will attend: Sam Murray, Arlene McKay, and Dorothy Kaiser.

See Newman Club members for Christmas cards. They are out in a box.

State Theatre
FARMVILLE, VA.
SHOW TIMES
SUNDAYS
Afternoon:—1:15 and 3:15
Evening:—7:15 and 9:15
Monday Tru Fridays
Afternoons:—3:15
Evenings:—7:00 and 9:00
SATURDAYS
Continous Showing
3:15 to 11:00
Wed.-Thurs. Nov. 18-19
Mario Lanza
Zsa Zsa Gabor
"For The First Time"
Fri.-Sat. Nov. 20-21
Robert Ryan
Burl Ives
"Day Of The Outlaw"
Sun.-Mon.-Tues.
Nov. 22-23-24
Leslie Caron
Henry Fonda
"The Man Who Understood Women"

BUY YOUR CHRISTMAS PRESENTS
AT
MARTIN, the JEWELER
Farmville, Va.

Only 32 More Shopping Days!
'Til CHRISTMAS!
Shop Early
at
LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP
Across From
Jarman Auditorium

SPECIAL
SCHOOL BLOUSES
$1.98
DOROTHY MAY

What Makes Pop Corn Pop?

Popping corn contains water. When the water gets hot enough, the kernel explodes. Result: popcorn.

We're not passing this information along as a public service. Actually we're up to the same old game.

You see, popcorn makes most people thirsty. Fortunately, when most people get thirsty they hanker for the good taste of Coca-Cola.

Wouldn't you like some popcorn right now? C'mon now, wouldn't you?

Drink Coca-Cola

SIGN OF GOOD TASTE

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Merry Christmas!

The Rotunda

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., December 9, 1959 | No. 9

Seniors Develop Plans, Holiday Ball Saturday

Elliott's Music To Create Romantic Mood For Dance

By Pat Hurst

A glorious "Holiday Ball" on December 12 will launch the Christmas season for Longwood seniors and upperclassmen.

This year's senior dance, which will be held in the gym from 8 to 12 p.m., will be an event long to be remembered by the class of 1960.

Wreathed Entry

Upon entering the dance, couples will walk through a huge wreath of holly leaves and into a holiday ballroom of red, gold and white.

White crepe paper hung from the balcony will form walls on two sides of the gym. Between these two walls there will be a walkway leading to a special surprise for couples who wish to take a stroll.

Paper Sculpture

Musical instruments of paper sculpture will decorate the entire gym, with a special display over the bandstand. The ceiling, covered in white, will be illuminated with shiny Christmas ornaments.

To add to the ballroom splendor, the balcony will be decoratively draped with crepe paper and the dance floor will be dimly lit with soft, pastel lights.

Elliott's Music

Larry Elliott and his orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. Elliott's band, which has been named "America's most danceable band," will feature vocalist Elaine Powell. The band is noted for its entertaining specialties, as well as for its easy dance rhythms and full sounding style.

Shortly before intermission at 9:30 p.m. the seniors and their escorts will come through the holly wreath and assemble in a figure around the dance floor. Dottie Boswell, honorary big sister of the class of '60, will lead the figure. Each senior will carry her favor of silver leaves and red Christmas balls.

Party In Rec

Following the dance, from 1 until 2 a.m., seniors and their dates will go to Senior Rec for a party. There they will conclude the evening with refreshments and hi-fi music.

During the intermission of the dance, the Freshman Commission will serve refreshments. Sororities will have intermission parties in their chapter rooms, also.

Dress for the dance is formal. Only seniors will wear white dresses.

Tickets are being sold each evening after dinner and are $2.40 per couple.

Dance Chairmen

Co-chairmen of the dance are Carolyn DeHaven and Ann Mixon.

Heading the various committees are Addie Richardson and Carole Lassiter, decorations; Sara Oliver and Katherine Key, party; Becky Jones and Barbara Rossiter, favors; Dixie Hilliard and Betty Tallaferro, publicity; Ann Norfleet, music.

Also, Norrish Munson and Bobbie Simpkins, figure; Mary Ann Montague, programs; Arlene McKay, invitations; Liz Johnson, lighting; and Nancy Donaldson, tickets.

Chaperones for the dance include Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Simonini, Jr.,

(Continued on page 4)

Yule Decorations Spread To Doors, Judging Monday

Each year at Christmas, Alpha Kappa Gamma sponsors a door decorating contest to spread the spirit of the season and to stimulate competition among individuals and dormitories.

Jean O'Connell is chairman of the committee in charge of the contest.

The doors will be judged by a group of faculty and students December 14. The basis for the judging will be design, originality, neatness, artistic quality, and effectiveness.

Two prizes will be awarded. One will be for the best door in Ruffner, Tabb, or Student, and another for Cunningham. There will also be a prize for the hall with the best theme if enough halls enter the contest.

The winners will be announced Tuesday night, December 15, at the Christmas banquet. Later that evening, members of the faculty and their families will go through the dorms to see the decorations.

Water Pageant

The annual Christmas water pageant, "Carols by Starlight," will begin with a performance tomorrow at 7 p.m. Friday the two shows will start at 7 and 9 p.m. An admission of 35 cents will be taken at the door. See story on page 3.

'Y' Pageant To Highlight LC Yuletide

"The Story of Christmas" a series of tableaus accompanied by choral Christmas music, will be presented in Jarman Auditorium December 16 at 10 p.m.

Janice McClenny is directing the traditional pageant which is sponsored each year by the Longwood YWCA.

Seven tableaus are included in the production, with narration by Rosemary Henry. Jo Ann Garner will direct the choir of angels.

Madonna Revealed

A highlight of the annual pageant is the revealing of the senior playing the Madonna, chosen by the students because she personifies the qualities found in the true Madonna.

Margaret Vaughan will portray Joseph, and Mary Beth Olson will represent the head angel. The three wise men will be played by Virginia Wilson, Darlene Davis, and Judy Bright. Donna Scarbrough will play the part of the small angel.

Mary Alice Kingrea will act as the prophet, and the two heralds will be played by Gretchen Latchford and Nancy Nelson. Frankie Ware, Elaine Lohr, Pat Sweeney, and Sue Spicer will be the four shepherds. Brenda Smith will portray Elizabeth.

The chorus of angels, accompanied by Frances Tune, will include Bonnie Keys, Libby Predmore, Libby Lee, Callie Foldesi, and Jo Anna Young. Also in the host of angels are Judy Purcell, Jean Gates, and Dee Albertson.

The entire prodution is taken directly from the scriptures.

Backstage Crew

The behind-the-scenes workers include Ann Mixon, lighting; Cecil Kidd, properties; and Emily Shelton, makeup. Helen Gray Garter heads the costume committee, and Rita St. John and Ann Kovacevich are in charge of programs. Beverly White heads the committee for selecting the Madonna.

College Elects Palmer, Richardson For Award

PERSONALITY PLUS—Ann B. Palmer and Addie Richardson are snapped in a typical pose (for them).

Annual To Depict Two Personalities

By JoAnne Parsons

Recently elected "who's who" personality wise among seniors were "Annie B." Palmer and Addie Richardson in the contest sponsored annually by the Virginian to elect two seniors to represent the class as Senior Personalities.

Qualities on which selection of these girls are based include personality, friendliness, character, and wit. In addition to their being active in class and other school functions, the two selected are girls whom the students feel most represent the senior class as a whole.

Ann, a biology and general science major from Warwick, has become an outstanding personality on campus due to the interest she has taken in activities, as well as in students. She is president of Lychnos honorary science society, a member of the Y-Cabinet, co-chairman of Y-Come, photography editor of the Rotunda, senior class treasurer, member of the SEA and BSU council and hockey team, Cahoots treasurer, and Monogram club member.

So anxious was one freshman to cast her vote for Annie B., that she cast her vote and placed it in the box for dining hall suggestions last Thursday — after the polls had been closed!

Addie Richardson, an art major from Arlington, has been known for her humor and wit since her freshman year and a result of a recent "personality change" spree of Addie's was her transformation from a subtle brownette to a very drastic brunette—compliments of black spray.

Addie, also very active on campus, is president of Cotillion Club, former president of the Canterbury Club, a member of the Student Education Association, and Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority.

Both girls will be featured in the 1959-60 Virginian.

Choirs Of Longwood, VMI To Give Yuletime Concert

The combined voices of the Longwood choir and the Virginia Military Institute glee club will present the annual Christmas concert Sunday, December 13.

Featured with these two groups will be the Madrigal Singers and the band.

Band Begins Program

The program will open with carols by the band under the baton of Mr. Clifford L. Smith. To help carry on the Christmas spirit, the choir will present several numbers.

Directed by Dr. John W. Molnar, they will sing "Lauda Sion Salvatorem," "Glory to God in the Highest," "Carol of the Sheep Bells," "Lullaby on Christmas Eve," "The Shepherds and the Inn," and "Shepherds Raised Their Happy Voices" (from "The Childhood of Christ") by Bach.

Cadets Sing

Captain J. C. Pearce will conduct the VMI glee club in several numbers which include "Today is Born Immanuel," "Hodie Apparuit," "A Babe Is Born," "Noel, Noel," "Low How a Rose E'er Blooming," and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

The Madrigal Singers have chosen to sing "O Bone Jesu," "O Jesu So Sweet," "Les Anges Dans Nos Campagnes," and "Carol of the Bells." They will be under the direction of Mr. James McCombs.

Groups Combine

Following the Madrigal Singers the cadets and the Longwood choir will combine voices in several familiar carols, concluding the program with "The Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah."

Accompanists for the concert will be Dodie Webster at the piano and Jo Ann Garner at the piano and organ.

SENIOR DANCE COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN (l. to r.) L. Lane, D. Hilliard, N. Munson, A. McKay, A. Norfleet, C. DeHaven, M. Montague, A. Richardson, B. Tallaferro, C. Lassiter plan.

Special Menu, Carols To Highlight Banquet

The Freshman Commission has completed plans for the annual Christmas banquet at Longwood.

The giant Christmas tree, which is in the Rotunda, was decorated by the group of freshmen Monday afternoon, December 7.

A surprise menu will highlight the candlelight Christmas banquet next Tuesday. At this time a special holiday program will be presented. Immediately following the banquet the classes will gather in the Rotunda for a ceremony of caroling and the traditional hanging of the greens.

Christmas Assembly

The assembly program Tuesday, December 15, will feature selections by the Longwood College choir, the Madrigal Singers, and the college band. There will also be group singing by the student body. Leading the numbers will be Dr. John Molnar, Mr. James McCombs, and Mr. Clifford Smith.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

FIRST SEMESTER
1959-60 Session

Examination Date	8:05-11:05	1:05-4:05
Friday, January 22		Reading Period
Saturday, January 23	11:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes
Monday, January 25	8:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	3:05, 4:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes TT Classes MW Classes WF Classes
Tuesday, January 26	10:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	2:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Wednesday, January 27	8:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	10:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Thursday, January 28	9:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	9:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Friday, January 29	1:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	11:05 TT Classes 2:05 TT Classes

TUESDAY, January 26, 7:00-10:00 p.m. Conflicts, Room 21

Any student with an examination conflict should notify the professor responsible for administering one of the examinations in conflict. The professor will deliver the examination for the student to the Dean of the College before the Tuesday evening examination conflict period.

Any deviation from the above schedule must be approved in advance by the Associate Dean of the College.

Examinations for evening classes will be scheduled on the evening of the regular class meeting during the examination period.

Faith In Santa

Have you as a college student lost sight of the fact that there is a Santa Claus?

Yes, there is a Santa Claus, for as long as there is the spirit of giving at Christmas he will be around.

As adults we don't see him, but he is everywhere. Everytime you see a lighted Christmas tree, or a tiny child gaze in wonder at a display in a gaily decorated store window, St. Nick is there. You may not see the red of his rumpled coat and hat, or hear the tap of his shiny black boots and the tinkling sound of his laughter as he moves among the crowds, but he is there.

Think back, remember when you believed in him as a jolly old man who thrilled you on Christmas morning with toys, rather than the way you feel about him now as being the spirit of giving at Christmas. Wasn't it a good feeling to know that someone who lived so far away in such a special world, could care enough about others to hitch up his eight flying reindeer and whirl around the earth, leaving gifts and good cheer in his wake? Didn't you feel safe and secure in such a world of happiness?

Do you remember the joy of awakening on Christmas morning full of anticipation of what would be waiting for you under that beautiful Christmas tree, that had come the night before from the north pole; the silent vigils on those special nights, trying to hear the tap of Santa's reindeer on the roof over your room? All the charm of those things shouldn't be forgotten.

We must keep Santa alive in our hearts, not only for ourselves, but for the children that will someday be our own. They will live through a terribly drab and unimaginative childhood if they have nothing to believe in but bare realities that should be reserved only for adulthood.

Remember the pride that must have glowed in the hearts of your parents as they watched your face light up with each new package you opened? Maybe someday your child will be able to see the same joy on your face because he grew up with his parents' faith in imagination.

Keep the spirit of that lovable old man alive in your heart and this Christmas, along with all others to come, will be the happiest, most wonderful day of your life.

—Sandra Weaver

One Friday Morning

The neighborhood bordered the highway which led to the town. There were some well-kept houses and yards but even these were in need of repair. Most of the houses were of unpainted boards and surrounded by bare earth. In some places litter could be seen scattered beneath foundations, under staircases, and in the yards. There were no sidewalks. Nevertheless, the neighborhood did have some lilac bushes, flower borders, and other signs of permanence.

Two little boys emerged from the dark doorway of one of the old houses into the autumn sunshine. Instead of being noisy and rowdy, as small boys usually are, they moved slowly down the highway, each lost in his own thoughts. Suddenly they stopped.

"There," the first said, and my eyes followed his pointing finger.

I saw before me, at a fork in the road, a brick building. The weeds in the yard had overtaken the sidewalk which led to the wide cement steps and to the front door. The windows which paneled the front were tightly shut and there shades were uniformly halfway up and halfway down. Not a sound could be heard as we three gazed at the deserted building and the overgrown yard. There was no noise except for the drone of a pair of wasps which were building a nest above the front door. There was a flagpole in the center of the yard and, further back, traces of a ball diamond.

"There," said the first, "is where I want to be."

—J.V.D.

(Editor's note: The author, a student, has used this medium as an expression of her feelings.)

HAVE A MERRY — FROM CHERRY

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 168.

Cherry Gorham ..... Editor-in-Chief

Dale Priddy ..... Business Manager
Jo Anne Parsons ..... Managing Editor
Sandra Weaver ..... News Editor
Joann Kleinecke ..... Feature Editor
Nancy Lechner ..... Sports Editor
Judy Dertsch ..... Desk Editor
Anne P. Palmer ..... Photography Editor
Carole Lassiter ..... Art Editor
Arlene McKay ..... Circulation Manager
Marie Mesnick, Janet Stanley ..... Advertising Managers
Dr. James Wallard ..... Faculty Adviser

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member: Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating: first class), Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating: first place).

NEWS STAFF: Agnes Maasie, Assistant News Editor; Mattie Blewett, Assistant Feature Editor; Mary Byrd Mieure, Assistant Sports Editor; Pat Hurst, Assistant Desk Editor; Brenda Nodurft, Assistant Photography Editor; Columnists: Sandra Farish, Frances Harrisberger, Marjorie Frome, Barbara Chaffin, Mary Elizabeth Ely, Reporters: Mary Shafer, Claudia Wilson, Liz Eller, Janis Kidwell, Jane Martin, Barbara Bannamon, Sandy Bryant, Kay Hubbard, Julie Logan, Pat Lester, Jinks Welch, Rosa Pettit, Carmor Van Landingham, Susan Lane, Ann Agee, Shirley Kerr, Jane Jane, Betty Kay Dawson, Sue Banks, Lajne Rogers, Edmonia Leech, Jane Stegall, Carolyn Elliott, Betty Jane Allgood, Elaine Bane, Bobbi Goodman.

CIRCULATION STAFF: Arlene McKay, Manager; Kay Pierce, Assistant Manager; Sue Bannamon, Steve Dunning, Nancy Lee Cole, Anne Lee Hudgins, Bettie Brown, Pat Short, Janet Wainwright, Jean Goins, Marie Weiler, Sue Boardmore, Nesa Artis, Barbara Dacus, Shirley Hughes, Mary Bob Harris, Barbara Van Cole, Anne Fillmore, Susan Gay, Georgia Young, Sandy Bryant, Lorrie Wigg, Sandra Bryant, Ann Smith, Joyce Hudgins, Peggy Powell, Jo Shirk, Patricia Sessoms, Delores Antaire, Helen Brown, Tommy Crump, Gerry Edmonds, Tyrol, Nancy Buckingham.

ADVERTISING STAFF: Janet Stanley, Manager; Ann Scott, Beverly Gaskins, Nancy Shaw, Jessie Cole, Vee Cross, Rosa Cromwell, Mary Simmons, Violet Flowers, Joyce Hudgins, Diane Dorsett, Sylvia Roper, Nancy Butterworth.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1921. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

Fashion Footnotes

'Mistletoe Season' Gowns Sparkle With Festive Color

By Barbara Chaffin

"Baubles. . .Bangles. . .Bright shining beads. . ." Well, we're not advocating a gaudy appearance for this Yuletide season, but do put on your most festive mood and come along to a few Christmas celebrations!

Yes, Christmas parties are just around the corner. Attire for those dances and other special occasions tends to be more along the semi-formal and cocktail dress line.

This fact seems to be especially true among the "college crowd." Simple lines, rich fabrics, and exuberant colors will guarantee a stolen kiss under the mistletoe!

Materials Rich

Luxurious brocade and lace are in the fabric-foreground. These materials, along with the traditional velvet and taffeta, blend right in with your elegant and festive spirit.

A definite fashion-worthy note is the brocade silhouette sheath with a waist-length jacket made blazer-style. Touches of velvet or fur on the collar dress this jacket up immeasurably.

Necklines Vary

Deep round necks, square necks, and V-necks form simple frames for your shoulders and throat. Deep necklines and sleeves to the wrist create quite an air of coquettishness.

Simplicity is also found at the waist and thoughout the lines of any dress. Skirts are flared, straight slightly bolled or softly pleated, whichever may suit the wearer's taste.

Color Vivid

Color is no problem: Christmas red and green are vibrant. Royal blue is heavenly, and white is sensational. Be careful here, because not everyone can wear white becomingly without that summertime tan.

Beige and brown can be quite regal with the right accessories, while black lends matchless sophistication.

Choose color according to what you personally like. There are many shades from which you may select. Be self-confident about your appearance this season—and have a very happy time!

Socially Speaking

St. Nick's Pack Bears Diamonds

By Sandie Farish

It's getting close to that special time of year again—Christmas, and a few girls seem to have gotten their special guys all wrapped up in their Christmas stockings a little early.

Santa Comes Early

Jeanine McKenzie's "Santa" was Lorie Allen, of Norfolk, when he presented her with a beautiful engagement ring. Stuart Copeland, a graduate of Hampden-Sydney, was the special someone from whom Mary Pem Lewis received a diamond.

Sylvia Gulliams' sparkler came from Lyle Hedden; who knows which is brighter—the sparkle on her hand or the sparkle in her eye!

Hannah White traveled to VMI for Ring Dance and traveled back with a lovely minature. Congratulations!

Pins Switch Owners

Fraternity pins are finding new owners. It seems. Bonnie Keys is wearing the Phi Gamma Delta pin of Frank Pattie, who attends UVa. Sara Rock and Nancy Hood are also proudly displaying their newly received pins. Sara's came from Sigma Nu Dick Grizzard, and Nancy's was given her by Malon Smith, a Delta Sigma Phi transfer from Florida U. who now attends the University of Richmond.

Quite a few honors of other types are being bestowed upon Longwood girls. Mary Bettie Watkins was recently elected the Kappa Alpha Rose at Hampden-Sydney, while Sandra Wise was the lucky gal leading the Ring Figure at VMI during Thanksgiving.

Everyone seems to have had fun during the Thanksgiving holidays. Not to be excluded are Dottie Brown, Carolyn Oliver, Sandy Watkins, and Doris Tolley, who cheered for Navy at the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia.

Back to school after the holidays and once more settling down to studies (?), some still find time to have a ball. Judy Corse and Sandra Wise enjoyed themselves in Richmond this past week end with their Keydets at a VMI party. Gayle Paschal was entertained at the Lynchburg College Christmas Dance.

H-S Parties

The Chi Phi's at Hampden-Sydney entertained with a record party Friday night. Seen there were Lee Holt, Emmy Lu Critcher, Billie Shores, Frankie Click, Rita Cleveland, Carolyn DeHaven, Pat Morgan, Patsy Carr, Margaret Tatterson, Melissa Rowe, Margie Shumate, Suzanne Shipp, Ann Allen, Shirley Mills, Jean Bass, Betty Patterson, Shirley Day, Archer Cassada, and Joanne White.

Others were Dot Fretz, Gari Dickson, Nancy Mustard, Carol Gregory, Norah Elliot, Judy Purcell, Raye Waple, Nancy Nelson, and Sandie Farish.

Saturday night found many girls and their dates enjoying a victorious basketball game, followed by Sigma Chi and PiKA combo parties. Having a marvelous time dancing to the combo beat in the Sigma Chi basement were Ginger Culpepper, Sandie Farish, Nancy Nelson, Ann Rose.

Others included Dona Marquette, Carletta Wisecarver, Linda Davenport, Frances Norment, Charlotte Haile, Addie Richardson, Carol Cutler, Emmy Lu Critcher, Nancy Mills, Rachael Wood, Susan Hayley, Blanche Ingram, Anna Pope, Mary Lee Jones, Bonnie Garter, Judie Dodson, Barbara Bolster, Carolyn Grinstead, Virginia Ferguson, Kacki Turner, and Mary Leach Elmore.

The PiKA's played host with a combo party to Pat Morgan, Patsy Carr, Suzanne Shipp, Joanne White, Kitty Good, Ann Coleman, Billie Shores, Becky McGrath, Sara Oliver, Anne Clarke, Barbara Rossiter, Frankie Click, Justine Blount, Ann Mixon, Scotty McGregor, Rita Cleveland, Tae Wamsley, Sue Carravella, Betty Wood, and Brenda Dod.

Seen skipping from one house to the other were Pat Sadler, Archer Cassada, Jerri Rakes, Margie Shumate, Pooh Butterworth, Claudia Wilson, Audrey Gill, Holly Thompson, Shirley Mills, Beck Tuck, Judie Welch, Fran Gallahan, Betty Patterson, Tinsley Crump, Jane Price, Demetria Koumparakis, Joyce Brooks, Vicky Malley, Sally Smith, Ginny Whipple, Katie Fulton, Bobbie Meador, Suzanne Grammer, Peggy Grosch, Linda Spence, Jane Martin, Bonnie Irby and Kathi Crowder.

Art Display

An exhibit entitled "Water Colors, Prints, and Drawings By Virginia Artists" is now on display in the lobby and browsing room of the Longwood Library.

The exhibition, a loan from the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, is made up of 25 works by contemporary Virginians. They were the winning entries to the 17th biennial exhibition of Virginia Artists. Exhibit dates are December 1—December 15.

Longwood Christmas Desires Spark Santa's Seasonal Mail

Room number Penthouse
Plaza Hall
Longwood College

My dear Santa,

As I am a rawther ghastly busy campus girl, I can just barely take time to jot down a few of my ideas for Christmas presents. For me from you:

1) a madras checkbook
2) T. C.'s recording of 'Breakfast at Tiffanys'
3) a new laundry bag
4) the IN and OUT book
5) three sheets (Mr. Hop insists I return his to the colonnade)
6) I must have a new alarm clock and sun glasses
7) millions of scarabs (my mother wears nine at least)

Ho Ho Ho, I must go, Santa Claus.

Sweetse

P. S. Our domitory cat, Sneekydeedee, says hello and that leftover fish heads are his favorites.

P. S. Again. I absolutely LOVE Christmas!

Deer Santy Clause,

My name is Wilbur Archibald Van Snootenheim, IV. My two friends call me "Snooty." My parents call me "Dennis." I am sevin yeers old and in the first grade for the second time. I have red hair and freckles.

Santy, I know you remember me 'cause I left you a susprize last yeer. Remember? Sumthing told me that you'd ruther have it. That's why I snuck out of bed and ate the cake and left you the lizard.

I couldn't have kept him no way. If Muther had known they was a lizard in the house, she'd have screamed "ALLIGATOR!!" and Pop would have used his belt for somethin' besides to hold up his britches.

Santy, this yeer I can't think of anything I don't have that I want except a red Ford Thunderbird with loud mufflers.

My sister, Cecelia, wants to git rid of her red freckles, so would you bring her sum of that stuff that comes in a can and has wrote in great big letters on the outside 'spot remover." She's got a lot of 'em. I figure two gallons should do the job.

Sincerely
'Snooty"

P. S. I've been better than usual this year, Brownie honor.

Dear Santa:

I feel like a greedy little (or big, as the case may be) pig after looking over the first draft (a scholar would not hear of not making a first draft) of my Christmas list. Perhaps you will excuse this since I have not written for anything in the last 39 years.

Enough, now. On with the list, and I will be exceedingly grateful for any of the following you may provide:

A year's supply of slugs for the coffee machine across the hall from my office. Dimes will do as well, but they are not nearly so sporting.

A grading machine, which my long suffering students will appreciate as much as I.

Some red chalk to replace the yellow variety. When the dust rubs off, it is better that the class think I am bleeding than jaundiced. You just might throw in a dust-proof suit.

A charge account in the tearoom.

A cut system for faculty. We would like equality with students on some of the privileges they complain about.

One advisee with the nerve to take my advice. My batting average for the last five years has been disastrous. (The only way to get a student to sign up a needed course is for me to advise against it.)

More pay for less work (I am really quite happy with the way salary and work load are being improved, but I would be out of tune with the times if I did not ask for it anyway).

Mail, new or used. If you cannot fill this order, how about a dust cloth for my mail box?

Tape recordings of, or admission tickets to, student government sessions. The faculty has no equivalent source of interesting gossipy material.

A bulletin board for the history department. It is so IN and chic to have one. And where would the other departments be without theirs!

Don't worry about placing these gifts under the tree. My little old everyday stocking is big enough to hold it all. And, Santa Claus, — I believe.

Little Jimmy

Christmas Reflections

By Joann Kleinecke

Christmas 1959 and with it comes all of the delightful smells and sounds of a world eagerly dressing herself for the most joyous of all celebrations.

—The crunch of snow beneath the heavily-booted feet of hurrying shoppers;

—The excited earnestness of children writing letters to Santa;

—The return of long-absent loved ones reunited again by the magic of the season . . .

Christmas 1959.

—Carols, old and new, on the lips of everyone;

—Doors, windows, and hearths sparkling bright with decoration;

—Friends meeting friends, exchanging words of greeting and invitation . . .

Christmas 1959.

—The tangy aroma of freshly cut greenery and plump roasting turkeys;

—Packages wrapped gaily and carefully;

—A sticky candy cane stuck fast in Santa's beard by an innocent small hand;

—Sleigh bells down a country road . . .

Christmas 1959.

—Cards from far and near spilling out of a copper bowl;

—The oldest and dearest of stories read in nearly every land in every tongue;

—A myriad of bells ringing from a million church steeples;

—And, over all, a persistent whisper into each ear and heart from one whose urgent plea is that He be put back into and kept in Christmas 1959.

H2O 'Carols By Starlight' Begins Tomorrow

Nixon's Presence Aids Excitement Of Hockey Games

The National Hockey Tournament was held in Washington, D. C. November 26-30.

Vice-president and Mrs. Richard Nixon were guests for the opening ceremonies and game.

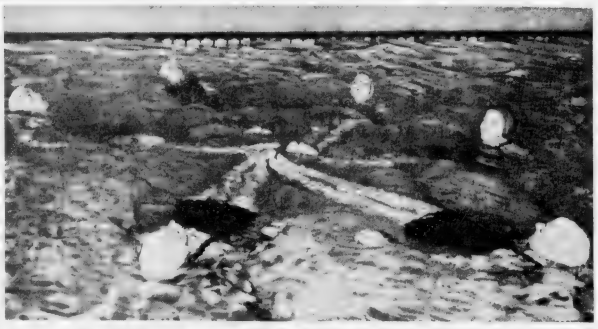
The opening ceremonies included a formation of 220 players carrying their club flags as well as 50 state flags which were displayed by students of the Sidewell Friends School.

Nixon started the game with a center "bully."

A reception honoring the Nixons and past and present officers of the United States Field Hockey Association was held after the first half of the first game.

Miss Constance Applebee and Vice-president Nixon were guest speakers at the banquet proceeding the reception.

Miss Elizabeth Burger, associate professor of science here at Longwood, attended the tournament as a member of the United States Field Hockey Association.



Nancy Richardson and Loretta Kuhn, alumnae of Longwood, played in the tournament.

Nixon's daughter, Julie, who is a student at the Sidewell Friends School was "ball girl" for the first hockey game.

H-S Basketball

December

Date	Opponents	Location
10	VMI	Away
11	Roanoke	Home
14	Bridgewater	Home
16	Norfolk Division	Home
	January
3	Norfolk Division	Away
7	Lynchburg	Away
9	Belmont Abbey	Away
11	RPI	Home
13	W and L	Away
16	Catholic U.	Away
18	Randolph-Macon	Home
	February
3	Roanoke	Away
4	W and L	Home
6	Johns Hopkins	Home
8	Bridgewater	Away
12	Mt. Saint Mary	Away
13	Towson State Teachers	Away
16	Lynchburg	Home
18	Randolph-Macon	Away

IN FORMATION—Members of "The First Noel" practice their number.

Church News

Methodist

The Wesley Foundation will hold its annual Christmas Open House December 11 from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the Student Center.

During the Senior Dance intermission the Student Center will be open for students and their dates.

"The Message of the Star" will be presented in the sanctuary December 13 at 7 p.m., followed by a Christmas party and caroling. Refreshments will be served after the caroling. Girls must sign out for caroling.

Baptists

BSU members will observe Christmas Student Night December 13 from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m. "Be Thou an Example" is the subject of the meeting. Christmas fellowship will follow at 9:15 p.m.

Canterbury

Canterbury Club members will ix a basket for a needy family as part of their Christmas plans. Plans are being made for Canterb rian to make favors for patients at Southside Community Hospital for Christmas.

Cecil Kidd, the Reverend Charles Vache, and Mr. Sterling Adams will attend a one-day meeting of Canterbury Clubs December 12 at William and Mary College.

Bowl Games

Liberty Bowl, Alabama vs. Penn State, Philadelphia, Dec. 19
Bluebonnet Bowl, Texas Christian vs. Clemson, Huston, Dec. 19
Sugar Bowl, Mississippi vs. Louisiana State, New Orleans, Jan. 1
Orange Bowl, Georgia vs. Missouri, Miami, Jan. 1
Cotton Bowl, Texas vs. Syracuse, Dallas, Jan. 1
Rose Bowl, Wisconsin vs. Washington, Passadena, Jan. 1
Gator Bowl, Georgia Tech vs. Arkansas, Jacksonville, Jan. 2
Top Ten Teams: Syracuse, Mississippi, Louisiana State, Texas, Georgia, Wisconsin, Texas Christian, Washington, Arkansas, Clemson.

Timely Topics

World Tour By President Makes News

By Joan Kidwell

Headlining this week's international news is President Eisenhower's 11-nation tour of allied countries in the interest of world peace and disarmament. At his first stop, the President was greeted warmly by the Italians, but not so kindly by rainy, cold weather.

Eisenhower called on Italy to maintain defenses until Russia agrees to "disarm with controls, inspection and safeguards," and to keep up their support of NATO policies.

In turn, the Italians request that they be allowed to join any summit conference regarding European security and world disarmament.

The scheduled big-four East-West Conference is to deal with the Berlin and Germany situation, but Eisenhower said he would consider Italy's request with "a certain sympathy" if the talks should move into the area of disarmament and European security.

As the President and allied leaders talk of peace, South and Central America are experiencing increasing revolutionary activities.

While a group of Brazilian army officers declared themselves in a state of insurrection and Panama factions continue to harass U. S. control of the Canal Zone, Guatemala joined Nicaragua and Venezuela in charging Cuba of backing invasion forces against its shores. Guatemala accused Cuba of supporting plans by authorizing $10,000 and arms for a communist-organized invasion.

When Eisenhower's tour takes him to Paris December 18, prefabricated houses will have been erected along the Riviera where the Malpasset dam burst due to unknown causes last week. Mass vaccinations are being given to prevent the threat of disease among survivors. While the U. S. Sixth Fleet is flying bread and medicine to the area, the death toll is climbing above 30.

College Basketball Tryouts Continue

Replacing the hockey competition for the remaining winter months at Longwood will be the ever popular sport of basketball.

Tryouts for the varsity team began the week of November 30. Practices are continuing through the week of December 7 on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 4 p.m.

Selected as managers for the team are juniors Carolyn Thorpe and Mabel Healy.

The first game is scheduled for February 5 against Roanoke College to be played here.

Other college teams to compete with Longwood during the basketball season will be Madison, Westhampton, and Hollins.

Due to the loss of quite a few varsity team members last year, Longwood basketball fans should see several new recruits in action.

Manager Carolyn Thorpe, commenting on the team's formation so far says, "We have had lots of people coming out, averaging 50 a day, and the team should be hard to choose."

Swimmers To Tell Drama Of Christmas With Carols

By Carolyn Elliott

Traditional carols of the Christmas season will carry out the theme of this season's water pageant "Carols by Starlight" which will be presented tomorrow at 7 p.m. and Friday at 7 and 9 p.m.

The pageant, sponsored by the H2O Club, is headed by chairman Carol Matthews assisted by Bonnie Keys.

The Christmas story will be presented by the swimmers in front of a setting depicting carolers singing in the night. Featured against a black background at one end of the pool will be the star of Bethlehem.

At the opposite end, twinkling stars in dark create an impression of a clear, starry night. The carolers, opposite the viewers' seats, will appear to be providing the music for the swimmers.

Among the recordings on tape are several by the Three Sons and the orchestra of Percy Faith. These will form the background music for the following numbers:

To begin the pageant, the carol "I Saw Three Ships Come Sailing In" will be used. As those hearing of the birth of the Savior come to worship Him, "O Come All Ye Faithful" calls to other humble worshippers.

"Joy To the World" fills the hearts of the audience with happiness and joy. The plaintive melody of "Greensleeves" will be carried out by a quartet and soloist. "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear" features a sextet. As the bells ring out the glad tidings, "Carol of the Bells" helps to spread the news. The song of "Angels From the Realms of Glory" will be portrayed next.

A quartet will re-create in the pageant the quiet, serene "O Little Town of Bethlehem." "The First Noel" of the shepherds who tended their sheep on the hillside will be presented next, and "O Holy Night" will follow.

A trio will depict "We Three Kings," the wise men who came with their treasures to worship the Christ child.

The pageant will close with "Ave Maria" by members of the synchronized swimming class.

Heads of the committees are backdrops, Annis Norfleet and Beverly Kersey; lights, Barbara Brantley and Dixie Hilliard; costumes, Nancianne Frye and Shirley Mills; props, Hannah White and Ruth Talley; programs, Julie Hollyfield and Jean Helms; music, Nancy Donaldson and Lois Peters.

Nautiography for the pageant is by the chairmen, Nancy Donaldson, Julie Hollyfield, Hannah White, and Cherry Gorham.

Tickets, priced at 35 cents, will be on sale at the door.

TEN TOP TUNES

1. Heartaches by the Number
2. In the Mood
3. We Got Love
4. The Clouds
5. Don't You Know?
6. Reveille Rock
7. I Dig Girls
8. Midnight Stroll
9. Drum Party
10. First Love, First Tears

GET YOUR RECORDS
—at—
WILSON'S HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

LONGWOOD JEWELERS
where
all college jewelry may be selected.
Charge accounts to everyone!

Only 13 More Shopping Days
'Til CHRISTMAS!
Shop Early
at
LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP
Across From
Jarman Auditorium

GO GREYHOUND
(for out-of-this-world savings!)

No, there's no Greyhound Scenicruiser® Service to outer space—yet. But if you're rocketing home for the holidays, there's no better way to go! It costs less than driving your own jalopy, too. With this exclusive Greyhound Service, you get more—pay less. Get in orbit...go Greyhound.

COMPARE THESE LOW, LOW FARES:

Lynchburg	$3.30
Richmond	$ 3.95
Norfolk	$ 9.02
Washington	$10.12

*plus tax

BAGGAGE PROBLEMS? You can take more with you on a Greyhound. Or, send your belongings by Greyhound Package Express. They arrive in hours and cost you less!

It's such a comfort to take the bus...and leave the driving to us!

In Farmville EX 2-5153

GREYHOUND

ATTENTION!!
With this coupon,
One Free Coke!
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY
December 10-11, 1959

State Theatre
FARMVILLE, VA.

WEDNESDAY DEC. 9
ALEC GUINNESS
BETTE DAVIS
"THE SCAPEGOAT"

Thursday, Friday, Saturday
December 10-11-12
NEVILLE BRAND
DOLORES MICHAELS
"5 GATES TO HELL"

SUN., MON. DEC. 13-14
CAROL LYNLEY
BRANDON DeWILDE
"BLUE DENIM"

TUES., WED. DEC. 15-16
CLIFF ROBERTSON
GIA SCALA
"Battle of The Coral Sea"

Sociology

Spin a platter...have some chatter...
and sip that real great taste of Coke.
Sure, you can have a party without
Coca-Cola—but who wants to!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Fees Committee Aids Campus Organizations

By JoAnne Parsons

Now underway for the first time in the history of Longwood College is a Campus Fees committee, appointed by Dr. Francis G. Lankford, president, to revise the procedures for handling the disbursement of campus fees collected each year from all students.

This committee is charged with the responsibility of devising a flexible and fair method for the disbursement of all funds that could properly be classified as campus fees. This is taking the place of the rigid system previously in effect which caused large surpluses of money to be built up by certain organizations while others suffered from lack of funds.

This program is so designed to offset idle budgets and to insure students full value of the $20 activities fee they pay to the administration each year. With the aid of suggestions from the students, this committee hopes to see the growth of surplus, if any, in this fund used to improve recreational facilities, on campus that will benefit all students.

As a separate organization, the Campus Fees committee obliviates the previous constant struggle to distribute every penny from this fund to organizations so as not to allow a surplus that would be a part of the general fund and go to the state at the end of each year.

Students Benefit

Under the present policy, any surplus allowed to grow will be used beneficially for all students through the cooperation and suggestions of the students themselves and the committee.

The committee is composed of four members, Mr. Henry Bittinger, associate professor of history and social sciences; Mr. Jacob Wamsley, business manager; Mr. W. G. Leeper, assistant professor of business education; and one senior representative appointed to the committee by the senior class president, Sarah Oliver, who serves as an inpoint for the student body.

Organizations already receiving funds, to spend as they see fit, from the committee for the benefit of students are Orchesis, each of the respective classes, artist series, Rotunda, Colonnade, Virginian, H2O Club, Athletic Association, YWCA, Band, May Day, and Circus.

Also included this year for the first time, due to committee appropriations, departmental clubs that have contacted the committee for aid Beore Eh Thorn, Pi Gamma Mu, Future Business Leaders of America, Student Education Association, Home Economics Club.

Disbursement of money from the Central National Bank account will now eliminate huge savings by any one club, expenditures will be current, and there will be no idle budget; yet a surplus will also be available to take care of emergency needs.

Policy Stated

The statements of policy declared by the Campus Fees committee for the 1958-59 session are as follows:

"1. That in so far as practical, the campus fee which is charged each student each year will be distributed among the activities on the campus in such a way that the student will receive during her four student years approximate benefits equal to the amount paid by her during the period as campus fees.

"2. That we will encourage current and economical expenditure of funds appropriated to various organizations.

"3. That we will insist upon uniform and accurate record keeping procedures in all organizations to which money will be appropriated.

"4. That we will discourage the retention of surplus funds in organizational treasuries.

"5. That funds under the control of this committee which are not derived directly from the students on a fee basis will be used in a manner deemed most reasonable by this committee after careful study and consideration of individual requests.

"6. That this statement of policy will be approved by the president and that changes in this policy or development of new policy will be subject to the review of the president."

It is the desire of the committee to work closely with the students so as to insure overall and individual benefits to each student in the amount of her contribution during her four years of college.

Societies To Sponsor 'Othello' Next Month

A film of William Shakespeare's "Othello" will be shown here January 5 in Jarman Auditorium at 7 p.m.

The film, sponsored by Beore Eh Thorn and Alpha Psi Omega, is a Mercury Theater production directed by Orson Wells and starring as Othello, Orson Wells; as Desdemona, Susan Cloutier; as Iago, Michael MacLiammoir.

This widely - heralded version of the play was filmed in Italy and is described by the critics as "Pictorially exciting with unusual lighting, sound effects, and characterization."

Admission will be 50 cents.

ALWAYS REMEMBER!
MARTIN, The Jeweler
has an outstanding selection of
CHRISTMAS GIFTS

GIVE BOOKS FOR CHRISTMAS!
Bibles Revised King James
Dictionaries, Encyclopedias
Devotional & Religious Books
Historical Titles
Etiquette and Cook Books
Poetry Collections
Best Sellers, Children's Books
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
9 A.M. - 6 P.M.
FREE GIFT WRAPPING

Glamourama

By IDA SOUTHALL

JEWELRY AND HAIRDOS

For that really dressed-up look, nothing will add to your hairdo as much as a touch of jewelry. Coiffure jewels can be had in gold pearls or glittering stones. They can be worn in the center, front, back or side of your hair, depending on your hairdo. These jewels can be pinned right to the hair or put on combs or bands.

Before adding any jewelry, be sure you have a smart hairdo. You will like the personalized service we give at Vanity Beauty Shop, Farmville, Phone EX 2-4460.

Open Wednesday

For the smartest figure try the S & S Contour Shop next door. A few treatments and you will see the difference.

Junior English Test

The Junior English Test (see page 87 of the college catalogue) will be given this semester on Thursday, January 7, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Rooms 101, 102, and 103 of the West Wing.

All students of current junior standing are required to take this test except those specifically absolved because of satisfactory performance in English courses. A list of absolved students will be posted shortly in the West Wing.

College To Select Pageant Madonna

Nominations for the Madonna in the Christmas pageant have already been made by the "Y" cabinet, and will be voted on by the student body Thursday, December 10. The girls nominated are Jean Peyton, Helen Wente, Jo Ann Garner, Linda Lane, and Bonnie Keys.

"White Christmas" will be observed during the manger scene in the pageant, when the heads of the organizations on the campus make their donations. These donations will be used by the Farmville Welfare Department to help provide Christmas for the needy families in Prince Edward county.

Several changes have taken place within the organization of the YWCA. Upon the resignation of Margaret Shropshire Jones, Bonnie Keys was elected to fill her post as "Y" secretary. Replacing Bonnie's position as chairman of the library is Janice McClenny. Sandra Little has been appointed as new co-chairman of the publicity committee.

Holiday Ball

(Continued from page 1)

and Dr. and Mrs. Earl R. Boggs.

At the senior party Miss Elizabeth Burger, Mrs. Caroline Eastham, and Mr. and Mrs. James Helms will chaperon.

Greeks Plan Gala Parties As Holiday Season Begins

AGD

Representatives of Alpha Gamma Delta traveled to Madison College in Harrisonburg the week end of November 21 to attend the installation of the AGD chapter there. Lulu Good Voglisang, the national grand president, was the officer-in-charge of the installation.

ASA

During the Christmas season, the ASA's are helping a needy family by giving a Christmas basket. The gifts will be donated at a party for the members to be held just before the holiday.

The ASA's are planning to sell mixtures of Christmas candy before the holiday.

The Alpha Sigma Alpha room will be open during intermission of the senior dance.

AST

Alpha Sigma Tau is planning to help a needy family for Christmas. A party for the children of this family will be held in the sorority room with presents, refreshments, and a Santa Claus.

Inspection was Tuesday, December 8.

The room will be open for the intermission parties during senior dance.

DZ

The fall pleges of Delta Zeta entertained the chapter with a pizza supper November 17.

The Delta Zeta Room will be open at intermission of the senior dance.

KD

The Kappa Delta pledges entertained the pledges of other sororities at a tea the afternoon of November 23. That night the pledges entertained the KD actives and presented them with turkey favors.

The sorority room of Kappa Delta will be open during the intermission of Senior Dance.

On Sunday, December 13, from 9:45 a.m.-10:45 a.m. the KD's will sell breakfast on second floor Main Cunningham kitchen and third floor Tabb kitchen.

SK

Miss Ann Crockett, Sigma Kappa traveling secretary, visited with the chapter this past week.

At the present time the Sigma Kaps are in the process of selling their TV set won in the Marlboro contest last year.

A Christmas party will be held for the members before leaving for the holiday. At this get-together, presents will be wrapped for a needy family.

The sorority room of Sigma Kappa will be open during intermission of senior dance.

SSS

The November social of Sigma Sigma Sigma was a pizza party in the chapter room. In December the social will be a supper in the chapter room. Afterwards, Christmas presents for a needy family will be wrapped.

After Thanksgiving, the Sigmas sold homemade cookies. This was a special project for the Robbie Page Memorial Fund.

The Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority won the stereophonic record player in the Marlboro contest.

ZTA

The Zeta members and pledges were entertained in the home of Mrs. Robert Merritt on Tuesday, December 8, with spaghetti dinner.

On Saturday, December 5, the Zeta's gathered greens for Christmas decorations. These greens are on sale this week.

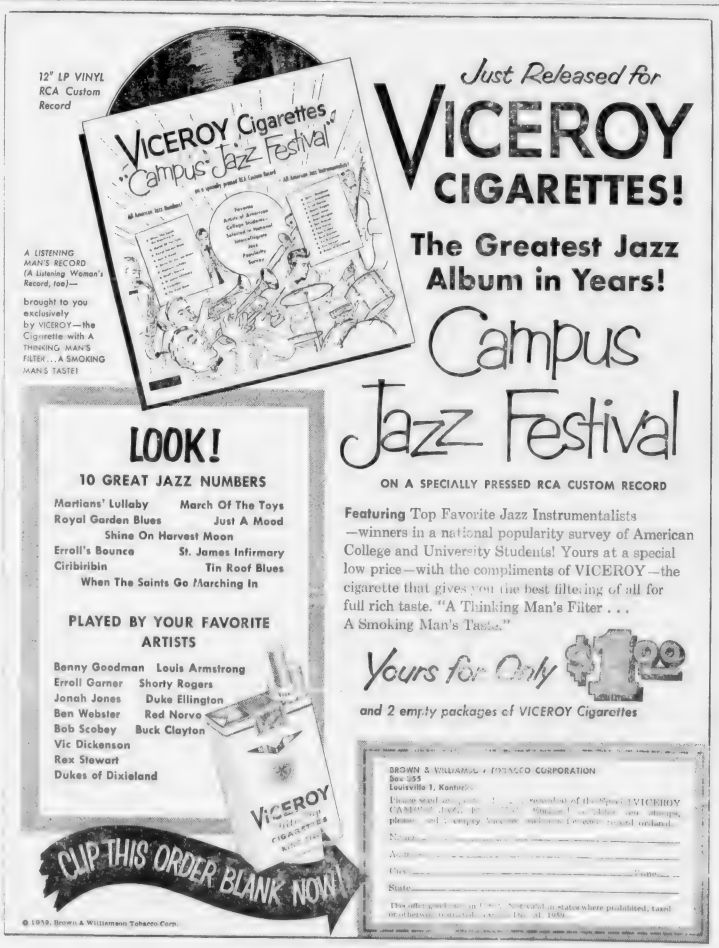
The December social of Zeta Tau Alpha will be a party held in the room. At this time gifts will be wrapped for a needy family.

During intermission of the senior dance, the Zeta room will be open and refreshments will be served.

MINNIE LEE DEAN

Alumna To Serve As National Head Of Honor Society

Minnie Lee Dean, a 1959 graduate of Longwood, was elected national president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary leadership fraternity November 21 at the annual convention at Lander College, Greenwood, South Carolina.



While at Longwood, Minnie Lee was president of the Joan Circle of AKG, active on Student Government for four years, a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, and was elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Minnie Lee is presently teaching sixth grade at William Ramsay School, Alexandria.

AKG's Joan Circle received further recognition at the national convention when Longwood's scrapbook received first place honors. Ruth Denton was chairman of the book which included a collection of their campus projects at Longwood.

The theme of the convention for 1959 was "Unity Within Alpha Kappa Gamma."

Mrs. Kathleen Cover, adviser, and Miss Elizabeth Burger, AKG national executive secretary, accompanied the Longwood delegates.

Good Luck On Examinations

The Rotunda

Sign Up As Cheerful Cherubs

VOLUME XXXIX THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1960 No. 10

New Library Head, Butler, Author Of Poetry, Novels

By Sandy Bryant

Have you seen a distinguished-looking gray haired man working in the library recently, and wondered who he is? His name is Charles E. Butler, and he is the new librarian at Longwood College.

Mr. Butler came to Longwood in early December, 1959, from Canisius College in Buffalo, New York, where he was librarian last year. He is replacing Dr. Beverly Ruffin who retired last June.

Born in Denver, Colorado, Mr. Butler worked during high school as a student assistant in the Denver Public Library. Because of his love for people and books, Mr. Butler later attended the University of Denver where he received his B. S. degree in Library Science.

MR. BUTLER TAKES TIME out from study of library extension plans for ROTUNDA interview.

Also while in college, Mr. Butler met his wife, Eleanor, who was working as a librarian in the Denver Public Library. He did graduate work at the University of Chicago, and received his M. A. from the University of Michigan.

Writing is the favorite pastime of Mr. Butler. His book of poetry, Cut Is the Branch, was published in 1945. Several years later, in 1951, his novel, Follow Me Ever, was published. I is a story about an Army air base in England during World War II. Mr. Butler was stationed in England during most of the war and got much of his background material there.

After Follow Me Ever was published, he received a Guggenheim fellowship and spent several months in Ireland to gain background material for his next novel. According to Mr. Butler, the new book is ". . . a fiction treatment of a sixteenth century Irishman who was one of the leaders in the struggle against the English." He hopes to complete the novel this year.

Presently, Mr. Butler is very busy planning new arrangements for the addition to the Longwood library. According to Mr. Butler, it is hoped that the Virginia Assembly will appropriate the money this January so that construction may be begun in August of this year.

Additions Foreseen

The addition will be built on the back of the present library and the old stacks will be torn out. The interior of the library will be remodeled also.

This is the first time Mr. Butler has lived in a small town, and he finds it "pleasantly different." When asked how he likes Longwood, he replied that he likes it very much. He also finds that in comparison to Canisius College, which is composed primarily of men, Longwood College is much quieter.

Mr. Butler lives with his wife and their Persian cat, Columbine, at 817 Buffalo Street.

Longwood Estate Open To Students For Entertaining

A proposal has been made and passed that the house at Longwood Estate be made available for student recreational use.

Specific hours on Friday, Saturday and Sunday are to be provided for student activities as well as for dating.

Transportation to the house will be provided by the Longwood bus for girls wishing to go.

The girls will be allowed to prepare hamburgers, pizza, etc., in the kitchen. Coke and nab machines are to be installed. The former dining room is to be available for dancing with a record player and records for music. Cards, tables, canasta trays, and checkers will be there for use.

Individual groups may reserve the house for private parties or organizational meetings.

JUNIOR DANCE CO-CHAIRMEN. Sandra Watkins and Joyce Odom prepare advertising media for the event to feature music by the VMI Commanders.

Last Assembly

The last assembly of the semester will be held Tuesday, January 19.

Dr. Francis G. Lankford will speak to the student body about the Honor Code. Also there will be a student talent show with a variety of new acts.

Parsons Edits Trial Issue

Jo Anne Parsons served as editor-in-chief of this week's Rotunda, the first trial issue of the period ending the newspaper's fiscal year.

A junior from Richmond, Jo Anne is now serving as managing editor of the Rotunda staff. Working under her as trial managing editor is Sandra Weaver; feature editor, Judy Detrich; and news editor, Nancy Lechler.

Pierce Controls Currency

The business staff, also operating on a trial basis, is headed by Kay Pierce as business manager. Kay, a junior from Colonial Heights, is assisted by Nancy Lee Cole as circulation manager, and Janet Stanley and Janet Wainwright as co-advertising managers.

Composing the rest of the trial news staff are Pat Hurst, desk editor; Sandy Bryant, assistant news editor; Barbara Chaffin, assistant feature editor; Carolyn Elliott, assistant sports editor; Edmonia Leech, assistant desk editor; Linda Sudduth, photography and Anna DeHaven, art.

Columnists are Betty Jane Allgood, Frances Harnsburger, Sandie Farish, Kay Hubbard, and Marjorie Freese.

There will be additional trial issues published before the new editor-in-chief is announced. The next issue will be edited by Sandra Weaver.

Odom, Watkins Release Chairmen For Junior Dance

The Main Rec will be the scene of the traditional junior dance on February 27.

Sponsored by the junior class, the dance will be held from 8 p.m. to 12 p.m. Music will be furnished by the VMI Commanders, and following the dance will be a private party for members of the class and their dates.

General co - chairmen for the dance are Sandra Watkins and Joyce Odom.

Other chairmen include decorations, Ruby Simpson Slayton and Sue Gosnell; publicity, Judy Robertson; tickets, Marianne Zimmerman and Gwen Kessee; invitations, Cherry Gorham and Martha Gray Shirley.

Program chairmen are Barbara Bailey and Sara Rock; party after the dance, Peggy Tyer; clean - up, Jerry Ludwick and Nancy Speakman; flowers, Beverly Kersey and Hannah White, floor, Bobby Caples.

Ten Seniors Prepare For Early Graduation

Ten seniors will be taking their leave of Longwood after the end of the examination period on January 28.

Having completed the requirements for graduation, these students will be going into their chosen fields of work. Those graduating are:

Sue Ann Blair, Sylvia V. Cogville, Mary Ruth Flowers, Jean Campbell Gordon, and Frances Thacker Harvey.

Also, Nancie K. Morton, Linda Jo Saunders, Mrs. Hyda Shannon, and Jo Ann Smith.

Griggs, Harris Announce Chairmen For Freshman Class Production

FRESHMEN PRODUCTION CHAIRMEN. Cissie Griggs and Janice Harris decorate and hang poster depicting theme of Freshmen Production scheduled for February 12.

Freshmen Select Modern Mystery, For February 12

Freshman production chairmen, Cissie Griggs and Janice Harris, announced today class plans for the February 12 production to be held at 8 p.m. in Jarman Hall.

Cissie, an elementary major, and Janice, a physical education major, both come from Danville. As heads of the show, their main job was the selection of a theme.

With most of the plans being kept secret, only an over-all theme has been submitted. It is that of a modern mystery comedy, introducing many well-known personalities.

December 2, the committee heads for freshman production were announced. They are as follows: script co-chairmen, Sandra Freedman, Sally Sims; props co-chairmen, Mary Lou Plunkett, Sandra Phleger; music co-chairmen, Libby Predmore, Pat McMillan; dance co-chairmen, Pat Hughes, Gracie Bitino; scenery, Barbara Muehlman, Carol Gregory; costumes, Betsy Creswell; publicity, Lindy Hatch, Scotty McGregor.

Others include programs, Paula Clark, Lefty Snyder; make-up, Josie O'Hop, Kay Nottingham; tickets, Sandra Little, Judy Potter; lights and sound, Anne Tweedy, Anne Friedman; stage manager, Barbara Goodman.

A top rat and a member of the freshman commission here, Janice attended Girls' State, and was vice-president of GAA, vice-president of FTA, and on the staff of the Cardinal Talent Scout, the literary magazine in high school.

Cissie was junior editor and circulation manager of the Cavalier, the high school yearbook, and she was a member of the Y-Teen Interclub Council and treasurer of the T-Teens.

All committees have begun working and rehearsals will start immediately following exams.

In summing up the progress of the show, Janice and Cissie stated: "Things so far have proven that everything is being worked up and we'll be ready to put on a bang up job on schedule."

Development Program Lists Varied Projects

Proposed capital outlay projects for the 1960-62 budget have been announced for Longwood's development program.

The capital outlay projects listed below are given in order of priority:

The addition to library and stacks has been estimated at a cost of $475,000. Preliminary plans for the building have been completed and final plans will be prepared within the next few months.

Approximately 25,000 square feet of library space will be added, which will more than double the present capacity.

Campus roads and walks improvements are now underway. The plan includes a parking lot behind the addition to the library and the auditorium, together with a driveway leading to it from Pine Street. The same priority is being given to this project as the library addition, at a cost of $9,500.

Library books will be purchased in an increase over former years at an estimated cost of $20,000, due to future ample space and the rising cost of additions.

Physical education building space will be extended, in the plan to raze the present laundry building and erect a new physical education building on the same location. This will be largely an indoor activity area with minimum space for showers, storage and offices estimated at a cost of $142,000.

A new laundry and equipment building will be constructed at a cost of $65,000 on the site of the knitting mill to the south of the campus. This and the physical education project have been given the same priority listing.

College storage building is to be a part of the same building that would include the laundry. This building would provide storage for the entire college for a cost of $23,000.

The moving of this building would do away with the traffic problem at the center of campus and allow more space for educational activities.

The post office and book store can be shifted to the present site of the maintenance shop, allowing more space for classrooms in Ruffner. At a cost of $30,000, the plan includes the building renovation, additional post office boxes and book shelves, and the relocation of the electric vault.

Both this project and the previous one will be constructed at the same time.

A classroom addition to Jarman Hall is the next project on the agenda. It is proposed to erect a one-story wing extending west from the present building at a cost of $144,000.

Included in the cost will be the additional equipment needed in the teaching of music, such as a practicing organ and pianos.

Additional equipment for offices, faculty members, and classroom furniture will be purchased at a cost of $40,000. Many other pieces of

(Continued on page 3)

Southside Schools' Efforts Under NAACP Opposition

Southside Schools, Inc., Prince Edward County government in closing Edward's effort to cope with the school a partially resulting from education crisis, is being attacked the disdain in the South of segby the NAACP and rejected by regation and the white man. Negro parents in the county.

The non-profit corporation organized to provide schools for Negroes in the county, in December and application forms to parents of the 1700 Negro children enrolled in public schools had been filed in the week only one application had been received.

President of the corporation is R. B. Hogwood, stressed the fact that applications must be received by January 15 in order to allow time for planning the 180-day school term, for which the opening date has been set as February.

At a special Christmas party, James Dawson Jr., Rev. R. Wilkinson, the national executive secretary of the NAACP, announced an announced a plan to open an elementary and parents gathered at the Farmville Armory.

Wilkinson said "Here in America you are rich in children, white and Negro, rich and poor . . . and it's a great tragedy the people are given some of them . . . and others makeshift education."

He explained

A request for the repeal of Virginia freedom of choice school legislation and the State Pupil Placement Act was made to the General Assembly by 1500 Negroes who gathered at the Capitol in Richmond on New Year's day. The march to the Capitol climaxed a two-day meeting at the Mosque.

Among the Reverend Martin Luther King, leader of the Montgomery, Alabama, bus boycott, ex

The Senate also asked the [illegible] to give Governor Almond executive authority to reopen Prince Edward county public schools.

[illegible] Prince Edward is the Virginia Conference of the NAACP. The [illegible] hope that local political action will be effected to promote Negro participation in government.

These We've Gained

A year has passed and another has begun, a semester is drawing to a close and another approaches. Longwood has, in this year, this semester, become a richer college in many ways, so many that only a few can ever be listed.

—A new doritory, Wheeler Hall, has risen on the west side of the campus and with fall it will house its first occupants.

—New kitchen equipment, new class and office space, a radio broadcasting studio, even a series of new sidewalks criss-crossing the grounds have been added.

—The 75th anniversary of the college, beginning with the Founders' Day ceremonies, was culminated by the address of the Korean Ambassador and an education symposium.

—The second Festival of Fine Arts was proclaimed so successful that plans are already underway for the continuation of this newest "tradition."

—Enthusiastic student support for school and college projects resulted in overwhelmingly successful May Days, Circuses, and productions.

—And certainly one of the greatest enrichments was the welcoming of the class of 1963 in September.

Honor Code - Why?

(Ed.'s Note: As the semester nears an end, students are preparing for exams that will test personally as well as academically. To review the reason for our Honor Code, the following exerpts from the freshmen orientation test are listed and are reasons submitted by members of the class of '63 on ". . . why I signed the Honor Code.")

"After entering Longwood College, I willingly and gratefully signed the Honor Code as I believe it to be a code to live by. I signed it for I felt that just as important as living is living honestly. You don't have to sign your name to a code to be honest, but it is a great reminder to you of your duty to your school. I signed my name to show that I understand it and shall live by it."

"When I signed the Honor Code it was an outward sign to me as well as others, that I was more a part of Longwood and was trusted in every respect. Signing made an impression on me that I will remember everyday all four years at Longwood and the rest of my life."

"I joined the honor system of Longwood College to become a part of the tradition that promotes high ideals and principles, that lends wholesomeness and respect for myself and other students at all times."

"I signed the Honor Code because I felt it was an honor to live by and be a part of a system whereby complete trust is in everyone."

"The foundation that enables the people of Longwood to live together in trust, harmony, and friendship is the honor system established here. I signed the Honor Code to become a part of this foundation."

"The Honor Code is a wonderful thing. I signed it because I think it teaches all of us in one way or another to be honest, reliable, and confident in everything we do. It teaches us to know what we're doing and to think distinctly at all times upon all matters."

"As I signed the Honor Code, I realized that I was doing nothing to prove my worthiness, but was becoming a part of a system held in esteem by every student here because of the unquestionable respect it promotes for everyone."

"The signing of the Honor Code means very much to me. It is not the signing of a meaningless paper, but rather it is the signing of a code of living which strengthens my love and loyalty for my college, my friends, and myself. For this reason I have added my name to the list of people who have signed the Honor Code of Longwood College."

—Jo Anne Parsons

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination periods by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 168.

Cherry Gotham ..... Editor-in-Chief

Dale Prouty ..... Business Manager
Jo Anne Parsons ..... Managing Editor
Sandra Worsley ..... News Editor
Joann Lawrence ..... Feature Editor
Nancy Lacklen ..... Sports Editor
Judy Deatrick ..... Desk Editor
Anne B. Painter ..... Photography Editor
Carole Eggleston ..... Art Editor
Arlene Mattox ..... Circulation Manager
Marie Saunders, Jane Stanley ..... Advertising Managers
Dr. James Aydelott ..... Faculty Adviser

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member: Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating: ...), Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating first place).

NEWS: Agnes Mason, Assistant News Editor; Mattie Blewett, Assistant Reporters: Mary Jane Mann, Associate Sports Editor; Pat Hurst, Assistant Desk Editor; Jessie Bennett, Assistant; Photographers: Editor; Antoinnetta Stanton, Lantern; Feature Writers: Marguerite Preas, Barbara Chaffin, Mary Elizabeth B. Reporters: Mary Jane Mann, Lu Ellen Agee, Kathryn Jane Mason, Carolyn Hargrave, Nancy Bryant, Kay Hubbard, Jane Bonnet, Pat Turner, Anne Gwathmey, Betty Bailey, Virginia VanDevender, Susan Lane, Ann Agee, Sharon Kent, Betty Gale Dawson, Peggy Hicks, Rogers, Elizabeth Lane, Carolyn Cabell, Cabell Hamill, Betty Jane Ackland, Jeanne Bane, Bobbi Bennett.

CIRCULATION: Virginia McMinn, Manager; Jean Phelps, Assistant Manager; Sue Thompson, Jean Bowen, Ann Lee Eggleston, Bonnie Bennett, Pat Hurst, Assistant Circulation Managers; Carol Ann Gwathmey, Mary Wynn, Sue Boatwright, Nora Wilson, Kay Hubbard, Barbara Ann Coles, Anne Lawrence, Mary Beth Barnes, Beatrice Ann Coles, Anne Lawrence, Jane Stanley, Catherine Hamill, Betty Jane Ackland, Jeanne Bane, Bobbi Bennett.

ADVERTISING: Jane Stanley, Manager; Ann Scott, Beverly Gaskins, Nancy Sloan, Assistant Managers; Mary Lawrence, Carol Flowers, Janet Cooper, Nancy Bradley, Susan Roper, Nancy Branscomb.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of ... Monday, October ... Authorized for national advertising by the National Advertising Service, Inc. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

Timely Topics

Presidential Candidates Dominate National News

Vice-President Nixon has announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential election by allowing his name to be entered in three state primaries — New Hampshire, Ohio, and Oregon.

Democrats declaring their availability for the office of President are John Kennedy and Hubert Humphries. Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York has withdrawn as a Republican presidential candidate.

President Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message opening Congress, said that 1960 could be a year of peace and prosperity if all the nations of the world worked together.

He also predicted a surplus of federal funds, which he hoped would be used to ease the national debt. Eisenhower spoke for 46 minutes to the combined Senate and House of Representatives on January 7. The federal surplus is predicted to come from an expected load and cut.

The month-long steel strike was finally settled last week in Washington, D. C., by Vice-President Nixon, Labor Secretary Mitchell, and industry and union negotiators. Terms of the settlement include an estimated 40 cents-an-hour increase to extend over a period of thirty months, amounting to $3.50 per day.

The General Assembly in Virginia is beginning another session, while Congress opens its new session in Washington. The brand new Assembly will probably face legislation dealing with the proposed sales tax program and a left-over item from the last session — the school segregation policy.

Ode To '59

By Mattie Blewett

I think that I shall never see
Another year quite like thee.

A year when rock'n roll reached age.
Fabian and Ricky were the rage.
With Elvis soldiering far away,
His idol kingdom began to sway.

A year when Russia pooled its best
And shot a rocket at the crest,
While old Uncle Sam sat in awe
At the performance that he saw.

But, stubborn, determined not to be beat,
He began to prepare for a similar feat.
Plans were made and science did travel
When one was shot from Cape Canaveral.

A year when Congress rocked the nation
With T.V. show investigations;
And record artists were to lose
When some disc jockeys sang the blues.

A year when Khrushchev made a trip
And showed good will through smile of lip.
He talked with people coast to coast
And never failed Red feats to boast.

September showed its face in fall
Bells pealed out a familiar call.
We all came back to Longwood C
To study more for our degree.

A year the Senate passed our west
As Sock and Dodgers proved the best.

But, future months mean leap year though!

Intellectual Small Talk Heads 1960 Resolutions

By Judy Detrich

"Yes," said the two sophomores with dignity, "we have made one New Year's resolution. It is to have more intellectual conversations."

One said to the other, "Consider, for instance, George Washington's teeth. Where would he have been without them? Whoever heard of a toothless General or President? It's perfectly obvious that as the teeth go, so goes the nation . . ."

"But his teeth were wooden," the second objected strenuously. "All I can think of are disadvantages. Suppose they got damp and warped, who wants a warped president? And he probably cleaned them with varnish and what about splinters? Or termites! I don't care what you say, who wants a woodenhead for President?"

Nineteen-sixty has brought other resolutions as well. Jeanne Peyton, it is reported, has resolved to stop smoking, and her friend Anne B. Palmer is going to give up name-calling. Anne's habit can lead to embarrassment. "One time," she recalls with an Indian-like glow on her face, "I introduced a senior to Miss Burrer as "Fish Face".

Some organizations on campus have decided to turn over a new leaf:

1) The BLACK SPOT has resolved to dissolve.
2) Cabinets is going underground. Eight seniors, who in accordance with finest tradition wish to remain unknown, have resolved to carry out when leaving dorm for mysterious exercises.

Some upperclassmen simply could not think of ways to improve them-selves. Sara was one of these. I guess I could resolve not to be perfect this year — then I can make resolutions next year."

A weighty problem around here is diet. Jean Underwood's resolution for solving this crisis seems flawless. "Resolutions always backfire," she reflected. "So I'll resolve to gain weight and then I'll lose weight. Maybe."

Resolutions range all the way from planning to ignore bad habits to reading "Pogo." The neatest one of all might be, "This is Leap Year—need I say more?"

Social Notes

Wedding Bells Ring Out Old, Diamonds Herald New Year

By Kay Hubbard and Sandie Farrish

The gala festivities of the holiday season are becoming memories as Longwood girls begin the drudgery of studying for exams. To many, Christmas was just another holiday, filled with gifts, parties, and a welcomed break from school. Others among us, however, have special reasons for considering it a very special time in our lives. For instance the familiar phrase "wedding bells are breaking up that old gang of mine" has taken on a new meaning for us since seven LC girls took that "fatal step."

Ann Norfleet promised to "love, honor, and obey" John Murphy; Billie Jo Altizer took Tommy Reid of Roanoke "for better or for worse"; and Ruby Jane Simpson and Bill Slayton agreed to love "in sickness and in health."

Frances Jones and Leon Harouff pledged themselves "for richer or poorer." "With this ring" Josephine Crowder took Ervin Baker "to be her lawful wedded husband"; Julia Holland and Sammy Terry took their vows "till death us do part"; and Nancy Evans became Mrs. Tommy Cobb as the preacher said "I now pronounce you man and wife."

The next best thing to being married? . . . Being engaged? . . . From the looks of things that must be the answer. Anyhow that's how Donna Hylton figured it when she accepted her ring from Andy Christensen, a student at Tech. Others who agree with her are: Rose Marie Lawrence who is now engaged to Butch Rice, also a student at Tech; Linda Kay Hartman is wearing a diamond from Tech man Jimmy Carroll; Sue Johnson's sparkler came from another Tech student, Glenn Darnell; and Annie Lee Young claims Cornelius Duff to be her special Tech man.

Also receiving "rings for their fingers" were: Barbara Rossiter from Bill Goodwyn of H-S; Beretta Yeoman accepted Steve Bank's ring; J. C. Tharington surprised Judy Jones; Chris Wilson is engaged to Benny Johnson, a student at W and M; and Jo Ann Smith is planning to marry Donald Johnson. Linda McPherson's ring came from Linwood Sawyer of the USAF; Gene Kinsey, presently in the Army, is Diane Dunn's "special someone"; and Othelia Rollis is proud to name Milton Seward her fiance.

Still others who are wearing diamonds include: Nell Horsely whose ring came from Eddie Johnson; Eleanor Brown is wearing Clyde Marks' ring; Lettie T. Dawson accepted hers from Barry Mitchell; James Glass presented Vicki Slayton with a sparkler; Buzzy Woodruff surprised Carol Barnes; and Sonny Speers asked Mary Rideout to be his "special gal."

Mary Augusta Chapman traveled all the way to Denver, Colorado to become the finacee of Don Montony; Emily Smith is engaged to Kenneth Kidwell; Gloria Newton is now wearing the ring of Earl Seamster of Farmville; and Mary Hite Grayson has a VMI "miniature" from Tom Alvey.

Just as happy and proud of their engagements as those about their diamonds are: Carolyn Oliver who is pinned to Walt Wilke, Lambda Chi at H-S; Tilly Powell is wearing the Dolphins pin of Ed Conley from Jacksonville, Fla.; Donna Oakes has the Sigma Chi pledge pin of Dennis Dills from H-S; Gayle Jones is sporting the Bridgewater College pin of Stuart Fears, and Ann Snyder has the VMI pin of Ried J. Myrick.

All in all I think we would all agree that "there're gonna be some changes made" . . . at least in the lives of 28 couples (that's how many are newly engaged or pinned!!).

Cherub Tradition Adds Exam Cheer

By Joan Kidwell

It's that time again when Longwood ladies sprout little wings and take part in the Cheerful Cherub tradition to make exams a bit easier to bear. If you want to join in this tradition, here is what you do:

On January 13 put your name and room number in the box marked for your class which will be placed outside the dining hall.

On January 14 draw a name from the same box, but don't tell whose name you drew! Then the fun begins.

From January 18 to January 22 you go to town and purchase a small gift for the person whose name you have.

It might be something silly like a box of pick-up sticks, a goldfish, a pack of chewing gum or cigarettes or maybe an apple — anything to perk up a study-weary heart. Then you write a little poem or note, sign it "Your Cheerful Cherub," attach it to the gift and slip it into the room of your cherub when she isn't there.

You do this each day of exams until you reveal your identity to the girl on Friday. In the meantime, another Cherub is doing the same thing for you.

Exams are coming up fast;
Do you suppose we'll last?
But don't despair—
With Cherubs in the air
We'll have a real-gone blast!!

'The Night Before'

By Joann Kleinecke

'Twas the night before exams
And all through the dorm
The particular woe of each miss took its form.
Books, pencils, and papers were stacked everywhere
In hopes that some studious miss would be there
To apply her young mind to the task of the day—
To learn the most with least effort, leaving time for play!
So, Roomie and I in mud packs and hair nets
Had just settled down for a long evening's sweat.
When in the next room there arose such a clatter,
We felt most compelled to see what was the matter!
When what to our four peering eyes did appear
But a party-type party, which we hold most dear!
We must have deliberated for fully a minute
Before deciding to include ourselves in it!
Now, I ask you quite honestly, what else could we do?
The rest needed the moral support of we two.
After playing some bridge we all pooled our wealth
To buy some more food—(we must keep our health!)
After three hours of playtime or more
A sincere "Studying" sign found its way to our door.
We spoke a few words and then went to work
We will make "A's", we must not shirk;
But lying down to catch "just five minutes rest" on her bed,
Roomie conked out and slept as if she were dead.
So, what could I do, but just turn out the light?
Happy failure to all, and to all a goodnight!

H-S Tigers Win Year's First Game

The Tigers of Hampden - Sydney opened their basketball schedule against Medical College of Virginia at Gammon Gymnasium December 1 and began their season with a win.

Twelve of the Tigers' 23 regular season games have Little Eight significance, 13 are with Mason-Dixon teams. William and Mary, VMI, and Washington and Lee represent the Big Six on the Bengal slate. On January 9 the Tigers met a powerfull outsider, Belmont Abbey, in Danville and lost to the impregnable Abbey.

The Tigers met the Green Devils of RPI on December 3 in their first Little Eight encounter and defeated them 76-62. On December 5 defending champs of Baltimore University fell to H-S 83-77. The Tigers were impressive in losses to William and Mary and VMI of the Southern Conference. The Indians came from behind to defeat the Bengals 97-83, while it took VMI three overtimes to stop the Death Valley cagers 107-95.

On December 11 the Tigers came back to run over Roanoke 81-62, and on December 14 they conquered Bridgewater College in an exciting contest.

Norfolk Division bowed to the Death Valley team 93-83 on December 16, but the Division claimed revenge when the Tigers visited them in Norfolk January 5 and lost. On January 7 Hampden-Sydney met Lynchburg and gained another victory. The Tigers are now the number one team in Little Eight play with a five-one record.

Honoraries Issue Membership Bids

Three Longwood honorary societies, Boerc Eh Thorn, Kappa Delta Pi, and Pi Delta Epsilon, have extended fall bids.

Boerc Eh Thorn

Boerc Eh Thorn, local honorary English society, issued bids to the following girls:

Cherry Gorham, Judy Harris, Christine Jones, Roberta Koons, Jeanette Metcalf, Nancy Morris, Matilda Powell, Lillie Belle Rogers, Linda Jo Saunders, Mrs. Betty Whitaker Simmons, Joann Tench, Emily Umbarger, and Nancy Umbarger.

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education society, extended bids to the following:

Barbara Bolster, Sandra Clements, LaVerne Collier, Ruth Denton, Mary Elizabeth Eustace, Connie Goodman, Cherry Gorham, Mary Hite Grayson, Ann Hardy, Mrs. Sherrie Elliott Haskett, Margaret Henry.

Also, Mrs. Juliette Mayo Highsmith, Julia Holland, Mrs. Rosa Martin Inge, Roberta Koons, Jeanette Metcalf, Barbara Ellen Moore, Joyce Odom, Judith Owen, Brenda Parsley, Lillie Belle Rogers, Nancy Speakman, and Frances Weaver.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity also extended bids to the following girls:

Jo Anne Parsons, Nancy Lechler Joanne Kleinecke, Arlene McKay, Sandra Clements, LaVerne Collier, Martha Gray Shirley, Mary Linda League, Linda Lane, and Nell Ward.

State Theatre
FARMVILLE, VA.

WED.-THURS—JAN. 13-14
Jeff Chandler
Jack Palace
"Ten Seconds To Hell"

FRI.-SAT.—JAN. 15-16
Vincent Price
"Return Of The Fly"
—And—
Beverly Garland
"The Alligator People"

JANUARY 17 THRU 20
Richard Egan
Dorothy McGuire
"Summer Place"

JANUARY 21 THRU 23
"Lil Abner"

Basketball Schedule

Longwood's 1960 varsity basketball schedule has been announced. Scheduled games include:

February
5—Roanoke College Here—7:15
13—Madison College Here—2:00
20—Lynchburg College Here—2:00
24—Hollins College ..... There

March
5—Westhampton Col. There—2:00

Capital Outlay

(Continued from page 1)

additional equipment will be needed in the science, business education, and other departments as enrollments increase.

A new dormitory and equipment is the eighth project in priority. Estimated at a price of $424,425 (55 per cent of $773,500), the dorm will be located on the corner of the campus at the intersection of Ely and High Streets.

If the funds are granted for this project, it would not be built until enrollment pressures made it necessary.

An elevator to serve additional dining space will be necessary in the event that the dining hall facilities are extended. It is proposed that this be done by using a portion of the recreation room on the floor below the present dining hall, which would make an elevator a necessity to transport food.

This project, at a cost of $15,000, is being given the same priority as the new dormitory.

Hall clocks and classroom bells, at a cost of $25,000, will provide a system for the entire campus. This would cancel most of the confusion caused by non-uniform timing around the present campus.

A fireproof vault for the business office, to be constructed at the rear of the present Business Office, would insure the safety of the many unreplacable financial records now being stored in wooden cabinets. This would be done at a cost of $5,000.

A sprinkler system for the dining hall and swimming pool is the final project proposed. This project continues to be recommended by the Fire Marshal, and can be done at a cost of $15,000. It will be the last part of the old buildings to be equipped with a sprinkler system.

The grand total of the amounts requested from the General Fund for the capital outlay projects is $1,673,425.

Faculty News

Dr. Francis Lankford has been elected to the Raven Society of the University of Virginia. He was one of four alumni selected for the scholastic honor society.

Dr. Earl Boggs, dean, attended a national meeting of the Teachers Education and Progress Standards Association in Washington, D. C.

The theme of the meetings held at the Mayflower Hotel was Education of Teachers.

Committee Meets

The first major meeting of the committee considering admissions for the 1960-61 session was held January 6.

Members of the admissions committee are Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, associate dean; Mrs. Kathleen Cover, associate professor of history and social sciences; Mrs. Mildred Davis, associate professor of English; Dr. Charles Lane, professor of geography and geology; Dr. Floyd Swentfeger, professor of education; and Mrs. Mary Watkins, executive secretary.

TEN TOP TUNES

1. El Paso
2. Why
3. The Big Hurt
4. Running Bear
5. Pretty Blue Eyes
6. Way Down Yonder in New Orleans
7. It's Time To Cry
8. Among My Souvenirs
9. Swinging on A Rainbow
10. Bonnie Came Back

Get Your Records
at
WILSON HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

Healy, Thorpe To Manage Varsity Basketball

VARSITY CO-CAPTAINS. Mabel Healy and Carolyn Thorpe prepare to demonstrate various techniques of basketball during team practice.

Team Represents College For Spectators Evaluation

By Gayle Arnn

When you attend a basketball game, do you think only in terms of who is going to win or how many points someone will make?

This line of thinking is probably characteristic of the majority of the spectators. But basketball, like drama, entails more than meets the eye.

In addition to countless hours of practice required to excel in the skill, much cooperation and numerous time-consuming responsibilities are prerequisites to a smooth performance of the game. This is why the managers of a team are so important.

For the 1960 season, the varsity basketball managers are Mabel Healy and Carolyn Thorpe, two physical education majors selected by the AA Council last spring. Both are versatile athletes and well qualified for the position.

Mabel Healy, from Church View, has been on the varsity hockey team two years, the varsity basketball team two years, the AA Council one year, and has participated in all class sports.

Carolyn Thrope, of Drakes Branch, has been on the varsity hockey team one year, the varsity basketball team three years, the AA Council two years, the Cotillion Club, and the Tri-County Club. She has also participated in all class sports, and was the class basketball manager one year.

With such evident interest and experience, Carolyn and Mabel are certain to discharge their duties with exceptional proficiency. They must meet with the coach and council to discuss schedules for the sport; they are responsible for obtaining officials for all games.

They take charge of and care for all equipment used; they help the coach and captains select teams; they make a report at the end of the season; and they keep a record of attendance at practice.

The managers are the backbone of the team. The final test lies in their influence on the attitudes of their fellow team members.

When Longwood competes with other colleges, the team members are representative of the students, and spectators use their representative group — the basketball team — as a measurement for evaluation of the entire student body. With the likable personalities, sincere interests, and leadership abilities of Carolyn and Mabel, the basketball team, whether winning or losing, will certainly do its share in retaining the good reputation and high esteem that Longwood has long held among other colleges.

Buston, Sudduth Supervise Teams

By Claudia Wilson

Sarah Jane Buston and Linda Sudduth have been selected co-managers of class basketball, and practices for class teams are now in progress. Practices will be held every Tuesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. Captains will be chosen in February.

Thus far, the sophomores and freshmen have shown more interest, turning out for practice, but each class must in order to win the color cup. If enough interest is shown, there will be three practices a week instead of two.

Tentative plans are being made for a team combined of freshmen and sophomores to play other schools such as Averett, and local high schools that will be able to come to Longwood. The co-managers say that plenty of backing from the students will be needed before these plans are final.

Missionaries Chosen

Sophomores Mattie Blewett and Virginia Havener were interviewed recently by the executive committee of the Baptist Student Union and were selected to serve as summer missionaries beginning in June.

Mattie will spend the summer in French, Louisiana and Virginia will work in the goodwill center of either Atlanta or New Orleans.

Sports Round-up

By Betty Jane Allgood

A quick roundup of the sports actions seen over the past week end, finds basketball very much in the spotlight.

The Cavaliers of Virginia were halted in their three game winning streak by the South Carolina Gamecocks, 74-70. The Cavaliers' lead of 68-65 was reduced and quickly surpassed in the wanning minutes of the game. This game marked Virginia's fourth loss in the ACC league standings.

Making sports' headlines in Alabama and throughout the nation was the Senior Bowl Game in Mobile. The eleventh annual meeting of college stars, forming a North and South team rivalry, ended in a turn-a-bout, when the Yankees beat the favored Southerners by a score of 26-7. Premiering before a group of professional football scouts, Jack Lee of Cincinnati broke a standing passing record with a total of 283 yards, including two touchdowns. Representing Virginia on the Southern Team was Carroll Dale of Virginia Tech.

South of the boarder, all of North Carolina's "big four" saw action. Wake Forest was upset by the University of North Carolina, 62-59. Duke took the ACC lead by going all the way to beat North Carolina State 47-34.

Georgia Tech spilled Mississipp State 82-60. Third-ranked West Virginia made an amazing last minute comeback by whipping Penn State 75-73, in the last ninety seconds of the game.

Unbeaten Tulane, in SEC play, rallied over Tennessee in a 61-56 decision.

Other southern team scores for Auburn 73, Florida 69; Vanderbilt 66, Mississippi 58; Marshall College 92, Kent State 75.

On the Southern Conference front, the Tribe of William and Mary downed the Spiders of the University of Richmond, 90-76, for a surprising outcome. VMI lost to the Citadel 74-53, and Furman defeated Davidson, 64-59.

Back in Little Eight circles, Belmont Abbey won over Hampden-Sydney 76-47.

H2O Selects White

Hannah White has been selected to head the spring production of the H2O Club. Cherry Gorham will assist her in working with the Water Pageant, scheduled for March 24 and 25. Further plans for the show will be announced later.

College Team Opens Season With Roanoke

February 5 marks the opening of basketball season here at Longwood. The team will vie against Roanoke College in the Longwood gymnasium.

Members of this year's team include freshmen Carol Nye, Lindy Hatch, Sandra Phlegar, Betty Brothers, and Carol Buckner; sophomores Trina Childress, Faye Ripley, Lois Peters, Virginia Parker, and Shirley Harman; juniors Mary Hite Grayson, and Barbara Brantley.

Others are Pat Southworth, Mabel Healy, Clara Lee Parker, Earlene Queen, and Carolyn Thorpe; senior Dixie Hilliard.

Managers for the team are Carolyn Throp and Mabel Healy. Captains have not yet been selected.

In regard to the condition of the team, manager Carolyn Thorpe stated, "Our team shows good possibilities and we hope the school will come out and support us!"

HURRY—HURRY
After Inventory Sale
Everything Must Go!
Skirts as low as $3.88
Sweaters & Blouses as low as
$1.98 to $3.88
Sold for $5.98
Coats were $24.98 to $65.95
Now $18.00 to $44.00
DOROTHY MAY

STUDY FOR EXAMS
With
BARNES AND NOBLE COLLEGE OUTLINE
WEYANOKE BOOK SHOP
200 High Street
Farmville, Virginia

Sociology

Spin a platter... have some chatter...
and sip that real great taste of Coke.
Sure, you can have a perfect refresh
Coca-Cola—but who wants to!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Kitchen Receives More Equipment, New Decorations

Few students are aware that many improvements have been made in the Longwood kitchen. New equipment has been installed, and the rooms have been redecorated.

Already in operation are a huge self-defrosting refrigerator and equally large dairy and produce box. These are modern tile-lined refrigerators, easy to clean, and in which food is easily accessible.

Most students are familiar with the new ice maker which sits in the back of the dining hall.

Some pieces of equipment which have not yet been installed will be in working order in a few days. One of these is a salad box much like the ice-cream refrigerators. It will be a walk-in type, with a built-in humidifier. This humidifier will enable the cooks to make up salads on the night before the day they will be served. A new salad sink for washing greens has also been added in the salad department. Other new machines that will be installed soon are a rotary oven and a doughnut maker. The rotary oven will cook many new kinds of bread to be made automatically.

The kitchen itself has been redecorated. The former cement flooring has been replaced by easy-to-clean tile, the walls of the kitchens have been repainted and replastered, and the Slater office has been redecorated.

These new improvements, and the cleanliness of the kitchens have been highly commended by the state health inspector.

Honorary Society To Initiate Boggs

Mrs. Earl Boggs, associate professor of education here, will be initiated into the Psi Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society January 16.

The Delta Kappa Gamma Society is an honorary for women in education and allied fields.

Mrs. Boggs' initiation will be held at the Founders Day Banquet to be held in the Tea Room. Guests from other Virginia chapters will be present.

Miss Eleanor Preston, executive secretary of the state organization of Delta Kappa Gamma, will be the speaker for the banquet.

Dr. Ruth Wilson, president of the local chapter, will preside at this time.

Glamourama

By IDA SOUTHALL

BE BEAUTIFUL!

With the help of today's cosmetics, most girls and women may have an appearance. A good complexion can be combined with proper treatment and good diet. Your hair can be styled with a good care and proper diet. If you figure and proper exercise you need diet will do it.

The right color will do much to improve your appearance. Before changing the color of your hair, get professional advice. Go to a beauty school at Vanity Beauty Shop. Phone EX 2-4161. Farmville, Va.

Corrected

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

First Semester

1959-60 Session

Examination Day and Date	Morning 8:05-11:05	1:05-4:05 Afternoon
Friday, Jan. 22	Reading Period	11:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes
Saturday, Jan. 23	8:05 MFW Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	3:05, 4:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes TT Classes MW Classes WF Classes
Monday, Jan. 25	10:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	2:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Tuesday, Jan. 26	8:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	10:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Wednesday, Jan. 27	9:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	9:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Thursday, Jan. 28	1:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	11:05 TT Classes 2:05 TT Classes

Alpha Psi Traces History Of Local Group Since 1953

By Sandy Bryant

Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, was established for the purpose of providing an honor society for those who achieve a high standard of work in drama.

Here on the Longwood campus, Alpha Psi Omega was organized in 1953 under the direction of Dr. S. Early. The first officers were Nancy Nelson, president; Ellen Porter, vice-president; Sally Wilson, secretary; and Tom Moore, treasurer.

The aim of this honorary fraternity is to develop dramatic talent and the art of acting, to cultivate a taste for the best in drama, and to foster the cultural values which they believe are developed by dramatics.

They have sponsored various films and theatrical presentations by visiting theatre groups, as well as the annual three one-act plays which are directed by students.

This year Mr. David Wiley is the sponsor of Alpha Psi Omega at Longwood College. The officers are president, Mary Linda League; vice-president, Matilda Powell; secretary, Joan Kidwell; and treasurer, Cecil Kidd. Other members are Becky Jones, Ann Mixon, Emily Shelton, and Annie Lee Young.

New members will be taken in during the spring. Acting is not a requisite to membership to this honorary fraternity; the various backstage jobs are equally important.

This fall, Alpha Psi Omega presented three one-act plays, directed by members.

Alpha Psi Omega and Beorc Eh Thorn, honorary English society, sponsored the film Othello. Later in the spring, they will sponsor the film of Arthur Miller's play, "Death of a Salesman."

When asked what being a member meant to her, Matilda Powell, vice-president, replied, "First it is an honor, a reward that inspires its members to greater work that they may prove worthy of the honor. To me, it means even more than this; it means an opportunity to serve.

"With honor comes responsibility and I think that the members of Alpha Psi Omega feel this responsibility greatly. We feel it our obligation to bring the best in drama, within our means, to Longwood's campus. . .

"Also it is an opportunity to serve the school in the development of campus talent . . . Yes, being a member of Alpha Psi Omega is an honor, but it is more than that, it is a responsibility, one which I cherish."

Harvard To Evaluate LC Reading Courses

Longwood College is participating in a study being conducted by the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

The study, entitled the Harvard Carnegie Study of the Teaching of Reading, is a survey of the total program offered in the field of reading in both the graduate and undergraduate level of the participating institutions.

Longwood has two specifically designed courses, Education 325 and 525, which give future teachers a background in reading instruction.

An evaluation program will follow the conclusion of the study.

Church News

Catholics

On February 6, the Newman Club will sponsor a Rec Dance for all college students. Spinning favorite records will be Al Smith from WFLO here in Farmville.

Baptists

On January 17, a deputation group will go to Calvary Baptist Church in Brookneal.

Choir practice will be on Thursdays at 5 p.m. in the BSU Center.

Methodists

The date of the Model UN Assembly has been changed to later in March.

Six freshmen girls have been selected to be on the Wesley Council second semester. They are Ginger Barbour, Nancy Hague, Aleta Goodwyn, Margaret Vaughan, Joan Ivy and Elaine Lohr. These girls have been working on a directory of Methodist students.

Jerry Spidel, director of the Methodist Student Movement, and his wife will be here January 17 to present a program. A supper will also be served at this time.

The Wesley Foundation will sponsor suppers once a month before their Sunday night programs.

• STUDENTS, TEACHERS . . .

going to EUROPE next summer?

College and Student Escorted Low-Cost Tours. Comprehensive itineraries including Passion Play at Oberammergau. For Complete Information Write—

Lockett's Travel Service

37½ S. Sycamore St.

Petersburg, Virginia

Home On Campus Run Efficiently

By Edmonia Leech

A reporter from the Rotunda climbed the front steps of Longwood's home management house and stood for a moment pondering whether to knock or to simply open the door and walk in. She solved the problem by ringing the doorbell.

The door opened and she looked in to see a petite, senior home economics major wearing an enthusiastic smile. "Why, hello, come in."

The reporter accepted the invitation, and Annie Lee Young led her through the spacious hallway to a neat, cheerful living room.

Complete Student Teaching

"Nancye Allen, Nancy Knight, Katherine Key, and Peggy Henry taught in Roanoke and I stayed at the college and taught at Appomattox."

"We each have assigned duties which we are responsible for accepting while we're here," she went on to explain. "We rotate the jobs so that we each have a turn at serving as hostess, housekeeper, assistant housekeeper, cook, and assistant cook.

"We started out by changing positions every three days until we became accustomed to all the duties, then, after we held each position for three days, we took each responsibility again for a week's time."

She next led the reporter into a dining room furnished with dark-toned furniture from the Sheraton-Hepplewhite period. "Katherine Key is housekeeper right now," she said. "Her duties include vacuuming, dusting, and cleaning the mirrors, to name a few.

"The assistant housekeeper takes care of the laundry, empties the trash can, and does other things of that sort. Don't be at all surprised if you see them hanging from the ceiling or on a ladder cleaning light fixtures."

Next Annie Lee ushered her into the kitchen. "Head cook," explained Annie Lee, "plans the menus, buys the groceries and prepares the meals. The assistant cook fixes salads, beverages, sets the table, and puts the dishes away after every meal. The cook acts as the host at meals, and the assistant cook takes the duties of hostess.

Plan Budget

"We have a budget to go by. We can cook extra things as long as we keep within the budget, get all the proper foods, and are as economical as possible.

"The girls' rooms are upstairs," she said, as they climbed the broad flight of stairs to the second floor. Annie Lee showed her into a cozy room decorated in typical college fashion with portraits of beaus, textbooks, dressers covered with an array of cosmetics, and a radio. Nancye Allen was sorting clothes from a large hamper in preparation for putting them through the washer and dryer in the laundry room on the first floor.

Parallel Lends Aid

"We also have parallel reading which helps us to solve the problems we'll meet in managing a home," Annie Lee said. "Then we have group conferences once a week and individual conferences from time to time with our supervisor, Mrs. Gee."

She stepped across the hall and spoke to Mrs. Gee, who, although she was very busily engaged in grading papers, welcomed the reporter in and put aside her work to chat with her.

"We like for students to feel that the home management house is theirs while they are here," she said. "We try to have a democratic procedure. They assign themselves an even load and really make a study out of accomplishing these tasks. They study preserving time and energy, the use of equipment, skills, and relationships. As the course goes on, they evaluate themselves on the progress they have made in the objectives that they have set for themselves."

Do You Think for Yourself?

(THROW THESE QUESTIONS INTO THE POT AND SEE WHAT COOKS*)

If your studies led you to believe you could strike oil by drilling a hole right in the middle of the campus, would you (A) keep still about it so people wouldn't think you were nuts? (B) sell stock in the proposition to all your friends? (C) get an oil man interested in the idea, even if you had to give him most of the profits?

A☐ B☐ C☐

"A watched pot never boils" means (A) the man who made such a statement never watched a pot; (B) if you don't want the stew to boil over, watch it! (C) you can't hurry things by worrying about them.

A☐ B☐ C☐

If you saw a girl perched up in a tree reading a book, would you say, (A) "Timber!" (B) "Is the light better up there?" (C) "Will that branch hold two?"

A☐ B☐ C☐

Assuming cigarettes could talk, would you listen to (A) a filter cigarette that talks only about its taste? (B) a weak-tasting cigarette that talks about its filter? (C) a filter cigarette that lets its advanced filter design and full taste speak for themselves?

A☐ B☐ C☐

Next time you light up, take a moment to think about what you really want in your filter cigarette. Most men and women who think for themselves choose VICEROY, the cigarette with the most advanced filter design of them all . . . the one cigarette with a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste.

If you checked (B) in three out of four of these questions, you're a pretty smart cooky —but if you checked (C), you think for yourself!*

Familiar pack or crush-proof box.

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows—

ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER... A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

©1959, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Buy Junior Dance Tickets

The Rotunda

Attend Frosh Poduction Friday

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., February 10, 1960 | No. 11

Three Chosen To Fill Major Spring Posts

Ann Mixon, Mary Pem Lewis and Doris Kesling have been selected to fill three major Spring positions.

Ann was elected to serve as chairman of May Day. Mary Pem will be business manager for May Day, and Doris was elected chairman of the major-minor elections.

Ann is a senior elementary education major from Roanoke. Her activities at Longwood include president of the Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority, student-director in Jarman Hall, Ring Master for Circus and membership in the Longwood Players, Cotillion Club, Alpha Psi Omega, and the Student Education Association. Ann was selected to Who's Who last fall.

"I realize the responsibility involved in this job and I will do my very best to make May Day the success this year that it has always been," was Ann's comment.

Mary Pem, business manager for the May Day, is a senior art major from Norfolk.

She has been quite active at Longwood although she has only been here for two years. She is membership chairman for the Kappa Delta social sorority, business manager for Cotillion Club, float chairman for Circus, and a member of the Student Education Association. Concerning her recent election, Mary Pem commented, "I am very surprised. I am looking forward to it."

Major-minor elections chairman is Doris Kesling. Doris is a senior physical education major from Radford.

Doris also has participated in many activities. She is treasurer for the Monogram Club and the Wesley Foundation, a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, the Athletic Association Council, and the Student Education Association. For her outstanding participation in intramural and intercollegiate athletics, Doris was awarded a Blue Blazer.

"I was very proud of the confidence that the student body placed in me and I shall do the very best that I possibly may do."

Concerning the progress that Doris has made on the elections, all of the class nomination meetings will have been held by the end of this week and then the nominations committee will begin to narrow the candidates down to three.

College Enters Fourth Festival For Dramatists

Longwood is one of nine Virginia colleges taking part Saturday, February 13, in the fourth annual College Drama Festival of Virginia at the Virginia Museum Theatre in Richmond.

The college's entry will be the second act of Caesar and Cleopatra by George Bernard Shaw. Mr. David Wiley will direct the play with Ginnia Chapman serving as his student assistant.

Garnett Smith will portray Caesar with Liz Deichmann depicting Cleopatra. Neal Banks is the maid, Ftatateeta; Phil Padgett will act in the role of a Roman soldier; a third minor part is that of a slave.

Taking care of props is Cecil Kidd; make-up, Emily Shelton and Page Landers; costumes, Becky Jones; sound, Joan Kidwell; and stage manager, Matilda Powell.

Henry Hewes will offer critiques of the college presentations. In addition to his work as drama critic for the Saturday Review, and formerly for the New York Times, Hewes also has directed plays for experimental groups in New York, and has been guest lecturer at Columbia University and Sarah Lawrence College.

Marc Connelly, the author of "The Green Pastures" and other plays, will speak at a banquet between the afternoon and evening sessions of the festival. Connelly won the Pulitzer award for playwriting in 1930.

Schedule Changes

Dr. Moss's office has announced the deadlines for class changes for the second semester.

Students may drop classes from their schedules through February 29. Classes may be added only through February 15. Students are urged to adopt a permanent schedule as soon as possible.

Devised Program Of Area Teaching Benefits Seniors

The last-minute student teaching program devised for Longwood students teaching in the Farmville area is proving quite successful.

Thirty - nine practice teachers traveled from 30 to 50 miles last semester to six schools in adjacent counties. During this semester 60 other students will practice teach under the same program in Appomattox, Buckingham, Cumberland, and Charlotte counties.

Dr. Francis G. Lankford, Jr., college president, stated that although the program had to be set up in a hurried fashion, the only real problem encountered was that the girls had to be out all day, rather than for the two or three hours when they taught in Farmville schools. The girls commuted each day in college-owned automobiles.

Some of the girls taught two days per week during the past semester, while others taught three days per week. Those scheduled in the nine-week program taught on a five-day-a-week plan.

Next fall, Dr. Lankford states, all of the local student teaching will be done on the nine - week block arrangement.

The state requires nine weeks of teaching or the equivalent thereof for a teaching degree.

The girls who taught last semester feel that the system worked satisfactorily and imposed little hardship. Most of them prefer the nine-week block routine to the two or three day per week plan, however.

Other counties are interested in the program and several are interested in having practice teaching incorporated into their schools.

Assembly

In observance of the Religious Emphasis Week, February 15-19, Dr. Myers will speak at the February 16 assembly on the topic, "The New Birth-What is It?"

Joan Spencer and Melinda Ayers, student directors, will have the devotions for the program.

Freshman Present Television Take-Off

MEMBERS OF FRESHMAN PRODUCTION cast, Judy Williams, Dot Fretz, Eleanor Fowler and Connie Costan, reherse for the coming program.

Staged Mystery Set For Jarman On February 12

By Sandy Bryant

"Dial Jarman for Murder," a murder mystery comedy, will be presented by the freshman class in Jarman Hall Friday night, February 12, at 8 p.m.

The production, which is a take-off on a popular television program, will feature many well-known personalities. These stars will be portrayed by the following freshmen: Connie Costan, Elaine Lohr, Judy Williams, Dot Fretz, Eleanor Fowler, Mary Beth Olson, Ann Agee, Barbara Gray Martin, Sandra Freedman, Tinsley Crump, and Lefty Snyder.

Original music for the production has been written by Libby Predmore and Pat McMillen. Choreographers are Gracie Bottina and Peggy Hughes.

Dress Rehearsal Wednesday

A dress rehearsal will be held on Wednesday night, February 10, at 8 p.m. for those who are unable to attend the Friday night performance. There will be a charge of 25 cents for each night.

According to freshman production chairmen, Cissie Griggs and Janice Harris, "Everyone is co-operating and working hard to make it a success."

Committee Heads

Committee heads for the production were chosen in December. Co-chairmen of script committee are Sandra Freedman and Sally Simms; props co-chairmen are Mary Lou Plunkett and Sandra Phleger. Libby Predmore and Pat McMillen head up the music committee, while dance co-chairmen are Gracie Bottina and Peggy Hughes. Heads of the scenery committee are Barbara Muchlman and Carol Gregory; the costume committee is under the direction of Betsy Croswell. Lindy Hatch and Scottie MacGregor are in charge of the publicity committee.

Other committees and their co-chairmen are programs, Paula Clark and Letty Snyder, make-up, Josie O'Hop and Kay Nottingham; tickets, Sandra Little and Judy Potter; lights and sound, Anne Tweedy and Anne Friedman. Stage manager is Barbara Goodman.

All students and the public are invited to attend.

Players Select Comedy As Spring Presentation

"The Importance of Being Earnest", a Victorian comedy-farce by Oscar Wilde, is the Longwood Players' selection for its Spring production March 10, 11, and 12.

Visual comedy is provided by Garnett Smith as John Worthington, J. P., who is in deep mourning for his fictitious brother, Earnest. William Ragsdale will be seen in the role of Algernon Mourcieff, who successfully masquerades as that brother.

Seen in the character of Rev. Canon Chasuable will be Alan Stein. Lady Bracknell will be characterized by Matilda Powell. Patsy Skellie, newcomer to the Longwood stage, will portary the honorable Gwendolen Fairfax. Page Landers will appear as Cecily Cardew.

The governess, Miss Prism, is being played by Patsy Ann Scott. The servants include Merriman, played by Nell Banks, and Lane, the butler, portrayed by Ben Morgan.

The coachmen are played by Phill Padgett and Garnett Hall, also making their debut on the Longwood stage. Working around the house will be the maids, Addie Richardson, Malinda Walker, Bobbie Caples, and Nancy Pradel.

"The Importance of Being Earnest" is being directed by Mr. David W. Wiley assisted by Judy Stokes. At the technical end of the production is found Matilda Powell as technical director and Ginnia Chapman as stage manager.

Weaver Serves As Trial Editor

Sandra Weaver served as editor-in-chief of this week's Rotunda, the second trial issue of the period ending the newspaper's fiscal year.

A sophomore from Newport News, Sandra is now serving as news editor of the Rotunda staff. Working under her as trial managing editor is Joann Kleinecke; feature editor, Judy Detrich; news editor, Nancy Lechler; sports editor, Mary Byrd Micou.

The business staff, also operating on a trial basis, is headed by Jo Anne Parsons as business manager. Jo Anne, a junior from Richmond, is assisted by Nancy Lee Cole as circulation manager, and Janet Wainwright and Janet Stanley as co-advertising managers.

Composing the rest of the trial news staff are Pat Hurst, desk editor; Sandy Bryant, assistant news editor; Barbara Chaffin, assistant feature editor; Gail Arnn, assistant sports editor; Ann Agee, assistant desk editor; Anna Dehaven, art editor, and Bunny Vernon, assistant photography editor.

Columnists are Kay Hubbard, social notes; Sandra Parish, fashions; Frances Harnsberger, timely topics; Carolyn Elliott, sports, and Marjorie Freese, church news.

February 13 Ends Literary Contest

The deadline for the Colonnade Literary Contest has been announced as February 13. Interested students are invited to submit entries in any of the following categories; short story, essay, or poetry.

Entries must be typed and the author's name should be attached separately. They may be submitted to Judy Harris, Dr. Meeker, or any Colonnade staff members.

There will be a first place award of $10, a second place prize of $5, and a third place prize of $3 in each field. The winning works will be published in the next issue of the magazine. Also the winners will be guests at a tea given in their honor by Boerc Eh Thorn.

Seven Students Enter Longwood

Seven new students have entered Longwood for the second semester.

Transfers are Mrs. Virginia Holt and Julia King. Mrs. Holt is a transfer from RPI, and Julia transferred from Westhampton.

There are two girls who are new students from Richmond. They are Jeanette Thompson and Eugenia Cousins. Dorothy Jones is a new transfer student from Danville. Art major Carol Lee Cooke is from Lynchwood from Churchville. The fifth new student is Rose Author, who is a sociology major.

Myers Leads YWCA Services

Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored by the YWCA, will come to the Longwood campus February 15-19. YWCA vice - president Helen Wente has announced that the annual series of services designed to stimulate the college student to re-evaluate her religious beliefs will be led this year by Dr. John Wynne Myers, minister of Greene Memorial Methodist Church in Roanoke.

DR. JOHN W. MYERS

The week-long religious program will open with a banquet in the dining hall at the regular dinner hour on Monday, February 15. Evening services will be held Monday through Thursday in Jarman Hall at 6:45 p.m., with a short worship program and singspiration followed by a message from Dr. Myers. Topics for Dr. Myers' evening talks will be "What Makes a Happy Marriage", "Why Is Personal Morality Important," and "The Joy of a Good Conscience."

Dr. Myers will lead morning devotions from 7:30 to 8 a.m. in the Methodist Church, Tuesday through Thursday, and on Friday from 7 to 7:30 a.m. His subjects at these devotional meetings will be "What Do You Know About Prayer?", "What Do You Know About God?", "What Do You Know About Jesus?", and "The Call of Christ Is Now." The assembly audience on Tuesday will hear Dr. Myers speak on "The New Birth—What Is It?".

Each night informal discussion groups will be held in the Y Lounge at 10 p.m, Dr. Myers will also be available for personal conferences with students. Lists will be posted for students having questions for the speaker to sign for appointments.

The theme of Religious Emphasis Week is JOY — Jesus, Others, Yourself. The theme song is "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee." The YWCA has set up certain goals for the success of Religious Emphasis Week. These include the personal evaluation of faith, lasting impressions of Christ, strengthening of belief, a search for answers to personal questions, and the making of better Christians.

Sales Tax Controversy

Governor Almond's sales tax bill, now before the Senate Finance Committee is a political action that has gained the attention of most public groups. Because of its direct closeness to the individual, the individual is interested. College students are individuals, but are they interested?

The answer to this question is "yes" in the minds of over 100 students. Student opinion, as expressed at the first assembly of the Longwood Forum last Monday, showed that the group was not only interested, but well-informed on the controversy.

How will the tax affect us? One point raised at the forum was, "Is it fair for persons under 21 who are not even able to vote for or against the tax?" While still dependent on our families, we do not pay taxes, but with the proposed gubernatorial change, we will. Indirectly, it will be our parents who will be paying and not us, but we are still reached. Those of us who have to work to assure our education will be deeply affected by such a tax. The state allows tax refunds to those still in school in the case of income tax, but with the new impost, there will be no similar refunds. In such a status, will it add to our financial difficulties?

True, we should be willing to do our part in supporting Virginia, and two cents on a dollar appears to be minute, but is the state in such a financial need to request such a drastic measure? If, at the end of each fiscal year, the state has reported a lack of surpluses, then the need for additional funds is plausible. However, this has not been the case. Surplus in the budget has been reported to be adequate to meet state needs.

Virginia has always operated, on an ultraconservative financial set-up, and she has not suffered. If money is needed to further the status of the state it should be obtained, but taxes on a pay-as-you-go-plan, as the answer to Virginia's capital outlay demands, do not seem to represent the majority of the views expressed at the forum.

—Sandra Weaver

Points To Ponder

Clifton Fadiman:

I should like to set before you what may seem a crackpot notion: that the best place to teach philosophy is not the university but the elementary school; and that the ideal student of philosophy is the child from eight to twelve. It is he, not you or I, who wonders about the world; why it was made, who made it, what makes people different from animals, how we think, what it means to be brave or good or truthful, and so on. These are basically philosophical questions.

I am not asking that the child be turned into a philosopher at the age of 12. All I suggest is that somewhere along the route his fresh, active, inquiring mind be led to wonder about the universe, the world, his place in nature, and some of the statements that wise men have made about these matters. My conviction is that we have become a people who can do almost anything, but who are baffled when asked to consider the origins, meanings and consequences of our actions.

This national weakness in abstract thought is partly the result of our never having been confronted in our formative years with its content and its fascinations. The elementary school could do much to remedy this deficiency.

—The Instructor

W. Somerset Maugham in A Writer's Notebook:

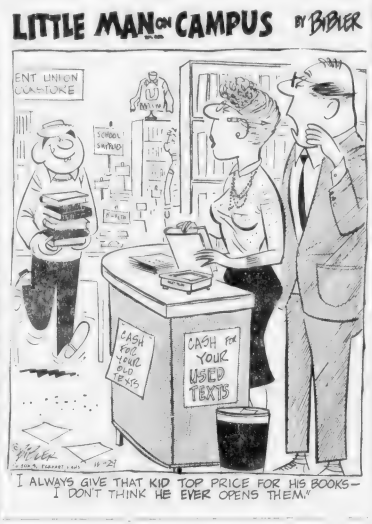
When I was young I was amazed at Plutarch's statement that the elder Cato began at the age of 80 to learn Greek. I am amazed no longer. Old age is ready to undertake tasks that youth shirked because they would take too long.

—Doubleday

—Readers Digest

Your New System

In just three short weeks you will cast your preliminary vote for the heads of the major organizations. Utmost evaluation should be taken before this vote is cast.



Already you have begun nominations for the candidates and have elected your representatives to the screening board. We want to impress upon you, however, the importance of your continued interest even after these representatives have been elected. If these girls are to represent you, they must have your opinions and suggestions and discuss with you the potentials and qualifications of each nominee. Careful thought and expression should go into the discussion so that the screening board members may better see the reasons for your forma ave l opinion, thus broadening their concept of the ous qualifications. This thought, however, should not be biased or preconceived, but should be for the good of the entire student body.

Popularity should not be the one basis for a girl's qualifications, in addition to [illegible] from ability, interest, and a spirit of service for others. You and your representatives have the perfect basis of deciding who best fits these [illegible] qualifications.

Continued support of the screening board is encouraged, especially after [illegible] and careful consideration is urged when the final voting takes place.

—Rob Denton

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service, Inc. 420 Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Modern Day Valentines Parallel College Humor

By Mattie Blewett

Scene: A local drugstore.
Characters: Longwood students. You can tell by the camel hair coats and dirty loafers.
Time: Fall, 1959.

Scene opens:

Freshman Fran: Think I'll drop in this drugstore and purchase Momsy a birthday card. (Enters through door, trips over a fellow frosh.) (Pauses. Eyes fall on a sight nearby and widen into oval-shaped marbles.) Gads! The people! (She tugs at a camel hair arm.) Hey! Why's everybody piled all over everybody in that corner?

Camel Hair Arm: (Disdainfully.) New shipment of contemporary cards.

Freshman Fran: Oh, yeh. (Then to herself.) What in the name of Uncle Johannus are contemporary cards?

Some scene: Four months later.
Same characters: Four months later.
Time: — Four months later. (February, 1960.)
Scene opens:

Freshman Fran: (To girl smacking gum beside her.) Come on in, Gertrude. I gotta buy Stanly a valentine.

Gertrude: I'm not believing this.

Freshman Fran: (Walks over to the card rack. Picks up a large card which has on it a huge red, padded, velvet heart with some very poetic words written beautifully above it.)

Gertrude: (Smacking gum.) That's mickey.

Freshman Fran: (Moves over to another rack. This one is filled with elongated cards in predominantly black and white. She picks up one which has on the outside a little chubby, knock - kneed girl who is saying: "I luv you more than I luv sauerkraut and pickle juice" (Inside) "and I really luv sauerkraut and pickle juice.")

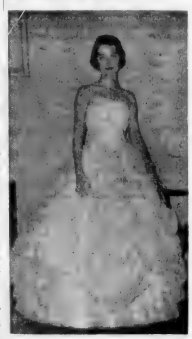
Gertrude: (Smacking gum and looking over Fran's shoulder.) That's real neatsy pooh!

Freshman Fran: Sure is, Gert. Let's have another look-see. (She picks up one more. On the outer cover of this one is a society girl — long beads, short skirt, false eye-lashes, and etc. — sitting at an antique desk. The words on the front read: "Dear Valentine, I miss you terribly, longingly, desperately" (Inside)

(Continued on page 4)

Apple Blossom Fete In Store For Young

By Joann Kleinecke



Annie Lee Young has been chosen by the Longwood administration to represent Longwood in the Thirty-Third Annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival. She will travel to Winchester on the week end of April 25 to join 32 other princesses serving in the Apple Blossom Queen's court.

"I just think its wonderful and I'm so happy and thrilled to be representing Longwood," commented Annie Lee.

Concerts, contests, luncheons, parades and pageantry will highlight the colorful festival. Two formal balls will be given to honor the Queen and her court, who will stay at the George Washington Hotel in the "Princess Headquarters."

Members of the court may choose their own escort, and Annie Lee is delighted that her fiance, Cornelius Duff, will be able to share the festival activities with her.

Annie Lee, a senior Home Economics major from Franklin, is Vice-president of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority and Longwood Players and president of the Home Economics Club. She is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, Student Education Association, and she will lead the Cotillion Club figure this year.

ANNIE LEE YOUNG
Apple Blossom Princess

Casual Look Rates First This Spring

By Sandie Farish

Spring is just around the corner, and soon, a girl's fancy will be turning to thoughts of love . . . and clothes! This light-hearted time of year will be "busting" out all over in a colorful array of pastels, prints, and plaids.

Madras is still the biggest thing to hit a college campus in years. This "guaranteed to bleed" hand-woven India fabric is available in just about anything considered "in" around college campuses: bermudas, blouses, cumberbunds, skirts, dresses, and blazers. But girls, if you'd like to include some madras in your wardrobe, I'd advise you to first stock up on money . . . it's expensive!

Here's a fashion "extra" for those interested, though: there's such a thing as imitation madras, and for those who would like to dispense with "bleedy" washdays (as well as a high clothes bill) this fabric doesn't run!

The pleated skirts are becoming more popular than ever—box pleats, sewn down pleats, etc., though the slim skirts are still ever-popular. Be sure to give your pretty plaid skirts the new effect of the increasingly popular web belts, a new fashion "must." Roll - up sleeve blouses and shirtwaist dresses are still on top, in a wide selection of drip-dry dacrons and wrinkle-resistant (?) cottons. However, a new look is given to the collar: the Macmillan collar is the latest item to be added to the "in" list.

So here you are girls—a few hints to help you prepare for a step forward into spring fashions as the typical, casually dressed college miss.

Cupid Visits LC, Enchants Many With His Charm

By Kathryn Hubbard

Cupid never misses a chance to shoot his arrow and somehow his aim is always perfect. The clever little gent took advantage of the midsemester break to tie a few matrimonial knots for Longwood girls. Two of his victims were Jo Ann Garner, now married to Bobby Wagstaff, a student at VPI, and Gwen Stephens, who is married to Rice Strange, also a student at Tech.

Diamonds Sparkle

A friend to all girls, and especially those in love, he also favored other girls with engagement rings and pins. Carol Mathews is happily engaged to Don Williams. Don was graduated from VPI last year and is now a lieutenant in the Air Force.

Paula Clarke and Joyce Ellis were also on the receiving end when diamonds were being presented. Paula's ring came from "Cockey" Rodgers and Joyce received hers from Jimmy Teague, Jr., of Silver Spring, Md. Nan McLaughlin is now wearing the Pi Kappa Alpha pin of Chuck Collman, a student at Hampden-Sydney and Dotsy Moody is pinned to Gene Godwin of Roanoke College.

The "wandering fever" seems to be creeping across campus quite rapidly, affecting more girls each week. Among those who came down with the disease this week were Lina Pippin, Becky Tuck, and Sue Sharpe, who went to East Carolina College; Nancy Mills, Clara Kidd, Gaye Yates, and Joan Barnett sought relief at the University of Virginia; Shirley Powell headed for UNC; and Joan Verlander went to High Point College in North Carolina.

The girls who stayed on campus this week end found joy in the "Rec dance' Saturday night. Al Smith was here from radio station WFLO to spin the records. Others enjoyed the two parties at H-S. The PiKA's had a combo dance and the Sigma Chi's "held their own" with a record hop. As usual, many LC girls were at both parties enjoying the music and dancing!

Chi, Charlie Hop Elude Chasers

By Judy Detrich

The mystery connected with Chi has always had an irresistable attraction for some students. Through the years their unorganized group has gained certain characteristics and a name—"Chi Chasers."

Chi chasers come in all sizes, shapes and descriptions. Enrollment in the "Unorganization of Chi Chasers" has been great in the past; in contemporary times the group has become much smaller. In this age of apathy, few people are willing to meet its vigorous standards. What are the standards?

First of all, a Chi chaser must be interested—interested in Longwood. A Chi chaser is alert, brave, respectful, enduring, and in a good humor at all times. Despite her class, her favorite colors are red and white, her favorite song is "Chloe", and her code includes such cryptic messages as CWWT . . . one if [illegible] two if by land.

Chi Wans

"We've had some exciting times . . . we really have," reflects Charlie Hop. Back in the old days even an innocent meeting could turn into disaster for Chi. One time Charlie Hop led the group up behind the training school. There they waited for him to give the all clear signal before going back into the dorm. "Lo and behold," Charlie Hop recalls, "every single window was full of girls—waiting to catch Chi." The Wait grew into a test of perseverence. Chi waited and shivered in the darkness of the training school until the chasers finally gave up—3 a.m.!

Another time Chi's sixth sense saved their walk. Some of the members felt they were going to be trapped, so Charlie Hop was sent to scout around. What he found was a huge group of juniors and seniors hiding around the Rotunda and the Episcopal church. Chi called off the walk and got back to safety, this time leaving the student body to shiver in the cold.

Chasers Lack Number

The days of safety in numbers are over. The tables have turned and now Chi outnumbers its chasers. Luckily, what the chasers lack in size they make up in cunning, patience, nerve—and bravery. Theories and rumors concerning Chi and the art of catching Chi abound. One chaser advises, "Keep your eyes and ears open and your mouth closed and you're bound to find out something."

Chasers are famous for putting two and two together and getting Chi for the answer. A few observers saw a retreating member of Chi trip; the next day all suspects were eyed until the sly chasers found one with a bruised knee . . . Another time three raincoat - and-sneaker-clad figures were locked out of their dorm and forced to spend the night in the infirmary. Alert chasers immediately tagged them Members — especially when the three famous non-partakers of breakfast walked into the dining hall, not-so-bright, but early the next morning.

Chi's Spirit Escapes

Some chasers have spent cramped hours in hall wardrobes, have waited in the dark and cold near Student Building, or have crept through drafty basements and up unlighted stairs—all in hopes of outwitting Chi. Yet the illusive spirit of Chi still remains a secret only to be glimpsed when the eight young women walk slowly and solemnly along the colonnade.

More than anyone else, a chaser realizes an awe for Chi. "What would you do if you caught Chi?" is a question which surprises and amazes the unorganized ones. Catching Chi," one said, "is the furthest thing from my mind. Chi is fun to wonder about, to tease, and to chase, but catching Chi would be just horrible."

DeGaulle Quells Revolt, Sales Tax Causes Furor

By Frances Harnesberger

Governor Almond's sales tax program introduced a peremptory revision this week. The original plan called for a 3 per cent tax, which did not receive much support after being presented to the General Assembly.

To keep the program from dying in the General Assembly, Almond's forces presented a 2 per cent sales tax program in the General Assembly last Thursday. This new money raising bill has a much better chance for survival than the old 3 per cent bill, according to the Almond group.

The new proposal guarantees 50 per cent of net tax proceeds to the localities, and it is hoped that this item will aid its passage through the General Assembly. It also suggests new taxes on liquor and increased taxes on beer, which is taxed now.

On Friday, the Senate Finance Committee heard Virginians from all parts of the state discuss the pros and cons of the general sales tax program. Advocates of the Almond program stated that Virginia must raise new revenue to "provide necessary governmental services and help the state's economic progress." Opponents feel that such a large scale tax is not necessary, and that the same results as a general sales tax could be accomplished through other less drastic taxes.

In the rest of the nation, attention has been focused on the Finch-Tregoff murder case in California. Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his companion, Carole Tregoff, were facing the accusation of the murder of Dr. Finch's wife last July. The trial is now in session, with Dr. Finch at present pleading self-defense.

The Algerian revolt was crushed last week by de Gaulle and now a clean-up, or purge, is getting underway. An investigation of right-wing plotting in the army, police department, and administration of Algeria will begin soon.

Soviet deputy premier, Anastas Mikoyan, now visiting in Cuba, disappeared from public view Saturday, and Cuban officials deny knowledge of his whereabouts. It is reported, however, that he is in conference with Fidel Castro and other revolutionary leaders.

Church News

Baptists

On February 11, at 7 p.m., there will be a Bible discussion at the BSU Center. Everyone is invited to attend.

The YWA will have their general meeting in the BSU Center at 7 p.m., February 16. Since February 15-19 is YWA Focus Week, there will be special programs and discussions throughout the period.

Methodists

Ann Elliot will lead the Universal Day of Prayer for Students, which will be held February 14. The program will be presented at the regular Sunday night meeting at 7 p.m.

Plans are being made for a Sunday night discussion program on psychiatry and Christianity. Outside speakers are being invited for the March 20 presentation.

The drama group is sponsoring a play and requests student support.

Basketball Resumes School Competition

Practices for class basketball games are well underway. Practice times are at 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. Tuesday and 4 p.m. on Thursday and Friday.

Besides class games, the teams will also meet several junior colleges in basketball competition. These games are to be scheduled later.

Varsity Practice

Varsity team practices are at 4 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday and 5 p.m. on Friday.

Visit Your
SNACK BAR
for Contemporary Cards,
Candy and Cokes

State Theatre
FARMVILLE, VA.

Wednesday Thru Saturday
February 10-11-12-13
Frank Sinatra
Gina Lollobrigida
"Never So Few"

Sun-Mon-Tues.-Feb. 14-16
Carroll Baker
Roger Moore
"The Miracle"

Wednesday Thru Tuesday
February 17 thru 23

Wednesday — Feb. 24
Elizabeth Taylor
Montgomery Clift
"Raintree Country"
Sponsored By
Alpha Gamma Delta
Sorority

CLASS BASKETBALL MANAGERS Sarah Buston and Linda Sudduth assemble equipment for practice.

Basketball Games

Scores Show Upset

By Carolyn Elliott

A glance at the basketball scores for the week shows some surprising as well as some expected victories.

A twenty foot jump shot scored by Len Chappell managed to give Wake Forest a spine-tingling 65-64 Atlantic Coast Conference basketball victory over Maryland. With 1:28 remaining in last Saturday's game, Wake Forest was able to score 3 points for a win. This victory gave Wake Forest a firm hold on second place in the ACC at 8-2.

In another ACC game, Clemson pushed Virginia further into the cellar with a 74-56 win at Clemson. The loss was Virginia's sixth straight, and it was Clemson's eighth victory against ten losses.

The University of Richmond was handed its sixth straight walloping when Memphis State scored 100 points over Richmond's 74. The Tigers gained a quick lead after shattering Richmond's zone defense; the Spiders were overrun when they were forced to switch their style of defense.

Duke gained a second defeat over Navy for this season 58-48. The Blue Devils took a ten point lead before Navy could make a basket, making a stand up victory over the Middies.

Rounding off the big games of the week, William and Mary routed Furman 101-68 in the Southern Conference basketball game. It was the red-hot Indians' third victory in succession.

Reed & Barton Holds Contest On Campus

During the months of February and March, Reed & Barton is conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which valuable scholarship awards totaling $2050 are being offered to women students at a few selected colleges and universities.

Longwood College has been selected to enter this competition in which the first grand award is a $500 cash scholarship. Second grand award is a $300 scholarship.

Third grand award is a $250 scholarship; fourth, fifth and sixth awards are $200 scholarships. Seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth are $100 scholarships.

In addition, there will be 100 other awards consisting of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $50.

In the "Silver Opinion Competition," an entry form illustrates twelve designs of sterling with nine designs of both china and crystal. Those entering simply list what they consider the six best combinations of these.

Awards will be made to those entries matching or coming closest to the unanimous selections of table - setting by editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

Lee Burnette is the student representative who is conducting the "Silver Opinion Competition" for Reed & Barton at Longwood. Those interested in entering the Silver Opinion Competition should contact Lee at North Cunningham 272 for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the competition rules.

She also has samples of 12 of the most popular Reed & Barton designs so that entrants can see how these sterling patterns actually look.

Through the opinions on silver design expressed by college women competing for these scholarships, Reed & Barton hopes to compile a valuable library of expressions of young American tastes.

Receiving Daily
New Spring Dresses
Pretty Solids, Prints
Including Madras
Dressy or Shirt Waist
Dresses
As Low As $8.98
and up.
DOROTHY MAY

Records, Records, Records
TOP TEN TUNES
1. Teen Angel
2. Where or When
3. Pretty Blue Eyes
4. You've Got What It Takes
5. Running Bear
6. Handy Man
7. Let It Be Me
8. What In The World's Come Over You
9. Tracy's Theme
10. Theme From A Summer's Place
Wilson's Home & Auto Supply

Watch for Washington
February 22
Birthday Sale
LOW, LOW Prices
Southside Sundry

Varsity Team Opens With Roanoke Defeat

By Gayle Arnn

The Longwood varsity basketball team opened its 1960 season last Friday night with a dynamic blast that sent the Roanoke College team sprawling in defeat. The final score was 63 for Longwood and 39 for Roanoke.

Starting for the Longwood team were forwards Carolyn Thorpe, Shirley Harmon, and Barbara Brantley. Lindy Hatch, a small but agile freshman, entered in the second half. The starting guards were Trina Childress, Earlene Queen, and Claudia Whipple.

Accuracy in field shooting accounted for the major part of the landslide victory. In this respect the Longwood girls seemed far superior to their opposing team. At the charity line, both teams seemed about equally skilled as each bucketed almost 50 per cent of their charity tosses.

The strenuous and effective work of the guards also proved a valuable asset to Longwood. The guards intercepted the ball frequently, passing it to the forwards who managed to retain possession of it a majority of the time.

Immediately following the varsity game, the second string members also earned a victory title as they stampeded Roanoke's second team, 56 to 13.

These opening games at Longwood had threefold significance. First, teamwork — that indispensable element of any group activity — reigned from beginning to end. This was fully evident in the final score and the distribution of points.

Second, excellent sportsmanship was displayed by both teams throughout the entire game. Third, the members of the student body who attended the game seemed full of school spirit as they sang and cheered the teams to victory. Longwood can certainly be proud of these commendable qualities of both its team and its student body.

The next scheduled game will be at 2 p.m., February 13, when Longwood's varsity squad will compete with the Madison team here in the gym.

The deadline for picking up checks for tank suits is Friday, February 12. All persons who have not yet gotten their money must do so by this time from Mrs. Eleanor Bobbitt.

Job Interviews Draw Officials

In the near future, students at Longwood will have the opportunity to meet and be interviewed for prospective jobs by representatives from schools and firms throughout Virginia.

The representatives and dates are as follows: February 10, Mr. Paxton, assistant - superintendent of the Norfolk County Schools; February 11, Miss Gibbony of the Roanoke City Schools; February 10 and 11, Miss Sutherland of the Fairfax County Schools; February 12, Mr. Broadwater of the Roanoke County Schools; Dr. Sedlak of the Baltimore City Schools; February 15, Miss Leigh of the South Norfolk City Schools; February 16, Mr. Morgan, superintendent of the York County Schools.

Mr. Middleton, managing editor of the Roanoke Times and World News, will also be here to interview students interested in journalism. Mr. Middleton is to represent the Virginia Press Association.

Rec Swim Rules

Students attending rec swims this semester do not have to buy tank suits. They must observe only the following rules:

1. Students should have a brief physical check-up from the infirmary.
2. Swimmers may obtain suits in the locker room by signing the register.
3. Participants in rec swims must furnish their own bathing caps.

We have your favorite sterling pattern as featured in
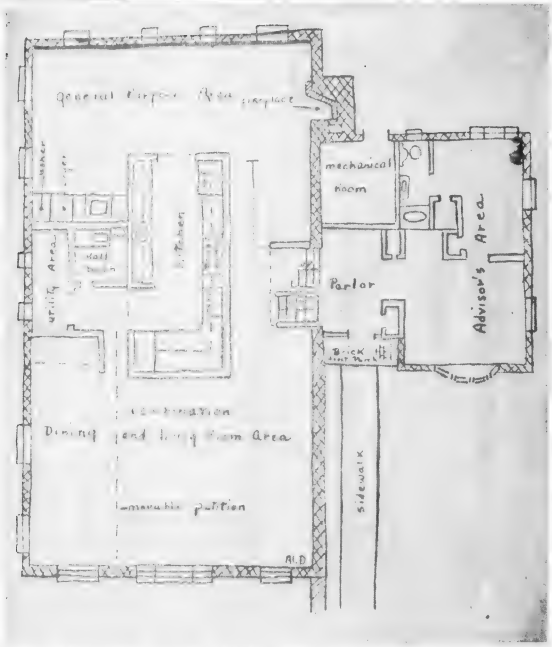
REED & BARTON'S
"SILVER OPINION COMPETITION"



Silver Sculpture $36.75 · Autumn Leaves $36.75 · Pointed Antique $33.75 · Classic Rose $35.00 · Tara $36.75 · Silver Wheat $33.75 · Francis First $39.75

Do these patterns look familiar? Then you've no doubt seen them on bulletin boards throughout your campus. They're featured in Reed & Barton's "Silver Opinion Competition" now being conducted at your college. Stop in soon and see how beautiful these patterns are in actual solid silver. Can't tell — it may be all the inspiration you need to win one of the valuable scholarship prizes!

*All prices are for 6-piece place settings, and include Federal tax

Martin
THE JEWELER
Gifts That Last
FARMVILLE, VA.

HOME MANAGEMENT HOUSE sealed ground floor drawing shows proposed plans for future structure.

College Prepares New Building

Construction on a new home management house, the second project in Longwood's expansion program, will begin February 1.

Leola Wheeler dormitory, the first building in the construction program, is now nearing completion.

The home management house which will be brick and built on a split level plan, will be erected on the corner of Buffalo and St. George streets and will be ready for use next September.

The Farmville Manufacturing Company won the contract for the house with a low bid of $53,385. The total cost, after the [illegible] is figured, will be [illegible].

The new home management house will provide facilities to accommodate eight home economics majors for a six weeks training period, will provide training facilities for non-residing students, and will provide living quarters for one faculty advisor. The upper level will be the resident students' rooms, including four bedrooms with adjoining baths between each two rooms.

On the main floor will be a spacious kitchen, an efficiency type apartment for the faculty advisor, a dining area to accommodate twelve persons, an informal breakfast area to seat nine persons, and a large living room. It will also include a multi-purpose room, which will be used for entertaining, television and lounging.

Other units on the main floor will include a work room for home management projects, a utility room for electrical appliances, and a powder room for guests' use.

As yet no decision has been made on the use of the present home management house.

Floors are now being put into Leola Wheeler dormitory and decorators are selecting furnishings and color schemes. There is still danger in the uncompleted building, however, and no one may enter it until the construction is finished.

LC Art Department Displays Serigraphs

An exhibit of Serigraphs is currently on display in the Longwood Art Department.

This exhibition is composed of 21 items which were contributed by 14 artists. The Serigraphs come from Hollywood, and will be at Longwood until February 24. This exhibit and others of this nature are being held in colleges and universities all over the country.

Mrs. Lemen of the Art Department urges everyone to drop by and see the exhibit within the next few days.

Forum Holds Discussion On Sales Tax Legislation

The Longwood Forum, under the direction of a temporary student committee, held its first meeting February 8th.

The purpose of the forum is to hold discussions on questions of public interest.

At the first meeting, Mr. James Helms and Mr. Jake Wamsley presented opposing views of the sales tax controversy.

Mr. Wamsley represented the minority in speaking in favor of the sales tax. His argument expressed the idea that the tax would be a fair tax because it taxes all that benefit from taxation and distributes the cost over the entire population. He stated that the sales tax was not the only method of securing revenue but was an excellent way.

In his opposing argument, Mr. Helms thought that the tax would be a nuisance in form and would consume valuable time collecting and handling it. Also, the cost of collecting the revenue would be quite high. Therefore, bureaucracy in the government would be expanded.

He felt that a tax of this kind would not reduce the other forms of taxation. It is unfair because the man of low income would be paying more taxes than those of the higher bracket.

Mr. Helms stated the idea that merchants would have more headaches in collecting the tax and would also be liable for mistakes. Industry would be less inclined to come into an area that is so heavily taxed.

The forum will be held once a month with programs varied by outside speakers. Future plans for the group include the election of two representatives from each class to compose the organization.

Valentines

(Continued from page 2)

"Must close now—my friends are waiting outside in the car."

Gertrude: (Giggling between smacks on gum.) I'm not believing this! It's real neatsy, neatsy pooh!

And so it goes. Never a day passes that the local contemporary card racks aren't visited by the ladies of Longwood. These humorous forms of correspondence have soared to the top of the greeting card popularity lists. With other messages like: "You're the most—but size isn't important," one can easily see why Gertrude and people of all ages consider the contemporary cards to be "real neatsy pooh."

Guests To Talk

In the coming week two eminent guest speakers will appear at Longwood.

Philosopher To Speak

Professor Charles W. Hendel, former chairman of Yale University's Philosophy Department, will speak in Jarman auditorium on February 17.

The lecture, scheduled to begin at 11 a.m., is open to all Longwood philosophy students and to the interested public.

Limnologist to Lecture

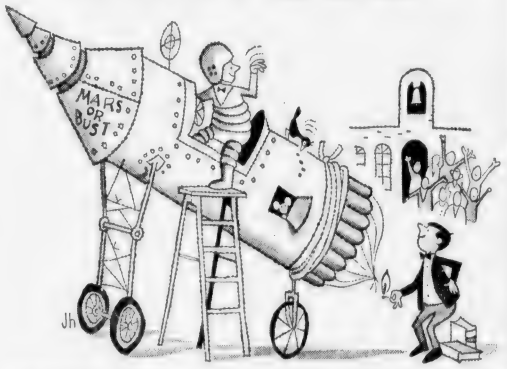
Dr. Ruth Patrick will be the guest lecturer at an open meeting sponsored by the Lychnos Society. The student body is invited to hear her speak on Thursday, February 11, at 7 p.m. in Stevens Hall.

Dr. Patrick is associated with the Academy of Natural Science, Philadelphia. Her field is limnology, fresh water biology.

It's a puzzlement:

When you're old enough to go to college, you're old enough to go out with girls. When you're old enough to go out with girls, who needs college? Oh well, there's always Coke.

BE REALLY REFRESHED



Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Only 3 More Shopping Days 'Til Valentine's Day
Shop At
LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP
Across From
Jarman Auditorium

Do You Think for Yourself?

(TEST YOUR WITS ON THESE QUESTIONS*)

The statement "Experience is the best teacher" is (A) the faculty's confession of failure; (B) a dogmatic way of saying you can learn by doing; (C) an excuse for trying anything once.

A☐ B☐ C☐

If someone called you a beatnik, would you (A) insult him right back? (B) ask him if he knows what a beatnik really is? (C) thank him for the compliment?

A☐ B☐ C☐

If you saw a dinosaur roaming around the campus, would you say, (A) "Big, ain't he?" or (B) "Where's the movie playing?" or (C) "This place is sure out of date!"

A☐ B☐ C☐

Do you base your choice of a cigarette mostly on (A) what your friends say they like? (B) what your own judgment tells you is best? (C) what the makers say about their product?

A☐ B☐ C☐

Viceroy has a thinking man's filter — the best filter of its kind ever developed . . . the filter that changed America's smoking habits. And only Viceroy has a smoking man's taste.

If you checked (C) on three out of four of these questions, you're a high-test character —you think for yourself!*

Familiar pack or crush-proof box.

It's a wise smoker who depends on his own judgment, not opinions of others, in his choice of cigarettes. That is why men and women who think for themselves usually smoke Viceroy. They know only

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows—

ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER...A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

©1960, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Support
Major—Minor
Elections

The Rotunda

Attend
Junior Dance
February 27

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., February 17, 1960 | No. 12

Board Elects Collier, Warriner, Weaver

Whipple Chosen To Reign During 1960 May Day Festivities

Maid Of Honor, Murphy, Chosen To Serve Queen

The 1960 May Day will find Claudia Whipple reigning as queen of the festivities in the dell at Longwood Estate with Ann Norfleet Murphy as her maid of honor. The queen and her court will highlight the activities of the May 7 festival.

Claudia, the newly elected queen, is a senior physical education major from Middlebrook. She is president of the Athletic Association, a member of the Monogram Club, Cotillion Club, Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority and the Student Education Association. In the fall Claudia was elected to Who's Who.

This is Claudia's first appearance on the court. When asked her reaction on being told of her election, she replied, "I am very happy and excited, and feel surprised at receiving such an honor."

In her role of maid of honor, Ann Norfleet Murphy, a senior elementary major from Norfolk, will be appearing in the court for the fourth time. Ann is president of Panhellenic Council, and is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority, H2O Club, Cotillion Club and the Student Education Association.

First Appearances

Appearing on the court will also be Beverly Kersey, a junior from Richmond, for the third year. For the second time will be seen Kitty Good, a junior from Roanoke; and selected for the second year, Jo Savage, a sophomore from Danville.

Those making their initial appearance will be Betty Jane Allgood, a junior from Boydton; Nan McLaughlin, a sophomore from Woodberry Forest; Lois Peters, a sophomore from Lynchburg; Zee Trap, a Sophomore from Versailles, Kentucky; Sue Spicer, a freshman from Richmond; and Josie O'Hop, a freshman from Princess Anne.

Also serving on the court will be seniors Jean O'Connell, Mary Linda League and Helen Wente, all of whom appeared in the May Court elections.

All of the above girls were selected by the student body on the basis of their beauty from a group of more than twenty girls, all of whom deserve recognition.

Elections

Candidates for major-minor elections will be introduced to the student body at an assembly February 23. According to Ruth Denton, president of student government, pictures of the candidates will be posted next Sunday. This introduction in assembly will give the students an opportunity to meet all the candidates.

Bid Estimations For Renovations Issued To Firms

Advertisement for bids for floor work on the Rotunda renovations have been issued and the work will begin no later than March 14. The re-modeling will be finished no later than April 23, 1960.

The entire Rotunda floor will be rebuilt. The Rotunda proper will be done in hardwood maple flooring. Just inside of the main entrance to the Rotunda, a rubber mat will be inlaid to prevent moisture from ruining the hardwood floors.

Tile of a color blending with the maple floor will be used in the corridors leading from Dr. Landrum's office to the Rotunda and from the Rotunda to the history and language department wings.

Four rugs will be included in the decor of the Rotunda. An ocean green, nylon rug will be placed where Joan of Arc is displayed now. The other rugs will be placed at various spots around Joan.

In addition to new flooring and rugs, the Rotunda will boast new furniture, draperies, and light fixtures.

Dr. Lankford says he realizes that this work will cause some inconvenience for the students, however, there are two reasons why the work will be done this spring rather than at a later date. First, appropriations for this work have been given to Longwood but will be taken back unless the work is completed, and all contracts settled before the end of the fiscal year. Second, Founder's Day is March 12, and the work would not begin until the following Monday. He is assured that the work will

(Continued on page 4)

NEW PUBLICATIONS HEADS (left to right) LaVerne Collier, Mary Lee Warriner and Sandra Weaver discuss coming duties.

French Club To Present Program Here Saturday

"Le Cercle Francais" will present its annual open program at 7:30 p.m. February 20 in Jarman Hall.

This program will consist of two one-act plays, several songs, a French folk dance, and a modern dance. The theme of the program is "Something Old and Something New."

The two plays, one a contemporary skit, "Les Meurtres Chez le Coiffeur" (Murder in the Beauty Parlor) and on a farce from the Middle Ages, "La Farce de Maitre Pierre Pathelin" (The Farce of Lawyer Peter Pathelin), as well as the songs and dances will be produced and presented by the students of the French Club and Georgette Remingnon, the French student-assistant.

Explanations of the plays will be given in English by Nancy Lemen and Ann Green.

Bonnie Mann Hammersly, president of the French Club, and vice-president, Wirtly Raine are general chairmen of the program. The various committee chairmen are songs, Martha Gray Shirley; plays, Claire Flocge, Barbara Jane Bishop, and Nancy Oddenino; staging, Bobbi Loth; dance, Lena Kay; and publicity, Susan Rollins.

An admission charge of ten cents, to cover production expenses will be collected at the door.

Fiscal Year's End Brings Change In Management

By Joann Kleinecke

The Publications Board met February 11, and elected those who are to head the staffs of the three Longwood publications for 1960-61. Mary Lee Warriner, Virginian, La Verne Collier, Colonnade, and Sandra Weaver, Rotunda, are the newly selected editors.

Warriner Heads Year Book

Mary Lee Warriner, a sophomore biology major from Amelia, will edit the 1961 Virginian. Mary Lee is a member of the Spanish Club, Cotillion Club, and has worked on the annual staff for two years.

This year's photography editor she says, "I feel very honored, but at the same time, I realize the responsibilities that lie before me. I am looking forward very much to working with the staff next year."

Shirley To Manage

Managing the business side of things for the Virginian will be junior Martha Gray Shirley, an English major from Greenwood. When asked about how she felt concerning her recent election as business manager, she stated, "I was thrilled—I just never expected it. I hope I can live up to what Nancy has done."

Martha Gray was in the choir for two years, is treasurer of the Canterbury Club, an officer in the French Club, the assistant literary editor of the Virginian this year, and a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity.

Collier Edits Magazine

The Colonnade will be edited by La Verne Collier. La Verne, a junior art major from South Boston, is vice-president of Orchesis, poetry editor of the literary magazine this year, and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Delta Epsilon, and the annual staff.

She is "very enthusiastic about the new position," and hopes that she will "be aole to put some of this enthusiasm into

(Continued on page 4)

Mixon Selects Heads Of Committee Work For May Day Event

May Day committee chairmen were announced today by Ann Mixon general chairman of May Day.

They are as follows: Beverly Kersey, May court; Brenda Parsley, costumes; Carol Boley, dances; Mattie McNeil, music; Lee Burnette, properties.

Sandra Freedman will head transportation; Pat Hampton, programs and publicity; and Judy Harris, script.

Mary Ann Montague is chairman of the formal May Day dance.

The annual extravaganza will take place May 7 in the Dell at Longwood Estate and the dance will be held in the Main Rec.

Juniors Select Oriental Motif

"Oriental Reflections" is the theme selected by the junior class for their dance to be held in the Main Rec February 27 from 8 to 12 p.m.

To carry out the theme, the class will decorate in red, black, and bronze. To further the oriental atmosphere, the VMI Commanders will play from a gayly decorated, oriental dipped - roof bandstand while guests dance beneath shimmering Japanese lanterns that will cast dancing shadows over oriental figures silhouetted around the room.

Odom, Watkins Head

Juniors Joyce Odom and Sandy Watkins are serving as general co-chairmen of the dance. Joyce, a biology and general science major from Suffolk, is a member of Lychnos, Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, Kappa Delta Pi and SEA.

Sandy, a chemistry major from Norfolk, is a member of Orchesis, the Virginian staff, Granddaughters Club and Kappa Delta social sorority.

Acting as co-chairmen and chairmen of the various committees are Sue Gosnell and Ruby Slayton, decorations; Barbara Bailey and Sarah Rock, programs; Gwen Keesee, tickets; [illegible] and Sally Jane Stegal, [illegible]

[illegible] committee heads are Bobbie Caples and Anne Kovacevich, floor; Cherry Gorham and Martha Gray Shirley invitations; Gerry Ludwick and Nancy Speakman, clean-up; Judith Robertson, publicity; and Beverly Kersey and Hannah White, flowers.

Receiving Line

Receiving guests in the smoker will be Dr. and Mrs. Francis Lankford; Mrs. Kathleen Cover, junior sponsor; Miss Ruth Wilson; Miss Jenelle Spear; Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss; Mr. Raymond French; and Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Boggs.

Chaperones for the dance include Dr. and Mrs. Richard B. Brooks; Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Clark; Mrs. Stedman C. Council; Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Simonini; Dr. and Mrs. Richard K. Meeker; Mrs. Josephine Magnifico; Dr. and Mrs. James H. Wellard; Dr. and Mrs. Robert T. Brumfield; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. McCorkle; Miss Elizabeth Burger; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Walmsley; Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Merritt; and Miss Virginia Wall.

Following the dance there will

(Continued on page 3)

SENIOR MAY COURT REPRESENTATIVES (left to right) Jean O'Connell; Claudia Whipple, queen; Helen Wente; Mary Linda League and Ann Norfleet Murphy, maid of honor.

JUNIOR DANCE COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN outline plans for publicity. From left to right in semicircle they are: S. Rock, B. Railey, M. Shirley, H. White, G. Keesee, G. Ludwick, J. Parsons, J. Robertson, R. Slayton, and S. Gosnell.

A Departing Note

In the past year many useless news releases have been discarded in my "circular file" as journalists are prone to call their catch—all wastebaskets. Far more numerous are the highly prized stories—and experiences—filed in that compartment labeled "Memories." A year can seem so incredibly short when I recall events so vivid they could have happened only days ago. Yet twelve months appeared interminably long when, in the midst of midnight copy-reading, I realized that 18, or 12, or 7 more issues lay ahead.

It's been a year of growth and changes for the Rotunda as its larger staff and increased circulation followed the development of the college. Yet there have been major mistakes, too; freshmen, excuse that last blooper which said that one "Freshman Present" your production just last Friday. And several times the temptation to leave an error in the copy has proven almost too great—the YWCA "singspiration" very nearly was a "sinspiration."

The year could not have been as rich had it not been for my patient and perservering staff members who so many times did go far beyond the proverbial "call of duty." This devotion to school and paper is inexplainable and often unrewarded, but I can never forget the disasters and the thrill of achievement we experienced together. To the staff, first and foremost, goes this retiring editor's grateful and sincere "Thank you." In going I know I leave behind experienced girls, working under an editor qualified to meet any demand.

From the student body have emerged leads and information for stories, suggestions and criticisms. Without these the newspaper could not have carried on. Similarly, without faculty and administrative support, our task would have been a difficult one. Advisers, too, have played a sustaining role in the production of a weekly paper and deserve a vote of thanks.

From giving advice on the best kind of camera, to patiently making last-minute make-up changes, the members of the Farmville Herald staff have supported our efforts, aiding in getting the paper out every Wednesday evening.

Every near-sleepless night, every deadline, and every Tuesday afternoon make-up session, every friendship made and every laugh and worry shared—these I would not relinquish to anyone. This is college journalism, this is the Rotunda and my sophomore-junior year, this is Longwood to me. And for it I am deeply grateful.

—Cherry Gorham

Joy

"Joyful, joyful, we adore thee,
God of glory, Lord of Love
Hearts unfold like flowers before Thee,
Praising Thee, their sun above,
Melt the clouds of sin and sadness,
Drive the dark of doubt away.
Giver of immortal gladness,
Fill us with the light of day."

So goes the theme song for Religious Emphasis Week. There should be great JOY in the knowing of God. Religious Emphasis Week should give each individual an opportunity to re-evaluate her own faith and in doing so, gain joy in her closer relationship with God.

The theme for Religious Emphasis Week is JOY. There is the JOY that comes from knowing Jesus, the JOY that comes from sharing your Christian life with others, and the JOY you gain for yourself by knowing Jesus and helping others. By attending the Religious Emphasis Week services and discussion groups, you may attain some of this joy for yourself.

Examine your faith—how can you strengthen your beliefs? What are the answers to certain questions you may have concerning your way of life or your faith? How can you become a better Christian? Apply the talks from the services to yourself, and bring your questions to the discussion groups.

Enjoy the JOY of fellowship with others, just like you, seeking a better way of life and a greater JOY in Jesus, Others, and Yourself.

—YWCA

Why Education?

We have ceased today to talk about "equality of women." We have, in fact, gone so far as to suggest that women may be by nature biologically, emotionally, and intellectually superior to men.

In addition to the many and varied careers which women can now enter on an equal footing with men, all women must be prepared to function as the principal consumers, teachers, and civic leaders in society. These are characteristics common to all modern women, and there must be implicit in education for women a preparation for life in these aspects.

The new role of women in the modern world demands that they have a breadth and depth of learning, a sense of self-reliance, a cultivated versatility, and the imagination and ability to utilize with confidence a number of human faculties.

The versatility encouraged through a liberal education together with leadership qualities developed in college extra-curricular organizations will provide a woman with the kind of background necessary to effectively carry out these responsibilities.

—R. C. S.

Editor's Note: The above editorial is composed of excerpts from an article on "education for woman in the modern world."

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 3, 1933. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

Idea Of Literary Maps Spreads Through States

Nine states in the union now have literary maps which give pictorial descriptions of famous writers from these states.

The nine states, including Virginia, are North Carolina, Louisiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Florida. Pennsylvania is now in the process of publishing one of these maps, also.

Until a few years ago, no literary maps of this kind existed. Then the English Teachers' Association in North Carolina came up with an idea for presenting the literary history of that state in an attractive and informative way.

This idea was well received, and North Carolina's map was quickly followed by many more. In 1957, the Virginia Association of Teachers of English, with Dr. R. C. Simonini as president, set up a committee to produce such a literary map for Virginia.

The committee was headed by Mary M. Councell. Mr. Councell, the artist - architect husband of the chairman, served as cartographer, doing the art work on the map.

An outstanding aspect of the Virginia map is the border, which is a series of sketches of the homes of native Virginia authors. Included on the map are the names of Virginia Pulitzer Prize winners, the state seal, and historical literature data.

Longwood College now has a copy of all the state literary maps. A bulletin board display of them may be seen in the English Department in the West Wing.

Surprise Snowstorm Yields Lost Week End

By Kathryn Hubbard

What promised to be a beautiful week end turned out to be quite disappointing. A full moon was due overhead . . . "just perfect" was the comment. "Just think, it is Valentines week end and we're going away tomorrow!"

While there were some who managed to see their plans through, there were an equal number who had long faces when they awoke Saturday morning to find a snow-covered campus. The full moon didn't appear as hoped: it was replaced by a heavy covering of snow and sleet instead.

Girls were snowbound and unable to go to other colleges or, as in many cases, home. For those girls the snow was an unwelcomed sight; for others who were snowbound at Tech or VMI . . .!

H-S

The snow covered the state causing many plans to be canceled. Hampden-Sydney had parties planned, but with the snow-covered roads LC girls were not allowed to go. At many of the schools dances were canceled, a disappointing blow to everyone.

However, there were snowfights and sleigh rides to make up for it. Dr. Lankford loaned his sleigh and the town children were generous in letting H-S boys and their dates take a turn at whizzing down Buffalo Hill.

VPI

The much looked-forward-to Winter Formals at VPI were halted somewhat by the weather, but there were still many who went and had a good time.

Among those who fought the deep snows in Blacksburg were Dee Albertson, Lee Burnette, Bobbie Bolster, Jean Dancy, Lou Caldwell, Ginny Van de Reit, Frances Norment, Ann Simmons, Barbara Loeb, Josie O'Hop, Alice Pizers, and Helen Taylor.

Others were Archer Cassada, Nancy Knight, Dottie Nelson, Rosemary Henry, Diane Pezzella, Marilyn Hobbs, Ann Scott, Jean Johnson, Neil Ward, Nancye Allen, Rita St. John, Kay Pierce, Rita Norris, Mary Lee Warriner, Jane Callis, Sue Robertson, Shirley Powell, Maxine Lewis, and Susan Johnson, and Judy Pharr.

VMI

It was to Lexington, and VMI Midwinders for another group of girls. The cadets and their favorite Valentines made the best of the icy blanket-covering that was surrounding them.

Ann Snyder, Carol Bruce, Gail Deaver, Pat McMillen, Annette Poindexter, Gail Crawford, Martha Wyatt, Alice Peele, Peggy Roth, Elaine Bane Brenda Dod, and Sandra Wise were some of the girls representing Longwood.

Others from our campus were Pat Hurst, Jo Savage, Margaret Tatterson, Holly Thompson, Cherron Kelley, Bettie Jean Clatt, Jean Helms and Hannah White.

(Continued on page 4)

Longwood Honorary

Grainger Forms Beorc Eh Thorn, English Society

Beorc Eh Thorn . . . honorary English society . . . this society was organized here at Longwood by the late Dr. James Grainger, a member of the English Department.

Beorc Eh Thorn promotes among its members and the college, enjoyment and appreciation of literature, cultivates creative writing, and use of good English, and recognizes outstanding achievement in the field of English.

Mrs. Dorothy Schlegel sponsors the 25 members of Beorc Eh Thorn and the entire faculty of the English Department serves in an advisory capacity for the society.

Members are selected on the basis of their achievement. Eligible students must either be English majors with a B average in 15 hours of English, or other majors with a B average in 18 hours of English. All members must maintain at least a C average in their other courses.

Each month, Beorc Eh Thorn holds a program of a literary nature. This past fall the society held a picnic at Longwood Estate for all freshmen who were planning to major in English.

In addition to these activities, Beorc Eh Thorn is planning their annual tea which is to be held this spring. At this tea an outstanding speaker will appear. The student body and the public is invited to attend this function.

At the close of the Colonnade literary contest, the winners will be honored by Beorc Eh Thorn.

An English society, Beorc Eh Thorn, is important in that it opens literary avenues to students which might otherwise remain closed.

College Gains Seven New Faces

By Sandy Bryant

Varied interests and plans for the future characterize the seven new students who entered Longwood this semester.

Mother Turns Student

Mother of three, Mrs. Virginia Holt comes to Longwood from Kenbridge. About 15 years ago, Mrs. Holt attended Richmond Professional Institute where she majored in social work.

After rearing her three children — Mike, 12, Kay, 10, and Ann, 7 — she decided that she wanted to become a teacher. Mrs. Holt is currently a sophomore, and plans to come to summer school in order to graduate in 1961.

She says that her children are delighted at the prospect of their mother becoming a teacher, and each of them wants to be in her classroom.

Mrs. Holt goes home each week end to be with her family. In her spare time, she enjoys drawing and golfing.

Music Interests King

Another transfer student, Julia King, 21, is a junior from Westhampton College. A music major, Julia is a lyric soprano and enjoys singing and playing the piano in her spare time.

During her years at William Fleming High School in Roanoke, Julia was the student choir director. She has also directed youth choirs in her church. After graduation, Julia plans to continue this work with church music.

Jones From Averett

Junior transfer Dorothy Jones, 21, is from Danville. She attended Averett Junior College where she was vice-president of the Christian Student Union.

Church work has occupied much of Dorothy's time. She taught a Sunday School class, Bible school, and was president of the young people's group.

Dorothy is majoring in elementary education and hopes to teach the third grade. Also included in her plans for the future is a ministerial student at the University of Edinburgh whom she plans to marry after graduation.

Fuller Prefers Art

Nancy Fuller, 18 - year old freshman art major, is from Churchville. In her spare time, Nancy likes to draw, paint and ride horses. A trumpet player, she recently joined the Longwood College band.

Also interested in writing, Nancy worked on her high school annual and newspaper. She likes animals and when asked about pets, Nancy replied that she has five cats, a dog and a bird at home.

After graduation, Nancy plans a career in commerical art.

Sociology Appeals to Thompson

Jeanette Thompson, 18, from Richmond, is a sociology major. She graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School January 30 of this year, and came to Longwood the following day.

While in high school, Jeanette worked on the annual staff, and took an active part in the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

After graduation from college, Jeanette is considering social work as a career.

Cousins Enjoys Elementary

Mrs. Eugenia Cousins, elementary major, is from Richmond. Jeannie, as she is called by her friends, plans to teach in the primary grades.

Jeannie likes to read, listen to music and sing. Walking is one of her favorite pastimes, and she also enjoys swimming. When she was eleven, she was on the Richmond swimming team.

According to Jeannie, her six-month old daughter, Bonnie Jeanne, takes up much of her time when she is at home.

Arthur Bank Secretary

Sociology major Rose Arthur, 18, hails from Lynchburg. After graduating from E. C. Glass High School last June, Rose worked in the Lynchburg National Bank as secretary to the assistant vice-president.

In high school, she was president of the FBLA, and secretary of the Student Council. A sports enthusiast, Rose enjoys swimming and playing tennis. She also likes to sew, and makes most of her own clothes.

At present, she is working for Dr. Blanche Badger, professor of mathematics here at Longwood.

A Tale Of Leap Year

—with apologies to Henry Longfellow

Listen, my classmates, and you shall hear
The story of our friend, kind Leap Year.
Way back in history, 'round 44 a.d.,
Julius Caesar made a decree—
Which women since then have come to revere.

He said to his friend, "If my new system
And the sun don't agree,
We'll take days and twist 'em
'Til in accordance they be!"

You know the rest, in the books you have read
How one year's numbered three-sixty-six instead
Of the usual count of three-sixty-five.
How this change brings to all alive
The thought that, of days, we have one more—
Men tremble to think what it's used for!

So through the years women delight;
So through the years men tremble in fright:
A voice in the darkness, a knock at the door,
And a word that shall echo forevermore;
For, borne on the night-wind of the Past,
Through all our history, to the last,
In the year of leaping to sudden matrimony,
The men will waken and listen to hear
The horrifying message of Leap Year.

Timely Topics

Pope Bill, Dr. Roberts Head Late State News

By Frances Harnsberger

The General Assembly has been struggling over the sales tax bills this last week, and has looked at a new possible solution to Governor Almond's 3 per cent general sales tax bill.

Introduced last week by Delegate Sam E. Pope of Southampton was the Pope 3 per cent bill, which seems to offer "the best basis for compromising differences and pulling together the biggest potential vote."

This bill will give the localities half of the proceeds and will give the income taxpayers relief by doing away with the lowest bracket of state income taxes.

The Pope bill does not have the administrative backing of the other two bills previously offered, and has won support of delegates who have not been for the general sales tax program.

A House Committee in the General Assembly killed the "Whiskey-by-the-Drink" bill introduced last week. It was felt that this bill would help cut down per capita consumption of alcholic beverages by allowing one to buy a single drink rather than a whole bottle.

A Soviet newspaper has reported discovery of a new planet beyond Pluto. If it is proved that this is a planet, it will be the tenth known planet revolving around the sun.

Also in the news is Dr. Joseph C. Robert's announcement of the resignation of the presidency of Hampden-Sydney College to return to historical research and teaching. His resignation has been accepted by the board of trustees, and will become effective August 31.

Jack Paar, of the Jack Paar Show, walked out last week, never to return, he said. He refused NBC's offers to return to fulfill contract obligations, and is now resting.

Cuba and Russia have signed a trade pact which makes Soviet Russia Cuba's largest customer after the United States. Russia is to buy one-fifth of Cuba's sugar as the first step toward "closer Soviet-Cuban relations." This more firmly entrenches Soviet footing in the Caribbean area.

France has entered the atomic club with the explosion of an atomic device in the Sahara Desert late last week. In protest, Japan sent France a vehement message. The other atomic club countries are United States, Russia, and Great Britain.

H2O To Sponsor Color Cup Meet For Swimmers

A swim meet for Color Cup points will be held in April in the pool.

The competition, sponsored by the H2O Club, will include races and relays, and will be open to all swimmers who wish to enter for their class.

Girls who wish to compete must be enrolled in a swimming class this semester, participate in eight 'rec swims," or participate in four "rec swims" and the water pageant to be held here March 25.

The swim meet will include some relays and races in the shallow end of the pool so that beginners may enter. Not all the competition is to be based on swimming ability — the meet will also feature some novelty competition.

A member of the H2O Club will be at future "rec swims" to advise girls who wish to participate in the class meet as to what to work on and practice.

All swimmers are urged to accumulate their required number of "rec swims" if they are not presently enrolled in a swimming class, and keep a record of their attendance on the attendance slips provided at the pool.

Orchesis Group Selects Members

Apprentices to Orchesis, Longwood's modern dance group, have recently been announced. They are Carol Boley, Grace Bottina, Carolyn Clopton, Betty Rice Dawson, Betty Lou Dunn, and Janice Harris. Other new apprentices include Carol Nye, Ruby Slayton, Jean Smith, Julie Thomas, and Suzanne Shipp.

Members and apprentices are planning a trip to Richmond on February 20 to attend the highlights of the College Dance Festival. Events of the Festival which Longwood Orchesis representatives will see include a master class conducted by Valerie Bettis, a leading figure in the modern dance field, and college dance presentations with criticism by Miss Bettis. Miss Bettis will also present a lecture demonstration. The programs will be held in the Virginia Museum Theatre and at Westhampton College.

Orchesis is preparing its own dance sequence to be presented at a meeting at Greensboro College later in the season.

Church News

Baptists

Sunday, February 21, a group of girls from the BSU will give a religious service at the Bethel Baptist church.

Methodists

The Wesley Foundation held a tea, honoring Dr. John W. Myers Religious Emphasis Week speaker, February 16 from 4-5:30 p.m. in the Student Center.

The Universal Day of Prayer for Students will be held Sunday, February 21. The observance for Methodist students will be held Sunday night at 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Room. This is an inter-denominational observance.

The Christian Workers Training School will be held in the Farmville Methodist Church, February 28 to March 3. College students are welcome to attend any or all of the sessions.

Plans are being made for the annual Spring Banquet, which will be held April 7. All Methodist students are welcome to attend.

CLASS VOLLEYBALL MANAGERS Faye Ripley and Clara Lee Parker pose before one of the many posters advertising practice sessions.

Seniors To Participate In Southern Career Poll

After college what?

There are many possibilities—graduate school, the professions, business, teaching, or research.

Answers to the question, 'After college what?' are being sought from seniors in thirty colleges and universities throughout the South.

By providing information pertaining to their own career plans, today's seniors can help colleges of the South plan better programs more suited to the need of students in years to come.

Longwood College is one of the schools participating in the study, which is sponsored by the Southern Regional Education Board and the Southern College Personnel Association.

Very soon many of our seniors will receive a questionnaire which they are asked to fill in and mail directly to Florida State University, where all the information will be coded and analyzed.

No individual will be identified in this study. All the responses will be completely confidential, but the summaries of the answers will be very important to Longwood College and to other colleges and universities.

It is highly important that all questionnaires be completed since the replies of seniors in the sample institutions will provide a basis for estimating trends among all seniors in the Southern region.

Dr. Brooks has said regarding the study, "A little time devoted to completion of the questionnaire will be a definite contribution to Longwood College and to other colleges and universities as well. I am sure that our seniors will give serious attention to the study and will supply promptly the information requested."

Faculty, Administration Attend Annual Meetings

Dr. Francis G. Lankford, Jr., president of Longwood College, will be a guest speaker at the Dinwiddie County Educational Association meeting February 16.

The topic of his speech will be "Instructional Challenges to Classroom Teachers Today," which will stress the challenge of professional growth to meet the demands of the hour.

The meeting will be held at Midway High School, Church Road, Virginia at 5 p.m.

Dr. Francis Lankford, President of Longwood, Dr. Earl Boggs, dean of the college, and Dr. Charles Patterson, Jr., associate professor of education, recently attended a meeting of the representatives of each teacher - training institute in Virginia.

The meeting was held at the University of Virginia in cooperation with the office of Teacher Education of the State Board of Education. The purpose was to study programs of professional education courses in relation to meeting certification qualification.

Wilson To Speak

Miss Ruth Wilson, dean of women, spoke to the Halifax County Business and Professional Women's Club on February 11. The subject of her speech was "Effective Living Through International Relations."

Boggs Goes to Chicago

Dr. Earl Boggs attended the Twelfth Annual Meeting of American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education in Chicago February 11-13. The major theme of the meeting was the improvement of the quality of teacher education.

Lemen Exhibits at MBC

A group of figure paintings by Mrs. Janice Lemen, associate professor of art at Longwood College, are being exhibited at Mary Baldwin College until February 29. Included in the exhibit are ten oils, twelve watercolors and four drawings. Part of this work Mrs. Lemen did this past summer.

Mrs. Lemen has exhibited widely in Virginia. Her oil painting, "New England Church," was retained for two years in the Members Loan Library of the Virginia Museum. Her work was also included in the traveling exhibit of the Virginia Museum in 1953, and she has received three honorable mentions in watercolor.

Junior Dance

(Continued from page 1)

be a party in the Main Cunningham Rec from 12 until 1 a.m. for juniors and their dates.

Tickets will soon go on sale for $2.40 per couple.

MISS BREAKFAST?

Visit Your

SNACK BAR

Managers Generate Volleyball Interest

By Gayle Arnn

Thanks to the tireless efforts of the class managers, Clara Lee Parker and Faye Ripley, the enthusiasm in volleyball is booming.

Clara Lee and Faye content that the interest and participation this year surpassses that of all previous years to their knowledge. They also wish to encourage others to participate.

There is still time to get 8 practices in as the games do not begin until sometime in March. Practices are held at 5 p.m. on Wednesdays and 3 p.m. on Fridays.

The duties of the class volleyball managers are numerous: They are in charge of all class practices and must see that the nets are down, the lights are out, and that the students practice the full time.

During the class games they are responsible for seeing that all the officials are there; it is also their duty to help Miss Iler schedule the games and to keep an account of the people who get points for volleyball.

Clara Lee Parker and Faye Ripley certainly possess the experience and qualifications necessary for executing these duties efficiently. Clara Lee Parker is a junior physical education major from Danville. In her freshman and sophomore years here at Longwood, she participated in class hockey, basketball, archery, and softball.

This year she played varsity hockey, and is a member of the varsity basketball team. For the past two years, she has been a member of the AA Council, and for the past three years she has been a trombone player in the college band.

Clara Lee was a class volleyball manager last year and enjoys the prestige of being the champion of women's singles in Danville.

Faye Ripley, a sophomore, from Williamsburg, has participated in class hockey, basketball, volleyball, softball, and archery.

This year, she is a member of the varsity hockey and basketball teams and the AA Council.

Sports Spotlight

Snow Postpones Athletic Events

By Betty Jane Allgood

Read in sports headlines across the nation was the 84-57 walloping the ACC leading Tarheels of the University of North Carolina gave Duke's Blue Devils. A near capacity crowd, despite the snow and bad weather, saw North Carolina's 53.6 per cent shooting accuracy.

In Southern Conference play, the Tribe of William and Mary also displayed fantastic shooting accuracy in setting back VMI 89-67. This was the seventh conference triumph for the William and Mary Indians.

VPI traveled to Charleston, South Carolina, for a 86-74 victory over the Citadel. Setting the pace for Virginia Tech were towering Chris Smith and Bobby Ayersman.

Back in Virginia, Randolph-Macon pounded a stubborn 86-77 victory over Washington and Lee. Hampden-Sydney traveled up to Maryland to be stopped by Mount St. Mary's College 87-66. This game placed Mount St. Mary's in number one position in the northern division of the Mason-Dixon Conference. Hampden-Sydney holds down third place in the southern division.

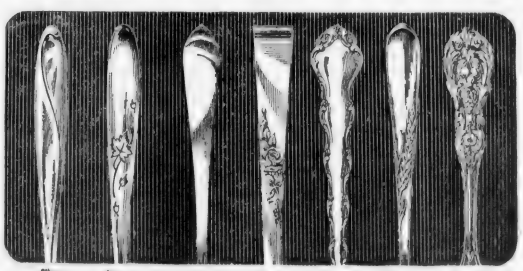
The near paralyzing snow, which covered Virginia over the week end, claimed over half of the scheduled athletic events.

Schedule

The present tentative schedule for the remaining basketball season is as follows:

February 17—Madison College, here.

February 20—Lynchburg College, here.



February 24—Hollins College, there.

March 5—Westhampton College, there.

We have your favorite sterling pattern as featured in

REED & BARTON'S

"SILVER OPINION COMPETITION"

Silver Sculpture $36.75 | Autumn Leaves $36.75 | Pointed Antique $33.75 | Classic Rose $35.00 | Tara $36.75 | Silver Wheat $33.75 | Francis First $39.75

Do these patterns look familiar? Then you've no doubt seen them on bulletin boards throughout your campus. They're featured in Reed & Barton's "Silver Opinion Competition" now being conducted at your college. Stop in soon and see how beautiful these patterns are in actual solid silver. Can't tell — it may be all the inspiration you need to win one of the valuable scholarship prizes!

*All prices are for 6-piece place settings, and include Federal tax

Martin
THE JEWELER
"Gifts That Last"
FARMVILLE, VA.

NEWLY ELECTED BUSINESS MANAGERS (left to right) Martha Gray Shirley, Judy Harris and Jo Anne Parsons compare publications' records from past year.

Spring Semester Offers Teaching For 36 Seniors

Twenty-eight seniors have returned to the campus after finishing their nine weeks student teaching assignments in Roanoke. They are Carolyn Axsom, Anne Clarke, Patricia Cleveland, Diane Doughty, Jean Dunagan, Anita Eanes, Mate Fadely, Barbara Ferneyhough, Beverly Gaskins, Virginia Grogan, Frances Harvey.

Also, Anne Jenkins, Christine Jones, Mary Lee Jones, Mary Linda League, Beverly Lipford, Patricia Lowery, Carolyn Madrin, Carol Ann Miller, Sandra Parker, Anna Belle Pope, Norma Redmon, Sylvia Roper, Linda Jo Saunders, Ann Scott, Marie R. Smith, Neil Ward, and Claudia Whipple.

Thirty-six seniors will be completing their student teaching requirements in the coming semester, while remaining in residence at Longwood. They are teaching at Appomattox Court House, Dillwyn Elementary School, Charlotte Court House, and Cumberland Court House.

Teaching at Appomattox are Lou Booth, Betty Bell, Margaret Graham, Dorothy Harrison, Judith Owen, Paulita Patterson, Billie J. Shores, Arline Crockett, Peggy Tyler, Anne Palmer, Joan Kidwell, Barbara Stephenson, Sandra Johns, Elaine Johnson, and Anne Lilliston (at Pamplin).

At Dillwyn are Joanne Tench, Anita Parks, Clara Shumadine, Robbin Arthur, Betty Jo Simmons, Alice Mundie, and Carole Lassiter.

Nancy Crockett, Connie Goodman, Bonnie Keys, Barbara Fisher, Mary Pem Lewis, Alice Joyner, Mary Haynes, Blanche Ingram, Frances Jones, and Marie Fisher are teaching at Charlotte Court House.

Fannie Weinberg, Helen Garter, and Peggy Jean Hall are at Cumberland Court house.

Renovations

(Continued from page 1)

be finished before commencement.

Traffic through the main Rotunda door will be re-routed through side entrances. The dining room traffic will enter through the porch entrances. When the work begins, each student is asked to co-operate by using the entrances mentioned, rather than hindering the work men by crowding into the Rotunda area.

Students To Confer With State Officials

Approximately 50 Virginia high school principals and guidance directors will meet Thursday, February 18, at Longwood to talk with college freshmen who graduated from their high schools last June.

The purpose of this annual meeting, which was begun three years ago, is to study the problems of transition from high school to college by students.

One hour is set aside for informal conferences between principals and their former students. Following lunch, the high school personnel will meet with the Longwood faculty and administration for summaries of the interviews.

Free Pen! For Every Order

TIME (27 wks.) 75c a copy	$1.97
TIME (1 yr.) 7c a copy	3.87
NEWSWEEK (17 wks.) 9c a copy	1.50
NEWSWEEK (1 yr.) 6c a copy	3.50
US News & World Report (26 wks.) 11c a copy	2.67
FORTUNE (1 yr.) 62c a copy	7.50
LIFE (21 wks.) 9c a copy	1.91
LIFE (1 yr.) 7½c a copy	4.00
LOOK (8 mos.) 13c a copy	2.00
SATURDAY EVEN. POST (39 wks.) 10 a copy	3.90
READER'S DIGEST (11 mo. 17c a copy	1.87
CORONET (7 mos.) 13c a copy	1.00
THE NEW YORKER (8 mos.) 9c a copy	3.00
ATLANTIC MONTHLY (8 mos.) 31c a copy	2.50
HARPER'S MONTHLY (1 yr.) 25c a copy	3.00
SATURDAY REVIEW (1 yr.) 8c a copy	4.00
THE REPORTER (10 mos.) 33c a copy	3.27
SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN (1 yr.) 50c a copy	6.00
HOLIDAY (9 mos.) 39c a copy	3.50
SPORTS ILLUSTRATED (17 wks.) 9c a copy	1.50
SPORTS ILLUSTRATED (1 yr.) 7c a copy	4.00
PLAYBOY (1 yr.) 40c a copy	5.00
ESQUIRE (8 mos.) 28c a copy	2.00
TRUE (1 yr.) 34c a copy	4.00
MADEMOISELLE (1 yr.) 21c a copy	2.50
HARPER'S BAZAAR (1 yr.) 15c a copy	3.00
GLAMOUR (1 yr.) 21c a copy	2.50
VOGUE (1 yr.) 39c a copy	5.00
REDBOOK (9 mos.) 25c a copy	2.25
LADIES' HOME JOURNAL (9 mos.) 28c a copy	2.50
HOUSE & GARDEN (1 yr.) 25c a copy	3.00
McCALLS (9 mos.) 25c a copy	2.25

STUDENT SUBSCRIPTION SERVICE, 213322 Norwood St., L.A. 7, Calif.

Name
Address
City Zone State
New Renewal

Richmond Club To Host High School Week End

The Richmond Club will sponsor the second high school week end on February 20 and 21.

Three hundred cards have been sent to students of the different high schools throughout the state. These students expressed an interest in Longwood when the college representative visited their schools.

To date, 37 acceptances have been received and approximately 80 are expected. A list of these girls will be placed outside Dean Wilson's office and the student body is asked to sign up as hostesses for these girls. The freshmen are usually considered hostesses.

As guests of the college, Saturday afternoon the girls will hear Longwood faculty members talk about the academic side of college life. They will then tour the campus, and attend a picnic supper in their honor.

Saturday evening they will attend the French Club play in Jarman Auditorium, followed by a dance in the recreation hall. Sunday they will attend the church of their choice, and dine at the college before returning to their homes.

Glenna Snead is serving as chairman of the week end.

Editors

(Continued from page 1)

the magazine."

Harris Manages Money

Judy Harris, a junior English-psychology major from California, will serve as the Colonnade's new business manager. Past editor of the literary magazine, she says, "I have enjoyed working on the Colonnade in the past, and I know I will enjoy working in this new capacity."

Judy is also recording secretary for Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority, script chairman for May Day, a member of Boerc Eh Thorn, Pi Delta Epsilon, the French Club and the Cotillion Club.

Weaver To Head Paper

Sandra Weaver, a sophomore biology - psychology major from Newport News, has been chosen the new Rotunda editor. She served on House Council last year, is assistant short story editor for the Colonnade, Rotunda news editor, a member of the Cotillion Club, French Club and a sophomore counselor.

Sandra, who edited the last trial issue of the Rotunda, stated, "I feel very pleased, and I only hope that I can do as well as others before me."

Parsons Balances Books

The business management of the Rotunda will be taken care of by Jo Anne Parsons, a junior business education major from Richmond. She is a member of the Cotillion Club, Pi Delta Epsilon, has served on House Council, and was managing editor of the Rotunda.

Jo Anne commented on her new position as follows: "I feel that the experience I will obtain from serving as business manager will be very helpful, and I am looking forward to working with both the business and editorial staffs."

Job Interviews Draw Officials

Representatives from school systems and business firms throughout the state have and will continue to come to interview seniors for jobs next year.

February 18 Miss Luxford from the Princess Anne county, Virginia Beach Schools and Mr. Bob Morris, from the Central Intelligence Agency, United States Government, will be here. On February 22 Miss Leigh of the South Norfolk City Schools will hold interviews.

Mr. J. Walter Potter, Harford county, Maryland schools, will be here February 23, as will Mr. Harold Ramsey, superintendent Franklin county schools. Mr. Walsh, assistant superintendent of the Arlington schools, will see seniors Feburary 24. Also on that day a representative of Anne Arundel county schools, Maryland, will be on campus to talk with interested students.

LC Alumnae Hold Benefit Card Party

The Farmville alumnae chapter held a benefit bridge party Tuesday, February 9.

The 26 tables of players turned in an amount in table receipts and contributions, which will be used for the Endowment Fund.

Longwood was represented by Miss Mary Nichols who served as general chairman of the party, and Mr. Willard Leeper and Dr. Charles Lane who awarded the prizes.

The Slater System donated refreshments.

VISITING HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS discuss events occurring during their stay here at the November week end.

Library Exhibits Collegiate Art In Modern Vein

An "Art in Higher Education" exhibit is now on display in the Browsing Room of the Longwood library.

The exhibit represents the selected work of students from Madison College, Richmond Professional Institute and Longwood.

Representing Longwood are two oil paintings by Barbara Bishop entitled "Composition in Red and Blue," numbers 1 and 2, and a woodcut. A serigraph, "Tapestry," is the work of Lee Burnette.

Other Longwood students showing are LaVerne Collier with a woodcut entitled "The Solitary Flutist," and Carole Lassiter with a water color called "Street Scene." "Early Morning," a woodcut by Philip Redman, and two works by Martha Clark, "Pride and Joy," a woodcut, and "The Village," a water color, are other exhibitions by Longwood students.

These pictures have been selected from the best in three colleges, and represent good technique.

Kesling To Head Screening Board

The screening board for major elections is headed by Doris Kesling. Working with her will be two members from each class.

Representing the seniors are Jean O'Connell and Yvonne Webb; juniors, Nancy Speakman and Sandra Clements; sophomores, Patsy Carr and Mattie Blewett; freshmen, Judy Pollard and Ann Tweedy.

The present heads of the four major organizations will also be a part of the screening board.

Pictures of the nominees will be posted Sunday, February 21. The nominees will be introduced in assembly February 23 and primary elections will be held that afternoon. Final elections will take place Thursday, February 25.

Screening board for minor elections will be the newly elected presidents and outgoing presidents of the major organizations and chairman Doris Kesling. The minor elections will be held March 1 and 3.

Social Notes

(Continued from page 2)

Midwinters was also the big word at Davidson College. Pam Bullen, Nedlee Chapman and Susan Lane will gladly tell you of the fine time they had and of the events that were scheduled for the week end.

Probably making the longest trip of the week end were Paulita Patterson and Mary Fields who went to West Point Academy. Running them a close race were Dotty Brown, Idella Boyer, and Roberta Hughes who went to Annapolis, Maryland, to visit their "Middies" at USNA.

Julia King was attracted to Randolph-Macon for the parties there.

The week end proved successful for Lorraine Robbins as the diamond on her left hand testifies! Eugene Brown of Gloucester is the happy fiance.

Experienced Actresses To Enact Wilde's Comedy

By Mary Linda League

Are you ready to laugh? Do you enjoy a good comedy?

Good humor, quite a bit of confusion, but a story that ends happily are in store March 10, 11, and 12 as the Longwood Players and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs present "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde.

This play, written about English society, holds major surprises set in a townhouse in London and a country estate.

Matilda Powell will portray Lady Bracknell. She not only directed a fall one-act play, "The Lesson," but was seen as the Professor in that play. In the past three years she has devoted her time to the Players, serving as assistant director for "The Plough and the Stars." Matilda has also acted in "Pygmalion" and "The Lady's Not for Burning" and worked as a technical director, a job which she will continue during this play in addition to her part.

Patsy Skellie will have her first role in a major Players' production as the Honorable Gwendolin Fairfax. Even so, she is no newcomer to the boards, for this sophomore participated in high school dramatics.

A junior and Alpha Psi Omega secretary, Page Landers will portray Cecily Cardew. On stage in the past Page acted in "The Lady's Not for Burning" and worked on numerous back-stage crews.

Patsy Ann Scott will portray the role of Miss Prism. She is remembered as Mrs. Gogan in "The Plough and the Stars."

Neil Banks, as Merriman, rounds out the women's roles. She has been actually participating in dramatics since the age of 13.

Four maids responsible for set changes between scenes and indispensable members of the cast are Addie Richardson, Melinda Walker, Nancy Pradel, and Bobby Caples.

Garnett Smith as Jack Worthing, Bill Ragsdale as Algernon Monorieff, Alan Stein as The Reverend Canon Chasuable, and Ben Morgan as Lane promise exceptionally good entertainment.

Lucky girl!

Next time one of her dates bring up the Schleswig-Holstein question, she'll really be ready for him.

Ready for that test tomorrow, too . . . If that bottle of Coke keeps her as alert tonight as it does other people.

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Drink Coca-Cola

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Think! Minor Elections Coming

The Rotunda

Support Your Approaching Forum

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., March 2, 1960 | No. 13

Mid-Winters At H-S Features Ferguson

Maynard Ferguson and his band will highlight the March 4 and 5 Midwinters weekend at Hampden-Sydney. Currently one of the nation's favorite bands among college audiences, the Ferguson group will play in Gammon Gymnasium on the afternoon of March 5 from 3:00 until 5:00. This concert, an annual event, will be followed by a dance that night from 8:00 to 12:00, also by Maynard Ferguson and his band.

Featured at the Friday night dance will be the Russ Carlton group from Danville, Virginia. Carlton's nine piece band features three female vocalists and is noted for its ability to play a wide variety of music, specializing in requests.

In accordance with the recent Interfraternity Council ruling, the Friday night dance will also be held from 8:00 p.m. until 12:00 midnight. Because of this, fraternity parties may begin at 11:00 p.m. both Friday and Saturday nights.

Ferguson's fourteen piece band was first formed in 1956. Since that time, its success has been nothing short of phenomenal. This year the band ranked seventh in the current jazz poll sponsored by Playboy magazine. In the Playboy All-Star poll, Ferguson ranked fourth among bandleaders, following such old and well-established names as Basie, Ellington, and Kenton.

Ferguson, a proponent of the "high screeching" school of trumpet playing, is a three-time winner in the trumpet category of DOWN BEAT magazine's celebrated jazz poll.

The dress for the two dances will consist of informal attire, coat and ties being required for men, cocktail dresses for their dates. Casual attire will be the dress for the concert. Students are reminded to bring blankets to sit on at the concert.

—Hampden-Sydney Tiger

Principals Meet, Exchange Ideas On Improvement

The principals of various high schools in Virginia recently met at Longwood to recommend changes for college improvement and receive suggestions for improvement of the high school program.

While here, the principals interviewed freshmen and met with the faculty.

In conclusion of their visit, the principals felt that: the friendly atmosphere of the school is a complimentary feature and must be maintained; increase the foreign language program; continue assembly on a weekly basis, but the freshmen implied the need of improvement here; a study should be made as to the requirement for a letter grade; continue and increase the individual attention given by professors to students.

The suggestions directed toward the high schools were: to increase the quality and quantity of vocabulary; increase proficiency in written compositions; students take typing when possible; more home assignments; in-

(Continued on page 3)

Smaller Rotunda?

Has the Rotunda seemed smaller these last two issues? If so, it's because the column width has been decreased to 11 ems — journalistic jargon for about eleven-twelfths of an inch.

This change occurred at the same time that the publisher, the Farmville Herald, underwent a similar alteration. The new column size is used by many larger newspapers.

Books

There have been many misconceptions concerning the temporary library facilities for the coming year. Due to this fact, the following information has been released by Charles Butler, head librarian.

Mr. Butler reports that the evacuation of books to make way for the new library addition will start this summer. Building of the addition will not begin before August 1, 1960. A temporary library will be set up in another building during its construction.

Renowned Critic Visits Longwood

Virgil Thompson, music critic of the New York Herald Tribune for fourteen years, will be guest speaker at Longwood College March 3.

Mr. Thompson has written music in all forms. His best known works are "Four Saints in Three Acts" and "The Mother of Us All," (operas to texts by Gertrude Stein); "The Plow That Broke the Plains" and "The River," (films by Pare Lorentz); and "Louisiana Story" (film by Robert Flaherty.)

His musical contribution to Robert Flaherty's film, "Louisiana Story," received a Pulitzer Award in 1949. His opera, "Four Saints in Three Acts," when first performed in 1934, ran to sixty performances, a record in its time for American opera.

In addition, he has written symphonies, concertos, masses, and many other works in many forms. He is the author of four books on music, and has appeared as guest-conductor with the New York Philharmonic Symphony, the Boston Symphony, the Philadelphia, Minneapolis, Houston, Cincinnati and many other orchestras in the United States, Europe, and South America.

Four Juniors To Fill Presidential Offices

ORGANIZATION PRESIDENTS — l. to r., C. Kelley, P. Davis, A. Hardy and M. H. Grayson beam proudly over results of election.

Students Prove Revised System To Be Sound

By Nancy Lechler

Ann Hardy, Cherron Kelley, Page Davis, and Mary Hite Grayson were recently elected to serve as presidents of the four major organizations on Longwood's campus for the 1960-61 session.

Student Government

Ann Hardy will preside over the Student Government Association. She has represented the junior class on Government during the previous year.

Ann, an elementary education major, was a previous resident of Norfolk and now resides in Richmond. During her freshman and sophomore years Ann served her class as their president. She was on Freshman Commission and is presently a member of the Y Cabinet.

Her honorary activities include membership in Alpha Kappa Gamma and Kappa Delta Pi. She is rush chairman for Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority and is a member of the Cotillion Club.

Ann's attitude towards her new position is expressed in her comment: "Some feelings are too big to express. I was surprised, excited, a little scared—overwhelmed. I am anxious to know who the council will consist of and to begin working with them. I know I speak for the other three members of the council who have already been elected when I say that we will do our best and hope that that will be good enough."

Kelley Heads "Y"

Cherron Kelley, a junior from Perisburg, was elected to the "Y" Association.

Cherron has been active at Longwood in many ways. She represented her class on Student Government her freshman and sophomore years. This year she has been treasurer of the organization. Majoring in business Cherron was elected as business manager of the 1959-60 Hand-

(Continued on page 3)

Under Secretary Adkins To Speak Founders Day

Miss Bertha Sheppard Adkins, Under Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, will be the speaker for the 76th Founders Day Program at Longwood College March 12th. Her topic will be "Petticoats and Politics."

Miss Adkins, appointed Under Secretary by President Eisenhower in August 1958, is the first woman to hold this post.

Before going to Washington, Miss Adkins was Dean of Women at Western Maryland College for 8 years, and in 1942 became Dean of Residence at Bradford Junior College in Massachusetts. She has been a member of the Board of Trustees of American University since 1955, and is the only woman to serve on its Planning Committee.

She received a B. A. degree from Wellesley College and an M. A degree from Columbia University, and holds an honorary Doctor of Law degree from Western Maryland College and from Hood College. She is a recipient of the Distinguished Service Medal from Teachers College, Columbia University.

In May 1959 Miss Adkins served as the United States delegate to the United Nations Seminar on the Participation of Women in Public Life.

Newspaper Banquet Honors Journalists

The Rotunda staff held its banquet on February 25 at Cedarbrook for the purpose of drawing to a close the fiscal year and officially installing the new staff. In addition to the forty-two members present were Dr and Mrs. James Wellard, sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wall from The Herald, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Overton, and Richard Fore, the newspaper photographer from The Herald.

Cherry Gorham presented awards to the followmne staff members excelling in the editorial department: Joann Kleinecke, Jo Anne Parsons, Nancy Lechler, Mary Byrd Micou, Judy Detrich, Pat Hurst, and Sandra Weaver. Dale Preddy, business manager, presented the awards to the girls who have excelled on the business staff.

Longwood Forum

Longwood's second forum will be held on March 7.

It will consist of a program presented by five girls giving nominations for the United States presidency. These girls are Pat Cleveland, Matilda Powell Bolton Knox, Carolyn Paulette, and Betty Elliott. The identities of their nominations will not be revealed until the night of the program, after which there will be a question and answer period.

Kevan, Weaver Win First Place Honors

The Colonnade has announced the winners of its annual literary contest. First place winners are Eleanor Kevan for her poem "Song of Darkness," and Sandra Weaver for her short story, "After."

Second place winners are Nancy Morris, poetry, and Edmonia Leech, short story. Gloria Leigh Newton and Harriet Hunt are third place winners in poetry and short story, respectively.

The prizes awarded were first place $10, second place $5, and third place $3, in each category.

The winning compositions will be featured in the next issue of the Colonnade. In addition, the winners will be entertained at a tea sponsored by Boerc Eh Thorn.

The literary contest is sponsored by the Colonnade to promote interest in creative writing among the students.

Smith To Speak As Deans Meet For Discussions

Approximately sixty Dean of Women and Head Resident will hold a work-shop at Longwood [illegible] on March [illegible].

Miss Marjorie Smith Dean of Women at Syracuse University, will be the principal speaker and will coordinate the various discussion groups which will meet during the day. Dean Smith is also a co-director of the Student Dean Program at Syracuse University, one of the [illegible] student personnel courses [illegible].

[illegible] purpose of the March meeting is to give the Deans and [illegible] opportunity for an exchange and discussion of ideas [illegible] related to college [illegible] Participating [illegible] Assistant College [illegible] Eastern [illegible] Head [illegible] Longwood College, Lynchburg [illegible] Mary Washington [illegible] Radford [illegible] Southern Seminary, Sweet Briar, Virginia Intermont, Washington College.

Rotunda Announces New Staff

Appointments to positions for the 1960-61 Rotunda staff were announced last week by new Editor-in-Chief Sandra Weaver. Publication staff appointments are made early each year in order to relieve senior staff members and give new appointees a chance to learn their jobs.

Joann Kleinecke, a junior biology major from Richmond, has been selected as Managing Editor. On the previous staff Joann served as Feature Editor.

Appointed News Editor is Nancy Lechler, a junior elementary major from Roanoke. Nancy acted as Sports Editor on the old staff. Assisting Nancy will be Sandy Bryant, a sophomore from Martinsville.

Assuming the role of Feature Editor will be Judy Detrich, a sophomore from Hampton who previously held the position of Desk Editor. Judy's assistant is Sophomore Edmonia Leech.

Editing the Sports page will be Mary Byrd Micou, a sophomore English major from Richmond, and her assistant editor Gail Arnn, a freshman. Mary Byrd is moving up from her old position as Assistant Sports Editor.

Linda Sudduth, also a sophomore, will take charge of photography.

Joining the staff as Desk Editor is Junior Pat Hurst. Her assistant will be Ann Agee, a freshman.

As Art Editor, Anna Dehaven will provide illustrations for the paper.

Kay Hubbard will take charge of the Social Notes. Kay is a junior. Other columnists include: Sophomore Sandie Farish, Fashions; Junior Farnces Harnsberger, Timely Topics; Sophomore Carolyn Elliott, Sports; and Sophomore Marjorie Freese, Church News.

Working with Business Manager Jo Anne Parsons will be Circulation Manager Nancy Lee Cole, a junior from Danville, and Assistant Circulation Manager Carolyn Elliott, sophomore from Hopewell. Also serving on the business end of the organization will be Janet Wainwright as National Advertising Manager and Janet Stanley as Local Advertising Manager.

NEW ROTUNDA STAFF HEADS — Front row, (left to right) P. Hurst, N. Lechler, J. Dietrich, back row, l. to r. J. Parsons N. Cole and M. Micou.

Letter To The Editor Concerns Assembly

I would like to bring up a few questions concerning what seems to be one of the most groaned about institutions on campus—Tuesday assemblies. Although these assemblies are supposed to be of educational and social benefit, and undoubtedly are, there must be a reason for the groans. Could it be that the programs are not being presented in such a way that the students can gain their full value? Does the fact that we are a "captive audience" have anything to do with the letter-writing, sleeping, and general restlessness prevalent at most assemblies?

If the above are true, it seems that, we, the student body, could cooperate with the administration to make every compulsory Tuesday program (since it is a required part of our school life) one to be looked forward to instead of dreaded.

I have two main suggestions to offer, both of which may be impractical and unappealing, or on the other hand, might help to improve conditions. First, could the students possibly see a list of speakers or types of entertainment chosen as suitable and available by the administration, and check off their preferences on a monthly basis? Naturally, everyone would not be pleased with the choices, but the majority would be satisfied. Secondly, why could a cut system not be set up similar to that pertaining to grades so that most students would be allowed to miss a few programs and use that hour as they see fit?

It seems to this student that some attention could definitely be given to this subject, so that more people would feel satisfied with the assemblies.

A Junior

Spring Fever ?

Have you ever sat at your desk at the beginning of a lecture, trying desperately to understand what the professor was explaining and before you knew it, the bell had rung, ending that class and you found yourself staring vacantly out the window?

Have you ever discovered that your favorite course has become unbearably dull, and you cannot avoid an occasional nap between the frequent yawns?

Have you ever walked to a class with a group of friends and found, on arriving, that you have for gotten paper, pen, and even the textbook?

Have you ever decided that a beautiful day would be wasted if spent in studies, so you cut classes and went back to bed?

If so, you'd better watch out. These are symptoms of a disease which is deadly to students (and professors). SPRING FEVER.

Spring will make her first official appearance on March 21, but often there are a few signs of her coming long before. Even a small sign, such as a few tiny green buds on a tree whose branches are barely rid of winter's snow, may cause spring fever.

Let us remind you, however, that it is nothing new. All through the ages, man has been afflicted with this malady, and yet, even in this age of "miracle drugs" and "test tube babies," spring fever is unconquerable.

Therefore, there is but one thing to do. We, the students of Longwood College, must fight this "crippling" disease. We must not let flirtatious Spring conquer us, for even though we may recover, she leaves in her wake such disasters as lower grades, overcuts, and many, many hours of waster time.

Within the coming weeks, if you should find yourself feeling lightheaded, lazy, unable to concentrate, putting things off until the last minute, or irresistibly attracted to that friend of the opposite sex, beware.

Unless they are your normal traits, more than likely, it's spring fever.

—Sandy Bryant

Ode To A Room

The beauty of our room
Is such that has no comparison.
Stuffed animals on the floor,
Lint covering every inch of space,
Clothes [illegible] from our [illegible],
Window [illegible] with tin foil, and [illegible],
Clothes racks which are never [illegible],
Books piled high on and in our [illegible],
[illegible] people [illegible],
Odd [illegible],
Their mates under [illegible],
Dirty clothes [illegible],
Cluttered [illegible],
All make up the [illegible]
It really makes [illegible]

Barbara Williams

Entered as second class matter at the Post-Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of [illegible]. Member [illegible] Collegiate Digest Service [illegible] by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Bibler

"SO I FINALLY HAD TO DRAW TH' LINE."

Professors Disclose Frights

By Judy Detrich

Dr. Brumfield laughed his own special sheepish sort of laugh. "I'll tell you about the time I was most scared in my whole life," he said. "First I've got to back up to when my wife and I were living right in the middle of New York City — while I was studying at Columbia. We've never been in such a noisy place! Our apartment was at the end of Amsterdam, about three flights up. Well, the traffic never stopped — trucks and busses and cars all day and night, and then the subway emptied right below us, and right over our heads was what seems to me to be the noisiest airplane route in the whole creation, and whenever there was a fire, all the trucks came past on their way to Broadway, and to top it all off, the elevator was right outside our door. With that noise and the fact that it never was dark made it a pretty hard job to sleep. But," he waved that all away with a gesture, "what was even stranger was when we came back to Mrs. Brumfield's mother's house six months later.

Country Quiet

"Her home is set way back from the Hampden-Sydney Road. When we got there the honeysuckle was out and it was all quiet. There wasn't a sound and on top of that it was so dark that night Mrs. Brumfield said she couldn't tell whether her eyes were open or shut.

"Long about 3 a.m. — I was," he added with a grin, "still awake. I heard this noise up around the light fixture. Finally I got up and turned on the light. When I did I couldn't see anything, so I went back to bed. I hadn't been there very long when I heard the sound again, and by this time my blood was beginning to run cold. I got up again and just as I did I saw this thing dive down into a vase on the mantle. I really felt foolish then — when I realized it was just a bat. I put a book on top of the vase and took care of it in the morning." He reflected. "That thing really made my blood run cold."

Thief Simkins

Dr. Brumfield is not alone in his scariest experience. Dr. Simkins can remember one of the most frightening times of his life. "I guess I was most frightened," stated wryly, "the time I stole $10,000 in Brazil." He went on to say that he had cashed a traveler's cheque and the Brazilian agent had made a mistake and had given him ten times as much money as he deserved. "I [illegible] a mistake until I [illegible] was that the scuttled up and down the coast. [illegible] finally explained to me what had happened and that the police would probably be waiting for me at [illegible]. You never can tell what will happen in a foreign country like [illegible]. When we got [illegible]

there we rushed to the banker and I gave him the money back. I was relieved to get rid of it."

Dr. Schlegel admitted that he couldn't recall any true fears, but being in a cooperative mood, he agreed to invent one. Let it be understood that the incident is true, the fear injected.

Border Intrigue

Two summers ago when he and Mrs. Schlegel were in Yugoslavia, a policeman stopped their car and demanded to see a drivers' license. Dr. Schlegel went on to say that they had been stopped previously and were allowed to pass when they showed their passports. This guard, however, was not satisfied with that and again demanded a drivers' license. Since neither could speak the other's language, Dr. Schlegel now admits he was more than a little anxious as to what would happen. Finally the agent was convinced that Mrs. Schlegel's Virginia Drivers' License was an authentic "American" document and allowed them to pass. Dr. Schlegel smiled cheerfully as he concluded, "I suppose I was a little uneasy, though I tried not to show it."

Unlike Dr. Schlegel, Mr. Helms had no trouble recalling a scary incident or two. "I've been scared so many times I'm beginning to think I'm a coward," he said. But the fact that he continues to fall head first into adventure shows he's probably braver than he thinks he is. He has been: struck by lightning twice, threatened with a knife, in the midst of several Clemson-Carolina flare-ups (which can be very dangerous things). To cite an example: A group of Carolina students once skinned a live cat and paraded the "Clemson Tiger" through a movie theater on the end of a pole.)

Sleepy Fly Boy

Above all, he has had several scary incidents in the air. "One time," he recalls, "I fell asleep while I was flying back to school in Atlanta. When I woke up, I was completely lost." Finally he found a small Naval field and put his plane down. He told the authorities there that he could not possibly continue and invented half a dozen mechanical faults (worn out braker, little gas) why he couldn't continue. Nevertheless, the attendant told him in no uncertain terms that there was a small field not far away which he would have to make. After a hasty departure and some flying time, Mr. Helms found the runway of the small airport. However, the strip he was forced to use was very short and was ended by a deep river. He put down the plane, only to realize that the mechanical troubles he had invented were true. He did manage to stop the plane but when he got out to inspect the situation, he discovered that a back wheel was [illegible] the ledge—he came that close to the briny deep!

Longwood Becomes Point Of Departure

By KATHRYN HUBBARD

For a few hours Saturday night the main rec was transformed into an oriental setting with pagodas and dragons casting "Oriental Reflections" from wall to wall. The juniors and their dates danced to the music of the VMI Commanders and afterwards refreshments were served in Main Cunningham rec.

U-Va.

Fraternity parties were swinging at Virginia this past weekend as rushing came to a climax Saturday night. Among the girls adding a final touch to the "rush week" were: Ellen Grady, Mary Lou Grasty, Louise Johns, Lee Burnette, Mary Lee Barnes, Sarah Lampton, Sue O'Hara, Pat O'Connor, Jeri Rikes, Mary Alice White, Mary Lee Warriner, Patti Barnes, Elizabeth Fulton, and Nancy Nelson.

R-M

Randolph-Macon also had fraternity parties this past weekend for Ann Ruckman, Poo Butterworth, Suzanne Shipp, and Brenda Dod.

VPI

As usual Tech was a big attraction for the following girls: Alice White, Eleanor Fowler, Marilyn Hobbs, Don Scarbrough, Diane Davis, Linda Payne, Jeanne Peyton, Eloise Sarieves, Frances Harnsberger, Sally Thomas, Peggy Grosch, Brenda Almond, Rosemary Henry, and Mac Brown. The corps had its annual Military Ball with the VPI Collegiates supplying the music for the dance.

Country parties were among the highlights of the weekend at Elon. Joining the fun were Jo-Ann Kleinecke, Ann Allen and Pat Mason of Longwood.

The Midshipmen were honored with the presence of Lou Booth and Dottie Brown at U. S. Naval Academy.

VMI

Exchanging places with the Longwood girls who came to Lexington to be the ideal of Ugly Corse, Judy Williams, Ruth Denton, Mary Ann Montague, Ann Snyder, Betty Jean Cliatt, Mary Hite Grayson, and Jo Savage who went to VMI for the weekend.

Most of the Virginia schools had their Midwinter dances a few weeks ago. Not to be outdone, however, was Wake Forrest. Midwinters captured the attention of Ann Howell.

The hearts of four West Point cadets were captured by Mary Byrd Micou, Norrish Munson Norman Redmon, and Marjorie Freese this weekend. The long trip to New York was quite worthwhile for the U. S. Military Academy entertained in high style.

Continued on page 4

Science Class Stargazes In Weekly Night Course

By Sandy Bryant

Stargazing becomes a study for fourteen Longwood students one night a week. For the first time in the history of the college, a course in descriptive astronomy is being offered this semester. Designed primarily to give background to students who plan to teach general science, this two-credit course is required of science majors and is an elective for other students.

According to Miss Burger, who teaches the class, several field trips have been planned which include Morehead Planetarium at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; McCormick Observatory at University of Virginia, Charlottesville; and an overnight trip to Longwood Estate.

The college has a new refractor telescope which is being used by the astronomy class. This instrument, with a three-inch objective lens, will reach a magnification of two hundred times under the highest power eyepiece. An auxiliary finder scope contains a six-power cross-hair eyepiece and serves effectively in initially locating the celestial object as the earth rotates. The equatorial mounting of the telescope is connected with such great precision and balance that finger-tip controls manipulate the mechanism in any direction or plane. Verniers on this mounting allow for setting the telescope to location of stars and planets from information provided by star maps.

Accessories to the telescope widen the possibilities of using the instrument. A sun-projecting screen and sun glass provide for viewing the sun and sunspots. An erecting prism system for terrestrial viewing returns the inverted image of the celestial telescope to the normal upright position.

This telescope is used by the freshman science class as well as by the astronomy class which includes the following students: Lou Booth, Dottie Brown, Sandra Ferebee, Rosa Inge, Juliette Highsmith, Louise Johns, Carol Matthews, Jean O'Connell, Anne Palmer, Norma Redmon, Billie Jo Altizer Reid, Patsy Scott, Robert Thomas, and Julia Williams.

While enthusiasm and interest in "taking a look" through this telescope have been very great, Miss Burger suggests that even greater enjoyment and satisfaction are ahead as students learn to manipulate the instrument and explore the heavens for themselves.

Captain Meeker Leads Teachers In Brilliant Loss

By Jane Stegall

Last Thursday night at 7 p.m., Dr. R. K. Meeker, the captain of the faculty volleyball team, led his colleagues to defeat in two out of three games. His teammates . . . J. Hunter Ballew, Dr. R. B. Brumfield, William Noble, Miss Barbara Dowd, Mrs. Eleanor Bobbitt, and James H. Helms . . . all exhibited professional genius during the entire evening.

Mr. Ballew is to be highly congratulated, as he starred in his first game of volleyball on that night. The remaining players have been seen in action in many preceding times.

Mr. Helms at one time flung himself into the air and batted the ball across the net for a beautiful play. The ball was returned and a healthy release of emotions could be felt as students and faculty members batted it out. Mr. Noble slapped the ball at the net and instead bounced Tawa Childress's head about three feet from her neck. It was all in fun, however, and no one was hurt in the end.

Between games the faculty was roused and cheered on by the delicate voice of Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss. His encouraging yells to his team and occasional boos at Mr. Helms added spice and made the team trudge on. They batted harder than ever and at times there was only a 20 point difference in the scores . . . theirs. At one time Dr. Brumfield was moving across the court so swiftly that his red shirt and hat looked like a streak of fire.

After talking with the losers at the conclusion of the games, one could see that none of them were bitter about the outcome. They had tried and lost, but will be ready to come back full force should the opportunity avail itself.

Officials To Do Education Study

The Division of Teacher Education of the State Department of Education and those colleges in Virginia for the preparation of teachers have started a "teacher education" study.

The purpose for the study is to coordinate efforts of the different institutions preparing teachers and the colleges offering professional education.

Dr. Earl Boggs, Dean of Longwood, is a member of this planning committee. Other members are: a representative from the office of Teacher Education; Dean Ralph Cherry from the School of Education at the University of Virginia; Dean Robert Young of Radford College; Dr. Charles Caldwell from Madison College; Dr. Howard Holland from William and Mary; and Dr. A. T. Harris from Virginia State College.

LONGWOOD JEWELERS
Complete Line of Gifts for You
Scarab Jewelry
Longwood Jewelry
Charge Accounts Welcomed

Longwood Key Charms
Sterling and Gold-filled
Martin The Jeweler

BEGINNING SWIMMERS — l. to r., Beverly White, Carolyn Axom, Barbara Elder, Frances Ayres and Betty Dickenson help each other to overcome personal problems of the beginning swimmer.

'Swimming Skills Prove Challenging' Say Longwood's Battling Beginners

By Gayle Arnn

"An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." This favorite old proverb could well be the motto of the beginning swimming classes here at Longwood. Preventing drowning fatalities is far better than trying to revive a drowning victim. Statistics show that in 1958, 6,400 people lost their lives in drowning accidents. Each year as more and more people turn to the water for excitement, entertainment, and relaxation, this figure is likely to become much greater unless some preventive measure is employed.

Made Compulsory

When the faculty of Longwood came to realize this situation several years ago, a regulation which made it compulsory for every girl to pass a swimming test before graduation was immediately put into effect. Fortunately, the girls who did not know how to swim were required to take the beginning swimming course.

This year the number of students encountering their first experiences with the skill of swimming has reached an all-time high, and the number of classes being taught has increased to three—two being taught by Mrs. Bobbitt, and one by Miss Dowd.

Restrictions Placed

These girls are earmarked for their fragility by their red bathing caps and restricted swimming area. So, watch out!

It takes a lot of fortitude and time for these beginners to become adjusted to the water. Their main problem along this line is an overwhelming fear. Once they have overcome this torturing force, however, mastering the basic strokes becomes a challenge, and progress lies just around the corner. In the classes that began this semester, the students are gradually emerging from the beginner status to the novice, as they struggle desperately with the overhand crawl and the elementary back stroke. Even more important, their attitudes of apprehension and dread is transforming into anticipation.

Payne's Views

Linda Payne, a junior transfer student, has expressed her opinion of the course in the following statement: "I definitely think it's a wonderful thing that swimming is required for graduation. I know that if it were not compulsory, I would never have even tried to learn how to swim. Now, not only will I be able to swim in an emergency, but I find that I really enjoy swimming." Though Linda is only one of many students taking beginning swimming, her testimony is no doubt expressive of the attitude felt by the majority of the students.

Olympics Spark Current Sports

By Carolyn Elliott

Most important in the world of sports at the present time are the 1960 Winter Olympics which are being held at Squaw Valley, California. Because the winners have run strictly according to form, this year's Olympics have been viewed the best ever.

The United States has come up with two gold medal championships; Carol Heiss in women's figure skating and David Jenkins in men's figure skating. Saturday's 3-2 victory over Russia in ice hockey may result in a third medal.

Southern Conference tournament games are sweeping the nation as basketball season continues. Virginia Tech pulled a victory over University of Richmond, 78-58, in the first round game. Other winner in the Southern Conference were West Virginia University over VMI, 90-83, and William and Mary over Furman, 82-74.

Navy was selected for an at-large berth in the Eastern Regionals of the NCAA basketball tournament. The Southern Conference champion will battle the Middies, who hold a 15-5 record, in a first round game in Madison Square Garden, March 8.

MISS BREAKFAST?
Visit Your
SNACK BAR

Dial Magazine

A college student's first published story appears in the first issue of the new Dial, a magazine of fiction which has just been released.

It will seek stories and novels-in-progress from both unknown and established writers.

The Dial, which will be published four times a year, is now soliciting material for future issues. Material should be sent to the editor, James H. Silberman, at 461 Park Avenue South, New York 16, New York. The magazine is available through bookstores or by subscription.

Church News

By Marjorie Freese

Methodists

Miss Lucy Dunlap will be the guest speaker during the Coffee Hour on March 4.

On March 6 the Methodist and the Baptists will hold a joint meeting in the Methodist Fellowship Room at 7 p.m. The program shall be on Alcohol. Mr. Kenneth Lee will speak on the medical aspect of alcohol. Mr. Robert Lacy, a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, will tell of its influence on his life. Dr. Wayne Womer will speak on the spiritual effects of Alcohol.

Baptists

On March 4, 5, 6, there will be a Mission's Conference at Southeastern Seminary. Anyone interested in going to the conference should contact Nancy Morris or Joan Spenser. Those going to the conference will leave here at 1:30 on Friday afternoon and will return on Sunday afternoon.

The goal set for the BSU Summer Missionary offering has been set for $400, and not even half of the goal has been pledged or paid. It is necessary that all those who have pledged complete their amounts so that all the summer missionaries will be able to serve.

New Presidents

(Continued from page 1)

book.

For the past three years she has worked closely with the Y as well as her church organization. Cherron was a member of the Freshman Commission and now works for the Y Cabinet. She is also promotional manager for the Baptist Student Union, a member of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority, and the Cotillion Club.

"I am so grateful for the opportunity of serving as president of the Y. I only hope I can be worthy of the position and do as well as those before me," she commented.

House Council

The House Council President is Page Davis, a junior from Hopewell. Page, a biology major, is a member of the Lychnos Society, Pi Gamma Mu, and the H20 Club. She has been secretary of the House Council for the past year, and assistant business manager for the Virginian, a member of the Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority, and the Cotillion Club.

Her comment was, "I am so appreciative and overwhelmed and very happy. I hope I can do my part in making the council function for a successful year."

Athletic Association

Selected for the presidency of the Athletic Association for the coming year is Mary Hite Grayson, a junior physical education major from Radford. Mary Hite is presently secretary of the A. A. and the H20 Club. She has participated in varsity hockey and basketball as well as class sports.

Mary Hite is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, Kappa Delta Pi, Student Education Association, Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, and was Panhellenic rush chairman. Mary Hite was selected as Ring master for the AKG Circus this year.

She stated, "I was surprised and very happy to receive this honor, and I certainly hope I'll be able to do as good a job as those before me have done."

White, Gorham Plan Spring Water Show

By Betty Jane Allcood

Astir with planning and preparation activities for the forthcoming water pageant is the Main Cunningham suite of Cherry Gorham and Hannah White. This working atmosphere is due to the fact that Hannah and Cherry, suitemates, have been selected co - chairmen for the annual spring water pageant to be presented March 25.

Cherry, a junior English major, comes from Culpeper. Her most time-consuming activity thus far on campus has been her job as past editor of the Rotunda. Previous water pageant work has included the writing of nautiographies and participation in several water shows. Cherry also holds membership in Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority, Cotillion Club, Boerc Eh Thorn, Pi Delta Epsilon, Kappa Delta Pi, and the H2O Club.

Hannah White, a junior from Norfolk, is a social science major. Hannah has participated in every water pageant since her freshman year. She is a past member of Freshman Commission and served as float chairman for Circus her freshman year. Her other activities include serving as Pan Hellenic representative for Kappa Delta social sorority and membership in the H2O Club and the Spanish Club.

Committee Heads

Preparing to greet the other colleges who will participate in the pageant will be Bonnie Keys and her assistant, Dixie Hilliard. Page Davis and her assistant, Jo Savage, will be in charge of the pageant backdrops. Working to also add to the beauty of the show will be Julie Hollyfield and her assistant, Wendy Warren, who are in charge of costumes.

Also on hand to see that the performances run smoothly are Mary Hite Grayson, who heads the music committee, and Jean Helms and Khaki Turner, who are in charge of tickets. Responsible for programs are Barbara Brantley and her assistant, Jane Freeman.

Other committee heads include props, Ruth Tally and assistant Melissa Rowe; lighting, Gerry Laidlaw and assistant Jean O'Connell; publicity, Annis Murphy; cues, Helen Wente.

In charge of entertainment for the performers after the two shows to be given March 25 are Lou Booth and her assistant Mary Kay Rice.

LC Tops Hollins In Twin Victory At Recent Game

In the game played last Thursday, Longwood gained a double defeat over the Hollins team. Scores of the first game were [illegible] second game scores [illegible] for the first [illegible] forwards Carolyn [illegible] Brantley, Mate Fadely, and guards Trina [illegible], Claudia Whipple and Darlene Queen. After breaking a 17-17 tie of the first quarter, the Longwood team soared through to win by 29 points.

With a 19 point victory lead in the second game, Longwood again demonstrated her skill and ability. Forwards Sandra Phlegar, Shirley Harman, Pat Southworth, and guards Dixie Hilliard, Mable Healey, and Faye Ripley composed the starting line-up.

The next game will be played with Madison on March 3.

Principals' Ideas

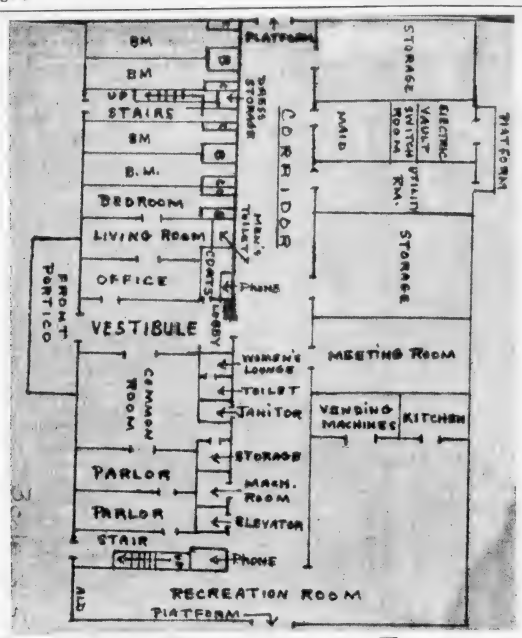
(Continued from page 1)

crease quality and quantity of parallel reading; more essay tests as opposed to the objective type; and no exemption from written exams.

Those high schools represented were: Amelia, Charles City, Churchland, Cumberland, Franklin, Granley, Halifax County, Hampton, Highland Springs, Hopewell, Jefferson, John Marshall, Manchester, Martinsville, Maury, Newport News, Thomas Jefferson, Warwick, Wilson Memorial, and Worsham Academy.

COPYRIGHT 1957 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Don't just sit there!



You'll enjoy today's copy of this publication much more if you'll get up right now and get yourself an ice-cold bottle of Coca-Cola.

(Naturally, we'd be happier, too!)

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Wheeler Dormitory Features Ultra-Modern Interior Decor

Next fall 184 students will be the first occupants of Leola Wheeler Dormitory, the four-story building between the science building and Jarman Hall, which is now nearing completion.

The building willl have three entrances from the front. The main entrance is situated behind four white columns. The other two will be at either side of the front and will enter stairways which lead to the ascending floors. The stairway on the right will extend to the roof, where there will be a sun-deck for the students' leisure.

To the right of the vestibule on the main floor there will be a large formal parlor with two smaller adjoining parlors. Each room will have conventional furniture, and draperies will be hung on all windows in public view.

Also on the ground floor will be a spacious "L-shaped" recreation room where students may entertain their guests. The room will be furnished with bridge tables, lounge chairs, and a television set.

An automatic snack bar will adjoin the recreation room. Vending machines of every variety will line the snack bar. In addition to the vending room there will be a kitchen for student use on the ground floor.

To the left of the vestibule will be the head resident's office, living room and bedroom. In the left corner of the ground floor there will be two suites, rooming eight girls. Utility sapce and a meeting room which will seat fifty persons will comprise the remaining area of the ground floor.

On the first floor there will be eight suites and a dress storage room. The other side of the hall will have seven suites and a pressing room.

The second floor will be comprised of fourteen suites and a recreation room with cooking facilities and tables and chairs. The third floor will be identical to the first.

Each suite of rooms will have an adjoining shower bath with two lavatories. A full-length mirror will be purchased for each door leading to the bath.

Furnishings for the typical room will consist of two desk chairs with upholstered seats, two desks with four storage drawers, a six-drawer chest, two book cases, and two Hollywood style beds.

The furniture, Fiberesin, has the appearance of wood but is a plastic material and has a metal frame. The furniture has a cherry finish but functions as metal.

The color scheme for the entire building is being devised by a professional interior decorator. Tans and greens will be the primary colors and the building will be painted in a scheme for the entire structure rather than in smaller units.

An elevator for student use will be installed to travel to all floors.

The new building will be ready for inspection by May.

Faculty Frights

(Continued from page 2)

winner Sandra Weaver!

A less courageous group of people might be tempted to withdraw to their ivory towered dreams, but not so with Longwood professors. The fact that they continue to face classes which far outnumber them, armed with only their wits and grade books, proves to all what a fearless band are they.

Lacking Sleep?

"Sleep is something that always assumes much more importance the morning after than it did the night before."

Lester D. Klimek.

TOP TEN TUNES

1. Theme From A Summer's Place
2. Teen Angel
3. Where or When
4. Handy Man
5. You've Get What It Takes
6. He'll Have To Go
7. Tracy's Theme
8. Beyond The Sea
9. Forever
10. Chattanoogie Shoe Shine

WILSON HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

BEAUTY UNLIMITED
AT KOURY HAIR STYLIST
At The
Dorothy May Shop
EX 2-5481

Greeks Announce Spring Bids

By Betty Rice Dawson

AGD

The Grecian Garden was the scene of the Alpha Gamma Delta party. In their program of entertainment, they had dances, a dialogue, singing, and instrumental music.

Those accepting bids from the Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority are: Donna Frantzen, Dona Marquette, Nancy Patterson, Ruby Jane Slayton, and Martha Wyatt.

ASA

The "Sophisticated Sisters" entertained the rusheees with songs and a skit. This entertainment was a take-off on actions of sophisication.

Bids to Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority were accepted by: Belle Brown, Carol Lynn Buckner, Paula Clarke, Carolyn Correll, Sarah Decker, Nancy Hood, Sherrill Hudlow, Barbara Loth, Jean Maupin, Mary Beth Olson, Charlene Owen, Judy Pharr, Judy Pollard, Jane Price, Sue Spicer, Pat Sweeney, Alice White.

AST

Ahoy AST! As the rushees climbed aboard the deck of the AST ship, they were met by friendly pirates. On deck they were entertained by a poem and a dance until it was time to abandon ship.

Those accepting bids to Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority are: Niki Fallis, Janice Harris, Sandra Little, Elaine Lohr, Margaret Mathias, Carol Nye, Mary Lou Plunkett, Joyce Snyder, and Judy Williams.

DZ

The Rushees became eyewitnesses to a new TV show when the "DZ Toast of the Town" was telecast on campus. This program featured the country girl who had just won the DZ cooking award, the Texas Cutie, and others. To make the program complete, there were singing commercials and refreshments.

Rushees accepting bids from Delta Zeta Sorority include the following girls: Ann Agee, Neil Banks, Norah Elliott, Lena Kay, Barbara Martin, Nancy Nelson, Judy Purcell, Susan Rollins, Virginia Wilson, Rosilyn Wright.

KD

The rushees were taken into the red, red, yonder for a visit with the "KDs in Hades."

Those rushees accepting bids to Kappa Delta Sorority are: Annice Bailey, Patti Barnes, Pam Bullen, Barbara Goodman, Linda Sue Parker, Wisty Rochelle, Cape Sammis, and Joanne White.

SK

For a visit with the Sigma Kappa's on "Dude Ranch," the rushees were taken into the roar ing West. Here, in this western atmosphere, entertainment was presented in dance and song.

The new Sigma Kappa pledges are: Gracie Bottino, Lee Burnette, Barbara Sue Cole, Gail Crawford, Betsy Croswell, Sandra Freedoman, Norman Goodwyn Virginia Lou Hayes, Harriet Hunt, and Mary Lipscomb.

SSS

The Goddess of Love and the God of Strength seated on the purple velvet throne were entertained by dances around a fountain as the "Sigmas Took a Grecian Holiday."

Those girls accepting bids to Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority are: Joan Barnette, Gail Deaver, Gari Dickson, Ann Greene, Nancy Johnson, Kay Nottingham, Donna Oakes, Josie O'Hop, Rosa Pettit, Vanetta Remaine, Lani Robinson, and Gretchen Zimmerman.

ZTA

All the wonders of a Hawaiian paradise were awaiting the rushees as they entered the exotic Isle of Zeta. Here, an authentic Hula dance was the center of attraction. After the entertainment, the time of departure came and all the Zetas wished the rushees a pleasant Aloha.

The new pledges of Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity are: Eleanor Fowler, Gloria Gilliam, Marilyn Hatch, Pat McMillen, Betty Stack, Ann Tweedy, and Melinda Walker.

Local SAI Gives Public Musicale On February 28

The Gamma Kappa Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota observed its first anniversary with a public musicale, Sunday afternoon, February 28, at Jarman Hall.

Jo Ann Garner Wagstaff opened the program with "Concerto No. 1 in G Major", for organ, by Bach. Nancy Evans Cobb, soprano, followed with "Dove Song" from The Marriage of Figaro, by Mozart. She was accompanied by Jane Pennington at the piano.

Melissa Rowe, contralto, accompanied by Janet Lee Underwood, sang the Recitative and Arioso: "And He Journeyed With Companions"; "But the Lord is Mindful of His own," from The Oratorio St. Paul, by Mendelssohn. "Chorale in A Minor," for organ, was played by Frances Prince Tune.

Peggy Henry, soprano, accompanied by Jane Pennington, sang "Il Est Doux, Il Est Bon," from Herodiade, by Massenet. The last number on the program was a composition for piano, "The Cat and the Mouse," by Aaron Copland, played by Jane Pennington, pianist.

Following the program, Mrs. Marvin W. Schlegel served as hostess at a reception given by Sigma Alpha Iota.

SENSATIONAL RECORD BARGAIN!

12" LP VINYL Specially Pressed by RCA Custom Records

Just released for VICEROY ... the Cigarette with A THINKING MAN'S FILTER ... A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

GET Campus Jazz Festival

—the Hottest Jazz Record In Years

For Only $1.00

—and 2 VICEROY Cigarette packages!

WHAT A RECORD!!

10 GREAT JAZZ NUMBERS

Martians' Lullaby — March Of The Toys
Royal Garden Blues — Just A Mood
Shine On Harvest Moon
Erroll's Bounce — St. James Infirmary
Ciribiribin — Tin Roof Blues
When The Saints Go Marching In

PLAYED BY YOUR FAVORITE ARTISTS

Benny Goodman — Louis Armstrong
Erroll Garner — Shorty Rogers
Jonah Jones — Duke Ellington
Ben Webster — Red Norvo
Bob Scobey — Buck Clayton
Vic Dickenson
Rex Stewart
Dukes of Dixieland

VICEROY Filter Tip CIGARETTES KING-SIZE

ACT NOW! CLIP ORDER BLANK!

Hurry! Hurry! Get this truly great jazz record at a low, low price, while the limited supply lasts! Record features your top favorite Jazz Instrumentalists—the winners in a national popularity survey of American College and University Students. Send for Campus Jazz Festival today. Use coupon below!

BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORPORATION
Box 355
Louisville 1, Kentucky

Please send me postpaid ____ record(s) of the Special VICEROY CAMPUS JAZZ FESTIVAL. Enclosed is $1.00 (no stamps, please) and 2 empty Viceroy packages for each record ordered.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ Zone _____
State _____
College or University _____

This offer good only in U.S.A. Void where prohibited, taxed or otherwise restricted. Expires June 30, 1960.

Attend
Jarman Production

The Rotunda

Vote
Tomorrow Night

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., March 9, 1960 | No. 14

Longwood To Celebrate 76th Anniversary

Players, Jongleurs To Present Wilde's Comedy March 10-12

PRACTICING FOR THE COMING COMEDY, Patsy Ann Scott watches Al Stein as Page Landers gasps at his oration.

Production To Begin At 8 P.M.

By Ginnia Chapman

The Longwood Players and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs will present Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," on March 10, 11, and 12, in Jarman Hall at 8:00 p.m.

The play, under the direction of David W. Wiley, concerns itself with families of high "po-si-tion" in the mid-Victorian age of England. The production has often been called Wilde's "trivial comedy for serious people."

Jack Worthing, a debonair young man leading a double life will be portrayed by Garnet Smith, a well-known personality of the Longwood stage.

Players Remembered

Matters become complicated through the effort of Algenon Moncrieff, better known as Bill Ragsdale, who pretends to be Jack's brother. "Rags" will be remembered for his splendid portrayal of "Bottom" in "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Algenon's romantic involement with Cecily Candew, played by Page Landers, who is just 18, and "Mr. Worthing's ward" cause more confusion.

Patsy Skellie, a newcomer to the Longwood stage, is in the role of Gwendolen Fairfax. Gwendolen, who is in love with Mr. Worthing, is a mid-Victorian young lady who intends "to develop in many directions" and "will probably become just like her mother in about 150 years."

Powell Portrays Gorgon

Her mother, the infallable Lady Brocknell, is portrayed by Matilda Powell. "Tilly", well-known on the Longwood stage and respected for her backstage work as co-technical director, fills the "Gorgon" of a woman who is "not in favor of long engagements."

Miss Prism, "the very picture of respectability" and governess

(Continued on page 4)

Forum Postponed

Longwood's Forum has been postponed until March 14, because of the renovations occurring in the Student Lounge.

The program will consist of a presentation given by five girls in a mock nomination for the United States presidency. These girls are Pat Cleveland, Matilda Powell, Bobbie Koons, Carolyn Paulette and Betty Elliott.

The identities of their nominations will not be revealed until the time of the program, after which there will be a question and answer period.

Bishop Receives Top Art Honors In Recent Show

Barbara Lee Bishop, a senior art major at Longwood, is the recipient of top honors in recent art exhibits held in Roanoke.

Barbara received first prize in two exhibits, one held for relatives of employees of the Norfolk and Western Railway, and another sponsored by the Roanoke branch of the American Association of University Women and Heironimus department store.

In the tenth annual railway exhibit, Barbara was in competition with thirty artists. Her composition won first place in the miscellaneous class and was chosen as best in the show. For this she was awarded two $50 U. S. Savings Bonds.

In the University Women's exhibit she competed with about eighty-five entrants and won first in her class.

The entry that won these honors is a woodblock print entitled "The Silent Birds." Her picture was also chosen to appear in an "Art in Higher Education" exhibit, which is now showing in Virginia colleges. This exhibit was composed of the best entries from three colleges: Madison, R.P.I., and Longwood.

Barbara is modest about her artistic ability, and says she was "very suprised but pleased" at winning these prizes.

College Library Receives Recent Book On Edison

The Longwood College Library has received a recently released 500 page biography of the late Thomas Alva Edison, entitled "Edison."

Matthew Josephson, author of several best sellers, has in "Edison" brought out a new and more complete concept of America's greatest inventor. Josephson depicts the late Thomas Alva Edison's impoverished childhood, his inventive success and failures, his contributions to industrial development, his bitter fight with George Westinghouse's company and many vivid examples of his talent, ambitions, originality, wit and charm. This, with the additional background material recently available from Edison archives of the Edison Library, will make "Edison" popular reading for all ages.

Interested Alumnae Return For Program

By Joann Kleinecke

Longwood's 76th Anniversary will be commemorated by an annual Founders Day celebration to be held at the college March 11-12.

Dr. Bertha S. Adkins, Under Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare will be the guest speaker. Dr. Adkins, who has done much to promote the status of women in politics has chosen as her topic, "Petticoats and Politics." She will be accompanied by her secretary, Dr. Winifred Helmes.

Members of the Granddaughters Club will be in the Rotunda Friday from 2 until 9 p.m. and Saturday from 8 until 1:15 p.m. to serve as hostesses for the visitors and to help with registration.

On Friday, the guests will dine in the college dining room and later be entertained in Jarman Hall by "The Importance of Being Earnest", a play given by the Longwood Players and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs under the direction of Mr. David Wiley.

Saturday's program of events will begin with a coffee hour in the Alumnae House with the Farmville Alumnae Chapter acting as hostesses. Following this social period, there will be the main Founders Day program in Jarman Hall. The program will be opened by a procession of the faculty and seniors with Dr. Francis Lankford giving the welcome.

Withers To Speak

The Reverend Robert E. Withers, pastor of the Episcopal Mission Churches will give the invocation followed by greetings from Ruth Denton and Mrs. J. Spencer Burger, president of the Association of Alumnae. The Madrigal Singers under the direction of Mr. James K. McCombs will present several musical selections, after which Miss Helen Draper, Chairman of the Foreign Language Department will introduce the guest speaker. After Dr. Adkins' speech, the program will be

(Continued on page 4)

Granddaughters To Aid Alumnae

The Granddaughters' Club will act as hostesses for Founders Day in conjunction with the Alumnae Association.

Members of the club will handle registration of alumnae from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday afternoon, and from 8 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. Saturday. Note paper and china will be sold during these times on behalf of the Alumnae Association.

Some of the members will act as hostesses for a coffee hour at the Alumnae House from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Saturday. Other members plan to act as ushers for the Founders Day program at Jarman Auditorium.

General tours of the campus will be conducted by the girls later Saturday afternoon.

The following girls have planned to participate: Annie Lee Lillaston, Freida Hamlet, Joanne White, Marie Waller, Alice Joy Peale, Betty Brothers, Becky Hoffler, Ann Elliot, Ann Tweedy.

Also Sally Myers, Keaton Holland, Helen Jean Taylor, Taylor Rowell, Liz Robertson, Helen Rilee, Anne Smith, Shelvy Jean Luey, Raye Turner, and Jean Pollard.

DR. BERTHA S. ADKINS

Lecturer Adkins To Present Talk Before Alumnae

"Petticoats and Politics" is the topic Miss Bertha Sheppard Adkins, Under Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, will speak on for the 76th Founders Day Program of Longwood College and teacher education to be celebrated here Friday.

Miss Adkins, of Salisbury, Maryland, was appointed Under Secretary by President Eisenhower in August 1953 and is the first woman to ever hold this post.

Active in Education

Miss Adkins previously served as Dean of Women at Western Maryland College for 3 years, and in 1942 became Dean of Residence at Bradford Junior College in Massachusetts. She is a member of the Board of Trustees of American University and has been active since 1946, being the only woman to serve on it planning committee.

Dr. Adkins A.B. A degree from Wellesley College and an M. A. degree from Columbia University. Miss Adkins also holds an honorary Doctor of Law degree from Western Maryland College and Simmons College. She is a recipient of the Distinguished Service Medal from the Teachers College, Columbia University.

The United States Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare is a graduate of Western Public Law 3 appointed Miss Adkins as one of the United States delegate

Lucktenberg To Give Harpsichord Concert

By Anna De Haven

Music lovers will enjoy a novel experience when concert artist, George Lucktenberg, brings his harpsichord to Longwood College March 17 as one of this year's Artists' Series.

"A concert harpsichordist on tour must cope with problems not encountered by other instrumentalists," declares Lucktenberg. He should know since he has packed his nine-foot-long, 600-pound instrument into its specially fitted truck, "the Harpsicart," for tours of over 3,000 miles throughout the Eastern United States.

Mr. Lucktenberg has been the first to bring "live" harpsichord music to many colleges and communities of the South and Midwest. The brilliant young American artist has earned the highest acclaim from audiences and critics wherever he has appeared.

Unusual Instrument

The unusual keyboard instrument, similar to a piano in general structure but essentially different in tone quality, reigned unchallenged during the 18th Century.

The instrument is quite sensitive to changes in temperature and humidity and must be carefully adjusted and tuned before every performance. Its appeal is reflected in the numerous commercial recordings available and the impressive array of ranking musicians who have chosen it as their performance medium.

The harpsichord's physical bulk contrasts with its elegant, silvery tone, produced by tiny points of leather which pluck the strings. There are four sets of strings, controlled from two keyboards.

Five pedals enable the per-

GEORGE LUCKTENBERG

former to make the colorful sonority changes which fascinate 20th century listeners just as they captivated our 18th century ancestors.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Lucktenberg is at present on the staff of the University of Chattanooga's Cadek Conservatory, teaching both harpsichord and piano. In addition to harpsichord recital tours ranging from Iowa to Florida, he fills numerous joint engagements with his wife, Jerrie Cadek Lucktenberg, who is a well known concert violinist.

Poetry Society Plans Anthology

The American College Poetry Society announces that its third semesterly anthology of outstanding college poetry is now being compiled for publication this summer.

Contributions must be the original work of the student (who shall retain literary rights to the material), submitted to the undersigned, care of the Society, with the entrant's name, address, and school on each page. Poems, which may deal with any subject, may not exceed 48 lines, nor may any individual submit more than five poems.

Entries which are not accepted for publication will be returned if accompanied by a stamped self-addressed envelope, but they cannot be otherwise acknowledged, nor can the Society compensate students for poetry which is published.

All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 30, 1960, to be considered, and the decisions of the Society judges are final.

Longwood's Alumnae

The alumnae association is the backbone of Longwood. It is an organization that many of us know little about, for we tend to feel that it is in the future and we are in the present. Therefore, we do not concern ourselves with its functions, but merely accept it as a future possibility for service to our college. However, it is an organization with which every student should be acquainted.

The Association of Alumnae of Longwood College was organized in 1887, only three years after the founding of Longwood. Its objective, as stated in its first constitution, was "to provide social intercourse between its members and aid in furthering the interests of the school." Since then it has faithfully fulfilled its objectives to their outmost possibilities.

It has founded many scholarship funds, financed the renovation of Longwood House, and played a large part in the construction of Student Building. The many portraits that hang in various buildings on campus and the pipe organ in Jarman are among the many gifts of the alumnae. The lectures of the Institute of Southern Culture are also made possible by the financial support of the alumnae.

The chief project the association has undertaken for the year is the Alumnae Endowment Fund, established in observance of the 75th anniversary. The fund will be used as an investment to finance an insurance program for members of the faculty and staff. Since state funds are not available for staff insurance programs at state-supported colleges, Longwood lacks this benefit to offer its present staff and to attract able educators. The retention and attraction of good educators has long been a problem of all colleges and universities. Longwood is no exception, and with the offering of more benefits, she may keep her assets and gain profitably.

In the past, as well as in the present, the alumnae have supported their alma mater. Through their efforts a firm foundation has been laid for the future, when we, ourselves, become the backbone of Longwood.

Lenten Evasion

Can you remember the indignation and horror that was expressed by a majority of the students on this campus a few months ago when a snake was allowed to feed on baby chicks? It seems strange that the same people who were so horrified by that incident can hear the story of the killing of Christ without experiencing any feeling of shock or wonder.

It is difficult to understand how or why we, as Christians who believe Christ died in our place, can fail to be disturbed by his death. Perhaps, because it all happened so long ago, we can not conceive the tragedy and wonder of those events. If this is true, each of us has the task of making the experience vital and personal. The weeks of Lent toward Good Friday provide the time for this.

If for a time we can forget that Easter morning followed Good Friday, then we may experience the unfolding events as tragically as the first Disciples must have felt them.

If we can follow the entry into Jerusalem, and be present at the cleansing of the Temple; if we dare participate in the Last Supper or can bear to have Christ wash our feet; if we can understand Christ's submission to God's will and his death on the cross; if we can truly relive these events, surely we will be able to glimpse the tragedy as personally as the Disciples must have.

If our experiences during the Lenten season can enable us to be filled with indignation and grief on Good Friday, then surely our understanding will unfold the very personal wonder and joy of Easter morning.

—J. V. D.

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 168.

Sandra Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Joann Kleinecke ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Tischler ..... News Editor
Judy Derrick ..... Feature Editor
Mary Byrd Micou ..... Sports Editor
Pat Hurst ..... Desk Editor
Linda Stoddard ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Cole ..... Circulation Manager
Janet Stanley, Janet Wainwright ..... Advertising Managers

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member: Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class), Columbia Scholarship Press Association (Rating first place).

NEWS STAFF: Sandy Bryant, Assistant News Editor; Edmonia Leech, Assistant Feature Editor; Gayle Arrin, Assistant Sports Editor; Ann Agee, Assistant Desk Editor; Columnists: Frances Harrisberger, Kay Hubbard; Make-up Editors: Barbara Clark, Carolyn Elliott; Reporters: Mary Shafer, Cammy Wilson, Jane Martin, Pete Bowen, Betty Jane Aligood, Susan Lane, Peggy Rose Dawson, Jovce Cox, Louise Price, Bobbie Goodman.

CIRCULATION STAFF: Carolyn Lidow, Assistant Manager; Jane Ellen Sowe, Ann Smith, Elsie Brown, Kitty Ford, Judy Brenner, Sara Boswell, Susan Rotunno, Dolores Vernone, Barbara Sue Cole, Becky Bonny, Barbara Ann Cole, Neva Arrin, Carolyn Davis, Sally Thomas, Judy Giles, Sue Beardmore, Dottie Brown, Jean Gates, Marie Waller, Shirley Moody, Patsy Carr, Mary Rob Harris, Shirley Hughes, Sally Pleasants Tyler, Nancy Buckingham.

Entered as second-class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress of March 6, 1913. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS BY BIBLER

Snow Covers H-S Scene On Midwinter Week End

By Kathryn Hubbard

In a special Greek Orthodox ritual, Demetria Koumparakis became engaged to Gus Costas, a graduate of NC State, this past week end. Gus is now working with Western Electric in Burlington, N. C. Also recently engaged are Sue Robertson and Robert Puckett. Robert is attending VPI.

Mid-Winters at H-S was the big word on the social front. An appropriate theme song for the week end could easily have been "I've got my love to keep me warm." Although the snow had stopped coming down, it was still on the ground and the wind was blowing nearly all week end to add a chill to the atmosphere.

Rus Carlton and his nine piece band started the ball rolling for the events with a dance Friday night. All of the fraternity houses had combos Friday night, also.

Saturday's activities were highlighted by Maynard Ferguson and his band. Although they arrived late for the jazz concert Saturday afternoon, they were quite a hit and the crowd went wild when they played. Ferguson and his group also played for the dance in Gammon Auditorium Saturday night. In much demand at all schools, the trumpet-playing Ferguson ranked fourth in the PLAYBOY magazine all-star poll.

The week end came to a close with combo parties at all houses Saturday night. There were many Longwood girls at all of the events — in fact they were too numerous to name in this column!

Other events of the week end included parties at the Medical College of Virginia. Alma Jean Wright and Dottie Gills were among the Longwood girls there.

Seen in Blacksburg were Jean Dancy, Susan Johnson, and Doris Puryear.

VMI attracted several of our number this past week end. Ray Waple, Suzanne Grammer, Becky Brehm, Pat McMillen, Virginia Wilson, Sue Crutchlow, Cherron Kelley, Doris Tolley, Sandra Watkins, and Judy Owen traveled to Lexington and seemed to have an enjoyable time.

ED. NOTE: Due to the number of girls dating at H-S and the increasing number of combo parties, we regret that we have found it impossible to list each girl going there. It is our hope that you will understand; for instance, Mid - winters attracted over 200 Longwood girls, a near impossibility to list.

To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I read with considerable interest the letter in last week's Rotunda concerning Tuesday assemblies. I for one am glad that someone has voiced the sentiments of a large portion of the student body.

We ourselves are often embarrassed by the impressions many of our guest speakers must take with them when they leave our assemblies. However, as the last letter pointed out, the restlessness during assembly can not be totally blamed on the student body. When close to a thousand people are bored to the point where it is hard to hear the speaker above the din of knitting needles and scratching pens, there must be some basis for the prevalent attitude.

Tuesday assembly could be of educational and cultural value, but usually it is not. Something should be done to improve them, thus improving the attitude towards them.

—A Sophomore

Dear Editor:

It has come to the attention of several members of the student body that one definite weakness of many of our major organizations is the fact that time after time officers and representatives appear from their freshman year on.

This is truly unfortunate as it limits the realization of potentialities and best utilization of resources of each class.

Although there is admittedly much to be said in favor of experienced individuals, it is certainly very important when choosing the new leaders of any organization to bear in mind the unlimited value of fresh ideas and enthusiasm and new talent.

—Interested Students

First Band Since '40 Organizes On Campus

By Sardy Bryant

In the fall of 1958, for the first time in 18 years, a band was organized at Longwood College. Until that time, there had been no such organization at Longwood College since 1940 when Miss Lisabeth Purdom had a small instrumental group.

Circus Appearance

The band, under the direction of Mr. Clifford Smith, meets each Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. Their first public appearance this term was made in the Circus parade last October. At that time, the band was attired in AKG colors of blue and gold, and played several marches.

During the Christmas season, the band presented a program of carols and seasonal melodies before the choir concert. This program was played in the balcony while the audience was being seated.

Band Officers

Band officers this year are Billy Lee, president; Jean Helms, vice-president; Jane Pennington, secretary - treasurer; and Clara Lee Parker, librarian.

Presently, the band is busy preparing a concert which will be presented later in the spring. Much effort and hard work goes into getting such a program ready, and because of limited time and personnel, it requires even more work. Many more instrumentalists of all types are needed to help make the band a more balanced one.

For those who do not own their instruments, the college will provide some. No tryouts are required for membership, and band may be taken for one-half credit per semester.

According to Mr. Smith, everyone is welcome.

Music Varied

The band plays varied music, ranging from light novelty numbers and marches to the more serious classical compositions. It is hoped that a larger and better balanced band will develop soon. When asked about the future of the Longwood College Band, Mr. Smith replied, "I feel that there are all kinds of possibilities for a large and good band. We have in the student body at Longwood College many experienced students who have played in high school bands, and if they would spare an hour each week, we could have a larger and better-balanced band."

BAND MEMBERS front: J. Dancy, C. Parker, H. Hines, Back: J. Helms, B. Lee, J. Pennington, M. McNell strike up the band.

Alumnae House Discloses Past

By Edmonin Leech

Longwood's Alumnae House has been described as the finest and most beautiful building on the campus. From its remarkable Federalist architecture, to the dark richness of its antique furnishings, the House is a building of which the alumnae can be justly proud.

Origin of House

Known formally as the Duvall House, the building has a long and useful existence. More than 120 years ago, B. M. Robertson bought the land on which the house would later stand, from Joseah Chambers on March 30, 1837.

The next item recorded about the house was its sale to Francis H. Robertson in 1840. In 1857, Francis H. Robertson sold the house to W. P. Rice, the father of Miss Minnie Rice (professor of Latin at Longwood for fifty-five years). Miss Rice was born in the house on December 5, 1861. The house changed hands twice more before 1904 when it was bought by W. M. Duvall.

Used as Dormitory

On July 2, 1917, the "State Normal School for Women" at Farmville bought the house and it was used as extra dormitory space until it was rented by the Misses Mary Clay, Winnie, and Helen Hiner. In 1954, Dr. Lancaster offered the house to the alumnae of Longwood College. The Executive Board accepted the offer, and the contract became effective on July 1, 1955.

The Alumnae House Committee immediately began to make plans for its renovation, hoping to move into it by September 15, 1955. In its renovation, the house received fresh painting, new draperies and slip covers, upholstering, and kitchen equipment.

Interior Is Unique

Upon entering the house, one is immediately impressed by the attractive color scheme — pastel green carpeting and beige - gold wall covering in the entranceway, green walls in the receiving room to the left, and parlor to the right. The parlor, a memorial to Miss Minnie Rice, contains beautiful antique furniture, of the Victorian period, given by Miss Rice's niece, Lucy Rice English ('07) and her family. The pieces of furniture include a sofa, a large what - not, and chairs, including a gentlemen's chair and a lady's chair. The portrait of Miss Rice, painted by Julia Mahood, which formerly hung in the library, is now over the mantel in the parlor.

The dining room, which is connected to the parlor by way of a broad arch, is furnished with double pedestal dining room table, six chairs, and a Duncan Phyfe side board given by the Washington Alumnae Chapter.

Antiques Displayed

On the second floor are four bedrooms and a bath. The bedrooms are furnished with lovely reproductions and antiques given as gifts to the house. The bedroom to the right of the corridor at the head of the stairs is furnished with a suite of Florentine design given by Harriet Booker Lamb and her brother, Elliott Booker Jr., in memory of their mother, Jessie Whitmore Booker. General Grant and possibly General Lee slept in this bed at some date in its earlier history.

Alumnae Office

On the ground floor, or basement, is located the Alumnae Office. Here records and newspaper files are kept of all girls who have graduated from, or attended Longwood since 1884.

Since its opening, the Alumnae House has had a very busy career. Not only alumnae, but guests of the college, including many distinguished visitors, have been entertained there. Miss Lucille Jennings, a former faculty member of the Longwood English Department, is now serving as hostess in the Alumnae House, welcoming visitors and making arrangements for guests. There is no charge to alumnae or to college guests who wish to stay at the house. It is a home on campus for former Longwood students.

Timely Topics

President Finishes Trip, Disaster Hits Morocco

By Frances Harnsberger

President Eisenhower's trip to South America is drawing to a close. Leaving Washington February 22, Eisenhower went to Puerto Rico first, then to Brazil, where he was warmly greeted by the crowds of people lining the parade routes. Buenos Aires was the president's next stop on February 26, where the people had recently booed Mexico's president. Eisenhower, however managed to get the crowd's welcome by flashing that famous grin. In Montevideo, Uruguay, hostile demonstrators by leftist students marred the festivities. However, these demonstrations were put down by the police, and the reception for Eisenhower was friendly. The remainder of the president's trip is being spent in Puerto Rico, where Eisenhower is resting before going back to Washington. Mrs. Eisenhower did not accompany her husband to South America; instead, she went to a beauty resort in Arizona to rest and relax.

Agadir, Morroco, a seaside city, was hit by a series of earthquakes late last Tuesday, and it is feared that over 12,000 persons died in the resulting chaos. The town has been sealed off, so that rescue and clean-up operations could procede as rapidly as possible.

The General Assembly has been spending the past few days in clearing the calendars of routine legislation. The House has passed the much-debated supplemental budget, and has sent the measure to the Senate. The General Assembly is expected to wind up its 60-day session the end of this week.

Virginia's second major snowstorm of the season arrived late Wednesday and Thursday. Snow has covered all of the state, for the second time in two weeks.

Princess Margaret Rose of England isn't going to be a spinster after all. Her engagement to Antony Charles Robert Armstrong-Jones was announced last week by her mother, Queen Elizabeth. All Great Britian was overjoyed at the news. Armstrong-Jones has been the official court photographer for several years.

Crown Prince Akihito and his wife, former commoner, Crown Princess Michiko, have a son, born last week. He has been named Naruhito Hironomiya and will someday inherit the Japanese throne.

Swim Meet

Swimming meet chairmen, Julia Hollyfield and Wendy Warren, urge that all students who are interested in the swimming event, sign up immediately on the A. A. bulletin board next to the wires.

Students not enrolled in a swimming class must complete eight rec swims in order to be eligible.

A request has been made from those in charge, for each student to keep a list of her rec swims in order that she may receive full credit for her efforts.

Church News

By Marjorie Freese

Catholic

During Lent, there will be a morning mass on Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays at 7:00.

Union Vespers

On Sunday, March 13th, at 7:00 p.m., Union Vespers will be held in the sanctuary of the Methodist Church. The Methodists and Baptists are sponsoring the service. A movie on marriage will be shown. It is called "The Charming Couple." A panel discussion of the subject of marriage will follow the movie.

A supper will be held at 6:00 in the Methodist fellowship room for all the students attending the service.

If you plan to attend the supper, please sign your name on the list posted on the church bulletin board.

Baptist

On March 9th, there will be a special program on Annie Armstrong at the BSU Center. A special Mission Offering will be taken at this time.

There will be a Freshman Council Meeting at the BSU Center on March 14th.

Longwood Team Gains 1-1 Record

Longwood's varsity basketball team racked up a 1 to 1 record against Westhampton College in a two-game contest played here Saturday, March 5.

Westhampton won the first game by a score of 59-27, and Longwood took second game honors 41-37.

Carolyn Thorpe, co-manager of the team, commented "The Westhampton team was very good with exceptionally tall guards."

So far, Longwood's varsity team has a won-lost record of 2-2. The second team is still undefeated.

The William and Mary and Madison games, which were postponed because of bad weather, will be rescheduled this week or the week following.

DISCUSSING PROPS FOR PAGEANT BACKGROUND. L. Booth, J. Savage, B. Brantley, C. Gorham, P. Davis and H. White confer over a William and Mary Pennant.

Swimming Meet Plan Allows For Support

By Gayle Arnn

The fuel of enthusiasm and participation that has for many years kept the wheels of class sports turning was greatly depleted when the time for the annual class swimming meet rolled around last year.

As a result, Longwood was forced to discontinue its competition for the color cup in the field of swimming. Even so, interest in the sport was not completely extinguished, and this year another effort is being made to revive class swimming competition.

Date Set

April 7 is the date set for this year's swimming meet. Will it be successful? This is the question that Wendy Warren and Julia Hollyifield, co-chairmen of swimming meet, are asking themselves. These two girls are shouldering the responsibility of the success of the entire program. They have already formed the basic blueprint for the swimming meet, and now their primary interest is getting the participation and support of the students.

Meet Requirements

Eligibility for the swimming meet is not difficult to attain, the only qualification being that a person must attend eight rec swims or be in a swimming class. It should be emphasized that one does not have to be an excellent swimmer or an extremely fast swimmer. Also it will consist mainly of teamwork rather than individual competition. Heretofore, many students have refrained from participating because of misconceptions about these aspects of the meet. With their misconceptions rectified, it is believed that participation and interest will increase.

So far, there are seven categories of competition planned for the event. They are bobbing, diving (plain, front, jack-knife, and optional), the fifty yard medley relay, the fifty-yard free style, the pajama relay, the twenty-five yard breast stroke, and the twenty-five yard back crawl. There will be equal representation for both reds and greens, and a first, second, and third prize will be awarded. These prizes will capture 5, 3, and 2 points respectively for the color cup. Everyone who is interested must sign up immediately on the A.A. bulletin board.

Judges for the event will be Hannah White, Nancy Donaldson, Barbara Brantley, Beverly Kersey, and Miss Dowd, while Cherry Ghorham and Helen Wente will undertake the responsibility of being life guards.

Recognition should certainly be given to Wendy Warren and Julia Hollyifield for the time, enthusiasm, and effort that have gone into the planning of this program. Both girls, H20 and Cotillion Club members, have devoted much of their time to instructing swimming and life guarding for the past few years.

Wendy has summarized her philosophy about swimming in the following statement: "I feel everyone, no matter how small or how big, how strong or how weak, may find success in swimming." Wendy and Julia feel that this swimming meet will help stimulate an earnest interest in swimming. They urge any student who can swim to please go to the rec swims and become qualified for the meet. The present and future success of this important event will depend upon you, the student body!

"SPECIAL"
Sheaffer Student Pens
$3.93 Value For 98c
MARTIN
THE JEWELER ! ! !

Beauty Unlimited
AT KOURY HAIR
STYLIST
at the
Dorothy May Shop
EX 2-5481

Honorary Society Gains New Members In Recent Ceremony

Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, recently initiated twelve new members.

Those initiated were Mary Elizabeth Bonner, Sandra Carter Booth, Nancy Olinger Caudill, Sandra Leigh Clements, Anita Page Davis, Jean Carolyn Fairfax, and Barbara Pennington.

Also, Callie V. Johnson, Lindy Lee Landsdown, Nancy Gordon Martin, Barbara Ellen Moore, and Helen de Shields Rilee.

A short business meeting and refreshments followed.

Audience To Witness New Water Program

By Carolyn Elliott

Spectators will witness a new and different type of aquatic program this year as three Virginia colleges meet with Longwood to present a "Swimposium". The actual pageant will include costumes and backdrops fitting in with the theme.

Visiting schools, which include the Norfolk division of William and Mary, Hollins, and William and Mary will present a variety of numbers. Twenty-five to thirty guests are expected to participate in the show, and they will spend Friday night of the pageant here at Longwood.

Pennants representing the different schools will be the main feature of the backdrops. Sides of the pool will be enclosed in black draperies reflecting silhouettes of diving figures and dolphins. An abstract column which represents Longwood's Rotunda will be on the side opposite the pennants.

Contributions Varied

Longwood's presentation includes four numbers, the 'first being a quick, gay number, "Las Chiapanecas". The costumes for this Mexican tune even include sombreros. Featured in this act are Mary Byrd Micou, Arlene McKay, Beverly Kersey, Sue Caravella, Claudia Wilson, and Wendy Warren.

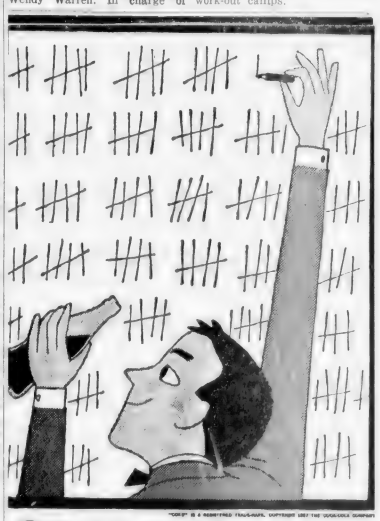
Next will follow a trio performing to "Indian Country Side" from "Around the World in Eighty Days". Patsy Skellie, Hannah White, and Cherry Gorham are the stars. "Fascinatin' Rhythm", a modern jazz number will feature Nancy Donaldson and Carol Matthews. Many new stunts make up the final number, "I Love Paris". The quartet of swimmers featured are Lonnie Robinson, Julie Hollyfield, Jo Ann White, and Ginger Culpepper.

Committee heads include: greeting, Bonnie Keys and assistant Dixie Hilliard; backdrops, Page Davis and her assistant Jo Savage; costumes, Julie Hollyfield with assistant Wendy Warren. In charge of music will be Mary Lee Gray and Sandra Lee Jones and Khaki Turner; programs, Barbara Brantley and assistant Jane Freeman.

Other committee heads include props, Ruth Tally and assistant Melissa Rowe; lighting, Gerry Lodwick and assistant Jean O'Connell; publicity, Annis Murphy; cues, Helen Wente. In charge of entertainment for the performers after the two shows are Lou Booth and assistant Mary Kay Rice.

The pageant will be presented Friday, March 25. Two performances will be given—the first at 7 p.m. and the second at 9. Tickets will be on sale for thirty-five cents.

ACC Basketball Fascinates Fans



Continuing to capture basketball fans' attention are the last games of the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament.

First place North Carolina felt an upset when Duke hurdled a 71-69 win over the leading team. Howard Hurt led the Blue Devils to victory by scoring six straight points in the last quarter, giving Duke a win over a team which defeated it three times during the regular season.

Another victory for North Carolina came when the top team crushed the undermanned Cavaliers 84-63. This proved to be one of the biggest upsets in Atlantic Coast Conference tournament history.

Second place Wake Forest survived second half scares to win the afternoon doubles in their openers. Having a national rating of 18, Wake Forest clipped Clemson 74-59. Len Chappell, the top man for the Deacons, scored 24 points and grabbed 15 rebounds.

A brief preview of the coming baseball season shows that most teams across the nation have begun training in summer work-out camps.

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Statistic!

The other day our vice president in charge of good news announced that someone, somewhere, enjoys Coke 58 million times a day. You can look at this 2 ways:

Either we've got an incredibly thirsty individual on our hands. Or Coca-Cola is the best-loved sparkling drink in the world.

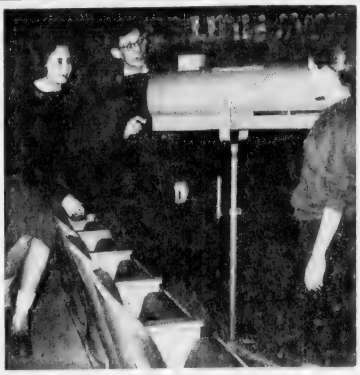
We lean to the latter interpretation.

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Drink Coca-Cola

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.



AKG Gives New 'Spot' To Jarman

Alpha Kappa Gamma has chosen for its main project this year the purchasing of a new spotlight for Jarman Hall.

AKG is a non-profit organization which sponsors various activites throughout the year to raise money to invest in some item needed by the college. This year Longwood students' 25 cents admission to Circus bought the spotlight. Last year AKG bought a new set of flags for Jarman Hall. Another annual project of the group is making contributions to the college endowment fund.

The president of AKG, Barbara Bishop, says that the new spotlicht is an excellent addition to the lighting system in Jarman. It is a small, compact spot, yet more versatile than the former one. It can follow performers anywhere on stage, and is adjustable to form a small head spot, or it can be enlarged to illuminate the whole stage.

The new spotlight is a much-needed one, and will be used for the spring play, Circuses, assemblies, and other events.

FULFILLING THE AKG PROJECT OF THE YEAR, members Barbara Bishop and Connie Goodman present a new spotlight to David Wiley in Jarman Hall.

Job Interviews Attract Seniors

The following people will be at Longwood College within the future to interview seniors for jobs:

March 10, Mr. Aylor, Superintendent, Frederick County Schools; March 14, Dr. Sisson, Richmond City Schools; Mr. Blanks, Langley Base School, Langley Field; March 15, Mr. Rhodes, Queen Anne County, Maryland, and March 16, Mr. Moffett and Mr. Haegle of Newcastle, Deleware Schools.

Also, Mr. McCray, Richmond Quartermaster's Department, will talk to mathematic and secretarial students; Mr. Watkins, Martinsville City Schools; March 17, Mr. Hickman, Milford, Deleware Schools.

LC Orchesis Group Plans Carolina Trip To Exchange Ideas

Eight members of Orchesis, Longwood's modern dance group, have announced plans for a trip to Greensboro, North Carolina, for the weekend of March 12.

The students plan to attend a meeting of dance groups from various colleges for the purpose of exchanging dance techniques. Orchesis is presenting the middle section of a three-part dance.

The tentative list of Longwood students who will attend is composed of Gretchen Latchford, Lena Kay, Carol Nye, Janice Harris, Norrish Munson, Sandra Watkins, Laverne Collier, and Dona Marquette.

The students, accompanied by Mrs. Landrum, plan to leave Longwood Friday morning, March 11, for the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina where the meeting will be held.

Records, Records, Records

Top Ten Tunes

1. Theme From "A Summer Place"
2. Wild One
3. He'll Have To Go
4. Baby
5. Beyond The Sea
6. Forever
7. Beatnik Fly
8. Little Bitty Girl
9. Baby What Do You Want Me To Do?
10. Harbor Lights

Wilson's Home & Auto Supply

Panhellenic Initiates Junior Pledge Group

A Junior Panhellenic has been organized at Longwood. The group will include for its first members, girls that pledged sororities in spring rush.

Develops Allegiance

"On many campuses a Junior Panhellenic, made up of pledge representatives, helps the pledge members to develop, from their earliest days of fraternity affiliation, a keen sense of the special responsibilities as campus citizens which fraternity membership entails. It also fosters a constructively cooperative relationship within the College Panhellenic, which sponsors it."

Wilson To Supervise

Dean Wilson, who will supervise this group, feels that it will instill in new pledges a spirit of cooperation among groups and between sorority and non-sorority women.

Neil Ward, a member of Panhellenic, is chairman for the junior group.

The members are: Alpha Gamma Delta, Ruby Slayton and Dona Marquette; Alpha Sigma Alpha, Sara Decker and Carol Buckner; Alpha Sigma Tau, Mary Lou Plunkett and Sandy Little; Delta Zeta, Barbara Gray Martin and Ann Agee; Kappa Delta, Linda Parker and Wistie Rochelle; Sigma Kappa, Mary Lipscome and Beth Goodwin; Sigma Sigma Sigma, Rosa Petit and Ann Green; Zeta Tau Alpha, Eleanor Fowler and Betty Stack.

These girls will meet three times prior to their initiation. One topic of discussion will be ways of improving the rush procedure.

Spring Play

(Continued from page 1)

to Cecily is played by Patsy Ann Scott. Her romantic intentions toward Dr. Chausable, the Episcopalian minister, portrayed by Alan Stein, leads to many moments of uncontrollable humor.

No play is complete without its butler and maids. Algenon's butler, Lane, is the role for Hampden-Sydney's Ben Morgan and Mr. Worthing's maid, Merriman is played by Neal Banks. They are both assisted by the maids, Bobbie Caples, Addie Richardson, Nancy Prodel, and Barbara Gray Martin. The extended stage, the revolving flats and white furniture set the scene for a frivolous mood.

Back Stage Managers

Found making last minute checks on the nights of performance are the director, Mr. David Wiley and assistant director, Judy Stokes. Stage manager is Ginnia Chapman; makeup will be done by Emily Shelton; costumes by Annie Lee Young; lights, Ann Mixon and Mary Lou Wood; props, Cecil Kidd; scenery, Liz Eller and Lee Burnette.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8:00 p.m. for the price of $1.00 for adults, $.50 for students (Longwood girls admitted free) you can find out the real "Importance of Being Earnest."

Student's Special

Shaeffer Cartridge Pen

98c

SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

AKG Auction

AKG will sponsor an auction on April 4 at 7 p.m. in the main rec.

In the past, certain school privileges and faculty entertainment have been auctioned. Save your money and prepare to have a good time.

Admission is only ten cents. Proceeds will go to the Endowment Fund.

Faculty News

Members of the English department have participated in a number of professional meetings.

Dr. James Wellard, associate professor of English, spoke to the Forum Club of Hollins College on "Politics in the Middle East." Present at this meeting was Dr. Bessie Carter Randolph, president - emeritus of Hollins and former history professor at Longwood.

David Wiley, assistant professor of speech and drama, presided over a meeting of the Virginia Speech and Drama Association at the University of Virginia. He also spoke during a panel discussion on "Evaluating Dramatic Values." Mr. Wiley is finishing a one-year term of office as president of the VSDA.

On the same program of the VSDA, Miss Lucy Ann Dunlap, instructor in speech and English, participated in a panel discussion of "Radio, Television, and Public Relations."

Dr. Richard K. Meeker, associate professor of English, will attend a meeting of the Southern Humanities Conference to be held at Hollins College March 17-19. The general topic for the conference will be "What Lies Ahead for the South?"

Rotunda Floor Work Begins Next Monday

Beginning on Monday, March 14, workmen will start work on the Rotunda and first floor halls, tearing up the old flooring and putting in new.

Following the flooring job will come painting, rewiring, and finally the refurnishing of the Rotunda. The entire job will take approximately six weeks. During this time, the Rotunda area will be completely blocked off and access to the administration offices will be curtailed to a minimum.

Faculty and students are asked to use the following routes beginning next Monday morning:

Dining Hall Access

Access to the dining hall will be through the side doors leading from both porches. Cunningham and Tackey Alley residents please use the west entrance; Ruffner, Tabb, Post Office, and Student Building residents please use the east entrance. To reach the east entrance the latter group will have to go through the back doors of Tabb and Post Office.

Access to the Main Rec will be through the Smoker immediately following meal hours, and through the outside doors at all other times.

The Home Office facilities will be moved to the west end of the Virginian room.

The only front entrance to be used after six o'clock will be the one leading into the business education wing. All visitors will use this door.

Classes Rescheduled

Classes normally meeting in classrooms 21 and 22 will be rescheduled elsewhere. Announcement of the alternate location will be made in class.

Access to classes meeting in the Post Office wing and access to the post office itself will be through second floor Ruffner into second floor Post Office and then down the stairs or the back door.

Access to all offices may be practically impossible at times. However, every effort will be made to carry on business as usual. Please visit these offices as little as possible, using the telephone when feasible.

All the fore-going will mean a great deal of inconvenience. However, the end results are guaranteed to please and to increase everyone's pride in Longwood College.

Founders Day

(Continued from page 1)

closed by announcements and the Alma Mater accompanying the recessional.

Mrs. J. Spencer Burger will preside at the Alumnae Association Business meeting, at which time Dr. Lankford will also be present to remark on the business at hand. Following this meeting, there will be the Alumnae Luncheon in the college dining hall. The members of the Granddaughters Club will take the guests on a tour of the campus, after which the day will be highlighted by an open house from 4 until, 5 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lankford.

After dinner in the college dining room, the week-end will be closed by another presentation of "The Importance of Being Earnest" and the class reunion meetings.

SENSATIONAL RECORD BARGAIN

GET Campus Jazz Festival

—the Hottest Jazz Record In Years

For Only $1.00

—and 2 VICEROY Cigarette packages!

WHAT A RECORD!!

10 GREAT JAZZ NUMBERS

Martians' Lullaby — March Of The Toys
Royal Garden Blues — Just A Mood
Shine On Harvest Moon
Erroll's Bounce — St. James Infirmary
Ciribiribin — Tin Roof Blues
When The Saints Go Marching In

PLAYED BY YOUR FAVORITE ARTISTS

Benny Goodman — Louis Armstrong
Erroll Garner — Shorty Rogers
Jonah Jones — Duke Ellington
Ben Webster — Red Norvo
Bob Scobey — Buck Clayton
Vic Dickenson
Rex Stewart
Dukes of Dixieland

Hurry! Hurry! Get this truly great jazz record at a low, low price, while the limited supply lasts! Record features your top favorite Jazz Instrumentalists—the winners in a national popularity survey of American College and University Students. Send for Campus Jazz Festival today. Use coupon below!

ACT NOW! CLIP ORDER BLANK!

BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORPORATION
Box 355
Louisville 1, Kentucky

Please send me postpaid ____ record(s) of the Special VICEROY CAMPUS JAZZ FESTIVAL. Enclosed is $1.00 (no stamps, please) and 2 empty Viceroy packages for each record ordered.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ Zone _____
State _____
College or University _____

Offer good only in U.S.A. Not valid in states where prohibited, taxed or otherwise restricted. Expires June 10, 1960.

Support AKG Auction

The Rotunda

Attend H2O Water Pageant

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va. March 23, 1960 | No. 15

Southworth To Lead Future Senior Class

By Nancy Lechler

Pat Southworth, a junior physical education major from Fredericksburg, has been elected by the Class of 1961 to serve as their senior class president.

"My happiness at being selected as senior class president cannot be expressed adequately in words. I realize the responsibilities that this position entails and will endeavor to do my utmost to keep the Class of '61 on top."

Sports Minded

Pat plays varsity basketball, tennis, and served this year as co-captain and manager of the varsity hockey team. She has attended the Tidewater Hockey Tournament, her sophomore year playing on the Tidewater team for the Southeast Tournament. This year she was on the Southeast reserve team.

PAT SOUTHWORTH

Pat is a member of the Monogram Club, the AA Council and the Student Education Association. She is also an active member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority and the Cotillion Club.

During this previous year, Pat has worked as the junior class vice-president. She has always been very active in all class activities, Circus and productions.

Despite all of these extracurricular activities, Pat maintained a Dean's List average from last semester.

Peggy Blackwell, a history major from Remo was elected vice - president of the Senior Class. Sue Gosnell, an art major from Arlington, will serve as secretary, and Bobbyee Bolster, a math major from Roanoke, will be treasurer.

Student government representatives are Doris Tolley, a chemistry major from Natural Bridge, and Hank Speakman, a math major from Ordinary.

Junior Leaders

Becky Tuck was elected as the junior class president. Becky is an elementary major from Greensboro, North Carolina.

Vice-president is Peggy Green, a history major from Newport News. Mary Leach Elmore, an elementary education major from Charlotte, North Carolina, is Treasurer.

Pat Hickey and Ellen Powell will serve on Student Government. Pat is from Richmond and majors in elementary education. Ellen, from Emporia, majors in history.

Sophomore Class

Beth Goodwin will lead the sophomore class next fall. Beth is an elementary education major from Chester.

The new vice - president is Wisty Rochelle, an English major from Lynchburg. The secretary, Carol Buckner, is from Richmond and majors in business education. Eleanor Fowler was elected to serve as treasurer. She is an art major from Newport News.

The new Student Government representatives are Niki Fallis, from Danville, and Judy Pollard, a business major from Richmond.

Announcement

Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss requests that all campus items which clubs or individuals wish to have included on the Calendar of Events be submitted regularly.

These items must be sent to the office of the Associate Dean by noon on Tuesday of each week.

May Day Lists

Ann Mixon, chairman of May Day, announces that the lists for dances and skits for the spring event have been posted next to the wires.

All students wishing to participate in the festivities are requested to sign their names under the section in which they wish to take part.

The list will be posted only a short while, so names must be signed as soon as possible.

Editors Appoint Literary Heads For New Staffs

1960 - 61 Colonnade and Virginian staffs have been announced by their respective editors.

Mary Lee Warriner, editor-in-chief of the Virginian, the Longwood yearbook, has appointed Carolyn Oliver, a junior, to the position of assistant editor. Carolyn was editor-in-chief of the 1959-60 Virginian. Business manager for the new yearbook will be Martha Gray Shirley, another junior. Martha Gray's assistant will be sophomore Mary Rob Harris.

Sophomore Peggy Green will act as literary editor, assisted by another sophomore, Carolyn Elliott. Lee Burnette, a sophomore, has been appointed art editor. Freshman Eleanor Fowler will act as assistant in illustrating the book.

Vanetta Remaine, a freshman, will be photography editor, and junior Sandra Ferebee will be assistant photography editor.

Junior Becky Wooldridge will serve as head typist.

Senior representatives on the staff will be Dottie Brown and Page Davis, and junior representatives are Jean Bass and Mary Leach Elmore. Delores Antoine and Wanda Barnett are sophomore representatives.

Colonnade Staff

Editor-in-chief of the college literary publication, LaVerne Collier, has announced that sophomore Judy Detrich will serve as managing editor of the Colonnade. Last year Judy worked on the magazine staff as poetry editor.

Edmonia Leech, also a sophomore, has been appointed short story editor. She was formerly a member of the editorial staff.

A junior, Lillie Rogers, will assume duties as poetry editor. Lee Burnett will also head the art staff of the magazine.

Nancy Morris, a junior, has been appointed essay editor for the 1960-61 issues.

Minor Officers Voted To Serve 4 Organizations

The Student Body recently elected the minor officers for the four major organizations.

Working with the new president of the Student Government Association, Ann Hardy, are Joyce Odom, vice - president; Mattie Blewett, secretary; and Jo Savage, treasurer.

Page Davis, president of House Council, will be assisted by Beverly Kersey, vice-president, Ann Howell, Secretary; and Fran Gallahan, treasurer.

The new YWCA officers aiding Cherron Kelley are Wirtley Raine, vice - president; Nancy Pretty, secretary; and Nedlee Chapman, treasurer.

Leading the Athletic Association is Mary Hite Grayson with vice - president, Barbara Brantley; secretary, Trina Childress; and treasurer, Sandy Phlegar.

Novel Auction To Aid LC Endowment Fund

Save your pennies, for on April 4, from 7 to 8 p.m., the main rec will be the scene of a benefit auction sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Auctioneers, Robert Merritt, J. H. Wamsley and David Wiley, will take bids starting at ten cents for privileges which students will take delight in exercising.

The three recipients of one privilege, for instance, will be served breakfast by a faculty member. The high bidder of another offer will be allowed to designate a day on which Charlie Hop will wear a red tie.

Approximately 25 privileges will be bidded. Seventy-five or 100 students, however, will be included in the privileges.

The proceeds from the auction will be donated to the Longwood Alumnae Endowment Fund. Last year AKG raised $618 to contribute to the fund through a campaign among the school organizations.

The Endowment Fund needs $25,000 to yield interest from which Longwood can offer fringe benefits to its faculty. The benefits will include such items as a group insurance policy, a low rent housing project, and will appeal to professors of the highest caliber who would otherwise reject Longwood's offer or accept a position in industry.

The Alumnae Association is the only source from which funds of this type may be appropriated. The state does not finance its schools with the money to offer professorships on such an attractive and competitive basis.

Each chapter of the Longwood Alumnae Association has a quota to reach in the long range project. About $3500 has been raised to date, with the Farmville chapter being the only chapter to reach its quota.

The money collected at the AKG auction will be an investment towards a higher academic rating for Longwood.

H2O Club Performs 'Fascinatin' Rhythm'

COTILLION HEADS, L. Fentress, K. Holland, K. Key, A. L. Young and M. P. Lewis, plan for spring formal.

Carlyle To Set Pace For Dance Week End

Russ Carlyle's eleven piece orchestra and vocalist combination will set the pace at this year's Cotillion Club dance to be held Saturday, April 9, from 8-12 p.m.

Carlyle, who was a vocalist with Blue Barron's Orchestra for several years, also makes records and composes songs. Cited by Billboard Magazine as one of the nation's top five vocalists, he makes a hobby of record collecting and has about 2,000 by a variety of different musicians. Carlyle uses his vacations to relax on his farm where he writes songs and entertaining revues to be used in his orchestra's performances.

Varied Engagements

Carlyle's has been one of the favorite orchestras to have played at Virginia Beach's Cavalier Beach Club. He has been featured there on Fourth of July week ends for several years. He and his group have also played at the O' Henry Ballroom, The New Martinique and the Aragon Ballroom, all in Chicago, the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans and several places in New York, to mention just a few of his group's outstanding appearances. Carlyle is popular with college groups also, and has entertained at Notre Dame, Perdue, University of Omaha, Kansas State, and many others.

He is booked for next June's Rhodedendron Festival in Asheville, North Carolina, and for numerous other dances and festivals in the near future.

Committees are at work on the overall dance plans. Handling the publicity is Keaton Holland, while Carol Lassiter is dance chairman and has charge of the decorations. Working with Carol are Lee Burnette, Betsy Joyner, Laura Butler, Charlotte Haile, and Bobbyee Bolster, who is in charge of lights.

The other committees are as follows: band, Mary Pem Lewis; figure, Annie Lee Young; invitations, Liz Fentress; program, Katherine Key; and party after the dance, Archer Cassada and Glenna Snead.

Boggs Announces Summer Session

Dean Earl R. Boggs announces that the summer schedule for the 1960 session has been arranged.

The three, six, and eight-week period courses include plans for graduate and undergraduate students.

Summer session begins June 20. This will be a three-week course for graduate and undergraduate students. The eight-week course for graduate students will also begin at this time and carry through until August 13. On July 11, the six-weeks courses begin. They also end on August 13. The three-week period ends on July 8.

Those working for a Bachelors and Masters degree, or teachers who want to renew, validate, or improve teaching certificates, and those who want to accelerate their college program, may come to summer school.

The subjects taught will be in the fields of art, biology, business education, education, English, geography, health and physical education, history, home economics, library science, mathematics, music, natural sciences, psychology, and sociology.

History Offered

The Pi Gamma Mu chapter of Longwood College has materials concerning the history of the college and its organizations available to students.

This includes such things as a small library of books, pictures, letters, and various other papers on file. This material is located in the Pi Gamma Mu room, which is directly across from the post office.

Anyone wishing to use these sources may do so by contacting a member of Pi Gamma Mu.

New Talent Adds Flavor To Program

By Mary Byrd Micou

A light-hearted aquatic production of "Fascinatin' Rhythm" on March 25 at 7 and 9 p.m. in the college pool will culminate weeks of work by members of the H2O in preparation for the spring water pogeant.

In spite of last-minute changes and additions, "Fascinatin' Rhythm" will offer poolside viewers a number of attractions and improvements over previous water shows presented on this campus.

Plans Changed

Contrary to earlier arrangements, the show will feature only one other college swimming group, twelve girls from the Norfolk Division of William and Mary. Accompanying the Norfolk Division girls will be their adviser, Mrs. Beverly Burton.

Norfolk Division and Longwood swimmers will perform to fascinating rhythms from all over the globe. The Division will contribute four numbers, including a trio in an aquatic version of "Jungle Drums" and a synchronized presentation of twelve swimmers performing to Poinsianna."

Donaldson To Solo

Longwood performers will add to the continental flavor of the pageant with a watery interpretation of a military march, a Mexican feature complete with sombreros and a lively ballet version of "The Last Time I Saw Paris." Longwood will also feature Nancy Donaldson in a solo performance to the English ballad "Greensleeves". Other highlights of the show are a trio swimming to music from the "India Countryside" and a group interpretation of "I Love Paris."

The unusual jazz nautiography of "Fascinatin' Rhythm" will conclude Longwood's part in the water show. The finale will bring both groups together in a mass production to the music of "Harbor Lights."

Musical Backdrop

The backdrop for the pageant will feature musical staffs on a solid background, with the two

(Continued on page 3)

Campus Groups Select Officers

Gamma Kappa Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional women's fraternity, unanimously elected Jane Pennington, a sophomore piano major from Buckingham, to serve as president during the coming year.

Other officers for the coming year are: Helen Brame, vice-president; Ann Ranson, secretary; Frances Tune, treasurer; and Nancy Evans Cobb, chaplain.

Melissa Reese will serve as correspondent with Janet Underwood assuming the position of editor.

Library League

Longwood Library League has elected its new officers for the coming year.

They are: president, Ann Ranson; vice-president, Laura Carson; secretary, Betty Jo Shelton; and treasurer, Gayle Arnn.

Why Deface Property?

What is it that impels a student to deface property? Is it an uncontrollable urge to have one's name, class, or favorite organization scratched someplace where it would not ordinarily be seen? Or is it something regressed from childhood when our parents would not let us write on our living room walls.

Whatever the reason, it is inconceivable that students of college age should have so little respect for property, that they take instrument in hand and mark things around them. The elevator in South Cunningham appears to be the focal point of attention. It has only been within the last few weeks that the problem has grown worse.

It began with harmless signs taped up advertising various things. These served as good reminders to students, but now the signs no longer appear . . . they have been replaced with modernistic pencil marks and hieroglyphic-like scratches. If the college was considerate enough to furnish a dormitory with a convenient, modern elevator, certainly those who rely upon using it should be considerate enough to help keep it in good condition.

If we are to continue to be provided with attractive, as well as useful facilities, we must do our part in proving that we deserve them. When we deface, we degrade not only the article but also ourselves. Other's opinions of people who write on elevator walls are identical to the ones of people who write on public walls. The words that appear may be different, but they are all motivated by the same force.

There is an old adage which would be good to keep in mind as a reminder to our own self-respect, if nothing else. "Fool's names, like fool's faces, are often seen in public place!" The word "fool" may seem strong, but what can better describe someone who destroy's the things from which she benefits.

Students Cite Assembly

The unfavorable opinion students have expressed recently in regard to Tuesday assemblies is a matter which warrants attention. If the students see the need for improvement, surely something can be done to make the assemblies more appreciated.

Perhaps more student participation in assemblies would create a better attitude. Our campus has enough organizations and willing students who would be glad to make a project of providing an assembly program which would appeal to their fellow students.

The forum on presidential nominations, for example, would have been a good student participation assembly. The student body would have not only been informed on a current vital issue, but would also have been interested in the student campaigners and what they had to say.

Planning and taking the responsibility of assemblies would be a worthwhile experience for the students. It would also be a means of expressing the educational and cultured values that college has brought them.

The students, in presenting the programs, would benefit themselves in contributing to the interests of fellow students. The audience, at the same time, would feel as though they were more associated with the program. Both the performers and the audience would feel a bond of closeness and respect for each other which cannot be obtained from a strange lecturer and student relationship.

People, particularly young people, are always interested in their peers. There is a certain respect for one's associates which exists in practically any group. No doubt this interest and respect could be displayed in assemblies if the students have more opportunity to observe their peers. The achievements and abilities, in themselves, exhibited by fellow students would command concern and influence.

Of course, assemblies should be varied. With more programs in which the students take part, however, the attitude toward the regular Tuesday program could change from one of drudgery to one of pleasure.

—P. F. H.

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 168

Sandra Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Joann Kleinecke ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lechler ..... News Editor
Judy Detrich ..... Feature Editor
Mary Byrd Micou ..... Sports Editor
Pat Hurst ..... Desk Editor
Linda Siddurth ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Case ..... Circulation Manager
Janet Stanley, Janet Wainwright ..... Advertising Managers

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class), Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating first class)

NEWS STAFF: Sandy Bryant, Assistant News Editor; Edmonia Leech, Assistant Copy Editor; Carol Kent, Assistant Sports Editor; Ann Agee, Assistant Desk Editor; Columnists: Frances Harnsberger, Kay Hubbard, Staff Reporters: Jane Bowman, Charlotte Conway, Betsy Lippincott, Mary Shuler, Cornelia Watson, Jane Macrina, Pat Bacon, Betty Dove, Ann Reed, Susan Lamy, Cathy Ann Dawson, Jane Young. Exchange Editor: Jane Hudgins Goodman

CIRCULATION STAFF: Circulation Assistant: Vanessa Manager, Sue Ellen Sites, Jan Beasley, Jane Bowman, Kaye Byrd, Jan Beckner, Sara Bowman, Susan Bushong, Dorcas Ayscough, Jo Ann Cole, Becky Dunlap, Barbara Ann Lee, Nancy Ann Patterson, Dale Sadler, Frances Judy Giles, Sue Hutchinson, Dede Ireland, Linda Lewis, Mary Ann Sandoval, Susan Lamy, Mary Ann Mayo, Sue Stewart, Wendy Payne, Gale Mary Bob Barnes, Sumner Hughes, Sally Pleasants, Phyllis Sanders Buckingham.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

Letters To The Editor Concern Clocks, Music

Dear Editor,

Out of curiosity this evening I asked the simple question, "What time is it?" The answers I received (all of which were supposed to be official) varied as much as ten minutes on either side of 6:30. This made me wonder what time others had. so I took a five minute poll and found times varying as much as twenty minutes! What is one to do? You can't possibly go by the library clock —all sides are different and not one of the four coincides with the business hall clock (the one I understand, the school is supposed to go by).

How many of us have been locked out of classes or lectured to because of tardiness? Even the professors don't have the same time!

Can the girls of North, Main and South Cunningham be expected to run over to the business office hall every morning before breakfast to check on the time — then wait for classes to begin or dash because they're late to find it "out of order" according to one professor?

Can something be done—and will it be done? Will everyone be notified? Until then I ask, "What time is it?"

A Sophomore

Dear Editor,

Someone once said, "Time is valuable." I agree, but I am beginning to wonder if people who make clocks feel the same way. I realize that clock mechanisms are intricate and can readily see why they can, at times, differ as to what is the correct time, but must every clock on our campus stay in a constant state of argument?

There are, to my knowledge, no two clocks on Longwood's campus that have the same time. In fact, I was amazed the other day when I found that two out of the four faces on the library clock differed. The other two, I might add, were alike, but were five minutes fast. Surely, it isn't too much to ask that four sides of the same clock have the same time.

After being late to my eight o'clock classes twice in a row, I decided it must be the fault of my clock radio. I reset it according to NBC and the next morning found myself sitting in psychology class at least ten minutes before my professor even came. It may be good psychology to beat your professors to their early classes, but my temper disagreed—especially when I was late to my next class because my nine o'clock professor's watch was five minutes faster than my other professor's.

All this timetable talk may seem very confused, but so am I. Confused, that I never seem to be on time no matter what clock I go by. I suggest that something be done before we find ourselves late for something that cannot adjust to a faulty time schedule.

Confused

Dear Editor:

Many students who have been concerned about the music in the dining hall feel that a letter to you would be the best approach to the problem. It is not the music itself, but rather the selection we are complaining about. Meal time is supposed to be a time of relaxation and enjoyment, but one is hardly able to properly digest her food if she has to continally eat it to the sound of hammering drums and banging cymbals.

We appreciate classical and chamber music and feel that it is fine in its place, but we also feel that the music for a dining hall should possibly be of a lighter vein. Such semi-classical artists as Gershwin and Mentavanni might prove more adequate. We realize that the music being played does appeal to some students, but we feel that in order to appeal to everyone, a variety should be played. This may be the opinion of a few, but we hope the problem will still be given consideration.

Interested Students

March Wind Brings Fun, Travel, Pins

By Kay Hubbard

With the coming of spring a young man's fancy usually turns to thoughts of love. While snow was still covering the ground and spring was close on winters' heels, Charlie Jackson of Norfolk had a premature case of spring fever. He surprised Gracie Bottino with a diamond not long after she arrived home for the week end. Charlie is a graduate of William and Mary in Norfolk and is now teaching junior high school.

Also realizing the approach of spring was another Norfolk boy, Hugo Burton. Hugo, a student at VMI, pinned Betty Jean Cliatt after her recent trip to Lexington.

Carol Boley and Charles Rideout became pinned on Saturday night. Charles, who is from Newport News, is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha at Hampden-Sydney.

Log "Drag"

Featured in each issue of the LOG at Annapolis is the "Drag of the Week". ("Drag" in Navy dialect means "date.") The March 4 issue featured Dottie Brown as "Drag of the Week." this being the first time to our knowledge that a Longwood girl has been chosen. Accompanying Dottie on her last trip was Linda Davenport.

Medical College was host to Ruth Denton several seeks ago while at the same time VMI was playing host to Doris Tolley.

Traveling to VPI, where the snow was still piling up, were Peggy Tyre and Ginny Van de Reit.

Carole Beckner crossed the state lines to visit NC State College recently, while Brenda Dod and Betty Wood were having a good time at Lexington.

Seniors Give Advice, Reveal Past Wishes

What I wish I had known as a freshman

Jean O'Connell

The month before my freshman year, I, Jean O'Connell, asked this same question of my older college friends, and they told me two things. First, to budget my time; second, to keep my studies above my extra-cirrucular activities. This, as I think most seniors will agree, is something we learn by experience and pass on as advice to those following us.

JEAN O'CONNELL

I regret that I did not keep up with current events. If not by reading the daily or weekly newspaper, perhaps by watching or listening to a daily television or radio newscast. I wish I had dressed appropriately for all activities including classes, lyceums, assemblies, dances and dorm activities.

I wish I had practiced what manners I had as a freshman and tried to improve them especially in such places as the dining hall. I wish I had taken greater advantage of the educational opportunities offered at Longwood. As I get ready to teach, I realize how much better preparation I could have had, if only I had made the effort.

I further wish I had appreciated the interest that most professors have shown in their classes and students. The most helpful suggestion to me my freshman year was to enjoy what I did and to use my adventurous mind. This I pass on for what it is worth.

Chris Wilson

When you first look at the title one thinks, "Goodness, it would take all night to tell you," but stop a minute to think. Probably the first ideas would deal with budgeting one's time and studying properly.

CHRIS WILSON

In talking with other seniors, a major problem seemed to be dissatisfaction with their selections of majors, and a desire to have majored in another field, because of more job opportunities. Others felt they could have profited greatly from a more broadening general education. These problems have not bothered me, Chris Wilson, as I am very satisfied with my curriculum.

Many seniors expressed a need for refresher courses in typing and shorthand, I being among them. We have found that a little high school training in these subjects is insufficient.

Although extra-curricular activities play an important role in education, many of us wish we had known when to say "No, thank you" to membership invitations. We realize now that we should have assumed a little more responsibility at times and refused positions that might have hindered our scholastic and extra-curricular achievement.

I wish I had known many things as a freshman, but even so, experience is the best teacher and my experience can benefit others only to a limited extent. We must all live and learn, in doing so, however, enjoy it!

Doris Kesling

As the end of college days draws near, there are always things which one wishes had been evident as a freshman. But then, teaching is based on experiences, and through our mistakes we can profit.

DORIS KESLING

The most important thing which I, Doris Kesling, wish that I had known as a freshman is how to budget my time. I wish I had planned my time so that I could get the essential things done, and in doing so would have had much more time for the things I just wanted to do. This is not just a problem in college, but will be evident throughout life. Also, I wish I had known how to study more effectively, and been trained to seek out the outstanding facts and distinguish them from secondary ones.

The enjoyment of your college days, and the ability to profit from your mistakes, and others, comes the closest to being the most sterling advice for a college freshman.

Dale Preddy

If I had only been aware of certain things as a freshman, I could have avoided many trying situations. For instance, if I had known how to successfully complete two majors, an academic and an extra-curricular, many of my problems would have been solved.

DALE PREDDY

Also, if I had known before now, how to sit inconspicuously through my eight o'clock classes with my eyes closed, I could have enjoyed more of my classes. Unfortunately, however, certain knowledge comes only after experience. Learning how to judge what your professors will emphasize on their tests and whether you should study one night or one week for these tests, illustrates what I mean.

There were many things that I was forced to learn very quickly: which mornings I had to clean the room for the house mother's inspection; how to remember to check the dining hall menu in advance so I could save enough money to eat in the Tea Room; and last, how to write a term paper in one night.

But even though I am a sagacious senior, I am still puzzled about one thing . . . how can I sunbathe on the roof all day and still attain the Dean's List?

Timely Topics

Finch-Tregoff Case Stops Present Jury

By Frances Harnsberger

Last week the United States launched Pioneer V, a space satellite which will become part of the solar system approximately April 1, when the gravitational pull of the sun will take over. This satellite has a powerful transmitter which is powered by solar batteries, and will continue to transmit data to earth as it continues on its journey around the sun.

The General Assembly ended its regular session last week. The members stopped the clock so that last minute legislation could be taken care of. The general budget for the next two years was passed.

President Eisenhower stated last week that he will back Vice-President Nixon if he makes a bid for the presidency.

The jurors in the Finch mystery were deadlocked and could reach no decision in the Finch-Tregoff murder case. A new trial is expected to be held in May, with a new jury. Carole Tregoff has been freed on bail while her companion, Dr. Bernard Finch, remains in jail.

Virginia had more snow. Schools and business places were closed again during March 17 in Virginia's third major snowstorm. The snow melted rapidly, however.

The ninth major airplane crash in 1960 claimed 63 lives. The plane exploded in mid-air over Indiana on Thursday, March 17. The flight was to terminate in Miami. No apparent cause has yet been found.

At Geneva the Soviet Union has offered to sign a treaty with the United States banning atomic tests if the United States and Great Britain agree not to have underground atomic tests.

La Paz, Bolivia, was the scene of a short rebellion staged by a national police regiment which rebelled against the government Saturday. Loyal forces surrounded the rebels who surrendered after a half-day fight. The rest of the country remained calm.

Bears Maintain Basketball Title, Upset Buckeyes

The Bears of California successfully defended their right to maintain the NCAA Championship Crown in basketball when they defeated The Buckeyes of Ohio State 77-69 Friday night. This meeting matched the top defensive club against the top scoring team in the nation. Ohio State averaged 91.6 points as the nation's leading scorer, while no team has been able to crush California's defense and ability to set the pace. During this game two All American basketball players — Darrall Imhopp of California and Jerry Lucas of Ohio State—faced each other.

Bradley captured the National Invitation Basketball Tournament Saturday in a game won over Providence 88-72. Bradley, trailing near the close of the game, successfully sped up its pace to win the victory. Utah State won third place by defeating Bonaventure 99-83.

Closer to the home front, the Hampden-Sydney Tigers landed two players, Gil Sayers and Leon Hawker, on the All-Little Eight team of the Associated Press. These players were selected by coaches representing Little Eight schools.

Basketball Team Finishes Season With 6-2 Record

Now that Longwood's varsity basketball team has officially ended the season, a review of scores from the eight games played reveals six games won and two games lost.

Starting off the action on February 5 with Roanoke, Longwood came through with scores of 63-39 in the first game and 56-13 in the second. Next, on February 20, Longwood dropped her first game with Lynchburg 44-39, but redeemed herself with a 59-37 victory in the second. On February 25, Longwood took Hollins 66-37 and 35-16 and finished out the season on March 5 with a 59-27 loss to Westhampton in the first game and a 41-37 win in the second.

Games with William and Mary of Williamsburg, and Madison of Harrisonburg were postponed and eventually cancelled because of the snow.

LONGWOOD BOWLERS, J. Driskill, D. Scarbrough and P. Jones, revive popular sport at Farmville's Bowl-A-Rena.

89 Achieve Dean's List For Superior Scholarship

Eighty-nine students made the Dean's List for outstanding scholarship during the Fall semester of the 1959-60 session.

To gain the honor, a student must have an academic average of 2.50 or above, with no grade lower than a "C".

Those on the Dean's List are: Sue Agee, Nancye Allen, Janet Anderson, Gayle Arnn, Carolyn Axsom, Beverley Barrett, Barbara Lee Bishop, Justine Blount, Carol Boley, Sandra Booth, Anne Bradley, Lee Burnette, Martha Burrough, Laura Carson, Nedlee Chapman, Anne Clarke, Patricia Cleveland, Sylvia Cogville, Barbara Ann Cole, June Costello, Carolyn DeHaven, Ruth Denton, Ellen DuPuy, Anita Eanes, Claire Floege, and Donna Frantzen.

Also Audrey Gill, Frances Gillespie, Carolyn Goodman, Jean Gordon, Cherry Gorham, Joyce Anne Grizzard, Ann McDonald Grogan, Sherrie Haskett Margaret Henry, Dixie Hilliard, Peggy Hooper, Callie Johnson, Elizabeth Johnson, Christine Jones, Mary Lee Jones, Rebecca Jones, Alice Joyner, Nancy Knight, Roberta Koons, Susan Lane, Rose Marie Lawrence, Beverley Lowery, Janice McClenny, Arlene McKay, Linda McPherson, Carolyn Madrin, Patricia Marsh, Jeanette Metcalf, Mary Byrd Micou, Nancy Mills, Mary Ann Montague, Nancy Morris.

Also Norrish Munson, Gloria Newton, Brenda Parsley, Paulita Patterson, Jean Peyton, Jean Pollard, Dale Preddy, Barbara Rossiter, Anne Howell, Linda Jo Saunders, Betty Simmons, Emily Smith, Jo Dearing Smith, Marie Smith, Ann Snyder, Pat Southworth, Nancy Speakman, Susan Stalnaker, Pat Sweeney, Elizabeth Taliaferro, Julia Holland Terry, Joann Tench, Jo Ann Garner Wagstaff, Julia Waldo, Tae Wamsley, Yvonne Webb, Alice White, Julia Williams, Christine Wilson.

Faculty News

Dr. Richard K. Meeker, associate professor of English, and Mrs. Ruth S. Taliaferro, assistant professor of business education, were delegates last week end from Longwood College to the meeting of the Virginia Conference of the American Association of University Professors in Richmond. Subject of the meeting was "Financing Higher Education." Dr. Meeker is serving a three - year term as secretary-treasurer of the Virginia Conference.

Foster B. Gresham, assistant professor of English, will attend a meeting of English teachers of District E of the Virginia Education Association in Danville on March 26. Mr. Gresham, who is executive - secretary of the Virginia Association of Teachers of English, will help this group to formally organize as a district affiliate of VATE.

Dr. R. C. Simonini, Jr., chairman of the English department, will attend the Tenth Conference of English Teachers at the University of Virginia on March 26. Dr. Simonini is editor of the "Virginia English Bulletin," official publication of the Virginia Association of Teachers of English.

Class Basketball Brings Increase In Color Points

By Carolyn Elliott

Competition for the color cup continues as red and white vies with green and white in the annual color cup race. The team holding the larger number of points throughout the various activities is the final winner.

Previous Victories

In the two class basketball games played, the freshmen won over the juniors by default; however, the two teams participated in a practice scrimmage. The sophomores landed a victory over the seniors, presenting a two-two tie for both teams. Class captains are: freshmen, Gibby Britt; sophomores, Keaton Holland; juniors, Gladys Patrick; and seniors, Jean Gardy.

The next game, in which the freshmen vie against the sophomores and the juniors battle the seniors, will be played Thursday.

There is also a tie for points in the class volleyball games that have been played. The juniors and sophmores won over the freshmen and seniors respectively. Lindy Hatch is captain for the freshmen, Lois Peters, sophomores; Sandra Ferebee, juniors; and Joyce Spencer, seniors.

The next games, the freshman-sophomore game and the junior-senior game, will be played Wednesday.

Bowling Craze Gains Longwood's Interest

By Gayle Arnn

"It hasn't been too long a time since my Uncle Ben Morton climbed the stairs out of a dark and cigar-smoked basement bowling alley in Buffalo, New York, and waded through the winter night's snow and slush to patiently wait at the nearest corner for the trolley car and a rumbling ride home after a rowdy bowling session against the team from "Heine Mueller's Meat Market."

These were the words of Norman Myers, a business professor here at Longwood, and one of Farmville's many ardent bowlers. Leaning back comfortably in his chair, and gazing nostalgicly into space, he continues to speculate :"I wonder why at my uncle thinks of, along with George A. Obenauer, one of the past presidents of the American Bowling Club, as they remember the 'good old days' when, in 1895, the ABC was born in their hometown. Today, well in his 80's, Mr. Obenauer can stand in the middle of the Thruway Lanes and see 64 bowlers in a row, lining up to roll the first ball of league play, nearly any time of the day or night—it's open 24 hours.

"Yes, the oldtimers of bowling can see with us Richmond's Sunset Lanes on West Broad—32 lanes, just four months old—and the 24 All-Star Lanes at Salem. Another $1,140,000 establishment is under construction at McGuire Circle."

From Mr. Myers's own personal account above, it is certainly obvious that the sport of bowling is in no danger of a decline in popularity; rather, it is a fast-growing sport with a universal appeal to its four-fold benefits: sport, amusement, recreation, and healthbuilder. It exercises practically all the muscles of the body and can be played throughout the entire year by the members of the youngest through the oldest generations.

This apparently contagious fever that gained its major foothold in the U. S. after World War II, is fast becoming cosmopolitan. In Britain, where bowling has in the past faced vocal opposition, 14 gleaming lanes have been installed with automatic equipment early this year in London's Super Cinema, an ancient theater center. The grand opening brought the following toast from Lord George: "In two years England will be covered with bowling lanes. I'm quite convinced that bowling will be a palliative to all the evils we have in the world today."

Longwood Bowl

Shifting focus to the more familiar territory of Farmville, we discover that the bowling bug has hit the girls at Longwood just as it did Lord George.

Participation has been high so far, and it is expected to increase. Both ten pins and duck pins are available at Farmville's Bowl-A-Rena. In view of these and other factors, Mr. Myers has forecast a bright future for the sport of bowling at Longwood. If the girls continue to enthusiastically support the game, he believes that sometime in the near future a new and more modern alley will be established in Farmville.

Activities Fees Pay For Bowling

A portion of the student activities fees which Longwood students pay each year is now being used to provide free bowling for every college girl.

Every Monday night from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m., students may use the bowling alleys. They must, however, either rent standard bowling shoes or carry their own gym shoes.

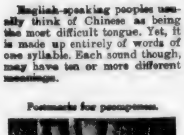
This privilege requires the students' active participation to keep the alleys going. If there is sufficient interest, the privilege will be permanent.

Pageant

(Continued from page 1)

ends of the pool decorated with silhouettes of the countries represented in the show. An arresting color scheme will center around red, black, and white. Programs have been designed to follow the theme.

The choice of a general theme has allowed a wider variety of music, and several synchronized stunts have been incorporated in the production which have not been attempted in previous water shows.

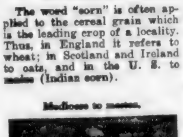


A party for all students working in the water pageant will follow the second performance and will give the swimmers a chance to evaluate swimming techniques and exchange notes as well as enjoy refreshments and a social hour.

Students attending and performing from Norfolk Division are Carol Culpepper, Susan Hodges, Faith Holmes, Carolyn Kehoe, Sandra Sculley, and Gail Deason.

Fanciful Facts

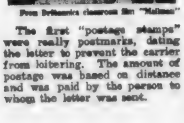
by Robert C. Preble, President
ENCYCLOPAEDIA BRITANNICA



One syllable words are the hardest.

From Britannica Film "Children of China"

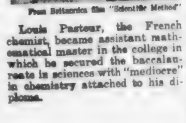
English-speaking peoples usually think of Chinese as being the most difficult tongue. Yet, it is made up entirely of words of one syllable. Each sound though, may have ten or more different meanings.



Corn isn't really corn at all.

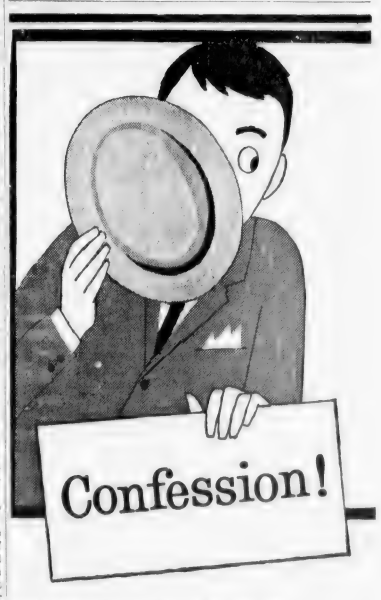
From Britannica film "Corn Farmer"

The word "corn" is often applied to the cereal grain which is the leading crop of a locality. Thus, in England it refers to wheat; in Scotland and Ireland to oats, and in the U. S. to maize (Indian corn).



Postmarks for passengers.

From Britannica classroom film "Mailmen"



The first "postage stamps" were really postmarks, dating the letter to prevent the carrier from loitering. The amount of postage was based on distance and was paid by the person to whom the letter was sent.

Mailboxes to mention.

From Britannica film "Scientific Method"

Louis Pasteur, the French chemist, became assistant mathematical master in the college in which he secured the baccalaureate in sciences with "mediocre" in chemistry attached to his diploma.

We'd like to admit right here and now that the main reason we run advertisements like this is to get you, dear reader, to drink Coca-Cola to the virtual exclusion of all other beverages. The sooner you start going along with us, the sooner we'll both begin to get more out of life.

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Dorm Decorations Reflect Interests

By Sandy Bryant

How many times have you been told that Longwood is your home - away - from - home? It seems hard to believe in September when one enters her bare dormitory that this is to be her "home" for the next eight months. Within several weeks, however, most of the students have brightened the rooms with colorful bedspreads, draperies, and beloved old stuffed animals. Each room reflects the interests, personality, and taste of its occupants.

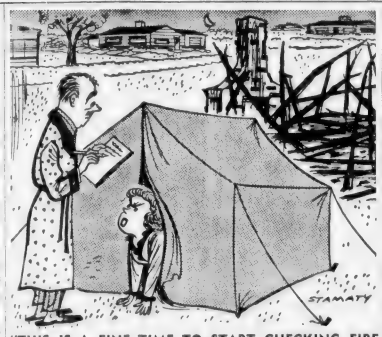
Jungle Decor

Joyce Ellis and "Foo" Lassiter, who live in South Cunningham, have chosen a jungle theme in decorating their room. Carrying out this theme are bamboo curtains. They are flanked by dark green draperies which serve as a contrast to the lighter green walls. Several paintings of jungle subjects decorate the walls, one of which Joyce herself painted.

Perhaps the most unusual feature of this room is Joyce's bed. It has been converted into a tester bed by use of wooden "posts," and a white bedspread which serves as the canopy. Under the canopy at the head of the bed is a tree branch. For more jungle atmosphere, a shrunken head hangs from one limb, and a green snake dangles from another. A stuffed leopard crouches in the fork of the branch. Joyce says that people often ask her how she sleeps at night.

Joyce and "Foo" also have what they call their clock stand. Between the beds, which are placed end-to-end, is a board which holds their alarm clock. Out of a television stand and a large piece of wood, the girls have made a small table which is accompanied by a small green-covered stool.

For an air of elegance, Gloria Newton, a freshman on second-floor "Tackey Alley," has wall-to-wall turquoise carpeting. She also has tiered curtains of a cotton floral print which cover one entire wall. Reproductions of French paintings decorate her walls.



College Pad

Susan Hayley and Rachael Wood have used a beatnik decor in their South Cunningham room. They have taken the head and foot boards off the beds and pushed them together on the floor. A long, low black table is on one side of the beds which serves as an all-purpose table. To hold the record player and records is a black stand with several shelves which stands in a corner. Travel posters of Paris and Germany decorate the sliding closet doors, and a modern painting is suspended from the ceiling. A large black cushion for lounging is on the floor, and a conga drum stands beneath the window. The yellow walls are decorated with bulletin boards and pictures.

Unique Accessories

Aside from the usual pennants of certain colleges, and bulletin boards overflowing with dried flowers, contemporary cards, newspaper clippings, football game tickets, post cards, cartoons, play programs, and decorations from a certain party or dance, some students have added other accessories.

One room has its own "fresco." When workmen plastered up a hole in the wall, the students decided to try their hand with fresco painting. The work of art is entitled "Sophisticated Nude," and the title is explanatory.

"THIS IS A FINE TIME TO START CHECKING FIRE HAZARDS."

Beorc Eh Thorn Features Guest

Mrs. Florence R. Richardson, accountant in the business office of Longwood College, will be principal speaker on March 24 at a meeting of Beorc Eh Thorn, English honor society. Mrs. Richardson's topic will be "General Semantics and Shakespeare."

Material for Mrs. Richardson's talk will be drawn from her master's thesis written at Longwood. General semantics is a relatively new field of study dealing with the influence of language on human behavior.

Although the principles of general semantics were first codified in the twentieth century by the Polish-American educator Alfred Korzybski, Mrs. Richaardson will point out that the characters, plots, and language of Shakespeare's plays provide us with some of the best examples of the kinds of responses people make to the linguistic signs and symbols around them.

Renovations Include Changes In Library

During the summer of 1960, workmen will begin carrying books from the Longwood library to the elementary school building, which will be the temporary library while construction is taking place on renovations and an addition to the present library. The construction, which will take about twelve months for completion, will give the library an overall floor space of 25,000 square feet and will increase the total book capacity from 80,000 to 130,000 volumes.

The major change in the existing structure will be the removal of the stacks and relocation of the stairs which are presently situated to the left and right inside the library entrance. These stairways, which lead to the ground floor, will be built in the area where the stacks are now located. Except for this the front of the library will remain uncharged.

The circulation desk will be moved from its position directly in front of the doors, but will be kept in the lobby. The reserve book and reference rooms will have an entirely new lighting system and will be redecorated. The exhibit room, or browsing room, on the ground floor, will be redesigned. The entire building will be air-conditioned, and a new heating system will be installed.

The most important item in the plans will be the three floor addition which will be located behind the present building. This addition will be joined to the old building so that there will be one main floor running continuously from the entrance of the library, back through the new building. There will be a large floor above this and a ground floor below.

All three floors will be devoted to shelving and reading areas. All books will be on open shelves, and there will be seating space for over 450 readers. The furniture in the reading areas will consist of regular library tables, informal groupings of lounge furniture, individual study tables, and carrells.

On the main floor there will be a new room for microfilm, and on the ground floor there will be a number of seminar rooms, rooms for group discussion, and several small areas for typing.

The architect's tentative drawings are on display in the lobby of the library.

'Comparative Education' Chosen As KD Pi Theme

By Lillian Young

Kappa Delta Pi is the National Honorary Society in Education. Its purpose is to "encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards, to recognize outstanding contributions to education . . . and to quicken professional growth by honoring achievement in educational work."

The Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi was founded here at Longwood May 21, 1928. Dr. Richard B. Brooks is the chapter's counselor. Membership is limited to juniors and seniors whose grades are in the upper quintile.

Their theme for the year is "Comparative Education." In line with this theme, Dr. Wellard spoke at the November meeting on "Education of Women in Iran." Dr. Taplin presented a talk on "Education of Women in Italy" at the January meeting, in which month the annual banquet was also held. There, Dr. Howard Bryant, Regional Representative of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, gave a speech entitled "The National Defense Education Act, and Its Implications for Teachers."

On March 22, the Kappa Delta Pi's are presenting the assembly program, which will be a convocation. The speaker will be Dr. Anne G. Pannell, President of Sweet Briar College, whose topic will be "The Role of Women in Modern American Education."

Two Longwood members, Marie Smith and Joyce Odom, attended the KDPI National Convention in Chicaga on March 10-12.

Beta Epsilon Chapter officers are Marie Smith, president; Chris Jones, vice - president; Yvonne Webb, secretary; Barbara Rossiter, treasurer; and Joann Tench, historian.

Members include: Anita Eanes, Barbara Ferneyhough, Marie Fisher, Joann Garner Waggstaff, Joan Kidwell, Nancy Mills, Barbara Mitchell, Norrish Munson, Edith Ward, Julia Williams, Bobbie Bolster, Sandra Clements, and LaVerne Collier.

Others are Mary Eustace, Cherry Gorham, Mary Hite Grayson, Anne Hardy, Sherrie Haskett, Peggy Henry, Juliette Highsmith, Bobbie Koons, Jeanette Metcalf, Barbara Moore, Joyce Odom, Judy Owen, Brenda Parsley, Lillie Rogers, Nancy Speakman, and Frances Weaver.

Sororities Entertain New Pledges, Guests

By Betty Rice Dawson

AGD

Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority recently sponsored the movie "Raintree County" at the State Theatre. The profit of $58.81 from this film was given to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

On Sunday morning, March 13, coffee and donuts were served in the AGD room for the alumni who attended the Founders Day events.

Those accepting bids to AGD during informal rush include: Sandra Phlegar, Jean Pollard, Louise Powell, Margaret Powers, Dana Scarbrough, Judy Turner, Martha Warren and Mary Warren.

ASA

The ASA's that remain on campus during the week end attend church together. On Sunday night they prepare their supper and eat together in the room.

Once a month, two ASA's serve as receptionists at the local hospital. This is a part of their philanthropic project.

AST

On February 28, the pledges and their big sisters enjoyed a pizza party. This was held in the [illegible] room.

Tentative plans are being formulated for an Alumni get-together the weekend of April 9.

DZ

[illegible] made for a Colonial [illegible] at Longwood [illegible] April. Carol Brice and Elizabeth Parnell accepted informal bids to Delta Zeta Sorority.

KD

The KD pledges are planning to give a tea for the pledges, advisors, and presidents of the other seven sororities.

Breakfast will be sold Sunday morning, April 10.

Sally Smith accepted a bid to Beta Kappa Delta Sorority during informal rush.

SK

For the monthly Standards program in March, the SK's had a make-up demonstration. Kitty Good demonstrated the proper use of cosmetics.

Those accepting informal bids to Sigma Kappa sorority are: Marilyn Hobbs, Barbara Muehlman, Ann Peters, and Mary Lee Warriner.

SSS

The Sigma's were visited by the regional collegiate director, Mrs. R. J. Spiens this week end. She was honored with a reception on Friday night.

On the first Friday in March, the SSS had a joint supper and dance with the Kappa Sigmas at Hampden-Sydney.

Breakfast is sold on Sunday mornings as a part of the social service project. The profit is donated toward the building [illegible] at the U of NC Hospital.

ZTA

Seven girls accepted bids to Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority during informal rush. They are: Wanda Barnett, Dorothy Fretz, Kaye McKean, Sally Sims, Margaret Vaughan, Norma Wahl, and Carol Wisecarver.

Records, Records, Records

Top Ten Tunes

1. Baby What Do You Want Me To Do?
2. Baby
3. Beatnik Fly
4. Harbor Lights
5. Theme From "A Summer Place"
6. Don't Fence Me In
7. Little Bitty Girl
8. Footsteps
9. Wild One
10. White Silver Sands

Wilson's Home & Auto Supply

Do You Think for Yourself?

(TAKE A CRACK AT THESE QUESTIONS AND SEE IF YOU CONNECT*)

If you were offered a high-paying summer job as an animal trainer, would you (A) insist on small animals? (B) ask for pay in advance? (C) find out why professionals won't take the job?

A☐ B☐ C☐

"Time heals all wounds" is a statement (A) denounced by antiseptic manufacturers; (B) as true as "Time wounds all heels"; (C) that means your mind can build its own scar tissue.

A☐ B☐ C☐

In traffic, when a driver behind you blows his horn, do you (A) go and sock him? (B) wonder what's wrong? (C) hope it'll settle his nerves?

A☐ B☐ C☐

When a pal bends your ear about why his filter cigarette is best, do you listen politely to (A) his chatter about how good it tastes—regardless of how it filters? (B) his remark that the filter must be good because it's new? (C) his comments that both really good filtration and real tobacco taste are important?

A☐ B☐ C☐

Before you buy your next pack of cigarettes, take a moment to think about what you really want. Most men and women who think for themselves have studied the facts about filters and have chosen Viceroy . . . the one cigarette with a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste.

*If you checked (B) in three out of four of these questions, you don't exactly flunk—but if you checked (C), you think for yourself!

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows—

ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER—A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

©1960, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Attend Russian Ring Figures

The Rotunda

Happy April Fools Day

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va. April 1, 1960 | No. 16

Khrushchev To Reign As Queen Of May

AKG Auction To Sell Unique Opportunities

By Pat Hurst

How many times have you wanted to light a cigarette in the dining hall? How many freshmen would like to go to the late movie some Friday or Sunday night?

These are only two of the privileges that will be offered at the Alpha Kappa Gamma auction April 4.

The auction, which is being held to benefit the Longwood Alumnae Endowment Fund, will be conducted in the main rec from 7 to 8 p.m. by Mr. James M. Helms, Mr. Robert Merritt, Mr. J. H Wamsley, and Mr. David W. Wiley.

Approximately 25 privileges, which most students would be eager to exercise, will be auctioned. Seventy-five or more students will be included in the privileges, however. Some of the privileges will have a minimum starting price.

Permission to smoke in the dining hall after a meal, for example, will be auctioned to 20 people.

Twelve Tabb and Ruffner residents will be allowed to attend the late movie.

Miss Elizabeth Burger will entertain three Cotillion members and their dates after the dance next Saturday. Mrs. Earl R. Boggs will be hostess to two other couples after the dance

Seniors who have a car on campus may bid on a free car wash by AKG members.

Two recipients of another privilege will be served pizza, as guests of Mr. Norman Meyers.

Dr. R. C. Simonini will give a piano concert for four other high-bidders.

Miss Virginia Wall will treat two bidders to lunch in the tea room. Three other bidders will be served breakfast at Mrs. Kathleen Cover's.

Surely someone will jump at the chance to ring the dining hall bell 12 times at midnight.

Another faculty member, Mrs. Eleanor Bobbitt, will serve dessert to other high-bidders.

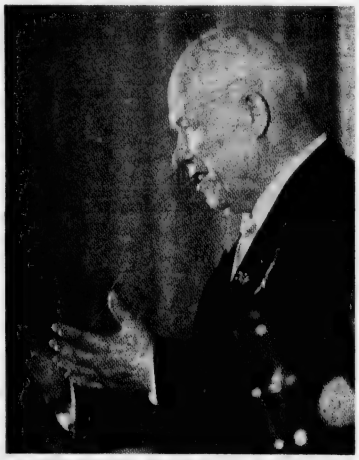
These are only half of the privileges which will be offered at the auction. The others will give a large number of students the opportunity to obtain a privilege.

The Longwood Alumnae Association has a goal of $25,000 to reach so that the interest may provide fringe benefits for faculty members. The auction is a project to raise money to contribute to the fund.

When the fringe benefits are offered, Longwood will attract more well - qualified professors and will enable the faculty to be selected on a more competitive basis.

AUCTIONEERS Mr. Wamsley, Mr. Helms, Mr. Merritt and Mr. Wiley prepare for their roles in the auction to be held by Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Longwood Sends Denton To DC For Conference



Ruth Denton, a senior elementary education major from Abingdon, is now attending the "Golden Anniversary White House Conference on Children and Youth" in Washington, D. C. The State Department of Education selected Ruth to represent Longwood at this conference.

Through this meeting, the United States "will once again give tangible expression to its continuing concern for the health and welfare of its younger citizens."

President Eisenhower convened the conference on March 27 with an opening address.

"This conference will deal with nearly every facet of the growth and development of children and youth, looking ultimately to the time when they will take up their term of responsibility for the social and economic health of our country."

Ruth will return from this conference on April 3.

GRINNING BROADLY, the new May Queen eagerly extends his hands to receive a welcoming spring bouquet of red, white, and blue Forget-Me-Nots.

UVa, Longwood Present Varied Choral Program

By Edmonia Leech

The program of choral music presented jointly by the Longwood College Choir and the University of Virginia Glee Club, on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Jarman Auditorium, began with the reverent mood of "Adoramus Te" and came to a climactic close with "Tudor Moods," poems of the Tudor era set in completely modern musical arrangements.

The two opening selections, "Adoramus Te" and "Bois epais," sung by the Glee Club, were subdued and conservative, in contrast to the other works chosen by Director David Davis, which were strictly in the modern vein.

Following these two choral arrangements, the Longwood Choir entered with three songs of more or less contemporaneous style, beginning with "Ave Maria," sung a cappella. Next in this group was "The Nightingale," a light and secular vocal arrangement, and last (returning to the atmosphere of the first of the three) "The Twenty-third Psalm," with piano accompaniment.

Changing mood completely, the choir next sang three classics in popular music: "Ball Hall," from South Pacific; "So in Love, from Kiss Me Kate; and "I Could Have Danced all Night," from My Fair Lady.

To conclude the first half of the program the Glee Club returned to sing three modern numbers: "Tarentella," by Randal Thompson, Early Rising," by Philip Slates; and "sam was a man," by e. e. cummings.

One of the greatest attractions in these works were the unusual lyrics; the first song describing an inn where the wine tasted of tar and the innkeeper was apparently not greatly perturbed by the presence of fleas and other little insects; the second, a blessing on the man who invented sleep and a rousing curse on him who advised early rising; the third, a very simple epitaph declaring that Sam was a man.

Following a ten minute intermission, the Choir and Glee Clul joined in singing Brahm's "Song of Destiny," directed by Dr. John Molnar and "Tudor Moods," under the direction of Mr. Davis, who also wrote the music for these three drinking songs.

The "Schicksalslied" was the highlight of the performance. With great contrasts in volume and mood, it told with intense feeling the fate of man who is doomed to the suffering of humanity, and of the life of the gods, who know nothing but happiness and serenity and have no thought for the plight of man. Jo Ann Wagstaff and Dodie Webster were accompanists.

"Tudor Moods," the closing selection, ended the program on a happier note, concluding with the appropriate words, "Melancholy hence." The Longwood Choir was particularly amused at the novelty of Longwood Ladies singing drinking songs.

After the performance a reception was given by the choir for the glee club in the main rec.

Juniors Appoint 1960-61 Chairmen

Judy Robertson, a junior art major from Roanoke, and Sue Goznell, also a junior art major from Arlington, have been elected by the present junior class to serve as chairmen of the senior dance.

Dodie Webster, an elementary education major from Fredericksburg, was elected to write the song for the junior class to sing at the senior assembly.

In charge of the party that the junior class will give the seniors is Carolyn Oliver, a junior art major from Crewe.

The class historian and other chairmen will be elected by the junior class at its next meeting

Dell Chosen As Sight Of Jupiter VI Firing

By April Foole

Longwood's May Day will be honored this year by a different type of monarch—Vassily Ivanonitch Carnitch Komess Khrushchev (know to his friends as just plain Sam.)

When the festivities begin this year, Mr. Khrushchev's head will wear the crown. The May Day committe co-chairman were delighted to receive Mr. Khrushchev's acceptance to reign which came this week by carrier pigeonik. They felt that his presence would be a very great drawing card for the celebration, as his picture has been in the papers several times, and he has dabbled in a little Russian politics.

Comrade Khrushchev will take time off from his promotion of a special Siberian Housing project to fly in on his small $2,000,000 Sickle and Hammer Model Jet where he will disembark at the Farmville Airfield. He will be met by a band playing his favorite song, "Let's Build A Stairway To The Moon."

A handsome figure of a man, (52-85-52), the Kremlin's cutie, Mr. K., is quite active socially in the U. S. S. R. He holds membership in the Capitalist Liquidation League, the Society For The Prevention of Democracy, the If - You've - Got - It - You'd-Better - Give - To - Us Association, the Lester Leader League, and serves punch every year at the University of Russia Ring Figures. He is popular with the masses who always vote "Yes" for him in every election.

The May Day theme itself is one set to make Mr. Khrushchev feel more at home. The Dell will be transformed into a small solar system with the aid of much papier-mache, paste, paint, sky, and meteorite bits from the one that fell advantageously on the tennis courts last week. The May Court members are all having their hair cut and set in Bolshevik Bobs and will dress and apply make-up conservatively. The various dance groups will perform to such old time toe-tappers as "Rock Around Russia," the "Stalin Stomp," "Everything I Have Is Yours," and "Moon Over Moscow," among other favorites.

The program will be climaxed by Khrushchev's coronation and the presentation to him by Miss Carthia Whimple of a gold plunger and a box of safety matches with which he will then set off the new satellite, Jupiter VI. The festivities will be closed by an inspection of troops at Longwood and a Women's Victory March down High Street by torchlight.

Although we are aware that Mr. Khrushchev's ideas are a

Continued on page 4.

YWCA Appoints Activities Heads For Fiscal Year

The new YWCA committee heads were recently installed for the year 1960-61 during a candlelight service in the Episcopal church.

The cabinet this year has increased in size due to the growth of the student body. The following girls were elected as chairmen: big sister-little sister, Virginia Kemp and Harriett Brooks; worship, Jeanine McKenzie and Elaine Lohr; membership, Beverly White; music, Libby Predmore and Julia King; public affairs, Mattie Blewett and Ann Ranson.

Also, service, Linda Poff, Ann Durham, Rosemary Henry, and Jean Cloud; publicity, Margaret Vaughn and Scottie MacGregor; Y-sings, Winnie Egolf and Wistie Rochelle; Y-come, Nancy Morris and Page Tolleson; social, Sandy Little and Dottie Nelson; and librarian, Josephine C. Baker.

The ex-officio members are Ann Hardy, Student Government president; Janice McClenney, president of the Baptist Student Union; and the presidents of the Canterbury Club and the Wesley Foundation. The latter two have not yet been elected.

Society To Give John Osborne's 'Problem Play'

Alpha Psi Omega will present on April 30, a three-act play, "Look Back in Anger," by John Osborne.

The cast consists of five main characters. The part of Jimmy Porter, a sensitive young man with a character of many facets will be played by Garnett Smith. Norrish Munson has been chosen to play Alison Porter, and Dr. Wellard will portray Alison's father, Colonel Redfern. The part of Helena Charles will be played by Harriet Hunt, and that of Cliff Lewis will be played by Jerry Good.

The play is termed a "problem play," being neither a tragedy nor a comedy. It is an award-winning, actualistic story with the action taking place in modern times. The play was first presented in 1956 in England, and was the instigator of the "angry young man" movement which has recently come to the forefront.

May Day Heads

Ann Mixon, chairman of this year's May Day program, to be held on May 7 has announced the chairman of the various committees that will help her with the activities.

The following girls will serve as chairmen: may court, Bevery Kersey; dance, Carol Boley; music, Maddie MacNeil; properties, Lee Burnette, and costumes, Brenda Parsley.

Also, programs and publicity, Pat Hampton; transportation, Sandra Freedman; theme and script, Judy Harris; and formal may day dance, Mary Ann Montague.

One Small Voice

When I was a small boy a very wise man once told me a story. It's not a very long tale, but unfortunately it sums up the lives of many of us today.

Once a small boy saw a red wagon in the window of a toy story. The boy wanted the wagon, but he was poor and could not buy it. So he prayed to God and said: "Lord if only I can have this wagon I'll never desire another thing." God heard his prayer and granted it. "And there was evening and there was morning, the first day."

Then the boy went to school, and became obsessed with the idea of grades, so once again he turned his eyes to heaven and prayed: "God please let me get an A in this exam." He got the A. "And there was evening and there was morning, a second day."

The boy fell in love with a wonderful girl. But she ignored him. He begged God for one wish, and then he promised he would ask for nothing more. God granted the prayer, and the boy married his beloved. "And there was evening and there was morning, a third day."

The boy grew into manhood and went out into the world to seek his fortune. But he was not a success. One day as he sat alone and dejected he prayed once more to his God. "Lord if only I could become rich, I would have all I could desire, and I would never ask anything from you again." And lo and behold, all his business ventures began to succeed and he became a rich man. "And there was evening and there was morning, a fourth day."

Then powerful enemies rose up against the man, for he had been cruel and heartless in his dealings with men. So the man turned again to God praying: "Lord, if only my enemies were defeated I could live in peace and do Thy will on earth. That is all I ask." And God granted the prayer, but the man did not change his ways. "And there was evening and there was morning, a fifth day."

And the man had sons, but they were disrespectful and brought shame upon their father. So once again he prayed to his God: "Lord, make my sons to love and respect me, so that before I die they may bring me joy. Truly God, that's all I really want." God heard the prayer, and his sons repented, but the father did not. "And there was evening and there was morning, a sixth day."

The man grew old, and as he lay in bed dying he raised his eyes and cried out to his God: "Lord, you have given me riches, and love, honor and respect from my family. Now, just when I'm beginning to enjoy life you are taking it from me. All I ever wanted was to live. Just grant me that and I will never ask for more. Take back my riches, but grant me Life." God heard his prayer. "And on the seventh day God finished His work which He made; and He rested on the seventh day from all His work which God in creating had made."

—Myron Hyman
Muhlenberg Weekly

Promises

It's an interesting thing to note how many promises we make a day. There are the inner promises we make to ourselves, saying, "I'll get it done for sure tomorrow." Or, "Today I think I'll be especially friendly to that little girl I don't like in my English class—maybe I'll find out I like her after all." We plan to do these things to broaden our scope of inner self . . . wholeheartedly we think and decide that that's what we need to do . . . and we promise ourselves we'll get it done.

Other promises are outwardly spoken to our friends. These are the ones we can get caught in if we back down. How many times have you heard, "But you promised, and I was depending on it." Too bad, we forget again, but don't worry, we'll do all right. There are still a few hours left, we'll get it done. It may cause a little inconvenience for everyone, but they won't mind, they'll understand.

Before falling asleep at night we lie in bed thinking about the day. How good it was, or how bad . . . how lovely, or how sad. It worries us because we seem to remember more of the bad than the good. We realize that we could have prevented some of the sad, and turned it into something lovely, but we didn't. For a few minutes we wonder why we didn't. Was it because there wasn't time? Or, was there just a lack of incentive? But that's all right, we promise ourselves we'll decide in the morning, then get it done.

We recall the past . . . the many things we tried, failed, and finally forgot. They seem so far away until they arise unexpectedly, reminding us of our forgetfulness. Then, once again we make a little promise. This one we make sure we keep. No more going back on our word. We arrive on time, do our errands, rush back and announce our results, only to find we've forgotten the main thing. Oh well, we did everything else, we'll finish up early tomorrow. When morning comes we sleep.

Promises . . . how many do we really keep?

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. [illegible]

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (being first place), Columbia Scholastic Press Association (holding first place).

Entered as second class matter at the Post office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1931. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN on CAMPUS by Bibler

"ONE CONSOLATION ABOUT TEACHING FRESHMEN— WITH ANY LUCK YOU WON'T HAVE THE SAME GROUP NEXT YEAR."

Letter To The Editor

Assemblies, Lyceums Offer Enlightenment

Dear Editor:

Assemblies and lyceums are required, not because the administration wants to see us suffer, but because they know that the programs offered on Longwood's campus are the best potential source of cultural enlightenment.

Assemblies and lyceums are required because it's easier to stay in the dorm (and it's been proven that you would); but it's better to go to Jarman.

Assemblies and lyceums are required so that we may develop our minds—socially and culturally—not so that we may increase our vocabulary of profanity and our hours of sleep.

Required assemblies and lyceums are flops because of the students who go to see them. An artist can feel, can see, can tell, when his audience is not with him. By listening—whether you understand, whether you disagree—you will be participating. The more you listen, the more you will understand, and the better the artist will be. An artist can not give a good performance to a bad audience! Even if you hate the subject, search . . . hunt with a fine toothed comb for something you like, agree with, are interested in. Even get mad. But show a little politeness!

When the audience begins to show the proper respect due a performer; when the audience begins to learn how to participate, then the programs will improve. The school will be able to offer better programs, and all social restrictions will be lessened. If the students at Longwood can't show a little social maturity in Jarman Hall, how can they be expected to show maturity anywhere? Let's face it . . . they don't. But that's another story.

Longwood students would be better off if they were required to go to everything; from lyceums to meals to meetings to all programs (not a day goes by that there is not some scheduled activity for the benefit of the students) to classes to extracurricular activities to bridge games, bull sessions and events on other college campuses.

If, just for a short while, students were required to go to everything from heaven to hell, then they'd realize what a college was for; they'd see how much they don't know, how much they once thought they knew, how much they need to know. They'd learn not to voice their ignorance, but to listen to intelligence—how unusual that would be!

I'm human. I hate assemblies and lyceums too; but not because of that poor, mistreated program on the stage—because of you. You are the ones who can make our programs valuable.

Be broadminded about assemblies and lyceums. You can be narrowminded outside of college. But for four short years, you can open your mind a fraction, and see if there is something new around — something else around that you might possibly consider to accept as good.

Thank you,
Addie Richardson
Senior

Spring Vacation, UVa Week End Yield Diversions

By Kathryn Hubbard

Spring vacation brought Naval Academy Midshipmen to Longwood, and gave many girls cause to go home to see their favorite beaus who were home from Tech and H-S.

Pinned this week end by Midshipmen were Carol Nye and Barbara Muehlman. Carol is now pinned to Jim Scherocman from Cleveland, Ohio, and Barbara is pinned to Chad Pennington from Texas. Both boys are in the class of '63 at the Academy.

Alumni

Alumni of the University of Virginia were welcomed back to the campus with special parties and games. Featured this week end was the traditional Alumni-Student football game which ended in a 6-6 tie. Combo parties were held by most of the fraternities and a special party was held Saturday in Alumni Hall.

Among those in Charlottesville to welcome the alumni back were Bonnie Keys, Ellen Grady, Betty Ann Harrell, Barbara Dunnavant, Sue O'Hara, Jean Dancy, Lina Fippin, Judy Welch, Mary Alice White, and Judy Harris.

Also, Mary Lee Marriner, Iris Wall, Becky Tuck, Margaret Tatterson, Pat Sadler, Sarah Lampton, Pat Morgan, Maxine Lewis, Jane Freeman, Virginia Ferguson, Laura Butler, and Diane Snow.

Others included Jane Price, Sally Myers, Sandra Little, Virginia Kemp, Peggy Grosch, Mattie Blewett, Sarah Buston, Sue Agee, Lena Kay, Tinsley Crump, "Butch" Cutler, Norma Wahl, Mary Lou Plunkett, Elizabeth Purcell, Barbara Malone, Wanda Barnett, Joan Barnett, Joan Wood, and Frances Whitten.

Honors Papers Unite Work With Interest

By Sandy Bryant

Four Longwood College undergraduates, Sandra Clements, Pat Cleveland, Nancy Morris and Nancy Speakman, are busily working on their honors papers this semester. The three juniors and one senior have had their preliminary reports approved by the Honors Committee and are now gathering notes, doing research and completing the papers.

Sandra Clemments, junior history major from Glen Allen, has chosen as the title of her research, "The Novels of F. Scott Fitzgerald as Social and Economic Histories of the Twenties." Sandra became interested in this topic last year after reading Fitzgerald and studies on the twenties. After talking with Dr. Marvin Schlegel, who is now her sponsor, Sandra decided to enroll in the honors course.

Last summer, she read three novels and many magazine articles of the period, and began taking notes. She has now written the beginning and the end of the paper and hopes to complete the major note-taking this summer. Sandra says that she is "very enthusiastic" about the work so far.

Pat Cleveland

A senior from White Plains, N. Y., Pat Cleveland is doing her research in the field of history, her major. The subject of her paper is Queen Elizabeth I. Pat's purpose is to understand the queen in her own environment through Machiavelli's Prince.

The idea came from a term paper Pat did for her European History class. Under the sponsorship of Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, Pat began her paper last year and worked all last summer on it. She has now gathered all of her notes, and is writing the final paper.

English Honors

Nancy Morris is a junior English major from Darlington Heights. The topic of her paper is "American Negro Poetry: A Critical analysis." She became interested in this subject after writing a term paper in her American Writers course. After talking with her sponsor, Dr. Richard Mecker, her idea was approved by the Honors Committee in January.

Nancy is now investigating other work done on this subject, and so far, she has found no books written on the subject, and no research except for articles in periodicals. Her paper will consist of an analysis of six Negro poets which include James Hughes, Countee Cullen, and Paul Laurence Dunbar. She plans to do the major portion of work this semester and next. Already, Nancy has a shoe box of notes.

Spiders - Individuals?

A junior biology major from Ordinary, Nancy Speakman has chosen spiders for her topic. "Hank," as she is called, proposes to show that "spider webs demonstrate the individuality of spiders." It has already been proven that all spiders of a species use the same web design as long as the environment permits. Now "Hank" wants to show that individual spiders leave evidences of individual traits or idiosyncrasies in their finished webs.

"Hank" plans to design cages and devise methods for keeping spiders alive during the winter. She is learning to photograph webs, and plans to drug some of the spiders to study results. Because spiders are abundant in late summer, "Hank" will do much of her work this summer while she works at a Girl Scout camp.

According to Mr. Robert Merritt, her sponsor, "Hank" has been interested in spiders since she was a freshman.

The honors program was begun at Longwood College in 1930. The courses are designed for capable students who wish to further their study of a specific subject by means of extensive research.

The candidates must present a preliminary report to the Honors Committee which is composed of Dr. Francis Simkins, Professor of History and Social Sciences, who is the chairman, and several other faculty members.

If the report is approved, research is done and the final paper is completed. According to Dr. Simkins, an open session is then held at which time the candidates answer questions concerning their papers which are asked by a local faculty member and several visiting scholars from other schools.

Students in all departments of the College are eligible to participate in the honors program.

IN WRITING THEIR HONORS PAPERS, Pat Cleveland, Nancy Morris and Sandra Clements make use of library facilities for their research.

'If Winter Comes . . .'

Away with tail between his legs
Slinks March's lion on tiptoses.
And in his wake, say weathermen,
April's rains will bring Spring roses.
Not meaning to be cynical, a pessimist
Or folks like thosen,
But I've only seen one robin, friends,
And he was almost frozen.
Although our feet and feet of snow
Have vanished now from the naked eye,
The days seem ever warmer
And the sunny clouds go floating by,
Just let me urge on cautious paths
Those about the warm climate already drooling;
Better hold those cheers awhile—
To see if Spring was April Fooling!

Joann Kleinecke

Sports Fans Watch Football Practices, Basketball Playoffs

By Gayle Arnn

Basketball

The National Basketball Association is now conducting the championship playoffs. The two participating teams are St. Louis of the western provision, and Boston of the eastern provision. Boston is the defending champion, as they defeated Minnesota last year in four straight games. This year's affair is the best of seven also.

Football

Though football is still months away, the colleges are conducting their annual spring practice games. The Richmond Spiders played a strong alumni team to a surprising 6-6 tie. As the alumni was favored by at least one or two touchdowns, the game Spiders battled all the way for the tie. All the scoring came in the third quarter. The varsity struck first as fullback Jim McGennis hit paydirt. The Alumni came bouncing right back as quarterback Tommy Theodore scored from the fourteen yard line.

UVA

The University of Virginia varsity football team rallied for a touchdown in the second period to tie a powerful alumni eleven by the score of 6-6 in their annual spring game. The alumni, sparked by Jim Bakhtiar scored in the second period as Bakhtiar scored from three yards out. But the varsity was not to be denied as Mike Kudzms went over a tackle for the touchdown that tied the game.

Baseball

Baseball! Play ball! The old familiar sound is now once again heard as the sixteen major league teams are heading north from their spring training bases to open the season. With such stars as Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees and Lew Burdette of the Braves under contract, the teams and fans anxiously anticipate the opening of the season. The Chicago White Sox of the American League and the World Champion Los Angeles Dodgers of the National League will be back to defend their titles.

Campus News

By Anna DeHaven

On April 12 Adlai Stevenson will give the Founders Day address at the University of Virginia. This event will mark the 217th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson who founded the University in 1819. This address will be Mr. Stevenson's first public address after returning home from his current two-month tour of South America. It will also be his first appearance at the University since 1956 when he opened the Woodrow Wilson Centennial year.

W-L

Joni James has accepted an invitation by W and L to appear for a Saturday concert during Spring Dance on April 9. Miss James was recently voted "America's Favorite Female Vocalist" and, as everyone knows, has had several hit recordings. A dance will be held Friday night with the concert on Saturday night.

Miss America will come to W & L this spring for the Washington & Lee Mock Democratic National Convention. She will arrive on May 2 as the guest of the New Jersey delegation and will ride in the parade through Lexington, marking the beginning of the convention.

Madison

Madison College celebrated its fifty-first birthday a few week ends ago with speeches, assemblies and other events of importance. Senator Edward Willey delivered an address to mark the occasion.

Texas A & M

The Texas A and M cadets are going to get a new etiquette booklet in the future which will help serve as a guide for social and military life. Included will be good conduct, table manners, military customs, and other items for the benefit of the corps.

RPI

An associate professor of art at RPI, Charles C. Renick, assisted by Otis Huband, a student, have almost finished a copy of the statue of Captain John Smith at Jamestown. The monument will be a gift of the Jamestown Corporation to the people of London, England. Two years ago Mr. Renick did a copy of Pocahontas, which now stands at Graves End, England.

Clemson

An article in Clemson College's "The Tiger" stated recently that numerous complaints had been received concerning pilfered mail. They stated that while it was annoying to the students not to receive their expected mail, it was also breaking a federal rule.

Hollins

Hollins College has been awarded a grant of $68,000 by the Carnegie Corporation for the development of automatic teaching in the area of foreign languages.

VARSITY ARCHERY MANAGERS Morag Nocher and Trina Childress, returning members of the varsity, try out their bows in preparation for the oncoming season.

Practices Begin Class, Varsity Archery Season

Managers Trina Childress and Morag Nocher have announced that tryouts for varsity archery will begin today at 4 p.m. and will continue every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the same hour.

Trina and Morag, both sophomore physical education majors from Princess Anne, will be in charge of both varsity and class archery this year.

Miss Rebecca Brockenbrough, associate professor of physical education, will select approximately six girls from those who go out for varsity archery for the varsity team. The archery schedule for 1960 has not been announced.

Students will also have a chance to win color cup points in class archery meets. Anyone wishing to participate in class archery must have eight practices before the competition begins. Class practices will be held with the regular archery third hour class practices. The class archery game schedule will be announced later.

H-S Baseball To Start April 1

Continued bad weather has hindered Hampden - Sydney's baseball squad, defending Little Eight and Mason Dixon Conference Champions, in their preseason outdoor practices.

The only tangible signs of the forthcoming games are the printed schedules which are now out.

Warm up engagements were arranged for last Wednesday through Friday for a pre-season southern swing against Davidson, Elon, Belmont Abbey, and North Carolina State.

Coach Claude Milam was dubious, however, whether or not the team would be able to keep the engagements.

Duncan To Return

The Diamonders are due to make their premier April 1 against Washington College. Co-captains for this year's team are seniors, Leon Hawker and Tommy Davis.

Another stand-out for the Tiger team should be spring re-entrant, Gerald Duncan, who will probably assume his outfield position.

Most of last season's Tiger cast is back who helped H-S rack up their championship record (15-3) last year.

Baseball workouts have been mostly confined to indoor practices using rubber balls. Under such conditions it has been hard to make an evaluation of the team.

FBLA Contest

The First National Bank of Farmville, Virginia, has offered a $25.00 government bond to the winner of a public speaking contest which is to take place during the annual regional meeting of the Future Business Leaders of America, April 9.

The meeting will be held in the Student Building at Longwood College. The winner of this contest will be eligible to compete in the state finals on May 7, in Roanoke.

Faculty Attends Education Study

Dr. Earl R. Boggs, dean of the college, Mrs. Earl R. Boggs, associate professor of education, Dr. Richard Brooks, associate professor of education,, and Dr. Charles Patterson, also associate professor of education, represented Longwood on the State Committee for study of professional education courses.

The meeting was held in the conference room at the State Library in Richmond, March 31.

Representatives from all of the state schools for the preparation of teachers were on this committee.

The committe was divided into four groups of study: psychology; foundations in education: methods and materials; and student teaching.

Color Cup Activities Approach Completion

By Janice Harris

Thursday, March 24th, ended another rousing round of athletic events that go toward the Color Rush.

This time the events were volleyball and basketball. Any girl having the required number of practices (four for freshmen and eight for the other classes) was eligible to play for her class.

Sister Class Games

The games began with the sister class volleyball games, resulting in a Junior victory over the freshmen and a sophomore victory over the seniors. The volleyball games continued with the frosh overwhelming the seniors and the sophs defeated by the juniors. The exciting games were ended with the sophomore team defeating the freshmen by a narrow margin, and the juniors downing the seniors.

Captains for the volleyball teams were: freshmen, Lindy Hatch; sophomores, Lois Peters; juniors, Sandra Ferebee and Seniors, Joyce Spencer.

Basketball Exciting

The basketball class games played the slightly more exciting of the two. A forfeit in favor of the frosh was the result of the green and white sister class games. The sophomores, true to form, defeated their sister red and whites. A thrilling game between the freshmen and the seniors resulted in a tie, while the sophomores overwhelmed the juniors in an exciting game. These games culminated in a sophomore victory over the freshmen and a junior victory over the seniors.

Class basketball captains were: freshman, Gibby Britt; sophomores, Keaton Holland; juniors, Gladys Patrick; and seniors, Jean Gardy.

Congratulations are in order for the sophomores who won all their basketball matches and all but one of their volleyball games.

Summer Session Plans Announced At U Of Hawaii

The 1960 Summer Session at the University of Hawaii will convene June 20 through August 1, 1960. The announcement was made today by Dr. Robert E. Cralle, Executive Secretary, California Association of School Administrators.

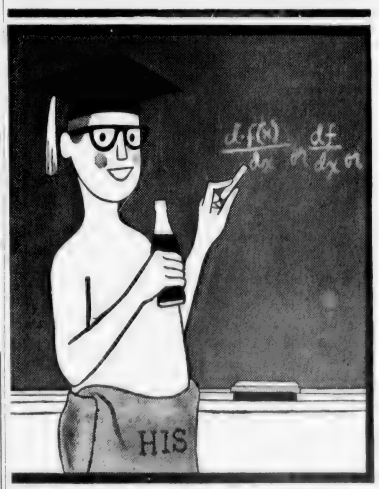
The manoa campus of the University of Hawaii, in our 50th State, will be opened to hundreds of teachers and scholars from all over the world. In addition, the six weeks session attracts a distinguished visiting faculty from the Orient, Europe and the Continental States, and offers a wide range of courses and unusual subjects. Included in the University's curriculum for the 1960 summer session are some 215 courses in 39 fields.

A special six weeks travel and study tour for students is being offered this year through the University Study Tour of Hawaii. Special prices for students begin as little as $495.00. This price includes round trip transportation by ship or air, dormitory and hotel accommodations, field trips, tours of the islands, dances, adventurous summer picnics and outings, plus free bus transportation and many planned social and scholastic activities.

Complete information on the 1960 Summer Session and bulletins describing the program are available by writing to: Dr. Robert E. Cralle, University Study Tour to Hawaii, 3305 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 5, California.

Hampden-Sydney Sports

BASEBALL



April
1	Washington College	Away
2	Mount St. Marys	Away
5	Harvard	Home
7	Lynchburg	Away
9	Norfolk Division	Home
11	Catholic University	Home
14	Washington & Lee	Away
18	Baltimore University	Home
20	Lynchburg	Home
23	Randolph Macon	Home
26	Bridgewater	Home
28	RPI	Away
30	Randolph Macon	Away
May
2	Norfolk Division	Away
4	Bridgewater	Away
6	Washington & Lee	Home
9	Norfolk Division	Home
10	William & Mary	Away

TRACK

April
6	Roanoke	Away
9	William & Mary	Away
11	Randolph Macon	Home
19	Washington & Lee	Home
21	Lynchburg	Away
27	Bridgewater	Home
30	Mason-Dixon Relays	Away
May
3	Norfolk Division	Away
7	State Meet	Away
13-14	Conference Meet

Everyone Come
to
LONGWOOD JEWELERS
for all your jewelry needs

Attractive!
Easter Outfits
For Everyone
$14.95 and up
at the
DOROTHY MAY SHOP

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT 1956 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

Absent-minded Professor

Not so absent-minded when you get right down to it. He remembered the most important item—the Coke! Yes, people will forgive you almost anything if you just remember to bring along their favorite sparkling drink—ice-cold Coca-Cola. Do have another, professor!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Kemeny To Lecture For Assembly Series

Dr. John G. Kemeny, chairman of the mathematics department and professor of philosophy at Dartmouth College, will be guest speaker at the assembly program on April 5.

Professor Kemeny joined the faculty of Dartmouth College in 1954. Since coming to Dartmouth, Professor Kemeny has initiated far-reaching changes in the math curriculum and has been the leading figure in strengthening the entire department.

Professor Kemeny introduced a special honors course which requires far more of the gifted student and provides rigorous work in "modern mathematics" — mathematics that is directly applicable to everyday life. Material in the regular math course was also reorganized to offer a more challenging program.

A native of Budapest Hungary, the thirty-two year old professor came to the United States; graduated from Princeton University where he also received his Ph.D. degree in 1949. During his years of graduate study at Princeton, he held the position of Fine Instructor in mathematics and was then an assistant professor of philosophy. In 1948-49, he was chief assistant to Albert Einstein at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton. During World War II, while still in his teens, Professor Kemeny served with the United States Army as a mathematician attached to the Los Alamos, New Mexico, atomic bomb project.

The result of Professor Kemeny's innovation of the theory of games, partitions, and counting problems in modern or finite mathematics has been an intensive study of modern mathematics for advanced students. These advanced students graduate in four years with the training equivalent to a master's degree in mathematics.

In the past four years, Professor Kemeny has published two books and is currently doing work on five others. Last year, he served as visiting lecturer for the Mathematics Association of America. He was recently appointed chairman of the United States Commission on Mathematical Instruction.

DR. JOHN KEMENY

Taplin Takes Leave To Accept Postion

Dr. Gardner B. Taplin, associate professor of English at Longwood College, has been granted a leave of absence for the year 1960-61 to accept a position as visiting associate professor of English at Tulane University in New Orleans.

Dr. Taplin was assistant professor of English at Indiana University and lecturer of English at Boston University.

He graduated from Amherst College and received his Master's degree and Ph. D. from Harvard. He is the author of a book entitled, The Life of Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

Khrushchev

(Continued from page 1)

little different from ours here at L. C., we feel that we must do our small woman's part here in Farmville to improve our national relations by striving to maintain a tolerant balance of thought. To sum it up, May Day should be a new, different, and invigorating experience for everyone.

Note: Russian dictionaries will be sold outside the dining hall after dinner all this month for use by those who would like to consult Mr. Khrushchev in his native tongue about their personal problems when he comes for his visit.

Records, Records, Records

Top Ten Tunes

1. Baby What Do You Want Me To Do?
2. Beatnik Fly
3. Baby
4. Footsteps
5. White Silver Sands
6. Puppy Love
7. Old Lamplighter
8. Theme From "A Summer Place"
9. Paradise
10. Sixteen Reasons

Wilson's Home & Auto Supply

Thank You!

The Founders Day committee wishes to express appreciation to all who participated in the Founders Day celebration and who helped to make alumnae happy in their homecoming.

It is hoped that the students enjoyed being a part of the manifestation of the Longwood spirit.

Church News

By Marjorie Freese
Methodist

The Wesley annual spring banquet will be held on April 7, at 5:45 p.m. in the Fellowship Room of the Methodist Church. Reverend Ray Cardwell and the VPI Wesley Foundation will present a program that will follow the theme, "Promise of Spring." All Methodist students are invited. Each person planning to attend is asked to make her reservation by donating $1 to the Wesley Fund. More news of the banquet will be posted on the church bulletin board.

On April 3, the regular Sunday night Wesley program will be changed to 4 p.m. in the Fellowship Room. A program will be presented by a group of children from the Virginia Methodist Children's Home.

Bill Funk, the missionary to Sarawak, was here March 30, 31 at the Methodist Student Center. He spoke on actual experiences in Sarawak, the challenge of Christian missions, and the opportunities in missionary service.

Cotillion Issues Spring Bids In Preparation For Club Dance

The Cotillion Club, which is having its annual dance on April 9th, presented bids to the following girls during spring invocation.

They are: Liz Eller, Carol Greene, Gail Deaver, Vanetta Remaine, Judy Hayler, Pat Duke, Bonnie Garter, Lindy Hatch, Gibby Britt, Barbara Gray Martin, Carol Walton, Betty Stack, Toni Robinson, Suzanne Shipp, Kay Nottingham, Carolyn Buscemi, Diane Whitley, Janet Driskill, Jackie Skelley, Gayle Jones, Judy Williams, Linda Parker, and Joan Barnett.

Also receiving bids were: Donna Oakes, Judy Turner, Ruby Slayton, Joan Ivy, Peggy Grosch, Rosa Pettit, Joyce Folk, Vicki Johnson, Lani Robinson, Gari Dickson, Naomi Talbott, Dorothy Ann Hallet, Gaynor Vanlandingham, Shirley Mills, Dottie Nelson, Linda Kay Hartman, Judy Duke, Tinsley Crump, Mary Lou Grasty, Judy Corse, Sue Beardmore Helen Brown, Margaret Vaughan, Barbara Moyer, Ann Davidson, Lorraine Robins, Grace Belvin, Lefty Snyder, Clesie Griggs, Sue Caravella, Signe Young, Pat Hickey, and Katie Fulton.

Others include Betty Brothers, Harriet Brooks, Betty Ruth Dunavant, Jane Pennington, Jackie Boggs, Ann Simmons, Donna Marquette, Marty Wyatt, Zee Tapp, Audrey Campbell, P. J. Hall, Carol Gregory, Jane Brooke, Carol Barns, Carolyn Grinstead, Paula Clarke, Carole Bruce, Mary Beth Olson, Jean Johnson, Anne Brooks, Helen Fox, Bobbie Meador, Sarah Decker, Eleanor Fowler, Sue Spicer, Norma Wahl, Pat Sweeney, Wanda Barnett, Sherrill Hudlow, Barbara Sue Cole, Nancy Hood, Sister Hayes, Bobbie Loth, Judy Giles, Judy Pharr, Marilyn Hobbs, Judy Pollard, and Gracie Bottino.

Also, Carol Buckner, Mary G. Lipscomb, Lou Hoggard, Susan Lane, Gail Crawford, Pat Foster, Neva Arnn, Pat Barrow, Taylor Rowell, Clara Kidd, Carolyn Hughes, Gaye Yates, Nancy Ann Parker, Glenda Chamberlain, Susan Kelly, Betty Jones, Anna Dehaven, Scotty McGregor, Jean Smith, Jane Freeman, Susan Coe, Betsy Hurt, Connie Costan, Sandra Freedman, Patsy Skelly, Gail Jones, Beth Goodwin, Harriet Hunt, Betsy Croswell, Shirley Moody, Janet Anderson, Barbara Muehlman, Ann Agee, Janice Harris, Neil Banks, Mary Lou Plunkett, Nora Elliott, and Sandra Little.

Others recognized were: Lena Kay, Elaine Lohr, Nancy Nelson, Carol Nye, Susan Rollins, Ann Peters, Mary Lee Warriner, Mac Brown, Pat MacMillan, Charlene Owen, Jane Martin, Jane Price, Alice White, Jean Underwood, Jean Maupin, Mary Field, Laura Butler, Sara Boswell, Joann White, Cape Sammis, Brenda Smith, Peggy Hughes, Donna Hylton, Sally Ann Smith, Wistie Rochelle, Nancy Huffaker, Annis Bailey, Patti Barnes, and Becky Hofler.

Spring bids also included: Linda Parker, Bobbi Goodman, Melissa Rowe, Pam Bullen, Margaret Tatterson, Ginger Culpepper, Louise Powell, Mary Mercer Wright, Sandy Phillips, Mary Warren, Martha Warren, Dona Scarborough, Donna Frantzen, Nancy Patterson, Jean Pollard, Judy Turner, Sally Sims, Dottie Rowe, and Niki Fallis.

Crash, Budget, Travel Highlight National News

By Frances Harnsberger

The wreckage of the Civil Air Patrol plane which crashed last week in the West Virginia mountains was found Wednesday. The four victims in the plane were members of the Civil Air Patrol. One of the members, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Tucker, was from Richmond, where she taught at Franklin School.

Governor Almond, in a conference with state college presidents, asked them to keep expenditures to "an absolute minimum" until the 1960-62 budget can be made clearer. The college executives have agreed to co-operate with the governor's request.

A new island has emerged in the Pacific off the coast of Ecuador. More than a mile long, 100 yards wide and 125 feet high, the island is thought to be the result of an underwater volcanic disturbance.

The Senate hopes to wind up its long civil rights battle this week. Senator Dirksen (Ill.) feels that most of the senators are tired of the controversy, which has been going on since February.

Prime Minister Macmillan flew to Washington Saturday to confer with President Eisenhower over a unified British-American position in nuclear test negotiations with Russia at Geneva. Macmillan said, on arrival in this country, that what takes place in Geneva will affect the whole world and the whole future of mankind on earth.

Premier Khrushchev is now touring France for six days. The French, however, are receiving him cooly, though police have had to quell a few disturbances.

Signals are still being received from Pioneer V, the United States latest satellite, which is in orbit around the sun. The batteries are powered by solar energy, and are recharged as needed by this energy.

It has been discovered that Vanguard I, launched in 1958, is being blown off its course by sunlight. Over a period of time, sunlight exerts a pressure on the satellite equal to the amount of pressure of two cigarettes pressing on an acre of ground.

Pi Delta Epsilon Gives Directory

Pi Delta Epsilon is the honorary journalism fraternity on campus. It was established on December 6, 1909 at Syracuse University. The chapter here at Longwood was founded in 1950. Dr. G. B. Taplin is their advisor.

The purpose of this organization is to recognize those who have done outstanding work on any of the school's three publications. The requirements for membership are that applicants for membership must be suggested by the editor of the publication under which they work; they must have served on a publication for at least two years; they must have at least junior standing and the applicants must be approved by the present members of Pi Delta Epsilon.

Their major project for the year is the compiling and publishing of the Longwood Student Directory. They are in the process of this now.

Officers of Pi Delta Epsilon are Carolyn Rossiter, president; Norrish Munson, vice-president; Nancy Donaldson, secretary; Barbara L. Bishop, treasurer, and Lola Williams, historian.

Other members are Mary Louise Loesche, Nancy Loehler, Carolyn Oliver, Joann Kleinecke, Jan Preslar, Sandra Clements, Lavinia Collier, Carol Lassiter, Judy Harris, Jo Anne Parsons, Jeanie McKay, Linda Lane, and Gerry Gorham.

Sahora To Talk For Pi Omega Pi

Pi Omega Pi, the honorary business education fraternity at Longwood College, is sponsoring Miss Mary Sahora, a specialist in business education, from the South-Western Publishing Company's eastern office in New York. Miss Sahora will present a series of lectures on Friday, April 1.

Miss Sahora's major achievements are: immediate past president of Alpha Chapter of Delta Pi Epsilon; instructor of secretarial subjects, Hunter College, New York; instructor for Certified Professional Secretaries; and chairman of the Scholarship Committee for the New York City Chapter of the National Office Managers' Association.

Do You Think for Yourself?

(DIG THIS QUIZ AND SEE IF YOU STRIKE PAY DIRT*)

"You can't teach an old dog new tricks" means (A) better teach him old ones; (B) it's hard to get mental agility out of a rheumatic mind; (C) let's face it—Pop likes to do the Charleston.

A☐ B☐ C☐

When your roommate borrows your clothes without asking, do you (A) charge him rent? (B) get a roommate who isn't your size? (C) hide your best clothes?

A☐ B☐ C☐

When a girl you're with puts on lipstick in public, do you (A) tell her to stop? (B) refuse to be annoyed? (C) wonder if the stuff's kissproof?

A☐ B☐ C☐

If you were advising a friend on how to pick a filter cigarette, would you say, (A) "Pick the one with the strongest taste." (B) "Get the facts, pal—then judge for yourself." (C) "Pick the one that claims the most."

A☐ B☐ C☐*

men and women who think for themselves usually smoke Viceroy. They've studied the published filter facts; they know only Viceroy has a thinking man's filter. And Viceroy has rich, full tobacco flavor—a smoking man's taste. Change to Viceroy today!

*If you checked (B) on three out of four of these questions—you think for yourself!

Familiar pack or crush-proof box.

It's a wise smoker who depends on his own judgment, not opinions of others, in his choice of cigarettes. That is why

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows—

ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER—A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

©1960, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Kennedy Wins Wisconsin Primary

The Rotunda

What's In Store For National?

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va. April 6, 1960 | No. 17

Cotillion To Feature Cinderella's Ballroom

Members of the Cotillion Club will walk into a ballroom scene straight from a storybook on April 9 in the gymnasium from 8-12 p.m. — "from the usual to the bewitching hour."

Cinderella's Ball will feature a decor of red-lavender and shades of turquoise and will surround the dancers with the atmosphere of a real ballroom. A tiered crepe paper ceiling will be supported by six columns and walls of crepe paper in white and shades of blue. Along the crepe paper walls will hang murals in gold frames depicting scenes from the Cinderella story done in water-color technique. The doors into the small gymnasium will be covered with paper and will give the effect of a view of formal gardens on the other side.

Just before the last dance and the stroke of midnight, a surprise awaits Cotillion members and their dates, adding to the fairy-tale quality of the dance theme.

A new speaker has been installed in the gymnasium for the dance, which will feature the music of Russ Carlyle and his orchestra. A baby grand piano is being brought in for the orchestra.

Before intermission senior Cotillion members and their dates will present the figure, which will be, of course, a glass slipper.

The girls will send their dates through a receiving line, rather than taking them. After the dance there will be a party in the sophomore rec for all underclassmen and a party for seniors in their rec. Students attending the party in the sophomore recreation room may take their dates through the gymnasium.

All the crepe paper used in decorations for the dance was donated by the Union-Bag-Camp Paper Corporation.

Student Editors To Attend Meet For Publications

The second annual Collge Publications Workshop will be held in Lynchburg at the Virginian Hotel, Saturday, April 9.

Howard N. King, typographic consultant for the Intertype Corporation who spoke at the mid-winter VPA meeting last year, will be a featured speaker. Others include Corbin Gwaltney, editor of the Johns Hopkins University Magazine, Baltimore; and Dr. Regis Boyle, chairman of publications, Woodrow Wilson High School, Washington.

The workshop is presented by the J. P. Bell Company for staff members and advisors of college publications.

Students representing Longwood's publications are: LaVerne Collier, Colonnade editor, with staff members Judy Harris, Judy Detrich, and advisor. Dr. Richard K. Meeker. Representing the Virginian are: Editor Mary Lee Warriner with staff members Martha Gray Shirley and Mary Rob Harris. The Rotunda will be represented by Editor Sandra Weaver with staff members Joann Kleinecke, Jo Anne Parsons, Nancy Lechler and Mary Byrd Micou.

Longwood Host Summer Session Math Institute

Longwood College will be host to one of four summer institutes to be held throughout the United States this summer. The courses taught will be in the fields of science, foreign languages, and mathematics.

The purpose of these summer institutes is to bring teachers up to date in both content and method. In support of the belief that this should be improved, the state legislature voted to institute such an improvement program in Virginia. The resulting four to six-weeks courses to be taught here are only a part of this new program.

Courses taught in the fields of science, foreign languages, and mathematics, will be on the state level, and will be for high school teachers. They will re-

(Continued on page 3)

Sunrise Service

The YWCA will present the annual Easter sunrise service in the Sunken Gardens between Tabb and the Colonnade, on April 13, at 6:45 a.m.

The service will consist of a tableau of three scenes: birth scene, scene of the cross, and scene of the tomb. A choir consisting of the citizens of Farmville will make the transitions from one scene to the next. A choral-speaking choir will assist during the scenes. Longwood College students will portray the characters in the different scenes.

The theme of the service is "Christ was Born That He Might Die."

Scholars Offer Spring Lectures Depicting South

The schedule of the spring 1960 Institute of Southern Culture has been announced. The three lectures, to be held on April 22 in the lounge of the Student Activities Building, will be given by a visiting scholar and two members of the Longwood faculty.

Mr. Gregory D. Ivy, professor of art at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, will speak at 11 a.m. on "The Art Museum and the South." At 4 p.m., Mr. James K. McCombs, assistant professor of music at Longwood, will lecture on "The Southern Origins of Rock-and-Roll." The final lecture will be given at 8 p.m. by Longwood's associate professor of art, Miss Annie Lee Ross. Miss Ross will speak on "Domestic Architecture in Virginia. All lectures are open to the public.

The Institute was established in 1956 at Longwood College to promote the study of traditional aspects of Southern civilization through academic course work, special lectures, and through the publication of research in the field. In addition to the forthcoming spring lectures, the Institute has also scheduled summer lectures for July. Materials appropriate to the lectures will be exhibited in the Longwood Library.

Alpha Kappa Gamma Honors Five Juniors

—Staff Photo

NEWLY TAPPED JUNIORS for AKG, Joyce Odom, Cherry Gorham, and Cherron Kelley watch as Pat Southworth inspects Page Davis' ribbon.

Selection Basis Includes Ability, Future Promise

By Joann Kleinecke

Longwood's Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma tapped five juniors for membership in last week's assembly. These five were selected by the national honorary fraternity in recognition of their leadership ability and promise of future usefulness.

Page Davis, a biology major from Hopewell, feels "very humble," and that "what the organization and its members stand for is a real challenge. I am grateful for the opportunity that goes with this honor, but I am also aware of the responsibility."

Page is president of House Council this year, a member of the Lynchnos Society, Alpha Sigma Alpha membership director, assistant business manager of the Virginian, the H20 Club, Pi Gamma Mu, and Student Government.

Gorham Chosen

Cherry Gorham, an English and Spanish major from Culpeper, is a member of Boerc Eh Thorn, Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Delta Epsilon, the H20 Club, House Council, the Spanish Club, and will serve as president of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority next year. Cherry, who is the past Editor of the Rotunda, stated upon being asked what she thought of her recent honor, "Words can never express my feelings at being tapped. My only hope is that I can live up to the trust placed in me by using this as an opportunity to serve Longwood."

Kelley Selected

A business major from Pearisburg, Cherron Kelly is past treasurer of Student Government, president of the YWCA, first vice-president of the Baptist Student Union, in Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, and in the Cotillion Club. Cherron says, concerning her new honor, "I really can't

(Continued on page 4)

May Day Parody Brings Journey To Land Of Oz

By Judy Harris

"A Journey Through The Land Of Oz" is the theme of the 1960 May Day Pageant. The story, adapted by Judy Harris from L. Frank Baum's "The Wizard Of Oz", tells of a young girl's adventures in a delightful fantasy land.

The child, Dorothy, will be portrayed by senior Connie Goodman, while her strange but enchanting companions, the Scarecrow, the Tin Woodsman, and the Cowardly Lion, will be depicted by junior Sandra Ferebee, and sophomores Ann Wells and Keaton Holland.

The story begins when ten-year-old Dorothy finds that she has been carried by a cyclone from her Kansas farm to a mysterious land called Oz, where she is immediately surrounded by a delightful group of tiny people called Munchkins.

They tell the little girl that upon landing, she accidently killed the Wicked Witch of the East who had held them in captivity for many years, and in token of their gratitude, Dorothy is presented with a magic necklace. With the necklace and the blessings of the Munchkins, she then sets off for the Emerald City to see the great Wizard of Oz, who will, she hopes, direct her back to Kansas.

Before long, Dorothy meets some interesting friends who also wish to see the Great Oz. First she comes upon a very amiable scarecrow, who is nonetheless unhappy because he has no brains, and with the hope that Oz can help him, he joins Dorothy on her trip. Soon the two come upon another distressed soul, a tin woodsman, who joins them, hoping the Oz will supply him with a heart. Further along the road, the trio meets a huge but cowardly lion who feels he must have courage before he can rightfully claim himself king of the jungle.

Various exciting adventures soon draw the four into close companionship and the remainder of the story concerns their encounter with the Wizard, who later turns out to be a fake; the Wicked Wicked Witch of the West who almost destroys them, and Glinda, the Good Queen of the South, who helps them realize that the true rewards of their journey were not supplied by the Wizard, as they had thought, but were latent within themselves until they were revealed through the experience of true communication and comradeship.

Interwoven among the various adventures will be many songs and dances. These will be performed by participants from the student body.

Longwood House Begins New Plan

Longwood House opened for the use of the college students on April 1 for the first time.

If the interest of the students warrents it, the house will remain open at the following times: Friday and Saturday nights from 8 until 11 p.m. for the girls and their dates; Friday and Saturday afternoons for girls only from 1 until 5 p.m.; and Sunday from 2 until 5 p.m. is also available for dates.

Free bus transportation is being provided on Friday and Saturday afternoons. The bus will leave from behind the Home Economics Building at 1 and 3 p.m. and will return to school at 5.

Students may use the kitchen facilities for light snacks, but they have to supply their own

(Continued on page 3)

Beorc Eh Thorn Elects Officers, SAI Gives Bids

Beorc Eh Thorn

Beorc Eh Thorn, national honorary English society, has elected new officers for the coming year.

Lillie Rogers is the newly elected president. Working with her will be Judy Harris, vice-president; Matilda Powell, secretary; Jeanette Metcalf, treasurer; and Nancy Umbarger, historian-reporter.

The new officers, all juniors, will assume their positions immediately following their installment.

SAI

Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music fraternity, recently issued bids for member to eight Longwood students.

They are: Harriet Dawson, Joan Ivy, Maddie MacNeil, Ann Matthews, Nancy Oldfield, Helen Jean Taylor, Raye Turner and Edith Ward.

The three freshmen, Joan Ivy, Nancy Oldfield and Raye Turner, were accepted on the basis of their outstanding work with music during the past semester. Usually bids are issued only to outstanding upperclassmen.

Third Annual Fine Arts Festival To Feature Drama, Art, Music

The third annual Festival of the Fine Arts, featuring programs of vocal and instrumental music, a dance recital, a play, and art exhibits will be held at Longwood College from Tuesday, April 26, until Saturday, April 30.

The performances will be held each night in Jarman Hall at 8 p.m., with the exception of Thursday when an afternoon program will begin at 4 p.m.

Joint Recital

The first event scheduled is a joint recital by Mr. Sterling Adams who will play the piano; Mr. James K. McCombs who will sing; and Miss Josephine L. Bailey who will play the organ. They are all members of the Longwood College music department faculty.

A dance recital to be presented by Orchesis, the honorary dance group on campus, will be held on Wednesday evening.

Band Concert

The Thursday matinee will feature a joint concert of the band, directed by Mr. Clifford Smith, and the Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Mr. James McCombs. The band will play a Sousa march, "El Capitan;" "Geguine for Band" by Eymann;" "Blues in the Band" by Varoni; and "The Dream of Olwen" by Williams, which will feature a piano solo by Jo Ann Garner Wagstaff.

On Friday evening, the Longwood Choir, under direction of Dr. John Molnar, joins with the Randolph-Macon Men's Glee Club, directed by Mr. R. B. Ward. They will present Bloch's Sacred Service. This concert will be repeated at Randolph-Macon's Men's College on April 30, and in Richmond on May 1.

The final production is Alpha Psi Omega's play, "Look Back in Anger," on Saturday night. It is under the direction of Miss Lucie Dunlap, English instructor.

During the week, various paintings will be exhibited. In the foyer of Jarman Hall, the paintings by Charles Smith, professor at the University of Virginia, will be shown.

A collection of Mr. Smith's books and prints will be exhibited in the library.

In the Student Lounge, the paintings purchased by the committee for the purchase of paintings by Virginia artists of previous years will be exhibited.

Also, there will be a student's exhibit in the art department galleries.

In the browsing room of the library, an exhibit of old Virginia architecture will be shown. It is on loan from the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

The festival is free of charge, and the public is invited to attend.

The Fine Arts Festival committee is headed by Dr. John Molnar, who is assisted by Mr. David Wiley, Mrs. Merle Landrum, and Miss Virginia Bedford.

Remember - Easter

Easter is coming in only a few more days. To some of us Easter may mean vacation time, a new spring outfit, or merely a time to hunt Easter eggs with our little brothers and sisters. Do we really know what Easter is? Perhaps our busy days here at school prevent us from thinking seriously of the spiritual, deeper, and the most important aspect of life.

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." John 3:16

Jesus was crucified on the cross to save you and me from our many sins. He knew that we were not perfect so He was willing to die through suffering to show us the real punishment. He did this so that we would not have to go to the cross and be crucified ourselves. He only asked us to repent for our sins. This repentance may be unpleasant; and we may actually die a little in our hearts, but not crucified as He was.

But why should we suffer through this period of repentance? After He arose from the grave, there was a shining new greatness and a strong, ever-lasting, indestructible life.

Yes, if we would only take time to think about this; we would perhaps realize the significance of His love. He died for us — why can't we live for Him by putting Him first and above all things?

After two thousand years we still raise our voices in praise and thankfulness. "He rolled the stone away." Let us rejoice that our Lord has risen from the dead. Let us show our gratitude by being good friends, by being good students, and by being good Christians. Let us thank Him for showing us the way.

When His friends searched the tomb, they did not find Him. Instead they found love, hope, and prayer. He left these gifts for us. May we all accept these wonderful gifts gratefully and deservingly.

Easter will come this year on a spring day with the hills green and the sky blue with soft clouds. The birds will sing their melodious songs, and beautiful little children will call to one another in love and in friendship. Easter will come in the joy and peace of our hearts as we kneel in His house in prayer to thank Him for His love, and to rejoice in an everlasting God.

—Cherron Kelley
President, YWCA

Transition

The snows of March have ceased,
but nature is not subtle.
She swirls around, tearing a newly budded leaf from the tree,
And tosses it into the arms of the boasting winds.
Gently, it falls, lying still upon a pile of broken twigs.
Suddenly, it is lifted again, then playfully
tossed upon the ground.
Quivering, as if from anger, it lies silently awaiting a final thrust.
Waiting to be blown, torn, and further humiliated by nature's humor.
But the breath of nature remains silent, unyielding to the call.
Then, in heavy twists, the leaf sways upon the cushioned earth.
As if it were weeping, tiny drops of water smother its body.
Slowly, the tiny threads of life become saturated and fold.
It is April, and it is raining.

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia.

Sandra Wenger ..... Editor-in-Chief
Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Jeanne Kesmodel ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lasiter ..... News Editor
Judy Detrich ..... Feature Editor
Mary Byrd Micou ..... Sports Editor
Pat Hurst ..... Desk Editor
Linda Sudduth ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Cole ..... Circulation Manager
Janet Stanley Janet Wainwright ..... Advertising Managers

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

NEWS STAFF: Sandy Bryant, Assistant News Editor; Edmonia Leech, Assistant; Penelope Elliott, Gaye Arms, Assistant Sports Editor; Ann Agee, Vee Ann Dark, Lucy Comments, Frances Harrenberger, Kay Hubbard, Margaret Jones, Barbara Claudon, Carolyn Elliott, Reporters. Mary Shafer, Carolyn Watson, Jane Mayer, Ann Rogers, Betty Jane Aligood, Susan Lane, Judy Gray Brewer, Amy Nance, Elaine Bane, Bobbie Goodman.

CIRCULATION STAFF: Carolyn Lester, Assistant Manager, Sue Ellen Sites, Ann Smith, Lelia Bowers, Rose Ford, Judy Buckner, Sara Boswell, Susan Gentry, Darlene Antrican, Dorcas Sue Cole, Becky Reamy, Barbara Ann Nash, Anne Lewis, Linda Davis, Sarah Thomas, Judy Goss, Sue Beardmore, Betty Lewis, Joan Lucas, Marie Waller, Sandra Mosely, Peggy Carr, Mary Neal Thomas, Shirley Hughes, Sally Pleasants, Tynes, Nancy Buckingham.

Member: Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association; Associated Collegiate Press (Rating First Class); Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating first place).

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 8, 1934. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

—Staff Photo

JANE STEGALL applies finishing touches to her favorite Easter bunny of tissue and wire.

Eastertime Heralds Bunny Success Story

By Jane Stegall

"I don't know . . . but I think that's the mickiest lookin' picture I've ever seen. Ya' see me . . . I'm that little bitty insignificant bunny being shadowed over by that great big ole' rabbit gettin' all the attention. Wonder if I'll ever be that big—and if I am—if I'll ever get that much attention.

"Golly, I sure would like to be an Easter bunny this year and hide all those eggs. Don't see why ya' have to be such a big ole' thing just to do that . . . I'd just like to help one of 'em some. Listen to those girls, 'Isn't he sweet! Isn't he pretty! I'd just like to hug his neck!' Heck! I'd like to pull all his whiskers out. Hey! Hey! Look at me! I can wiggle my ears! One of these days I'll show 'em . . . I'll be big in some way and they'll be sorry they didn't wanna hug me.

Personality Switch

"Maybe if I were a chicken I could . . . Nope! Then they'd dye me red and I wouldn't like that. An Easter lily! Everybody likes Easter lilies. Nope! Couldn't move around then and somebody would be sure to cut me. I'd like to be an egg in a way, but then I'd get eaten up or else I'd rot. Seems like there's just nothing . . . don't wanna be anything' sides a rabbit anyway. I never knew rabbits had to live such a hard life. I just wanna help.

"Boy, if I were a dog I'd chase that big ole' rabbit away and then I could hide all the eggs. That's not nice, is it? What's that ole' girl saying now 'bout putting giant here in a baby's playroom. Oh! I wish I could just fly . . . like a bird maybe . . . and then I'd leave this ole' bunch of rabbits and people. Betcha' they'd be sorry then. Hey! Hey! Whatcha' doin' . . . put me down . . . you're not gonna throw me away! What did you say? You're not gonna throw me away? You're putting me in the baby's playroom cuz I'm small like him? Ya' mean it" Golly . . . golly . . . ya' really do mean it?"

Big Rabbit Speaks

"Yes, they mean it. My name is Peter Rabbit . . . the big old rabbit you've been talking about. I understand now you feel for I was once a small bunny myself. I was lonely and wanted to help too, and I soon received the opportunity just as you have. Take it, small and insignificant as it may seem, and build on it so that your future will be one to look forward to. Just remember, son, that it isn't always the largest, most noticeable things that mean the most. Greatness isn't measured in terms of size, but in terms of dreams and aspirations that in the end come true. It's been said that a great person is what he is because he was what he was. Remember that, little one, and strive towards those ends. Don't worry, you're not alone in your endeavors, for there are countless thousands of people striving toward the same goals. Try hard son and in the end, no matter what your goals were, you'll be able to say your dreams did come true."

"Golly . . . betcha' one thing, mister . . . I'll never be as great as you! Gol - ly . . ."

Secret Methods Reveal Snatches Of 'Table Talk'

You may, or may not, like what follows, depending on your opinion of eavesdropping. Information for this feature was taken—without your knowledge—from things you may have said. It concerns dinner table conversations.

Table talk covers every topic from dates to koala bears. As might be expected, the most popular subject of all is food. "Who is it? What is it? Banana pudding!" . . . "I think I'll have another pea" . . . "Peanut butter for dessert!" and the everlasting cry of "Pass the rolls" are but a few of the comments caught in passing.

The week's events — class games, the new dorm decision, the water pageant, Lent ("I gave up my little sister!"), the political forum—seem to have been discussed to exhaustion.

Other phrases snatched from context at one table or another prove hilarious: "Do you sit down when they say the blessing? If you don't you can't sit here" . . . "About only four tickets for graduation: I don't see how I can decide which of my immediate family to invite—I could eliminate my little sister and make her baby-sit for my older brother and his wife, that'd get rid of one. Oh, but then I'd be inviting two more. WHY doesn't this school consider the fine old southern tradition of big families!" . . . "Y'all, everybody listen, I've got something real good to tell y'all—Don got vice-president of the dance." . . . "Kennedy's cute, but Nixon's a quaker."

Sometimes dinners range from soup to nuts and so, it seems, does table talk. One student pronounced a stormy benediction: "I guess I do talk a lot at dinner—it's the only social outlet I have!"

Great Linguistics Game Turns Science Into Fun

By Judy Detrich

Pizza, zoom, sweetie, hubba-hubba, drosophila. Drive - in, undertaker, dirty bomb, shmoo, bug, white elephant.

Know what you just read? Words! Perhaps you've never thought of it before, but words have to come from somewhere. Take the above list for example — most of these words are brand new when you think that English has been around since the four hundreds A. D.

Weighty Words

We need new words to name new inventions, and discoveries, and foods (pizza, train wreck, foot longs, b-l-t's'. Words can elevate positions or bring the lofty back to earth, that is, you can call a farmer an agronomist or a clod hopper—see the power of one single word?

Someone must have been thinking of this a few years back when the word "eedysiast" found its way into the language. A boy might feel it is more appropriate to use this word in introducing his fiancee to his mother than to use the more common term, stripteaser.

How do you make a word? There are about sixteen ways; probably the most common way is compounding. Some people blend two already existing words — like Walter Winchell did when he, needing a livelier word to announce that a woman is expecting a baby, blended from 'infant' and 'anticipation' the word "infanticipation!"

Compounds of Greek and Latin forms (drosophila from two Greek words, garbage and lover, to name the biologists' friend, the fruit fly, for instance); self-explaining compounds like do-it-yourself or isolation booth; and idiomatic compounds, words which would not be understood out of context like white elephant, or name dropper, or blackberry winter, account for most modern word-making.

Two other easy ways are changing the part of speech of the word from, say, noun to adjective — Mickey mouse, for example, or changing the meaning as when Bikini, the name of a South Pacific island, is changed to a more popular connotation.

Word Watching Wariness

Once you understand the ways to make new words, it's fun to classify the words you hear every day and easy to become new-word conscious. Remember when we had so much snow a few weeks back? Boredom and frequent use of the expression "It's snowing" led to a new word, "neiging," formed by borrowing a French word "la neige" and adding the ing ending.

Sometimes when people are tired you hear new words. A junior was trying to say that she had scratched herself and it hurt, she blurted out "Scrurt."

New words have come from the world of the military, from the newspaper domain, and from famous personalities, including President Eisenhower. Experiments with words can make English an exciting and flexible language. All this may prove that to the wise, one word is not sufficient.

Artist Ross Possesses Wide Scope Of Abilities

By Edmonia Leech

The crafts class was in full session, complete with the sound of tapping hammer, the buzzing of a polishing wheel, and the gravelly rubbing of sand paper on wood. Two students sat talking together as they laced the tooled calf skin billfolds they were making.

"I don't believe that there's any medium in the field of art," one was heard to remark, "that she isn't skilled in using."

"Yes," the other agreed, "and it amazes me that she can do so many things so well, and still be as conscientious about teaching as she is. Her enthusiasm about what she teaches makes her pupils interested too."

These two students were expressing a feeling which is frequently heard among those who know Miss Annie Lee Ross.

Art Interest Varied

Miss Ross was born in Arkansas, where her father was a college professor, but her family soon moved to Colorado. During her high school years at Colorado Springs, and throughout college she put her talent in crafts to practical use, while at the same time developing her interests in other fields of art. At Ohio State University, where she received her Master's Degree, she majored in water color painting and minored in art history.

Before coming to Virginia, she exhibited in Kansas, New Mexico, Nebraska, and Colorado, receiving high praise for her work.

She joined the faculty at Longwood in 1950. While here she has exhibited in the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts at Norfolk, and for the Lynchburg Art Association.

Field Preference

When asked which medium of art she prefers, she is a little reluctant to narrow her interests to any one field. "I would call myself an artist-craftsman," she says. "When I was in graduate school, I placed major emphasis on water-color painting,

(Continued on page 3)

—Staff Photo

ART INSTRUCTOR Miss Annie Lee Ross surveys one of her paintings in her office.

Boston Clips Hawks, Merits Playoff Lead

By Betty Jane Aligood

In the pro basketball world series, the Boston Celtics clipped the St. Louis Hawks 102-86, giving the Celtics a 2-1 lead in the NBA playoffs. The Hawks, leading during the first half, cooled down considerably in the second and third quarters, while the Celtics set a rapid scoring pace led by Tom Heinshohn and Frank Ramsey.

The Buckeyes of Ohio State, NCAA champions, captured fifth place in the United States Olympic Basketball Trials Saturday upsetting Bartlesville 87-77. Bartlesville is the national industrial league (AAU) champions.

On the baseball scene, Richmond's Bob Turley, made the week-end headlines with his hurling of six scoreless innings against the Pittsburgh Pirates. The final score was 5-0 in favor of the New York Yankees.

The Philadelphia Phillies chalked up a three-game Carribean series winner against the Chicago White Sox, with considerable help from Alvin Dark who drove home three runs.

Other baseball scores were Milwaukee 4 — Detroit 3; Cincinnati 5 — St. Louis 4; and Los Angeles 4 — Washington 3.

Ahead in the Azalea Open golf tournament in Wilmington, North Carolina, was Tom Nieporte who finished first Saturday with a total score of 204. In contending position for Sunday's final round was Don Finsterwald of Tequesta, Florida, who was first runner-up.

Creative Ross Seeks Variation

(Continued from page 2)

but I've spent more time on crafts and prints than water colors in recent years."

Miss Ross is more than adept at print making. She makes her own Christmas cards from block prints, and a series of eight saints which she did in block prints have been adapted for commercial cards. Other present interests include etching, leather work, and sculpture.

Miss Ross owns a summer home in Green Mountain Falls, Colorado, which she likes to visit each summer. Something of the beautiful mountains with which her home is surrounded can be seen from water color paintings which she has made of them.

Interpret Feeling

In painting she tries to catch the mood of her subject, rather than to be photographic. "I try to interpret what I feel about nature," she explains, "the warmth of a warm day—the violence of a Southern rain storm. My paintings are slightly expressionistic in this respect and there is a sensitivity to the subject."

In partial fulfillment of the requirements for her Master's Degree she did a series of studies of Victorian houses in water color. In connection with her interest in architecture, she has been asked to deliver one of the three lectures of the spring series for the Institute of Southern Culture. Her lecture which will be given on the evening of April 22 will concern "Domestic Architecture in Virginia."

Philosophical Outlook

Miss Ross has an optomistic view-point of life which can perhaps be best illustrated in a bit of advice which she gave to one Longwood freshman. The student had been working for hours on what she hoped would be a masterpiece. When at last it was completed and she held it out at arm's length to evaluate it, it came up to none of her expectations.

"I'm so disappointed. It doesn't look a thing like I intended it to," she moaned. Miss Ross, who was supervising the class, came over to take a look.

"Well," she observed. "Have you noticed we have larger waste paper baskets in the Art Department than are to be found in other departments? Don't be afraid to use them. You have learned a lot from this painting. Let's make a fresh start with a fresh viewpoint tomorrow."

Class Swimmers To Meet April 7 For Cup Points

The class swimming meet tomorrow night at 7 p.m. will feature various competitive swimming feats: bobbing, diving, 50 yard medley relay, pajama relay, 25 yard breast stroke, and 25 yard back crawl.

The first, second, and third place winners will earn five, three, and two points resectively for their class color cups. The judges will be Hannah White Nancy Donaldson, Barbara Brantley, and Beverly Kersey.

The success of this does not depend upon the participants alone. School spirit is the fuel by which they operate, so don't let your class down!

Class Softball

With the school term fast drawing to a close, Longwood will soon be practicing the last of the series of class sports that began in September—baseball.

Lindy Hatch, the manager of class softball, is busy organizing the practices which will soon be posted on the wires. Everyone who is interested is requested to turn out at the practices.

Longwood To Be Site Of Regional FBLA Meeting

The eighth regional meeting of the Future Business Leaders of America will take place in Longwood's Student building, Saturday, April 9.

The Longwood FBLA will have charge of registration, beginning at 9 a.m., which will be followed by a social hour. FBLA songs, presented by the Appomattox FBLA, will be part of the social hour.

Betty Ann Hughes, regional vice-president from the Nelson County FBLA, will begin the meeting, followed by a welcoming address by Dr. Francis G. Lankford, president of Longwood College. The response will be given by Christine Jones, president of the Longwood FBLA.

Contests in the following categories will be the next business: public speaking, spelling, parliamentary law, Mr. and Miss FBLA, Miss FBLA executive, and yearbook. Also, exhibit, bulletin board, essay, and the Dowell J. Howard award. Following these contests, the Longwood College FBLA will conduct a tour of the campus.

Longwood House

(Continued from page 1)

food. Coke, candy, and nab machines have been installed. Also there is a record player, a radio and cards for recreational use. A small dancing area is in the former dining room.

Mrs. Richard Brooks will serve as hostess and will be there whenever the house is opened.

Girls must wear school attire when going to Longwood House because of the public nature of the house.

Science Trips

Miss Elizabeth Burger's astronomy and freshman science classes will visit the Memorial Gardens at Duke University on April 5, 6, and 7.

On each day approximately forty students will make the trip to the Morehead Planetarium at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, to see "Easter the Awakening," after which there will be a brief discussion.

—Staff Photo

SOFTBALL MANAGER Lindy Hatch calls the balls on batter Flossie Barnard while Betty Lou Dunn catches in a practice session.

Timely Topics

Natives Rebel In Africa, US Fires New Satellite

By Frances Harnsberger

The natives in South Africa have been rebelling against white supremacy in Cape Town and Pearl. The United Nations Security Council has called upon South Africa's government to revamp its racial segregation policies in order to live in peace with the millions of natives. The government, however, has chosen to ignore the UN resolution, and instead, has tightened military curbs to avert violence. Police have been busy dispersing angry groups of rioters.

In the national news, the United States has successfully fired into orbit a weather satellite designed to send pictures of the earth to receiving stations to aid in forecasting the weather.

Senator John Kennedy (D-Mass.) has wound up his campaign for the presidential nomination in Wisconsin. Kennedy has staked his hopes for the presidential nomination on winning this campaign, which he compares to the battle of Waterloo. Senator Humphrey of Minnesota is Kennedy's strongest competitor for the Democratic nomination.

In Virginia, 32 men were arrested in Richmond Saturday morning during a dice game. The Richmond police department has been undergoing a reorganization, and has been fighting against organized gambling in Richmond.

Governor Almond has asked the Democrats of Virginia to unite behind the Democratic presidential candidate, as he seeks to reason out the "intra-party feuding" in Virginia.

The 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth concluded with resolutions asking Eisenhower to support integration and federal aid to schools in the next years. Ruth Denton was a state delegate to this conference.

Summer Institute

(Continued from page 1)

ceive a $120 scholarship from the state to attend classes for six weeks. These teachers will be chosen by nominations from school superintendents. One teacher in each field will be selected from each county or city.

A national institute for teachers of mathematics will also be held here. This program is one of four which will be held in the U. S., and will be a four-weeks course for teachers in elementary schools only. Over three hundred applications have been received from all over the United States, but only 25 can be accepted. The teachers attending will receive $75 per week from the National Science Foundation in Mathematics to cover living and travel costs.

Dr. Blanche Badger, math professor at Longwood, will serve as director of the national program. A new staff will be brought in to teach courses for the state math institute, since Dr. Badger will head the national program here.

Greeks To Give Sing On Campus Next Wednesday

The Panhellenic Council will sponsor a Greek Sing on April 13 at 7 p.m.

Each sorority will be an individual participant having its own theme. The participating sororities and their themes are as follows: Alpha Gamma Delta, "Guys and Dolls"; Alpha Sigma Alpha, "Country Store"; Alpha Sigma Tau, "HoBo's"; and Delta Zeta, "DZ Lassies."

Also, Kappa Delta, "Songs of the South"; Sigma Kappa, "Beach Party"; Sigma Sigma Sigma, "Tri Sigmas in Paris"; and Zeta Tau Alpha, "Spectra in Song."

The Greek Sing is open to the student body and faculty at no cost. This will be the first Greek Sing ever held at Longwood and the Panhellenic Council would like to have everyone attend in hopes that it can become a tradition at Longwood.

FOR EASTER GIFTS

see

LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP

Top Ten Tunes

1. Greenfields
2. Don't throw Away All Those Teardrops
3. I Love The Way You Love
4. Cradle Of Love
5. Sixteen Reasons
6. Baby What Do You Want Me To Do
7. The Old Lamplighter
8. Lawdy Miss Clawdy
9. Night
10. White Silver Sands

Get Your Records at Wilson's Home & Auto Supply

LC Softball Enthusiasts Personify Past History

With the coming of spring, many Longwood girls will join 9,000,000 other softball enthusiasts, as they leave the field house, carrying equipment and long suppressed "play ball" emotions.

Class softball tournaments have given Longwood students a chance to enjoy this sport in organized competition, while less skilled enthusiasts can be seen on any nice afternoon in heated competition with the local sixth-grand sand lot team behind the library.

Softball probably originated from a game called "indoor baseball," invented in 1887. The sport as we know it today has been known as mush ball, indoor-outdoor, kitten ball, and army ball.

Girls' softball was first mentioned in the Vassar College catalogue for 1876. Then in 1927 the American Physical Education Association appointed a committee to draw up rules for "baseball modified," which later became known as softball. In making the game safer and more suitable for girls, the popularity of softball increased markedly.

By 1933 softball had become a major team game, and the players outnumbered those who took part in baseball. Softball also became highly popular in many other countries such as Canada, Mexico, Cuba, and South American countries.

Softball is a game that challenges individual ingenuity and skill, as well as teamwork and cooperation; it is vigorous enought to be fun and stimulating, but not too rugged for any normal person. Softball is also safer and less expensive than most of its competitive sports.

Finally, a girl who plays softball gains an increased understanding and enjoyment when she is a spectator of a game where only the men are playing. These factors and many others have done much to give the game of softball its present day prestige—a prestige that seems in no danger of declining.

VEA Convention Selects Radford For April Meet

The annual meeting of the Department of Teacher Education of the Virginia Education Association will be held at Radford College, Radford, Virginia, April 8-9.

The theme of the meeting will be "The General Education of Teachers." Two members of the Longwood faculty will participate in the meeting.

Dr. Earl Boggs, dean of Longwood, will become president of the organization at the close of the meeting. Dr. Boggs will deliver the keynote address entitled "A Teacher Education Program Based on Competencies," at the opening general session Friday afternoon in the McGuffey Auditorium, Radford College. Following this general session the members of the conference will divide into five groups for discussions of questions projected from the keynote address. Dr. Richard B. Brooks, chairman of the department of education, will be the discussion leader for group four.

The general session in the evening will begin with a banquet. The after dinner speaker for this session will be Dr. Francis W. Chase, dean of the Graduate School of Education, University of Chicago. The discussion following Dr. Chase's speech will be moderated by Dr. G. Tyler Miller, president of Madison College.

LATE

"Waiter, I ordered an egg sandwich and you brought me a chicken sandwich."

"Sorry, sir. I was a little late calling for your order."

Anachronism?

Not really. 'Cause if Coke had been around in Caesar's day, Caesar would have treated himself to the sparkling good taste, the welcome lift of Coke! Caesar's motto—"I came, I saw, I conquered." Pretty good motto for Coke too—the prime favorite in over 100 countries today!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Chapman To Preside In Panhellenic Council

By Betty Rice Dawson

As a delegate of Zeta Tau Alpha to panhellenic council, Ginnie Chapman will serve in the capacity of president for next year. Ginnie is a tenth and English major from Salem. Her campus activities include Longwood Players, Roanoke Club, House Council, and senior manager for the spring play.

AGD

Alpha Gamma Delta elected Melissa Rowe, a home economics major from Gloucester, as president of the sorority for next year. On campus, Melissa is a member of the H20 Club, the Home Economics Club, and the Cotillion Club. Also, she is a Madrigal singer, sings in the college choir, and is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, honorary music fraternity.

ASA

Cherry Gorham, an English and Spanish major from Culpeper, is the newly elected president of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority. Cherry's activities on campus include past editor of the Rotunda and membership in the H20 Club. She is also a member of the following honorary societies: Alpha Kappa Gamma, Boere Eh Thorn, Kappa Delta Pi and Pi Delta Epsilon.

AST

A Spanish major, Kitty Good, from Roanoke, was elected president of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority. Besides sorority activities, Kitty is a member of the French Club, Spanish Club, and the Cotillion Club.

DZ

Junior, Barbara Chaffin from Martinsville, is the newly elected president of Delta Zeta sorority. Barbara is majoring in elementary education. In addition to her sorority activities, she also belongs to the Student Education Association and the Cotillion Club.

KD

Beverly Kersey, an elementary major of Richmond, has been elected president of Kappa Delta Sorority. As a member of the H20 Club, Beverly has participated in the water pageants. Also she is vice-president of House Council.

SK

Elected as president of Sigma Kappa sorority is Mary Byrd Micou, a Spanish and English major from Chester. At the present, she holds membership in the Spanish Club, Richmond Club, and Cotillion Club. Also Mary Byrd is sports editor for the Rotunda and has helped with the water pageant.

SSS

Judy Harris, an English and psychology major from Fort Ord, California, has been elected president of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. This year, Judy is the May Day script chairman, recording secretary of SSS, and business manager of the Colonnade. Among other of her activities here on campus are Cotillion Club, French Club, Pi Delta Epsilon, and vice president of Boere Eh Thorn.

ZTA

Zeta Tau Alpha fraternity elected Gwen Keesee to serve as president for the year 1960-61. Gwen is a business education major from Rustburg. Last year she was typist for the Colonnade staff. At the present, her extra-curricular activities include Cotillion Club, junior class pep team, South - Central Virginia Club, and FBLA.

Staff Photo

NEW SORORITY PRESIDENTS (clockwise from center) C. Gorham, M. Rowe, J. Harris, M. B. Micou, B. Kersey, G. Keesee, and B. Chaffin surround G. Chapman, recently elected Panhellenic president.

AKG Tapping

Continued from page 1

...ers are feelings. I was very surprised but happy; however, I cannot help but feel unworthy."

Odom Tapped

Chemistry and biology major Joyce Odom is vice-president of Student Government, ... secretary of Kappa Delta Phi, the Lynchburg ... Science Education Association and chaplain of Alpha ... Social sorority. Joyce, who is from Suffolk, says, "I ... there was any way to say ... I would like to but it is ... I cannot express in words because it gave me a ... I have never felt before."

Southworth Honored

Pat Southworth, a physical ... major from Newport News, ... academic scholarship ... of the "Who's Who" ... publication of the country's ... and universities and ... to membership in the ... Society, was elected ... all the ... and ... of the year ... the year ... Club, ... Club, ... Council, and ... Vice-president, and was recently elected by her classmates to serve as senior class president next year. Pat, who has been outstanding in all school and class activities in her three years here, stated, "Never before have I been so surprised and honored, and I am looking forward to working with AKG next year."

Faculty News

Dean Ruth Wilson will attend the Dean of Women's Convention of the National Association of Deans and Councilors.

This meeting will be held in Philadelphia, April 6-10.

Dr. Richard Brooks spoke on ... Practices" at the Conference of Elementary Supervisors in Roa... on Monday, April 4.

The Department of Teacher Education of the Virginia Edu... Association will meet at ... on April 8 and 9. Dr. ... will speak on "A Teacher Education Program Based on Competency." Following that, Dr. Brooks will lead in a group discussion.

—Staff Photo

A TRIDITIONAL SYMBOL of Longwood is the equestrian statue of Joan of Arc found in the Colonnade. Constructed and presented by Anna Hyatt Huntington in honor of the patron saint, the structure stands as a reminder to all Longwood students.

For Joan of Arc marches "Forward with God," as one . . . 'who in the universal crush of ambition cares neither for profit nor honor.'

Noted British Lecturer To Speak Here April 7

Basil Taylor, reader and librarian of the Royal College of Art in London, will be guest speaker April 7 at 8 p.m. in the Little Auditorium. The subject of his lecture is Gainsborough.

Mr. Taylor is an are critic, author, and noted authority on animal painting. For the past year he has worked as the advisor to the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts and is assembling its outstanding "Sport and the ... horse" exhibition, opening April 1.

He also wrote the extensive catalogue which accompanies the show.

In this country to open the Museum's exhibition of 60 of the world's finest horse paintings, Mr. Taylor will speak at the Virginia Art Alliance Meeting at the Museum April 9. He will also appear at other Virginia colleges, speaking on a number of art topics.

Mr. Taylor is no stranger to the United States, as he spent a year here in 1957 on a Ford Foundation grant. He was organizing secretary of the National Art-Collectors Fund in England, and is a frequent broadcaster over the BBC. In 1954 he gave three radio talks on "English Art and the Pic...

MR. BASIL TAYLOR

...turesque," an analysis of 18th century picturesque theory and its effects on England in the last twenty years.

He is the author of "Animal ... in England" (from Barlow to Landseer) and "French Painting."

What Do You Need in Jewelry? visit
Longwood Jewelers

"SPECIAL"
Sheaffer Student Pens
$3.93 Value For 98c
MARTIN
THE JEWELER!

Longwood Receives State Convention Of SCA Delegates

Between 750 and 800 Virginia junior and senior high school delegates attended the 34th annual State Convention of the Student Cooperative Association at Longwood College last weekend.

The Association was composed of students who are members of the Student Government councils of their respective schools, and was sponsored by the Virginia Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Saturday morning at 8 a.m. was registration and housing of delegates. The girls were housed at Longwood College, and the boys were housed in private ... homes in Farmville and at ... Hampden-Sydney College. There were general sessions and discussion groups throughout the day, and election of state officers Saturday night.

The theme for the convention this year was "Horizons Unlimited," stressing the tremendous opportunities for qualified young people in today's changing world. The SCA of Prince Edward Academy of Farmville was host for the convention.

Denton Visits Capitol For National Meeting

"It is encouraging to find that people want to help youth accept the responsibilities that young people must take," was the way delegate Ruth Denton summed up her feelings about the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth which was held in Washington, D. C., March 27 to April 2.

Ruth said that the "greatest emphasis was on strengthening family life, and in this light, the conference applies to Longwood girls who may themselves someday be mothers."

Attending the conference were 7,602 delegates and 500 international guests. Of these delegates, 1000 were young people with 700 being high school students from all parts of the United States.

The conference was opened on March 27 with an address by President Eisenhower, and closed Friday morning with a speech by Secretary Flemming. In between were countless meetings, forums, and assemblies in which over 1600 resolutions were compiled.

Playing a very active part in the conference, Ruth was one of three Virginia delegates to the National Council of State Committees, which planned states' programs for the next ten years. She also was a member of a work group dealing with the significance of personal faith for children and youth. The work group was the smallest unit in the conference, and was a discussion group. There were about 200 of these groups.

Also there were 400-member forums which met every morning, and the theme of Ruth's forum was "Beliefs."

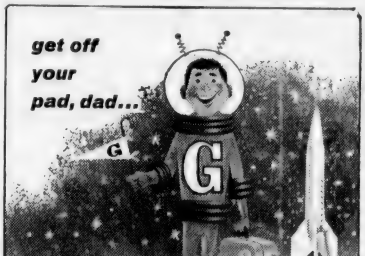
Preceding the forums were theme assemblies which had speakers and 1000 members.

"The nicest feeling," Ruth said, "was that the adults respected the opinions of the youth delegates."

Ruth met people from all over the United States, and she said the conference was a wonderful, unforgetable experience. She said that "the delegates left with an enthusiasm and determination to inspire their states and localities to take recommended steps in improving opportunities for the development of youth."

Longwood Hosts Deans' Meeting

The second annual meeting of Deans of Women and Head Residents of Virginia Colleges was held at Longwood College on Saturday, March 26. There were 58 people in attendance from 13 Virginia colleges, as well as two people from Syracuse University and one from Western Maryland College.



The speaker for the occasion was Miss Marjorie J. Smith, dean of women and co-director of the student dean course at Syracuse University, New York, where both Miss Wilson and Miss Spear took their training in personnel work.

The purpose of these meetings is to give both deans and head residents a chance to discuss their mutual problems, to offer helpful suggestions, and to hear an outstanding leader in the field of personnel work.

In addition to talks by Miss Smith, panel discussions were held. Moderator for the head residents' panel was Mrs. Sidney D. Eva, Longwood College, and for the deans' panel it was Dr. Margaret Harrrove of Mary Washington College.

Between the morning and afternoon sessions the group had lunch in the tearoom. Special guests for this occasion were Mrs. Francis G. Lankford; Mrs. Nell Griffin, advisor to House Council; and Dr. Helen Howery, sister of Mrs. Griffin and dean of women at Western Maryland College, Westminster, Maryland; and Miss Esther Weinstein, house director at Syracuse University.

Next year's meeting is to be held at Mary Washington College.

GO GREYHOUND
(for out-of-this-world savings!)

No, there's no Greyhound Scenicruiser® Service to outer space—yet. But if you're rocketing home for the holidays, there's no better way to go! It costs less than driving your own jalopy, too. With this exclusive Greyhound Service, you get more—pay less. Get in orbit...go Greyhound.

COMPARE THESE LOW, LOW FARES:

Charlottesville	$2.00
Newport News	4.20
Lynchburg	1.65
Roanoke	3.30

Phone EX 2-5153
*plus tax

BAGGAGE PROBLEMS? You can take more with you on a Greyhound. Or, send your belongings by Greyhound Package Express. They arrive in hours and cost you less!

It's such a comfort to take the bus . . . and leave the driving to us!

THERE'S A GREYHOUND AGENT NEAR YOU

GREYHOUND

Attend Fine Arts Programs

The Rotunda

Support May Day Practices

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va. April 27, 1960 | No. 18

Festival To Continue Through Saturday

May Day Dances To Weave Spell Of Wizard Land

By Joann Kleinecke

The Blue People in their rustic dresses and sunbonnets will begin the May Day fantasy of Oz. These men and women of Munchkin Land will do a happy folk dance in praise of Dorothy.

Miss Dowd's freshman physical education class will perform the dance of the Cornstalks and Crows. The Cornstalks, dressed in green costumes, will be joined by the Crows in their black outfits complete with wings, bills, and tails. Following this dance, the Hyenas and Parrots will perform an acrobatic ridicule of the cowardly lion.

Poppy Dance

Another freshman physical education class will dance in a colorful poppy bed. They will portray mice who watch over Dorothy and the Lion and finally save them from the opiate of the poppies to repay the Tin Man's good deed to them.

Oz Portrayed

Finally the audience will be taken right into the City of Oz by the dance of the Green People in the Emerald City. Dressed in a characteristic green, these dancers prepare the audience to meet Oz, who is seen in four forms. He will be portrayed as a bright scarlet and gold flame, a monster with hideous purple head and hairy, orange body, a beautiful woman in a ball gown, and finally a skull.

The Tinman's wish for a heart will be represented by the dance of the hearts dressed in flowing pink dresses with contrasting red hearts. They will present the Tinman's plea to soft waltz music.

Winkies Escape

The frolicking dance of the Yellow Winkies will celebrate their release from the bondage of the Wicked Witch of the West. From this rollicking, carefree dance, one is introduced to the Funeral March of the Ladybugs. Their bright red and yellow costumes are quite in contrast to their sad, mournful dance and the sorrowful music used to mourn one of the dead Ladybugs.

Mrs. Bobbitt's freshman physical education class will represent pandas, squirrels, rabbits, elephants, and monkeys as they dance through the gloomy forest attempting to get away from the horrible beast that follows them.

May Day will be closed by the traditional May Pole Dance, also to be performed by a freshman physical education class. The dancers will be replicas of Dorothy and the Scarecrow, and will twine the traditional May streamers, their costumes consisting of colorful skirts and white peasant blouses and faded blue outfits, complete with straw.

—Staff Photo

ORCHESIS MEMBERS G. Latchford, L. Kay, L. Collier, K. Wallace, N. Munson, S. Watkins, N. Wallace, and D. Marquette practice as trees and snowflakes for their dance in the Fine Arts Festival. The group is under the direction of Mrs. Emily K. Landrum.

Tonight's Program Features Orchesis

By Pat Hurst

Art, dance, drama, and music are being featured this week in Longwood's third annual Festival of Fine Arts. The programs are presented in Jarman Auditorium and are open to the public.

Orchesis, honorary dance society, will present "An Evening of Dance" tonight at 8. More than fifty students, under the direction of Mrs. Emily K. Landrum, will participate in the dance concert.

"Oh, to be a centipede—" by Prokokieff, the opening number, will depict a typical day at Longwood — the early risers, the post office rush, and assembly.

An unsolved problem: "E = Mc2" to music by Merrill will be the second number. "Fantasia on Greensleeves" to the music by Vaughan Williams will follow.

Human Drama

After the intermission, Orchesis will present "Then it passes—", a number to the music of Chaflin, which portrays the image of a man when a disastrous hurricane strikes.

"Winterscope", depicting the snows of winter will follow and will be performed to "Nocturne from Three Pieces for Orchestra" by Kurt Kennan.

The final number, "Jazz Suite," will be presented in five parts as a study of the modern jazz movement. The music for "Jazz Suite" is based on the Peter Gunn television series.

Thursday Matinee

The Department of Music will present Thursday's program, "A Matinee of Music," at 4.

The Madrigal Singers, directed by Mr. James McCombs, will open the program with three selections by Morley, and "Nymphs and Shepherds" by Purcell.

Soloists Scheduled

Frances Tune will play "Chorale in A Minor," an organ solo. She will be followed by Nancy Evans Cobb, soprano, and Jane Pennington, pianist, who will present "Beau Soir" by Debussy.

Nancy Cobb will sing three other selections, following Peggy Henry's soprano solo, "Madam Butterfly," by Puccini.

The Madrigal Singers will return with a selection by Niles and will feature Julia King, soprano soloist.

The remainder of the matinee will be three piano solos by Jo Ann Garner Wagstaff and 'Blues in the Band" by Baroni, played by the Longwood College Band, under the direction of Mr. Clifford Smith.

Friday Evening

Friday evening the Music Department will again contribute to the Festival of Fine Arts with a choral concert. The concert, entitled "A Sacred Service," from the music by Bloch, will be presented by the Glee Club of Randolph-Macon College and the Longwood College Choir.

Dr. D. D. Ward conducts the Randolph - Macon choir. The Longwood Choir is directed by Dr. John W. Molnar, chairman of the music department and chairman of the Fine Arts Committee.

Alpha Psi Omega

"Look Back in Anger," a problem drama of both comedy and tragedy by John Osborne, will conclude the Fine Arts Festival

(Continued on page 4)

School Organizations Elect New Officers

By Sandy Bryant

New officers have been chosen during the past few weeks for the 1960-61 session. The officers of the following organizations will officialy take over their their duties this fall.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science society, on April 7, chose as president, Barbara Moore; vice - president, Nancy G. Martin; secretary, Mary Bonner; treasurer, Sandra Booth; reporter and alumni secretary, Nancy Caudill; and archives chairman, Sandra Clements.

Kappa Delta Pi

Recently chosen officers of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education are Joyce Odom, president; Sandra Clements, vice - president; Lillie Rogers, secretary; Frances Weaver, treasurer; Brenda Parsley, historian and reporter.

Lychnos

Lychnos Society, local honorary organization in science and mathematics, has chosen Carol Boley as the new president. Other officers are Doris Tolley, vice-president; Nancy Speakman, secretary; and Janice McClenny, treasurer.

Band

On April 12, William Lee was again elected president of the Longwood Band. Assisting him will be Jane Pennington, vice-president; Gerry Ludwick, secretary-treasurer; and Clara Lee Parker, librarian.

Choir

New officers of the Longwood Choir are the following: president, Jean Helms; vice - president - business manager, Jean Dancy; secretaries, Helen Hines and Anne Peters; treasurer, Joan Ivy.

Granddaughters

The Granddaughters Club recently elected the following officers: Wirtley Raine, president; Margaret Vaughan, vice - president; Taylor Rowell, secretary; Raye Turner, treasurer; Shelby Jean Lacy, representative; and Sally Smith, Betty Brothers, social chairmen.

French Club

Liz Deichmann has been chosen president of Le Cercle Francais. Assisting her will be Betty Rice Dawson, vice - president; Bobbie Loth, secretary; and Ann McCants, treasurer. These officers were chosen at a meeting on April 12.

Players

The Longwood Players elected the following officers on April 7: president, Cecil Kidd; vice-president, Maddie MacNeil; secretary, Mary Lou Wood, treasurer, Ginnia Chapman; and technical directors, Matilda Powell and Emily Shelton.

Madrigals

The Madrigal Singers elected the following officers on April 5: president, Pat Sadler; and secretary-treasurer, Zoe Tapp.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honor fraternity in journalism, elected the following new officers: president, Sandra Clements; vice - president, Carolyn Oliver; secretary, Joann Kleinecke; treasurer, LaVerne Collier; and reporter, Nancy Lechler.

H2O

Hannah White was recently chosen new president of H2O Club. Assisting her will be Gerry Ludwick, secretary; and Morag Nocher, treasurer.

Spring Culture Institute Features Southern Art

The spring session of the Institute of Southern Culture took place April 22 in Longwood's Student Lounge. The Institute featured lectures by two Longwood faculty members and a visiting scholar.

Mr. Gregory D. Ivy, professor of art at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, spoke on "The Art Museum and the South," giving interesting insights into the coming of the art museum to the South and comparisons of patronage of those in the North and the South.

Mr. James K. McCombs, assistant professor of music at Longwood, entertained his audience with a lively discussion of "The Southern Origins of Rock-and-Roll." Mr. McCombs, who has given the South the honor of being the birthplace of rock-and-roll, gave a vivid description of its derivation from southern gospel hymns, the music with a "beat."

Miss Annie Lee Ross, associate professor of art at Longwood, presented a paper on "Domestic Architecture in Virginia." Miss Ross, who counts architecture as one of her chief interests, colored her talk with allusions to specific examples of the developing types of architecture in Virginia's history.

The summer Institute lectures, to be held July 6, will include "Music in the South" by Dr. K. O. Kuersteiner, dean of the school of music, Florida State University; "Art Music in the Colonial South" by Dr. John W. Molnar, professor of music at Longwood; and "Painting in the South: A Double Portrait" by Mr. Jon D. Longaker, assistant professor of fine arts, Randolph-Macon College and art critic for the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

May Day Lists

Students taking part in May Day dances have only two more practices before rehearsals in the Dell begin. The schedule for practices in the Dell will be posted on the bulletin boards.

Cut slips must be filled out for all classes missed for these practices.

Students are requested by the May Day Committee to watch the bulletin boards closely, and to be prompt in returning cut slips.

May Day Dance To Highlight 'Emerald City'

"The Emerald City" is another May Day highlight and this year's theme for the May Day dance which will be held May 7 from 8 to 12 p.m. in the Main Rec.

To give the day a final send-off the VPI Collegiates will make their appearance as the guest orchestra for the dance. Tickets will be available at $2.40 per couple.

Serving as Emerald City slaves are: Mary Ann Montague, general chairman; Winnie Ingulf, decorations chairman; Wistie Rochelle, assistant chairman; Ruth Denton and Nancy Harnsberger, tickets and Ann Snyder, music.

Also, Jean Dunagan, publicity; Ellen Grady, invitations; Virginia Van de Riet, figure; Bettie Jane Stegall and Barbara Bolster, lights.

Reminder

Information submitted for publication in the Rotunda must be turned in by the Saturday preceding the Wednesday paper in which the information is to appear.

Persons having material for the paper are requested to place it in the Rotunda box by the wires or notify a staff member.

The staff must have all material for publication by Saturday in order to meet deadlines.

—Staff Photo

GATHERING IN PREPARATION for their parts in the Fine Arts Festival, J. King, M. MacNeil, and J. Danes of the Madrigal singers assemble with band members J. Pennington and J. Helms beside organ as N. Kelly begins to play.

Rotunda Reviews Policy

A few unpleasant experiences have arisen lately due to the misunderstanding of the policy of the Rotunda. Because of this it has become pertinent for campus-newspaper relations to re-state our policy.

By gathering and publishing the news in all phases of college life, it is our aim to keep the students, faculty, administration, and alumnae informed of current campus affairs. It is also our intention to reflect the opinions of all on campus.

Editorials may be written by staff members or by guest writes, usually faculty or heads of campus organizations. As stated in the masthead, unsigned editorials are the thoughts of the editor. All other are signed by the contributing writer.

Opinionated columns on the feature or another page generally run under the by-line of the author who may state his opinion within the realm of good taste. Even if the name of the author is not expressed, it must be known by the editor before the story can be published.

The Rotunda not only will accept but invites Letters to the Editor. It is important to the life of the college that student attitudes be thus reflected. These letters, however, must be written legibly, in good taste, and signed. As in the columns, the author's name may not be printed, but the editor must be informed of the source.

The ideas stated in these columns, letters, and editorials, belong solely to the author; they are not necessarily shared by the entire staff. We do, however, wholeheartedly believe in the writer's privilege to express in print his beliefs and will, accordingly, stand behind him.

Any failure, no matter how minor, in reporting news or editing it, can throw accuracy out of bounds. The Rotunda is not infallible; at times we slip and are in error. Each member of the staff has certain definite responsibilities which must be met if the paper is to succeed in fulfilling its policy. There are deadlines and obligations of which we are constantly aware, and ever meeting, but we cannot succeed alone.

It is only through your interest and help that we can remain in the ranks of good journalism. We will fulfill our obligations, hoping that you will fulfill yours.

Are Comics Everything?

Have you read a newspaper lately? I mean, have you read more than "Peanuts", "Beetle Bailey", and the latest Earl Wilson column? There are great big letters lined up across the top of every page every day and, more often than not, they concern the presidential elections and the tense, world-enveloping situation in Korea. What? You haven't heard about these yet?

It's time every one of you started reading more about the affairs of today. In November a great many of you will be able to vote for the new President of the United States. How much about each man running will you know?

The often quoted statement that "we are the coming leaders of our country" is accepted—and ignored. It is up to each one of us to accept our duties as citizens and the first step toward the challenge before us is to start reading the newspapers.

Aunt May Smith is in bed with a cold and Sally Washington was at home last week from Junction College, but do you know that the vice-president of Korea—one of President Syngman Rhee's chief supporters - just resigned from office in the surge of revolts against the Korean government? This may affect the whole world — and the United States very soon in view of President Eisenhower's pending visit to this stricken country.

You say you aren't interested, but you'd better be. It's through such internal revolutions as this that world wars are set off. Are you ready to forfeit your life and the lives of others — simply because you aren't interested?

How about the National League ratings this year? Has your your boy friend asked you that one yet? Almost every day the newspapers insert a small box with the listings of every team as to where that team stands according to wins and losses. The papers also have huge headlines telling of scores and outstanding sports events so we don't have to run through line upon line of sports terminology to find a simple score. It's a funny feeling when a boy you really want to impress, asks you about a baseball team and you aren't even aware that such a team exists!

Be informed—not to the extent of knowing that a world-wide convention for bald-headed men was held last week with prizes awarded to the best looking "baldy", perhaps, but at least have a passing knowledge of the affairs at hand. Who knows, you may be handing some aspect of a crucial event before long and may need suggestions and help. It would be nice if someone were interested, wouldn't it?

—J. Carolyn Elliott

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examinations as mail by the students of Longwood college, Farmville, Virginia. Box 148.

Sandra Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Jimmy Kaldenbaugh ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lassiter ..... News Editor
Judi Bernick ..... Feature Editor
Mary Boyd Micou ..... Sports Editor

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 3, 1918. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

Florida Jaunt Yields Beach, Bongos, Boys

By Ann Agee

Easter vacation. To a few Longwood girls, those words meant a holiday they had been anticipating excitedly for weeks. Their destination — Florida.

One group of girls going to Fort Lauderdale included Mary Field, Ann Tweedy, Gibby Britt, Sally Sims, Pat McMillen, Kay McKean, Dot Fretz, Emmy Lou Critcher, and Sally Sims' aunt, Mrs. Betty Norton. Traveling down with the group were Nancy Hood and Judy Pharr, who visited Nancy during Easter.

Happy Family

The girls were impressed by everyone's friendliness. "It was just like one big happy family. You could run over and borrow a frying pan from the girls next door if you wanted to," said one of the girls.

While there they were treated to Easter dinner by Mrs. Wilcowsky, Ann Tweedy's aunt. The girls themselves took pans in hand and cooked Easter Sunday lunch for a few Notre Dame boys. The boys were fascinated by their southern accents: the girls were surprised that there were so few southerners there. Mary Field observed, "Almost everybody we saw were kids from northern colleges — like the University of Buffalo — and we didn't see anyone else from Virginia."

The days, which passed much too quickly, were filled with swimming, sunbathing, and "beach parties, bongos, and boys." Mary Field attended a party given in a home that was unusual to her — unique because it had a swimming pool in the living room. A favorite meeting place for all the college crowd was the beach in front of the "Elbow Room." Here one could meet old friends from Maine to Florida, as did Dot Fretz. "One even meets snow-ski instructors," admits Gibby Britt, who is convincing everybody it "snowed" in Florida. Sally Sims is also reported to have seen the snow, which blew down from the windy city of Chicago.

The weather was described as "perfect beach weather," having rained just before the arrival of the group, but the sun came out, and it stayed hot — perfect for a beautiful Florida tan.

Belafonte

Meanwhile, Norrish Munson, Katherine Key, Nancy Knight, and Claudia Whipple were enjoying themselves at Miami Beach, while Mary Linda League was basking in the Daytona Beach sun. Nancy Knight, it seems, got started off on the wrong foot. She had intended to take two pair of shoes, and ended up in Florida with one pair one shoe from each pair.

While there, the girls went to Pumpernick's, a famous breakfast restaurant. This was only the beginning, however, as they got tickets to see Harry Belafonte and Sammy Davis, Jr., in the grand ballroom of the fabulous Hotel Fontainebleu.

To the girls, one of the most fascinating things about Florida was the unbelievable number of huge, fabulous hotels and motels.

The group picked oranges and grapefruit, and as all visitors to Florida do, swam and sunbathed. They ate all types of food: Chinese, Italian, Dutch, and, of course, seafood. Some of the girls even went to see Bobby Darin, who was fishing from a pier at a nearby hotel.

Too soon, the wonderful trip had to come to an end, and the girls were back at Longwood again, excitedly talking, reliving with friends and each other, all the fun they had.

Easter Vacation BringsMarriage, Diamonds, Pins

By Kathryn Hubbard

The Easter Bunny has stopped bringing his traditional gifts of candy and colored eggs to most of us, and instead has replaced them with wedding bands, engagement rings, and fraternity pins.

If anyone would like advice on planning weddings, the most likely person to see is Mary Ann Hanner, who became the wife of Waverly Copeley, a graduate of Randolph-Macon, April 16.

Sara Oliver was the happy recipient of a diamond from Don Erwin, a senior at H-S. Margie Garnett and Sally Pleasant agree that diamonds are a girl's best friend. Margie is engaged to Walker Noblin of Farmville, and Sally's fiance is Dan Davis, a student at VPI extension in Danville.

Mary Eustace also has a strong liking for that certain precious stone received from John D. Smith, of Frederick, Maryland.

Margaret Graham, Glenna Snead, and Mary Blair Booth all have something in commom . . . they have rings on their fingers, each of which came from an Air Force man. Margaret received her ring from Bennie Kernmoade of Lincoln, Neb.; Glenna was given hers by Henry Chesly, who attended Roanoke College; and Mary Blair Booth was engaged, as well as pinned by Bill Brooks.

Others who have recently become engaged are Helen Hines and Bill Talbert of Buckingham; Nancy Cullip and Kenneth Alexander, a student at VPI; and Brenda Johnson and Buddy Burge from Louisana.

Pins Received

The Easter Bunny also added

(Continued on page 3)

Longwood Questions US Political Future

Pat Cleveland

Senior

I favor two candidates for president, Senator Kennedy and Governor Rockefeller. I have no preference for vice-presidential candidates except that the Republican nominee should be a Catholic and the Democratic, a protestant. This set of candidates would throw the great American public into a quandry.

Both presidential candidates would have personal appeal, character, and similar background. Neither has made political errors or enemies on any grand scale. The vice-presidential candidates would serve to lessen the import of the religious issue, the successor to Rockefeller would be a Catholic while the successor to Kennedy would be a protestant.

Pat Cleveland

If such an unlikely slate of candidates were presented, what would be the result? There is a segment of voters who do not vote exclusively by party. Unable to vote by party or personality, this segment would have to become familiar with the issues or, in all honesty, stay away from the polls.

Martha Gray Shirley

Junior

Feeling my way with the greatest insecurity, I shall, nevertheless, proceed to support Senator Kennedy as a likely prospect for the Democratic presidential nominee.

In full sympathy with prevailing anti-Catholic sentiments towards Kennedy, I still feel that this eminent statesman has proved himself capable and worthy of such a demanding position as President of the United States. According to my thinking, a ready mind and an even temperament should be the foremost characteristics in considering a candidate able to cope with the pursuing world crises.

Martha Gray Shirley

Throughout recent campaigns Kennedy has displayed his innumerable potentials. His admirable conduct has been above question when attacked by his opponents. He has displayed his increasing interest in the welfare of the nation as a whole. He has exhibited his magnetic ability to cope with people no matter what the prevailing circumstances.

Thus, I should like to suggest Kennedy as a likely presidential nominee.

Gaynor Vanlandingham

Sophomore

Voting for the U. S. President has become a hard task for conscientious citizens. The voter should know what his candidate really stands for before he casts his ballet, but now this seems to be out of the question.

The candidates at the moment are interested only in getting votes, thus, they are prone to make rash promises to the public. Be aware of this "If I'm elected, I promise" phrase, because one man can do just so much, especially when he is indebted to his party and has to follow party rules.

Vanlandingham

If the voter happens to be a party member, the problem of voting is unfortunately answered for him. The intelligent citizen, however, will weight the importance of religion, experience, and capability in the coming election. He will have a good reason for voting for his candidate, and more than likely it will not be just to keep someone else out of office.

Nancy Huffaker

Freshman

If I could vote, Senator John F. Kennedy would be my choice for president. My vote for Kennedy would not be because of the southern Democratic tradition, but because he has, I think, the qualifications of a good president.

The 1960 presidential race is sure to be one of the most interesting in years because religion will be an important issue. Many Americans are afraid of a Catholic president, and this election will reveal to us just how much religion controls the lives of our people. I feel a man should be judged by his actions, and his faith is his own private business. If Kennedy says that he is "completely free from any ecclesiastical pressure or obligations in fulfilling his oath of office," his word is good enough for me.

Nancy Huffaker

I believe Senator Kennedy to be the man for president because he has a way with the public. His personality has a certain electricity about it that can win and hold the admiration of many followers. To me, Kennedy holds true the American way. I could not ask for a better nominee, Democrat or Republican, or for a better President of the United States.

Dr. Robert Higginbotham

Faculty

Unfortunately for the Democrats, all their presidential contenders have significant liabilities—Stevenson's two earlier defeats, Humphrey's advanced liberalism, Johnson's Southern connection, Symington's lack of a public image, and Kennedy's Catholicism.

Political reasons as well as the country's best interests, I think, make Stevenson the party's most promising nominee. A moderate, he stands a good chance of attracting Southern support, and his selection might well prevent a Democratic revolt in Dixie. Moreover, Stevenson by nature is conciliatory and has the temperament and desire to weld together the discordant elements within his party after what promises to be—in light of the Wisconsin primary and the antics of Paul Butler—one of the bitterest Democratic presidential contests in many years.

Dr. Higginbotham

Timely Topics

Agreement Reached On Western Stand

By Lillian Young

The Western Big Three, U. S.'s Christian Herter, France's Maurice Murville, and Great Britain's Selwyn Lloyd, ended their three-day Washington conference last week with smiles. Agreement was reached on a Western stand for the Big Four summit conference scheduled to begin on May 16 in Paris. A united position on three major points was settled.

1. Discussion of a nuclear test ban and disarmament.

2. Hope that the Russians would not re-kindle the Berlin crisis.

3. Insistence that Berlin's status must not be permanently changed except by a free, supervised East and West German election.

In the face of more royal snubs from continental royalty in the form of regrets of not being able to attend Princess Margaret's May wedding, Buckingham palace announced profuse decoration plans for the royal wedding. The 1960 wedding of Princess Margaret and Anthony Armstrong-Jones will cost $56,000, five times as much as Queen Elizabeth's wedding in 1947.

Political unrest in the world has been touched off recently by revolts in such places as South Africa, England, and Korea. The Korean people have openly rebelled against President Syngman Rhee since the riot in Masan last month. Dissatisfaction over Rhee's rough-shod political methods have placed the entire Korean government in a precarious position.

Rhee himself has attributed the Masan riots to work or Communist agents. President Eisenhower has unexpectedly decided to stop in Korea on his way home from Moscow in June. His true purpose is stated to be to inform Rhee that his methods are endangering his republic and allied relationships.

Lab Equipment, Topic Of Speech At Conference

A conference on the use of the electronic laboratory and new visual techniques in the teaching of foreign languages will be held at Longwood College on April 30, in the Student Building auditorium. Both college and high school teachers of Virginia have been invited to attend. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Student Building Lounge. The program will extend through the morning and the afternoon.

Dr. Karl S. Pond, Foreign Language Consultant from the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida, will give lectures and a series of demonstrations on the use of the electronic recorder, the overhead projector, the latest films and filmstrips, and various other equipment used with the new technical devices in the teaching of foreign languages today.

Dr. Pond has twelve years of experience as a laboratory director in various institutions of the country. He was recently sent by the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, under the National Defense Education Act of 1958, to conduct a three-day conference on the teaching of foreign languages at the University of West Virginia. At present, Dr. Pond is Assistant Professor of French at Miami University and the Laboratory Director of the new Electronic Teaching Methods Center at Coral Gables.

Varsity Archery Begins Practice, Arranges Meets

Longwood has two categories of archery. There is the Varsity, which is made up of approximately 7 or 8 girls, and class archery which includes both red and whites and green and whites.

The archery class meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 3 p.m., and practices on Saturday at 3:30. The Varsity practices at 4 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at the elementary school and on the weekends.

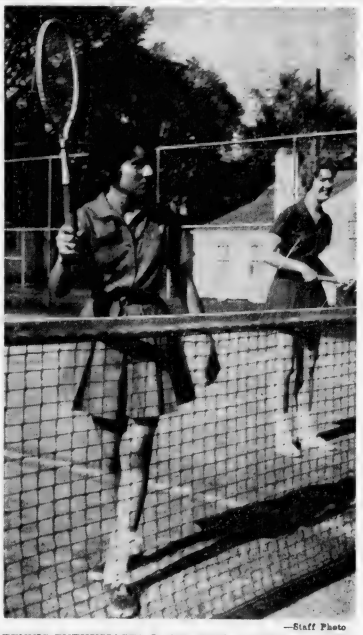
The Varsity has scheduled two matches before the end of school. The first is booked with William and Mary on May 10. This meet will be held here. The second is with Westhampton on May 14. The Longwood team will go there to play in tennis as well as archery.

The red and whites and green and whites will compete among themselves for points toward the color cup.

Examination Schedule

Second Semester

1959-60 Session



Examination Day and Date	Morning 8:05-11:05	1:05-4:05 Afternoon
Saturday, May 21	1:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	Reading Period
Monday, May 23	9:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes	11:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes
Tuesday, May 24	8:05 MFW Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes TWThFS Classes	3:05, 4:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes TTh Classes MW Classes WF Classes
Wednesday, May 25	8:05 TThS Classes TTh Classes	10:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Thursday, May 26	10:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	2:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Friday, May 27	9:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	11:05 TTh Classes 2:05 TTh Classes

Tuesday, May 24, 7 - 10 p.m. - Conflicts, Room 21

Any student with an examination conflict should notify the professor responsible for administering one of the examinations in conflict. The professor will deliver the examination for the student to the Dean of the College before the Tuesday evening examination conflict period.

Any deviation from the above schedule must be approved in advance by the Associate Dean of the College.

Examinations for evening classes will be scheduled on the evening of the regular class meeting during the examination period.

—Staff Photo

TENNIS ENTHUSIASTS Jo Anne Taylor and Mary Lou Mullins enjoy an informal afternoon session on courts.

Major Leagues Captivate Scene In Sports World

By Mary Shafer

The Tigers smashed the White Sox 12-4 Sunday for their fifth straight win to take an early lead in the American League pennant race.

In the National League, Pittsburgh dropped San Francisco to second place by defeating Milwaukee 7-3. This gave the Pirates undisputed possession of the upper berth.

Finsterwald Wins

Don Finsterwald fired a 2-under par 270 for the 72 holes to win the Greater New Orleans open golf tournament. The victory was worth $3,500 for the Florida veteran.

Boxing Crown

It was announced last week that Ingemar Johanneson and Floyd Patterson have signed for a re-match which is to be fought in June. In their last bout Johanneson defeated Patterson, which gave him the heavyweight crown.

H-S Defeats R-M

Hampden-Sydney and University of Richmond are setting the pace in the state college baseball race. This weekend H-S defeated Randolph-Macon by a score of 17-5 for a 13-1 record for the season thus far.

Track Record

Lyral Burleson, a sophomore at the University of Oregon, ran the mile in 3:58.6—the fastest ever run by an American. After the race Burleson asserted "I think I can go considerably faster."

Kentucky Derby

The West's Kentucky Derby hopes have been placed on Noble Noor since he won the California Derby at Bay Meadows. All Hands, an early favorite, is out of the race because of a fractured bone. The Derby will be run on May 7.

When sizing up prospects for the Olympics in Rome next August, nearly everyone agrees that the U. S. has the best pole vaulters. The hardest flying vaulters are veterans Bob Gutowski and Don Bragg.

Cigarette Contest Offers Competition Between Societies

The maker sof Marlboro, Alpine, Parliament, and Philip Morris cigarettes are again holding a contest between all sororities at Longwood College and the fraternities at Hampden-Sydney College.

The prize, a television set, will go to that organization which collects the most wrappers from Philip Morris Incorporated products. Each wrapper will count one point. One-half of the total entry must be turned by April 26, at 4 p.m. in the Main Rec. The contest closes May 11, 1960, at 4 p.m.

For further information, contact Norton Howe, Chi Phi House, Hampden-Sydney.

Social Notes

(Continued from page 2)

a few fraternity pins to the assortment already on campus. Carole Buckner is now wearing the TKE pin of Jay Brown, a student at N. C. State; and Bobbie Meador is pinned to Hampden-Sydney Theta Chi, Chippy Dowell.

Others pinned since the last issue are Marjorie Freese and Cadet Richard Steinke of the US Military Academy in West Point. Sally Thomas and Johnny Wallace from VPI are also among those recently pinned.

Class Softball

Class softball manager, Lindy Hatch of Annandale, has posted times of class softball practice on the AA bulletin board and urges all those interested in participating in the class games to get in their eight practice games. This must be done in order to be eligible to play.

Games are scheduled to be played the week after May Day.

Top Ten Tunes

1. Stuck on You
2. Night
3. Greenfields
4. White Silver Sands
5. Mama
6. Clementine
7. You Don't Know Me
8. Apple Green
9. The Madison
10. Cherry Pie

Get Your Records at Wilson's Home & Auto Supply

Tennis Team Begins Varsity Competition

Enthusiasm High As Class Singles Near Completion

By Gayle Arnn

Love-fifteen! Deuce! Ad in! Game! From early dawn 'til the fading of day, these familiar words can be heard echoing from the tennis courts and resounding over the campus. Tennis! At last the time has come for another of Longwood's favorite sports. Winter has expired and spring is breathing new life into the air, luring tennis fans to the courts where they can stretch their stiff muscles after months of muscular hibernation.

Tennis-Individuality

Tennis is unlike many of the popular sports at Longwood such as volleyball, basketball, hockey, and softball, in that tennis requires very little teamwork, and no teamwork at all in singles. But what it lacks in teamwork is compensated for in its intense demand for mental alertness, skill, and agility. A tennis champion has no one to whom he can accredit his sucess. It's this straightforward individuality that makes tennis such a challenge.

For many years the "Longwood Ladies" have joined the other collegiates throughout the United States in accepting this challenge; the result—a successful tennis team that competes with other colleges, and keen interest in class tennis. This year the members of the tennis team include Barbara Brantley, Ann Egerton, Gladys Patrick, Clara Lee Parker, Pat Southworth, Lindy Hatch, Sandra Phlegar and Carol Nye.

Seasonal Games

In the first game of the season Longwood won over RPI 3-2 in matches. Saturday, April 30 at 2 p.m., Suffolk High School will compete with Longwood here at Longwood.

Class Tennis

Meanwhile class tennis, under the capable guidance of the class and varsity managers, Clara Lee Parker and Carol Nye, is in full swing. The singles that were begun in the fall are now in the process of being played off, while the doubles are just beginning. The schedule for the matches is now posted on the boards.

4-H Conference Convenes Here For Competition

The district conference of the 4-H will meet at Longwood College on April 30. The areas represented here will be Prince Edward, Buckingham, Louisa, and Nottoway.

The students competing in this contest will be the ones who have already won on the county level. The winners from here will competc on the state level and then on the national level.

This is the fifth time the 4-H conference has met at Longwood College. The contests will be based on public speaking, lighting, forestry, egg production, food, clothing construction, home improvement, and laundry.

The awards are to be made by the civic organizations in this district, and the organization in charge of the conference will be the Rural Extension Service in Virginia. The meetings will be directed by the County Home Demonstration Agents and the County Farm Agents.

This is one of the many ways Longwood College is reaching out as a means of service in the community and in the state.

"Sweet as a sweetheart must mean..." Copyright 1960 The Coca-Cola Company

Ivy League

Is it over Ivy! Why, Coke is the most correct beverage you can possibly order on campus. Just look around you. What are the college social leaders going for? Coca-Cola! So take a leaf out of their Ivy League book and do the same! Enjoy the good taste of Coke!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

—Staff Photo

CAST MEMBERS Jerry Good, Norrish Munson, and Garnett Smith portray a scene from "Look Back in Anger" to be presented by Alpha Psi Omega in Festival.

Arts Festival Displays Student, Faculty Work

(Continued from page 1)

April 30 at 8 p.m.

The three-act play will be presented by Alpha Psi Omega, honorary drama society, and will portray the revolt of angry young men against the upper classes in England. The play was successful on Broadway in 1957 and was fundamental in commencing the "angry young men" revolt.

The cast is composed of Garnett Smith as Jimmy Porter; Norrish Munson as Alison, Porter's wife; Jerry Good, a radio announcer in Blackstone, as Cliff Lewis; Harriet Hunt as Helena Charles; and Dr. James Wellard as Colonel Redfern.

Miss Lucy Ann Dunlap, instructor of English and speech, will direct the play. Matilda Powell is student director and Emily Shelton is stage manager.

Art Display

The Art Department is featuring various exhibits throughout the week.

Paintings by Charles Smith, professor of art at the University of Virginia, are being exhibited in the foyer of Jarman Hall daily and during the evening performances. A display of books and prints by Mr. Smith are on display in the Longwood library.

On exhibit in the Student Lounge are paintings granted from the Committee for the Purchase of Paintings by Virginia Artists.

A display of old Virginia architecture is being exhibited in the Browsing Room of the library. The exhibit is on loan from the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

A student exhibition of arts and crafts is on display in the art department, and will be exhibited until May 9.

Final Program

The final program of the Festival of Fine Arts was a joint recital by Miss Josephine Bailey, organist; Mr. James McCombs, baritone; and Mr. Sterling Adams, pianist. The faculty recital was presented April 26 at 8 p.m.

Miss Bailey began the recital with "Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor" by Bach.

Mr. McCombs, accompanied by Miss Bailey, sang five selections and was followed by "Prelude, Chorale, and Fugue" by Franck, played by Mr. Adams.

Following the intermission, each of the performers presented another solo number.

Marine Officer To Visit Campus

Woman Marine Major Essie M. Lucas will visit the campus of Longwood College on April 28 to discuss careers in the Marine Corps for women officers.

In announcing her visit, Major Lucas said that young college students and graduates who qualify can look forward to interesting and well-paying careers in such fields as disbursing, administration, accounting, informational services and many others in the Corps.

Women officers are always needed to release male officers for duty with Fleet Marine Force. Periodic advancements in rank and assignments to various bases in the United States, including Hawaii, are among the many advantages offered women officers.

Training for women officer candidates is conducted at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia.

Major Lucas invites young women at Longwood College to contact her during her visit.

Order Your
Personalized
Calling Cards
from
Martin the Jeweler

Lanscott Gift Shop
has unique, different and unusual gift
for Mother's Day

CRISIS IN COLLEGE

"The university in America is not a community of scholars, but an enormous service station . . . where one can be born, go to kindergarten, lower school, high school, meet the girl friend and get married . . ."

"If students were limited to those who were interested in learning to think for themselves . . . approximately fifty per cent of our college and university students would disappear."

You can't afford to miss the shocking report from which these statements are taken. It is written by a famous educator in the new issue of McCall's. It may be the most important—and damning—article ever published on the subject, and every student concerned with her future will want to read it. May McCall's, on sale now.

Campus Greeks Hold Elections, Celebrations, Pledge Initiation

By Betty Rice Dawson

Alpha Gamma Delta

The AGD's celebrated International Reunion Day with a luncheon at the Weyanoke Hotel on April 23. At this luncheon, Dixie Hillard received the IRD Award, and the highest scholarship award was presented to Connie Goodman. Billy Jean Shores and Ruby Simpson Slaton received the scholarship achievement award and the best pledge award respectively.

In addition to the luncheon on Saturday, the AGD's initiated thirteen pledges and two Theta Alumnae. On Saturday night, they had a house party at Longwood Estate. This week-end concluded with a Sunday morning sunrise service and breakfast at Longwood Estate.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Saturday, April 30, ASA State Day will be held in Norfolk at the Admiralty Motor Hotel. The ASA delegates from Longwood will be meeting with the Alumnae Chapters as well as the two Virginia chapters for a luncheon and business meeting. The national president, Mrs. Robert Grady of Orange, Virginia, will speak at this meeting.

The initiation of pledges and the installation of officers will take place within the next week. The newly elected officers are: president, Cherry Gorham; first vice-president, Sue Gosnell; second vice-president, Virginia Van de Riet; recording secretary, Charlotte Haile; corresponding secretary, Dottie Gills; treasurer, Ann Howell; and chaplain, Dottie Nelson.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Mrs. Earl Peterson, national president of AST, will be on campus for national inspection of the sorority on May 14. During this weekend a banquet will be given for the senior members.

The new slate of officers is: president, Kitty Good; vice-president, Sue Crutchlow; recording secretary, Linda Kay Hartman, corresponding secretary, Mary Ann Zimmerman and Nancy Kelly; treasurer, Shirley Mills.

Delta Zeta

The Delta Zeta pledges entertained the members with a surprise dinner. On the following Thursday the pledges will be initiated into the chapter.

For recreation, the DZ's are planning a cabin slumber party this weekend at Longwood Estate. In addition to this, they are also planning to spend a week at Virginia Beach after graduation.

Kappa Delta

On April 13, the pledges gave the members a party in the sorority room. Other social entertainment of the month included an Alumnae Tea on April 11, which was also held in the sorority room.

Then on April 23, a banquet with alumnae guests was held in the Tea Room. The speaker for the evening was Julia Fuqua Ober, the Kappa Delta National Panhellenic Conference Delegate. At this banquet the Gamma Theta-Kappa Delta Scholarship was dedicated to the KD advisor, Miss Florence Stubbs.

Sigma Kappa

The Sigma Kappa's had installation of officers on April 5. The newly elected officers for next year are: president, Mary Byrd Micou; first vice-president, Nancy Lee Cole; vice-president, Barbara Brantley; recording secretary, Mary Betty Watkins; corresponding secretary, Carol Boley; treasurer, Fran Gallahan; and registrar, Pat Foster.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

In celebration of SSS Founders Day, a banquet was held in the Tea Room on April 20. Guests for the occasion were Mrs. Boggs and Mrs. Gibert.

Officers for Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority for 1960-61 are: president, Judy Harris; vice-president, Ann Allen; recording secretary, Vanetta Remaine; corresponding secretary, Becky Tuck; treasurer, Josie O'Hop; and panhellenic representative, Brenda Dod.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Delegates of Alpha Chapter, here on campus, will attend Zeta State Day on Saturday, April 30. The hostess for the occasion will be Beta Alpha Chapter of George Washington University.

Initiation of the pledges into the chapter will take place on Wednesday and Thursday. Then on Saturday night the entire group will attend a cabin party at Longwood Estate with the advisor, Mrs. Robert Merritt, as chaperone.

The annual White Banquet given in honor of the pledges and seniors will be held May 3 in the Tea Room. At this time the Best Pledge Award will be announced.

The new slate of officers of ZTA is: president, Gwen Keesee; vice-president, Wirtley Raine; recording secretary, Pat Southworth; corresponding secretary, Dodie Webster; treasurer, Virginia Kemp; rush chairman, Nancy Branscomb; and ritual chiarman, Betty Rice Dawson.

Honor Societies Sponsor Movie

Boerc Eh Thorn, local honorary English society, and Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic society, plan to sponsor a movie, Death of a Salesman, for Longwood students on May 2 at 7 p.m.

The movie, adapted from Arthur Miller's prize-winning play, concerns the life of Willy Loman, and his dream of success.

The movie will be presented in Jarman Auditorium. Admission will be 50 cents for Longwood students.

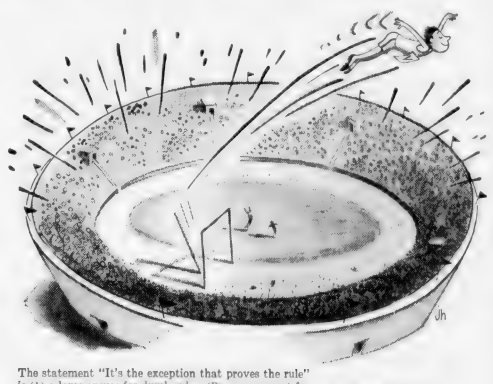
TENNIS BALLS!
Regular Price: $2.75
Now only: $2.25
at
Southside Sundry

Beorc Eh Thorn Hears Councells

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Councell were recently the guest speakers for Beorc Eh Thorn on April 21 in the Student Lounge.

Mr. and Mrs. Councell gave a brief history of the literary map of the Commonwealth of Virginia and an explanation of its function. Mr. Councell is cartographer of the map, and together with Mrs. Councell they are compiling a book on the literary figures of Virginia.

A display of watercolors and oils done on a painting excursion by Mr. Councell was discussed. After the discussion, a tea was held in the Student Building.



Mr. Councell is a graduate of the University of Illinois, and is a structural engineer by profession in Washington, D. C. Art is his hobby, and he has exhibited his work widely in the Washington area.

Mrs. Councell was graduated from Ohio State University and completed her graduate work at the Western Reserve University, George Washington University and the University of Virginia.

She is publisher of the literary magazine, Penman, and serves as president of the Virginia Association of Teachers of English.

Do You Think for Yourself?

(DIG THIS QUIZ AND SEE WHERE YOU RATE*)

The statement "It's the exception that proves the rule" is (A) a lame excuse for dumb rules; (B) an argument for doing what you please; (C) evidence of a healthy disrespect for absolutes.

A☐ B☐ C☐

You've just met a girl whose beauty impresses you enormously. Do you (A) ask for a date at once? (B) say, "Aren't you lucky you found me?" (C) find out what she likes to do?

A☐ B☐ C☐

A rich uncle offers to give you his big, expensive vintage-type limousine. Do you (A) say, "How about a sports car, Unk?" (B) decline the offer, knowing the big old boat would keep you broke maintaining it? (C) take the car and rent it for big occasions?

A☐ B☐ C☐

A manufacturer asks you to pick the kind of filter cigarette he should make to win the most smokers. Would you recommend (A) a cigarette whose weak taste makes smokers think it has a strong filter? (B) a cigarette with a strong taste and a filter put on just for effect? (C) a cigarette with a filter so good it allows use of richer tobaccos?

A☐ B☐ C☐

Smokers who think for themselves depend on their own judgment—not fad or opinion.

That's why they usually choose Viceroy. They've found the filter's so good Viceroy can use richer tobaccos for better taste.

Is this why they say, "Viceroy has a thinking man's filter . . . a smoking man's taste"? Answer to that one is: Change to Viceroy and see for yourself!

*If you checked (C) in three out of four questions, you're swift on the pickup, and you really think for yourself!

Familiar pack or crush-proof box.

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows—

ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER—A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

©1960 Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Read
House Council
Editorial

The Rotunda

See
Festival Reviews
Inside

VOLUME XXXIX | THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 1960 | No. 19

'Wizard Of Oz' To Be Enacted Saturday

Appointments To Fill 7 Faculty Vacancies

Appointments have been made for the academic year 1960-61 to fill vacancies made by resignations and retirements of the Longwood faculty. The positions to be filled will be in the fields of mathematics, English, natural sciences, and foreign languages.

Miss Merry Lewis Allen will teach in the department of mathematics. Miss Allen holds a B. S. from the College of William and Mary, and a M. Ed. from the University of Virginia. She has taught at Albemarle High School and at Suffolk High School. Currently she is studying at the University of Illinois, and will receive her M. S. in August.

Miss Martha Jean Burton, who received her A. B. from Guilford College and an M. A. from the University of North Carolina, will teach in the English department. Miss Anne B. Macfie will fill the one-year vacancy left by the leave of absence granted Dr. Taplin. Miss Macfie holds A. B. and M. A. degrees, and comes to Longwood from Southern Seminary.

Mrs. Anita Ernouf will serve as assistant professor of foreign languages. She holds a B. A. from Hunter College and will receive her Ph. D. from Columbia University. Mrs. Ernouf has served as translator for the U. S. censorship postal service, and has been a member of the faculty of Hollins College.

The new geography and history professor will be Mr. Harold K. Magnusson. Mr. Magnusson received his B. S. and M. A. degrees from Longwood College.

Joining the department of natural sciences will be Dr. Maurice C. Neveu and Dr. Carolyn Wells. Dr. Neveu holds B. S. and M. S. degrees, and has taught at Ohio Northern University for the past two years. Dr. Wells holds B. A., M. S., and Ph. D. degrees, and has served as a research associate at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee.

Mrs. Anna A. Wiley will return to the college after a year's absence.

The Spanish informant for the coming year will be Antoineta Farias.

Work Directory Offers Summer Job Information

The new enlarged 1960 annual Summer Placement Directory, the largest and most comprehensive listing of actual summer jobs, projects, and awards is now available.

This unique Directory, completely revised each year, is particularly prepared for teachers, professors, librarians, and college students.

Some of the over 12,000 summer earning opportunities listed throughout the United States and many foreign countries include an opportunity to be a recreation director at Washington's Olympic National Park; joining a group of young people from many nations on an archeological excavation to expose an ancient temple in France; and acting with a Bardstown, Kentucky, summer dramatic group in "The Stephen Foster Story."

The regular price is $3.00.However, students and teachers writing on their school stationery can obtain this year's employment guide for only $2.00 from The Advancement and Placement Institute, Box 99N, Station G, Brooklyn 22, N. Y.

Creative Poets Offered Chance To Reach Print

A national poetry writing contest for students is currently being held by The Riverside Church, an interdenominational Protestant church in New York City.

The judges will be Horace Gregory of Sarah Lawrence College, Josephine Miles of the University of California, and Howard Nemerov of Bennington College. Winning poems will be published in a special anthology, Riverside Poetry 4, for which Cleanth Brooks of Yale will write an introductory essay.

Only original poems, unpublished except for college publications, under one hundred lines in length will be considered for the contest, which closes May 15, 1960.

Students interested in entering their work should contact Prof. Richard K. Meeker at Room 110, West Wing.

"The Riverside Church is not interested in 'religious poetry' as such," according to John M. Pratt, Riverside's Acting Director of Student Work. "Our purpose, rather, is to encourage the writing of poetry, to hear what the more sensitive and able of our student generation are saying, to explore the concerns which they express, and to provide an opportunity for their work to be published."

Anthologies of collegiate poetry have been published by The Riverside Church in 1954, 1956, and 1958.

Organization Heads To Attend Meeting; Dr. Boggs To Speak

Alpha Kappa Gamma will sponsor a leadership conference for new presidents of organizations on the Longwood campus on May 9 between 4:45 and 7:30 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Francis G. Lankford.

The conference will feature Dr. Boggs as guest speaker on the theme of the conference, "Strength Through Constructive Evaluation."

Group discussions will follow, during which student government representatives will present the results of studies by the Student Evaluation Committee. The committee is composed of senior members of the student council. Discussion groups will be led by past presidents of campus organizations, and will discuss problems and possible improvements.

The conference, which is being held for the third year, will also include a picnic supper.

—Staff Photo

MAY DAY HEADS C. Boley, M. Montague, B. Parsley, A. Mixon, M. Lewis, and B. Kersey discuss final plans for costumes and scenery.

Hardy, Savage Journey To Student Convention

By Joann Kleinecke

Jo Savage and Ann Hardy spent an exciting weekend as they combined work with pleasure in their trip to the Southern Inter - Collegiate Association of Student Governments held in New Orleans in April. There were 27 schools included in the convention, all in the southeast, ranging from small girls' schools to large co-ed colleges.

There were the proverbial mix-ups in transportation which only served to add more adventure to the situation. After traveling from Roanoke to Greensboro to Atlanta, the girls missed their plane. They commented that "it was really fun. It was the first time either of us had flown, and we didn't even mind a little confusion along the way."

When they finally got to New Orleans, they stayed in the Sophie Newcomb dormitories, which Ann described as looking "like resort motels." After a preliminary meeting, which was actually an introductory program to acquaint the delegates with the convention routine, Jo and Ann ate at a French restaurant and strolled up and down the famed Bourbon Street, which they claim is "really something to see!"

Friday consisted of talks by Dr. John Price of Tulane and the mayor of New Orleans, plus a Dean's Panel to discuss communication between students, student leaders, and deans. There was a series of business meetings and, most valuable of all, the discussion groups which consisted of two two-hour sessions.

Ann and Jo felt these to be "the most useful aspect of the convention. They really gave us the information we came for. Everything was very well-handled so that one received information dealing specifically with his own school."

Saturday included a round of morning business meetings which still allowed the visitors to go to the French Quarter for more sightseeing. Ann and Jo lost themselves, along with the other delegates, in the fascinating whirl of antique shops, gift shops, the French Market, St. Louis Cathedral, and the art exhibits. After a banquet that evening, the closing session was held and after this, Jo and Ann spent their time talking to the different college delegates.

Since their plane didn't leave until two the next day, the girls went to the campus chapel for Sunday services and then downtown to eat lunch. Their misfortunes had not come to an end yet, however, as they had a flat tire while hurrying to catch their plane home. They accomplished this, but missed their bus in Roanoke and had to spend the night there! "In spite of everything," they both assented, "it was a really wonderful experience."

The trip was financed by funds from the campus fees fund for which both girls expressed their gratitude. "We went as observers, but I definitely think that we should become members; not only for the conventions, but for the communications between the colleges all during the year. Many problems can be cleared up in this manner by using information on file in other colleges," observed Ann.

Both girls hope that what they have learned "will be not only valuable to the council, but also to the whole student body."

State Endorses Grants, Loans

The 1960 Virginia General Assembly made appropriations for additional scholarships and loans for college students.

These General Undergraduate Scholarships and Loans have requirements similar to the State Teachers Scholarships.

The maximum amount that may be obtained is $350 per year. One half of the $350 is administered as a direct grant-in-aid, and the other half has four per cent interest on it.

Students at Longwood may apply for these scholarships and loans. An announcement will be made when the application forms are available.

Festivities Highlight Court, Dance, Drama

By Pat Hurst

The May Queen and her court will be honored Saturday, May 7, in the Dell at Longwood Estate by a portrayal of the fairy tale "Wizard of Oz". The May Day festivities will begin at 3 p.m. and will conclude with a dance in the main rec from 8 until 12 p.m.

Queen Claudia Whipple and her court, including maid of honor Annis Norfleet Murphy, Mary Linda League, Jean O'Connell, Helen Wente, Betty Jane Allgood, Kitty Good, Beverly Kersey, Nan McLoughlin, Lois Peters, Jo Savage, Zee Tapp, Josie O'Hop, and Sue Spicer, will be escorted by VMI cadets to the May Day celebration, which commemorates the little girl Dorothy's bringing happiness to the land of Oz.

Cadet Hunter Dovel will escort the queen. Escorting the court will be Cadets Thomas Alvey, Richard Duncan, Vaughan Foxwell, Leonard Graves, Robert La Garde, and Wayne Le Blang.

Also, John Moore, Reed Myrick, Edward Robertson, James Rogan, Stephen Slattery, Tazewell Thompson, and William Woodford.

Goodman Portrays

Connie Goodman will portray Dorothy, the little girl of Munchkin Land who travels with three companions to the land of Oz. Her fellow travelers are the Lion, Keaton Holland; the Tin Man, Ann Wells; and the Scarecrow, Sandra Perebee.

Each of the characters is unhappy and is in search of the Emerald City, where he hopes to be granted happiness by the Wizard of Oz.

Dances Highlighted

The fairy tale will begin with a dance by Dorothy and a dance by the Blue People of Munchkin Land, who dance in praise of Dorothy. Students in Miss Dowd's physical education class will follow with the dance of the Cornstalks and Crows. They will dance for the Scarecrow, who is unhappy because he does not have the brains to keep the crows out of his corn.

The Lion will be ridiculed by the dance of the Hyenas and Parrots, who perform antics for the unhappy Lion who wants to be king of the beasts.

Freshman physical education students will perform the Poppy Dance, which portrays mice watching over Dorothy and the Lion.

Green People

When the four reach their destination, the Emerald City of Oz, they are met by green people who dance for them. Then they meet the notorious Wizard of Oz, who appears in a different form to each of the characters when they express their wishes for happiness. The Wizard will appear as a bright flame, portrayed by Julie Thomas; as a hideous monster, Trina Childress; as a beautiful woman, Liz Johnson; and as a skull, Sandy Bryant.

The Wizard tells the happiness-seekers that first they must kill the Wicked Witch of the West, played by Carolyn Thorpe. En route to the West, the Tin Man's wish for a heart will be expressed by a dance in which the performers are dressed in flowing pink dresses and bear large red hearts.

(Continued on page 4)

Rehearsals

Wednesday, May 4
7 p.m. — Gym
Dress mass rehearsal
Thursday, May 5
Mass rehearsal — Dell
12:45 - May court and main characters
1 p.m. — Bus will start running and will run every 15 minutes.
Friday, May 6
Dress mass rehearsal Dell
12:45 - Court and main characters
1 p.m. - Bus starts running

—Staff Photo

UNIQUELY COSTUMED, May Day Characters Pat Southworth, Trina Childress, and Barbara Brantley plait yarn for the Wicked Witch of the West's hair.

Growth Means Change

As each school year draws to a successful close, another awaits to bring back old students and orient those that are new to the principles, traditions, and high ideals of our college. And as the school and its organizations grow to accommodate more people and new ideas, changes are made at various times among the organizations to better meet the needs and desires of all the students.

House Council is one of the organizations that has reconstruction plans underway if met with approval by the student body and administration.

Briefly, under the old system, various students are asked to serve as their respective hall presidents, and to keep order and quiet on the hall during study hour. They also serve as members of House Council which meets once a month with the executive council (officers) to discuss any problems that might have developed that would concern everyone. Among their duties is the power to administer call downs for broken House Council rules, three of which put a student on campus automatically for a week.

It is believed that under the new system, House Council can serve better and more fairly the students and the administration in a more effective way.

The new council would do away with hall presidents and each dorm would have a dorm council consisting of approximately five members who would collectively deal with offenses and give students an opportunity to explain their various situations instead of being met with an automatic call down for breaking a rule. No call downs would be given under this system. The students would elect those girls that they wish to be on their respective dorm councils.

House Council wishes all students to be aware of this change and to voice their opinions on the new organization program. Discuss it with your hall president in order to have pros and cons discussed at the next House Council meeting for a better council organized for you.

—J. A. P.

Who Needs Convictions?

The present is a crucial point in the history of our times. If a nuclear agreement can be worked out, the spread of nuclear weapons can be stopped dead in its tracks. The alternative is to turn the whole world into a power-hungry scramble for bigger, and better nuclear instruments of annihilation. Let's face it. We are perched on the knife edge between creativity and cremation.

Now is the time for men of convictions to publicly express their convictions. We need the open mind alert to new evidence. But the open mind is like the open mouth. Its purpose is to close on solid truth as the mouth closes on solid food. There is a desperate need at present for students and faculty to stop yawning, to center down on convictions, and to articulate these convictions.

Too often we students become simply what other persons desire us to be—conformists without convictions. Teachers can be covered by the administration; those who speak with power rather than caution on controversial issues may not be promoted. Administrators can be caught in the iron grip of the whims of alumni and legislators. When issues as important as world peace or atomic annihilation are involved, however, the shackles that turn academic freedom into a stupendous joke desperately need to be broken.

So many students have the strange idea that without a nuclear treaty, we will go mad perfecting nuclear weapons, while Russian scientists will be stargazing. Let's be realistic. It is no secret that Russia started later than we did in the nuclear race yet caught up with us and is now a first-rate nuclear power. What makes us think that we alone will gain from prolonging the nuclear race?

Immersed in the beautiful spring weather of Virginia few of us take seriously what will happen if we don't work out a nuclear agreement. Nuclear competion could be carried forward not only in a few remote caverns in Nevada but in many areas of other nations. In five to ten years, 25 more nations will be capable of joining the atomic club. Either we take positive action toward a nuclear test ban opening the door to constructive disarmament or, "So long, it's been good to know you." I would like to avoid that fact, but I simply cannot.

Study, discussion, convictions, action — this is crucial to our very existence at this critical point in not only history, but your history and my history.

—Bob Brubaker
The Virginia Tech

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 168.

Sandra Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Joann Kleinecke ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lechler ..... News Editor
Judy Detrich ..... Feature Editor
Mary Byrd Mieou ..... Sports Editor
Anne Johnson ..... Art Editor
Pat Hurst ..... Desk Editor
Linda Sudduth ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Cole ..... Circulation Manager
Janet Stanley, Janet Wainwright ..... Advertising Managers

—Staff Photo

ENJOYING THE SPRING SUNSHINE, Sally Simms lies quietly on the roof as Mac Brown applies a protective lotion to prevent burning.

Roof Versus Grades On College Agenda

By Jane Stegall

Just think how much better our grades would be today if we had lived during the time when you did not have to devote all your time to lying on a graveled roof. During those days it was considered a disgrace for a girl to let her skin become tanned by the sun. Then a girl would hide her tan . . . now she tans her hide! To be white and fair was the mark of a true complexional lady.

If those "ante-bellum" critics were to return now in search of their true lady, they would have to adhere to a different form of criteria. This would be true mainly because the only people who could fulfill their qualifications would be the old ladies, young babies, and people on deans' lists.

Boycott

Whether we realize it or not by exposing ourselves to the sun —as most of us do — we are boycotting the market on buttermilk. There was a time when buttermilk was the remedy for freckles and the secret of keeping a lily white skin. Now if a girl has lily white skin all she hears is — "Anemic? ?"

In order to protect herself today, any roof-spirited Longwood girl would say — "Do you think it might get warmer so I can take this blanket from over me?" Meanwhile a retaliation from the anti-roof girls comes in the form of, "Be glad when they stop going up so I won't look so white." In other words, there is one existing opinion at Longwood concerning roof bathers — "Just do what you wanna do and finesse the rest."

Roof Time

In interviewing Longwood's young women, various and sundry opinions were obtained. "Boy, if you don't think it took some intellectuals to think their answers up, you've got another thought coming.) The names of these girls will not be disclosed in order to protect the tanned and the untanned for the number systems of their professors. One girl said that she demanded equal time to study and equal time to tan. Another felt that she devoted just as much time to studying now as she did during the winter months. (We found out later she had a sun lamp.) "My studies come first regardless of whether I'm tanned or not," was the opinion of another.

Still another said she prefers sleeping in her bed rather than on the roof, mainly because she was getting holes in her back from the boulders coming through the blanket.

"I just don't have time with my four majors, Great-uncles club, Girls Scouts, Floral Arrangement League, and other things that meet when the sun is up," said another.

Yes, the opinions both advocated the roof and denounced it. I guess you've got an opinion too, and all we'd have to do to find out what it is would be to look at you!

Social Notes

Girls Abandon Campus For Greener Pastures

By Kathryn Hubbard

The Phi Delta Thetas at UVA joined in a "sing" last weekend at their spring parties when Pat Morgan accepted the pin of their "brother," Russell Reid Rice. The DU house also celebrated in similar style when Chuck Altman pinned Iris Wall.

Following in Chuck's footsteps, Al Wagner asked Barbara Dunnavant to wear his DU pin. Al is also from UVa.

Merle Holladay is now wearing the pin of Hampden-Sydney KA Ben Stone; Jane Martin is pinned to Chip Wood, of Kappa Sigma at Hampden-Sydney; Liz Eller and Allen Dahl; and Gerry Edmonds and Bill O'Brien, are pinned . . . Both Allen and Bill are Theta Chi's at Hampden-Sydney. Jack Boykin pinned Frances Norment with his Cotillion Club pin; Jack is attending VPI.

At Hampden-Sydney this weekend Olen Stewart presented Ann Bass with his Sigma Chi pin.

Hampden-Sydney spring parties were held by the Chi Phi's and Theta Chi's this weekend. Combo parties, concerts, and picnics were among the highlights of the weekend.

Randolph-Macon

Randolph-Macon also had fraternity parties scheduled. Jean Dancy, Pat Wise, Jean Bass, Julie King, Shirley Powell, Linda Forrest, and Ann Ruckman attended.

Pat Barrow and Joann Kleinecke went to Richmond for the Greek Dance and parties at the University.

Lynchburg College had their homecoming weekend; welcoming back the grads was Gayle Paschal from Longwood.

UVa

Parties at UVa were paving the way for Easters which are just around the corner. Getting "in the mood" were Mary Field, Judy Harris, Bet Harrell, Doris Tolley, Bonnie Keys, and Frances Jones.

Annapolis and the USNA were the host to Idella Boyer, Pam Bullen, and Dottie Brown.

Traveling to North Carolina colleges were: Betty Elliott, UNC; Carole Buckner, NC State and Carol Freese, Duke.

Good times were had by Virginia Wilson, Faye Waple, Jean Dunagan, and Mary Ann Montague while visiting at Washington and Lee.

Seen in Blacksburg were: Peggy Tyer, Virginia Van de Reit, Linda Lane, and Jeanne Peyton. Alma Jean Wright was seen at MCV this weekend.

Successful Play Has Impact On Audience

By Dr. Richard K. Meeker

The Fine Arts Festival at Longwood reached a smashing conclusion last Saturday night with the Alpha Psi Omega production of John Osborne's Look Back in Anger.

While the play itself may be aesthetically untidy, it is by some margin the most stimulating drama to come out of England in the last decade, and director Lucy Ann Dunlap deserves our gratitude and admiration for selecting it. Furthermore, her cast turned out some of the best acting Jarman Hall has seen in many years.

Now we have met an Angry Young Man, the English equivalent of an American Beatnik. While the Beatnik is distinguished by his silence and passivity, the Angry Young Man is remarkable for his noise and violence.

Pain of Life

To Jimmy Porter, people are all animals, who merely "want to escape from the pain of being alive." They have "no beliefs, no convictions, no enthusiasms," he keeps insisting, but they only reply, "Poor chap —what an objectionable young man."

Like the other Angries, Jimmy Porter is a product of white tile schools and a red brick university. His education has raised him intellectually from the lower class to the upper middle class, but psychologically and socially he cannot close that gap. Jimmy's frustrating marriage to an upper middle class girl, Alison, symbolizes this cultural gap. His devotion to childhood friends, his trumpet playing, and the sweet shop are his roots in the past.

Jimmy Porter, like the other Angry Young Men, is a culturally displaced person. A psychologist would see quickly that Jimmy's blustering is an attempt to compensate for feelings of guilt and inadequacy. A sociologist would see that Jimmy is a natural product of rapid social change in England through mass education. But what did the audience at Jarman Hall see?

Character Image

The dramatic structure of Look Back in Anger calls for the audience to change its image of Jimmy Porter from hostile to sympathetic. It was a real achievement for Garnet Smith to make himself so thoroughly objectionable in the first two acts, only to arouse our sympathy in the third. Although his voice was too theatrical for a workingman, he gave the most impressive performance of his college career as Jimmy.

Norrish Munson as Alison had an equally difficult task in rising to tragic stature from the mute, downtrodden victim she began as, but despite a normally thin voice, she delivered a powerful third act. As the target for most of Jimmy's violence she had the martyr's role most of the time.

Helena, played by Harriet Hunt, is the reverse of an Angry Young Man, in that she cast off her inherited status and morality in order to go slumming with Jimmy, but she finds her old habits too entrenched

(Continued on page 4)

Modern Dancers Offer Program Of Varied Appeal

By LaVern Collier
and
Cecil Kidd

Jazz movements received heavy underscoring in "An Evening of Dance," directed by Mrs. Emily Landrum, presented in Jarman Auditorium last Wednesday night, as a Fine Arts performance.

"Jazz Suite," based on music by Henry Mancinci, used the angular, terse posturings peculiar to jazz dancing throughout the five parts of the suite. Janice Harris, Carol Nye, and Jean Smith, in "Dreamsville," employed the jazz idiom strongly to suggest the madly beatific state of a drug addict. In "A Profound Gas," aggressive jerky gestures contrasted with more passive movements to express character differences in a beatnik group.

In opposition to jazz movements, the first half of the program, featured more lyrical "Greensleeves." "Winterscape," a study in black and white, showed dancers in black, representing trees, moving with controlled gestures and reacting to the snow dancers who moved with more sweeping, open gestures.

"Greensleeves" emphasized the stately saraband, with its almost ritualistic implications, to interpret Vaughan William's "Fantasia on Greensleeves." The continuous weaving motions of the hands developed into freer, more spacious movement and defined the folk song, "Lovely Joan" contained in "Greensleeves." This dance particularly had an unaffected, graceful simplicity which was more visually appealing compositionally than some of the vigorous jazz dances.

"An Evening of Dance" offered, in an overall view, a varied and pleasant vocabulary of dance movements.

A Tribute To Dizzy Lizzy

There once was a gal named Lizzy
Who circled around in a tizzy.
She went to college to gain lots of knowledge,
But wound up in a world that was dizzy.

The work of poor Lizzy goes on and on.
She crawls into bed, to rise with the dawn:
Term papers and tests—exams come later
Parallel, dictees, records of data,
Field trips 'n terms 'n accounting book,
Psychological study of Why Susie Can't Cook.
Washing, then ironing, charges to keep—
Thank heavens for classtime to catch up on sleep!

Breakfast then rec time then up to the roof,
A quick trip downtown, a short nap, and poof.
Gone is the daytime—it's study hour.
Now class meet for May Day before a stop in the shower.
Now to the books, it's time to grind noses.
Give up on the library, at ten their door closes.
So settle in bed, to study of course—
But soon sleep'll come on her nighthorse.
Dreams show parades of paper and ink
"Exams," sneers a professor, "you've got to think."

Buzz goes the alarm clock, another day's begun
Pick up your lessons where they were left undone.
Parties and movies and plays crowd the week
Nightime comes and you're too tired to speak.

Most of us here agree with Lizzy:
The world can't end — we're too busy!

—Judy Detrich

Tigers Capture Three Victories, Cindermen Lose

By Gayle Arnn

After bowing to Washington and Lee in a 13-3 defeat, Hampden-Sydney's Tigers made a dynamic comeback April 20 as they downed the Lynchburg Hornets 8-3.

The game was deadlocked 1-1 until the fourth inning when three runs were scored, followed by one in the fifth, sixth, and seventh innings. The H-S Tigers were sparked by Tom Davis, Moley Stewart, and Gerald Duncan with two hits each, and Larry Hammer with three.

April 18, Hampden-Sydney trounced Baltimore University 14-5. The Tigers earned fifteen hits, with five runs being scored in the second inning. Moley Stewart was the winning pitcher, and he was relieved in the seventh inning by Leon Hawker. Others who sparked the H-S victory were Leon Hawker, Tom Davis, Vernell Martin, and Larry Hammer.

RPI fans experienced a deadly wound as their home team was stomped by the Tigers 9-0 on April 16. Vernell Martin paced the Tigers with four base hits, well supported by two each for Leon Hawker, Tom Davis, and Lew Drew. The winning pitchers were Lew Drew, Chuck Colman, and Moley Stewart.

Track

Tuesday, April 22, the Hampden-Sydney Cindermen were defeated by Washington and Lee University 45-77. In spite of the defeat, H-S excelled in some events. Bill Caperton, holder of the 440 yard run record established a new record, standing now at 51:3.

LEON HAWKER

Bill Benson, taking first place titles in the 100 and 200 yard dashes and tying for third place in the pole vault, was high scorer for the Tigers with ten and one-half points. Next high scorer for the Tigers was Walter Chapman with seven points, followed by Bill Caperton with six points, and Howe, Miller, and Sayres with four points each.

The final outcome showed Washington and Lee holding nine first places and Hampden-Sydney holding only four with a tie in the high jump.

Fencing

Fencing, a pioneer sport at Hampden-Sydney seems to be having a little difficulty as it is Hampden-Sydney's only losing sport. Nevertheless, this is to be expected in the pioneer stages of any sport.

The Tiger foilsmen recently dropped their second match to Augusta Military Academy. Most of the fencers, however, have never tried this sport before, but are catching on fast. Next year H-S expects a greatly improved team, and perhaps sometime in the near future the sport of fencing can join the winning ranks of the other major sports at H-S.

WALDO CHAPMAN

Contest Change

The Philip Morris contest has been changed to end May 10, 1960, instead of May 18.

Please turn in your wrappers as soon as possible in order that your group may be eligible for competition.

If any further information is needed, please contact Norton Howe, Hampden-Sydney.

Timely Topics

Summit Meeting Headlines News, Outlook Hopeful

By Lillian Young

French President Charles de Gaulle arrived in Washington last week for his first visit to the U. S. in fifteen years. His purpose: discussion of the coming summit conference at which he will play host. At a carefully planned press conference, he gave his position on some summit topics—hope for improvement of East-West relations, a black outlook on the Berlin situation, no support for the U. S.-Britain nuclear test-ban agreement, and condonement for a joint East-West cooperative foreign aid program (one that the U. S. does not support). The summit meeting itself will determine the fruitful results of de Gaulle's talks with President Eisenhower.

As the Presidential hopefuls continued their campaigns, the issue of religion reared its head higher recently. Senator Kennedy, now in West Virginia to campaign before the May 10 primary facing Senator H. Humphrey, shed his whitegloved tactics he used in Wisconsin campaigning. He deemed the religion issue a major stumbling block and set out to prove that his religion is not ". . . anyone's business but my business . . ."

Last week in Nashville, Tennessee, some 3,500 Negro students from Fisk University and other Negro schools formed a half-mile silent column of marchers to the city hall. Their protest was against the bombing of the home of city council member, Z. Alexander Looby, one of two Negro council members. Looby, a lawyer, has defended many students arrested for participation in sit-down strikes. There was no violence on the part of the marcher-students. Mayor Ben West assured the mannerly crowd, "As God is my helper, the law is going to be enforced in Nashville."

—Staff Photo

MASTERING THE CONTROLLED technique needed to perfect a whisket stroke, Mary Foster and Susan Coe prepare to stop the ball being pitched by Barbara Stewart.

Sports Highlights

Bally Ache Favored For Racing Classic

By Mary Shafer

Next Saturday the most famous of all American horse races, the Kentücky Derby, will be run. Tompion, Bally Ache, and Venitian Way are the favorites, but about 15 of the country's finest three-year-olds are still in the running.

Baseball

Randolph - Macon right-hander, Mac Felts, led his team in revenge by defeating Hampden-Sydney 5-0 on Saturday.

Hampden-Sydney College filled its basketball coaching vacancy by selecting Hopewell High School's Bill Pegram. He will also serve as the Tigers' baseball coach and assistant coach in football.

West Virginia and Virginia Tech split a pair of Southern Conference baseball games Saturday with Tech as victor of the opener 6-1, and the Mountaineers taking the nightcap 4-3 in an extra inning.

The Citadel won its fifth straight victory in the Southern Conference baseball league, stifling VMI 9-2 at Lexington Friday.

The New York Yankees are leading the American League pennant race with a 6-4 record. They boomed into the first place after defeating Baltimore 16-0 on Saturday.

National League

In the National League, Pittsburgh dumped San Francisco into second place by scoring their eighth victory, topping the Reds, 12-7. This puts Pittsburgh in the top spot.

John Thomas soared to a world high jump record of seven feet, one and one-half inches at the Penn Relays. A number of Virginia and area athletes participated in the relays.

Hungary moved into the second round of the European Zone Davis Cup competition by jumping off to a 3-0 lead over Ireland. Belgium and Switzerland started their opening rounds by splitting the two singles matches at Geneva.

Church News

Baptists

May will be a busy month for Baptists as they close out the school year.

There will be a general meeting of the YWA's at 7 p.m. at the center on May 10. May 11, will be the last Bible discussion.

Ridgecrest will be having its Student Week with the theme—"Christ in an Expanding Universe", June 9-15. Students from all the Southern States will meet for study, worship, and inspiration. If interested in this project contact Bev White.

Methodists

The newly elected officers of Wesley for next year will be installed at the regular evening meeting on May 8.

The executive officers are: Nancy Martin, president; Betty Sue Dickinson and Nedlee Chapman, vice-presidents; Becky Carpenter, treasurer; and Rosemary Henry, secretary.

The Wesley choir will practice Thursday at 5 p.m. for its final service of the year on May 15.

Juniors Anticipate Coming Events Though Elections

The Junior class has begun to prepare for their senior year.

They have elected Circus co-chairmen, who are Dodie Webster from Fredericksburg and Matilda Powell from Blackstone.

The float co - chairmen are Ruby Slayton from Gretna, and Betty Jane Stegall, who is from Fieldale. Sandra Ferebee of Norfolk and Pat Callahan from Roanoke are booth chairmen.

Dr. Brooks has accepted the class' invitation to speak at the senior capping service.

The senior representative to the campus fees committee is Jerry Ludwick of Roanoke.

Beverly Kersey of Richmond will be in charge of the party given by the seniors for the freshmen on September 22.

Dodie Webster was also elected to write the song for the coming senior assembly.

Mary Blair Booth of Roanoke was selected to serve as song chairman for next year.

TENNIS BALLS!

Regular Price:$2.75

Now only: $2.25

at

Southside Sundry

Top Ten Tunes

1. Stuck on You
2. Night
3. Greenfields
4. White Silver Sands
5. Mama
6. Clementine
7. You Don't Know Me
8. Apple Green
9. The Madison
10. Cherry Pie

Get Your Records at Wilson's Home & Auto Supply

Longwood Provides Whisket Instruction

By Carolyn Elliott

Anxiously the viewers await the presentation of this new sport! All eyes are on the field . . . suddenly the yell "batter up" is heard on the field . . . then the game begins. Whisket tee ball makes its formal debut before Longwood's freshmen.

To many freshmen entering Longwood, this game is unfamiliar. However, as upperclassmen spread the word concerning whisket, freshmen long to see the sport, for Longwood is one of the few places in the state where whisket is taught. Their first glimpse into the game takes place at the AA demonstration; here, along with other sports, whisket is demonstrated as a part of introducing college sports to new students. Later in the spring, anxious freshmen try their hand at the game, for this sport is popular in freshmen physical education classes.

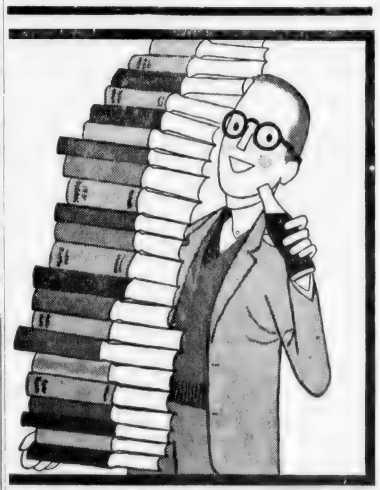
Whisket tee ball is similar to softball in that a regulation softball diamond and bat are used. The team is composed of nine players, the lineup being the same as that for softball. An official ten inch whisket ball, whisket rackets, and an adjustable batting tee comprise the remaining equipment.

To begin the game, the catcher places the ball on the tee. The batter steps up, swings with all his might, and tries to hit the ball out beyond reach of anyone's whisket racket. If he succeeds, he must run around the three bases and return to home in order to keep the team in field from scoring. However, if a player in field manages to judge the correct position of the ball in the air and skillfully manipulates it into the whisket racket, the batter's chance of keeping the field from scoring may be doomed. From then, the catcher of the ball must proceed to throw the ball out of the racket and to the nearest base where it is caught in the baseman's racket.

A beginner may find getting the ball out of the racket difficult, even defying the laws of nature. Often it goes above the player, on the ground, and in the wrong direction. The field team scores one point for each base if the ball reaches there before the player. In all, a possible four points can be made as each batter steps up to the tee. There are no "outs" in this game as in softball, for all nine players bat once each inning.

This game of whisket, in which the ball is never touched by the hands, is very popular among Longwood students. Perhaps in the future it will be played in class or team competition.

LC 'Racketeers' Score First Win



Longwood won its first crowning tennis victory of the year when it scored 3-2 in matches over RPI.

Again, on Tuesday, April 26, Longwood came through with flying colors, when, with Madison College, they played five matches, winning three singles, one double, and tying one double.

The girls playing in the singles were Barbara Brantley, Gladys Patrick, and Clara Lee Parker. In the doubles were Pat Southworth and Lindy Hatch; Carol Nye and Sandra Phlegar. The last double could not be completed because of the time; therefore, a draw was called.

There are three more games left to play: William and Mary on May 10 and Westhampton on May 14.

At this time the color doubles and singles tennis tournaments are taking place here. Schedules for the deadlines are posted on the AA bulletin board.

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

"De gustibus

non est disputandum"—and, quite literally, there's no question about it—when it comes to taste, Coca-Cola wins hands down. In Latin, Greek or Sanskrit, "Have a Coke" means the same thing—it's an invitation to the most refreshing pause of your life. Shall we?

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Accomplished Musicians Perform Joint Recital

By Sandy Bryant

The first program of the Fine Arts series was a most impressive faculty recital presented by Miss Josephine Bailey, organ; Mr. James McCombs, baritone; and Mr. Stanley Adams, piano.

Playing with great feeling and beautiful technique, Miss Bailey opened the program with her organ selection, "Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor" by Bach.

Following this, Miss Bailey accompanied Mr. McCombs on the piano as he sang Italian songs: "Mi Querido E Vero" from Il Pomo d'Oro, by Cesti and "O Bellissimi Capelli" by Falconieri. were among the most pleasing of the selections because of the warmth with which they were presented.

Good interpretation and excellent tonal quality emitted excellence as Mr. McCombs presented Stradella's "Col Mio Sangue Comprerei" from Il Floridoro, and "L'esperto Nocchiero" from Astarte by Bononcini.

Playing with deep intensity of feeling and interpretation, Mr. Adams superbly presented "Prelude, Chorale and Fugue," by Franck. It was only by watching Mr. Adams' fingers move deftly over the keys that it was possible to imagine that one wasn't listening to a perfected recording.

The performances following intermission were even more pleasing. Returning to sing Gounod's "Avant de Quitter Ces Lieux," from Faust; and Mathew Arnold's "Dover Beach" set to music by Barber, Mr. McCombs displayed great ease and excellent diction, a tribute to his selections.

"L'isle Joyeuse" by Debussy, was then presented with magnificent technique by Mr. Adams. After observing such enjoyable piano selections it was disappointing that the audience did not have opportunity to hear further renditions.

The recital was concluded by Miss Bailey who displayed artistry in "Litanies," by Alain.

The afternoon concert on a whole was quite pleasant and enjoyable. It was a delightful experience of fine music presented by fine artists.

Sacred Service Acclaimed Best Of Choirs' Work

By Frances Harnsberger

The Longwood College Choir, under the direction of Dr. John W. Molnar, and the Randolph-Macon College Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Roland D. Ward, presented Ernest Bloch's Sacred Service in three performances this past week end.

The first performance was given as a part of Longwood's annual Fine Arts Festival; the second one as a part of Alumni Day activities at Randolph-Macon; and the third as a memorial to the late composer in Temple Beth-El in Richmond.

The Sacred Service is a major work for any choral organization, and both the Longwood Choir, and the Randolph-Macon Glee Club did their best to make these concerts a memorable experience for those who sang, and those who listened. It is felt that they succeeded in doing so, for the audience reaction Sunday night showed every indication of a thoroughly enjoyed performance.

Considering the factor of limited rehersals together for the two groups, the performances were quite commendable. Most of the rough spots evident in Friday night's performance were smoothed out by Saturday night's performance, and the performance Sunday night, in this writer's opinion, was the best of all.

The part of the cantor was one of the best parts of the concerts. The depth and resonance of his voice gave the Sacred Service added beauty and meaning. The soloists added to the richness and color of the Service.

One may conclude by saying that the three performances were an interesting experience for both those who participated in, and those who attended, the concerts.

—Staff Photo

SILHOUETTED AGAINST a cloudy sky, the campus bell stands as one of Longwoods major landmarks.

Its ringing can be heard far off campus, reminding students of events, both present and past. Unnoticed until it is heard, it suddenly becomes the center of attention as everyone scurries across campus.

Talent Highly Praised In Matinee Of Music

By Edmonia Leech

A Matinee of Music, one of the series of Fine Arts Festival programs, presented on April 28 included excellent performances by the madrigals, soprano soloists, Peggy Henry and Nancy Evans, and the Longwood College Band.

The program got off to a rousing start with two lively selections of a typical madrigal style, "Now Is the Month of Maying," and "Sing We and Chant It," by Morley. The number, "April Is in My Mistress's Face," also by Morley, was in a slightly less cheerful tone, but the gaiety returned with "Nymphs and Shepherds," by Purcell.

Following the first group of madrigal selections, Nancy Evans Cobb sang beautifully the lovely "Beau Soir," by Debussy. A highlight of the program was "Un Bel Di Vedremo," (Madame Butterfly's dreams of "One Fine Day," when her husband will return to her) sung with supreme dignity by Peggy Henry.

The madrigals then returned with a group of four folk madrigals. "Ye Banks and Breas of Bonnie Doon," "O Can Ye Sew Cushions," "I Am a Poor Wayfaring Stranger," and "Go Way from my Window." the first two selections were clever arrangements of Scottish folk songs. Of a more modern style were the numbers "I Am a Poor Wayfaring Stranger," with Nancy Evans Cobb, soloist, and "Go Way from My Window," with Julie King, soloist.

After a brief intermission, the Longwood College Band claimed the spotlight. "El Capitan March," by Sousa, and Eymana's "Beguine for Band," and opened the band concert.

A different mood was set by "The Dream of Olwen," by Williams, featuring Jo Ann Garner Wagstaff as piano soloist. The concert ended with a grand climax as the band's director, Clifford Smith, chimed in with some hot notes on the trumpet, in "Blues in the Band," by Baroni.

Animal Imagery Carries Conflict Throughout Play

(Continued from page 2)

to dispose of easily. Harriet played Helena with the proper feline poise in Act II, but uncoiled smoothly in Act III. Only her nervous, rapid delivery limited her performance. She and Alison both had difficulty competing with Jimmy's trumpet.

Cliff, played by Jerry Good, was necessarily a static character during the play, because he was the umpire in the no-man's land of the conflict between Alison and Jimmy. Although he was consistently upstaged during the first act, Cliff made a strong, reliable norm.

Another static character, Colonel Redfern, managed to avoid the Colonel Blimp stereotype. Dr. James Wellard communicated well the pathos of a leftover Edwardian who realizes that his world is no longer may never have been—real.

Effective Staging

The less said about the set the better, but the staging was appropriate for a realistic play. There was little to distract the audience from the actors, and the absence of a curtain or a formal beginning closed the gap between the play and the audience very effectively.

The exposed bricks at the back of the stage, though technically justifiable, were distracting; they made the play appear to take place in a tunnel rather than a defined area. But then, Jarman Hall has always been better designed for chariot races than for intimate plays.

The audience, especially the young people, testified by their applause and eager discussion that the play has a powerful impact. The conflict between generations and between cultural levels is a universal one that even non-Beatniks must be sensitive to. Speaking of her father, Alison summarizes the conflict in this way: "We're hurt because everything has changed. He's hurt because everything's the same."

In terms of Identity and Alison, Osborn suggests that the cultural gap between them is never bridged by the loss of their baby. Only when Alison has been hurt as Jimmie has only when she has got them off her comfortable fence, can there be a real understanding. The play returns to the original concern of "me" and what the "poor loser" and the "poor squirrel" comforting each other.

Characters' Wishes Come True In Finale

(Continued from page 1)

Dorothy Doomed

Finally the characters reach the Yellow Castle of the Witch. The Witch attempts to kill Dorothy and succeeds in mutilating the Tin Man and the Scarecrow. She is doomed to death, however, when she touches the magic necklace which had been given to her by the people of Munchkin Land.

The dance of the Yellow Winkies celebrates the release of the characters from the bondage of the Witch. The Tin Man and the Scarecrow are repaired during the dance.

The Funeral March, of the Ladybugs, a mournful dance, will follow. It represents the Tin Man's concern for the tiny ladybugs and reveals that he does have a heart.

Wishes Achieved

When the four characters leave the land of the Witch, they go through a gloomy forest and encounter a host of animals, who will be portrayed by Mrs. Bobbitt's physical education class. Going through the forest, the Lion's wish for courage is granted, as he protects the little animals from a treacherous beast. The Scarecrow, too, exerts his brain and thus is happy because he can protect his corn.

Dorothy brings happiness to Oz upon her return and the Queen of Oz prepares a safe return for her to Munchkin Land.

The traditional May Pole Dance will celebrate the happy ending of the fairy tale.

Ann Mixon is general chairman of May Day and Mary Pem Lewis, business manager. They are assisted by Beverly Kersey, May court; Carol Boley, dances; Maddie MacNeil, music; Lee Burnette, props; and Brenda Parsley, costumes.

Also Pat Hampton, programs and publicity; Sandra Freedman, transportation; Judy Harris, theme and script; and Mary Ann Montague, May Day dance.

Come In!
To LONGWOOD
JEWELERS

Lanscott Gift Shop
has many different and unusual gifts
for
Mother's Day

Order Your
Personalized
Calling Cards
from
Martin the Jeweler

Do You Think for Yourself?
(SHARPEN YOUR WITS ON THIS!*)

If you saw a girl in a bathing suit on a ski slope, would you say, (A) "What, no skis?" or (B) "Cold?" or (C) "The pool closed three months ago," or (D) "Stay right here—I'll get the guard!" A ☐ B ☐ C ☐ D ☐

Do you think the statement "It's always darkest before the dawn" is (A) an astronomical truism? (B) a good reason for getting home early? (C) a piece of hopeful philosophy? (D) an argument for night watchmen?
A ☐ B ☐ C ☐ D ☐

Do you think that a man who can pole-vault 16 feet but doesn't like to, should (A) go out and do it anyway? (B) keep the whole thing to himself? (C) do a bit of self-analysis on why he doesn't like to go so high? (D) have the bar set lower?
A ☐ B ☐ C ☐ D ☐

When you choose a filter cigarette, do you (A) ask all your friends, and take their word for what's best? (B) take the one that makes the loudest claim? (C) investigate the facts, then use your own judgment? (D) go for the filter that gives you taste plus filtering?
A ☐ B ☐ C ☐ D ☐

It's wise to be one who depends on his own judgment, not opinions of others, in his choice of cigarettes. That is why men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. They know only VICEROY has a thinking man's filter—the filter with more research behind it than any other . . . the filter that changed America's smoking habits. And only VICEROY has a smoking man's taste.

If you have checked (D) in three out of four questions, you're pretty sharp . . . but if you picked (C)—man, you think for yourself!*

. . . a Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows—
ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER . . . A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

©1959, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Enjoy Your Summer Vacation

The Rotunda

Good Luck On Finals

VOLUME XXXIX | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., May, 11, 1960 | No. 20

151 To Receive Degrees At Graduation

McCorkle Retires From Active Career After 38 Years Service

School To Feel Loss Of Valued Educator

By Ann Agee

In this, the last issue of the Spring 1960, Rotunda, we wish to pay tribute to a competent professor and a fine person, who has served Longwood College actively and effectively.

Mr. Thomas A. McCorkle, better known around campus as "Mr. Mac," recently announced his retirement to President Francis G. Lankford, Jr. Mr. McCorkle has taught chemistry and physics at Longwood for thirty-eight years. During this time, he has played an important part in directing varied activities of the college.

Interesting Past

Mr. McCorkle was born in Rockbridge County, and attended Washington and Lee University, where he studied under the foremost Virginia chemist, Dr. James Lewis Howe. He graduated in 1914 with a B S degree in mathematics. In the following fall, he held his first teaching position as principal of Callao High School, Callao. In his high school teaching career, he taught Mr. Raymond French, who is now a faculty member of Longwood. Later, he attended the University of Chicago and studied under the eminent chemist, Dr. Gladfelt. Here, he received the M S degree in chemistry.

Thus prepared, he became an instructor in chemistry and physics at Shreveport High School, Shreveport, La. World War I soon broke out, however, and the year 1918 saw Mr. McCorkle graduating from Officers Material School in Norfolk, a commissioned ensign. He served as assistant to the chief chemist for the US Navy in the Norfolk navy yard, and as assistant chemist in Portsmouth, for two years. Ten months later, in July, 1922, he was appointed to the Longwood faculty as professor of chemistry and physics. He served as head of the department until three years ago when it was combined into the department of natural sciences.

Aid In Fire

In 1923, the college dining hall burned, and on the morning after the fire, "Mr. Mac" and other members of the faculty were to be found laying a floor in a new building, what is now the gymnasium, to provide a temporary dining hall for the girls.

This spirit of dedication and service has prevailed throughout the many years that Mr. McCorkle has been a part of Longwood. He had served as advisor to the Virginian, the college

Continued on page 4

MR. THOMAS A. McCORKLE retires after nearly four decades of dedicated teaching of chemistry and physics at Longwood.

Board Discloses Business Heads For Colonnade

The Publications Board has announced the election of Pauline Brightwell, a sophomore English-business major from Randolph, as the new business manager of the Colonnade.

Pauline replaces Judy Harris, who was forced to resign because of the pressure of other duties.

When in high school, Pauline had experience in publication work by working on the paper and the annual staff.

Pauline is a member of the BSU, the Longwood Library League, the FBLA, and the Tri-County Club.

Pauline has appointed the following staff members: head typist, Judy Smith; business assistants, Maggie Sue Mathias, Gail Jones, Fran Gallahan, Neva Arnn, Carletta Wisecarver, Ann Durham, Josie O'Hop, Ellen Bogan, Virginia Wilson; and circulation manager, Gaynor Vanlandingham.

—Staff Photo

GATHERING TO PERUSE scientific catalogs after receiving grants, Judy Stokes, Wirtley Raine, and Anne Palmer smile as they discover where they will go.

National Foundation Awards Scholarships

By Nancy Lechler

Three Longwood students have been granted National Science Foundation awards. The recipients are Judy Stokes, Anne Palmer, and Wirtley Raine.

Plant Study Planned

Judy Stokes is a senior biology major from Keubridge. She will study for ten weeks this summer at Mountain Lake Biological Station of the University of Virginia. Here she will study spermatophytes and plant anatomy and monohogenesis which will go towards her graduate work in biology.

A transfer from Flora Macdonald, Judy has been quite active in her two years at Longwood. She was vice-president of the Lychnos Society, technical director for Longwood Players, press chairman for Kappa Delta and program chairman for the Westminster Fellowship.

Judy is also a member of Alpha Psi Omega and the Cotillion Club.

"I am looking forward to my work this summer in hopes that I will gain a more extensive knowledge in monohoxenesis. My work will be quite a new experience for me," was Judy's comment.

Palmer Studies Algology

Anne Palmer is a senior biology major from Newport News. She will also study at Mountain Lake Biological station for five weeks this summer. Annie B. plans to do her work in algology.

Annie B. has had a wide variety of activities while at Longwood. She was president of the Lychnos Society, treasurer of the senior class and on the Y cabinet. She also played varsity hockey for four years. She was also selected as a senior personality.

Another scholarship was awarded to Annie B. for her undergraduate work. She was the recipient of the DuPont Scholarship.

"I was very pleased and surprised to receive this grant," said Annie B.

Gloucester Site of Study

A junior biology and math major from Newport News, Wirtley Raine, was also a recipient of this National Science Foundation Award. Wirtley will work at Gloucester Fisheries this summer.

Wirtley's grant includes her room and board and forty dollars a week.

Wirtley is a member of the Y cabinet, Zeta Tau Alpha, Cotillion Club, Granddaughters Club, the Lychnos Society, and Clubs, French Club.

"It should prove to be very interesting. I am very excited," commented Wirtley.

Actress, Actor Receive Awards For Stage Roles

Matilda Powell and Garnett Smith were awarded the Longwood Little Oscar awards for the best actress and actor of the year. Mr. David W. Wiley presented the oscars at a picnic for the Longwood Players on May 6.

A third oscar was awarded this year. It went to Matilda Powell for work beyond the call of duty in the technical field of play production.

Matilda, who received the best actress award for her role as Lady Brackwell in "The Importance of Being Earnest," said she was "excited and overjoyed, but when I got the second one, I felt sick inside."

Garnett's award was for his performances in "The Plough and the Stars" and "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Moreland To Deliver Graduation Address

Degrees will be conferred on 151 graduates of Longwood College by President Francis G. Lankford at the seventy-sixth commencement exercises to be held in Jarman Auditorium Sunday, May 29.

Moreland Addresses

Dr. J. Earl Moreland, president of Randolph-Macon College, will make the graduation address, and the Reverend Doctor Paul Neff Garber, Bishop of the Virginia and North Carolina Conferences of the Methodist Church, will deliver the Baccalaureate Sermon.

The two-day program will open with senior class day exercises at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 28, when Patsy Carolyn Goodman, of Dublin, will present the address of welcome, and Jo Ann Wagstaff, of Chase City, will give the class history.

Mrs. Elizabeth Shipplett Jones, executive secretary of the Longwood Alumnae Association, will induct the graduates into the Alumnae Association.

Daisy Chain Planned

Following the senior class exercises, the traditional daisy chain will be formed by the seniors and their little sisters, in the numerals of the graduating class, 1960.

Dr. and Mrs. Lankford will give a reception in the President's House for the seniors, their families, and friends at 8:30 p.m., and a Lantern Parade will take place on the campus at 10:30 p.m.

Choir To Sing

The Baccalaureate Sermon will be given Sunday at 11 a.m. The Longwood Choir will sing "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place" by Brahms, preceding the sermon by the Rev. Dr. Garber.

The graduates and the members of the college faculty will form an academic procession and proceed from the Student Building to Jarman Auditorium for commencement exercises at 3 p.m.

Dr. Herbert E. Hudgins, Pastor of the Farmville Methodist Church, will give the invocation, followed by Dr. Moreland's commencement address.

Degrees Conferred

The Longwood Choir will sing "Gloria (from Twelfth Mass)" after which Dr. Lankford will confer the degrees on the graduates and announce the names of honor graduates. Lutkin's "Choral Benediction" by the Longwood Ensemble will close the program.

Longwood AKG Selects Gorham To Fill Top Post

CHERRY GORHAM

Cherry Gorham has been elected president of Longwood circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma for [illegible].

Cherry, who will also serve as next year's president of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority, is an English and Spanish major from Culpeper Part editor of the Rotunda, she is also a member of Boerc Eh Thorn, Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Delta Epsilon, the H2O Club, House Council, and the Spanish Club.

Pat Southworth, the newly elected [illegible] is a physical education major from Fredericksburg. She is president of the [illegible] and recording secretary of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority, a member of the varsity hockey [illegible]

ACP Judging Gives First Class Rating To Rotunda Issues

The Associated Collegiate Press has awarded the Rotunda a first class rating in competition with other college newspapers in its class.

First semester papers, edited by Cherry Gorham, competed with 63 other weekly papers of similar enrollment across the United States.

The critique covers open each semester to ACP members, analyzes the newspapers according to coverage, content, typography, and makeup. The paper the Rotunda scored perfectly high on news and [illegible] coverage, [illegible] makeup, and headlines.

Specific marks for improvement included dull [illegible] paragraphs, use of dull [illegible] and more originality in [illegible] of sub-head.

[illegible] and tennis teams, has played [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] the annual hockey team [illegible] year.

Cherron Kelley, a business major from Pearisburg, will serve as secretary. She is past treasurer of Student Government, president of the YWCA, [illegible] of the Baptist Student Union, in Alpha Sigma [illegible] and the Cotillion Club.

The new treasurer is Pam [illegible], a biology major from [illegible]. She was recently elected House Council president, [illegible] of the Lychnos Society, Alpha Sigma Alpha membership director, assistant business manager of the Virginian, [illegible] and [illegible].

The historian will be Ann [illegible] major from Richmond. Ann, who is [illegible] the Cotillion Club.

To Class Of 1960

You are a member of the graduating class of 1960. You are graduating in a year of intense educational and political turmoil, when your future as a teacher or as a part of the business world seems confused and unstable. But this is your concerned . . . your future.

We are more concerned with you as a part of Longwood. In your years here you have learned. It needs your contribution . to meet coming obstacles. Having learned what not to do with time and energy, maybe you'll be able to eye-ball yourself in the world outside.

It is difficult to leave a place that has been a second home for such a long time, without feeling some qualms. But that is the opposite of what should be felt considering a time but it should be accompanied by a smile and a tear.

Longwood will miss you, seniors, but we'll get along without you, for you leave memories behind. You will take your life with you to build on your past. But you will leave your influence with which we will build our future.

May Day Thank You

"It's Spring again" and May 7 marked its presence with another Longwood tradition. I would like to express appreciation to all those who made May Day, 1960, the success it was.

To the Student Government who made the program possible and whose interest and thoughtfulness helped so much.

To the Committee Chairmen who stood by so faithfully and worked with untiring zeal.

To the Committee members who worked in the true spirit of getting things done.

To those faculty members whose advice was so valuable.

To those persons in and about the college who gave so willingly of their time and energies.

To the participants whose jolly enthusiasm made it all so worthwhile and . . .

To May Day itself — the force that has pulled us all together in a common bond.

So Spring has come and "Mother Nature has once again enveloped the world in beauty. With such beauty comes love. The trees and flowers join hands to smile and sing of happiness."

Thank you for filling my heart with such beauty, love, and happiness this Spring.

May Day Chairman
—Ann Mixon

Exams — Hooray!

Ah! Exams . . . a toast to your good health. We raise our coffee cups to the sky, then close our yawning mouths to the rhythm of the rising sun, thinking of the nights to come.

Meeting secretly in many dark corners we continue our deep, intellectual deciphering of lab notes and lectures. We laugh gayly at our silly drawings in the margins, then cry when we see they are alone on the page.

But we don't give up; perseverance is our motto . . . success, our creed. We will absorb those dusty books with zest, zeal, and Zimbalist, as we watch television with our open eye.

Our thoughts turn to hunger. We struggle with uncanny fortitude, but in the end we give in and selfishly consume page 364 in our English lit book, ignoring our psych book which we will drink later.

Sleep . . . blessed . . . sleep comes, and we quietly wipe a tear and put our heads on the book so we won't lose our place as we yield to rest. Hoping that something may be gained, we cleverly prop one eye open on a valuable key word. Then we close the other eye and spirit out only to dream of green-eyed professors and cold cuts.

'Tis a pity you come but twice a year. Such inspiration for study should come at least thrice.

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia.

Sandra Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Joann Ackenecke ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lechler ..... News Editor
Judy Dersch ..... Feature Editor
Mary Reed Micou ..... Sports Editor
Pat Hurst ..... Desk Editor
Anna Peterson ..... Art Editor
Linda Sudduth ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Dyer ..... Circulation Manager
Janet Stanley, Janet Wainwright ..... Advertising Managers

Unsigned editorials written by the editor.

NEWS STAFF: Sandy Bryant, Assistant News Editor; Edmonia Leech, Assistant Feature Editor; Gayle Aller, Assistant Sports Editor; Ann Agee, Assistant Desk Editor; Jo Ann Baumgartner, Kaye Hubbard, Maureen Cassidy, Jacquelyn Cummings, Peggy Epperson, Mary Shafer, Cammy Wright, Carol Mallory, Judy Dersch, Judy Nugent, Susan Lane, Barbara Ann Hall, Peggy Thomas, Jane Bobbitt, Gay Dunn, Lillian Vaughan.

CIRCULATION STAFF: Carolyn Joyce, Assistant Managers; Sue Ellen Sites, Ann Agee, Jo Anne Parsons, Kaye Hall, Judy Dersch, Linda Sudduth, Susan Bennett, Ann Mixon, Barbara Gaines, Elizabeth Ann Cox, Nancy Lechler, Joann Ackenecke, Susan Lane, Jane Bobbitt, Gay Dunn, Jane Brockenbrough, Linda Jones, Nancy Lee Dyer, Carol Mallory, Peggy Epperson, Mary Shafer, Mary Reed Micou, Janet Stanley, Janet Wainwright, Nancy Buckingham.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press. Rating first class, Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating first class).

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 3 1874. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

—Staff Photo

SNEAK DAY PREPARATIONS climax as Katherine Key and Mate Fadely offer encouragement to Addie Richardson at her final chore of ironing her bathing suit.

Rings, Parties, May Day Make Week End Special

By Kathryn Hubbard

Roses are red . . . violets are blue . . . mothers are special. . the week end was, too.

Can you imagine what a hard decision it is to make when Mothers Day falls on the same week end as a big week end somewhere else? What to do. . . you want to go to that fraternity party so badly, but what will Mother say . . . Wonder if a card will do. The decision . . . You guessed it; in many cases Mother won, but in an equal number of instances the fraternity parties rated!

Wedding Bells

Matilda Powell and Ed Conley decided to visit Tilly's mother so they could be with her when their engagement was announced, which, timely enough, was done Sunday. Tilly and Ed are planning a June wedding.

Brenda Parsley is proudly wearing an engagement ring from Jerry Bailey, now stationed at Fort Lee.

Keech Engaged

Edward Langslow and Barbara Keech celebrated the occasion in like fashion to Brenda and Jerry. Edward, a civil service employee at Fort Monroe, surprised Barbara with a pretty sparkler.

JoAnn Kleinecke is happily in love of love she and Jack Laing got pinned this week end. Jack comes from Austin, Texas, attends U of it and is a Kappa Sig.

In addition to our own May Day exercises in the Dell, Bridgewater College was having a similar function which drew the attention of Gayle Jones.

Parties Plentiful

For those who chose parties this week end, there were several to choose from. Jean Dancy, Julie King, Ann Ruckman and Pat Wise chose to make a return visit to Randolph-Macon fraternity parties, while Lee Burnett had no doubt in her mind that VPI was her destination!

Jazz Concerts

Jazz concerts, dances, combo parties, and picnics were on the calendar for "Easters" at UVA. "Easters" drew a large crowd of Longwood girls.

Ring Dances

Between now and graduation lie Ring Dances at VPI, Finals at VMI and H-S, and the torturing ordeal of exams. This is the last issue so we can only wish everyone who attends these social functions a most happy time!

Dear Folks

Tues.

Dear Mom, Pop and Andy.

Can you believe my first nine months stretch in this institution of learning will have ended in a couple of weeks? Gee, it's really been some year! What with bull sessions and bridge games in the dorm after hours, dates with Hampden-Sydney, week ends at Tech, U Va. and other places, excursions to Richmond, picnics, pizza parties, water battles and Chinese fire drills — Wow! What an education!

Exams! How do they expect us to read all those unread chapters, finish all those unworked problems, and answer all those unanswered questions in these last few days? What a hell of end to a perfect year!

Got an Engl. test which should be studied for, but no time. Maybe—no—he's the latest is coming over tonight. Then tomorrow a.m. I've got to cut two classes because they interrupt my reading hours.

Must dash. Told the girls I'd meet them in the "wreck." If I hurry, we can have a quick snack before dinner.

Love ya,
"Fuzzy"

Class Of '60 Enjoys Sneak Day Privileges

By Jane Stegall

One day out of each year the senior class at Longwood College steals away in the early morning hours to celebrate the fact that there are only a few more days left until graduation. This tradition is appropriately known as "Sneak Day." During this day the entire class picnics, plays, and enjoys the sunshine.

Up Before Dawn

Longwood's 1960 sneak day occurred yesterday, May 10. The seniors were up and out before any of the other students even heard their alarm clocks. Due to tests and classes that could not be missed a few seniors had to join their class later in the day.

No sooner had the seniors piled into their cars and driven a few miles than their stomachs began to growl. This was soon remedied, however, for breakfast was awaiting them at Sheldon's Restaurant in Keysville. Such a wonderful feeling, too, to sit down and have your breakfast brought to you and not to hear little bells ringing every five minutes to remind you that this must be your last bite.

After breakfast it was back to the cars again and off to Pettus' Lake. Shelters were present in case of rain, and the entire landscape encouraged relaxation and complete oblivion in relation to studies, student teaching and assembly . . . they thought. Assembly, however, falls on Thursday of this week.

Activities Vary

The highest forms of activity centered around swimming, sunbathing, playing bridge, and just enjoying discussions of what has passed and what is to come. Dr. Lankford even offered his boat and water skis so that everyone's interests could in some way be satisfied. After these strenuous activities, the seniors' appetites were again their main concern.

This again was solved as a picnic lunch was all packed and waiting. It didn't take long for 150 seniors to down the contents and be back to their previous interests which occupied their time until late afternoon.

Tiredly Return

It was a tired, but happy group that piled back into the automobiles for the return trip to school. With a sigh of contentment they all thought to themselves that sneak day should come more often. This would never do, because as one senior stated, "It wouldn't be as pleasurable nor as memorable, for truly it is a special day and one which rests in each senior's store of fondest memories."

T-Shirt, Torso Captivate Scene In Dress Styles

By Judy Detrich

Though thoughts about fashions still tend to be expressed in terms of madras material and McMullen collared blouses, pleasantly enough the fashion emphasis has shifted to styles in dresses.

T-Shirt Revival

The biggest news is the great t-shirt dress revival. The knitted cotton dresses are designed with blousing tops and skirts that are slim and easy. The waistline is lightly shirred, being caught up with a belt of the same material or of leather, especially patent leather. Following the Sixty mode these smartly designed dresses will feature checks and stripes in the conservative - yet - sophisticated black and white combination.

The low-down on waists comes with another revival—the torso dress. Emphasizing a fullness that begins on the brink of the torso, this year's dress, unlike the torso of a few years back, will be seen most often with a belted waist. For a most dramatic effect the torso dress should be accompanied by a close-fitting hair cut, a wheel-brimmed straw hat, and really long gloves.

Overblouse In

The youthful overblouse dress is still going like Sixty. Designers have given it an up-dated touch by offering cut-out sleeves and smocklike gathering, and by adding the trick of jutting out briskly at the back.

Other 60-isms in the line of dresses are the unsleeved, but big collared princess dresses being seen with big, balancing hats; pleats, pleats, pleats; and soft pastels of dacron or chiffon—not to mention the ever popular shirtwaists.

Suitcases Ready For Summer As Plans Become Actualities

By Bobbi Goodman

If you, too, waste the afternoons roaming the halls of your dorm, you are very likely to find that the two really big topics up for discussion in the rooms of Ruffner, Tabb, Student, and Cunningham as we approach the end of May seem to be exams and summer vacation.

Let us ignore the depressing aspects of the former like any good procrastinating Longwood girl, and take a look at what "Summer '60 holds for some of the luckier girls in our midst."

Summer in Iran

How much luckier can one be than to spend an entire summer in Iran? Not much luckier, according to John Hollyfield, as she packs her khaki bermudas, pith helmet, sun glasses, and Coppertone. A whole country full of desert should certainly top the roof for suntan.

Next on the list of people we're jealous of is Bobbyee Bolster, who is sailing off to the sun-bathed shores of Hawaii. First, however, Bobbyee is representing her Longwood chapter of Delta Zeta sorority at a convention in Pasadena, California. Would you like to go to the Panama Canal Zone with Ginger Culpeper? Perhaps you prefer Canada, as do Roberta Cobb and Merle Holaday? Does the thought of visiting Europe with Sara Pizarro interest you? If you're Mary Byrd Micou, you're happily anticipating a visit to Sun Valley, Idaho for the Sigma Kappa convention. If you're Connie Costan, how would a relaxing visit to Florida sound?

Southerners Go North

New York will be able to account for quite a few Longwood girls this summer. A few of them are Carolyn Axom, Mary Ann Montague, Gaye Ashworth, Pat Hickey, Mary Leach Elmore, and Alma Jean Wright.

Beverley Kersey and Ann Coleman will be found at Spring Lake Beach, New Jersey, while Virginia Wilson and Liz Robertson sun at Point Pleasant Beach in the same state.

Also Northward bound are Bobbie Caples, Carolyn Thorpe, Mabel Healy, and Elma Mackey, who are planning an excursion to Cape Cod as well as a general tour of New England. Becky Tuck plans to work in Massachusetts; Barbara Chaffin, in Maine; Judy Corse and Marion and Nofah Elliott will journey farther north to Canada.

Counselors Travel

Girls with summer counseling jobs are: Barbara Gray Martin in Hendersonville, North Carolina; Janice Harris in Maryland; Carole Walton, Sally Sims, and Trina Childress at Virginia Beach; Sandra Freedman and Laura Pumele at Camp Easter Seal in Roanoke; and Susan Crisman and Jackie Skellie at a Girl Scout camp in West Virginia.

We can account for Katie Fulton at Nags' Head, Mary Foster at Myrtle Beach, and 14 members of the Longwood Hockey Team who will, quite logically, be at hockey camp in Pennsylvania.

Emily Shelton will be found in Chicago, Ginny Malles and Carole Freeze in Pennsylvania, and Wendy Warren will be directing recreation at a naval hospital in Bethesda, Maryland.

Recreation Work

Gail Deaver is going to work with the recreation department in Lexington, while Patti Barnes and Sue Caravella will also be "recreating" in Tampa, Florida. Peggy Grosch plans to be scouting, or, that is, working at Fort Lee, while Carol Nye does likewise at Fort Sheridan in Illinois.

Jane Stegall is working for a newspaper in Martinsville; Sandy Watkins will be a physical science aide in Portsmouth; and Margaret Powers has a prospective government job in Washington, D. C. Gretchen Latchford will model at the Virginia Hotel in Lynchburg.

Beachers Abundant

Finally, if you just want to see practically everybody from Longwood, take a little trip down to Virginia Beach anytime during the first couple of weeks of summer vacation. It seems that everybody interviewed about summer plans would conclude by saying, "And, oh, yes, I'm going down to the beach for a few days . . ."

Pardon me while I go pack . . . for summer school, that is.

Class Enthusiasm Mounts In Cup Race

Timely Topics

U S Intelligence In Spy Turmoil With Russians

By Frances Harnsberger

The unarmed U2 plane shot down by the Russians last week was not a United States weather plane, as US Intelligence first reported.

The pilot, Francis G. Powers, from Pound, Virginia, was, according to Khrushchev, on a spy mission for the United States. The pilot was captured alive and is being held in Moscow.

It is hoped that this espionage mission will not reflect on the forthcoming summit meeting to be held later this month.

Caryl Chessman was executed in California after all legal efforts failed. He spent 12 years on Death Row awaiting execution for a number of crimes which he said he did not commit.

Senator John F. Kennedy and Senator Hubert H. Humphrey held a debate in Charleston, West Virginia, last week, and there were no fireworks. The viewpoints expressed by the two candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination were almost interchangeable.

Golfers Tee Off In State Match

Some seventy golfers from eleven Virginia colleges will tee off Monday in the eleventh annual State Intercollegiate Golf Tournament at Cascade course in Hot Springs.

Colleges who will be represented include Bridgewater, the University of Virginia, University of Richmond, VMI, William and Mary, Randolph Macon, Hampden-Sydney, VPI, Lynchburg, Washington and Lee, and William and Mary division at Norfolk.

The golfers will begin play Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Each man will play 36 holes for the record. The field includes two former state amateur champs, Jimmy Flipper of VPI, and Wayne Jackson of Randolph Macon.

—Staff Photo

SYMBOLIZING THE CONTENTION between the red and whites and green and whites in sports, P. Skellie, S. Bierer, A. Agee, and G. Britt side off, as W. Egolf and A. Greene struggle over the color cup. Race is scheduled to end next week.

Class Points Totaled For Coveted Victory

By Janice Harris

As the end of the school year approaches, green and whites and red and whites anxiously await the announcement of the winning of the color cup.

The color cup is a silver trophy presented to the color that has compiled the highest number of points for participation in athletic events. The events contested each year include field hockey, color races, volleyball, basketball, swimming, tennis, archery, and softball.

Competition Games

The competition for the color cup began in early November with the class hockey games. All the games were well-attended by the "old hands" and especially by the new freshmen. In the field hockey competition, the freshmen won over the junior and senior teams; the sophomores won over the senior team; and the juniors routed the sophs and seniors.

These games culminated in the exciting freshman - sophomore game, which brought out the large majority of the student body. The result of this game was a tie. The hockey competition, then ended in a green and white victory.

Color Rush

The next area of competition vied for was the races, more formally known as color rush. Five runners from each color competed in the races. The goal was to obtain color banners for certain buildings on campus. The end of the races found the green and whites again victorious.

The classes, in February, competed in volleyball and basketball. In the volleyball competition, freshmen were victorious over the seniors; the sophomores won over the freshmen and seniors. The juniors were victorious in winning all their games. Green and whites added to their collection of wins all another

Reds Win

In the [illegible] the reds and whites made a striking comeback to win the points for this event.

The swimming meet held on April [illegible] was participated in by the classes again this year for the first time in several years. Several meetings of consideration were scheduled. They were bob-

(Continued on page 4)

Longwood Team Defeats Suffolk

The Longwood tennis team met the Suffolk High School players in competition consisting of four singles and three doubles on April 30 on the home court.

The Longwood team defeated Suffolk, which has one of the best tennis teams in the state, in two singles matches and two doubles matches.

Members of the Longwood team included Barbara Brantley, Ann Everton, Gladys Patrick, Clara Lee Parker, Pat Southworth, Lindy Hatch, Sandra Phlegar and Carol Nye.

A spokesman for the Longwood team indicated that increased interest has been shown by spectators this year because of a rise in the number of matches played on this campus and stiffer competition. More home matches have been scheduled this year than ever before.

On Tuesday, May 10, Longwood played one of the most exciting matches of the season with [illegible] and Mary.

Golf Students Learn Techniques, Jargon

By Betty Jane Allgood

Those of us who are unfamiliar with the seasonal sports classes offered by the physical education department may blink a bit warily when we see Longwood students tromping by armed with their golf bags.

Jargon Needed

Actually the students who have taken the game up acquire not only the techniques of the grip, the swing through, and other basic skills, but also a jargon understandable only to a fellow golfer.

Two sophomores in the advanced golf class recounted an experience during a practice session on the course. One of the players had a slice which unfortunately got out of control and landed in the midst of several male golfers playing on the hole behind her. Only her cry of "Fore!" saved the group from "serious" injury. The real injury, of course, was to the golfer's pride.

Haphazard Beginning

To the beginner, the course seems a haphazard grouping of greens, holes, flags, and an impossible par score. It may be difficult at first to discover the order of the holes and sometimes even the holes themselves. They are "lost" over hills, creeks, and through the woods. Probably one of the skills the beginner perfects best is the replacement of "small" tufts of grass removed in an attempt to hit the ball.

Two golf classes at Longwood take care of the beginning golfer and the more experienced player. Miss Olive Iler is the instructor for both classes.

Longwood Greens

For those students who are interested in playing golf, the college maintains excellent facilities at the nine-hole course at Longwood Estate. There is no fee for Longwood students, and only the nominal fee for Hampden Sydney students. Clubs are furnished for the Longwood students.

—Staff Photo

SELECTING A CLUB from the bag held by Sandra Wise, Jackie Skellie inspects the putter before they start for a round of golf.

Derby Title Won In Final Moment By Non-Favorite

Venetian Way Wins

Venetian Way grabbed the lead from favored Bally Ache on the home stretch to win in the $158,950 Kentucky Derby. Although second until the final stretch, Venetian Way pulled away to win by three and a half lengths.

Venetian Way was owned by Isaac Blumberg and ridden by Willie Hartach. The victory was worth $14,850 to Blumberg and boosted Venetian Way's earnings up to $138,225 for the year.

Eller Captures Crown

Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tennessee, won a decisive 6 and 4 victory over Jackie Higgins of New Orleans for her second straight Women's Southern Amateur Golf title.

Judy, a nineteeen year old member of the U S Curtis Golf team had a distinct advantage in age over Jackie, as Jackie is a 32 year old housewife.

New York, Chicago Set Pace

As New York defeated Kansas City and Chicago tapped Washington Saturday, the American league is still tied. Three teams, Boston, Cleveland, and Baltimore are two games out from the front-runners.

Senior Receives Business Award

Nancy Mills, a senior in the business education department of Longwood won the state award for Mrs. Future Business Executive during the state convention of the Future Business Leaders of America which was held in Roanoke, May 6 and 7.

Nancy competed with the winners from the college chapters in the State.

The judges used the interview method. The contestants were rated on the following: personal appearance, personality, evidences of potential executive ability, conduct during the interview, evidence of career planning and business experience.

This is the third time in the past four years that a Longwood [illegible] has won the highest award. Previous winners were as follows: Charlotte Hall, state and national award, 1957, Lois Ogburn, state award, 1958, and Christine Jones, second place, 1959.

Frances Norton, a Longwood business education junior, was elected state vice-president of the college group.

Select Your Graduation Gifts from LONGWOOD JEWELERS

Top Ten Tunes

1. Stuck on You
2. Night
3. Greenfields
4. White Silver Sand
5. Mama
6. Clementine
7. You Don't Know Me
8. Apple Green
9. The Madison
10. Cherry Pie

Get Your Records at Wilson's Home & Auto Supply

HIP, HIP, HURRAY for the GREYHOUND® way to save money!

Got the good word about Greyhound Scenicruiser Service®? It's the latest, the greatest way to go... with air-conditioning, picture windows, air-suspension ride and complete restroom! You'll have a ball headin' home on a Greyhound—It's often faster than other public transportation, and always less expensive!

COMPARE THESE LOW, LOW FARES:

Charlottesville $3.60
Lynchburg $3.25
Roanoke $6.60
Newport News $8.20

Phone LX 2-5153 [illegible]

BAGGAGE PROBLEMS? You can take more with you on a Greyhound. Or, send your belongings by Greyhound Package Express. They arrive in hours and cost you less!

IT'S SUCH A COMFORT TO TAKE THE BUS...AND LEAVE THE DRIVING TO US!

GREYHOUND

Music Students Plan Selections For May Recital

The Department of Music at Longwood College will present a student recital on Thursday, May 12, at 8 p.m. in Jarman Hall.

To open the program, Nancy Gifford will play an excerpt between Prelude and Fugue in A Minor, by J. S. Bach. This will be followed by another Bach composition, "Toccata in D Minor," played on the organ by Joel Molinar.

Mozart Presented

Madeline MacNeil, soprano, will be accompanied on the piano by Helen Hines in Mozart's "Porgi, amor, qualche ristoro," from Le Nozze di Figaro.

Beethoven's "Sonata in E Flat Major, Op. 27, No. 1," including "Andante" and "Molto allegro e vivace," will be played on the piano by Edith Ward.

Jean Dancy, mezzo-soprano, will sing "Romanza," from La Gioconda by Ponchielli, accompanied on the piano by Helen Hines. This will be followed by an organ selection by Frances Tune, Franck's "Chorale in A Minor."

Verdi Selections

"Pace, pace mio Dio" from La Forza del Destino by Verdi will be sung by Peggy Henry, soprano, accompanied by Jane Pennington, piano.

Judson Mason will play "Rhapsody in G Minor" by Brahms on the piano. This will be followed by "Mi chiamano Mimi" from La Boheme, by Puccini, sung by Julia King, soprano, and accompanied on piano by Helen Hines.

Piano Solos

Debussy's "La Fille aux Cheveux de Lin" will be played on the piano by Frances Raye Turner.

To conclude the proram, Helen Hines will play Gershwin's "Prelude No. 3 in Flat Major" on the piano.

This recital is free of charge. Students and the public are invited to attend.

MEMBERS OF THE Longwood May court, with their VMI escorts, take their places with the Queen of May, Claudia Whipple, who is already seated. In spite of the threat of rain, a large crowd was present to view the traditional performance.

Kodak Color Travel Film Premiers At Longwood

"Cinerama of the West and Hawaii" will be presented on May 14 at 8 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium.

The program will consist of a two hour color slide show with commentary and background music designed to create a word picture as well as a visual picture.

The photographs were taken by Mr. Warren Nelson of Farmville last summer while he attended the Professional Photographers' Convention.

Some of the major points of interest include the Painted Desert, Grand Canyon, Las Vegas, San Francisco, Yosemite, northern California to Crater Lake, Oregon, and the Rocky Mountains.

Outstanding attraction of the program will be a trip around the island of Oahu where Honolulu and Waikiki Beach are located. A section has been devoted to Kodak's famous hula show.

It has been planned that as a special feature leis will be flown in from Hawaii and given to members of the audience. Gifts will also be given away.

The photographs are of professional size and will be shown on a large screen.

The program is being presented by the Camera Artist as a public service. No admission will be charged, but contributions will be accepted for the Prince Edward School Foundation and the American Cancer Society.

Home Economists Found New Society For Local Students

A local professional honorary society for home economists, Pi Eta Epsilon, has been founded by the home economics department of Longwood College.

The following officers have been installed: president, Nancy Allen; vice-president, Paulitta Patterson; secretary, Pat Lowry; and treasurer, Frieda Hamlet.

The reporter will be Peggy Henry; historian, Becky Jones; chaplin, Annie Lee Young.

Mrs. Nell Griffin will sponsor the group.

Moss, Burger, Lankford Express Feelings Over McCorkle's Work

(Continued from page 1)

yearbook for thirty-three years, and in 1959, it was dedicated to him, "For his diligent service and devotion to the furtherance of education . . .", and "For the privilege of having him as a friend."

In addition to being yearbook advisor, he has served on numerous committees. These include the class schedules committee, commencements, academic programs, catalogue, summer school, policies, and building committees, all of which he has served as a member or chairman for many years.

Active in Community

Besides his many college duties, Mr. McCorkle has had time to participate in many community activities. He is a deacon and church treasurer of the Presbyterian Church, a member of the Lions Club, a Mason, and a member of the American Legion, having held most of the offices in that organization. During World War II, he served as chief fire warden and fuel ration officer for Farmville.

Since 1922, when he came here, Mr. McCorkle has seen the number of the faculty double, and the size of the campus increase many times. "There have been a lot of changes," he observes. He has seen new buildings go up around him, and has even given names to a few. For instance, the building which now houses the carpenter shop and other classrooms, was dubbed the "T" building by him — the "T" being for temporary classrooms, for which the building was used at one time.

Moss Comments

Commenting upon Mr. McCorkle's retirement, the faculty and administration reiterate his contributions to the college. Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, associate dean, said, "Over the years I have seen Tom McCorkle try to present a tough exterior to the students to drive them to their best academic work. But in the end, I have seen him fail — but succeed, by leading students to good work through love."

Miss Elizabeth Burger, professor of natural sciences, observes, "He has been a mainstay, a standby," to the college. Mr. McCorkle, himself, says, "I've enjoyed my work. I've put everything I've had into my thirty-eight years here at Longwood. I think progress continues. Things have come a long way since I came here. My impression is, you will see Longwood grow in the next decade more than in the past."

Lankford States

Dr. Francis G. Lankford, president of the college, expresses most effectively the land of man Mr. McCorkle is, and what he has been to Longwood. "For many years Mr. McCorkle has devoted his talents and interests to Longwood College. He has been willing to undertake even more than his share of duties that extend beyond the classroom.

"Always he has discharged these responsibilities with great care and efficiency. He will be remembered by many generations of students at Longwood for his help with their activities. We will all miss him greatly, and wish him great happiness in retirement."

Cup Competition Approaches End

(Continued from page 3)

base, giving individual medley relay, the 100-yard free style, the pajama relay, the twenty-five yard breast stroke, and the twenty-five yard back crawl. The green and white is labeled to win by a large number of points.

Greens Lead Tennis

Play between matches began played have not yet been completed. In the doubles, four green and white teams remain to compete, and in the singles, as stood, four white and two red and white teams still have matches to play. All matches should be completed and points tallied before the next week. A [illegible] between the green and white [illegible] the doubles each team can as well as [illegible] way to [illegible] [illegible]

Colors Stand

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

Support Class Circus Practices

The Rotunda

Attend One Act Play Friday

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., October 12, 1960 | No. 2

College Names Allen Public Relations Man

By Joann Kleinecke

Among various other things, Boston has given the world baked beans, the M. T. A., and Mr. John Allen, Longwood's new Director of Public Relations and Development. Mr. Allen is the first development officer in any Virginia State College at this time.

Before attending the University of Maryland, his alma mater, he worked for a photo lithographer in Boston and was in the Air Force in Information Services for four years. Mr. Allen then entered the University of Maryland where he established an outstanding record both academically and in extra-curricular activities.

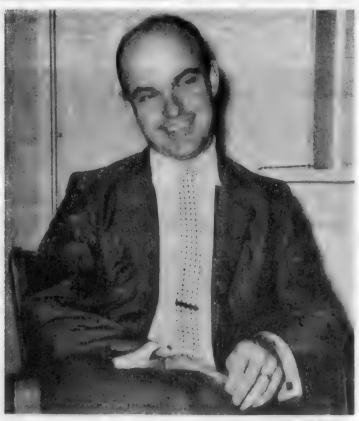
Active in College

He was Editor of the yearbook, as well as the handbook, belonged to Pi Delta Epsilon and Sigma Delta Chi honoraries, was president of and held membership in Omicron Delta Kappa and was selected for Who's Who. Mr. Allen was recipient of the Channing Fellowship and president and organizer of the first student chapter of the American Public Relations Association. This association, along with the faculty of the college Public Relations Department, voted him the outstanding graduate in this field of work for 1958.

Varied Positions

After college, he went to Randolph - Macon Woman's College for public relations work and then on to Lake Forest College in Illinois where he was Assistant Director of Development. It was here that he met his wife, the former Diana Major of Salt Lake City.

"She is a graduate of Lake Forest, and her husband adds proudly, "She was also in Who's Who, editor of the yearbook, graduated second in her class, and was chosen to receive an award in creative writing by the faculty of Lake Forest." Mrs. Allen is, at the present doing graduate work in English here at Longwood.



When asked why he came to this campus, Mr. Allen replied, "Because the position here was a challenge and one with a promising future. It will be my job to work with the president to develop the future of Longwood College and to raise funds for special projects, such as lectures, research, and projects like the Institute of Southern Culture."

Northern Born

The northern born administrative officer is quick to admit with a broad grin that he enjoys "Southern hospitality and the gracious atmosphere that exists on Longwood's campus." He is very "impressed with the friendliness of the students and the cooperative feelings that are found between the administration and faculty."

An open door policy will be followed in the Public Relations office, according to Mr. Allen. He says that "any student is welcome to come in and talk. I will be glad to help everyone in any way that I can. I hope that all students will feel free to call on me or my office staff at any time."

He is traveling during the fall to the college days at high schools throughout the state to help students decide to come to Longwood. In a few weeks, he will begin a short informative series of discussions on photography for students on the staffs of the college publications.

—Staff Photo

NEW PUBLIC RELATIONS DIRECTOR. Mr. John Allen, sits at his desk while discussing his plans for Longwood.

Two Sororities Visit Longwood For Colonization

Two national sororities, Phi Mu and Gamma Phi Beta, are offering colonization to the Longwood campus.

Representatives of Gamma Phi Beta were on campus today to meet with the dean of women, panhellenic council, and sorority advisors.

The visitors were Miss Mary T. McCurley, director of expansion, Mrs. Vaughn Howard, president of the Richmond Alumnae Chapter, and Mrs. Graeme Reid, Alumnae vice-president.

This is the second of two groups that the Longwood panhellenic is considering for colonization at Longwood. Representatives and active members of Phi Mu fraternity visited Longwood campus on September 28.

The National Panhellenic Phi Mu representative, Mrs. Freer; Liz DeBeaugrin, Phi Mu's field secretary; and three Phi Mu members from William and Mary, held conferences with the dean of women, president of Panhellenic council, and sorority advisors.

The panhellenic council will decide between the groups by November.

LC Expansion

A committee for Longwood College of the State Board of Education will meet here to review the plans for the development of Longwood College for the next six years on October 17. This is in connection with the State Capital Outlay Commission which is appointed by the Governor.

There was such a commission appointed in 1956 which surveyed capital needs of all state institutions for the six year period of 1956-62. This new commission will cover the period from 1962-67.

Preparatory to this meeting, Dr. Lankford is working with the department heads of the College in order to make an estimate of Longwood's needs for the period.

The members of the committee are Senator Garland Gray of Waverly and Mrs. Gladys Morton of Charlotte Courthouse. Mr. Leonard Muse of Roanoke, chairman of the board, will also be present.

Students Begin Radio Programs For Fall Session

"Longwood Speaks" and "Listening at Longwood" are two radio broadcasts which present to the public interesting events and happenings in and about Longwood College. The programs may be heard over WFLO and FM Charlottesville, at the University of Virginia.

"Longwood Speaks" is presented every Sunday at 4 p.m. The program is conducted as a formal discussion of activities. This year, all the departments of the school are tentatively taking part in presenting a program. Some of the programs are: "A Talk on Linguistics," by Dr. Simonini; "Ellen Glasgow," an excerpt from Dr. Meeker's dissertation; "The Presidential Image," by Dr. Simkins, Dr. Bittinger, Dr. Schlegel, and Mr. Helms.

Also the dramatic programs will be discussed by Mr. Wiley. There will be an organ concert by Miss Bailey; and the education department will discuss "The Value of Test Grades." A collection of outstanding speeches from assembly programs and many other tapes will be recorded for the public.

"Listening at Longwood" is a 15 minute live broadcast from Longwood's own radio studio heard on Wednesdays at 3 p.m. It includes such items as an interview with the foreign language students, a talk about the fall play, including interviews of the cast members. Circus will be advertised on the program and star performers highlighted.

Band Makes Plans For Performances

Tentative plans for band performances at present are for Circus, Christmas concert, and a joint-concert with the choir in the spring.

The band is a student organization which gives instrumentalists of the college opportunity to perform the best in band music and to develop their interest in instruments.

Previous experience and success in playing an instrument are two requisites for entrance. Mr. Clifford L. Smith, band director, is especially interested in those with a willingness to work and help build the band, which is beginning its third year.

The band meets on Tuesdays at 4 p.m. in the band room, Jarman Hall.

Lohr To Handle Whip At Circus October 22

—Staff Photo

ANIMAL TRAINER. Elaine Lohr, holds whip which she will use in Circus festivities.

Cracking the whip, Sophomore Elaine Lohr will step into the center ring October 22 as Animal Trainer for Alpha Kappa Gamma's traditional Circus.

Main Parade

With the parade which she will lead Saturday afternoon, the petite math major's duties will begin. At the head of a cavalcade of clowns, animals, floats, marching students, gaily decorated cars, and a red fire engine, she will follow a course down Pine Street to Route 460, up Main Street to Hull Street, and from there back to the college.

"Step right up," will be the cry for the crowd that night as she proceeds to put her animals through their paces. Eyes will turn and heads crane to see the flash of her whip flicking through the air as a lion and elephant, followed by other jungle beasts, reluctantly perform their stunts.

Lohr Active

From Ashland, Elaine had a leading role in her freshman Circus skit; this year she is working with the script for the sophomores. A member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, the Animal Trainer is assistant treasurer.

Other college activities include Longwood Players, and membership on the Wesley Foundation council and Y-Cabinet where she serves in the capacity

(Continued on page 3)

Management House 'Home' To Students

There is a new modern attractive brick dwelling much like many others in the Farmville community, on the corner of Buffalo and St. George streets. This house is unique, however, in many ways because it serves as the home management house for the home economics department of Longwood College.

The house, which was completed this summer, is being used by the department for the first time this semester.

Modern Interior

The spacious interior includes a living room, dining room, kitchen, and three full baths. Because the house was designed around the modern idea of "floating space," some of these rooms are not divided by partitions, but are actually separate areas of the same room.

This gives the air of spaciousness and vastness, which is used in many contemporary homes today. The varying shades of color are also condusive to the overall open effect. The kitchen appliances are brown and aqua while shades of yellow, pale green and pale blue are harmonized throughout the rest of the interior.

Comfort and Beauty

The house has parquet floors and recessed lighting, square bathtubs, and most other new features to promote comfort and beauty. It is furnished in the classic style with heirloom furniture and furnishings from the old home management house. The former house is being used as faculty apartments this year.

At the present time, the home management house is occupied by Mr. Clarence Gee and a group of home economics students. These students get the practical experience of operating a home in actuality, rather than learning [illegible] and also from a book. Mrs. Gee explained, "We operate our house as any modern [illegible] family."

Mrs. Gee has a small apartment of her own within the new house which she has furnished with her own belongings. Her apartment is designed for convenience and easy operation just as the rest of the house.

Perkins To Speak To Student Body On Foreign Policy

Dr. Dexter Perkins, University Professor Emeritus of Cornell University, will present a lecture at Longwood College October 13 in Jarman Hall at 1 p.m. His topic will be "American foreign Policy Today."

Dr. Perkins retired from the Cornell faculty last February after serving six years as the first John L. Senior Professor of American Civilization. Upon his retirement, he was awarded the [illegible] Legion of Honor.

Dr. Perkins is a graduate of [illegible] and after [illegible] he received his doctorate from the [illegible] University.

He has served as lecturer on history and politics, and since 1940 has served as president of the Salzburg Seminar in American Studies. He has lectured at the National War College, Canada, the University of London and Upsala University, Sweden.

Visitors To See Gay Atmosphere Of AKG Circus

By Cherron Kelly and Cherry Gorham

Cracking the whip, Sophomore Elaine Lohr will step into the center ring October 22 as Animal Trainer for Alpha Kappa Gamma's traditional Circus.

Main Parade

With the parade which she will lead Saturday afternoon, the petite math major's duties will begin. At the head of a cavalcade of clowns, animals, floats, marching students, gaily decorated cars, and a red fire engine, she will follow a course down Pine Street to Route 460, up Main Street to Hull Street, and from there back to the college.

"Step right up," will be the cry for the crowd that night as she proceeds to put her animals through their paces. Eyes will turn and heads crane to see the flash of her whip flicking through the air as a lion and elephant, followed by other jungle beasts, reluctantly perform their stunts.

Lohr Active

From Ashland, Elaine had a leading role in her freshman Circus skit; this year she is working with the script for the sophomores. A member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, the Animal Trainer is assistant treasurer.

Other college activities include Longwood Players, and membership on the Wesley Foundation council and Y-Cabinet where she serves in the capacity

(Continued on page 3)

Students Leave, Faculty Studies During Summer

This summer several faculty members moved to the other side of the desk becoming pupils once again.

Miss Josephine Bailey attended summer school at the Union Theological Seminary in New York City. She took a course in Choral Conducting and one in Claire Coci.

She also attended a class on Performance Practices of the Eighteenth Century taught by Dr. Gustav of Amsterdam, Holland. On July 26, Miss Bailey played in an organ recital at St. Paul's Chapel of Columbia University.

Artist Studies

Miss Virginia Bedford spent six weeks this summer studying and traveling in Mexico. She took a course on the History of Pre-Columbian and Colonial Arts of the Americas at the University of Arizona Extension in Canada [illegible], Mexico. Among the places [illegible] visited were numerous examples of modern craft and architectural monuments. Miss Bedford plans next year on a [illegible] tour of her own, in and around, Mexico City, stopping at Cuernavaca, Taxco and Acapulco.

Geochemour Studies

The summer Mr. Geohegan [illegible] work on his master's degree at V.P.I. He has worked [illegible] for the [illegible] in [illegible] Virginia.

Mrs. Janice Lemen studied for two weeks at the Art Student

(Continued on page 3)

Participate In Circus

Circus, that time of year when spirit at Longwood reaches a peak, is here again. It is the time of year when clowns put on their faces, and when the circus animals obey the crack of their master's whip. Under the Big Top, the ringmaster will blow her whistle for attention, and after the entrance of the clowns and animals, she will again draw the crowd's attention to the class skits.

As the days before Circus become more limited, we find that each class is busily preparing its hopeful winning skit. The winning skit and the success of Circus will, of course, depend on you. Only through your enthusiasm, your spirit, your interest, and your participation can Circus be a major highlight of this college year. It is through your cooperation and work that your class will produce the winning skit and float.

But whether your class wins a prize in Circus is not so important. The important thing is that when you see your skit and float in their final forms, you will truthfully be able to say, "I was a part of Circus; I worked for my class and for the spirit of Longwood."

Let us all take part in making Circus of 1960 a big success. Participate and let the spirit of Circus come into each heart.

—Joyce Odom

The South—Again?

Nearly 1.4 million dollars of tax money is being spent over the next two years to support Virginia's observance of the 1961-65 Civil War Centennial. All of this has been earmarked to help attract an estimated 10 million tourists to Virginia, where much of the fighting took place.

Being Southerners, we are of course, sympathetic to the cause of the South during the 1861-65 conflict, sometimes referred to as the Late Unpleasantness. But we are appalled at the sums of tax money appropriated by the past General Assembly for use during this four-year centennial observance. We are stirred even more to think of the state-supported institutions which urgently need this tax money for substantial uses other than the re-enactment of battles fought 100 years earlier.

Would not this money be better spent training the minds of children by providing increased teacher pay or more classrooms, or by helping mend minds in overcrowded and under-staffed mental institutions and penal facilities, than to help finance four years of re-enactment of a war that will eventually wind up again in total surrender?

History may benefit from this expenditure, although one may well ask whether the whole thing won't become dreadfully boring after four years. One can't help but feel, however, that education would benefit far more.

One institution seems in line to benefit directly from this extravaganza. This is the Medical College of Virginia. Under terms of a $605,000 appropriation for the construction of a Civil War centennial visitors' center, the building would revert back to MCV after 1965 as a student center. But even this plan has hit a snag in the reluctance of Richmond officials to close off a city street near MCV so work can get started on the center for it to be ready for opening next year.

We must agree with the Madison College Newspaper which observed recently that ". . . commercialization rather than commemoration may be a direct result of this spectacular . . ." and that ". . . tens of thousands of Confederate dead and the great Gen. Robert E. Lee would probably turn over in their graves if they knew of the Chamber of Commerce type of resurrection of that sad era in Southern history . . ."

We hope that the next General Assembly session will not be anxious to spend more tax money on this undertaking, but will be ready to spend money where it is needed.

—R. P. I. Proscript

Two Sophomore recently complained of a mouse in the room. The mice probably love them some cheese but a mouse trap [illegible] mice they have suits.

The Rotunda

PUBLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1929

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Hanna ..... Business Manager
Jinny Jackson ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lochler ..... News Editor
Judy Hanna ..... Feature Editor
Mary Ford Mann ..... Sports Editor
Pat Hume ..... Desk Editor
Emily [illegible] ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Cole ..... Circulation Manager
Jane Turner and Wynn [illegible] ..... Advertising Managers

[illegible] by the editor.

Member [illegible] Press Association. Associated Collegiate Press Rating first class. Columbia Scholastic Press Association Rating first class.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of [illegible] Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN on CAMPUS BY BIBLER

"SOMETIMES I SUSPECT THE CAFETERIA FOOD ISN'T ALL IT'S CRACKED-UP TO BE."

Today's Circus Emerges From 31 Years Of Work

By Gayle Arnn

As the time for Longwood's circus once again draws near, excitement and patriotic spirit can be seen through the hush-hush whispers, the frequent committee meetings, the colorful posters, and the mystic smiles on the faces of all. These reflect the deep feeling that Longwood girls have for one of the college's most popular traditions.

Let us pause now in the midst of the excitement and turmoil and turn back the calendar so that we may briefly observe and learn to appreciate the struggle of Circus in gaining its present-day prestige.

Circus' Birth

Circus had its birthplace in the gym of Longwood College (then called S.T.C.) on November 2, 1929. "Kleverest Komic Show of the Year is Koming to S.T.C. November Second. Kome One Kome All," read the headlines of the Rotunda.

The article continued to preview the grand raising of the first Big Top: "The Kleverest Konglomeration of Komical Karacters that ever Kame to Town . . . All the animals from the Kat to the Kangeroo . . . the Wild West Show . . . The Blood-Kurdling Bull Fight . . . Mr. Dispensary, the great physician . . . Karefree Klown . . . amazing akrobats . . . remarkable magik . . .

Glorious Time

Then a follow-up in a post-Circus issue of the Rotunda summarized the first circus in one concise but dynamic sentence . . . "It was our circus and we had one grand and glorious time enjoying it."

So it was that Circus at Longwood was born. Since then it has continued to grow in size and in spirit. It wasn't until 1932 that the presently coveted position of ringmaster was added. As the years slipped by, it became each year a more firmly established tradition.

During the troubled years of 1941 and 1942, while tension reigned throughout the world, Longwood's intrepid spirit continued to prevail, especially at circus time. In 1941 there was stationed in Farmville the famed first regiment of the U. S. Army. This became the basis of one of the Circus skits that year called "Circus at Army Headquarters."

Theme Added

In 1942 Circus had its first official theme — Pan American. This created a patriotic air, as did the parade the class units and the booths, all of which centered around the main theme.

In 1943 conditions were still in chaos and the Circus admission fee had to be paid in war stamps. That year also marked the beginning of class colors—the Green and Whites were the first victors.

Thus Circus acquired its present-day basic form. Although each Circus changes in theme, skits, etc, the basic structure remains the same from year to year with AKG as its foundation. It is fascinating to watch from year to year the different changes, especially with regard to themes.

Themes Varied

In addition to those already named, Circus has had for its themes throughout the years things like "Mother Goose," "Gay Nineties," "Southern Belles," "Holiday Escapades," "Marry-Go-Round the World," "Carnival," and numberous others.

Yes, each year Circus has grown bigger and better. It has become a basic and respected tradition, and in the years to come it will continue to hold its place in the hearts of Longwood girls and all others associated with it.

So "Step right up, every one;" bring your friends, and relatives; join with us in celebrating the thirty-first brithday of Alpha Kappa Gamma's Big Top Circus!

College Beauties In H-S Dad's Day

By Mary Ann Lipford

Sporting bright yellow mums and charming smiles, five Longwood girls represented fraternities in the Hampden - Sydney Dad's Day Court, October 8.

With three other court members from other schools, Patsy Carr, Ginger Culpepper, Brenda Dodd, Martha Warren and Becky Woodridge were introduced to the faculty at a tea, and had lunch as guests of the college. At the Alumni Meeting, returning alumni and dads met the girls and voted for their Dad's Day Queen choice.

At halftime of the Tiger-Sewanee game, eight figures clad in fall suits of browns, reds, and purples brightened the misty field, as the queen was announced. She is Suzanne Drake, the Kappa Sigma representative, escorted by Dave Wilson. In addition to the Longwood girls and the queen, the representatives were: Mrs. A. J. Canada, Jr., Sigma Chi Virginia Beauly, Chi Phi.

PiKA Dream Girl, Patsy Carr, is a petite, dark-haired Longwood senior. Patsy's escort was the president of Pi Kappa Alpha, Bobby Moore. A Social Science major, currently doing her student teaching in Appomattox, Patsy is pinned to Jimmy Slaughter.

(Continued on page 3)

Suits, Wool Skirts In Vogue On Campus

By Betty Rice Dawson

As summer fades into the past, and fall and winter approach, we must anticipate a seasonal change in our wardrobe. Chinchilla cloth, butter smooth knits and fuzzy tweeds must now replace the lightweight cottons and madras.

In regard to the 1960 shapes and styles we find long bodices melting toward the hips, but never forgetting that the lady has a waistline of her own. There are fluid and bombe shirts with a hemline that stays at an inch and a half past the knees.

Color Revolution

Fashion, too, is involved in a color revolution. This fall plummy purples, brilliant magenta, lavender, startling greens and yellows, and pure unreddened browns are with us in full force. Color mergers consist of a quiet color leagued with a hot one—for example, a deep green coat paired with a bright red dress or a pink coat over a black dress.

For accessories this season, furs both phony and real are being used. A most popular fur finish is the tamed leopard design used on belts, hats, and bags. This leopard look straight from junglesville is also used in dress and coat patterns.

A glimpse at high fashion reveals that this fall's party-goer can select from razzle dazzle dresses paved with sequins, drenched with beads, and smothered in gold glitter. Never has there been such an extravagant year for clothes of this type.

On Campus

Switching from high fashion to the college campus, we find that pleated wool skirts worn with matching round - collar blouses and bulky cardigans are most popular. Also the two piece ensembles worn with blouses are eye-catchers.

When that special college week-end arrives, nothing is more comfortable for the football game than the suit with a loosish, hip high jacket over full skirt or the long jacketed walking suit of thick fabric. These selections can be worn right through the winter.

Perhaps some of the fashion styles or color combinations mentioned are too elegant, or a bit flashy to fit in our campus wardrobe. Yet, these garments have a place in the fashion world. Dress success is achieved when we are not only familiar with the latest fashions, but when appropriateness is considered. It is most important to know what to wear; however, it is equally important to know when to wear it.

Students Find Charm In Local Shopkeeper

By Judy Detrich

Longwood is more than merely one of the many colleges in this world. The activities and traditions, the faculty, the experiences, and the classmates encountered here combine to create a picture that, through our memories, may be recalled during the rest of our lives—when we're traveling at twenty or fat at forty.

Townspeople

Among the pleasant recollections will be images of individuals, outside the college proper, but nevertheless important to the memory of our past. These people are members of our college town: shopkeepers, mailmen, children with sleds for borrow—or horses or bikes or skates, taxi drivers.

One of these townspeople is Mrs. Lucie Lancaster. Mrs. Lancaster lives with her son, Harry, and her daughters, Lucie Scott and Dorothy, in a rambling white house across High Street from Jarman Hall.

Cheerful Interest

From the freshman year on, girls stop by the shop to buy, to browse, or to just visit with Mrs. Lancaster. Always they are met with a cheerful smile and manner, and genuine interest. A group of students who happened into the shop one day last spring soon found themselves enjoying apple pie and ice cream. Mrs. Lancaster explained that it was left from a bridge meeting and urged the girls to eat their fill.

The enticement of food is usually overpowering and several college organizations proved no exception to its power when they were invited to Lanscotts last session to be entertained—and to eat.

Mrs. Lancaster grew up in Tazewell, attended Mary Baldwin College, and settled in Farmville upon her marriage.

No Nebbishes

Often Mrs. Lancaster compares the girls from the college with memories of her own college experiences. She concludes that girls really aren't so very different nowadays — except for their senses of humor perhaps. "We didn't have Nebbishes then," she observes.

Keeping up with her family, church and civic work, and her shop leaves this woman little spare time, yet she is never too busy to help someone else—nor too busy to pause for a cup of coffee. "Coffee," says she, "is my weakness. There's nothing I like better."

College Brings Culture

Farmville is a pretty town and a fine place to live, she comments. Having the college here is important too, for it brings culture to the community and serves to stimulate thought — keeps you from getting tied down to humdrum affairs.

Someday when she can spare the time, Mrs. Lancaster hopes to enroll in some courses here at Longwood. How much closer to the college could a person be?

—Staff Photo

MRS. LUCIE LANCASTER reaches for an ivy arrangement to show to a Longwood girl.

Sports Review

Watkins Outstanding For Virginia Gobblers

By Sue Beardmore
and Lois Peters

Virginia Tech's Homecoming turned out to be a big success as the Gobblers defeated Wake Forest 22-13. Warren Price, Tech's outstanding quarterback, and Johnny Watkins, Tech halfback, captured the spotlight, by having a hand in every touchdown.

Faculty Studies

(Continued from page 1)

League in New York, one of the oldest art school in the country, under John Hultburg.

Classes on the Contemporary British Novel drew Miss Mary Nicholds to Oxford University. Although her chief interest is the development of the novel, Miss Nichols also attended lectures and two tutorials on Contemporary British Drama and Poetry.

A month's tour on the Continent with a music group included visits to Oberammergau to see the Passion Play and to Salisbury for the Music Festival.

Wileys Study

Mr. and Mrs. David Wiley attended summer school at Indiana University where Mrs. Wiley worked on her master's and Mr. Wiley on his Ph.D. Mr. Wiley also taught a course on stage craft.

Circus Approaches

(Continued from page 1)

of co-chairman of the worship committee.

In speaking of the intangibles of Circus, the sophomore said, "It's not so much the competition or who wins, but it's an opportunity for everyone to have a part in this fine tradition of Longwood."

AKG Committees

Members of AKG are serving as committee heads under the chairmanship of Joyce Odom, assisted by Mary Hite Grayson, who together are making plans for the queen and her court.

Page Davis is working with the class skits, while Pat Southworth has charge of the clown and animal acts. Cherron Kelly, head of the booths, will help make the mid-way come alive after the program in Jarman.

Ann Hardy is heading work on the parade; Cherry Gorham has charge of publicity. Mrs. Kathleen Cover is advisor to Joan Circle of Alpha Keppa Gamma.

Navy-SMU

Navy walloped SMU 26-7 before 30,000 spectators who turned out for the fourteenth annual Shrine-sponsored Oyster Bowl. Joe Bellino, Navy's All-American halfback, captured the spotlight by receiving the Mel T. Blasingham trophy as the game's most valuable player. Bellino ran and passed for two touchdowns and figured prominently in the other two.

Hampden-Sydney

Before a scant Dad's Day crowd, a determined Sewanee team outplayed and outscored the Hampden-Sydney Tigers 14-6. The Tigers failed to score until the third quarter when they drove 6 yards for their only score.

Holy Cross Game

For over three quarters Holy Cross' Crusaders outplayed Syracuse, the nation's number one ranked team. Behind their defense and fullback, Art Baker, Syracuse drove for a touchdown with eleven seconds remaining in the game to score a 15-6 triumph.

UNC-Notre Dame

Twice-beaten North Carolina jumped into the winning column again, by defeating Notre Dame 12-7 before a cheering Homecoming crowd of 40,000. This was the first win for the Tar Heels over Notre Dame in their eleven-game history.

VMI-GW

VMI's Keydets remained undefeated as they swamped George Washington 34-10 aided by the running of fleet-footed halfback, Don Kern. Kern was spotlighted as he ran for touchdowns of 50, 38, and 4 yards.

UVa-Clemson

Virginia put up a huge fight before losing to nationally ranked Clemson, 20-7. This was Virginia's twenty-first consecutive loss, giving them possession of the longest major college losing streak. Even though Virginia was defeated, they have looked increasingly better in each game.

Ohio-Illinois

The battle for the Big Ten championship is slowly being narrowed to a few teams. Ohio State, the number five team, crushed Illinois, the nation's number four team, 34-7. Illinois seemed to give up hope altogether when Bill Wentz ran the second half opening kickoff 100 yards, giving the Buckeyes a twenty-point lead.

—Staff Photo

VARSITY HOCKEY CAPTAIN, Carolyn Thorpe, left, stands with Alma Wright and Mable Healy while they practice hockey strokes.

Class Enthusiasm High In Color Cup Contention

Class enthusiasm is already mounting for the opening of the hockey tournament in November, the first event in the color cup tournament.

The color cup is a silver trophy presented to the sister classes who have earned the greatest number of points in sports events throughout the year. The cup, now bearing the colors of last year's victorious Green and White classes, can be seen on the mantle in the Home Office.

Field Hockey

Competition begins in early November with field hockey. Classes compete first against their sister team and are then pitted against the two opposing classes. Last year's hockey games ended in a Green and White victory.

Color Rush

The next area of competition will be track, or color rush as it is better known. Five runners for each color compete in the races. The goal of color rush is to win the right to hang banners sporting the victors' colors on various dormitories. Last year's Green and White classes were again victorious in this event.

Winter Events

In February, classes contend for points in basketball and volleyball. Last February the Green and Whites were victorious in volleyball, while the Red and White classes took the points for basketball.

Swimming Meet

The swimming matches will be held during April. The seven areas covered in the swimming meet will be bobbing, diving, the fifty-yard medley relay, the fifty-yard free style, the pajama relay, the twenty-five yard breast stroke, and the twenty-five yard back crawl. The green and whites took first place in these events last year.

Spring Sports

With the coming of warmer weather in May, double and singles tennis matches are held, later followed by archery and softball. Tennis matches last year also resulted in a Green and White victory.

Competition Begins As Tennis Players Practice Backhand

By Lefty Snider

The hot sultry tennis days of summer may have disappeared, but the Longwood courts are still very much in use.

Class tennis competition has begun with Green and Whites and Red and Whites practicing their backhand and forehand strokes.

In the first round of the games, each player is matched against another player of the opposite color. The winners of their respective games in the first round play once again until, through elimination, the top Green and White and Red and White will battle it out on the courts.

The victorious player will confiscate for her class color points needed to win the coveted color cup awarded at the end of the year.

Class tennis managers, Carol Nye and Clara Lee Parker, have placed a chart on the AA bulletin board which displays the winner of each round. This chart will be filled in as the matches progress, until the final match is played.

Thorpe Leads Team On LC Hockey Field

By Mary Byrd Micou

Crisp, cool air . . . flashing blue and white uniforms across a green field . . . the familiar cry of "ground, sticks" — it's hockey season at Longwood.

Complicated Sport

The hockey team is a highly complicated organism made up of skill, spirit, and stamina. It completes its life span between September and November and can be seen on almost any campus during this season. Most hockey teams have managers and a coach, and at their nucleus, a captain.

The hockey team captain must have the above-mentioned skill, spirit and stamina in abundance, plus a reserve supply of enthusiasm to carry the entire team through rough spots.

Manager Thorpe

Longwood's hockey team, no exception to the rules, has a captain, senior physical education major Carolyn Thorpe from Drakes Branch. Carolyn has qualified herself for this post by playing all class sports including softball, basketball, hockey, archery, volleyball, and tennis, during her four years at Longwood.

In addition, she has been a member of the varsity basketball and archery teams. In her sophomore year she was manager of class basketball, and in her junior year served in the same capacity for the varsity basketball team.

School Activities

Carolyn has been a member of the Athletic Association council for three years and is president of the Monogram Club. She is a member of the Cotillion Club and was this fall honored with a white blazer by the A. A.

In addition to her all-important duty as hockey captain, the duty of keeping up team spirit, she must meet with officials before each game to discuss the lineup and rule changes.

Of her new responsibility Carolyn says, "As captain of the hockey team this year, I feel very honored and humble. The team shows excellent potential and I hope that we will be as successful as teams in previous years have been."

Longwood Girls Compete At H-S

(Continued from page 2)

Class as Student Government president of the past two summer sessions, and is a member of the Cotillion Club and Pan Hellenic Council, representing Delta Zeta sorority.

Ginger Culpepper, Lambda Chi Sweetheart, is pinned to senior Charles Alexander, her escort for Dad's Day. Ginger is a junior and is majoring in elementary education. A member of the H20 Club, she is co-chairman of the Christmas water pageant. She belongs to the Cotillion Club and Kappa Delta sorority.

"Pocahontas," as she is called by friends, is an appropriate nickname for dark - haired Brenda Dodd. Lew Bridgforth, Kappa Alpha president, was Brenda's escort for Saturday's festivities. She is a junior, and elementary education major, and is engaged to Michaux Raine, Jr. Brenda belongs to Cotillion Club, and represents Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority on Panhellenic council.

The Independents chose blonde, blue - eyed, Martha Warren as their lady for the day, who was escorted by Robert Arehart.

A sophomore elementary education major, she is an Alpha Gamma Delta sorority member, and is program chairman of her Westminster Fellowship.

Becky Wooldridge is a Longwood junior, pinned to Jack Waring, president of Theta Chi fraternity. Becky is serving Theta Chi as its representative for the year.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In answer to the complaint concerning the crowded condition in the post office, there can be but one answer. We, the students of Longwood College, should stop and look before entering the post office. If the situation looks crowded, we should wait until there is room for us.

And once we get into the post office, we should go to our boxes, get our mail, and promptly leave, making room for others. Too often we begin opening our mail in the post office, and this leads to what was referred to in last week's paper as an "enactment of Cuban mob scenes." Our lack of consideration causes others to lose their patience, and they come pushing around us.

We must realize that until the state of Virginia sees fit to appropriate money for a more accommodating post office, the problem of having one too small is ours to contend with. And if we act like the young adults we are, we need no other rules than those of common courtesy.

Sincerely,
D. M. H.

Dear Editor:

Tuesday night I attended the faculty organ recital, given by Miss Josephine Bailey in Jarman auditorium. It was shocking to see how few students were present. In the whole auditorium there were less than one hundred and fifty people.

This number included some of the faculty members, outside guests, and a few students who managed to spare the time to come. Out of approximately one thousand and one hundred students attending Longwood, this figure is deplorable.

It is true that the students have their studies, along with other activities, but these cultural programs are a part of education. The fact that it was not compulsory should not have entered the matter. Everyone should take advantage of these opportunities to broaden his culture.

We must also consider the work and preparation recitals or cultural programs require. It must be quite disappointing after so much work, to perform for such a small group.

Let us in the future try to support these programs. They seldom last more than an hour and they are certainly well worth the time.

Sincerely,
D. W.

Dear Editor:

It has often been said that for the new freshmen the initial week of college is generally a difficult and exhausting experience.

However, upon arrival at Longwood College, I found this assertation to be completely false. The warm greeting of the "Y" girls in the Rotunda indeed welcomed the incoming freshmen to the friendly atmosphere of Longwood. The sophomore assistants, stationed in each of the freshman halls, in addition to providing helpful assistance, further extended this welcome.

Throughout the orientation program, the orientation leaders assisted the new freshmen immeasurably, contributing advice gained from their own personal experiences, as well as teaching the rules and traditions of the college.

At all times, all of the upperclassmen were willing to cheerfully aid any freshman with a problem, whether it was only a matter of finding the correct building, or comforting the girl with a touch of homesickness.

This general helpfulness and friendliness prompted my father to write in his first letter to me: "I was very much impressed with your college including its efficient organization and helpful, courteous staff and students. I'm sure you have made a wise decision in selecting Longwood and I know therefore, that you will have a profitable and happy four years."

Therefore, I should like to express my sincere appreciation to the students of Longwood College for taking the time and trouble to make a new student feel truly a part of Longwood.

Sincerely,
E. B.

Study With
Barnes & Noble
College Outlines
&
Everyday Handbooks
WEYANOKE
BOOK SHOP
200 High Street
Farmville, Va.

Come See Our
Charm and Bracelet
Sterling Silver
Gold Filled
14 Karat Gold
Martin The Jeweler

Know the answer?

What's an eight-letter word which reminds you of good taste, sparkle, lift? The answer's easy—Coca-Cola of course. No puzzle about why it's so popular . . . no other sparkling drink gives you so much good taste, so much satisfaction. Yes, when you're looking for refreshment, the answer's always Coke!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

News Summary

Khrushchev Airs Views To Reduce UN's Powers

By Carla McNair

Nikita Khrushchev [illegible] his usual antics at the United Nations General Assembly by [illegible] Wednesday, [illegible] replying the address of the Secretary General with a [illegible] and [illegible] of the Western [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] appeal to [illegible] [illegible].

Khrushchev [illegible] by [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

'Step Right Up' To The Greatest Show On Earth

LIBRARY

The Rotunda

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., October 19, 1960 | No. 3

Sharpe To Serve As Circus Ringmaster

Dramatists To Stage Ibsen's Hedda Gabler

The Longwood Players, in collaboration with the Hampden-Sydney Jonclieurs, will present Hedda Gabler by Henrik Ibsen on the Longwood stage as the fall play this year, November 17, 18, and 19, at 8 p.m. The play will be directed by Mr. David Wiley, assistant professor of speech and drama at Longwood College.

Typically Ibsen

Hedda Gabler, a theatre classic, is a typical Ibsen social commentary or criticism. The basic conflict is a revolution between the new "unwomanly" woman and the feminine woman. Hedda Gabler, portrayed by Neal Banks, a sophomore at Longwood, typifies the 'new' woman with the domineering, aggressive, masculine touch, in contrast to Mrs. Elvsted, played by freshman, Jo Ann Self, a typically feminine character of the century before.

This play, coupled with Ibsen's earlier play, Doll House, had as much to do with woman's emancipation and suffrage as did Carrie Nation or Susan B. Anthony in the nineteenth century. The events of the play occur in the 1890's in Norway.

Jerry Good from Blackstone portrays the brilliantly naive, dull intellect, as Tesmand, the leading male role. He remains completely oblivious to all around him except for his writing of a completely unimportant historic journal. Ashby Jones, of Hampden-Sydney, portrays Judge Brack, a character entirely aware of the interplay between all the characters. He is the male counterpart of Heddda.

Mike Caver, as Lovborg; Betty Atkinson as the typical fawning aunt of George Tesmand; and Berta, the maid, portrayed by Ann Tweedy; all become a part of the social plot. All performers in the play are newcomers to the Jarman theatre, with the exception of Neal Banks and Jerry Good.

Rehearsals for the fall play began Monday night, October seventeenth in Jarman Hall with Ginnia Chapman as assistant director; Page Landers, stage manager; and Matilda Conley, technical director.

The cast feels that "Hedda Gabler is a fascinating and delightful social commentary which all of Longwood and the surrounding community should enjoy."

—Staff Photo

CIRCUS RINGMASTER. Sue Sharpe, holds the riding crop she will use at the Saturday night festivities in Jarman, October 22.

Court Presentation Part Of Festivities

By Page Davis and Cherry Gorham

"Step right up, Sue Sharpe, and take your place as Ringmaster of Alpha Kappa Gamma's 1960 Circus!"

The junior elementary education major from Portsmouth will, as part of her duties, serve as mistress of ceremonies for the performance at Jarman this Saturday, October 22, at 8 p.m.

Circus Importance

As she so well expressed it, the importance of this annual tradition is that it "brings the classes together and develops school spirit. Its power is perpetuated by the alumnae who return to Longwood and to Circus each year."

Sue, a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority, was a top rat and a member of the Freshman Commission her first year here. Currently she is playing class hockey and is on the Rotunda circulation staff.

Active in Circus

Circus leadership is no new thing to Sue as she was a class co - chairman of her freshman skit; played the role of Jill, a member of Mother Goose's family in last year's sophomore act; and this year is working on the float.

Introducing the Ring Master to the audience this year will be a group of usherettes dressed like barkers. Their spiel will invite the crowd to "Step right up" to a fun-filled, exciting evening as the classes vie for the coveted first place award.

The queen and her court, selected by members of the classes, will be presented to the student body Friday at mass dress rehearsal. In convertibles of their class color, they will ride at the head of the parade Saturday afternoon, and that night they will have seats of honor at the "greatest show on earth."

Mass rehearsal will begin at 7 p.m. in Jarman Hall Thursday, with mass dress rehearsal starting at the same time Friday night. Anyone wishing to take pictures of the queen is requested to do so at that time.

Class Chairmen

The class chairmen for Circus are as follows: seniors Martha Gailey and Beatrice Webster; juniors, Libby Mabe and Lou Peters; sophomores, Libby Predmore and Wilie Rochelle, and freshmen, Carol Baumgardner and Betty Jean Russell.

In charge of the various class booths which open on the Midway after the performance in Jarman are the following girls: Sandra Ferebee and Pat Callahan, seniors; Winnie Egolf, junior; Annice Bailey and Rosa Pettit, sophomores; and Marjorie Twilley and Susan Brittingham, freshmen.

Float Chairmen

As chairmen of the floats which are a part of the afternoon parade are Jane Snead and Ruby Slayton, seniors; Sue Beardmore and Jackie Skellie, juniors; Pam Bolton and Sherrill Hudlow, sophomores; and Brenda Isbel and Susie Waters, freshmen.

Coordinating these activities for Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership fraternity, are Joyce Odom and Mary Hite Grayson, her assistant. Cherron Kelley is in charge of the booths; Page Davis, skits; Pat Southworth, clowns and animals; Ann Hardy, parade, and Cherry Gorham, publicity.

—Staff Photo

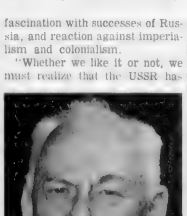
AKG CIRCUS CLOWNS C. Gorham and P. Southworth hold up circus sign as M. H. Grayson and J. Odom attempt a pyramid atop A. Hardy, C. Kelley and P. Davis.

Talk On International Affairs Delivered At Student Assembly

Despite a lessening of America's international prestige, the United States "can be proud of what it has been, what it hopes to be," a foreign policy speaker said in an address at Longwood College Thursday.

Dr. Dexter Perkins, professor emeritus of American Civilization at Cornell University, a scholar visiting the campus under auspices of the University Center in Virginia, declared:

"America's efforts in behalf of disarmament and lessening of the cold war have been honorable and human. We can be ourselves. We can continue to advance by the democratic processes of common counsel, and by holding high before all the world the concepts of mutual freedom and self help."



U. S. 'Musts'

Meanwhile, he advised, it is imperative that the U. S. maintain its power position, its deterrent forces and retaliatory ability. "We are engaged in a global power struggle of immense proportions; a similar one has never before existed. If we weaken we face defeat and in the long run national humiliation."

The Rochester teacher-author, who was president of the American Historical Association in 1956, said that U. S. prestige has dropped because of Soviet Russia's success in "projecting an image of itself that is awesome, that of an undoubted economic and arms power."

The erosion of America's ideological position has been accelerated by the continuing economic, social and political unrest in the have-not nations, the population explosion in Asia, Africa and India, the uncommitted nations' fascination with successes of Russia, and reaction against imperialism and colonialism.

"Whether we like it or not, we must realize that the USSR has been endowed by nature with vast natural resources like the U. S., and these have been ably exploited by the Communists."

DR. DEXTER PERKINS

Ideological Status

In the struggle to persuade the uncommitted and neutralist nations to accept our way of life, Dr. Perkins said that "our chances in the Middle East are reasonable; diminishing in India, face a prodigious challenge in Africa, are most favorable of all in Latin America." He added that we can hold our position in the Orient.

Latin America's European background, her 140 years of independence from colonialism and the growing democratic tradition there with its increase in the middle classes, are hopeful portents there, Dr. Perkins said.

Author of numerous historical volumes and an authority on the Monroe Doctrine, Dr. Perkins said of Cuba: the best course for the present is passive. "We can not intervene actively with honor because of [illegible] and agreements against interference in internal affairs. We shall have to act on the assumption that Communism cannot be effectively transported, and that Cuba's long-standing dependence on our economic aid will be reasserted. It would be surprising to me if the anti-America position will eventually collapse."

Bad Heartedness

The former lecturer at London Cambridge and the U. S. National War College said that Americans must guard against complacency and groundless fears against defense spending. "There is too much concern with economic [illegible] and not enough with defense," he said. "We can afford anything to preserve our position. There is no use to save money to be dead."

The lecturer declared that America's annual gross national product is two-thirds more than a decade ago, and that with an expanding economy, defense spending can be increased without any appreciable influence on inflation.

"We should be less afraid that defense spending will have some dire effect on our economy," he declared.

And he warned that "disarmament as planned by N. Khrushchev is utterly beyond the bounds of [illegible] to enter into membership. Disarmament inevitably requires inspection."

Meal Tickets

Alumnae and guests here during Circus week end may buy their meal tickets in the Home Office.

Prices for these tickets are breakfast, 50 cents; lunch and Sunday supper, 60 cents; and dinner including noon meal Sunday, 75 cents.

It is suggested that guests with these tickets in advance since a limited number of people can be seated in the dining hall.

Lankford's Text On Mathematics Now Complete

Dr. F. G. Lankford, Jr., in association with James F. Ulrich and John R. Clark, has recently completed a mathematics text for ninth-grade pupils.

The book, in preparation for the past three years, is a general mathematics book for high school students who have not had courses in algebra and geometry, and who do not plan to attend college.

The core sections of the book deal with the following: a redevelopment of arithmetic; the practical aspects of algebra and geometry, and the application of arithmetic to consumer problems of [illegible] credit buying, purchasing a home or automobile, etc.

Collaborating with Dr. Lankford were James F. Ulrich, of Mt. Prospect, Illinois, who is a teacher in the suburban schools of Chicago, and John R. Clark of New Hope Pennsylvania. Clark is [illegible] of mathematics education at Columbia University.

Attention

Mr. John H. Wandley, treasurer of Longwood College, has announced that beginning today it will be necessary for each student withdrawing funds from her student deposit account to complete a withdrawal form.

When leaving campus for first complete the withdrawal form [illegible] be obtained at the cashier's window; then present it to the cashier for validation.

Students are requested to [illegible] complete the withdrawal form [illegible] student deposit [illegible] with a complete list of the [illegible] withdrawal forms.

It's Not Too Late

Within the next week many freshmen have been seen wearing little caps on their collars, and signs on their backs saying, "I'm working in Circus, are you?" The upperclassmen have been verbally rebuking their classmates for lack of participation, while many red and white ribbons have been seen posted around campus, encouraging spirit in the class of '62. So far the seniors have remained fairly quiet about their Circus activities, but the general impression is that not all is well with 61 either.

It is fortunate that this apathetic attitude prevails among the majority of most of the classes, rather than the majority; however, it is literally impossible for the same students, no matter how large the number, to accomplish all of the little things that need to be done. A float crew can be built by the float chairman, alone; and the Animal Trainer cannot crack her whip to control the head of a horse, with the remainder of the costume dragging limply behind the head because there was no one to complete the inner skeleton.

Many students claim that it is not apathy that keeps them from doing their part in Circus. They say that they have too many books to read, or papers to write, and can't waste time's Tarman rehearsing or bending chicken wire for props. Still, many of these people are seldom found in the library, or at their desks during the time their class is rehearsing. Surely the time that is going to be needed these last few days before Saturday afternoon will be worth the effort for each student to help her class, and will not hinder her studying if she budgets her time.

Studying should come first, above working on Circus; that is obvious to all of us. There are, however, many things that can be learned when you are working with other people on something as impressive and unifying as Circus. There are the people whom you never even thought were capable of hemming a dress, that you will find diligently making a costume covered with delicate ruffles. There will also be people doing things who will never to able to do them like they should be done, but respect for them will grow when you see them making tireless efforts to do it right.

To many students this may seem trivial and they will laugh at the "foolish tradition," as they call it, but someday they will discover that tradition has a very valuable place in modern day life, even if they haven't discovered it yet. Circus may be just a tradition to some, but it brings our alumnae and parents back to campus and makes them proud to see that we are doing something for our school. The alumnae remember their Circuses. They remember them with enough enthusiasm and nostalgia to return to Longwood to see what we will present . . . to see if the Longwood spirit still prevails at their alma mater.

The Longwood spirit prevails. It is shown in many different ways at many different times. We are not always in a situation where we can actually show that we respect our school traditions, but Saturday we will be. In the last few days left before the big event there is much to be done. Let us all do our part to help Circus of 1960 be one Circus that we will all want to remember, and not one that we will want to forget.

Stop A Minute To Think

How often do you stop to think . . . to ponder . . . to question . . . to be serious . . . to be aware of what we know or more important of what we do not know? Often we are so deeply engaged or caught up in life's endless activities that we remain oblivious to other important aspects of living.

Continuous meetings, an overload of classes, an emphatic interest in one thing as well as other phases of college life, often dispels the chance for a person to find himself and to integrate that true self into his life. Being happy, gay, and carefree is essential and of utmost importance in every individual's personality, but not to the extent that he is thought of as the person who is never serious. Lightheartedness is only one phase of a well-rounded person's life.

For each of us there is a time when we should stand empty in mind and heart . . . willing to listen . . . to think . . . to speak . . . and be dumb to all else. At this time life takes on meanings. The skies, the trees, the rivers, animate and inanimate objects, all seem to talk to you. New questions arise while old ones are [illegible]

Instead of accepting things point blank, a person [illegible] it to be[illegible]

[illegible] and that per[illegible] of himself.

[illegible] and more meaningful side of life, he will find that often what [illegible]

—B. J. S.

The Rotunda

[illegible] November 30, 1960

[illegible] except during holidays and examinations, printed by the [illegible] Farmville, Virginia.

[illegible] by the editor.

[illegible] Associated Collegiate Press, Rating first class. Columbia Scholastic Press Association, Rating first class.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of [illegible] March 3, 1879. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by BIBLER

Pam Flounders Answers Mail From Frantic Fans

Editor's note: Because of the tremendous deluge of letters condoning and requesting this sort of thing, Pam Flounders has requested that her nationally syndicated column be included as a regular feature of this issue.

Dear Pam Flounders,

My roommate and I are using you as a supreme court of appeals. Should we or should we not split up, leave each other, go our separate ways because we can't agree on this crucial crisis? She squeezes her tooth-paste from the middle and I squeeze mine from the top so they don't match!! I say let's move out since we are not compatible. Do you, or don't you agree?

Signed,
A Colegate Co-ed

Dear C. C-E.,

You do have a problem. Rather than divide a blooming friendship, why don't you try push button toothpaste.

Yours truly,
Pam

Dear Miss Flounders,

Please help me! I have a problem. Several weeks ago I tried out for the library club here at our high school. I was lucky enough to be picked to go downtown this Saturday to put a book-week display in the drug store windows. Here is my problem: My boyfriend has invited me to Hampden-Sydney for his college ring dance with the Kingston Trio and everything. I want to do both, but Mom says I can't have my cake and eat it too. Please help me!!

Signed,
Torn

Dear Torn,

Don't be a fool, girl, go to see your boyfriend. What's wrong with you anyhow? Don't let books stand in the way of your education, I always say.

Love,
Pam

(Continued on page 4)

Local Merchant Remains Popular With LC Girls

By Neal Banks

"Thirty-one years, that's right, thirty-one years. That's a long time to be in business; I've seen all types of people."

That was the comment made by W. M. Burger, owner and manager of Burger's Market. He is a man who knows his trade, and should; the business has been in the family since 1873, handed down from father to son in succession. His grandfather was the founder, ninety - three years ago, and ran the store until selling out to his son. After his death, the business passed into the hands of the present owner's father and for awhile was run by both.

The actual building had various locations around Farmville, but the last several generations of Longwood girls have been familiar with it as it is today. Mr. Burger also boasts that his store is never closed . . . "Except for funerals, of course!"

Mr. Burger feels a real comradeship with the college. Not only can he claim a cousin, Miss Elizabeth Burger on the faculty, but also he is able to look back on the years when he did business with Longwood in a very direct way.

(Continued on page 4)

—Staff Photo

MR. BURGER receives money from freshmen, B. Bunch and S. Phelps, for soap powder and soap.

Longwood Questions Political Outcome

Matilda Conley

Senior

Having been asked for whom will I vote, I must also answer the unspoken question of why I will vote this way.

There are certain qualities I believe should be present in our president, certain dominant qualities. Call it the "presidential image" if you like. It goes without saying that we need a real leader . . . a quality which fits all of the candidates or they would not be running in the first place. Next, we need a man of integrity and honor . . . one who will have the courage of his convictions, a man of great intestinal fortitude.

Matilda Conley

Then, I believe our president should be a man of loyalty . . . loyal to the people . . . with the best interests of the Nation as his guide to serve. To such a man, race, creeds, and religion of his constituents are of no importance, only their needs are what counts. My last qualifications are intelligence, both military and civil, and great personal courage. Yes, I believe our next president should be a brave man.

I sincerely believe that I have found in the "Standard Bearer" of the Democratic Party the man who measures up to these qualifications. That is why when November 8 comes I shall cast my vote for John F. Kennedy and his qualified running mate, Lyndon B. Johnson, the men of vision that our nation so desperately needs.

Betsy Joyner

Senior

Because of the constantly changing issues in the 1960 presidential election, I have not made a definite decision as to how I shall cast my vote. In each candidate I find things which I oppose and those with which I agree.

I would like to make two things clear. First, I claim no affiliation to any political party and never intend to. Second, the religious beliefs of the candidates will not bear any influence upon my decision.

Betsy Joyner

Senator John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee is very sharp and alert in stating his stands on various issues. Mr. Nixon lost much ground in the first televised debates, but has made great improvement in the last two. As far as the televised debates are concerned, I consider both candidates fairly equal and am looking forward to the last of this series.

With the recent happenings in the United Nations, the exploration in outer space, and the continuous battle between communism and democracy, America can settle for nothing less than the best man. Therefore, it is vital that every eligible voter go to the polls on November 8. Though I am still unsure as to which candidate I will support, I feel a strong obligation to cast my ballot in the 1960 presidential election, the first election in which I have been eligible to vote.

Janice McClenny

Senior

The main problem confronting this democratic country in the next four years will be communism. Therefore, the prime prerequisite for an able president is being capable of handling foreign policy. There are those who would say that our economic structure holds first importance and to an extent this is true. However, a candidate who is familiar with the foreign policy problems will realize that the two are interwoven.

Janice McClenny

Russia has said that she does not have to beat us in war, but that she can do it in economic war. Mr. Nixon is well qualified in all of these considerations. He is not willing to back down to communism in Matsu and Quemoy, whereas Kennedy has just as good as told Mr. Khrushchev that if he is elected, communism may have the Chinese islands.

At this point I have tried to show one small example of the two most important factors.

If we took time to examine more and more examples, we would continue to see that Mr. Nixon deserves our support at the polls.

Pat Southworth

Senior

After reading newspaper and magazine articles, listening to television and radio reports and discussing the issue of "which man is best" with others, my choice is Mr. Nixon, Mr. Lodge, and company. It has been extremely hard to decide since this is the first time I will vote and since no particular party loyalty on my part is involved. It is, however, a matter of close examination of the men, their principles and the issues involved, and not one of party favoritism.

Pat Southworth

The issues at hand center mainly around foreign and domestic policies. Therefore, Mr. Nixon is my choice because the majority of his views seem to be more reasonable to those voters whose opinions he will represent. His stand on the Quemoy-Matsu question, his belief in firm, yet diplomatic relations with the communists, and his belief in a limit to the power of the federal government are the reasons for my choice.

As many of us experience this so important opportunity to voice the opinion of the American public—a liberty dear to us all—for the first time, let us all exercise great thought and care in making our choice.

Sports Review

Navy Scores Fifth Win, Virginia Loses To VMI

By Marjorie Freese

Navy trounced the Air Force Academy by a score of 35-3 this week in their fifth straight victory. The game was won by the combined efforts of Spooner and Bellino, and the deciding factors of the game were the passes.

Virginia lost its twenty-second consecutive game to VMI by a score of 30-16. The last time the Cavaliers won a game was against Duke in the second game of the 1958 season. Virginia showed much improvement in its game against VMI. The Cavaliers held a lead for a while, but the Keydets caught up with them and finally passed them. The key figure was Dyer, who passed for an average of 206 yards.

VPI's Johnny Watkins helped bring the Gobblers their smashing defeat over the William and Mary Gobblers in the William and Mary Homecoming game. The score was 27-0.

Washington and Lee won against Randolph - Macon 26-3. The game was too slow to become exciting, but in the second quarter, W and L began to score and they kept it up all through the game. Penalties were the jinx against the Yellow Jackets.

The Maryland Terps upset the Clemson Tigers in a close battle by 19-17. Clemson has been the ACC title holder for three years out of the past four. The tide turned by a fake hand-off by Dale Petty in the fourth quarter.

Army was edged in the third quarter by Nebraska to make the final score a 14-9 victory for Nebraska. Army jumped into the lead at the beginning of the game, but lost it when Fischer tossed a pass into Dillard's waiting arms and Dillard ran it over the goal line.

Hampden Sydney won over Western Maryland 32-12. Western Maryland started out in the lead but soon the powerful Tigers overran them. It was the Tigers' second win in the conference race.

Longwood Team Downs Madison On Hockey Field

By Sue Beardmore and Lois Peters

The spectators at Longwood's hockey field Saturday witnessed a skilled Longwood hockey team defeat Madison 10-0 in the first game and 6 -, 0 in the second game.

Exhibiting excellent teamwork, offensively and defensively, the entire forward line of Longwood's team was able to score as a result of tight defense defending the goal.

The teams seemed to be evenly matched, until Longwood managed to score, after which there was no stopping. Even though the score of 10-0 gives the impression of a one-sided game, the Madison team played determinedly and well throughout both games. Captains of the respective teams are "Punky" Smith of Madison and Carolyn Thorpe of Longwood.

The second game was also played with an equal amount of skill and teamwork. The Longwood hockey team accounted for four goals before half time. In the second half Longwood scored two more goals resulting in a 6-0 win. Thus far in the hockey season Longwood has yet to be scored on.

Next week, Longwood faces one of the toughest teams on their schedule . . . the Richmond Club. This, the team feels, should prove to be one of the best games of the season.

—Staff Photo

LONGWOOD HOCKEY TEAM huddles before saluting Madison College in Saturday's game.

Campus To Hold Mock Elections In Political Poll

The Longwood forum and Student Government are co-sponsoring a mock-election on the Longwood campus on November 8, the day of the national election.

Polls will be set up for each of the four classes and the faculty. The polls will perform the functions of a state in a national election. Electoral votes will be granted each body according to the size of the body voting in that poll.

A comparison between the result of the popular vote, and that of the electoral vote will be made. In addition, the faculty vote will be compared with the vote of the student body.

Each of the polls will have a list of the students who are to vote in that poll, and as each student votes her name will be crossed off. This is to be done not only to insure no one's voting twice, but to note which class shows the greatest interest in the election.

To increase interest in this project the Forum is sponsoring an assembly on October 25. There will be four student campaign speakers, one representing each presidential and vice-presidential candidate.

Speaking for the presidential candidates will be Betty Elliot, Nixon; and Matilda Powell, Kennedy. The vice-presidential candidates, Johnson and Lodge, will be represented by Gail Arnn and Julie King, respectively.

—Staff Photo

DISCOVERED UNDER THE TABLE, Z. Tapp shrinks back from L. K. Hartman and J. Cloud, as they play their favorite methods game, "Find Me."

TV 'Slugging Match' Catches National Eye

By Carla McNair

The second Kennedy - Nixon debate was witnessed Friday by some 64 million people. Both men hit hard. Their hour long "slugging match" gave the United States one of its best recent pictures of the men, the parties, and the issues. When speaking of the theme of his campaign Kennedy was at his best. Afterward, both Kennedy and Nixon were agreed on at least one thing, that "it was one fine brawl."

Flight 375, Eastern Airlines, southbound for Philadelphia, roared down the runway of Boston's Logan International Airport, lifted easily into the air, then after climbing a few hundred feet, wheeled suddenly on its left wing and plunged to destruction in the icy waters of Winthrop Bay.

Another Electra had just crashed, with only eleven survivors out of a passenger list of sixty-seven with five crew members. This was the fifth Electra crash since the big four-engined turboprop planes went into service two years ago.

One plausible explanation of the crash is that the plane might have hit a flock of birds on take-off, for upon examination of the plane, the fuselage was found spattered with birds. The birds were thought to have plunged the air intake of one or more of the engines on the left side and caused flame-outs. This, at a critical point, could cause the ship to veer sharply and spin in.

Joseph Nye Welch, noted lawyer and player of the judge in Anatomy of a Murder died last week in Hyannis, Massachusetts, of a heart attack. Mr. Welch played a part in the Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954, when he acted as the Army's special counsel without fee. He also became a narrator on many television commentaries.

Since the fatal stabbing of Japan's Asanuma by a fanatical right-wing student, mob demonstrations have been hitting the island full force. Unlike the June parades in protest against the United States, the marching Communists, Socialists and Unionists toned down their demonstrating for fear of damaging party chances at the polls on November 20. Even so, many of the leftists resorted to familiar, unrestrained actions, thinking only of "crushing the Fascist Ikeda cabinet," and not of coming elections.

Tension is rising again in the Congo after the beating and stabbing of Albert Ndele, vice president of the Congo's provisional government. The friction resulted from the apathetic attitude of the police, who apparently remain loyal to Lumumba and make no attempts to control violence in the city. The attack on Ndele took place before a United Nations Ghana soldier, who, following the indicated police attitude, made no attempt to aid the vice president.

The Hillary expedition in the Himalayas is continuing its investigation of animal life and the search for the Yeti or Abominable Snowman. The primary center of their search will be in the Rolwaling area, where they hope to find the answers to the perplexing questions of life in the unknown high altitudes of the Himalayas.

McCombs Picks Madrigal Group For New Term

Members of the Madrigal singers for the 1960-61 season were recently selected by Mr. James K. McCombs of the Longwood music department.

The members are: first sopranos, Julie King and Nancy Evans Cobb, seniors; Pat Sadler, a junior and Sophomore Carol Pierce. Second sopranos are Rosemary Henry, Khaki Turner, Maddie McNeil, juniors and Carol Bruce, a sophomore.

The first altos are Jean Dancy, a senior, and Mary Ann Lipford, a freshman. Melissa Rowe, a senior, Wendy Warren and Zee Tapp, juniors, are second altos.

Mary Ann, according to the standards set by the Madrigals, has attained as great honor as she is the only freshman who was chosen for the organization.

The madrigals perform for special assembly programs, various women's clubs and the Festival of Fine Arts. They are now preparing for two engagements involving Christmas music.

New Contemporary Cards
24 doz. to choose from WEYANOKE
BOOK SHOP
200 High Street
Farmville, Virginia

Ten Top Tunes
1. My Heart Has A Mind Of Its Own
2. The Twist
3. Raindo
4. Chain Gang
5. Mr. Custer
6. Save The Last Dance For Me
7. Million To One
8. Devil or Angel
9. So Sad
10. It's Now or Never
WILSON'S HOME
& AUTO SUPPLY

Elementary Games Class Offers Fun, Experience

By Janice Harris

For several weeks Longwood halls have been echoing and re-echoing with such phrases as "My turn now" or "You're it!", closely followed by wild gales of laughter. These are examples of the dialogue used in the physical education elementary methods course.

This course, taught by Miss Rebecca Brockenbrough, affectionately named "Miss B," has a three-fold purpose: To give an understanding of the place of physical education in general education, particularly of the primary child; to become acquainted with child development and to know how physical education can help his development; and to give prospective teachers a wide knowledge of activities in various areas.

Activities Varied

The girls enrolled in this course have an opportunity to learn many activities in the areas of stunts, games, story plays, rhythms, and motor skills like walking and climbing. Each student has the experience of teaching one activity from each group. Approximately 140 different activities are taught in the semester.

The "teacher-for-the-day" teaches the class as if the girls were of elementary age, and the students respond as that age group would. Miss B asks the girls to act like six year olds but not delinquent six year olds.

More Fun Than Work

It is really amazing how much fun college girls have playing these grammar school games. If these same games were taught in a regular course, the girls would not appreciate or participate in them as much as when they put themselves into the children's places. Sometimes the class has more fun playing the games than the younger school children do.

One might think that it would be difficult to reduce oneself to the first grade level, but according to certain members of the class, Zee Tapp has no difficulty in that score.

Some Are Camels

Some of the more "fun" games learned are those having animal characters. It isn't too uncommon to find girls playing leap frog or squirrel-in-the-tree in the dormitory, the library, or on the way to breakfast. As one class member said, "this is the first time in my entire life that I've ever been a camel."

The girls are really looking forward to the spring semester when they'll participate wholeheartedly, they hope, in football. Some members of this class of previous years have remarked that in their childhood they were never able to play football, but that now, in their older, college days, their childhood dream is fulfilled. This is one activity that they don't want to miss.

Participation in these children's games makes many of the girls quite sore. They just can't imagine how they managed to live through their childhood play days.

Though it's difficult now to go back to the "good old days" when one was a child, it is amazing that in the methods course one can do this gracefully, have a good time doing it, and gain extremely valuable teaching experience at the same time.

Longwood Alumna Presents Lecture

Presenting a food demonstration for the nutrition class on Monday, October 24, will be Becky Jones, a 1959 graduate of Longwood College.

Becky is employed as a regional demonstrator for a self-rising flour institution. Even though her headquarters are in Chicago, her job carries her from coast to coast. While here, Becky will stay in the home management house.

Other students interested in the demonstration are invited to attend.

It was sad...

when that great ship went down and the last thing to leave the sinking ship was a bottle of Coca-Cola. That's because all hands stuck to Coke to the end. Now there's popularity! That's the kind of loyalty the sparkling lift, the good taste of Coke engenders. Man the lifeboats, have a Coke!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

[illegible] hall.

[illegible] eat.

[illegible] lar meal and one holiday or [illegible] People do not seem to realize the [illegible] forth into this kind of affair.

After much inquiry and observation, I discovered that recently the health inspector visited Longwood, and declared that our dining hall was in excellent condition. Our dishes are bleached three times a year, which is more than was done previously to our present manager. Furthermore, this report is posted in the manager's office, and the dining room is inspected monthly by the state. If conditions were as bad as insinuated, the dining hall would be closed.

The tedious and untiring labor that is exerted into bettering dining hall condition and making it more suitable for us, seems to be unaware to many. If you would take the time to forward your complaints to the proper authorities, the managers of Slater System, you would discover that no other campus in Virginia has such a well organized dining system or such a wide variety of well-balanced food.

Numerous times shipping difficulties have prevented us from having a [illegible] planned, but this cannot be helped. When feeding over a thousand girls, it is impossible to please [illegible] girls, and those girls who usually complain are those who know the least about it. I would be proud to take my parents, relatives, friends, and even the President of the United States to eat in our dining hall. Let us give credit where credit is due!

Concerned,
L. K.

Dear Editor:

In answer to the letter to the editor concerning the conditions in the dining hall, . . some seniors wish to speak. We feel that the letter was out of keeping with the standards that Longwood wishes to uphold. If a complaint was in order, it should have been directed to the persons immediately concerned where it would have been given due consideration.

We wish to bring to your attention the fact that often even in our own homes our silverware and dishes are not always spotless. If this happens within our own homes, would it not be conceivable that such situations should arise in a place where over a thousand are fed three meals daily? If this should occur your waitress would be more than glad to give you a clean spoon.

To you people who are continuously harping about the food that is served . . . we realize that there are certain foods that all of us are not particularly fond of, but as we said before, where so many have to be served it is impossible to please everyone.

We do not wish to discourage future letters to the editor concerning current and massive problems, but we do wish to say that they should be thought through carefully before being given to the press, handled tactfully, and taken through the proper channels before being disclosed to Longwood's public as well as Virginia's public!

—Some Seniors

Dear Editor:

Comments have been made from time to time upon the power of the press, and the Rotunda should certainly be congratulated on the good job it has done in bringing attention to the situation in our dining hall. Yet, I think, attention should also be directed toward the actions following the Rotunda report.

Those in a position to correct the situation have been exerting their efforts toward a solution for the problem. After investigation to separate justifiable criticism from the numerous complaints that naturally appear [illegible] 1000 or more girls, especially concerning what they eat, the administration has been active in their efforts toward correction.

Now that the situation has been brought to their attention, all effort to disclose the causes of the problem and the best course of action leading to improvement [illegible] as rapidly as possible. It is good to know that we have such an understanding [illegible] one that will consider our just criticisms and [illegible] always giving our welfare first place in their minds.

Congratulations are in order for the students who were interested enough in the betterment of their school to do something constructive, to the Rotunda for publishing their letters, and most especially to the administration for their attention [illegible]

J. O. A.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS OPENS MANY DOORS.

Burger's Market

(Continued from page 2)

"Before refrigeration, I used to send meat up the hill for every meal. In those days, it was the Normal School, and consisted of a single building. Then too, during the last war, all the meat for the school was cured at my own slaughter house, from my own stock," recalled Mr. Burger.

Mr. Burger is a family man. He has two sons, aged twenty-one and twelve and a half. The oldest, Wilbur, is in Medical School at the University of Virginia. When asked if either of his sons had shown an interest in the business, he grinned and said, "No, I don't think so. And I wouldn't wish it on them, either."

Mr. Burger was graduated from Farmville High School and spent a year at the University of Pittsburgh. He then transferred to the University of Virginia, but was there only ten days.

"We had a little misunderstanding over the transfer of credits — something about a lab course, as I remember; so I just quit. This proves to me that proper cooperation between the North and South just doesn't exist yet!"

Mr. Burger is a man with strong opinions. After watching his son at college, he believes the schools should operate on a twelve month basis, in order that the work would not be so concentrated.

Moss Visits Chicago For National Meet

Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, associate dean of Longwood College, traveled to Chicago, Illinois, October 5-8, to attend a national meeting of college faculty.

The group gathered to learn the details of a program concerning "International Exchange of Students" and "The Value of Americans Studying Abroad."

Dr. Moss stated that the meeting consisted of two sessions intended to develop the interest of the "one year abroad plan." This program will not only influence the American college student's scope of world affairs; but will also take good will ambassadors of American culture to foreign countries. He also stated that in the near future this one-year plan will be an essential in the well-rounded college education.

Language Barrier

To prevent the language barrier, this plan recommends that the student study the foreign language in the first two years of his education. English centers were recommended for incoming exchange students to learn English in a short period of time.

Dr. Moss feels that an individual college, such as Longwood, could not establish this language exchange plan for pupils in their junior year because of the expense and lack of interested students; however, an individual student could adopt this plan if he were financially able. He could go with a group from a college where the plan has already been established.

The Dean feels that, "It is wise that our college look into the expansion and development of a universal understanding of our world by way of student exchange."

Pam Flounders

(Continued from page 2)

Dear Pam,

I feel that my boy friend and I have a true blue problem. He doesn't realize that there is anything amiss, but I sense definite trouble. You see, it's his mother. It's not that she really doesn't want Albert to date me, but why does she always have to go along? We've been going together for ten years now and she still doesn't feel that we know each other well enough to single date.

I can see her point that 30 is kind of young for a fellow to leave home and get married, but I really think we would manage—kind of grow up together, you know.

I'm beginning to suspect that Albert might be dominated. Please give me some advice in this matter.

Signed,
Thelma .

Dear Miss,

Finesse them both, but send Albert some new knickers so he'll know there are no hard feelings. (Tweed is very good this year.)

Love,
P. Flounders

State Theatre
FARMVILLE, VA.
WED. THURS.—OCT. 19-20
DRAMA OF A FORBIDDEN LOVE!
M-G-M presents
GARDNER MCKAY BUCHHOLZ
THE ANGEL WORE RED
JOSEPH COTTEN
FRI.-SAT.—OCT. 21-22
THE NEW THE SPECTACULAR
SUN. MON.-TUES. OCT. 23-24-25
Wednesday, Thru Saturday OCT. 26 THRU 29
FRANK SINATRA
DEAN MARTIN
SAMMY DAVIS, JR.
PETER LAWFORD
ANGIE DICKINSON
OCEAN'S 11
TECHNICOLOR
WARNER BROS.

SCARAB BRACELETS
small & large $13.75
Scarab Watch Attachments
4 stones—$11.00
5 stones—$12.00
MARTIN
THE JEWELER

CAMPUS GRILL
(Between Hockey Field & South Main.. Street.)
Hot Dogs — Hamburgers
Cheeseburger — Country Ham Sandwiches
Barbecues
SPECIAL
Barbecued Chickens
Ice Creme & Milk Shakes
EX 2-4236

Hungry???
Try The
SNACK BAR
"The House of Good Snacks"

With This Coupon
2 One Dollar Boxes of Stationery for $1.00
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

Buy 2 Boxes Of Stationery Get A FREE Circus Animal
LANSCOTT GIFT SHOP
Opposite Longwood Auditorium
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

with Newberrys
CHARGE ACCOUNT
It's so easy to use, so practical
You enjoy what you buy right away without money to pay
It allows you to cash in on Newberry's values all year round
It saves you time, it's the modern way to shop
This new plastic credit card becomes yours when you open your Newberry Charge Account. Get yours at Newberry's today and you'll shop the ultra-modern way!
Mrs. Lee Smith
MRS. LEE SMITH
79 WATERFRONT AVE.
YOURTOWN, U.S.A.

THE RIGHT TASTE BECAUSE
Viceroy's got it... at both ends
GOT THE FILTER...
GOT THE BLEND!
VICEROY
© 1960, BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORP.

Library
Longwood College
Farmville, Virginia

Support Class Tennis Singles

The Rotunda

Buy Virginians Now

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., October 26, 1960 | No. 4

Sophomores Gain Skit Honors In Circus

Plans Now Underway For Library Addition

Keeping pace with the growing enrollment, Longwood will soon add an addition to the library. The present facilities will be inadequate to serve the entire student body.

Plans for the addition have been underway for many years. In 1957 Mr. William H. Jesse, director of libraries at the University of Tennessee, spent four days on our campus surveying the needs and making plans. During that time he interviewed faculty members and worked with the library staff.

In May of 1957 Mr. Jesse gave his report which was turned over to an architect who then made a sketch and estimated the cost. At the 1958 session of the legislature, $500,000 was requested for the project. Only $250,000 was appropriated at that time.

Since then the plans have been completed after further conferences with Mr. Jesse. It was during this time that Mr. Butler came to Longwood. "He made excellent suggestions and was tremendously helpful," said Dr. Lankford.

On November 8 the bids will open. When completed, perhaps in time for the second term of the 1961-1962 school year, the library will have undergone many striking changes.

The stacks will be replaced by book shelves interspersed with tables and chairs. This will enable those using the library to be in contact with the needed material. About 50 per cent of the total seating capacity will consist of individual study cells. There will also be typing rooms, listening rooms and private studies for the faculty.

The entire structure will be air-conditioned and the old part will be renovated. With the addition, the library will have space for 150,000 volumes, a little more than double the present number.

While work is underway on the library, material will be moved to the training school. It will be necessary to close the library for a few days while books are being removed.

College Reveals Latest Addition To Campus Land

Mr. Jake H. Wamsley, business manager of Longwood, has announced that Longwood College has purchased property in Farmville adjacent to the college property.

Three hundred and twenty-five front feet on the west side of Ely street behind Wheeler Dormitory has been designated to expand the present campus. This purchase was authorized by a committee from the State Board of Education which surveyed capital needs of state institutions for the six year period of 1956-62.

The additional land will be used for landscape features, such as formal gardens and parking lots. No buildings will be placed on these sites.

Plans within the school year are to tear down buildings on the purchased property and to level and grade the land. The destruction of these buildings has been done by local contractors to date, and immediate plans are to tear down two of the buildings nearest Wheeler, within the next sixty days.

Professor Of Greek To Discuss Humanism

Professor Moses Hadas will speak in Jarman Auditorium on Tuesday, November 1, at 10 a.m. His speech is entitled "Humanism, the Ancient Ideal and Its Survival."

Professor Hadas, Jay Professor of Greek and head of the classics department at Columbia University, has a most impressive background. He received his AB degree from Emory University in 1922 and then studied at the Jewish Theological Seminary until 1926. Hadas received his MA from Columbia in 1925, and the PhD in 1930. In 1956, Professor Hadas was awarded a D.Litt. from Emory, and in 1958 he received an LHD from Kenyon College.

Columbia University has been Hadas's center of teaching and study since 1925 except for a short period of work at the University of Cincinnati. From 1943 until 1946 he was a civilian officer of Strategic Services in North Africa and a liaison officer to the Greek government forces in Greece.

Phi Beta Kappa

Professor Hadas is a member of the American Philosophy Association, Phi Beta Kappa, and is the author of thirty-two classical texts.

Time Magazine said: ". . . he leads a class with the mixed sensitivity and audacity of an impassioned symphony conductor. His white beard, electric with energy, his slender, tapered fingers clutching for some bit of wisdom from the ancients, he exhorts, recites, swears, on occasion, to bring a point home. He may even link Aristophanes' use of humor with that of the Marx Brothers." As a colleague says: "He makes blood run through the classics."

DR. MOSES HADAS

The University Center in Virginia, in cooperation with the "Visiting Scholars Program," has enabled Professor Hadas to speak at Longwood.

—Staff Photo

BRITISH BUTTERFLY HUNTERS G. Bottino and L. Snyder defy jungle perils in sophomore skit.

H-S Homecoming Plans Set For October 28 - 29

Hampden - Sydney homecoming activities will be the week end of October 28-29.

Alumni, parents, and friends of Hampden-Sydney will go to the Hill for business, social, and athletic events. The annual festivities will be highlighted by the Hampden-Sydney and Washington and Lee football game, Saturday at 2 p.m.

No Dance Friday

Friday night no dance has been planned. The absence of the German Club dance will be filled by fraternity parties.

Saturday's activities will begin at 10:30 a.m. with registration for coffee in Johns Auditorium for all alumni and guests. At 11:30 a.m. there will be a meeting of the alumni association in Johns Auditorium. A luncheon for guests will be served on the lawn of Venable Hall at 12:15 p.m.

Football Game

At 2 p.m. the Tigers will clash at Death Valley with the Washington and Lee squad. After the game, coffee will be served in Gammon Gymnasium.

One of the most colorful spectacles of the week end will be the decorations placed on campus lawns and houses by the seven social fraternities and the independent organization. A loving cup and a $25 prize will be presented to the group having the best decorations.

Green To Play

All of the fraternities will have open house after the game for all alumni, students, and friends. Saturday night at 8 p.m. the German Club will present George Green and the "Satellites" at Gammon Gymnasium. The dance is scheduled until 11:30 p.m., with fraternity parties planned afterward.

College Dormitory Site For Defense

Wheeler dormitory is the site of Farmville's new civil defense hospital. This emergency hospital is located in the storage room in the southwest corner of Wheeler.

The hospital is equipped with an emergency gasoline powered generator that would furnish the lighting and other needs of electricity in the event of disaster. Also a collapsible tank that holds approximately 1000 gallons of water is included in this room.

Sterilizer, operating instruments, drugs and other items needed by hospitals are included in the list of things planned for the hospital.

The hospital is planned to accommodate approximately 250 people and will be used in the event of any major disaster either in Farmville or the surrounding area.

'Lollipop' Skit Places, Patriotic Float Wins

By Van Aree

Jarman Hall is silent once more, the midway has shed its gay streamers until next year, and the last cries of jubilant winning-class members have long since died away.

Circus of 1960 remains, but only in the hearts of those who helped it become a reality and of those who were thrilled as part of the "standing-room-only" crowd.

Sophs Win Skit

The class of '63 went their last year's performance one better by capturing first place with a wild native war whoop. The sophomores chose a unique theme about two Britishers hunting a rare butterfly in darkest Africa. They are prevented from snaring the rare specimen (namely, Spitzoo), by a horde of wildly dancing natives who proceed to stew them.

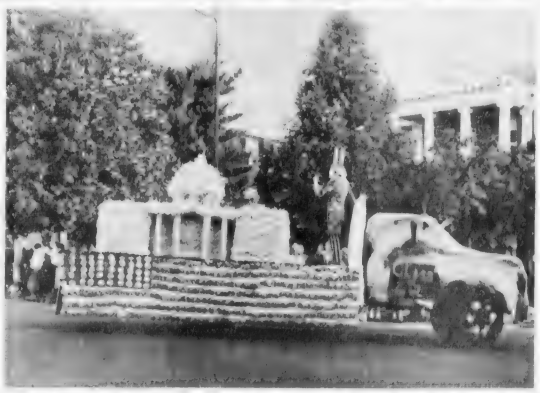
Lollipop

Placing second in the skit competition were the freshmen, with a theme of "Lollipop." In the story, two young children visiting a candy shop are unable to decide which kind of candy to buy. After being shown many kinds of tempting candy, they choose the simple lollipop, proving that beauty can be seen in everything.

Junior Skit Patriotic

The junior class presented a timely skit which was patriotic in tone. In the skit, two women were running for mayor, and the vote was a tie. Before two latecomers' votes could be tallied, the performers concluded in the finale that it mattered not who won — all that mattered was that everyone had voted.

Senior's Dream



The seniors re-enacted a circus in the dreams of a little girl who wanted very much to see a circus. For a brief while, the hobby horses came alive and danced, free of the never-ending merry-go-round. The animal trainer, in the form of a zebra, put the mock - human animals through their paces, and the cotton-candy ladies and midgets danced. The story was given a happy ending, when the mother awakened the child, assuring her that she could go to the circus tomorrow- proving that dreams do come true.

Midway Fun

After the skits were over, the midway in the main rec came alive with milling crowds, barkers crying their wares, and a miniature record hop, featuring disc jockey, Jerry Good.

Kicking off Circus week end on Saturday afternoon, the floats representing each class came out of their secret hiding-places and went on parade. The winning float, made by the juniors, was a miniature of the White House. The Longwood Band led the parade, followed by the animal trainer with animals and clowns. Following these, were the class representatives in convertibles, and the class floats.

On Saturday night, Circus was brought to life through the skits of each class, the ringmaster, the animals and clowns, and the Longwood Spirit.

DEPICTING THE CAPITOL with a waving Uncle Sam, the winning junior float passes in review in Circus parade.

AKG Convention Includes Meeting Of Seven Circles

The annual fall convention of Alpha Kappa Gamma will be held at Erskine College in Due-West, South Carolina on October 28 and 29.

The Helen Keller Circle will be hostess for the week end. Seven AKG circles will be represented at the convention. In addition to the regular business meetings, there will be a special program in which Joan's Circle of Longwood will have the introduction. This will be a round table discussion of the ideals of AKG with each circle taking a different phase as it pertains to our society and our future.

There will be four students representing Longwood: Cherron Sadler, Jo Graves, Joyce Odom, and Ann Darby. Mrs. Kathleen Greer, AKG advisor, and Miss Elizabeth Bittner, national secretary-treasurer, will also attend the convention. Miss Minnie Lee Jones, a Longwood graduate, is national president and will accompany the Longwood representatives to the convention.

Circus In Retrospect

The essence of Circus . . . it is difficult to define. It lies not in the skits or animals and clowns, though without them there would be no Circus. No, we must probe more deeply to find its heart in the people who create it, lovingly nurturing and helping it to develop by giving time and talents unselfishly. To these people we can only offer a simple and very sincere "thank you."

You who are freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors — who participated in the skits, the clown and animal acts — have left Longwood a little bit better for your efforts. You who were class chairmen did splendid jobs, making our duties pleasant ones. And no one contributed more than the class advisers who gave unstintingly of their time.

Longwood Players and Mr. David Wiley opened the door of Jarman again, providing lights, props, costumes, and sound effects. Many hours on the part of individual members aided the classes invaluably in producing their skits.

To the men in the carpenters' shop goes yet another hearty "thanks" for the many hours of work they spent making props. Without them our sets would have been simplified to the point of austerity.

Two other groups of students did much behind-the-scenes work. Mrs. Janice Lemen's art 301 class created the attractive posters seen around school, while a number of the home economics students made new costumes for some of the animals and clowns.

Unrecognized by many are the townspeople who loan costumes, sell tickets, and in many others ways give their support. Their interest, shown by their presence at Circus every year, means a great deal.

Finally, but definitely not last, are our alumnae who come back each Circus. The interest in and love for this event, more than any other single factor, encourges us, showing us that the true spirit of Circus never really fades.

These, then, are the people who make and perpetuate Circus; these are the people who are Circus.

—Alpha Kappa Gamma

To The Freshmen: You Must Decide

No doubt, by now, you feel you have become a half-way adjusted and experienced underclassman. You have survived ratting with flying colors, passed your orientation test, and won the respect of your sister class by winning honors in Circus Saturday night. You feel very good, for at last you are a real part of Longwood.

Academically you are beginning to understand the at-first-confusing method of lecturing. Your notebooks are beginning to look like notebooks and not hieroglyphics on a cave wall. With all of these things in your favor you have begun to accept the idea that someday you may be labeled an intellectual. All of us feel this way, but only a few have learned the one detail that many of you have yet to realize . . . you have a mind that is all your own and it is now that you should discipline yourself to use it.

As a college student you have the opportunity to expand your intellectual capacity to its fullest. However, intellectual growth can never come by accepting everything you are told. Only by questioning the things you see and hear from friends, professors and textbooks, can you sincerely arrive at intelligent conclusions. This, however, does not mean that you should become a constant cynic and respond negatively to everything you hear, rather be sensible and contemplate before questioning. Above all, do not allow anyone to prejudice your minds before you yourself have examined the facts.

It is hard sometimes to convince yourself that upperclassmen do not know everything about college life, but by now is should be obvious that they do not. Most still continue to make the same mistakes that are usually reserved for the "unawareness" of a freshman. These are the grown-up freshmen that did not learn to think clearly for themselves. Profit by the mistakes that you see them making. In this way you may someday become a true intellectual, and not a carbon copy of the many upperclassmen that have come before you.

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 26, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia, Inc.

Sandra Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Joann Kleinecke ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lechler ..... News Editor
Judy Derrick ..... Feature Editor
Mary Byrd Mixon ..... Sports Editor
Pat Hurst ..... Desk Editor
Linda Sudduth ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Cole ..... Circulation Manager
Janet Stanley, Janet Wainwright ..... Advertising Managers

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class), Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating first place).

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 3, 1901. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

Timely Topics

Johnson Goes South To Rally Supporters

By Carla McNair

Lyndon Baines Johnson who holds the second spot on the Democratic ticket made a whistle-stop tour through the South this past week. The purposes of the trip were to see as many Southern voters as possible and to get the reluctant Southern politicians behind the Democratic national ticket.

Johnson campaigned as "the grandson of a Confederate soldier." On the Catholic issue Mr. Johnson cited the case of Jack Kennedy's brother, Joe, and his co-pilot Lt. Wilford J. Wiley, who during the war were killed. Mr. Johnson said, "When those boys went out to die so that you could live, nobody asked them what church they went to."

On Civil Rights Johnson stated, "Under Jack Kennedy, the Democratic Party will guarantee the constitutional rights of every American, no matter what his race, religion — or what section of the country he comes from." The crowds were fairly large and a daily average of 15,000 turned out to greet the "LBJ Special."

In Japan last week all the politicians were gathered together for a debate in Tokyo's Hibiya Hall. Included in this group were: Premier Hayato Ikeda, Suehiro Nishio, Democratic Socialist leader; and Inejiro Asanuma, Socialist party chairman. The first speaker was Mr. Asanuma, who stepped up to the rostrum and began to denounce Japan's security pact with the United States. As he went on speaking, a youth jumped up on the stage. In his hand was clutched a sword with which he stabbed Mr. Asanuma, plunging the blade deep into his lower abdomen and liver. The youth then whirled and took a fresh grip on the sword and made a stab a second time, this time into Asanuma's left side of his chest. He was rushed to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

The Capital officially celebrated Dwight Eisenhower's 70th birthday last week. Mr. Eisenhower celebrates this with a certain distinction in that he is the first President ever to reach that age while still in office. While standing on the White House lawn, he was serenaded by some 6,000 well-wishers to the tune of "Happy Birthday." A few of his admirers presented him with a golf ball and tees, all neatly wrapped in a box inscribed thusly: "World's Greatest Golfer."

On TV's open end last week David Suskind met with Nikita Khrushchev for a "fascinating sideshow." The program gave a very detailed close-up of the Russian Premier, showing his face quickly changing from one of delight to one of anger. They managed to discuss everything from the subject of East Berlin to the subject of the Congo, while avoiding questions that would cause trouble.

Richard Nixon last week gave a news conference in Billings, Montana. This was given informally and was direct. Reporters have recently been objecting about the lack of co-operation Mr. Nixon has had with the press in that he has had few of these conferences in the past months.

A phony bomb was discovered in Pennsylvania Station Monday, causing a new scare in a city beset by four bomb explosions in recent weeks.

Police first described the device as a bomb, but later found that it consisted of bits of empty pipe, wrapped in brown paper. The work was termed as that of a hoax.

The device was suspended from a shelf under a telephone in a booth on the station's lower level.

SAI Members Review History, Look To Future

Sigma Alpha Iota is a national honorary society for music majors or those with outstanding musical abilities. Founded here at Longwood in 1959, its history is short, but it has laid the groundwork for future success.

Under the direction of Miss Josephine Bailey and Mrs. Mary Kemble, both instructors in the music department, plans for the immediate future as well as later are being made.

Their first real project became a reality last spring as they applied the finishing touches to their room. They painted the room across from the post office, recovered the furniture, made draperies, and applied decorative touches, thus converting it into their chapter room. A piano was placed there for the benefit of members who wish to use it as a practice room. Besides holding their monthly business meeting there, individuals may use it at their own discretion.

Some of SAI's projects include a musicale each month, and an American musicale for the public some a Year. Often they furnish music for the dining hall. Money-raising projects, as well as social activities with other schools, are to be carried out this year.

New members are pledged twice a year in the spring and in the fall. Presently they include Helen Hines, Janet Underwood, Nancy Cobb, Frances Tune, Jean Helms, Mary Booth, Joan Ivy, Maddie McNeil, Ray Turner, Melissa Rowe, Ann Ransom, Helen Gene Taylor, and Nancy Oldfield.

Class Of '64 Displays Talents, Spirit Galore

By Donna Humplette

The class of '64 has many unique qualities besides its size. It has spirit, originality, and talent galore which has come from ccast to coast to show Longwood what it has. Many freshmen have already performed before Longwood audiences.

Freshman Pianist

One freshman whom you will see performing this year is Betty Howard. Betty has been playing the piano for 9 years. For the past 3 years she has been playing the organ, and firmly believes that, "everyone who plays the piano should learn to play the organ because it is more fun." This past summer she was the summer organist at her church. Betty, an elementary major, enjoys listening to the scores from musicals, but for playing she prefers Bach.

Experienced Swimmer

Another freshman who has already impressed the upperclassmen is Tina Longstreet. Tina, who learned to swim when she was ten, has held state records for the 400 meter and the 200 meter free style. A physical education major, she swam for the Petersburg "Y" team during high school. Tina has also dived in the "Y" League.

Active Dramatist

If you saw the Fall One-Act you saw Betty Atkinson as Mrs. Gillespie. Last year Betty was in New York. While there she was active in little theatre work, and also did a commercial on the Dave Garroway show, "Today." Betty also writes, and two of her plays have been produced by amateurs. A girl of many interests, Betty won a Science Fair while in high school by making a computer which would predict the hair color of offspring.

Classical Musician

The music in the second place freshman skit was written by Betty Rex. Betty, a music major, has been taking piano for the past 12 years. She has played for her Sunday School for three years and has accompanied her father at various church functions. Betty enjoys all music, but is in the habit of playing classical.

Freshman Madrigal

The entire class of '64 is proud of its member in Madrigals, Mary Ann Lipford. She was in her high school chorus and sang in the All-State chorus. She has sung in her church's adult choir, and was director of its cherub choir. Mary Ann says she's no soloist and prefers singing in groups.

These are only a few of the talented girls in the class of '64. There are many more anxious to show the upperclassmen what other talents and interests they have in their future years at Longwood.

Downtown Postman Humors Mail Service

By Neal Banks

Mr. M. C. Andrews is a tall, friendly government employee, known to all Longwood girls who have ever been to the post office. He is an accepted part of Farmville life, as natural and as expected as showers in April.

Mr. Andrews started at the post office in 1940, and has been there ever since. Before his present job, he was in the Air Force. When asked if he held a commission, he hesitated modestly and said, "Well . . . I was a captain." He is still active in his reserve unit.

A native of Petersburg, Mr. Andrews moved to Farmville when only eight years old.

Farmville Son

"I always claim to be a dyed-in-the-wool Farmville son, however. I was so young when I came here that I really don't remember very much about Petersburg."

He likes the town, and the people here . . . and of course, his job allows for great variety.

Unpredictable Longwood

"Every day it's something new, especially with you Longwood girls. I never know what to expect next. Why, not so very long ago a young lady came in and asked me for a book of matches! She seemed genuinely surprised when I told her the government didn't supply them."

When we asked Mr. Andrews about his political views, he sighed and told us that being a government employee, he was not at liberty to discuss politics publicly. "There's nothing I enjoy better than a good debate, but evidently I'm outnumbered on that score."

Celebrated Daughter

Mr. Andrews is married and has three children, a daughter twelve, a son fifteen, and another daughter seventeen, who is homecoming queen at Prince Edward Academy. He is obviously a proud poppa.

—Staff Photo

PERFORMING ONE OF his usual duties, Mr. M. C. Andrews receives a package for weighing.

Hampden-Sydney To Meet W&L In Homecoming Game

VMI Ties With Boston, Duke Defeats Clemson

By Lois Peters and Sue Beardmore

VMI maintained its undefeated season but not its winning streak as it tied a determined Boston College team 14-14. The Keydets who were down 14-0 at the half came to life in the third quarter scoring two touchdowns. Quarterback Howard Dyer once again stood out offensively for VMI.

Saturday was a big day for Duke as they defeated defending ACC Champions, Clemson 21-6. This win gave Duke a 4-0 conference record pushing them to top in the Atlantic Coast Conference. This was the second straight loss for the highly favored Clemson Tigers.

Wisconsin, last year's Big Ten Champions, saw their last hopes of recapturing the championship crushed Saturday as the Ohio State Buckeyes romped to a 34-7 win. Before 83,246 fans, Buckeye quarterback Tom Matte proved to be the margin of victory as he carried 17 times for 108 yards, completed 5 of 7 passes for 2 touchdowns and punted five times for a 37 yard average.

The Richmond Spiders finally moved into the winning column as they routed Davidson 35-6. The Spiders were ahead only 7-6 at the half, but with the help of spectacular playing they continued to build up the score. Two of their touchdowns were scored in less than a minute and a half.

Joe Bellino, Navy's quarterback, once again proved to be the great player he has been built up to be leading Navy to a 27-0 victory over Pennsylvania. Bellino scored two touchdowns behind an outstanding defensive play. This win gave nationally ranked Navy their sixth straight victory, and continued their undefeated and untied season.

W&L and Johns Hopkins battled to a 8-8 standstill with both teams failing to give ground. With four minutes remaining in the game the W&L Generals made a desperate bid for victory, but time ran out with the Generals on the 17 yard line.

South Carolina came to life Saturday trouncing North Carolina 22-6 and leaving them in the cellar in the ACC standings. South Carolina did not get started until the final minutes of the third quarter when they scored a touchdown and ran the 2 point conversion which proved to be the winning margin. In the fourth quarter the Gamecocks managed to score two more six pointers giving them a comfortable victory.

National defending champions Syracuse, showed West Virginia why they are third nationally as they romped to a 45-0 victory for their sixteenth straight win. West Virginia was completely hapless in helping Syracuse to the longest winning streak currently in college football. Syracuse, beforehand known for their hard running attack, opened up their passing attack and scored three touchdowns.

Swimming Test

The swimming test required of every junior not enrolled in a swimming course has been scheduled for the following times:

November 3rd — 4:45 p.m.
November 10th — 4:45 p.m.
November 17th — 4:45 p.m.

Students who have questions about this test are asked to see Mrs. Eleanor W. Bobbitt of the physical education department.

Towels, soap, bathing suit and cap will be furnished.

—Staff Photo

CHANGING COURTS, F. Ripley passes a tennis ball to G. Patrick as class tennis competition draws to a close.

—Staff Photo

TIGER CAPTAIN Charlie Sears clutches football as team prepares for Homecoming game.

Classes To Complete Singles Tournaments

Despite postponement due to rain, the second round of the class tennis singles tournament is nearing completion.

In the first round, competitors from Red and White classes were pitted against those from Green and White classes. The winners of these matches played each other.

Through elimination, the final winning Red and White competitor will play the Green and White competitor to win color cup points for her class.

First Round Results

Sophomores and seniors who won their first round matches were Gladys Patrick, Nancy Speakman, Lindy Hatch, Janice Harris, Carol Nye, Clara Lee Parker and Jeanette Talbot. Red and White winners are Trina Childress, Stacy Hohenstein, Faye Ripley, Becky Tuck, Winnie Egolf and Lois Obenshain.

The winners of the second round matches are Gladys Patrick, Faye Ripley, and Lindy Hatch. The other winners of the second and following rounds will be posted on the A. A. bulletin board next to the wires.

Longwood Team Completes Week Of Competition

Longwood's hockey team tied the Richmond Club by 0-0 score on Saturday afternoon on the Longwood athletic field.

The Richmond Club is a professional hockey team, made up of women who coach hockey in various colleges. Most of these women have played in Tidewater, Southeastern and National hockey competition.

Defensive Play

Defensive playing was the rule of the day for both teams, as the ball traveled from one end of the field to the other in quick succession.

"This has been the first time that the Richmond Club hasn't beaten us," commented Carolyn Thorpe, captain of Longwood's team.

A senior team member, Barbara Brantley, said, "the team realy clicked. Everyone was in her place and doing her part."

Roanoke Game

The Longwood team scored 4-1 and 1-0 against Roanoke last Wednesday. The scores in the first game were made by Lindy Hatch, Clara Lee Parker, and Barbara Brantley. Sandra Phlegar scored in the second game.

New Shipment Of SHORTIE SKIRTS
$5.99
Blue, Green, Gold, Black
DOROTHY MAY STORE

'Death Valley' Crowd To Witness Contest

Hampden-Sydney will attempt to upset an unbeaten Washington and Lee team when the two tangle at Death Valley Saturday afternoon.

Coach Stokeley Fulton will pit an improved Tiger eleven against Lee McLaughlin's Generals in the Hampden - Sydney homecoming tilt.

The Tigers, after thumping a strongly favorted Westen Maryland a week ago, enjoyed an open date Saturday while the Generals were in Baltimore.

The Generals' winning streak came to a halt as the Blue Jays of Johns Hopkins fought to keep a winning streak themselves. An 8-8 knotting maintained unbeaten records for both teams.

Fulton doesn't see the task cut out for his club as an easy one. He said "W&L has depth we haven't seen so far this season. I hope our first unit will hold up under the strength of their substitutions."

Sophomore Stewart Shelton, an understudy of Lewis Everette in two games, has taken over at quarterback. He proved himself against the Green Terrors by completing 5 of 11 passes for 131 yards and by picking up 24 yards in ten tries on the ground.

Everette, with less games under his belt than most teams have played, rated fifth in state in scoring with his 24 points last week. The 175 pound sophomore from Danville was moved to the backfield to take advantage of his running ability.

Another sophomore carries a big share of the load for Hampden-Sydney. Fred Mitchell, right half from Appomattox, has proved to be a consistent performer. He is credited with 115 yards on the ground in 20 trips. He has been good on six placement kicks.

Captain Charlie Sears, filling in at fullback for Tommy Treadway, sidelined with a hand injury in the W-M game, looked like his old self. The Little Eight selection a year ago picked up 66 in ten carries in Baltimore.

Bobby Saylor, a Fork Union man chiefly responsible for holding Sewanee to four first downs as a result of his play at left end, has that spot sewed up. Junior Bill Sale, first string center last year, has been moved to tackle to strengthen that spot.

Bill Hinzer, junior from Charleston, W. Va., has started at left guard in each game. He has made his share of tackles in the four games, and has served as the key blocker on the off-tackle series.

George McVey, product of St. Christopher's, has taken over as offensive center while Otis Bradley has been made the defensive center.

Right guard Dave Holman, from St. Christopher's, continues to be the starter at that post. Junior Tim Butler, holds on to right tackle preference. Neil Yeargin, a junior from Oxford, N. C., has been moved up since regular Tony Rucker was sidelined with an injury a couple of weeks ago.

Two deep the Tigers have displayed potential. The second string is built around Jay Elliot as a running quarterback; Dennis Dills and Tris Hyde as halfbacks; ends, Scottie Simms and Joe Viar; tackles, Rod Matthews, Ken Pritchett, and Thomas Wood; guards, Art Matney, and Will Hanes; and center, George Perkins.

Church News

By Ann McCants

Baptist

The State BSU groups will hold their annual convention in Lynchburg on October 28-30. All girls who are interested in attending this convocation may contact Beverly White for a registration card.

The dorm prayer meetings will be held on October 26 and 27. Watch the church bulletin board for further information.

The YWA will have its general meeting on November 1 at the center. All Baptist girls are urged to attend this informative meeting.

Episcopal

Episcopal Vespers will be held each Thursday evening at 5 p.m. All students are invited to attend these services. Any student not familiar with the service and who would like further information on the weekly vespers may contact Cecil Kidd or Mollie Lambert.

Methodist

Guest speaker for Coffee Hour this Friday night will be Miss Nichols who will tell us about the Passion Play which she saw this summer.

"The Mission of the Church in the Academic Community" will be the topic of discussion at the regular Sunday evening meeting this Sunday. The discussion will be led by the girls who attended the annual Fall All-State Conference in Blacksburg on October 15-16.

State Theatre
FARMVILLE, VA.
Wednesday Thru Saturday
OCTOBER 26-27-28-29
That Big One!!
FRANK SINATRA
DEAN MARTIN
SAMMY DAVIS Jr.
PETER LAWFORD
ANGIE DICKINSON
OCEAN'S 11
SUN.-MON.-TUES.
OCT. 30-31-NOV. 1
"THE APARTMENT"
Jack Lemmon
Shirley MacLaine
Fred MacMurray
WED.-THURS.—NOV. 2
VIC MORROW
CHARLES LAUGHTON
ALEXANDER D'ARCY
"Under Ten Flags"
FRI.-SAT.—NOV. 4-5
ELAINE STRITCH
SHIRLEY MacLAINE
"Can-Can"
SHOW TIMES
Afternoons: 2:30 p.m.
Evenings: 8:00 p.m.
PRICES
Children:
Adults:
Afternoons $1.25
Tickets Now On Sale

Scholars To Lecture During Winter Term

During the fall session, several lecturers will address the Longwood student body.

Mr. Moses Hadas, Jay Professor of Greek at Columbia University, will speak on "Humanism, the Ancient Ideal and Its Survival" November 1, at 10 a.m. in Jarman Auditorium. He will be speaking primarily to the freshman who have English and history at 10 a.m.

Mr. Hadas is an author and editor of numerous classical works and books on classical themes.

Other visiting scholars for this semester will include Mr. Charles Samuel Shoup and Sir Ronald Syme.

Mr. Shoup, who is affiliated with the Biology branch of the Atomic Energy Commission will speak on "Some Current Biomedical Work in the Field of Radiation Research" November 3, at 7 p.m.

English Topic

"Three English Historians: Gibbon, Macaulay and Toynbee" will be Sir Ronald Syme's topic. He will speak in Jarman Auditorium December 12 at 10 a.m. Sir Syme is Camden Professor of Ancient History at Oxford University, Fellow of Trinity College, and Honorary Fellow, Oriel College. He is secretary-general of the International Council for Philosophy and Humanistic Studies.

The Visiting Scholars Program of the University Center In Virginia was established to encourage more visits to the various colleges by distinguished scholars. These scholars are suggested by the college faculty members and are chosen by the Visiting Scholars Committee. Arrangements are made by the staff of the University Center.

"I think it's a very stimulating program for students. You can't say every lecturer will interest every student, but you can be certain that having outstanding scholars on campus will interest everybody", commented Dr. Moss.

Longwood Students Attend Conference On World Trade

Judy Potter and Virginia Kemp represented Longwood at the twelfth annual Virginia World Trade Conference in Roanoke, October 12-14.

At the opening session on Thursday morning a panel of three men discussed "Changing World Markets," during which time the areas of opportunity in Latin America and Africa were emphasized. These discussions were followed up by a question and answer student forum on Friday night.

Climaxing the event was the annual banquet, after which was given an address by His Excellency B. K. Nehru, commissioner general for economic affairs for India, in Washington, DC. In his address, he evaluated conditions in his country and urged the U.S. to take an interest there.

Judy and Virginia were among seventy other college students representing twenty - seven colleges from Virginia, Washington, DC, and North Carolina.

Mobile Program From Oak Ridge Interests Neveu

Dr. Maurice C. Neveu, assistant professor of physics and chemistry, is participating in the mobile radioisotope training laboratory which is currently located on the campus of Hampden-Sydney College.

The Longwood professor, along with four Hamoden-Sydney professors and seven students, is taking the two week course of instruction. The course is based on the radioisotope techniques course which has been given by the Special Training Division of the Oak Ridge Institution of Nuclear Studies since 1948.

During the two-week period a series of laboratory experiments and lectures will be presented, covering the basic counting techniques and applications of radioisotope in the fields of biology, chemistry, and physics.

The mobile program is designed to provide faculty members and advanced science majors at undergraduate institutions the opportunity for specialized training in the techniques and application of radiology.

The lone van, equipped to handle all laboratory experiment, provides accommodations for six persons at one time. The lecture programs will be conducted each night of the session at 7:30 p.m. in Easley Hall.

Three instructors from Oak Ridge will teach the course. Dr. Adrian Dahl, assisted by T. W. Stone, will be the instructors for the first week. During the second week Dr. Ross will replace Dr. Dahl in the institute's rotation program.

College Cotillion Plans Activities

The Longwood College Cotillion club has begun plans for their dance to be held on April 15, 1961.

Dot Terry and Jo Reed will play for the afternoon concert in the Longwood Estate Dell as well as for the dance that night. This dance will be open for guests that are not members of the club for a slightly higher fee than the dues.

The fall bids will be extended in the near future. Anyone who is presently a member of Cotillion Club is urged to pay her dues to Pat Hampton Bolt as soon as possible.

—Staff Photo

EXAMINING ONE OF the art exhibit selections, Miss Virginia Bedford stands painting for better view.

Phi Mu Colonization Proposed For Spring

Longwood will add a new member to its sorority roster when Phi Mu becomes its ninth sorority in the spring of this year.

The Greek letter group was chartered on March 4, 1852, at Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia. Five of its district office representatives visited Longwood on September 28 to investigate the possibility of starting a new chapter of Phi Mu on this campus.

Three student representatives from the College of William and Mary and Mrs. Polly V. Freear, the National Panhellenic delegate and Liz DeBeaugrin, the collegiate secretary were entertained by Miss Ruth Wilson, Panhellenic advisor, and council members. The guests were given a general campus tour and met representatives of all eight sororities in their respective rooms.

Phi Mu presented to Panhellenic Council their reasons for wanting to come to Longwood College, their plans of colonization, and what they, as a group, would give to the college. After reviewing the facts presented to them, the Panhellenic Council acting as representatives of the individual sororities voted to add Phi Mu to the campus. It will not come to Longwood until after the completion of Formal Spring Rush, at which time Phi Mu will colonize with girls from this campus. After working with their national office in a training program for an appropriate period, they will be installed as a regular chapter sometime in May.

From time to time all during this year, there will be Phi Mus from all over the state visiting Longwood to see the place where its newest chapter will have its beginning.

LS Student Teaching Program Expands To Danville Schools

This fall Longwood College put into effect a second student teaching program which takes place outside of Farmville and the immediate area. Danville, Virginia began receiving student teachers from Longwood as of September 19, 1960.

The administration of Longwood realized last year that in the near future, the Farmville vicinity schools and the Roanoke schools would not be adequate to handle efficiently the number of girls wishing to student teach. The college began to look into other school systems with the standards necessary for a student teaching program and would also be willing to accept student teachers.

The authorities from Danville contacted the college and asked that the Danville schools be considered for use as a student teaching center. Such a program similar to that used in Roanoke. The Danville system already had a similar program in operation from VPI and Duke University.

Those girls presently student teaching in Danville are: Judy Beckner, Sara Boswell, Lou Caldwell, Nancy Lee Cole, Betty Dickerson, Emily Shelton, Libby [illegible], Clarence Laura Jane Cliborne, Nancy Cobb, Jean Helms, Nancy Kelly, Ann Kovacevich, Brenda Parsely, Gayle Paschal, Peggy Mullin.

Longwood's administration "is very pleased with the Danville school system, as it is also pleased with this student teaching system." Longwood feels that it is easier for the girls to student teach away from the pressures and worries of college life. Also, it presents the girls with a more realistic situation, quite similar to the one that will face them after graduation.

In the next few years the increased enrollment will force the college to find other centers for student teaching. At the present time there are only 150 student teachers in this program, but in eight to ten years the school feels there will probably be 400.

National Art Gallery Displays Selections

By Donna Frantzen

Selections from the National Art Gallery in Washington, D. C. will be on display in the art department until November 15. They are representative of various schools of art. Included are: The Tempera Technique, Mixed Technique, Fresco, Oil Technique — Using Glazes and Oil Technique —Direct Methods.

Tempera Technique

The first painting, "Madonna and Child," an example of the Byzantine School, is from the Mellon Collection.

Tempera paint is a mixture of powdered colors with an emulsion, which takes the place of the now more familiar oil in oil paint. Various forms of the tempera technique were used from ancient Egyptian times through the 17th Century, but the Middle Ages employed the method most purely.

Mixed Techniques

"The Annunciation" by Jan Van Eyck, also from the Mellon Collection, shows the mixed technique.

In early years of 15th century the tempera technique was changed to produce greater luster, revive color and to make possible more fluent application of the paints. Artists introduced glazes of color in oil and-or varnish which were brushed over tempera under painting. This combination of media has been termed the "mixed technique." It was first used in Northern Europe during the Middle Ages, but was most widely employed after 1400.

The Mixed Technique has some advantages. The tempera paint is most adaptable to precise draftsmanship of detail. The glazes are semi-transparent, permitting light to reflect from the white gesso and tempera white beneath them. This greatly increases their luminosity without sacrificing their intensity.

Fresco Technique

Fresco is the technique most appropriate for decoration of walls, for by it the artists colors become permanently incorporated into the plaster. It was known from prehistoric times in Egypt, became especially popular during the Renaissance, and continues in use today.

Fresco demands careful planning before painting is begun since it is done on wet plaster, dries rapidly and connot be satisfactorily altered. The best wall for receiving a fresco is made of rough bricks because an irregular one holds plaster well.

Fresco enforces a simplicity of style and breadth of treating detail characteristic of the art in the Italian Renaissance. The technique was a strong determinant of style in periods when it was widely used.

Bernardeno Luini's "The Illusion of Cephalus," from the Samuel H. Kress Collection represents this technique.

Oil Technique

The Self Portrait by Vincent Van Gogh from the Chester Dale Collection represents the Direct method of oil technique.

The technique used most frequently today is so-called "Direct method." In this the artist simply brushes his oil color on the canvas attempting to achieve final coloring and draftsmanship simultaneously.

In the last century artists started to paint finished pictures directly from nature. Painting in the bright sunlight tended to lighten the modern palette by finding equivalents for light in pure brilliant colors.

Local FBLA Group Choses New Title

The Future Business Leaders of America Club's name has been changed to Phi Beta Lambda, Longwood College Chapter of FBLA.

Bids for Phi Beta Lambda were extended to all new business students who attended the FBLA meeting on October 24. Bids were issued Tuesday, October 25, and initiation of new members was last night.

See Our
Sterling Silver Rings
With Longwood Seal
$3.50
Also Longwood Charms
MARTIN
THE JEWELER

Hungry???
Try The
SNACK BAR
"The House of Good Snacks"

CAMPUS GRILL
(Between Hockey Field & South Main Street)
Hot Dogs — Hamburgers
Cheeseburger — Country Ham Sandwiches
Barbecues
SPECIAL:
Barbecued Chickens
Ice Cream & Milk Shakes
EX 2-4236

Top Ten Tunes
[illegible]
WILSON'S HOME
& AUTO SUPPLY

Place Your Order
Before October 28
for American Heritage
Picture History
of
The Civil War
Reg. Ed. $19.95
FOR $14.95
DeLuxe Ed. $24.95
FOR $19.95
WEYANOKE
BOOK SHOP
Farmville, Va.

Buy
Silver Longwood Charms
at
LANSCOTT

Compliments of SOUTHSIDE
SUNDRY CO.
Corner of Main & High

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE MARK. COPYRIGHT 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Dear Diary...

As I take my pen in hand, I take my bottle of Coke in the other hand! Yes, dear diary, where would I be without Coca-Cola? Just a social outcast. Why, everybody drinks Coke! John and Bill and Barry and Charley. Horace too. Confidentially, I think I'll have another bottle of Coke.

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Support Water Pageant Tryouts

The Rotunda

Attend Biology Lecture Tomorrow

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., November 2, 1960 | No. 5

Watkins To Fill Admissions Post On December 1

The appointment of Mrs. Frank Nat Watkins as director of admissions at Longwood College was approved today by the State Board of Education, upon the recommendation of Dr. Francis G. Lankford, Jr., president of the college.

Mrs. Watkins will move to the new post from her present position as executive secretary on December 1. Mrs. Watkins will become the first director of admissions for the college. Upon her appointment, Dr. Lankford expressed his confidence in her ability to establish an admissions office, citing her thirty years of experience in the registrar's office, and as secretary to previous presidents.

Admissions to Longwood College were formerly under the direction of Dr. Earl R. Boggs, who is leaving the college to take a post at the University of West Virginia.

A graduate of Longwood College, Mrs. Watkins received her master's degree from Teachers College, Columbia University. She has taught in the school systems of Amelia County and Waynesboro, Virginia.

Pi Delta Epsilon Issues Fall Bids To 11 Students

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity issued membership bids November 1 to 11 upperclassmen.

Those seniors receiving bids were: Lee Burnette, Page Davis, Sandra Ferebee, Pat Hurst, Nancy Morris, and Lillie Rogers.

Juniors receiving bids were: Pauline Brightwell, Judy Detrich, Mary Byrd Micou, Mary Lee Warriner, and Sandra Weaver.

Membership in the local chapter is limited to juniors and seniors who have shown outstanding ability in the field of journalism while serving on the staff of any recognized publication.

Annuals On Sale

Mary Lee Warriner, editor of the 1961 Virginian, has announced that the yearbook will be on sale until November 23.

The Virginian may be purchased from members of the staff. The price of the annual is $5.

LC Broadcasts Various Aspects Of College Life

The Wednesday afternoon radio program, "Listening at Longwood," was recorded and conducted today by students Lu Ella Culler and Kathy Wallace. These girls visited the home management house earlier this week and interviewed Mrs. Frances Gee and five home economics majors, present residents of the model home.

Next Sunday, at 2 p.m., the Radio Workshop will deliver a program by Dr. Simonini, head of the English department, who will speak on "The History of Liguistics."

The Longwood Radio Workshop is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Wiley, faculty members of the English and drama department at Longwood. The workshop is an extension of the Longwood Players organization and is composed of students interested in all phases of radio work.

Present program directors for the informal Wednesday afternoon show, "Listening at Longwood," are Patsy Skellie and Betty Atkinson. Mary Kay Rice and Lu Ella Culler act as program directors of the Sunday afternoon educative program, "Longwood Speaks," heard each Sunday at 2 p.m. over radio station WFLO in Farmville and the University of Virginia station WUVA-FM in Charlottesville. Nancy Oddinino and Page Tolleson are the present newscasters and reporters. Other members of the workshop include Gail Arn, Bonnie Garter, and Emily Smith. The workshop group is open to all interested students who wish to gain practical radio experience.

All Longwood students and faculty will be interested to know that an experimental radio program was conducted Tuesday and Thursday nights of last week from 7-8 p.m. with the idea of beginning a nightly radio program from the Longwood studio, conducted solely by students. If a campus station is organized, an evening program of a variety of music and spot news of campus, statewide, national, and international interest will be available to campus listeners only during the early evening hours.

Alpha Kappa Gamma Taps Eight In Recent Ceremony

—Staff Photo

NEWLY TAPPED AKG MEMBERS are (front row) seniors W. Raine, N. Speakman, G. Ludwick, B. Kersey, and (standing) juniors M. Blewett, J. Savage, A. Howell, and P. Green.

Leadership Qualities Basis For Selection

By Ann Agee

In an impressive ceremony held on Monday night, Alpha Kappa Gamma tapped outstanding students into its membership. Alpha Kappa Gamma is a national honorary leadership fraternity of which one of the criteria for selection is "the highest in ideals and womanly service."

This fall, four seniors, Beverly Kersey, Gerry Ludwick, Wirtley Raine, and Nancy Speakman, and four juniors, Mattie Blewett, Peggy Green, Ann Howell, and Jo Savage, were tapped.

Beverly Kersey

Beverly Kersey, a senior elementary education major from Richmond, is a member of H2O, president of Kappa Delta sorority, has served on the Panhellenic Council, and has been May Court representative for her class. This year, she is serving as vice-president of House Council.

Gerry Ludwick

"Numb . . . most surprised I've ever been," were the reactions of Gerry Ludwick, senior chemistry and math major from Roanoke. A list of Gerry's activities includes: Student Government representative for her freshman year, class treasurer in her sophomore year, secretary of H2O, member of Campus Fees Committee, member of the college band for two years, and assistant to freshman head resident, Mrs. Overton, for two years.

Wirtley Raine

Wirtley Raine, senior biology and math major from Newport News, has a record of leadership achievement. For the YWCA she served on the Freshman Commission, served as treasurer, and is now vice-president. She is now president of the Granddaughters Club, a member of the Lynchnos Society, honorary science and mathematics organization, and a member of the Cotillion Club. Wirtley is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority, having served as treasurer, and at present, serving as vice-president. Last spring, she received a National Science Foundation grant for study in marine science.

Nancy Speakman

Senior Nancy Speakman is a biology and math major from Ordinary. She is secre-

(Continued on page 4)

Charter Planned For Pi Omega Pi

Announcement has been made concerning the planned chartering of Pi Omega Pi, a national honorary business education fraternity, on the Longwood campus. A formal petition has recently been sent for the charter.

The main purpose of this fraternity is to further the aims of business majors, especially those in the business teacher field.

Junior and senior students who have a "B" average in business subjects and a "C" average in all others are eligible for membership.

Aquatic Group Picks Chairmen For Water Show

The H20 Club this week announced the selection of Julie Hollyfield and Ginger Culpepper as co-chairmen of the winter water pageant.

As co-chairmen, Julie and Ginger will supervise the production of the annual water show, to be presented on December 8 and 9 in the college pool.

Hollyfield Well Traveled

Julie, a senior from Rice, brings swimming experience from around the world, as she has lived with her family in both South America and Iran. A business major coming to Longwood from Westhampton College, Julie has participated in various water pageants as a member of the H20 Club. She is also a member of the Spanish Club and the FHLA.

Culpepper Active in H20

Ginger, an elementary education major from Valdosta, Georgia, has also had previous experience in water pageants. She is a member of Kappa Delta social sorority, and sweetheart of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at Hampden-Sydney College. Her other activities include the supervision of a Senior Girl Scout troop in Farmville. Ginger is also a member of the Cotillion Club.

Committee Heads Appointed

Assistins Julia and Ginger with the Christmas water pageant will be Sarah Ruston and Patsy Skelle as chairmen of the props committee; Morag Nocher, chairman of the costume committee; and Ann Ranson, in charge of caps and make-up. Claudia Wilson will serve as chairman of the program committee. Beverly Kersey will be in charge of publicity, and Jo Savage will head the door and ushers committee.

[illegible] but they must find a good opportunity to reward their talents. I hope they will feel this way instead."

Editorial apprentices for the fall issue include Ruth Catlin, Jeanne Cowan, Donna Humphrey, Melanie Wilkes, and Judy Woodyard.

Dodsy Moody, Lois Peters, Anne Wells, Anna White, Diane Whitney, Joyce Waldburger, and Jo Anna Young have been added to the business staff.

ALIDORO, AN ADVISOR to the Prince and in disguise, laughs as he listens to two sisters quarrel over the one whom the Prince should marry.

Opera Performance In Lyceum Schedule

The National Opera Company will appear in "La Cenerentola" on November 8 at 8 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium.

Formed in 1948, this company gave its first performance during the 1949-50 season and since that time has delivered over 900 staged performances of opera, all sung in English. The troupe was formed by an attorney and businessman of Raleigh, North Carolina, who felt that if opera is to gain the wide public appeal which it deserves, it must be presented in the language of the audiences.

The National Opera Company has proved to be a haven for young professional singers desiring employment and experience. Practically all of the young singers have college degrees or the equivalent from music school and most of them have enjoyed considerable experience in opera as well as concert, oratorio and television work.

"La Cenerentola" is an Italian version of the Cinderella story. While the basic story will be familiar to all, it is not a children's fairy tale, but a sophisticated comedy. The music is characteristic of Rossini's best florid style.

The story presents several sharply delineated characters, the stepfather of Cinderella who is anxious to marry one of his own daughters to the prince, the two wicked stepsisters who vie with each other for the royal attentions, the conving Dadini, servant of the prince, and the shy, appealing Cinderella.

This opera, by Rossini, was adapted for the English by Martha W. England and James Durbin, Jr.

Colonnade Tells Staff Additions For Fall Session

The Colonnade, the literary magazine of Longwood College, has announced the following changes and additions to the 1960-1961 staff.

Mary Kay Rice, a junior English major from Staunton, has assumed the position of short story editor. Mary Kay, in addition to her position with the Colonnade, is co-director of "Longwood Speaks," and is a member of the Longwood Players, Newman Club, and H20.

The short story editor commented, "I urge anyone who is interested in contributing short stories to the Colonnade to see me at anytime. I think many people are shy about having their work considered for publi-

An Old Story

The following tale is reprinted from the Rotunda, October 6, 1923. It is interesting to compare the sentiments of yesteryear with those of today.

Once upon a time there lived in a certain henhouse a hen who was very proud of herself. The other hens and roosters of the yard had all told her how beautiful her feathers were. Indeed, she was straightening these feathers one day, unfortunately, one of them dropped to the ground. A neighbor, noticing this, exclaimed, "Oh, you've lost one of your pretty feathers!"

Now the young hen was very vain since she had been admired so much by the entire barnyard, and she replied, "Ah, that is all right, I am just as beautiful if not more so."

As the days passed the hen became more and more popular and she told all her friends that it was because she had plucked a feather from her body, thereby making herself lovelier than before.

Her enemies — and friends too — began to talk about her. "The idea of plucking out ones' feathers to gain the admiration of the roosters!"

By and by, the story reached another barnyard and the chickens gathered in groups to talk of the vain hen who had plucked six feathers from her body in order to be more beautiful. Finally the story was carried to still another barnyard and this time the tale ran that a hen had picked nearly all her feathers in order to become more beautiful in the eyes of all men in the barnyard.

On went the story to the ears of another yard where hens met to exclaim over the marvelous story of two hens who had deliberately sat up and plucked their feathers and who had frozen to death, thus paying the price for their vanity.

At last the story came back to the little hen who had started the whole thing. When she heard the story as it now was, the shock was so great that she died.

A silly little story, in a way, but it is quite true in moral. Exaggeration is one of the worst evils that infects the Normal. We hear a story about a girl, one of us repeats it, enlarging upon it. In turn it is repeated to another who, in passing it on, puts on more frills and furbelows.

On it goes until the shock is truly great to the girl who is unwilling and unknown, yet principal character in the story.

Does this apply to the Longwood campus of 1960?

A Classic Idea

Seek always the Truth.

What a painful task this oft may be: for in the dreaded thing . . . criticism. Nay, not for pursuing course of said pursuit, one may be confronted with a such a worthy goal, rather for deeds or thoughts in one's private realm. For Truth embodies every realm of every sphere.

Therefore to be a seeker of Truth, one must reject pride and take upon himself the duty to show good humor when others' speech is negative toward his involvements. The worth of every man is judged by the things about which he busies himself. Thus if improvement is possible, is not a man's worth capable of being increased?

Yet all that is spoken in criticism is not to be relied upon. A Truth seeker must be rigid with himself and with others in balancing his scales. When he is convinced that he does not act or think rightly, then he must be wise enough to gladly change.

Apollo, fond Master of Truth, sympathizes with mortals, for he knows that their span is brief — too brief many times to conquer Truth. He also is aware that there is one group of undergods upon these sacred grounds whose need is to listen, weigh and balance. It is their charge to pass judgement thrice yearly upon the creative work of all undergods willing to relinquish their efforts for the entertainment or intellectual consideration of all. For this group's product to have its greatest worth, they must accept the higher works and reject the lesser. Their principal guide is the success or failure of their past endeavors. The most recent has been classified by many as the latter.

May it be theirs to listen, to patiently seek the Truth, by which no man was ever injured. He is injured who abides in his error and ignorance.

—Homer Parnassus, V

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia Box 189.

Sandra Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Joann Kleinlecke ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lechler ..... News Editor
Judy Detrich ..... Feature Editor
Mary Byrd Micou ..... Sports Editor
Pat Hurst ..... Desk Editor
Linda Stoddarth ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Cole ..... Circulation Manager
Janet Stanley, Janet Wainwright ..... Advertising Managers

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press listing (first class), Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating first honors).

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 8, 1934. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

Library Interests Many With Variety Of Books

By Ginny Gilmore

With the beginning of the school year, many new books are being displayed in the library to lure students towards the world of books.

For the befuddled student who is beginning what could be the richest learning experience of his life, The Adventure of Learning in College, by Roger Garrison, provides a guide. This looks into the stimulation, problems and expectations of higher education to provide a clear and practical insight into what college is all about, and what the student who earnestly seeks profit from his college years should expect to get out of them.

One book dealing with a current national problem is The Enemy Within, by Robert F. Kennedy. This book, written with both indignation and humor, tells the story of the enemies of clean unions and honest management. It tells of the highlights of the McClellan Committee investigation, and how it laid the basis for a sorely needed labor law.

The Case for the South, by William D. Workman, Jr. is neither a call to arms for racial integration nor a cry for mercy against it. It was written for all persons seeking a better understanding of exactly why the South reacts as it does to forced racial integration and federal domination.

Edited by Marquis Childs and James Reston, the book, Walter Loppmann and His Times, is a series of written tributes to him on his seventieth birthday by twelve distinguished contemporaries from America, Britain, and France. It reveals the early motivations and depths of Mr. Lippmann's thought, including a close examination of his restless young days as a socialist and his political transition from a crusading radical to a judicious conservative.

Partially biographical and partially a critical analysis, The Trial by Exixtence, Elizabeth Shepley Sergeant is the story of Robert Frost and his developing genius. With insight and understanding, she shows the slow progress of the recluse farmer to the poet who is now a leading world figure.

In the field of poetry is The Powers of Poetry, written by Gilbert Highet. This book, a collection of essays on poets and poetry, constitutes an introduction to poetry intelligent readers which answers the question, "What is poetry?"

Books in my Baggage, by Lawrence Clark Powell, the librarian of the University of California, is a collection of personal and enthusiastic essays in which he shares the joy of encountering certain books for the first time.

Editorials Lure Majority Of Readers, Last Page Captures Eyes Of Many

By Jane Stegall

What do you read first when you get your Rotunda? The headlines? The sports page? The editorials? Or perhaps you just look at the pictures? A recent survey proved that approximately 40 per cent of the student body read the editorials and letters to the editor and then moved on to other favored sections.

One student said that in reading the editorials she gained insight into controversial issues as well as knowledge on established subjects. The editorials and letters exemplified to another student true freedom of our press—students are able to express what and how they feel on any topic they think important. Someone else said that they read the letters to find out "what this week's letters had to say about last week's letters." Generally everyone agreed that the editorials and letters to the editor were a necessary and worthwhile section of the Rotunda.

Next in popularity was the fourth, or back page, of the newspaper which contains general news and announcements. Not many comments were offered as to why they enjoyed this section except for the fact that it contains most of the news concerning the faculty and administration. Another person liked it because the articles were not concerned with any one subject but dealt with them all.

Approximately 15 per cent of the people questioned liked the sports page best. Aside from the fact that most of the girls interviewed were physical education majors, other reasons were given. One reader simply read it to keep abreast of the happenings in the athletic phase of our campus. If one is unable to attend a game for one reason or than other she can always obtain some information about it from our paper.

Many comments and compliments were afforded columns dealing with other colleges' sports happenings. One mentioned in particular was the column in the October 5 issue concerning State's defeat of U Va and Clemson winning over Tech. This not only gives you a view as to what is going on here on Longwood's campus but neighboring ones as well.

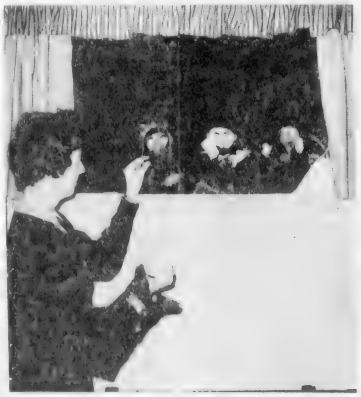
The front page came through with about 15 per cent reading it first. Nearly everyone glanced through the headlines, but only a very few stopped to read what was under them. One student said she read the first page because she didn't have time to read the whole paper and she felt the front page would contain the most noteworthy items. Another said that because the front page was the first thing she saw, she read it.

And then there are some of us who just look at the pictures and feel content. This class contains about 10 per cent of students. "I look to see if my picture is in there this week," was one comment heard. Most people just look because looking is easier than reading and because they liked pictures. Let's see . . . that leaves about five per cent and that's just about right for the number of people who only read the cartoon and then put the paper away in their scrapbook or box of memories.

Everyone questioned did speak quite favorably of the Rotunda and felt that publication should be continued. Some even offered worthwhile suggestions for columns. One of these was that a column should be in each week dealing with students' views on political matters (as was in last week's paper). Some wanted more pictures, a humor column, and a long article on social notes. What do you think should be added? We'd like to have your opinion, because after all it is your newspaper.

Puppet Skits Reveal Imagination, Talent

By Mary Ann Lipford



Perky puppet creatures will perform in childlike glory in Mrs. Lemen's Art 301 class on Wednesday. Clever students have glorified stiff wooden spoons, stuffed socks, and have fashioned styrofoam into original puppets suitable for elementary classroom use. One girl transformed a cloth-covered ruler in to a dachshund dog.

The students used their ingenious imagination to design dresses and will be displaying multiple talents in the production and casting of the play. The names of the six skits to be given are: "Candyland," "Pocahontas," "A Trip to Vegetable Land," "Halloween," "The Cat That Got Lost," and "The Hundred Dresses."

The puppets will appear in fifteen - minute shows including original stories and songs devised by the students. The first and second grade group has chosen a Halloween theme for its skit, while historical figures will be impersonated by puppets for advanced grades.

The class is divided into six groups, whose chairmen are as follows: Carolyn Elliott, Judy Waldo, Emily Smith, Taylor Rowell, Betty Abbott, and Anne Wells. The students will be graded on the manipulation of the puppets as well as originality in appearance and dialogue of puppets.

Any Longwood girl is welcome to drop in the Art Room between 10 a.m. and 12 noon to observe the results of simple materials and creative imagination as these little puppet characters come to life in unique personalities.

—Staff Photo

REHEARSING FOR THE PUPPET SHOW. Barbara Ann Cole adjusts Chief Powhatan's hand, as Captain John Smith and Pocahontas look on.

Halloween's Fun Offers Campus Goblin's Delight

By Judy Detrich

How many years Halloween has been celebrated — in Europe and in the New World! Its evolution from a pagan rite to a Christian celebration of All Saint's Day and finally to a holiday especially for fun has delighted children for many, many years.

Halloween this year was no exception—except that the weather dampened things a bit. Children from kindergarten through the college years donned the masquerade of witches, ghosts, goblins, devils, beautiful ladies, tramps, and gypsies to parade through the streets and knock on doors, calling "Trick or Treat!"

Pranks were neither as strenuous as in Grandpa's day (who nowadays would lift a buggy to the top of a nearby shed's roof?) nor malicious, thanks to words of caution from the chief of police.

Several years back saw the Longwood dormitories decorated with a weird procession of strange creatures — goblins, grotesque, and impromptu costumed figures paraded through in observance of the holiday night.

This year Halloween seemed to be subdued. The dining hall was decorated to be sure and each girl was given a gaily colored lollipop — perhaps a treat after a day of tricks!

Things were subdued, that is, until the bewitching hour of 10:30. Then a weird group made its way across campus. A group of college children from a nearby community, Hampden - Sydney, decked in sheets, shades, and odds of this and that, trailed from dorm to dorm singing as they went — and casting eerie shadows with the light of their candles. Although the group did not succeed in frightening many people they did enliven the evening. Their quaint and curious charm was disbanded by an equally fascinating group—some lovely Longwood witches, dressed in black from head to toe, descended upon the group and frightened them away.

Halloween has passed — the ghost scare is over for a year. Did a ghost pull your hair?

Tennis Matches Near Completion Of Class Series

Competitive class tennis singles are drawing to a close on Longwood's courts.

To this point, Clara Lee Parker, Lindy Hatch, Gladys Patrick, green and whites, and Faye Ripley, a red and white, have emerged as the victors of the quarter-finals. However, the semi-final matches have not been completed.

In the quarter-finals, Ruth Catlin will play Barbara Brantley; Lois Obenschain will meet Jeanette Talbot; Winnie Egolf will battle Janice Harris; and Stacy Hohenstein and Mary Hite Grayson will meet.

If the weather permit, all of the second round matches may be completed this fall; however, if not, they will be completed along with the rest of the tournament in the spring.

In the completed quarter-finals, Clara L. Parker defeated Carol Nye 6-3 and 6-4, while Gladys Patrick defeated Trina Childress 6-1 and 6-4. Lindy Hatch took Becky Tuck with a score of 6-1 and 6-1. Lindy Hatch will play Faye Ripley in the semi-finals. Faye Ripley defeated Nancy Speakman 6-3 and 6-1.

The winner of the tennis singles is entitled to five points in the race for the color cup. Clara Lee Parker and Carol Nye, tennis managers, urge everyone interested in playing in the spring tennis doubles to "select a partner and polish up!"

H2O Club Views 15 Year History As Active Group

The H2O Club was founded at Farmville State Teacher's College in 1935 after the completion of the college pool which was started on April 16, 1934. The club had six charter members and a counselor from each class.

The purpose was, "To foster high standards of swimming and to sponsor swimming activities." Mrs. Fitzpatrick was the first advisor.

In the 1937 Virginian, the H2O Club was noted as having "gained a place in the Farmville 'world of sports'." This particular year, H2O was represented on the AA Council and had two meets scheduled on the calendar of events. The first meet was a carnival in which each class presented a very entertaining stunt. The second meet in March was a contest to show individual skills in diving and swimming.

Miss Brockenborough was advisor when the telegraphic meets were popular throughout Virginia. A telegraphic meet is when each participating college records its own scores on activities and compiles them to find the winners throughout the state.

Interest in these telegraphic meets dwindled in 1951 and it became necessary to find another

(Continued on page 4)

—Staff Photo

DEMONSTRATING THE FUNDAMENTAL TECHNIQUES of modern dance, dancers (clockwise from front) B. Lehembre, S. Metcalf, M. Wyatt, L. Dodd, M. V. Harris, A. Harrah, and C. Longstreet assume meaningful positions.

Kennedy, Nixon Meet At Memorial Dinner

By Carla McNair

Last week Jack and Jackie Kennedy rode in a ticker-tape parade down Broadway in New York City. Kennedy's toughest chore this week was to address a convention of the American Legion held in Miami, Florida.

Kennedy delivered a speech calling for stronger defenses with an airborne SAC alert and an airlift for the country's "conventional armed forces," as an example. He then turned up in Manhattan for the annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner held at the Waldorf. At the $100 a plate dinner Kennedy met Mr. Nixon, also clad in white tie and tails.

Dwight Eisenhower, doing his bit for the Nixon campaign, was found this week in San Francisco also in a ticker-tape parade. A crowd of 250,000 gave him the city's most hearty welcome since General Douglas MacArthur came home from Japan in 1951. This trip was the idea of the president.

Starting this tour, his first stop was in Detroit where in his speech he lashed out at "extremists" and "evil propaganda that besmirched America's name." His major address was at Cobo Hall for the 43 National Automobile Show. His major points were: "wealthy US allies must do more to help underdeveloped nations, particularly through the United Nations; underdeveloped nations should not forget that the outstanding fact of US capitalism is not its material prowess but its unique sense of social responsibility."

Next day he arrived in Minneapolis, where he was greeted by Mayor P. Kenneth Peterson and a crowd of 2,000 people. He then flew for a day of rest in Palm Springs, California, and then wound up in his "spectacular motorcade" in San Francisco.

In Hartford, Connecticut last week Republican candidates Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge posed for photographers at the Bond Hotel. They then closed the doors and held a serious conference about GOP campaign tactics.

The British Navy last week was finally and proudly launched into the atomic age. The first atomic submarine, the 3,500-ton Dreadnaught, slid into the water while another submarine was on order. A third will soon be designed to fire nuclear missiles.

Two physicians won the 1960 Nobel Prize for medicine. They will share the $43,627 cash award. The co-winners were: Sir MacFarlane Burnet, 61, of Melbourne, Australia; and Dr. Peter Brian Medawar, 45, of London, England. Sir Burnet theorized that skin grafts between non-related individuals could be done successfully. Dr. Medawar proved Sir Burnet's theory. His latest book, The Future of Man, was also published this month.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek celebrated his 73rd birthday this week on October 31. He spent a quiet day resting at his country home near Taipei, Formosa.

El Salvador, a small republic in Central America, was recently taken over by a three man "junta."

Longwood Defeats W&M Division, 3-0

By Lois Peters

The Longwood hockey team defeated the Norfolk Division of William and Mary 3-0 Wednesday afternoon on the athletic field.

Longwood constantly threatened the William and Mary goal line throughout the game while holding the Division scoreless. Longwood's defense, which had yielded only one goal this season, once again showed their strength.

Saturday, the Longwood first and second teams played two Richmond area professional teams in Richmond. The first team played the Little Colonels and went down to a 4-1 defeat. In the second game, the Virginia Creepers edged Longwood for a 1-0 victory.

Even though Longwood did not win these two games, they will promise valuable experience for the blue and white team which travels to Richmond for the Tidewater Tournament this week end.

—Staff Photo

SENIOR VARSITY HOCKEY MEMBERS, (front row) M. H. Grayson, P. Southworth, C. L. Parker, C. Thorpe, and (standing) J. Talbott, A. Wright, and B. Brantley, gather after playing last home game.

UVa Bows Again In Pigskin Play During Weekend

By Marjorie Freese

Virginia lost to Wake Forest 28-20 at the Virginia Homecoming game. In the first three quarters, Wake Forest was playing offensively, while the last quarter was spent in warding off the Cavaliers' offensive thrusts. This loss makes the 24th straight loss of the Cavaliers, bringing them close to the record held by Kansas for 28 straight losses.

Washington and Lee won its fifth straight victory by defeating Hampden-Sydney 14-7 at Hampden-Sydney's Homecoming game. It was a come-from-behind victory in the last quarter with a 29 yard pass to Ned Hobbs.

Virginia Tech's win over Richmond by a score of 20-0 gives the Gobblers a tie for first place in the Southern Conference. Their chief rival for first place is VMI.

Army won over Miami of Ohio by a score of 30-7. The combined passing and kicking efforts of Frank Blance aided Army in gaining much of the point counting ground.

Navy won its seventh straight victory in defeating Notre Dame 14-7 in Philadelphia. The famed Joe Bellino fumbled in the second quarter to give Notre Dame the touchdown that caused a tie that was not broken until the fourth quarter by Navy.

Syracuse was defeated 10-0 by Pittsburg in an upset. This loss broke the 16 game winning streak of Syracuse.

Duke got six points in the last quarter to Georgia Tech's 0 in a homecoming game at Durham, North Carolina.

Maryland beat North Carolina 15-0 by capitalizing on the Game-Cocks' many fumbles.

Randolph - Macon defeated Johns Hopkins 17-8 in an exciting game at Ashland.

SELECT YOURS NOW!
- Best Sellers
- Religious Books
- Civil War & Virginia Books
- Poetry Collections
- Cookbooks
- Children's Books

Weyanoke Book Shop
200 High Street
Farmville, Virginia

Compliments of
DAVIDSON'S
Farmville, Virginia

Modern Dance Opens World Of Creativity

By Janice Harris

Strains of modern progressive jazz jolt the air, and we enter into the realm of creativity in the form of modern dance. Jumping, gyrating figures convert Longwood's gymnasium into an utterly fascinating and pulsating retreat. Lost in music and mood, the dancers turn, twist, and convert into exaggerated contortions.

In hues of vivid plum, sky blue, hot pink, hemlock green, and red, the leotards and tights lend atmosphere to their cellar of interpretation. Solid black adds a sinister mood necessary to the jazz movement.

Must Learn Techniques

The drum beat is the medium through which the girls are first introduced to modern dance. Before interpretative and creative dance can be felt, one must learn certain techniques which aid in expressing oneself. On - the - floor techniques are first learned to the beat of the drum; then upright techniques are introduced. These techniques are the basis for all work toward the imaginative and creative.

Music is then brought into the sphere, and the girls learn to move as the mood of the music directs them. They learn problem solving in relation to dance. As they progress they use their bodies to a greater extent in expressing their feeling of the music and their interpretations. Learning to determine the mood of a musical work—sad, humorous, dreamy, or happy—is another objective of the class.

Self Expression Prevails

Modern dance with the help of music helps the girls to find and express themselves. It is actually a fact that many girls discover through dance an entirely new and fascinating aspect that they never knew had existed.

It is perhaps difficult for anyone to believe that a dangling arm or a slowly moving leg would have any significance; however, either one of these or a combination of the two could depict nonchalance, boredness, or laziness, depending on the musical mood.

While the extremities are highly emphasized, the head is also of great importance in creative dance. The position of the head reveals the mood that one is attempting to portray. A downward head position reveals sorrow and bleakness; an upward slant conveys a feeling of hope; and a sideward cock is interpreted as fear, cunning, or anxiety. The facial expression is also very revealing.

No Facial Expression

In practically all creative work it is of utmost importance that the face is completely expressionless. This is true in every phase with the exception of humor, in which a smile or wide-eyed expression heightens the interest of the onlookers. However, it is neither the head nor arms nor legs alone that compose a dance. It is an expertly developed commination of these plus a feeling for mood, music and composition that goes into the make-up of creativity.

The modern dance class strives for these ideals. In the jazz movement their gyrations and contortions singly may seem to have no meaning, but one should consider them as a whole. One will discover that they are saying something of great importance to themselves. Just take a look—and discover what they're saying!

See Our
New English Transluscent
CHINA
Prices Start At $11.95
MARTIN
THE JEWELER

Hungry???
Try The
SNACK BAR
"The House of Good Snacks"

Longwood Jewelers
CHARMS
BRACELETS
216 N. Main St.
Farmville, Virginia

CAMPUS GRILL
(Between Hockey Field & South Main Street.)
Hot Dogs — Hamburgers
Cheeseburgers
Country Ham Sandwiches
Barbecues
SPECIAL
Barbecued Chickens
Ice Cream & Milk Shakes
EX 2-4236

State Theatre
FARMVILLE, VA.

WED.-THURS.—NOV. 2-3
VAN HEFLIN
MYLENE DEMONGEOT
"Under 10 Flags"

FRI.-SAT.—NOV. 4-5
Special limited Engagement
2 Performances Daily
2:30 P.M. and 8:00 P.M.

PRICES
Children:
Afternoons-Evenings 75c
Adults:
Afternoons $1.25
Evenings $1.60

Tickets Now On Sale

SUN.-MON.—NOV. 6-7

TUES.-WED.—NOV. 8-9

58 Seniors To Start Nine Weeks Teaching

Fifty-eight Longwood students will begin their second nine weeks of student teaching on November 14.

Those students who will be practice teaching in the Roanoke elementary grades are: Betty Jane Allgood, Mary Blair Booth, Nancy Lechler, Nancy Quarles, Sally Thomas, Gretchen Zimmerman, Joyce Tolley, Janet Underwood, and Martha L. Walker.

Those teaching in the Roanoke secondary schools are: Dorothy Gills, Patricia Bolt, Anna Lacy, Marianne Zimmerman, Lou Ella Culler, Katherine Wallace, and Mary Lee Barnes. Also Mary E. Lee, Clara Lee Parker, Earline Queen, Judy Echols, Joanne Kleinecke and Roberta Koons will teach.

The fifteen student teachers in the Danville schools will be: Mary Bonner, Melissa Harvell, Jane House, Carol Barnes, Mary Rideout, Harriet Butterworth, and Sally Pleasant.

Also teaching in Danville will be: Iris Wall, Judith Welsh, Harriett Dawson, Linda Payne, Matilda Powell, Jeannette Talbott, and Mary Jean Wrisht.

In the Appomattox schools the girls student teaching will be Frances Ayres, Barbara Chaffin, Betty Stegall, Cherry Gorham, Mary Grayson, and Cherron Kelly. Also Janice McClenny, Mary Thomas Owen, Sandra Watkins, and Hannah White will be there.

From November 14 through January 27, Betsy Dunn, Ann Hardy, and Barbara Moore will be there doing student teaching in Dayton.

Cumberland will have two of Longwood's student teachers, Josephine Baker, and Rebecca Wooldridge. Charlotte Court House will have eight girls, Barbara Brantley, Jean Gates, Rose Johnson, Evelyn King, Jeanette Metcalf, Doris Tolley, and Nancy Umbarger.

Ten Accept Bids In Sorority Rush

Fall Rush took place on October [illegible] participating sororities participating were: Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Sigma Tau, Delta Zeta, Sigma Kappa, and Zeta Tau Alpha.

On Wednesday, October 26, these sororities prepared informal get-togethers in their chapter rooms in honor of the new pledges.

Those girls accepting bids this fall are: Julia King and Jackie Skellie, Alpha Gamma Delta; Lois Peters and Patsy Skellie Alpha Sigma Tau; Becky Becker, Virginia Thomson, Carol Gregory, and Alice Pizer, Delta Zeta; Libby Predmore, Sigma Kappa; and Carol Walton, Zeta Tau Alpha.

AKG Additions Show Feelings Of Surprise, Pleasure, Challenge

(Continued from page 1)

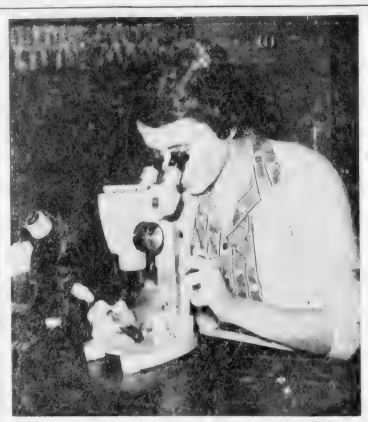
tary of Lychnos Society, a member of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society, active in the BSU and class activities, she has served on Student Government for two years as both junior and senior class representatives, and [illegible] dean's list student. When questioned as to her feelings on being tapped, she said, "What can I say except that I am very surprised and pleased."

Mattie Blewett

Mattie Blewett, one of the four juniors selected, is a social science major from Hampton. She is now vice-president of the state BSU, she has been a Rotunda staff writer, and has served on Student Government for two years, this year, being secretary of the organization. Mattie is also active in the "Y." having held many committee positions.

Peggy Green

Another junior, Peggy Green, is an English and Spanish major from Newport News. She is vice-president of her junior class, vice-president of Kappa Delta sorority, literary editor of the Virginian and secretary of Virginia Interscholastic Press Association. Peggy has been very active in class activities, having collaborated on skit writing for her sophomore and junior Circuses and class productions. Commenting on her feeling about being tapped, Peggy said, among other things, "I am also invited to be a clown in Circus, but I could never tumble. Now I can finally be one!"



Ann Howell

Ann Howell, a junior and biology and physics major from Richmond, is secretary of House Council, and has served as treasurer. She is treasurer of Alpha [illegible] sorority, has been music co-chairman of Circus for two years, and music chairman of Freshman Production. Ann is a member of the college choir, and was one of the few students to be selected for Madrigals in their freshman year. In 1959-60, she served as secretary-treasurer of that organization.

Jo Savage

The final junior to be tapped was Jo Savage, an elementary education major from Danville. Jo plays varsity hockey, has been class representative to Student Government for two years, this year serving as treasurer. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority, and was class representative to May Court. After being tapped, she reiterated the "challenge" mentioned in a pre-tapping speech by Pat Southworth. Jo commented, "I feel just wonderfull, and I hope I can live up to the honor and to the challenge that's before us."

—Staff Photo

EXAMINING PROTOZOAN CULTURE. Dr. Carolyn Wells makes fine adjustment on microscope.

Careers Of Alumnae Interesting, Varied

None of us can deny the time we spend contemplating future career decisions. Perhaps the various positions that the senior class of 1960 now hold can enlighten us on the subject.

Barbara Bishop, a Longwood art major, is continuing her study in this field by doing graduate work at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

Longwood teachers are represented in several states other than Virginia. Florida schools have gained Doris Puryear. Those included on Maryland's teaching faculties are Mary Eustace, Barbara Ferneyhough, Rose Marie Lawrence, and Mary Ann Walker.

Other Longwood teacher representatives are Jean C. Gordon, North Carolina; Sue Anne Blair, West Virginia; and Mrs. Juliette Hishamith, Missouri.

Employed in positions other than teaching are Barbara Ambrose, Beverly Barrett, and Tae Wamsley who are all working for the National Aeronautical Space Administration at Langley Air Force Base.

Personnel at the Richmond Quartermasters Depot include Sylvia Cogville, Diane Doughty, Sara W. Oliver, and Anne C. Scott.

Various other job holders in fields other than teaching are: Mrs. Barbara Daniel Bunch, Life Insurance Company of Virginia, Richmond; M. Eileen Cahill, Welfare Department, Staunton; Joyce Ellis, General Services Administration, Washington, DC; and Margaret Graham, Department of Welfare, Newport News.

Also, Nancy Hansberger, secretary, Department of Agriculture, Richmond; Frances Harvey, economist, Appalachian Power Company; Rebecca Jones, economist, Self Rising Flour and Corn Meal Program, Chicago; Mr. Guy Matthews, Parke-Davis Company, Baltimore; Billie Shores, secretary, FBI, Richmond, are employed in varied positions.

Still others include: Ruth Talley, Eastern State Hospital, Williamsburg; Christine Wilson, Metropolitan Museum, New York City; and Doris Kesling, School for the Deaf and Blind, Staunton.

The bulk of the seniors of 1960 are teaching in county and city school systems throughout the state. Twelve city school systems are represented including Alexandria, Newport News, Norfolk, Richmond, and Roanoke.

Twenty-eight county school systems in the state have faculty positions filled by the graduates of last year. Henrico County leads in employment followed by Chesterfield, Fairfax, and Princess Anne Counties.

Shoup To Speak In Stevens Hall Thursday Night

Dr. Charles Samuel Shoup, chief of the Biology Branch of the Atomic Energy Commission, will address the Longwood student body tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. in Stevens Hall. The noted biologist will speak on "Some Current Biomedical Work in the Field of Radiation Research."

Dr. Shoup, a Princeton graduate, taught for 21 years at Vanderbilt University before going to Oak Ridge, Tennessee, with AEC in June, 1950. The prominent scholar has served as vice-president and president of the Tennessee Academy of Sciences and vice-president of the Association of Southeastern Biologists.

The University Center in Virginia, in cooperation with the visiting Scholars Program, has arranged Dr. Shoup's lecture here at Longwood.

History Of H20

(Continued from page 3)

field for swimming talent at Longwood.

In 1956 Mrs. Bobbitt became advisor for the H20 Club. This same year she initiated the first class in synchronized swimming to meet the needs of swimming activities for more people and also to enhance the water pageant. Longwood is the only college in this state that offers synchronized swimming on a credit basis.

The H20 Club was honored in [illegible] commended them "For their hard work and participation in promoting wholesome activities on the Longwood campus."

The purpose of the club is to stimulate an interest in all phases of swimming, to cooperate with the AA by conducting the class swimming meet to stage and sponsor at least once a year a [illegible] and to provide life guards for each recreational swimming period.

There are presently 41 members in the club. Hanna White is president, Gerry Lukacs is vice-president, and Morna Nocher is treasurer.

Top Ten Tunes

1. Save the Last Dance For Me
2. Chain Gang
3. My Heart Has A Mind Of Its Own
4. Mr. Custer
5. I Want To Be Wanted
6. The Twist
7. Devil or Angel
8. Kiddio
9. Let's Think About Livin'
10. Don't Be Cruel

WILSON'S HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

Research Professor Studies Protozoan

By Sandra Weaver

When one sees the name Tetrahymena pyriformis one immediately closes his mind to the possible simplicity of understanding this protozoan. However, Dr. Carolyn Wells, new research professor at Longwood, makes the study of this one-celled animal seem so interesting that its complicated aspects become secondary.

Under a one year Atomic Energy Commission research contract, Dr. Wells is making a cytological, physiological, and genetic study of four clonal strains of T. pyriformis. Even though the primary center of her work is to study the response of this ciliate to large doses of ionizing radiation, her work at Longwood is concerned mainly with studying T. pyriformis under its natural conditions.

In prior research Dr. Wells has determined that this one-celled animal is, in comparison with other phyla, exceptionally insensitive to the deadly effects of ionizing radiation. With this basis established it is now necessary to know fully why it is so resistant. Dr. Wells commented that "you have to understand what happens naturally in order to then know the effects of irradiation." By making this extensive study under natural conditions, it will be possible to understand the reactions of this ciliate to irradiation.

Dr. Wells has found that a laboratory study of T. pyriformis may be made with relative ease under a variety of controlled conditions. This particular cell is advantageous because it has a comparatively rapid fission rate of from four to six hours. This enables her to have a large number of organisms available in a short time span.

One of the most interesting aspects of her study is the fact that this organism "likes liver." She has found that it can be cultured better under sterile conditions, such as the liver extract, than under the nonsterile conditions of a bacterial environment. This is unique in the sense that most protazoa are ordinarily asssumed to thrive better on bacteria.

Another important aspect of Dr. Wells' study centers around sexual reproduction in the T. pyriformis. A detailed study of the cytological and genetic actions occurring at conjugation is necessary for the correlation of facts after radiation is applied. Emphasis will be placed on defining the exact nature of nuclear migration and reorganization during the mating process. Dr. Wells is specifically trying to know the frequency of the mating involving the self-fertilization of cells as opposed to when a complete transfer of pronuclei has occurred. This data will also aid her in a future study of the mechanism of gene mutation in this ciliate.

Further investigation of the nucleic acid metabolism of unirradiated cells is also proposed in Dr. Wells' contract. The importance of study in this area is to find an established normal pattern for mutation during presynthesis, synthesis, and postsynthesis of DNA. This work will expand upon the findings obtained from a previous study by a Dr. R. F. Kimball of Oak Ridge laboratory, where Dr. Wells does much of her radiation work. It was determined during this study that more mutations are induced by irradiation of Paramecium before DNA synthesis begins than at any other time during the process.

Dr. Wells, in summarizing the aspects of her work, feels that such a study as this should provide a comprehensive understanding of the radiation damage inflicted upon this cell type, and should be a significant contribution to general problems of radiation biology.

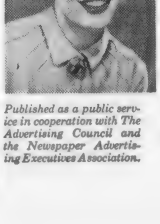
Paper Discloses Staff Additions For Fiscal Year

The Rotunda staff has an addition of 32 new staff members this year. These members include the appointment of two new assistant editors and a new head typist.

Neal Banks, an English major from Richmond, is the new assistant feature editor. She has worked on the Rotunda staff for two years.

Donna Frantzen, new on the Rotunda staff, is the new assistant news editor. She is a premedical technology student from Portsmouth.

The new head typist for the Rotunda staff is Judy Tucker, a junior from Portsmouth.



New reporters include Joy Butler, Lewan Rippey, Doris Smith, Donna Humphlett, Joyce Thompson, Carla McNair, Ginny Gilmore, Sandy Silver, and Mary Anne Lipford, all freshmen. Dodie Webster, a senior, and Page Tolleson and Vicky Malley, juniors, are the new newswriters. The new sports writers are Lois Peters and Sue Beardmore.

New on the circulation staff are Carolyn Hauser and Diane Whitley, freshmen, and Sophomore Judy Frye. Juniors on the circulation staff include: Bert Coldiron, Earlene Scarce, Pat Pearce, Anne Wells, and Betty Patteson.

The advertising department has Taylor Rowell, Carolyn Hughes, and Glenda Chamberlain, juniors, and Gail Jones, Ellen Rowell, and Barbara Hewitt, freshmen, as new assistants.

With This Coupon
2 Rolls of Film
620, 120, 127
for 75c
(through next Saturday)
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

JUST COME OF AGE

but her name is in the book!

It's a wonderful feeling, isn't it? After all these years, to be really grown up at last — mature and responsible enough to actually say how your government will be run by your vote on election day?

Registering to vote is your first official act as an American come-of-age. It's one of the most important steps you'll ever take as a citizen. So don't put it off. Register now.

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

Is your name in the book?

REGISTERED VOTERS

Read Editorials

The Rotunda

Attend Fall Play

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., November 16, 1960 | No. 7

'Who's Who' Names Prominent Seniors

Players Present Fall Production November 17-19

The Longwood Players' production of "Hedda Gabler" will be presented November 17, 18, and 19, in Jarman Auditorium. Curtain time for each performance will be 8 p.m. Admission for persons other than Longwood students is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

In the leading role is Neal Banks as Hedda Gabler. She has had previous experience with the Players in two productions last season, and in her parents' summer theatre.

Jerry Goode, from Blackstone, appeared in the spring play last year, and plays George Tesman, Hedda's husband.

Freshman Jo Ann Self is cast as Mrs. Elvstead, and Cab Venable and Mike Caver, Hampden-Sydney freshmen, are Judge Brack and Eilert Lovborg.

Betty Atkinson, a Longwood freshman, will play Miss Tesman, the aunt, and Ann Tweedy will play the maid, Berta.

Committee heads for the play are lighting design, Mary Lou Wood and crew chief Barbara Stewart; scenery, Lou Ella Culler and Barbara Gray Martin; costume designer, Judy Welch; make-up, Josie O'Hop; publicity, Barabara Muehlman; sound, Roberta Coldiron; props, Betty Jo Shewey; house manager, Nan McLaughlin; stage manager, Page Landers; assistant director, Ginnia Chapman; technical director, Matilda Conley; and director, Mr. Wiley.

The story is a "concentrated study of character," primarily dealing with the character of Hedda Gabler. She is pictured as a "neurotic and . . . self-centered person", dominating those around her, bored with life, and shaping the destinies of her husband and herself.

The play, written by Norwegian Henrik Ibsen, is a symbolic drama written near the turn of the century. What is now termed modern drama began with Ibsen, and "Hedda Gabler" has been called his most perfect play.

—Staff Photo

NEWLY CHOSEN MEMBERS of Who's Who are (seated, left to right) W. Raine, D. Tolley, C. Kelley, M. H. Grayson, B. Brantley, B. J. Stegall, and C. Thorpe. Those standing are G. Ludwick, N. Speakman, P. Southworth, A. Hardy, J. Odom, P. Carr, C. Gorham, and D. Webster.

Smith Rates Marine Band Concert As 'One Of Finest Of Its Kind'

By Mr. Clifford L. Smith

It was this reviewer's privilege to hear one of the finest concerts of its kind when he attended the matinee performance of the United States Marine Band under the baton of Lieutenant-Colonel Albert Schoepper on Saturday, November 12.

The "President's Own" lived up to its plaudits by a brilliant display of individual and ensemble virtuosity, tonal blend and balance, and an imaginative program of contrasting numbers aimed at pleasing even the most diverse audience.

It was evident in the beginning with the playing of the official version of the National Anthem that the band would be at its best. It would have been inconceivable that at least one of John Philip Sousa's marches would not have been programmed and the band began the concert by electrifying the audience with his famous "Stars and Stripes Forever" march complete with piccolos to the front playing their spirited obligato.

The tradition of playing one of the older "workhorse" types of overtures, often neglected by many present-day concert bands, was kept by following the Sousa march with the "Overture to the Gypsy Baron" of Johann Strauss. A fine change of pace and mood was observed in the performance of Howard Handon's original work for band "Chorale and Alleluia."

No program would have seemed complete without featuring one of the fine soloists of this band and young trombonist, James Erban, certainly showed that age is no criteria for ability. His tremendous technical facility was shown in Gardell Simon's "Atlantic Zephyrs" for trombone and band with a display of rapid slide technique coupled with agile double and triple tonguing. His encore, "Tara's Theme," from the motion picture Gone With the Wind, was played in beautiful legato-style enhanced by a rich, full tone.

The special band arrangement of a medley of four of Rodgers and Hammerstein's great show tunes caught the audience's fancy next. "No Other Love" was done in a relaxing beguine tempo and was contrasted with a more lively "Surrey With the Fringe on Top" in a samba tempo. The swing tempo of "Younger Than Springtime" led the way to the final jump beat of "June Is Bustin' Out All Over" which included some very effective brass pyramid chords.

Sousa's "Washington Post" march signalled the end of the first part of the program.

The second half of the concert began with Clifton Williams' "Fanfare and Allegro." This composition in the modern band idiom was handled with taste and special mention should be made of the full, true-brass ensemble sonorities that were in evidence.

Virtuosity was again the keynote when the clarinet choir of the band were featured as they played, with flawless technique and some excellent dynamic subtleties, the difficult "Etude" num-

(Continued on page 4)

—Staff Photo

IN THE ROLE OF Hedda Gabler, Neal Banks shows pistol to Mike Caver, who plays Judge Brack.

Freshman Class Wins Song Fest

The annual song contest sponsored by the Athletic Association, held November 15 in Jarman Hall, was won by the freshman class. Second place went to the juniors.

The songs are judged on originality, participation, enthusiasm, and suitability for a blue and white school song. This year's contest required each class to submit a blue and white song. In the past songs have been class or color songs.

The purpose of the song contest is to encourage spirit and enthusiasm in classes during class activities, and to add to the spirit of Longwood College.

Judges for the contest were Mr. M. H. Bittinger, Miss Janelle Spear, and Dr. Carolyn Wells.

A cash prize of $5 was awarded to the class with the winning song.

Selection Committee Honors 20 Students

Twenty senior girls from Longwood College have been selected this year for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. The students recognized by this organization are nominated from approximately 750 colleges and universities throughout the United States.

They are selected by a nominating committee on the basis of scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promise of future usefulness.

The girls selected for this organization were notified Friday morning through mail. They are Barbara Brantley, Patricia Carr, Sandra Clements, Matilda Conley, Page Davis, Cherry Gorham, Mary Hite Grayson, Ann Hardy, Cherron Kelley, Beverly Kersey, Roberta Koons, Geraldine Ludwick, Joyce Odom, Wirtley Raine, Patricia Southworth, Nancy Speakman, Betty Jane Stegall, Carolyn Thorpe, Doris Tolley, and Doris Webster.

Barbara Brantley, a health and physical education major from Suffolk, Virginia has, in addition to participating in all class sports, been a member of the varsity tennis, basketball, and hockey teams, and was selected for the second and first Tidewater District teams in the latter sport.

In the Athletic Association, Barbara has held the offices of tennis chairman, treasurer, and vice - president. She has also been a member of the Cotillion Club, Orchesis, the H2O Club, House Council, and Sigma Kappa social sorority.

Nancy Speakmar, a biology and math major from Gloucestor County, plans to teach after graduation. During her years at Longwood she has been a representive of student government for two years; a member of the executive council of the BSU; a member of Kappa Delta Pi; secretary of Lychnos; and a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Sandra Clements, a history major from Glen Allen, says she plans to teach in high school unless she can get a fellowship and go to graduate school. Last spring she wrote the script for May Day, and she was editor of the Handbook. She has also been a member of the screening board, and short story editor of the Colonnade.

This year Sandra is vice-president of Kappa Delta Pi, president of Pi Delta Epsilon, and archives chairman of Pi Gamma Mu.

Gerry Ludwick, a chemistry and mathematics major from Roanoke, has been active in Student government, band, choir, and H2O club. In addition, she was treasurer of the sophomore class, a council member of Westminster Fellowship for two years, president of the Inter-varsity Christian Fellowship, assistant to the freshman Head Resident for two years, a students representative to Campus Fees Committee, an orientation leader, a member of the Roanoke Club, and a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Carolyn Thorpe from Drakes Branch is a health and physical education major. In addition to participating in all class sports, Carolyn has been a member of the varsity hockey, basketball, and archery teams. As a member of the AA council she has been class basketball manager, varsity basketball manager, and publicity chairman. She is also captain of the varsity hockey team, president of the Monogram Club, and a recipient of a blazer award.

Another health and physical ecucation major, Pat Southworth comes from Fredericksburg. She made the Tidewater District Second Hockey Team, and has been a member of the AA council in which capacity she has been varsity hockey manager, varsity hockey co-captain and a member of the publicity committee.

Pat was vice-president of her junior class and is now president of the senior class. She is also a member of the H2O club and Monogram club, and secretary of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority.

She is vice-president of Alpha Kappa Gamma and recipient of a white blazer award. Pat plans to teach high school in Virginia.

Beverly Kersey, a native of Richmond, is an elementary education major.

Beverly was a member of the freshman commission during her freshman year, House President during her sophomore year, and a representative to May Court during her junior year. This year she is president of Kappa Delta social sorority, vice-president of House Council, a member of the H2O club and Cotillion Club, and a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma. She plans to teach elementary school somewhere, probably in Virginia.

Mary Hite Grayson, a health

(Continued on page 4)

College To Host Virginia Pupils This Week End

The freshman class and the Granddaughters Club will be hostesses to students from area high schools this coming weekend, November 19 and 20.

Almost 90 high school juniors and seniors will register Saturday morning between 9 and 12 a.m. Most of the girls will stay with freshmen in Ruffner and Student Building; others will be accomodated in Tabb and other dorms.

Early arrivers may attend morning classes with their hostesses. Following lunch in the dining room, Dr. Lankford and other faculty members will meet with the group to explain the college curriculum and to answer questions about Longwood.

In the afternoon the members of the Granddaughters Club and interested freshmen will take the group on a tour of the campus. Following the tours a picnic supper will be served at 5 p.m. in the main rec for the guests.

Evening entertainment for the girls will include the play "Hedda Gabler," which wil be presented at 8 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium. Later Saturday night the freshman class will give a sing in the Rotunda for the visitors.

After Sunday breakfast in the dining room, the hostesses will take their guests to the church of their choice.

Sunday dinner will formally conclude the weekend activities, but the guests are invited to spend the rest of the day here.

A Hollow Victory

The day was cold and the man stood alone, motionless, looking across the mud, the piles of brush, and the rectangular blocks of stone that seemed to be the only things pushing their way through the barren ground. A wind swept toward him, bringing a sudden chill. The man shuddered and turned to go.

He turned his back on his attempt. His building would replace a crumbling older one. His building would protect and save; the older building, a painful production of the past, had become a hazard; it would destroy. He would selflessly shield the innocent from what was not meant to be.

The wind rattled the dry leaves and bare branches. Strange, it reminded him of the cheers last summer, of the handshakes and backslaps, and of the trusting look of a blue-eyed little boy. Strange he should think of that, for the dried leaves sounded hollow.

His gaze met a taunt wire reflected in a puddle of shivering water and he thought of the flood of warm messages and offers of help that had poured themselves upon him a year ago. Strange to be suddenly reminded of the shimmering hurt in an old friend's eyes the day he turned an initial shovelful of earth up from the ground to make way for his building, the day he won his moral fight.

He heard far way shouts of children at play and the wind carried the hoarse bark of a distant dog. The dog for some reason reminded him of the animal feeling he saw in the eyes of a man he had passed on the street earlier in the day. A feeling reflected in his own eyes as the two, like jungle beasts slinking around opposite sides of a fire to pass warily in the night, had passed in the routine of the day.

A lone tree whithered, silhouetted, on the horizon caught his eye. He knew how the tree might feel if it could. Or did he imagine that suddenly he was a solitary being, alone and not very reassured at all.

He shrugged and continued his retreat. Yours to build, the wind called mockingly after him, you destroyed and you alone can restore. He continued his walk down the hill, his back to his school's foundation.

—J. V. D.

To Go Or Not To Go

The three students walked slowly into class, ready to begin another day of learning. They took their seats, opened their notebooks, and turned to talk while they waited for the professor.

The hand on the wall clock moved from 8:05 to 8:10. Impatiently they began to chatter back and forth wondering where the professor was. "Well, let's leave," said one. "We've waited five minutes and that's the rule for an instructor, isn't it?"

"I don't know, but he's not an instructor; he's a doctor, so I'm sure we have to wait more than five minutes, don't we?" said another. "Someone told me that you wait ten minutes for an instructor and fifteen for a full professor, so I guess we'd better wait a few more minutes. Besides, it's only common courtesy that we wait. After all if he's late, I'm sure it's for a good reason!"

The third student looked up impatiently, saying, "Gosh, ya'll, it's almost 8:30, I'm sure he's not coming. I think we should leave. After all, he would have come by now if he were coming. I certainly do wish I had seen that rule written down somewhere so we'd know what was what. It certainly would stop some of this embarrasment."

The three, along with some of their classmates, proceed to leave the room, mumbling as they go. A few minutes later, in walks the professor apologizing for being so late, as he calls the roll. Marking a majority of the class absent, he shakes his head, mumbling about the increasing cutting going on in his class.

"Where is everyone today?" he asks. "Did they get tired of waiting, or did they just not come?" After being told what had happened, he shrugged his shoulders and said, "I certainly do wish I had seen that rule explained here so we'd know what was what. It certainly would stop some of this confusion. Well, class dismissed, there's no use in keeping the rest of you."

The students filed out of the room talking among themselves about how nice it would be to have a set rule in the Handbook to guide them. The professor walked along behind them on his way to the registrar's office.

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 108.

Sandra Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Joann Kleinecke ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lechler ..... News Editor
Judy Detrich ..... Feature Editor
Mary Byrd Micou ..... Sports Editor
Pat Hurst ..... Desk Editor
Linda Sudduth ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Cole ..... Circulation Manager
Janet Stanley, Janet Wainwright ..... Advertising Managers

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member: Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class), Columbia Scholarship Press Association (Rating first place).

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 3, 1934. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN on CAMPUS by BIBLER

I'D FLUNK HIM BUT HE'S TH' ONLY "MAJOR" I'VE GOT ENROLLED IN THIS COURSE.!!

House Mother Refutes Wheeler's 'Neat' Girls

By Lois Peters

In Wheeler Dorm, so they say, there are a group of girls who are really neat. However, a certain housemother in this particular dorm may have reason to argue this point. For it seems she has discovered unreported hurricanes and tornadoes in several of the rooms. These hurricanes and tornadoes haven't stayed unreported long though, as she has managed to write notes to the girls living in these storms indicating their presence. The following are examples of her thoughts as she wandered down the halls.

"When did the hurricane pass through here?"
"This hurricane wasn't reported!"
"Which hurricane struck here?"
"Has a tornado hit here, girls?"
"My, my, who shot Lizzie in here?"
"Wot hoppened?"
"Beds are made but dust balls are showing."
"Not Good!"
"It's clean up time."
"Are you building a nest under your bed?"
"This is the prize of all prizes! How could only two girls accomplish such a mess?"
"You would win the booby prize!"
"Looks like Kilroy was here."
"Looks like someone left in a hurry."

It also seems as though this housemother has run across several bathrooms that have benefitted from the combined use of two rooms.

"How could such attractive girls come out of a bathroom looking like this?"
"You could surpirse me yet."
"Messey bathroom."
"If I had a rug like this in my bathroom, I wouldn't go barefooted."

Some girls have even been lucky enough to receive serial notes. One bright and cheerful day the housemother came upon a slightly messy room and decided to leave a friendly little note. "This room could be neater." The next day she added the second note to the pile. "Still think this room could be neater." Hark and alack the third day arrived and she added another note to the fast growing pile of untouched notes. "Now, really girls!" Full of despair on the fourth day she could only throw another note on the pile which said "... you could at least throw the notes away!"

Then there was the day that this note was pinned to someone's big teddy bear. "This certainly is a handsome bear, but I sure wish you'd teach him to make a bed."

Not to be forgotten was the pile of coke bottles discovered in one room with this note. "If you don't get rid of the coke bottles I'm going to collect the deposit."

Such are the woes of this certain housemother. It seems that as she reaches that higher altitude her notes become more frequent. Could it be that the top floors are counting on the broken elevator and that maybe the housemother will be too tired to make it up three flights of steps? Well girls I've got bad news! The

(Continued on page 4)

Winter Renders Cold Collegiates Coat Conscious

By Mary Ann Lipford

"Brrr! You'd better wear a coat to prayers . . . it's cold!" November's nip nudges Longwood girls, reminding them that it is time to retrieve heavy coats from dark closet corners for another busy winter.

A sure sign of winter, boy coats dot the fashion and fun minded campus in growing numbers every day. The camel color can claim popularity prominence again this season; but navy blue, bright red, and a few mossy greens are colorful contenders.

Raccoon collars adorn boy coats, as well as car coats. Fashion-wise gals enjoy switching their detachable fur collars from coat to coat—and to suits. New car coat materials are frankly fake and fantastically pretty this year. These furs in tones of beige are ideal campus wear all week long, right on through a date-filled week end.

With festive holidays in the not-too-distant future, soft white "bunny" capes will provide snowy coating for evening wear. Nothing is prettier than a formal gown topped by the elegance of fur. Some lucky gals have matching muffs which add old-fashioned glamor to formal occasions.

Along more casual lines, colorful knee socks and legotards afford appreciated warmth for cold classrooms and campus. They are at their attractive best when teamed with the popular kilts in bright plaids and subtle solids. The popularity of these kilts for informal party wear is growing. Tunics, too, are much in demand for wear with skirts, slacks, and bermudas.

Other accessory accents are achieved by jewelry. The charm bracelet of silver or gold is a campus favorite. Scarab bracelets and jewelry of heavy gold complement the outfit.

Wearing shoes of soft black leather, milady can keep in step with this season's fashions and by adding her accessories advantageously, she will present a smart campus fashion picture.

Ernouf Views Work, Demands, Expects It

By Donna Frantzen

Mrs. Anita Ernouf, a native of Puerto Rico, came to Longwood this fall as an instructor of Spanish and French.

Mrs. Ernouf lived in Puerto Rico until she finished high school at which time she came to the United States where her mother was already living. When asked if she noticed any difference between America and her native land she replied," I feel that teenagers are the same anywhere and besides, my father was very Americanized. In the war of 1898 he fought in the United States Army."

Surname Surprises

At Hunter College, in New York City, Mrs. Ernouf majored in languages. During the war she worked as an examiner in the Postal Censorship Bureau. After the war she taught for a while at an all boys school where she formed the habit of calling students by their last names. "Now I can't get away from it," she explained, "and the girls look surprised when I address them by their surnames."

After her marriage, she continued work on her master's degree and worked. When expecting her first child, a boy, her studies were discontinued for a while. She later earned her master's and did research work on Spanish with Professor Onis, head of the department at Columbia University. She also did some tutoring there and became interested in teaching. In 1947 she began teaching at Hollins.

Tours Europe

Mr. Ernouf, then a captain in the Army, was stationed in Germany. Mrs. Ernouf visited there for a summer and liked it so well that she took a leave of absence from Hollins for a year and toured Europe, visiting Spain, France and Germany where she studied at the army institute. While in Europe, her second child, another boy, was born.

Through a friend, a graduate of Longwood, Mrs. Ernouf became acquainted with Longwood and decided to accept a position here. She finds the schools very similar. "There is no change in girls, the lazy are lazy, and the industrious are industrious," she stated.

Mrs. Ernouf hasn't found life difficult. "I have had to work hard, but I have learned to have fun no matter what I do." She also said she would rather teach girls because it satisfies her desire to have a girl in addition to her two boys.

At the present time she is waiting to take her final exam for her doctorate, already having passed the written exam in French, German and Latin. The exam will be a defense of her thesis. Mrs. Ernouf is working for her doctor's degree with a major in Spanish and a minor in French.

—Staff Photo

USING THE EQUIPMENT in the language lab, Mrs. Ernouf lifts the mike to record.

Rush, Worry, Hysteria Well Worth Cast's Time

What is it like to follow a play through seven weeks of planning and rehearsing? Anyone on the cast or crew of "Hedda Gabler" could answer that question more than adequately. He would say that unless a person is directly involved, he would find it difficult to understand the tremendous feeling of reward that accompanies the job when completed.

Much goes into making a good show. The hours are long and the work, arduous. Somehow, however, amusing situations seem to crop up to break the monotony. Many such incidents have happened during the five weeks that "Hedda Gabler" has been in rehearsal.

Jerry Goode, who plays the husband of Hedda Gabler, uses a pair of steel-rimmed spectacles to help develop his character. During a particularly emotional sequence one night, the cast noticed that Jerry had broken one of the bows on the glasses. The lop-sided effect this created was a little ridiculous, and the cast became so hysterical that the scene had to be delayed.

Another time, during a section of the play when there is great excitement and hurrying around, a character is supposed to dash to the door and say, "Yes, I must rush to her at once." The actor became so carried away, however, that he was a little tongue-tied, and the line came out as, "Yes, I must mush to her at once." The cast had sudden visions of Sergeant Preston driving his dog team into the Alaskan horizon.

Other things have happened behind the scenes. One afternoon, the crew spent much energy and time putting up an unusually large piece of scenery, only to discover that it would have to come down again. It was in the proper location, but it was in backwards.

Then there was the time that Mr. Wiley stepped in the paint bucket, and the time that Ginnia Chapman and Tilly Conley spent an hour covering a flat that was never used, and so on and on and on. There is always excitement, of one kind or another.

Ginnia summed it up by saying, "You work and work and start to pull your hair out, and then, suddenly, you've got a show!"

'Gym' Sees Much Action In Course Of Busy Day

By Janice Harris

Faint rays of sun slant through the windowpanes of the Longwood gymnasium and the spell of night is broken. Someone walks through, opens the windows and Gym breathes in deeply the cool early morning air. He sighs, blinks his eyes, and looks around. "Hmmm," he muses, "everything seems to be in order for today."

The basketball nets sway slightly and call a friendly "good morning!" Gym smiles broadly as his eyes continue to survey his habitat. The volleyball nets are just awakening, and the drum and record player are busily conversing in one corner.

Somewhere a bell gongs eight times and within minutes Gym has many visitors. To the count of one-two-three-four, Longwood students do calisthenics. Gym smiles to each one and with a wink of his eye, he tells them, "Good work."

This is the beginning of Gym's day. After the one-two-three-four class, the record player readies himself for the task ahead. Forty girls clad in green, red, and white suits enter, form a large circle and perform definite steps while the record player spins on and on. Gym sometimes has to close his ears to this din, especially when folk dancing and square dancing begin.

Soon after this activity, the now fully-awakened volleyball nets are heaved onto the court, and soon a ball is being rapidly whizzed over their heads. It is very difficult for Gym to watch this game for a very long time without getting dizzy. Shouts and screams go up as points are scored, and Gym grins in agreement.

It isn't long before the tumbling mats are happily rolled onto the floor, and laughing girls bounce, jump and roll around. Gym laughs hysterically over these antics. This is perhaps his favorite class. "How can they roll up like that?" he wonders in amusement.

This activity is closely followed by girls learning how to walk like camels and squirrels and to make funny noises like monkeys. Gym has to shake his head in puzzlement. But if he thinks these actions are puzzling, he is even more bewildered by the gyrations of the girls dressed in black, red, blue, and bright yellow leotards, twisting and leaping to the muted strains of "Peter Gunn."

And so goes Gym's day. From here he goes to tap dance, where the click of shoes keep rhythm to the beat of the drum, to basketball, to hockey, to games and so on until the sun slowly sinks into the horizon.

Gym breathes a sigh of relief and stretches, his body creaking. Someone closes the windows, and Gym yawns and closes his eyes. He has had a busy day, a happy one. As we leave Gym to his rest, we hear him mumble, "Until tomorrow."

Sports Review

VMI Cops Title, Navy Routs UVa In Stadium Play

By Sue Beardmore

VMI finally got a ground game going Saturday as they captured the Southern Conference championship by defeating The Citadel 20-6. In their best performance of the year, the Keydets passed only nine times, and tallied a rushing average of 287 yards. This was the eighth victory by VMI over Citadel in their last nine games.

Joe Bellino once again found himself in the spotlight when Navy routed the University of Virginia to a 41-6 victory in Saturday's game. Before a "family day" crowd of 20,208, Bellino racked up the following Navy football records: 17 touchdowns—most for a season; 749 yards—seasonal rushing record (198 yards in 17 carries against UVa); and the most touchdowns in a single game. Virginia now has the grand total of 25 consecutive losses.

Duke now stands tied for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship as they stomped Wake Forest 34-7. Wake Forest lost their 7-6 lead shortly before halftime and thereafter failed to score again. Consistent gain in yardage was provided by three Duke halfbacks. Accompanied by powerful running and short-passing, the Blue Devils made a sweeping victory giving them a 5-0 record with one more game to go against North Carolina next week.

Since 1920 Tennessee and Mississippi have met thirteen times, each time Tennessee has won. But Mississippi broke the jinx in Saturday's game as they defeated Tennessee 24-3. It was the eighth victory for the Rebels plus one tie. Another game remains to be won against Mississippi State in order for the Rebels to wrap up the Southeastern Conference title.

Defeated last week by Davidson, Virginia Tech also found itself in the losing column this week as they lost to the George Washington Colonials 21-8. In each of the final three periods George Washington went over Tech's goal line for touchdowns. Now that Virginia Tech has been knocked out of contention for the Southern Conference title, they remain to lose only their pride in the traditional Thanksgiving Day game between VPI-VMI.

Minnesota was upset 23-14 by Purdue in a Big Ten battle Saturday, which put first-ranked Minnesota in second place giving Iowa the number one position in the nation. It was only the third win of the season for Purdue's Boilermakers, but they didn't seem to have too much trouble in breaking through Minnesota's defense, and that played an important role in their victory.

LC Professors Plan To Attend Geography Meet

Dr. Charles F. Lane, professor of geography and geology at Longwood, will participate in a panel discussion at the annual meeting of the National Council for Geographic Education to be held at the Netherlands - Hilton Hotel, in Cincinnati, Ohio, November 25-26, 1960. Mr. Harold K. Magnusson, instructor in geography at Longwood, will also attend the meeting.

Dr. Lane will serve on a panel that will discuss "The Role of the Introductory Geography Course in the College Curriculum" and "Content Problems of Introductory Geography Courses." This will be in connection with the theme of the meeting, which is "Geographic Education for Better World Understanding."

The main speaker at the meeting will be Dr. Arthur W. Foshay, president of the Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development. His address on "Subjects as Disciplines" will be delivered at the annual banquet Friday evening, November 25.

In addition to the banquet address by Dr. Foshay, other program highlights include the following: "Geographic Resources and the Population Explosion," "Population and Resources of Major World Regions," "Improving the Use of Maps in the Elementary School," "Recent Developments in Junior High School Geography," "Content Material for High School Geography," "Trends in College Courses in Geography," and "Geographic Study of the Ohio River Valley."

There will also be exhibits, a general business meeting, and a field trip in the Cincinnati area.

Buy Christmas Gifts
for Everyone
at Lanscott's Gift Shop

—Staff Photo

CONFERING OVER PLANS, committee heads A. Ranson, G. Ludwick, G. Culpepper, A. Greene, J. Savage, and M. Nocher prepare for Christmas water pageant.

News Summary

Vote Recount Taken By Nixon Supporters

By Carla McNair

Nixon's aides are taking a recount of the votes in 11 states in hope that they can prove that Nixon was ahead of Kennedy in popular votes. The latest Associated Press tally shows Kennedy 33,627,229 votes and Nixon 33,348,397 votes. However, they see no real upset.

November 8, arrived and left, and with it the campaign bustle. A new president has been elected. Slated to take office in January of 1961 is John Fitzgerald Kennedy of Massachusetts. The election was a very close one with Mr. Kennedy only a few hundred thousand popular votes ahead of Mr. Nixon. However, Mr. Kennedy gained many more electoral votes than Mr. Nixon.

China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek journeyed to the Nationalist held island of Quemoy on his seventy-fourth birthday, thus underscoring one of the election's hottest issues. He was within easy range of the Red Chinese coast artillery.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, who entered the hospital Thursday night, is all right and is only under treatment for a severe cold. He went home from the hospital Saturday.

Virginia went Republican in this national election for the third time. Virginia is the only southern state to develop a part-time two-party system.

The recent revolt in Saigon was smashed and the rebel leader captured. Three thousand paratroopers and marines converged upon the president's palace in the early dawn and proclaimed the overthrow of President Diem. However, they soon surrendered on all sides without putting up much resistance. President Diem in a nation wide broadcast urged the people to remain calm and to "disregard insurgent appeals."

Army troops and police were alert in Algeria today lest the Armistice day rioting turn into an anti-DeGaulle riot. Yesterday's rioting was mostly organized by the youth and approximately a hundred persons were injured.

William Orr, head gardener at President Eisenhower's Scottish home, said he thinks the president will visit Scotland again. His home is a 16-room apartment of Culzean Castle, which the Scottish people gave to him for life in appreciation of his World War II leadership. It is also the ancestral home of the Kennedys, but they claim no relation to the John Kennedys, who say they came from Ireland.

Collier Receives Poets' Criticism At Symposium

LaVerne Collier, a senior art major at Longwood, is one of seven student writers from Virginia and North Carolina colleges and universities whose poems were selected for reading at a Hollins College literary festival on November 12.

LaVerne's poem, entitled, "Steel, Stone and a Bird Among the Stars," was a commentary on the egotism of man.

Randall Jarrell, poet and literary critic, and poet James Dickey heard the poems and then offered criticism to the student writers.

The literary festival also featured novelist Elizabeth Janeway.

Need A Study Break??
Try The
SNACK BAR
It's Great!!!

We Have Longwood
Charms & Rings
Come In and See Us For Your Christmas Gifts.
Charge Accounts Invited
LONGWOOD JEWELERS
216 North Main St.
Farmville, Virginia

COMPLIMENTS
of
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

Top Ten Tunes

1. You Talk Too Much
2. Save the Last Dance for Me
3. Poetry In Motion
4. Stay
5. Let's Go, Let's Go, Let's Go
6. I Want To Be Wanted
7. Last Date
8. Georgia On My Mind
9. Alone At Last
10. Blue Angel

WILSON'S HOME
& AUTO SUPPLY

H2O To Wish School Christmas Greetings

By Mary Byrd Micou

"Merry Christmas!," with the accent on the merry, will be the H2O Club's greeting to water pageant audiences on December 8 and 9.

The theme, highlighting the gaiety and lightheartedness of the Christmas season, will tie together a series of synchronized swimming numbers and water stunts. Numbers in the show will include "The Chipmunk Song," "March of the Wooden Soldiers," and "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer." Also adding to the holiday mood will be "The Christmas Tree," "The Christmas Toy," "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," and "Let It Snow."

Surprise Finale Planned

Concluding the list of numbers to be presented are "Jingle Bells," "Sleigh Ride," and "Christmas Island," plus two additional numbers which have not been decided upon. A surprise finale will finish the evening of aquatic entertainment.

All those students who tried out will be participating in the water show. The story of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" will be recreated by the synchronized swimming class. A novelty presentation of "The Chipmunk Song" will feature the four "hillbillies" from the spring water pageant.

Unique Backdrop

The backdrop motif for the pageant will include scenes representative of Christmas songs.

Committee heads for the event are Sarah Buston and Patsy Skellie, props; Morag Nocher, costumes; and Ann Ranson, caps and make-up. Also working on committees are Claudia Wilson, programs; Beverly Kersey, publicity; and Jo Savage, door and ushers.

Christmas Fiesta To Give Customs

Plans are underway for the annual Spanish Club Fiesta, which is to be held December 2 in the main rec. The theme for this year's fiesta is "We Celebrate Christmas in Mexico".

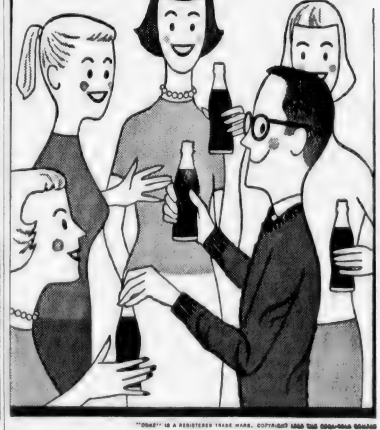
The first year Spanish students will portray natives of Mexico, and the advanced students will portray natives of Spain.

Both groups will perform skits which will include various dances and songs about the countries they represent. There will also be a pinata.

All Spanish students will be dressed in costumes whether they take part in the skits or not.

Farmville Firm Submits Low Bid On Library Work

Andrews, Large and Whidden, Farmville construction firm, presented a low base bid of $405,574 on the Longwood College library job on November 10.



A base bid of Taylor Manufacturing Company at $406,740 was the second low. For alternate work required in the project, Andrews, Large and Whidden also submitted a low of $24,940.

Bids on an addition to the college library were opened at 2 p.m. in the office of the president.

At least six companies submitted bids on the project estimated to cost nearly a half million dollars. Represented in the companies making bids were four Farmville firms. They include Motley Construction Company, Southside Plumbing Company, Andrews, Large and Whidden, and Taylor Manufacturing Company.

Two out-of-town firms submitting bids were the John W. Daniel Company, of Danville, and the C. W. Hancock and Sons' Company of Lynchburg.

The lowest bid received was forwarded to the Governor, who is charged with the responsibility of actually awarding the contract. Completion of the project is expected by February of 1962.

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE MARK. COPYRIGHT 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

BMOC*

*Big Man On Campus—yea man! He treats the gals to Coke. Who can compete with charm like that. So if you're 5'0" and a little underweight, remember—you don't have to be a football hero to be popular. Just rely on the good taste of Coke. Put in a big supply today!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

'Who's Who' Selects Outstanding Seniors

(Continued from page 1)

and physical education major from Radford, has participated in all class sports, and has been a member of the varsity basketball and hockey teams, and in the latter capacity made the first Tidewater team for three years.

In addition she has been secretary and president of the AA Council, vice-president of her sophomore class, Circus co-chairman and ringmaster, a representative and rush chairman to Panhellenic, a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, a student government representative, secretary of the H2O Club, and a member of Kappa Delta Pi, the Student Education Association, and the Monogram club.

She has also been the recipient of a blazer award. Mary Hite's future plans are tentative, but as far as she knows now she will teach.

Ann Hardy from Richmond, is majoring in elementary and English and plans to teach when she graduates. Ann has exhibited qualities in leadership as president of her freshman and sophomore classs, and student government representative and president. She was also an ex-officio member of the freshman commission, and a member of the Y cabinet, Beore Eh Thorn, and Kappa Delta Pi. In addition, Ann was rush chairman for Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority for two years.

Wirtley Raine, graduating from Longwood with a major in biology and math hopes to find a job in some kind of laboratory research work.

She has been service co-chairman, treasurer and vice-president of the YWCA, vice-president of the French Club, and Zeta Tau Alpha's best pledge, housekeeper, treasurer, and vice-president. In addition Wirtley has been active in the Granddaughters Club, Lychnos society, and the Student Education Association.

Roberta Koons, a native of Richmond, is acquiring a major in English and Spanish. Better known to us as "Bobby," she has been active throughout her years at Longwood as a member of the Spanish Club, the Richmond Club, and the Cotillion Club.

In addition she has been of service to the school in the capacities of sophomore assistant, assistant house president, and house president. Bobby has also been a member of Boere Eh Thorn, president of the Student Education Association, and a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority. This year she represented Longwood at the annual Harvest Festival in Roanoke.

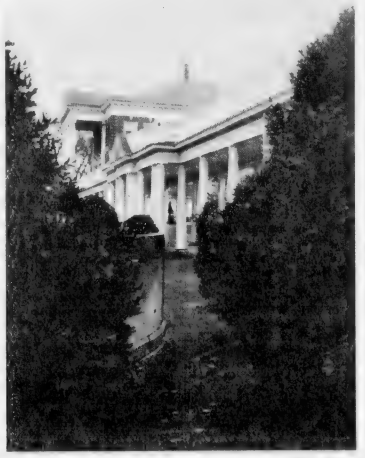
Cherry Gorham, an English and Spanish major from Culpeper, has shown academic and leadership qualities by maintaining dean's list average consistently, by serving in the capacity of editor of the Rotunda, and president of Alpha Kappa Gamma and Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority. In addition, she has been a member of the H2O Club, in which she served as assistant chairman of the spring water pageant, and also Boere Eh Thorn, Kappa Delta Pi, and Pi Delta Epsilon.

Patsy Carr, from Dinwiddie is graduating in three years with a major in social science. During her freshman year, she served on the freshman commission and was the top rat. She has also been a member of the circulation staff of the Rotunda and Wesley Foundation.

In Delta Zeta social sorority she been rush chairman and Panhellenic representative. In addition, Patsy has served on the evaluation committee, the screening board, and the student government, in which she held the position of president for two consecutives summers.

Doris Webster is an elementary major from Danville. She has been active in the water pageants, the choir, and the Cotillion and Canterbury clubs. As a member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority she has served as music chairman and corresponding secretary. During her freshman year, Dodi was on the freshman commission, and was chairman of freshman production. During her sophomore year she served as music chairman for they and May Day.

Page Davis, a biology major from Hopewell, is assistant business manager of the Virginian staff, president of House Council, and a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority, Pi Delta Epsilon, Lychnos, Pi Gamma Mu, and Alpha Kappa Gamma. She says she is not sure what her future plans are, but she would like to teach a year and then go back to school.



Doris Tolley, from Natural Bridge, is majoring in chemistry and hopes to teach or to work in a lab. Last year Doris was president of the junior class and assembly chairman. She has also been a member of the varsity hockey and basketball teams, the Westminster Fellowship, and the Cotillion Club. In addition, Doris is vice-president of Lychnos, a class representative to Student Government and a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority.

Joyce Odom, a biology and general science major from Falls Church has rendered academic and leadership service in many ways. She was vice-president of her freshman class, sophomore representative to student government, secretary of student government and co-chairman of junior circus her junior year. This year she was general circus chairman and she is now president of Kappa Delta Pi and vice-president of student Government. Joyce is also a member of Lychnos and Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority. She plans to pursue a career of teaching somewhere in Virginia.

Cherron Kelly, a native of Pearisburg, is a business education major. She has been a member of the Y Cabinet and a representative to Student Government for four years. This year she is president of the YWCA. In addition, Cherron has served as vice-president of the BSU, co-rush chairman of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, and secretary of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Jane Stegall, from Fieldale, is graduating with a triple major in English, elementary, and social sciences. She plans to teach or go into the journalism field.

Jane has been a member of the Rotunda staff, the Colonnade staff, the AA Council, the band, the Cotillion Club, Longwood Players, and House Council. She is chairman of the publications committee, and treasurer of Alpha Psi Omega.

—Staff Photo

THE COLONNADE, a familiar campus scene, viewed through the shrubbery in front of Tabb, shows the statue of Joan of Arc, with Student Building in the background.

Jericho Soloist, Sousa Marches Excite Audience

(Continued from page 1)

ber 30 of Klose and Rimsky-Korsakov's "Flight of the Bumblebee." Not to be outdone, the cornet section displayed their talents in Leroy Anderson's "Bugler's Holiday" with equal facility. The band's playing of the excerpt from Ralph Vaughn-Williams' "Folk Song Suite" provided good contrast to the ensemble performances.

The band's announcer and vocalist, Bill Jones, proved that his magnetic personality and pleasing voice merited the attention of the audience as much as did the band. The youngsters in the audience responded enthusiastically to Mr. Jones' singing of "The Green-Eyed Dragon With the Thirteen Tails" and the whole audience was captivated with "In the Still of the Night." For his last solo, Mr. Jones wisely chose to sing the spirited "Jericho" by which he left everyone wanting to hear more.

Morton Gould's "Cowboy Rhapsody" left this writer with a somewhat anticlimactic feeling after the last vocal solo, but this feeling was quickly forgotten when the downbeat was given for Sousa's dynamic march "Semper Fidelis." The entire brass section stepped out front for the trio of this march as if to punctuate its fiery conclusion.

As a fitting end to the program, the band and Mr. Jones joined forces for the band's theme, "The Marines Hymn" while the audience rose from their seats as though by a prearranged signal to endorse the very excellent concert thay had been privileged to hear.

Lane To Direct Plans, Activities Of Yule Pageant

Susan Lane, a sophomore from Roanoke, was elected chairman of the Christmas Pageant for this year.

She will be in charge of directing and planning the pageant. Posters will be put up outside the dining hall and in the "smoker" for people to sign up for reading or speaking parts, props, costumes, or the chorus.

"The YWCA Christmas Pageant is one of Longwood's fine traditions. Through this inspiring program we realize the true meaning of Christmas," says Cherron Kelley, the president of the YWCA.

A title for this year's skit has not yet been decided on. However, last year's skit had an appropriate name - "The Christmas Story". The announcement of the student who is the Madonna is the highlight of the pageant. From nominations of the YWCA cabinet, the student who exemplifies a Christian life and is respected by all who know her, is elected.

An important part of the pageant is the presentation of White Christmas gifts which are donated by the various organizations on campus. These are presented to the Welfare Department to be distributed to the needy families in the Farmville area at Christmas.

The pageant will be presented on December 16 on Friday night - the day before our Christmas holidays begin. The entire student body attends the event.

Wheeler Girls

(Continued from page 2)

elevator is fixed once again, and it seems as if this is going to be house-cleaning week in Wheeler.

To inspire all house cleaners we will quote a note that two lucky girls received after having cleaned their room.

"I never thought you could do it. Why not keep it this way now? You might even come to like neatness and order; it grows on one?"

Patronize
The Rotunda
Advertizers

YWCA To Sponsor Annual Food Drive For Poor Families

Each year at Longwood College the YWCA sponsors a food drive for needy familes of the surrounding area. This goes to the Welfare Department which distributes it.

Boxes for the red and white food stores and white classes will be placed in the stronest at the end of next week. Everyone is urged to do her part by contributing as much as possible.

Canned good and other food supplements needed. The food will be turned over to the Welfare Department by members of the YWCA before the Thanksgiving holidays.

Robin Hood's Family Upsets New Teacher

By Betty Jane Stegall

"Teacher!! Teacher!! Yeah, thank goodness we can retire from that name for just a few months anyway!"

You can find on our campus now about thirty girls who are singing this tune. Those thirty girls just finished their first nine weeks of teaching; and incidentally, the only nine weeks in which their teaching will be graded. After talking to some of these girls one finds out that teaching really wasn't so bad and that the majority of them actually would like to have continued.

Robin Hood's Family

Judy Robertson was teaching art to a group of fourth graders one day when an interesting thing happened. The children were making book jackets to illustrate books they had read, when one little boy turned around to his neighbor and asked if she knew that Robin Hood had a large family. He went on to explain that he was the father of several sons, had several cousins, and many aunts and uncles. The little girl quickly became interested and asked who Robin Hood's wife was. The little boy explained that he had had no wife. She wanted to know who his son's mother was. He answered that Robin Hood had had no wife; it was his son who had the wife. Finally he threw up his hands in disgust and they both decided that they were confused.

Frances Tune had two students in her class with the name of Campbell and Johnson. Whenever whe called on the Campbell child, the Johnson boy would yell, "Campbell's Tomato Soup." Then when she would call on the Johnson boy, the Campbell child would yell, "Johnson's Baby Powder." It is conceivable why she avoided calling on these boys except when absolutely necessary.

Blackwell's Black Look

Peggy Blackwell reports: "After a period of lecturing to my junior history class, I gave them a few minutes to work on their homework. With everyone busy, I decided to sit in my desk chair and rest myself. Much to my surprise the rollers had been removed from one side of the chair and I went crashing to the floor. I thought it was funny, but instead of laughing I got to my feet, gave them the "Black Look" and simply said, "I can fix it" . . . and proceeded to do so amid much laughter from the students.

"Once I was teaching my children the difference between "highest" and "lowest" when one little fellow said, "My mother's name is Lowest" (meaning of course Lois.) "Another time we were talking about the doctor. I asked the class, 'When would you ever be without the doctor?" 'Six feet under,' piped up a bright second grader." These experiences can be credited to those of Cecil Kidd, second grade teacher at Dillwyn.

Witch's Woes

While in Roanoke, Jean Dancy said that "During the week before Halloween, I taught several Halloween songs by rote in elementary school. The response was terrific and I was quite pleased, until a third grader, when playing 'The Witch,' said most sincerely, 'Miss Dancy, you sure would make a nice witch!' My feathers politely dropped!"

One would suspect that if one continued with the many thousands of amusing things that happened to these girls that one would consume the entirety of the newspaper.

Granddaughters Fall Initiation Welcomes Many

Th Granddaughter's Club, organized in 1926, held its initiation service in the Alumnae House, Monday, November 14, at 7 p.m.

Those eligible for membership are students whose mothers or grandmothers attended Longwood College. Bids were extended to Sally Ann Barclay, Elizabeth Susan Brittingham, Jean Elizabeth Brown, Nancy Roan Burke, Jordan Carter, Ruth Catlin, Nancy Carol Combs, Marjorie Earline Cook, and Linda Jolliffe Everly.

Also initiated were Linda Graham Farrier, Barbara Jean Fields, Sandra Hunt Forrest, Bonnie Leigh Gentry, Maude Frances Haga, Doris Katheleen Harrison, Verna E. Holden, and Brenda Ann Isbel.

Rebecca Mapp James, Judith Stuart King, Mary Katherine Lancaster, Mary Anne Lipford, Charlotte Elaine McClung, Joan Carole Martin, Sandra James Revelle, Elizabeth Ann Rex, Roberta Anne Rilee, Martha Anne Rose, Evelyn Viola Smith, Sue Nimmo Stallings, Virginia Mayo Summers, Caroll Ann Tew, Rebecca Lee Thomas, Ann Scott Thompson, Margaret Stuart Banderberry, Marjorie Christiana Ware, Sandra Waugh, Ann Ballard Williams, Anne Gail Jones, and Marguerite Shelburne were also extended bids.

See Our
Longwood Charms
and Rings
MARTIN
THE JEWELER

SELECT YOURS NOW!
- Best Sellers
- Religious Books
- Civil War & Virginia Books
- Poetry Collections
- Cookbooks
- Children's Books

Weyanoke Book Shop
200 High Street
Farmville, Virginia

CAMPUS GRILL
(Between Hockey Field & South Main Street.)
Hot Dogs — Hamburgers
Cheeseburgers
Country Ham Sandwiches
Barbecues
SPECIAL
Barbecued Chickens
Ice Cream & Milk Shakes
EX 2-4236

Attend Water Pageant

The Rotunda

Support Senior Dance

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., December 7, 1960 | No. 8

Gala Plans Of Seniors To Unfold

A gala fantasy land, "10 North Santa Claus Lane," will be the scene of the senior dance, which will be presented Saturday night from 8 p.m. until 12.

A huge candy cane archway at the steps of the Ruffner Rec will serve as the entrance to "Santa Claus Lane." Lucent Christmas colors and scenery including Santa's workshop, Christmas trees, and a large sleigh at the bandstand will depict Christmas in Santa Claus' land.

The Collegians, a 14 piece band from the University of Richmond, will provide the music for the evening.

The senior class and their dates will form the figure of a candy cane during the intermission. Music for the figure will be a recording of "White Christmas."

Ann Mixon, honorary big sister of the Class of '61, will lead the figure. She will be followed by the senior class officers and then the members of the class and their escorts.

The seniors will wear white formal dresses. Favors for the dance will be green velveteen muffs, each of which will be accented with a white poinsettia.

Upon arriving at the dance, each couple will proceed through a short receiving line. The line will be composed of Pat Southworth, senior class president; Miss Ruth Wilson; Dr. and Mrs. Francis G. Lankford; Mrs. Kathleen Cover, senior class sponsor; Beth Goodwin, president of the sophomore class; Ann Mixon, honorary big sister; and Sue Gosnell and Judy Robertson, senior dance chairmen.

Following the dance, from 12 until 2 a.m., the seniors will entertain their dates at a party in the senior rec. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. Betty Rex will chaperone the party and faculty members are invited to attend.

Tickets to "10 North Santa Claus Lane" will be on sale in the smoker until Saturday. The price of admission is $2.40 per couple.

All faculty members are cordially invited to attend the dance.

Chairmen of the various committees working on the dance are as follows: Ruby Slayton and Gwen Kesee, decorations; Sarah Rock and Barbara Bailey, tickets; Carol Boley, favors; Carolyn Oliver, publicity; Nancy Lee Cole, party; Page Davis, programs; Virginia Van de Riet, figure; and Kay Hubbard and Marie Waller, invitations.

—Staff Photo

SWIMMERS B. Kersey, S. Starr, J. Harris, and C. Nye prepare entrances for their water pageant numbers. The suits worn are part of the basic costumes planned.

Rotunda Receives High Honor Rating

The Rotunda received a first class honor rating for its papers published during the spring semester of 1960. The rating was awarded by the Associated Collegiate Press.

The paper was judged in competition with weekly college newspapers throughout the United States. Points considered in the criticism included coverage, content, and physical properties, such as make-up, headlines, and photography.

The Rotunda has received this rating consistently throughout the past ten years.

LC Students Attend Chicago Press Meet

Judy Detrich, managing editor of the Colonnade; Mary Byrd Micou, sports editor of the Rotunda; and Sandra Weaver, editor-in-chief of the Rotunda, represented Longwood College at the 36th annual conference of the Associated Collegiate Press. The conference was held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, November 21-23.

The vice-president of United Press International, Earl J. Johnson, addressed the opening meeting of the conference. On November 23 the conference was adjourned with a luncheon. Approximately 1000 students, representing 213 college and universities throughout this country and Canada, attended the conference.

Many Areas Covered

During the conference, meetings and discussions that dealt with college magazines, newspapers, and yearbooks were held. Topics covered by these meetings were advertising, modern trends in publication, news coverage, photography, and typography.

Judy commented, "The most interesting thing I learned was that the people from the 22 magazines represented shared the same problems, no matter how large or small their school. It was also nice to find that the Colonnade fared very well in cyparison with the other magazines."

New Trends Discussed

Mary Byrd found the discussion "New Trends in College Newspaper Make-up" most informative. "The methods discussed gave us many new ideas with which to experiment," she stated.

Sandra concluded, "The discussion "Freedom or Frustration for the College Press" was most informative, and we were most impressed with what we learned."

Short Courses Beneficial

The Longwood group also found the short courses which were offered very beneficial. In these courses were general question and answer periods in which the representives could present their own problems and listen to others.

During their free time the representatives visited various points of interest in Chicago.

VMI Glee Club, Longwood Choir To Give Concert

Longwood College will present its annual Christmas concert Sunday, December 11, at 3:30 p.m. in Jarman auditorium.

The program will feature the Longwood College choir, under the direction of Dr. John W. Molnar; the Longwood Madrigal Singers, directed by James M. McCombs, and the Virginia Military Institute Glee Club, directed by Captain Joseph Chilton Pearce.

Soloists on the program are Jean N. Dancy, mezzo-soprano; Nancy Evans Cobb; Jean Helms and Julia Marie King, sopranos; and Zee Tapp, contralto.

Accompanying the Longwood choir will be Miss Josephine Bailey, assistant professor of music, on the organ, and Joan Tyler Ivy and Doris Evelyn Webster on the piano. Accompanist for the VMI Glee Club is Cadet Seaton B. Fulghum.

The program is arranged to present in separate musical offerings the Longwood Choir, the Longwood Madrigal Singers, the VMI Glee Club, and a combined chorus of all voices. The audience will be invited to join in traditional carols.

Famed 'Chorus'

The combined voices will sing the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah" as the concluding number.

Among the numbers to be sung by the Longwood Choir are Bach's "For Unto Us A Child Is Born" and Dickinson's "The Shepherds' Story."

The various VMI Cadets will include traditional English, Old English, and French carols. Arcedi's "Ave Maria," and the beloved, "Lo, How a Rose E're Blooming," by Praetorius. They will begin with "Fanfare for Christmas Day" by Marin Shaw.

—Staff Photo

WORKING CREPE PAPER into chicken wire, S. Gosnell, B. Bolster, J. Robertson, and R. Slayton make a Santa Claus for their senior dance.

H2O Water Pageant Emphasizes Toyland In Christmas Theme

By Ann Agee

The annual Christmas water pageant will be presented on December 8 and 9. Program times are 4 and 7 p.m. on Thursday, and 7 and 9 p.m. on Friday.

The pageant is a traditional production with a holiday theme carried out by synchronized swimming, music, costumes, and backdrops.

The program this year will be completely different from that of last year, since all religious music was used in last year's pageant. The theme for this year is "Merry Christmas," with emphasis on "toyland."

At 4 p.m., December 8, a special children's performance will be held. As Mrs. Bobbitt commented, "Adults will be admitted only when accompanied by a child."

Backdrops will be decorated with scenes to dramatize various swimming numbers. A number done to the song "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town" will be represented by a large picture of a Santa Claus and reindeer, plus Rudolph — with a red light bulb nose. "Toy Tiger," a number written by Mrs. Bobbitt, will be illustrated by a picture of a tiger, and "The Chipmunk Song," by a drawing of one of the three chipmunks. Carrying out the emphasis on toyland and illustrating the song, "March of the Wooden Soldiers," a large toy soldier will be depicted marching across one wall.

Other numbers in the pageant will be "The Sugar Plum Fairy," a duet by Jo Ann and Hannah White; "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus," a trio; "Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer," by the synchronized swimming class; "The Dance of the Arab," a solo written and presented by Julie Hollyfield; and "Winter Wonderland," done by H2O club members.

Numbers using many swimmers will be "Sleigh Ride," written by Lani Robinson and Rosa Petit; "Once More It's Christmas," written by Wendy Warren; "Jingle Bells," by Claudia Wilson and Susie Starr; "T'was the Night Before Before Christmas," by Lani Robinson and Susie Starr; and "Let It Snow," by Patsy Skellie.

Concerning participation, Mrs. Bobbitt said, "This year we have the largest number of people ever to swim in a pageant, and there is a great deal of interest among the freshmen and upperclassmen, also."

A representative of the H2O club, explaining the purpose of presenting two water productions each year, said, ". . . the H2O feels that everyone should have the opportunity to be in a water pageant, and the Christmas pageant affords the opportunity not only to advanced swimmers, but to less experienced swimmers as well."

General chairmen of the production are Ginger Culpepper and Julie Hollyfield. Assisting them will be Morag Nocher, in charge of costumes, which will help to carry out the theme of each number; Gerry Ludwick, head of lighting; Ann Ranson, caps and make-up; Claudia Wilson, programs; Sarah Buston and Patsy Skellie, props; Jo Savage, door and ushers; Beverly Kersey, publicity; Anne Greene and Khaki Turner, backdrops; and Margie Freeze, party.

AKG Announces Holiday Contest For Dormitories

Christmas spirit at Longwood will again this year be promoted by the decoration of the dormitory doors. This custom, which has grown up over the years, is sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma, which awards prizes to the students with the best decorated door.

Prizes will be awarded for the most unique door in Wheeler, Tabb, Ruffner, Student, North, Main, and South Cunningham. Also, this year, as an added attraction, a prize will be awarded to the hall with the most attractive doors. The idea of this is to encourage a wider range of participation.

Any type of material may be used to decorate the doors as long as it does not scar or deface them. All greenery used on the doors must be fire-proofed in the school shop. The judging will be based on design, artistic quality, neatness, and originality.

The contest is now in progress, and the final judging will take place Tuesday, December 13. Prizes will be awarded at the Christmas Banquet. After the banquet the faculty and administration have been invited by AKG to tour the dormitories to see the attractive decorations.

Snow Selected Handbook Editor For Fiscal Year

Diana Snow

Diana Snow, a junior from Natural Bridge, was elected editor of the Handbook for the 1961-62 edition.

When asked how she felt about her appointment, Diana commented, "I'm very honored and surprised that I was elected." The editor, with the help of her committee, takes the rules and regulations handed down by Student Government and compiles them with the write-ups of various clubs.

Next year will be the first time the editor has had a committee to help her. The class representatives are Barbara Chaffin, senior; Lois Peters, junior; Ann Ross, sophomore; and Brenda Isbell and Cynthia Powers, freshman.

The Student Handbook is sponsored by the students and published by the Student Government Association. It is the manual of understandings and regulations, revised each year, which govern the conduct of the students.

Rule Clarifies Problem

In answer to the editorial in the last issue of the Rotunda dealing with students waiting for tardy faculty members, the following rule from the Faculty Handbook is being disclosed to the students from the office of the president.

On page 11, in the second item dealing with classes, it is stated: "Students may leave the classroom, and not be counted absent, if the faculty member has not appeared within ten minutes of the beginning of the period. Members of the faculty are expected to end their classes on time; failure to do so may cause students to be tardy to other classes."

This rule is the official action taken by the faculty five years ago when the handbook was revised. It is to be used as a guide for both faculty members and students when dealing with the stated problem.

Attitudes Examined

The attitude of some of the students during the assembly film on Martha Graham reflected a level of taste of which no college student could be proud. The primary problem is not a case of behavior, as many people have commented. It is what the behavior indicated.

Martha Graham is one of the original forerunners of the modern dance. Each member of her dance group has trained for years to discipline his mind and body in order to perform on the stage. All Longwood students are not expected to know this, but they are expected to have enough culture to recognize art when they see it.

To many people a man performing in leotards is amusing. But is it so amusing that it warrants gales of laughter? If one had concentrated her thoughts on the muscles that these performers were using in their movements, rather than how they looked using them, there would have been no smiles. There would have been expressions of awe. What appears to be a casual sprint, is anything but casual to the internal structure of the performer.

It is bad that students did not already know these things before seeing the movie, but to leave the audience after having been exposed to art, and still leave the impression of being ignorant of dance is far more damaging.

Are Longwood students lacking so in a cultural outlook? Or, do they just not bother to act like mature, educated young women?

A Difficult Lesson

What is the most difficult lesson you ever tried to learn? The most tedious you ever tried to teach someone else?

The longer we live, the more this most difficult lesson seems to be — to do uncomplainingly what we do not like to do. Each individual, in the behavior pattern he develops over the years, acquires dislikes and dislikes. Soon it is evident to each of us that no one is ever able to do only what he likes. Yet, many of us are prone to use "I don't like it" as a patent excuse for not doing numerous things needing our done.

What dislikes are you fighting? Is it a dislike for rising early? Perhaps it is reading; don't be surprised if you feel lost in the midst of an intelligent conversation one day. Perhaps your most ardent dislike is just plain hard work.

Doing what one likes to do is easy; it is doing what is necessary, though disliked, that takes the spine. How regrettable that our asylums for the mentally ill, for narcotics, for the alcoholics, and for the criminals are so full because so many insisted upon doing only what they "liked."

Yes, the real test of our character and achievement in this world is not how cheerfully we do all things. We really prove ourselves in doing the unpleasant but necessary. The mature adult rarely stops to say before attempting something worthwhile, "I don't like . . .": he simply does it. He has learned that life is too precious to waste on whims, that the time he saves from not hesitating gives extra time for more enjoyable things.

—The Chanticleer

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia.

Sissons Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
[illegible] ..... Managing Editor
[illegible] ..... News Editor
Judy Detrich ..... Feature Editor
Mary Jane Mayo ..... Sports Editor
[illegible] ..... Desk Editor
[illegible] ..... Photography Editor
[illegible] ..... Circulation Manager
[illegible] ..... Advertising Managers

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member Virginia Collegiate Press Association. Associated Collegiate Press receiving first class Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating [illegible])

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, [illegible] Subscription rate, March 1, 1954. Recommended for national advertising by National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald

FARMERS EXAMINE the quality of a leaf before selling their tobacco at auction.

Tobacco Auction Begins Here, Revealing Another Way Of Life

By Judy Detrich

Sometimes college seems to be a world of its own where we move through a maze of campus life, with its good times and tensions, forgetting entirely that there is another world. That is why, walking across this campus on a crisp, cold, early winter morning, few of us are aware of another realm — though we have been in the midst of it for over a week.

Tobacco Is King

This is the realm where tobacco is king. Since the sales opened a week ago Monday, farmers have been bringing hundreds of pounds of Virginia dark fired tobacco into the three Farmville warehouses.

A trip to one of the warehouses on a brisk sunlit morning can be an exciting adventure. The Middle Warehouse down past the Presbyterian church is a good point of departure into this other world.

Trucks drive in to deposit their burdens of tobacco, of farmers, and often of the farmer's family as well. Once inside the immense, dark building you may become aware of the domination of dark colors — brown earth, brown planked floor boards, darkly clothed farmers and workers, and the browns of the tobacco in its long rows.

Own Way of Life

The cold warehouse seems almost alive with the overpoweringly rich scent of tobacco and the hustle of farmers and graders, of buyers and workers. The long rows of fire-cured tobacco piled in shallow baskets, the scrutinizing looks of government graders, the businesslike murmur of farmers' voices, the jovial comments of the warehouse owner, and most magically—the sing-song, babbling chant of the auctioneer have a part in a stranger's fleeting impressions of this way of life.

The more thoughtful might observe the tradition that is a vital part of the tobacco sale. In keeping with custom the auction seems almost like a ritual. Farmers wait beside their crops, graders pass up and down the aisles—stooping here and there to mark a pile, and finally when the auctioneer is ready — the sale begins and continues until all of the tobacco has been sold.

Tobacco Rules Man

The thoughtful observer might notice also the tanned, wrinkled faces of the tobacco farmers. Tobacco is a demanding taskmaster and the hands, faces, and stooped positions of these men witness that. "Tobacco is a hard crop," one gnarled farmer drawled slowly, "I'm thinking about giving it up some day."

How abrupt it is to notice next to a stooped older figure the bright, lively motions of a child. Anxiety is registered on his face as he compares his tobacco with a neighbor's pile; his face wrinkles as he performs fantastic numerical computations to calculate the worth of his crop and the vast wealth that will be his if only he can bear the wait until his first crop is sold.

Crop Lessens

There are other faces, too — the dark faces of two wizened colored women huddled on a bench before an old pot-bellied stove, warming themselves as they await the sales; the jocular face of the house owner as he moves among the tobacco, assuring the success of the sale. He can comment on the tobacco trend, for this has been his trade for most of his life. "Because of government limits on acreage and for other reasons too, I suppose, the people don't raise as much tobacco as they used to—there was a time years ago when we had three sales a day in every warehouse — nowadays we only need one."

The sale is the end of a long cycle of work for the tobacco farmer; the long winter nights ahead will be his chance to relax; for, when springtime comes, he must once again resume his place in the world of tobacco.

Paper Carrier Discloses Gloomy Angle Of Work

By Betty Jane Stegall

Curses!! Almost Christmas and they haven't moved that infernal luggage from the hall yet . . . yawn. If I could only keep my eyes open . . . yawn. Crash! Bam! Thud! Another suitcase, that means I gotta open my eyes. What a way to make a living. Ugh! Yawn.

Just stop a minute, people, and let me tell you something . . . something about the depressing life of a girl who delivers newspapers for a living.

The other morning at the deathly hour of 5:30, I arose, placed my arms through my raincoat, placed my feet in my shoes, and put my Richmond Times Dispatch bag over my head. With this accomplished, I proceeded out the door (which I had left open the night before for safety's sake) and set out to find my papers. Always I had the words on my lips "It's the early bird that catches the worm." Down in my heart I said, "Who the heck wants a worm!"

Finally I arrived at the Rotunda. I saw my papers on the chair . . . picked up the chair to put in my bag . . . realized my mistake . . . put the papers down . . . walked out with the chair. . . returned because I couldn't get out the door . . . put the chair down and finally started on my way with the papers on my shoulders and words on my lips.

I approached North Cunningham. Just as I started to cross the street, a cook flew by in his black Ford . . . must have been late for work. One inch closer and I really would have that rundown feeling. I walked down the halls, careful to avoid all dangerous obstacles placed there by people who obviously do not carry papers. Often I open my eyes to check room numbers, so that I'll be sure not to miss someone.

One floor down . . . two to go. Wow, they add a new step every day. What's that bush doing in the hall? Wait'll Miss . . . Uphs! Forgot! Christmas is next week. Let's see is it 231 or 321? Oh, what the heck. Maybe I'll have an extra.

Oh! This is really neat. Everybody on this floor wraps her door up like a gift . . . need a master sheet . . . never figure out the numbers . . . wonder if they'd mind my making a little incision near the bow? After all, the papers must go through. Tomorrow I'll bring scotch tape. All I have is masking, but that'll never . . . uphs. Where is 452? What the heck . . . I'll leave 'em at the end of the hall.

Ogh! When I think that this evening I gotta collect. Guess things could be worse. I could be a newspaper. On second thought would that be so bad. At least I'd be well-read. Ugh!

Seniors Express Serious Concern

To the Editor:

It has recently been brought very obviously to the attention of the undersigned that our student body is seriously lacking in manners. The assembly conduct of our students has been questionable on several occasions during the past two years. No less deplorable was it during the program on Martha Graham.

Though this type of program may not appeal to every person, it is, nonetheless, the responsibility of educated, college-age people to conduct themselves in an appropriate manner while attending programs of any sort. Derisive and outrageous laughter shows only a lack of self-discipline and consideration for others.

It was not only the students, unfortunately, who were to blame. If there is to be any improvement, we must first have good examples set by those who are here specifically for that purpose.

It is our hope that future cultural programs will see better behavior by all who attend.

A group of seniors

Tom Turkey Airs Views Concerning Christmas

By Neal Banks

Now please don't get me wrong! I'm not really complaining, but it seems to me that I'm entitled to a few gripes around this time of year. I mean, really, how would you feel if they just casually brushed you aside, and treated you like an incidental freak who just happened to be on the agenda. It's probably just ego inflation, but I feel so useless these days — so overlooked.

I'm a turkey, see, of the special Thanksgiving variety—and please take note of this fact — the Thanksgiving variety. Do not confuse me with my blackguard brother, the Christmas bird. Straight? Okay. Here's the pitch.

People make such a big deal out of Christmas. They build it up so much you'd think they were afraid it was going out of style. So where does that leave me? Nowhere. And that's just the point.

Why, I can remember when I was really in vogue—the cream of the crop, holiday-wise. Maybe I didn't out-do the Christmas bird, but let me tell you, we were running neck and neck. But then all these wise-guy merchants decided Christmas wasn't big enough as it was, so they commercialized it all over the place. They even had the audacity to hang their trappings before my big day even arrived. Imagine!

Now, I'll admit I'm a sucker for Christmas myself, but not at the expense of cutting my own throat! Why, nobody knows I exist anymore. Christmas rides right over me.

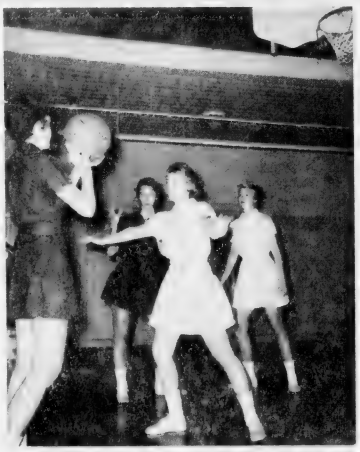
I think I'm a pretty good bird, as birds go, and I'm fed up with being discriminated against. I'm just as much use for a happy family gathering as that dodo brother of mine — more, when you get right down to it, because I haven't got those multiple distractions hanging around me.

"Why are you telling us your problems" you say, "we've got

(Continued on page 4)

LITTLE MAN on CAMPUS by BIBLER

"THAT'S NEERS, HE'S PROBABLY THE MOST WELL ADJUSTED TEACHER IN THE PSYCH DEPARTMENT."



Simmons, Wright Chosen To Lead Class Basketball

Ann Simmons and Alma Jean Wright have been chosen as the 1960-61 managers of the class basketball teams.

General class practices are being held Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday at 4 p.m. Since each student interested in playing on a class team must attend eight of these class practices, Miss Olive Iler has advised that students attend four practices soon and four just before the class games. This is to insure the players of being in good condition for the games.

The class basketball games will be held after the regular basketball season near the end of February. At this time a captain will be selected for each class. The winners of the class games will receive points which will count toward the color cup. Students are urged by Miss Iler and the managers to come out and support their class.

One of the managers, Alma Jean Wright, is now in Roanoke, student teaching. Ann Simmons, 202 Wheeler, should be consulted if students have any questions about the practices or the games.

—Staff Photo

AS BASKETBALL PRACTICE begins, S. Crone, F. Forrest, P. Pinkston, and C. Axelson work out in a game situation.

Orchesis Presents First Dance Film To Student Body

Orchesis, honorary dance society, presented its first dance film, "A Dancer's World," to the student body at the assembly November 29.

"A Dancer's World" was commissioned by television station WQED, Pittsburgh, in 1956. In a back stage setting, Miss Martha Graham speaks of the arduous technical training and the study of the art of performing, which every dancer must go through before earning the privilege of appearing on stage.

As she is speaking, the scene shifts to Miss Graham's studio, where eleven of her dancers demonstrate a series of movement sequences which, though given a choreographic pattern for the camera, show all the basic elements of technique which a Graham performer must learn. It is only after years of this apprenticeship, she says, that a dancer is able to communicate to an audience with simplicity and spontaneity.

A long-term project of Orchesis materialized in this film. The group hopes to present similar dance films in future years as a regular project.

Watery Rehearsals Plague Performers

By Mary Byrd Micou

So you want to know what makes a water pageant? Surely you already know. It's what makes Longwood — hardworking, hard-playing girls.

But come to the pool and see what goes on before the audience is exposed to those precision numbers.

Shoes Forbidden Here

Here we are. Take your shoes off as you go in. It's a rule, you know. Careful, there, don't trip over that brace. It holds up the backdrop. Look, there's Ann Green putting the finishing touches on a picture of Santa Claus. That's part of the backdrop too. And there's Betsy Wilson on top of the ladder. Is she trying to chin herself, on the rafters, or is she hanging another piece of the backdrop?

Those wet cold girls in the soggy leotards? Oh, they just finished practicing the "March of the Wooden Soldiers." Shhh! Another practice is beginning. Listen!

"One, two, three, four, back dolphin. Stop! What do you mean you can't? I don't know that word! Let's try it again. One, two, three, four, back dolphin — good!—one, two, three, four . . ."

Perfection Pains

Enough of the practice. It goes on every night for about two or three weeks before a water show. No, the girls in the corner of the pool aren't trying to drown each other. They're perfecting a chain dolphin. Well, maybe next time, girls.

Those two girls in the red suits tearing their hair are Ginger Culpepper and Julie Hollyfeld. They are co-chairmen of the water pageant. The H20 sponsors it, but many of the swimmers and behind - the - scene workers are volunteers. Well, of course it's fun as well as hard work. Look at Sandra Freedman there hanging over ten feet of water and trying to make a piece of wet scotch tape stick to the backdrop. Doesn't she look like she's having fun?

Caps Painted

That's Ann Ranson with paint on the end of her nose. She's painting bathing caps to match the costumes.

You still haven't seen it all—the hours spent choosing music and writing numbers, the posters painted for advertising, and the time-consuming tryouts. Yes, they are hardworking, hard-playing girls.

Football Season Draws To Close; Bowls Approach

By Lois Peters

Except for the post-season bowl games, collegiate football closed out the season with two games Saturday.

Cotton Bowl-bound Duke wound up its season as they were defeated by UCLA, 27-6. Halfbacks Bill Kilmer and Bobby Smith virtually ran over the Blue Devils. Kilmer, gaining 200 yards against Duke, won the 1960 total offense championship with a total of 1,889 yards in ten games. Duke, the only team able to defeat Navy this year, was scored upon in every quarter as the Bruins romped to an impressive victory.

Virginia tied an unenviable record Saturday as they lost their 28th consecutive game. This loss tied the Cavaliers with Kansas State for the longest major college losing streak. Virginia, fighting hard for an upset, was no match for the more powerful Gamecocks. With 40 seconds left in the first half and the Gamecocks leading by one touchdown, Virginia held them on the one inch line. However, South Carolina marched 65 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter and scored twice more in the final quarter, thus closing out another miserable year for Virginia. The Cavaliers are, however, looking forward to a better year ahead! We hope so.

Elsewhere in football news, The Virginia Tech, Tech's news paper, suggested that the college dismiss Frank Moseley as head football coach. In an editorial, however, it was suggested that Moseley be retained as athletic director because of his good job done in recruiting and building up Tech's athletic association, but the editor did not feel that Moseley had done as satisfactory job as head coach. Tech wound up its 1960 season with a 6-4 record which included a 13-12 victory over VMI.

In the final balloting of the Associated Press, the Minnesota Gophers were named the number one team in the nation. The Gophers, only once defeated, ended up the season with a 9-1 record and accepted an invitation to play the Washington Huskies in the Rose Bowl. Iowa, also a Big Ten representative along with Minnesota, was named the number two team in the nation.

Orchesis To Perform At College Festival

Orchesis, honorary dance society, will travel to Richmond on Saturday, December 10, in order to present a part of its work at the College Dance Festival.

Eight students will make the trip as performers and a second group will attend as spectators at the critique to be conducted by Helen Tamiris and Daniel Nagrin at the Virginia Museum Theater.

Hurricane Inspired

The dance that Orchesis will perform depicts a group section of "Then it passes . . ." Centered around the theme of a hurricane and described in poetry by Kulik, which sets the stage, one sees a group of women shorn of all possessions, having only one another to turn to.

Lena Kay and Gretchen Latchford depict abject despair and shock; Laverne Collier, Donna Marquette, and Betty Lehembre depict a group that is entirely dependent upon one another; Janice Harris, Carol Nye, and Sandra Watkins perform as the group which foresees hope in the uncertain future. Clialin's bleak music further enhances the choreographic sequences.

Narration will be by Mr. David Wiley, assistant professor of drama. Mrs. Emily K. Landrum will accompany the group.

Class Planned

The program of the day will begin in the morning with a master class held by Miss Tamiris and Mr. Nagrin for all participating Virginia colleges. This will include the demonstration learning, and practice of dance techniques.

In the afternoon each group has a rehearsal space in the Museum Theater followed by a lecture demonstration conducted by both the artists and members of their company. The next part of the program is the dance performances by each college which will afterward be evaluated by Miss Tamiris.

Participating colleges are Hollins, Longwood, Madison, Mary Washington, Radford, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Richmond Professional Institute, Sullins, Sweet Briar, Virginia Intermont, Westhampton, and the College of William and Mary.

Points, Blazers Awarded By AA To Participants

Every fall, the Athletic Association awards blazers to worthy seniors. The highest award is the white blazer, which requires thirty points, and then the blue blazer, which requires twenty points. These points are gained through class and individual sports and also in varsity sports.

Points are awarded for participation in archery, basketball, hockey, softball, swimming, volley ball, and tennis. Points also are obtained through participation in any H2O pageant or by being a member of the AA Council.

To receive a blazer, a girl must be approved by the AA Council. Awards will be based on sportsmanship, variety of participation, scholarship, number of points received, and contribution to college athletics.

This fall the following girls received blazers: Clara Lee Parker, Barbara Bramley, Pat Southgorth, Carolyn Thorpe, Mabel Tealey, and Mary Hite Grayson.

The Council also awards numbers and seals to underclassmen for points received for participation in class sports. In order to receive a numeral, seven points are needed, and to receive a seal, 14 points are required.

Last spring was the first time that these awards were made. The purpose of these awards is to stimulate the interest of underclassmen in class sports and to give recognition to those girls who deserve it.

Patronize
The Rotunda
Advertizers

News Summary

Kennedy Announces Two Appointments

By Carla McNair

President-elect John F. Kennedy formally announced that Governor Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina will be his secretary of commerce. Also announced was Governor Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut as secretary of health, education, and welfare.

According to a complete election tally made last week, John F. Kennedy will be the fourteenth "minority president." Kennedy got 50.132 per cent of the major-party vote, while Nixon got 4.868 per cent.

President Charles DeGaulle will go to Algeria on December 9. This was announced Wednesday, November 30, after a cabinet meeting.

Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, made a visit to the Vatican on Friday, December 2. His visit to Pope John XXIII will mark an event in history, as this is the first such meeting in four hundred years.

The London Sunday Times announced today that Russia is building a missile base commanding targets in Communist China. The base is going up on the Kamchatka peninsula in northeast Siberia. It will be equipped with missiles capable of striking at targets 3,000 miles away.

The New York-owned Liberian steamer Iri is overdue on a voyage from England to Montreal. The 3,093 ton steamer sailed from Fowey, Cornwall, November 8, with 21 days fuel. It was captained by an American, Ben Krasner. There was only one other American aboard, a journalist named James Robert Dickson. Two lifejackets bearing the vessel's markings were found off the Welsh coast Friday.

The Army Chief of staff, Colonel Mobutu, announced Saturday that Patrice Lumumba had been moved to the garrison town of Thysville late Saturday night. Witnesses said that they had seen Congolese soldiers beat and kick Lumumba when he was taken to Mobutu's military headquarters, in a suburb on the western part of Leopoldville, Friday evening.

Famous Brand SKIRTS
Regular $12.99
OUR SPECIAL
$6.99
Solids, plaids, and tweeds
THE DOROTHY
MAY
Farmville, Virginia

6 ways to hypnotize men

Ever wonder why some of the plainest gals walk off with the most eligible bachelors—often under the noses of a batch of beauties? The December Journal tells you "How to Be Popular." Your eyes, smile, manner can help you hypnotize men—if you know a few simple tricks. (P.S.) Information comes from an irrefutable source—men!

DECEMBER LADIES' HOME JOURNAL

See Our
Longwood Charms
and Rings
MARTIN
THE JEWELER

Top Ten Tunes

1. Stay
2. Are You Lonesome Tonight
3. Last Date
4. Poetry in Motion
5. Save The Last Dance For Me
6. Let's Go, Let's Go, Let's Go!
7. A Thousand Stars
8. You Talk Too Much
9. Alone At Last
10. New Orleans

WILSON'S HOME
& AUTO SUPPLY

Buy a Typewriter
for Christmas!
New & Used—$49.50 up
Wide Selection of Books
WEYANOKE
BOOK SHOP
200 High Street
Farmville, Va.

Safe Deposit

John always did take things too seriously . . . like that habit of locking his Coke up in a safe! Sure everybody likes Coca-Cola . . . sure there's nothing more welcome than the good taste of Coca-Cola. But really—a safe just for Coke! Incidentally—know the combination, anyone?

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Honorary Clubs Issue Invitations For Membership

Two campus groups, H2O Club and Lynchos, extended membership invitations last week.

The H2O Club has extended bids to the following girls: Jean Bass, Sue Beardmore, Sue Caravella, Jackie Davis, Janice Harris, Jeanine McKenzie, Carol Nye, Mary Byrd Micou, Joyce Snyder, Anne Smith, and Faye Ripley.

The initiation ceremony will be held in January. The purpose of the club is to stimulate an interest in all phases of swimming; to cooperate with the Athletic Association by conducting the class swimming meets; to stage and sponsor a water pageant; at least once a year, and to provide life guards for each recreational swimming period.

Lynchos Society

Eleven girls received Lynchos bids last week.

They are Mary Rob Harris, Rosemarie Johnson, Mary Lee Warriner, Jackie Poole, Anne Simmons, Martha Burroughs, Nedlee Chapman, Lucy Trotter, Josephine Baker, and Barclay Woodward.

Lynchos Society is an honorary organization in science and mathematics. Membership is limited to juniors and seniors maioring in one of these fields and having a high scholastic record in their field.

Society Announces Essay Competition

The National Society of the Colonial Dames of America in the Commonwealth of Virginia has announced an award of $200 for the best essay about a person or phase of colonial history written by an undergraduate student.

The essay must be between 2500 and 4000 words in length. Style, originality of thought, accuracy of data and of references, neatness, punctuation, and spelling will be considered in making the award. Essays may be submitted between April 15, 1961, and June 15, 1961. They should be mailed to Mrs. Edwin Cox, Aylett, Virginia.

Any student desiring additional information should contact Dr. Francis B. Simkins, head of the department of history.

BSU, Wesleyans Plan Festivities

By Ann McCants

Baptist

December 4 marked the beginning of Freshman Week, which will continue through December 11. During this week freshmen will take over the BSU duties of upperclassmen.

All BSU members will meet Friday to decorate the center for Christmas. Open house will be held in the center during intermission of the senior dance. Dorm prayer meetings will be held on December 12 and 13.

A trip to UVa to attend the BSU Christmas party has been planned for December 10. Those wishing to go may sign up in the center.

Episcopal

Episcopal Vespers will be held each Thursday evening at 5 p.m. All students are invited to attend these services.

Methodist

The Wesley Foundation will have its annual Christmas open house on December 13 from 3 to 5 p.m. in the center. All Methodist students are invited to join in fellowship during this time.

A decorating party will be held in the center Friday night at 7 p.m. During intermission for the senior dance open house will be held in the center.

Last week end Dianne Wade and Bobbi Mast attended the World Christian Community Seminar at Grace Memorial Church in Richmond.

Presbyterian

An evangelistic team from Union Theological Seminary led the Longwood and Hampden-Sydney students in a week end of recreation and worship at the Farmville Presbyterian Church last weekend.

Highlighting the week end were such events as recreational programs — a play entitled "The Campus Guide on Trail," and a dedication program.

Tom Turkey

(Continued from page 2)

cream of our crop." Well, I'll tell you why. I've got a scheme, see. Even though I hate to do it, I'm going to just give up if you can't fight 'em, join 'em. I'm going to be a Christmas turkey! I'm only normal. I want to be noticed just as much as the next bird. And so help me, I'm going to get my due respect somehow. Can you blame me?

Camden Professor Slated To Lecture

Sir Ronald Syme, Camden Professor of ancient history, will speak December 14, at 10 a.m., in Jarman Auditorium. The topic of his speech is "Three English Historians: Gibbons, Macauley, Toynbee."

Sir Ronald, a native of New Zealand, has been Camden Professor of ancient history at Oxford since 1949. He is a fellow of Trinity College; member of Royal Danish Academy of Letters and Sciences; and is secretary-general of the International Council for Philosophy and Humanistic Studies. He has also received honorary degrees and titles abroad.

Among his publications are The Roman Revolution, Tacitus, and Colonial Elites.

Literary Groups Announce Plans, Annual Contest

In accordance with its policy of stimulating an interest in creative writing among the students of Longwood College, The Colonnade has made announcements concerning literary contests for the coming year.

Grove Press Incorporated announces its plans for the Evergreen Award, an award for the winning entry of a story, poem, play, essay, or any other literary material to be published in New Campus Writing. The contest opens May 1, 160, and closes September 30, 1961.

The Evergreen Award of $500 provides recognition for the most promising and distinguished talent among college students who submit material for publication in the book.

Entrants should provide proof by registrar or teacher of registration in a college or university. Manuscripts are to be in English, typewritten, double-spaced on regulation size white paper. Each manuscript must be submitted separately. Poetry writers are asked to submit a body of work consisting of six poems or more.

Manuscripts should be addressed to: The Editors, New Campus Writing, Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Virginia Society

The Poetry Society of Virginia is offering four prizes in poetry writing contests including lyric poetry, sonnets, and poems on peace.

All poems must be unpublished and may not be submitted to other sources from the time of entry until the results of this contest are announced.

All entries must be postmarked not later than March 1, 1961. For further information about this contest contact a member of the Colonnade staff.

—Staff Photo

MARKING FAMILIAR FARMVILLE STEETS, a sign seemingly towers over the West Wing of Longwood College.

Changes Now Effective In Longwood Personnel

The administration changes at Longwood College became effective December 1.

Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, former associate dean of the college, assumed the duties of dean of the college on December 1. Dr. Moss will continue to perform the duties of associate dean, plus his duties as dean.

Mrs. Mildred L. Morton, past secretary to Dean Boggs, is now secretary to Dean Moss and occupies the office formerly occupied by Mrs. Lucille Bradshaw. Dr. Moss is remaining in the office he formerly occupied as associate dean.

Mrs. Mary W. Watkins, new director of admissions, has moved to the office formerly occupied by Dr. Boggs. Her duties, in addition to admissions, include the placement of graduates, student aid, and scholarship programs. Mrs. Nancy Saylor remains as Mrs. Watkins' secretary, and occupies the office formerly occupied by Mrs. Morton.

Mrs. Jean Wilson, former bookkeeper, is now supervisor of personnel and also has charge of the college payrolls. She will also assist the business office in operation of the bookkeeping machine. Mrs. Wilson will be located in the office formerly occupied by Mrs. Watkins.

Mrs. Lucille Bradshaw, former secretary to Dean Moss, is now secretary to Miss Ruth Wilson, dean of women.

Mr. Wilson Brown has been employed as an accountant in the Longwood business office.

Mrs. Sandra Meadows, formerly assigned to the office of Dean of Women, is now maintaining records of student loan and collection activities for the business office.

Exchange News

Student Papers Contain Variety Of School News

Football Coach Frank Mosley can feel a lot safer now, and so can his effigy, thanks to the Virginia Tech Gobblers. It was the football team who saved the day (or the neck) by rescuing the about-to-be-hanged effigy from spirited and indignant students. All of his because of a two point game loss to Davidson, 9-7. Tom Gilliam, editor of the Virginia Tech, had a hard-hitting comment, "If it hurts so much to lose one game, aren't you glad you didn't go to U of Va?"

To those girls struggling with history term paper topics, the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jacket tells of some interesting choices. Try these for a difference: "The Relation of Thomas Hart Benton's 'hard money' to the financial policies of Andrew Jackson," "The Peace Efforts Prior to the Civil War," "The United States in the Korean War," or "God's Controversy with New England."

The Muhlenberg Weekly from Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pennsylvania, reports a stuffed ape in their campus museum. This animal was donated by an alumnus who had him for a pet!

RPI can boast of their instructor of sculpture, Mr. Charles Renick. His copy of Jamestown's Captain John Smith is now in London where it was unveiled, reports the Proscript.

Again from Randolph Macon's Yellow Jacket — an ad: "R-M men are invited to Live, Love, and Learn in the town of Ashland." Wonder what Farmville has to offer?

From the Want Ads in the Sun Dial from Randolph-Macon Women's College — For Sale: Lab Coat. Slightly soiled, but still good cover-up." Looks like another lab experiment failed!

The Breeze from Madison College reminds its readers to start studying now. May we direct this to Longwood's students, too?

US Prestige Abroad Discussed By Panel

By Judy Detrich

The Longwood Forum met Monday, December 5, at 4:15 in the Student Lounge. The audience witnessed a panel discussion concerning American prestige abroad.

The panel consisted of seven faculty members and students who have been abroad recently as tourists, residents, or scholars, and who were prepared to present their impressions of American prestige in various parts of the world. The panelists were Miss Mary Nichols, Dr. Dorothy Schlegel, Dr. Marvin Schlegel, Nancy Allison, Lee Burnette, Angelika Indinger, and Barbara McGill. Dr. James Wellard served as moderator.

The meeting, Dr. Wellard explained, inaugurates a series of programs stressing international relations, at which times the audience will be given a chance to meet people with pertinent information concerning aspects of this subject, thus gaining insight into foreign affairs.

Miss Nichols was the first of the seven world travelers to examine American prestige. Her view was that of an American student at an English university, Oxford.

She summarized her impressions by stating that she felt "Anglo-American relations are very good in England, strong and respectful." She later admitted that since her group was one of American professors, she may have been "treated with kid gloves," in such places as Spain.

Angelika Indinger, a freshman who lived in Heidelburg, Germany, until six years ago, spoke next. She stated that she felt that the German attitude towards Americans was a friendly one. "Of course," she admitted, "feelings were, understandably, not so good right after the war."

Another freshman, Barbara McGill, who lived in France for one year said that she believed the European image of an American might be that of "a big pocketbook."

At this point the meeting gained momentum as the panel turned to a discussion of American traits in Americans, and the influence of our public education system in the emerging countries of the eastern hemisphere.

Mrs. Schlegel stated that she felt the people of the Mid-East do not really approve of our foreign policy. She reconstructed a picture of Americans as loud, brash, and unphilosophical in the eyes of these people who "resent our wealth because they feel we're irresponsible with it."

Is the American educational system having any influence on the emerging countries? This question was raised and discussed by the panel members. Although some thought the influence of American curriculum was little, they all agreed that the American philosophical attitude toward education will necessarily be adopted.

The prevalent attitude of the panel members seemed to be that Americans are liked abroad, but at the same time sometimes found annoying.

Thorpe Receives Economics Prize

Peggy Thorpe, a freshman home economics major, has won a $100 savings bond for placing first in a contest sponsored by the Mecklenburg Power Company.

Having just moved into a new home, Peggy wrote her paper on fixing the floors and woodwork, packing, moving and arranging the furniture, and preparing meals.

In 1958 Peggy won $25 in this same contest, but on sewing.

Need A Study Break??
Try The
SNACK BAR
It's Great!!!

COMPLIMENTS
of
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

We Have Longwood Charms & Rings
Come In and See Us For Your Christmas Gifts.
Charge Accounts Invited
LONGWOOD JEWELERS
216 North Main St.
Farmville, Virginia

The Washington School for Secretaries
Business training that is worthy of a college education.
Employment Placement and Career Guidance.
Mid-year, Summer, Fall enrollment.
District 7-2480
NATIONAL PRESS BUILDING, 14th & F STS., N.W., WASHINGTON 4, D.C.

Running the WHITE WATER Gantlet...
YOU HAVE TO THINK FOR YOURSELF... AND THINK FAST!
THERE? NICE AND SMOOTH!
NO! LOOK AT THE CANYON WALLS... SHARP AND CLEAN!
Jim is taking his son Bob on his first "white water" canoe trip...
STICK TO THE WHITE WATER!
WOW!
Jim had spotted the slate formation in the canyon . . . and realized smooth, inviting sticks could hide death-dealing flat rocks!
HIDDEN ROCKS, EH? I ALWAYS KNEW YOU'RE A MAN WHO THINKS FOR HIMSELF, DAD. THAT WHY YOU SMOKE VICEROY?
OF COURSE! VICEROY'S GOT IT... AT BOTH ENDS! GOT THE FILTER... GOT THE BLEND!
THE RIGHT TASTE BECAUSE
Viceroy's got it... at both ends
GOT THE FILTER...
GOT THE BLEND!
VICEROY
© 1960, BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORP.

The Rotunda

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., December 14, 1960 | No. 9

Freshman Foresees Citizenship Papers

Lindinger Ends Five Year Wait To Be Sworn In

By Donna Humphlett

"There are a lot of changes, but you don't think about them, you just change," says Angelika Lindinger of the changes she has made since coming to the United States. A freshman business major, she now lives in Hampton.

Angelika was born in Heidelburg, Germany, on December 30, 1941. In 1954, because of the German housing shortage, she and her family moved to this country. Six months later she could speak English, and now speaks with only the slightest accent.

January Citizen

She will be sworn in as a citizen of the United States in January. Because she was between the ages of 16 and 18 when her parents became citizens, she had to wait until she was 18 before applying for citizenship. The first step she took was that of asking for information leading to citizenship. Booklets concerning American history and government were sent to her. She then had to fill out a form about her life in Germany.

Following this, Angelika went to a police station where she had her fingerprints taken. The fingerprints and a picture of her were sent to the citizenship headquarters in Norfolk. Next came a private conference with the citizenship commissioner. He gave her oral and written tests, testing her ideas, as well as her knowledge of American government. In addition to her conference, two people who had known Angelika for five years

(Continued on page 3)

—Staff Photo

LONGWOOD FRESHMAN, Angelika Lindinger, formerly of Germany, will receive United States citizenship papers soon.

Stendhal's Novel To Be Depicted In French Film

Le Cercle Francais will present a screen version in color of Stendhal's "Le Rouge et le Noir" on Thurday, January 5. The movie will be shown in Jarman Hall at 7:30 p.m. The price of admission is 50 cents.

Stendhal's great romantic novel, a classic of literature, has been translated into a screen version hailed by the critics as one of the all-time masterpieces of French cinema.

Stendhal based the plot for "The Red and the Black" on a real crime of his day, a newspaper account of a French peasant who was convicted of shooting his mistress, and executed. Into this tabloid melodrama Stendhal injected virtually an entire literature of ideas.

The success of the story, and of the movie version, lies in the creation of Julien Sorel. The psychological analysis of this young man from the province, and of those he involves in his triumphant rise and tragic fall, is one that stirred and shocked the world of his day. For not only is this a psychological story, it is also a realistic story, relentless in its exposure of the basic conflict between church and state, and searching in its probe into the minds and hearts of men and women.

Tickets for "Le Rouge et le Noir" may be purchased from members of the French Club or at the dor of Jarman Hall.

Madrigals To Sing Handel's Selection

The Madrigal Singers will perform in the Virginia Room on December 15 at 4:30 p.m. in a program of Christmas music.

The Singers, under the direction of Mr. James McCombs, will feature excerpts from G. F. Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah." Solos will be by Nancy Cobb, Jean Dancy, and Julia King.

This program will be open to the public at no charge:

Longwood Plans English Tests

The English Department has announced that a standardized test in English fundamentals will be given to all students taking Freshman English on Wednesday, January 4 from 7 to 8 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium.

The Junior English Test has also been scheduled for Wednesday, January 18, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium. All students of current junior standing, students who will attain junior status next semester, and transfer students are required to take this test as a part of graduation requirements. A list of students who have demonstrated proficiency in previous standard tests and in English course work will be posted shorty in the West Wing and these students will be absolved from taking the test.

The Junior English Test covers correctness and effectiveness of written expression and reading ability.

Y Pageant To Enact Thoughts Of Joseph

The annual Christmas pageant sponsored by the Longwood YWCA, will be held Thursday, December 15, at 10 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium. "Christmas In My Heart" is the theme of the presentation of the Christmas story told through the eyes of Joseph.

Susan Lane, chairman of the pageant, obtained the idea of the presentation from a Christmas Eve sermon of two years ago and wrote the entire script from that idea.

The Christmas story will be presented in four scenes. As the narrator tells the story, students will enact the character parts as shepherds, wise men, heralds, and prophets. "Actually," Susan says, "the pageant will be a pantomine of Joseph's thoughts and feelings as he looks back on the time of Christ's birth."

Freshman art major Deeni Noel will narrate the pageant. Joseph will be portrayed by Margie Twilly and the Madonna will be chosen by the student body. A fifty voice choir of angels will interpolate various Christmas carols throughout the story. The angel Gabriel will be portrayed by Cherron Coulter; the shepherds are Margaret Vaughan, Laurice Hamlet, Marilyn Anthony, June Costello, and Merle Talley.

Wise men are Hattie Lee Lasley, Carol Bruce, and Carol Pierce. Susan Sheely and June Almond are heralds; Carol Curtis, Winnie Ezolf and Sue Beardmore will portray three slaves. The prophets are Gayle Ray, Ann Agee, and Gerry Ludwick. Sue Sharpe, Janice Campbell, Elaine Lohr, and Elaine Bane will be townspeople.

The uniqueness of the pageant this year is displayed in the simple scenery, lighting effects, and such aspects of the performance as having the entire choir on stage. Wise men will sing their parts in solo, and the Madonna will be used in the play, rather than just at the end of the pageant.

The various pageant committees have had the following students as chairmen: lighting Mary Lou Wood; music, Jean Dancy, Maddie McNeil; publicity, Carol Combs; costumes, Alice Boggs, Carol Nurney; props, Betsy Lancaster; and chairman of Madonna, Nancy Pretty.

After the Pageant, representatives of the various campus organizations will bring their White Christmas gifts to the manger, to conclude the program.

Camden Professor Speaks On History

Sir Ronald Syme, Camden Professor of ancient history, spoke today at 10 a.m., in Jarman Auditorium. The topic of his speech was "Three English Historians: Gibbons, Macauley, Toynbee."

Sir Ronald, a native of New Zealand, has been Camden Professor of ancient history at Oxford since 1949. He is a fellow of Trinity College; member of Royal Danish Academy of Letters and Sciences; and is secretary-general of the International Council for Philosophy and Humanistic Studies. He has also received honorary degrees and titles abroad.

Among his publications are The Roman Revolution, Tacitus, and Colonial Elites.

Scottish Group Gives Portrayal Of 'Caledonia'

The Singers and Dancers of Scotland, under the direction of Andrew McPherson, will present "Caledonia" January 11 at 8 p.m.

Founded by Mr. McPherson, the company has become popular through leading soloists. Audiences respond with enthusiasm "both to the scope of his program and to the high artistic standards set for them."

Among those who will be featured are Gordon Lang, baritone and Hilda Wilson, soprano, both of whom are concert and television personalities in Scotland. The principal dancers are Flora Stuart Grubb, 1960 World Champion Highland Dancer and Billy Forsyth. Ian McPherson is accompanist for the company.

A special section of the program is dedicated to Robert Burns and includes "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," "Shepherds Crook," (Highland Dance) and "Comin' Through The Rye."

Other sections are: A Highland Ceilidh, The Songs of Harry Lauder, Hebridean Fantasy, Scottish Fantaia, and a finale which features "Scotland The Braw" and "Auld Lang Syne."

An additional point of interest is the colorful dress and costumes of their land. The women wear vivid tartans and the men wear Royal Stwart kilts.

Choreographic for "Caledonia" is by Bruce McClure, noted authority on the Scottish Dance. Many of the musical settings and arrangements were created by the director, Andrew McPherson.

THE SINGERS AND DANCERS OF SCOTLAND perform one of their arrangements of a Scottish Dance.

Honor Societies Issue Fall Bids To LC Students

Three honor societies, Beorc eh Thorn, Kappa Delta Pi, and Pi Gamma Mu, have issued bids.

Beorc eh Thorn issued bids to Betty Jane Allgood, Mrs. Josephine Baker, Sandra Clements, Barbara Ann Cole, La Verne Collier, Harriet Dawson, Peggy Green, Pat Hurst, Mary Byrd Micou, Barbara Ellen Moore, Ann Taylor Rowell, Emily Smith, Susan Stalnaker, Linda Sudduth, and Frances Tune.

Beorc eh Thorn is a local honorary society in English, organized for the purpose of promoting and encouraging extracurricular reading, study, and creative writing in all literary forms.

Eligibility for membership is based on high achievements in English and unusual interest and ability in creative writing and in literary study.

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi has selected Sue Agee, Pauline Brightwell, Laura Carson, Nedlee Chapman, Carolyn Elliott, Peggy Green, Rose Marie Johnson, Evelyn King, Mary Byrd Micou, Nancy Ann Parker, Ann Ranson, Anne Taylor Rowell, Emily Smith, and Susan Stalnaker.

Kappa Delta Pi is a national honor society in education. It is an organization in recognition of scholarship, character and service.

Only those students of full junior standing whose grades are within the upper quintile are eligible for membership.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, recently issued bids for the fall semester.

Those receiving bids were: Lee Burnette, Archer Cassada, Barbara Ann Cole, Frances Carolyn Elliott, Mary Hite Grayson, Rose

(Continued on page 4)

Longwood, VMI Concert Applauded As Excellent

Mr. Sterling Adams

Some of the season's nastiest weather failed to dampen the festive atmosphere in Jarman Auditorium last Sunday afternoon when the Choir and Madrigal Singers of Longwood College joined forces with the Glee Club of Virginia Military Institute to present their annual Christmas coucert.

A varied and wellpaced program of Christmas music both old and new was presented in a setting of unusual beauty to a near capacity audience. From the carols which greeted he guests as they arrived, to the spirited Hallelujah Chorus which concluded the program, a consistently high standard of performance was maintained throughout by all involved.

Occupying the first part of the program, the Longwood Choir, under the direction of Dr. John Molnar, presented the Bach Cantata "For Us a Child Is Born" with well disciplined authority and stylistic understanding. Soloists Jean Dancy and Nancy Cobb added distinction to the performance of the work. In other choral numbers of this first group, noteworthy solos were provided by Jean Helms and Julia King.

In the next portion of the program, works by Praetorius and arrangements of folk melodies by John Jacob Niles were delightfully interpreted by the Longwood Madrigal Singers. The familiar "I Wonder As I Wander" was beautifully sung by Julia King.

The VMI Glee Club, directed by Captain Joseph Pearce, next presented a group of selections ranging from the lusty "Boar's Head Carol," to the exquisite "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming" of Praetorius. This spirited ensemble, with the assistance of trumpets, trombones and a drum, skillfully delivered Welsh, French, Czech and English carols with great gusto.

The program concluded with the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah, both choral groups uniting to provide a stirring climax to the concert.

Our appreciation is accorded to all those who were responsible for Sunday's excellent offering. Special credit is due to Dr. Molnar who, in addition to his fine training of the Longwood Choir, arranged the entire pro-

(Continued on page 3)

Panhellenic Council To Change Rushing

The Longwood Panhellenic Council voted December 5 to change the sorority rush schedule beginning next fall. Bids will be issued in the middle of October rather than in February.

The new system has been discussed in the Panhellenic Council for several years. The members of the council approved the preposal by means of a vote within each sorority.

The change will provide for more and longer rush parties during the rush period. Seventy-five percent of the colleges with sororities in the United States use this rush system sucessfully. It will be innovated on the Longwood campus, however, on a trial basis.

Ginnia Chapman, Panhellenic president, will announce definite plans and dates for the schedule at a later date.

Thanks To The Men

It was most pleasing to see the efficient way in which the campus maintenance men cleared the walks and roads after our first snow.

Before the snow was able to completely cover the walks and freeze, the men began clearing them and continued to do so until the weather cleared.

This is by far not the first time we have seen examples of the quick response these men make during such situations. They are also to be thanked for the polite manner in which they do their job.

The Christmas Spirit

I am the Christmas spirit!

I cause small children to gaze in wonder when they enter the Rotunda and see the star atop the tree towering high above their glowing faces.

I create the flurry of activity before dinner as everyone sings carols, forgetting for awhile the work that lies ahead that night.

I am responisble for many of the smiles I delight in seeing from people I usually see worried or frowning.

I marvel at the way people suddenly begin to bounce as they cross the campus, instead of walking in their usual reluctant manner.

I laugh to find that the little children I see playing around the library have started packing their snowballs more loosely so they won't injure anyone.

I frown when I find too many girls staring with a faraway look in their eyes, rather than at their professors, but. . .

I understand why, and I am mischievious enough that I let them continue.

I enjoy creating happiness, where I so often find sadness.

I pretend not to notice when I see a professor smiling to himself as his mind drifts away from lecturing.

I purposely shock you as you brush against the tinsel on the Rotunda tree. It encourages Christmas mischief! My favorite!

I do get upset when I see people ignore me. But my feelings don't get hurt too easily, for I'm strong, and I always win.

I keep people warm when the winter wind encircles them . . . making them tingle from inside and not outside.

I grow. I grow with each hint of my having touched another heart.

I am the Christmas spirit!

The Best Gift

Since childhood, we have been instilled with the idea that Thanksgiving is a time for giving thanks and Christmas is a time for giving presents.

Commercialization of Christmas has been a great factor in causing the real meaning and and spirit of the season to be de-emphasized. Encouragement to give materialistic things is constantly shouted at us from every store window and television screen. From November 1 on, slowly growing louder and gaining forcefulness, the cry buy finally dominates all else, almost drowning out the strains of carols piped into the stores to get shoppers "in the Christmas spirit". This continues even up to The Night, when, of course, the stores stay open until nine o'clock to accommodate last-minute shoppers.

Last-minute shoppers. These are a good example of the many people in the rut of commercialization whose only thought of Christmas is that they must give some kinds of material gifts, and there is no time to think, to consider the person receiving the gift. They do not know the spirit of giving of oneself .

We give of ourselves when we are extra friendly to the quiet girl down the hall, or give strength to one whose morale needs building, or seriously care about a friend's problem, or simply give of ourselves enough to see something fine in someone else.

Christmas brings this out in some of us, others never experience it, but the person with the true Christmas Spirit practices self-giving every day—whatever the season.

—Ann Agee

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 168.

Sandra Weaver ..... Editor-in-Chief

Jo Anne Parsons ..... Business Manager
Joann Kleinecke ..... Managing Editor
Nancy Lechler ..... News Editor
Judy Detrich ..... Feature Editor
Mary Byrd Micou ..... Sports Editor
Pat Hurst ..... Desk Editor
Linda Sudduth ..... Photography Editor
Nancy Lee Cole ..... Circulation Manager
Janet Stanley, Janet Wainwright ..... Advertising Managers

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member: Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class), Columbia Scholarship Press Association (Rating first place).

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 8, 1934. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN on CAMPUS by BIBLER

"I WOULDN'T WORRY ABOUT GETTING AN 'F' ON TH' POEM YOU WROTE AN' RECITED, KLEPAD—MAYBE YOUR JAZZ COMBO PLAYED TOO LOUD."

Season Spirit Foils Professor Scrooge

By Judy Detrich

Christmas spirit came to the college.

There was a big tree with lights and icicles. Carols could be heard anytime, everywhere. Even the most unartistic (it is said) took a hand in the decorations. Some people wrote poems about it. Everybody smiled and bounced around. "Merry Christmas," they said, and they meant it (some said "Joyeux Noel," which is the same thing). In the kitchen the cooks were cooking special surprises. And the weatherman predicted snow. Everyone was happy. Everyone except — Dr. Scrooge.

He wasn't a bit happy. When he saw the Spirit catch someone, he shook his head sadly and said, "And she was such a good student before. . ." Dr. Scrooge decided to do something about it.

First he frowned and then he scratched his head, but all this time he was thinking. At last he smiled (what HE would call a smile, and said, "I've got it! I'll give a test!"

The next day he said to the bright, happy, Christmas-spirited faces, "WE are going to have a test." ("Now," he thought, "the Christmas Spirit will go away.") But it didn't.

Someone twittered in the back of the room and before he could say take - out - pencil - and - paper, everyone was laughing. This is why:

Before he left home, Mrs. Scrooge, who knew about Dr. Scrooge's plan, had placed a bright red and white striped candy cane in his breast pocket.

Now who ever heard of a scrooge with candy canes in his pockets?

While all of the students laughed, Christmas Spirit tiptoed up behind the Doctor. He tickled his ears and before it could be helped, Dr. Scrooge smiled (a real smile).

When he saw the candy cane he roared a huge Christmas laugh, "Here is the quiz," he said, "answer me: Which carol do you want to sing first?"

"Let's sing 'Deck the Hall'."

"Hooray for Scrooge," all yelled.

And they did.

Reporter Views Fashion To Be Or Not To Be—Ivy

By Lois Peters

Cold weather has finally hit Longwood with full force. Once again the time has come when everyone pulls out their old faithful kneesocks. Sometimes we wonder, though, if the kneesocks are worn just because the weather is cold or because many of us are trying to hide something beneath our socks. If this be the case of any reader, be informed of the sale on special little commodities at Southside Sundry this week. The merchants will be delighted to assist you in any way.

McMullens Popular

Another "must" around Longwood for the fashion minded student is the McMullen collared blouse. The other day I was taking stock of my bare closet trying to decide what to ask of Santa for Christmas. I began counting my blouses and was startled to find I only possessed five. McMullen collared blouses compared to my next door neighbor's eight. So need I say I'm asking Santa for three McMullen collared blouses for Christmas! I couldn't bear the thought of her being ahead of me fashion wise.

No girl's wardrobe is complete without her multi-colored crew neck cardigans. They are just "the thing" this year. Some people do go to extremes though. One Longwood student went all the way to Chicago to shop in Marshall-Field's department store just to get an "ivy" crew neck cardigan. Now really!

Pleated Skirts Popular

No outfit could be complete without the pleated skirt. They are especially helpful when you wear your roommate's clothes, because it is so much easier to fit into a pleated skirt rather than a straight skirt. The other night one Longwood student was wearing a nightgown that had a stitched-down pleated skirt. Some people have to be "ivy" even in their sleep.

Short kilts used to be popular around Longwood until recently. It seems as though most of them are packed away now. Maybe it was because it got too cold to wear them.

In the line of footwear, Weejun loafers are "in" this year. Many of us have been slack in this phase of latest fashions and have been sticking to our old faithful Tru Moc loafers. Don't worry though, girls, if you can keep your Tru Mocs in good condition maybe they will be "in" before long; if not, you will definitely be "out."

Circles, Not Squares

Still predominant as far as jewelry is concerned is the circle pin. Everyone, just everyone, bedecks their McMullen blouses with circle pins. A certain senior had a birthday the other day, and she was so happy to get a package in the mail from home.

(Continued on page 4)

Old Saint Nick Receives Pleas From Co-Ed Kids

Dear Santa Claus,

My name is Brenda. I am eight years old. I think I have been good. So this is what I want you to bring me.

First I want a new baby sister. I don't have one. She must have blue eyes. I want a baby with teeth, not like the others. She can't eat without teeth. Can you make me one like that?

I want a red bike too and a new red dress. I like red. I like your suit because it is red.

I don't think you can come down my chimney. You are too fat. I will tell mama and daddy to leave the key for you.

I want a typerwriter that has bells. I like to hear the bells ring.

My mama helps me with your letter. She is a good helper.

I have brown hair and it is a pony tail. That is so you won't mix me up with my sister. She is twenty.

I want some high heels just like my sister. I want black ones. Hers are black. I want lipstick too. I want it to be red like my dress. I want a watch like my sister has. It is real pretty.

I will make you a cookie to eat when you come. Don't eat the pie. It made Daddy mad last year.

If you can't bring me all of this, its o.k. Just so you bring me a baby sister and some high heels like Nancy and a bike and a dress and some guns like the ones Walter has. Walter is my brother. He is real real big. Almost as big as the refrigerator. Mama spelled that word for me.

Thank you Santa Claus.
Brenda

Dear Santa,

I am a freshman at Longwood College and this Christmas I would like presents which will be useful for college life. I hope my list isn't too long because my friends and I really need these presents.

To start off with, even though everyone knows you're not a doctor, could you drop off some temper pills when you come by for those of us working on the freshman production? A few freshmen are still working on their term papers and seem to be running low on No-doz. They sure would like a new bottle-full. Many of us could also use muscle-pills after taking those physical fitness tests.

Do you think we might have some more Elvis records for the dining room? And, Santa, I have a request for oxygen masks from the girls who sit in the dining-room balcony.

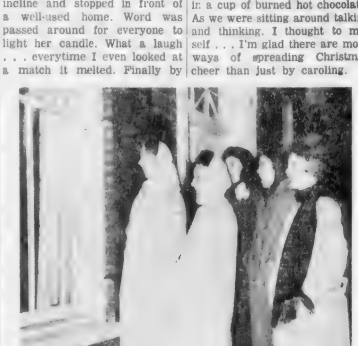
I know some hungry freshmen who would really appreciate a skeleton key to the refrigerators.

This year I've decided not to

(Continued on page 4)

Misanthrope Queries Custom Of Caroling

By Jane Stegall



Christmas caroling? Tonight? But it's snowing like crazy outside! Yeah, sure I'll go, lemmie get my coat on. Can't believe they're really going out on a night like this. Let's see, Pat's got my high top boots. Guess I'll have to wear these transparent goodies. Oh curses! Judy's still got my wool scarf. . . I'll have frozen ear lobes with this nylon rag around my head. At least I've still got my winter coat; that's one good thing about being fatter than anyone else. Come on Sue, let's slide on over. They're meeting us in the Rotunda.

Yes, that's how it all started . . . last Wednesday night when I went Christmas caroling. After much ado we finally crossed the road and arrived at the Rotunda to meet about 15 other people. Thus began the long hike. We tramped along singing Christmas songs in seven different keys and to seven different tunes . . . not knowing where we were going . . . just following the one in front with the list.

Finally we stalked up a sharp incline and stopped in front of a well-used home. Word was passed around for everyone to light her candle. What a laugh . . . everytime I even looked at a match it melted. Finally by bending over, with my face to the ground I was able to keep it burning for a least a few minutes. All of us looked as if we had a severe case of green apples . . . but nonetheless we began singing.

About two minutes later an elderly woman hobbled to the door with a request for her favorite song. Of course we felt as though we must acknowledge it, so consequently we all ended up singing a song that about three of us really knew. By that time our candles had burned down and we had to leave.

Our next stop was at the hospital. At least it was warmer there. As we stood in the halls singing, some of the patients came out to thank us and to ask for requests. Only one mishap occured. It was when I dropped candle wax on an old man's foot and he went into utter delerium. We immediately started singing "Joy to the World" and no one heard his outrageous cries. Soon after that we departed. After several more stops, and several more blunders, we came to rest at our sponsor's home to indulge in a cup of burned hot chocolate. As we were sitting around talking and thinking. I thought to myself . . . I'm glad there are more ways of spreading Christmas cheer than just by caroling.

—Staff Photo

CAROLING BEFORE ROTUNDA WINDOW. B. Sours, A. White, M. Freeman, R. Doyle, and J. Waldburger sing familiar Yuletide songs.

Lumumba Captured Upon Try For Power

By Carla McNair

In Leopoldville the Congo's Ex-Premier Lumumba is being held under close guard by the most trusted troops of army chief Joseph Mobutu. He was captured Friday in an attempt to make another bid for power. He faces charges of inciting rebellion in the army.

Kennedy recently tapped Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan to be assistant secretary of state for African Affairs and David E. Bell, Harvard professor, as director of the budget. Mr. Bell has served previously on the White House staff under Harry Truman.

Russia demanded that the United Nations free ex-premier Patrice Lumumba. They also stated that they wanted Colonel Joseph Mobutu's forces disarmed and a special Afro-Alan mission appointed to find out who is financing Mobutu's army. The Soviet Union also asked for the expulsion of all Belgian Nationals in the Congo.

President-Elect Kennedy nominated Rep. Stewart Udall of Arizona to be secretary of the interior. This is the third of the ten cabinet posts to be filled. Kennedy met with President Eisenhower in the White House to discuss the change that will take place in the administrations.

The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, Richard Cardinal Cushing, announced Wednesday that he will give the invocation at the inauguration of John Kennedy on January 20. Mr. Kennedy is a legal resident of Boston.

A team of scientists at the Medical College of Virginia, after years of laborious, complex research on how the brain works, have concluded that there is a link between the brain and heart attacks. This 14-year study is considered a distinct advancement in neurological science.

Senator Mansfield of Montana, during his campaign to sidetrack attacks on the Senate filibuster rule, stated: "The new president will have great, unused powers to enforce laws on the statute books." Mansfield is expected to become the Senate Democratic leader.

Five American scientists will leave Valparaiso, Chile, next week for the Antarctic to carry out geomagnetic research for the National Science Foundation. This expedition is a joint program between the United States and Chile.

On the lighter side of the news: Thieves in Peekskill, New York, broke into a radio-TV store early Sunday and made off with 18 television sets valued at $4,000. The store's rear door, from which the sets were removed and apparently loaded on a truck, faces the municipal parking lot. So does the rear door of police headquarters.

Lindinger Ends Five Year Wait

(Continued from page 1)

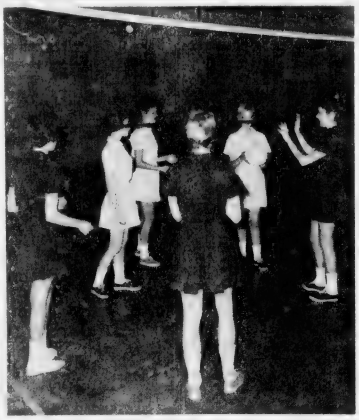
also had a private conference with the commissioner, answering questions about her. This was followed by the step Angelika is now in, that of waiting until she can be sworn in as an American citizen.

Girls Differ

Angelika feels that the main difference between German and American girls is the freedom that young American girls have in going to parties, dances, and wearing make - up. American girls also have a greater variety of clothes.

Like the average American, Angelika became a television addict when she came to the United States, "I watched 'westerns' all the time." She also bowled for the first time since coming to the United States, and has become fond of American popular music.

Angelika likes the teacher - pupil relationship in the United States. The American teacher, she feels, is friendlier, more understanding, and more willing to help the students than his German counterpart.



Trial Basis Education

Following elementary school in Germany, one enters high school on a trial basis, and is dismissed if he does not maintain good grades.

In addition to failure, many do not finish high school because of the expense involved. Six years ago when Angelika left Germany, high school tuition cost as much fifty to sixty dollars a month.

After graduation from high school, if one desires further education, he must take difficult examinations to gain entrance into one of the universities. At the universities, there are no dormitories, but the students rent individual apartments.

There is one final difference between Americans and all Europeans that Angelika observed — the self-assurance had by most Americans is lacking in the average European. She concluded by saying, "The Americans living and traveling in Europe do not reflect the real American."

—Staff Photo

RETRIEVING THE BALL from the net, G. Woodard prepares to set it up, as other players, J. Lauderbach, B. Dorn, B. McCorkle, M. Tench, and R. Murray, anticipate the play.

Cool Weather Changes Students' Sport Fancy

By Mary Byrd Micou

When winter closes its door upon all but the hardiest athletes, and the season's last shivering hockey game has been played on the Longwood hockey field, the gymnasium once again becomes a center of activity as all class and extra-curricular physical education projects are directed indoors.

Soon after the hockey sticks are put away the volleyball nets come out in the gymnasium, and if any muscles were left untried during hockey season, they now make themselves known.

At Longwood there is directed volleyball play both in physical education classes and on an intramural basis. Volleyball lends itself to group competition because of the number of players involved and because in this sport teamwork and skilled participation by every team member is a must. A variety of skills such as the serve, the spike, the net recovery, and a number of returns are involved, and make of the game a series of challenging, yet not impossible goals.

The YWCA Physical Directors Society promoted volleyball so it became popular rapidly. In 1917 a Volley Ball Guide was first published by the American Sports Publishing Company of New York.

Proof of the game's rapid growth in popularity was the first YWCA National Volleyball Championship held in 1922 in Brooklyn, New York. Twenty Championships have been played since 1922. Volleyball was recognized nationally in 1928 with the founding of the US Volley Ball Association. The Association meets in June of each year in New York to consider progress and problems and to discuss rule revisions.

Sports Review

Basketball Fans Back In Stands For New Season

By Sue Beardmore

Virginia Tech's Gobblers romped ed the University of Richmond 76-54 in their opening game of the 1960-61 basketball season. The Gobblers took an early lead, and with Chris Smith ably aided by Bucky Keller, there was no doubt as to the outcome. For Richmond, it was their third straight loss this season in Southern Conference play.

Hampden-Sydney also found itself in the losing column as they were defeated 100-75 by Bridgewater's Eagles. Jim Reedy, who led the state in scoring last season, racked up 42 points including 18 field goals. It appears that he is trying for scoring honors again this year, and is well on his way after a somewhat slow start.

Defending champs, Bridgewater, found defeat on their own court Saturday night when Randolph-Macon handed them a 94-85 loss. Jim Reedy's 27 points were not enough to pull the Eagles through to victory as the Jackets played a hard and a fast game.

Other ACC and SC games included a narrow victory for William and Mary over VMI 43-42; NC State defeated the Citadel 88-71; Wake Forest followed a loss to West Virginia by a win over Penn State 84-78.

Concert Reviewed

(Continued from page 1)

gram; to Captain Pearce for bringing his estimable group to Longwood College; to Miss Bailey of our Music Department for her distinguished organ accompaniments and solo work; and to James McCombs, also of our Music Department, for his skillful preparation of the Madrigal Singers.

The efforts of these and the many others who contributed to the success of this annual tradition are to be applauded.

Basketball

Class basketball practices have begun for the the games to be played after Christmas vacation.

The practices are scheduled for 4 p.m. on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. Night practices will be scheduled at a later date.

The varsity game schedule is in the process of being made up. Those games will begin in February.

MARTIN
THE JEWELER
extends to all
Longwood Students
Season's Greetings

See The New
Longwood Jewelry
at
LONGWOOD JEWELERS
216 North Main St.
Farmville, Virginia

Longwood Sweatshirts
at
Lanscott's Gift Shop

Decorations, Details Win Praise For H2O

By Cherry Gorham

No label of "best" can ever be accorded one of the H2O Club's twice-a-year water pageants, for each is complete in itself. Yes the total performance—scenery, costumes, music, lights and numbers —of this year's "Merry Christmas" was a superior, polished production.

Chairmen Julie Hollyfield and Ginger Culpepper, along with their committees, the swimmers, and Mrs. Robert Bobbitt and Miss Barbara Dowd have again achieved success. Particular mention should go to those behind-the-scenes workers who so delightfully turned the pool area into a gala land of Christmas.

The detail work of such things as the tree on the diving board and the holly decorating Santa's sleigh revealed their ingenuity. The lighting was effective, the costumes fitted the mood of the numbers, and the smoothness of music whose tapes had not been spliced was a joy.

A new addition this year was the special show the afternoon of December 8 for children, and the tots seemed enthusiastic about the idea. The crowds were good for all performances, with maximum capacity reached at the 7 p.m. presentation Friday.

High on the list of audience-favorites were the Chipmunk and Rudolph numbers, followed by the Toy Tigers. Novelty routines always add spice and are a gay change from the slower, often more difficult ones.

For sheer mastery of their medium, Julia Hollyfield's "Dance of the Arab" and the White sisters' "Sugar Plum Fairy" were superior. The feeling of the music was captured in the first; the synchronization in the second was nearly perfect.

"Let It Snow," with its appropriate costumes, was very well done at the final performance. Both "Rudolph" and "Toy Tiger" were smoothly coordinated at both Friday shows. The only criticism of the larger numbers is an obvious one — the problem of fully synchronizing the actions of many swimmers.

Suggestions for future pageants include more smiling swimmers, more in - the - water beginnings, and out - of - the - water endings. These last two, however, are limited by the music used. Also, the total picture would be more unified if the audience could not see the swimmers enter and leave the pool. The problem here, though, is light needed for safety's sake.

With a different tone from last year' more serious religious theme, this year's Christmas pageant can be judged a real success because of its rapid pace, its variety, and the coordination of its parts.

HIP, HIP, HURRAY for the GREYHOUND® way to save money!

Got the good word about Greyhound Scenicruiser Service®? It's the latest, the greatest way to go... with air-conditioning, picture windows, air-suspension ride and complete restroom! You'll have a ball headin' home on a Greyhound—it's often faster than other public transportation, and always less expensive!

COMPARE THESE LOW, LOW FARES:

Charlottesville	$3.96
Richmond	$4.40
Newport News	$9.41
Washington	$10.89

*plus tax

BAGGAGE PROBLEMS? You can take more with you on a Greyhound. Or, send your belongings by Greyhound Package Express. They arrive in hours and cost you less!

IT'S SUCH A COMFORT TO TAKE THE BUS...AND LEAVE THE DRIVING TO US!

GREYHOUND

GREYHOUND BUS TERMINAL
West Third St. Phone EX 2-5153 Farmville, Va.

Literary Awareness Questioned, Results Humorous, Yet Solemn

A literary test compiled by an Ohio State University senior, Bram Dijkstra of The Hague, Netherlands, has created quite a state of literary awareness in colleges.

Dijkstra compiled the test because he "wanted to see what American students know" about literature. The quiz, sponsored at Richmond Polytechnic Institute by the Proscript, reflected the unstated ideas of Dijkstra.

The test, which was given at random to eight classes, was scored on a basis of two points each for a correct answer. Out of a possible 100 points, RPI's top score was 64, the average was 19.5 and the low was 0. Ohio State's top score was 60 with a 28 average and a 0 low.

The quiz was divided into four parts: name a work by 10 listed authors; identify the author of 10 listed books; say if a list of 30 book have been read; and name three favorite works of literature.

The most popular authors here were Chaucer, Milton, Shakespeare, Homer, Tolstoy and Darwin.

Of the 150 RPI students who took the quiz, 115 correctly identified Chaucer as the author of "Canterbury Tales."

Chaucer was credited also with writing "A Tale of Two Cities," and "Knights of the Round Table."

Sixty-nine RPI students correctly said that Tolstoy wrote "War and Peace," while others identified a "Tolstoy work" as "Quiet Flows the Don," "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," and "The Wall."

"Walden" was correctly named by 43 students as a work by Thoreau. He was incorrectly credited with having written "Origin of the Species" by one student. Seventeen students rightly named "Confessions" a a work by St. Augustine, who was also incorrectly credited once with writing "Decline and Fall."

Eleven correctly listed "Metamorphoses" as a work by Ovid; seven named "An Essay on Population" as a work by T. R. Malthus. Immanuel Kant wrote "An Essay Concerning Understanding."

a Kempis Is Unknown

Only one student each identified a work by Lucretius ("De Rerun Natura") and by Pacal DeAlea Geometria"). No one identified a work by Thomas a. Kempis, author of "An Imitation of Christ."

In the department of missing authors, 93 students correctly identified Milton as the author of "Paradise Lost," but others wanted to credit the work to Spencer, Dante, Coleridge, Wolfe or Shakespeare.

Darwin's "Origin of the Species" drew the next highest number of correct answers (68), with only Shelly and Einstein wrongly being credited as the author. "The Scarlet Letter" by Hawthorne drew 64 right answers, and it drew wrong answers of Conrad, Poe, Maugham, Hemingway and Frost.

"The Aeneid" (Virgil) was correctly credited to him 53 times and incorrectly credited to Ovid, Homer (by 10 students), Euripides and Sophocles. Fifty students rightly named Melville as the author of "Moby Dick," but others had it written by Faulkner, Hemingway, Jack London, Dickens or Marlowe.

Goethe's "Faust" found 21 correct answers. This work was frequently confused with Marlowe's "Dr. Fnstus." It was alo credited to Shakespeare, Scott, Dumas, Dante, Hawthorne, Keats, and Moliere.

"The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" was correctly attributed to Gibbons 18 times and incorrectly to H. G. Wells, Thomas Mann, Tolstoy and Thornby. Twelve named Flaubert as the author of "Madame Bovary," while only seven knew that Rabelais had written "Gargantua."

Only a junior could identify Prevouse as the author of "Manno Lescaut."

The reading list drew the following answer of yes (the only answer scored): Homer, 84; Aeschylus, 25; Plato, 23; Herodotus, 3; Boethius, 5; Dante, 43; Bacon, 33; Cervantes, 36.

Machiavelli, 11; Corneille, 8; Shakespeare, 89; Voltaire, 30; Austen, 58; Balzac, 2; Dostoievski, 33; Whitman, 41; Joyce, 32; Kafka, 6.

Proust, 1; Mann, 1; Malraux, 1; Maugham, 58; Faulkner, 46; Camus, 7; Khayyam, 41; "The Koran," 2; Bhagavad-Gita, 3; Lao-Tzu, 4, and Confucius, 5.

Take the test! How will you compare?

Literary Test

(Following is the test administered to RPI and Ohio State University students.)

Name a work by the following authors: (If you don't know, leave a blank.)

T. R. Malthus: .....
Thomas a Kempis: .....
Lucretius: .....
Blaise Pascal: .....
Ovid: .....

Who Wrote?

Paradise Lost: .....
Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire: .....
The Origin of Species: .....
Moby Dick: .....
Aeneid: .....

St. Augustine: .....
Thoreau: .....
Chaucer: .....
Tolstoy: .....
Immanuel Kant: .....
The Scarlet Letter: .....
Garsantua: .....
Madame Bovary: .....
Faust: .....
Manon Lescaut: .....

Have you read: (Having seen "the movie" does not count!)

	Yes	No	Partly	In School
Homer: Iliad and or Odyssey:
Aeschylus: Orestei
Aristophanes: The Clouds:
Plato: The Republic:
Herodotus: The Republic:
Boethius: The Consolation of Philosophy:
Dante: Divine Comedy:
Francis Bacon: Essays:
Cervantes: Don Quixote:
Machiavelli: The Prince:
Corneille: The Cid:
Shakespeare: Hamlet:
Voltaire: Candide:
Jane Austen: Pride and Prejudice:
Balzac: Eugenie Grandet:
Dostoievski: Crime and Punishment
Walt Whitman: Leaves of Grass
James Joyce: Ulysses
Franz Kafka: The Trial:
Proust: Swann's Way:
Thomas Mann: Buddenbrooks
Andre Malraux: Man's Fate:
Maugham: Of Human Bondage
Faulkner: The Sound and the Fury
Albert Camus: The Plague
Omar Khayyam: The Rubaiyat
The Koran:
Bhagavad Gita
Lao Tzu: The Way of Life:
Confucius: The Analects:

French Students Present Drama For Christmas

Le Cercle Francais presented its annual Christmas program December 6 in the Student Building auditorium.

The program, directed by Betty Rice Dawson, was a presentation of four dramatizations portraying Christmas legends of France and French family life. The beginning French class rendered a Christmas carol, and other carols were sung by the audience. Joanne White was soloist, and the French informant, Bettie Lehembre, directed the singing.

Appearing in the first skit, which was an enactment of the legend of the "Little Saints of France," were Danette Blundell, Barbara Fields, Betsy Lancaster, Joan Perry, Marian Russ, Ginny Sturm, Caroll Tew, and Betty Anne Wall.

The characters in the legend of Saint Nicolas were Jane Hastings, Harriet Hunt, Judy Melchor, Jane Morgan, Lynne Osteen, Ann Tweedy, Dee Watkins, and Sandra Weaver.

In the skit depicting Christmas in a French family were Susan Boatwright, Liz Deichman, Bobbi Goodman, Bobbi Loth, Wistie Rochelle, Dona Scarbrough, Gaynor Vanlandingham, and Kay Willis. It was directed by Susan Rollins.

The fourth skit, entitled "Arriving at the Grotto" was portrayed by Sandra Groseclose, Nancy Huffaker, Jeannine MacKenzie, Nancy Oddenino, and Lillie Rogers. Liz Delchman directed the skit.

Committee chairmen for the program were Melinda Walker, decor; Ann McCants, costumes; Carolyn Elliott, Christmas tree; Libby Predmore, music; and Bobbi Goodman, programs.

Claus Letters

(Continued from page 2)

ask for many clothes, but I would like a kilt to wear only on back campus, if you can bring it. I would also like a new rat hat, or better yet, the one I lost raiding the sophomores back.

Santa, would you please bring the night watchmen a brand new coffeepot to thank them for their faithful service and bright smiles.

Lastly, all of us would like a large supply of tissue for spring vacation calendars.

Thank you very much, Santa Claus, and Merry Christmas.

From Flossie Freshman

Merry Christmas
and
Happy New Year
from
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

—Staff Photo

ENJOYING THE LAST WARM WEATHER'S SUNSHINE before winter's cold and snow, two Longwood girls read and study on the benches on the library lawn, as West Wing rises in the background.

Graduate Fellowship Offered To Students

Fellowships for graduate study in Rumanian and Polish universities are being offered to American students for the academic year 1961-62, it was announced by the Institute of International Education. Applications must be filed by January 15, 1961.

The Rumanian and Polish governments have offered the fellowship as part of exchange arrangements with the United States, and included are tuition and monthly stipends for living expenses. The Polish government will also offer living accommodations on the university campuses and medical care to those who are granted scholarships for study in that country.

Administered by the IIE, the awards are open to both men and women, in any field of study. Candidates must be at least 21 years old, US citizens, and must have the necessary knowledge of the county's language. While married persons may apply, no funds wil be available for dependents' support.

Applicants for the Rumanian scholarships should have at least one year of graduate training, and a Bachelor's degree is required of candidates for the Polish awards.

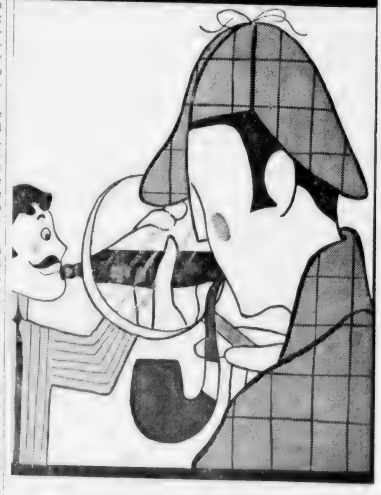
The US-Rumania arrangement supplements the awards with travel grants, offered by the US Government.

Application forms may be obtained room the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67 Street, New York 21, New York.

Honor Societies

(Continued from page 1)

Johnson, Virginia Kemp, Evelyn King, Dibby Mohr, Ginny Moss, Nancy Nelson, Nancy Pretty, Taylor Rowell, Jo Savage, Emily Smith, Diana Snow, Susan Stalnaker, Gwendolyn Stephens Strange, Helen Thompson, Frances Tune, and Nancy Umbarger.



Fashion Comments

(Continued from page 2)

Excitedly, she opened the package only to find her mother had sent her a square pin. She was so disappointed, but she will be happy to know that Santa is bringing her a whole box of circle pins for Christmas.

The "headache bands" that some students have been wearing around their heads are becoming popular at Longwood. I guess all the headaches are caused from overwork. Maybe they will pick up popularity during exam week. I strongly advocate them!

Christmas Gifts at Last!
Civil War Books
Inspirational Books
Poetry Collection
Etiquette and Cook Books
Best Sellers
Junior and Children's Books
Bibles—Revised & King James
Imported Dolls and Toys
Typewriters—New and Used
(gifts wrapped FREE)
WEYANOKE
BOOK SHOP
200 High Street
Farmville, Va.

Elementary...

my dear Watson! From the happy look on your physiog, from the cheerful lift you seem to be enjoying, I deduce you are imbibing Coca-Cola. No mystery about why Coke is the world's favorite . . . such taste, such sparkle! Yes, my favorite case is always a case of Coke!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

The Rotunda

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., January 11, 1961 | No. 10

Sophomores Create Infernal Production

By Ann Agee

The sophomore class production of "Lucifer Comes to Lota Loot," employed a unique theme for its presentation on January 10.

Many varied themes have been chosen for Circuses and productions, ranging from a past freshman skit concerning "the littlest angels," to the class of '63's interpretation of Satan and his imps.

Devilish Plot

In the production, the plot involved a scheme devised by Satan and his imps, bored with their surroundings, to raise money for remodeling their home. They ascend to the surface of the earth and visit Lota Loot College, a wealthy girls' school. There, Satan, called Lucifer in the play, meets Evelyn Everbroke and relieves her of the inheritance she just received. She gives it to Lucifer willingly when she falls in love with Cricket Jones. With their purpose accomplished, Lucifer and his imps return to remodel their home — complete with air-conditioning and cushioned rocks. However, they soon become dissatisfied, their home being too cold, and join the cast in the finale number, "Life Is Most Entrancing."

Olson Plays Devil

Portraying Lucifer was Mary Beth Olson, who has had previous stage experience in the Longwood Players' production of "The Plough and the Stars," presented in 1959. Imps were played by Gracie Bottino, Gail Deaver, Janice Harris, Barbara Gray Martin, Kay Nottingham, Carol Nye, and Sally Sims. Other speaking parts included Gari Dickson as Frankie, Anne Greene as Joan, Harriet Hunt as Gloria VanBuyington, Evelyn's rich, pseudo-sophisticated rival; Susan Kelly as Suzanne Snoot, and Anne Friedman as Dianne DeDahling.

Co - chairmen of Production were Neal Banks and Ann Tweedy, elected by the sophomore class.

Committee Heads

Committee heads were, sets, Betty Lou Dunn and Eleanor Fowler; lights, Barbara Stewart; publicity, Scottie MacGregor and Margaret Vaughan; programs, Barbara Muehlman and Frances Webster; house, Betty Stack; make-up, Josie O'Hop and Kay Nottingham; costumes, Shelby Lucy; songs, Jo Ann White and Pat McMillen; dances, Sally Sims: and props, Louise Turner and Sandra Phlegar.

The musical score was written by Libby Predmore, to the original songs "To Bedevil Is My Aim," "Life Is Most Entrancing," and others.

A technical innovation this year was the use of stage harness and wires in a scene in which Lucifer is made to fly.

—Staff Photo

PORTRAYING LUCIFER IN SOPHOMORE PRODUCTION, Mary Beth Olson bows over the hand of Sue Spicer, who plays Evelyn Everbroke.

Library Moves To Cursory Site

Upon the arrival of shelving January 10 or 11, all the books in the library are to be transferred to the elementary school on campus. This is being done in order that library service can continue during the remodeling of the library. The remodeling is expected to be completed in February, 1962.

Charles E. Butler, Longwood librarian, stated, "This entire building is going to be remodeled; there will be new heating; the whole building is to be air conditioned; whole new lighting; the stacks are to be taken out. Hence, it wouldn't be possible for us to operate in here while they are working.

"The purpose of the addition is to provide for a book collection twice as large as the size we now have, 140,000 volumes, and for additional study space for students," he added.

The library is to occupy the first and second floors of the elementary school.

Mr. Butler stressed that the transfer to the library will take place on January 17, 18, 19, dates chosen because the library is usually less frequented during this pre-exam week. The re-established library will be equipped to cover most student needs as well as supply a certain amount of study area, primarily on the first floor.

The head librarian assured that the transfer will have been completed before exam week. He also stated that the failure to receive necessary bookshelves has delayed the move until this time.

Contest Change

LaVerne Collier, editor of the Colonnade, has announced the following change in the magazine's policy. The annual literary contest will be held in the spring this year, instead of taking place during the fall session.

The contest will be open to Longwood College students who wish to submit original essays, fiction, or poetry. Winners will receive cash awards, and the award winning works will be published in the magazine.

The Colonnade sponsors the contest in an effort to promote and encourage creative writing on campus.

Detrich Serves Longwood Paper As Trial Editor

Judy Detrich served as editor-in-chief of this week's Rotunda, the first trial issue of the period ending the newspaper's fiscal year.

A junior from Hampton, Judy served this year as feature editor of the Rotunda staff. Working under her as trial managing editor is Mary Byrd Micou; news editor, Ann Agee; feature editor, Neal Banks; desk editor, Donna Frantzen, and sports editor, Lois Peters.

Composing the rest of the trial news staff are Page Tolleson, assistant news editor; Carla McNair, assistant feature editor; Donna Humphlett, assistant sports editor; and Mary Jo Bartley, assistant desk editor.

The columnists for this issue are Sue Beardmore, Betty Rice Dawson, Ann McCants, and Carla McNair.

Photographers are Linda Sudduth and Flossie Barnard.

The next trial issue will be edited by Ann Agee. At the close of the trial issues, the new editor-in-chief will be announced.

Wesley Speaker To Be Present On February 3, 4

Dr. D. Dillon Holt, President of Scarritt College, Nashville, Tennessee, will be guest speaker at Spiritual Life Weekend which will be sponsored by Wesley Foundation on February 3, 4 and 5. Dr. Holt's topic for the week end will be "Recharging Your Faith."

Dr. Holt, a native of North Carolina, was educated at Duke University, Wesley College, and the University of North Dakota. He has taught at Rutherford College and Duke University Divinity School and was a minister in Virginia and North Carolina for twenty years. Frequently, he has been a speaker at youth assemblies and student conferences and has been a counselor in family life and vocational guidance. Dr. Holt is well known throughout the Southeastern Jurisdiction for his outstanding work.

During the week end there will be four one hour sessions: Friday, February 3, at 7 p.m.; Saturday afternoon at 1 p.m.; Saturday night at 7 p.m.; and the concluding session on Sunday evening at 7 p.m. The Sunday morning Sunday School hour will also be given to Dr. Holt.

All of the meetings will be held in the Methodist Student Center except the two on Sunday which will be held in the Methodist church.

Everyone is invited to attend these sessions and start the new year right by "Recharging Your Faith."

Students See, Hear 'Caledonia' Tonight

THE SINGERS AND DANCERS OF SCOTLAND perform one of their numbers from their production, "Caledonia."

Scottish Group Performs Here In Artist Series

By Donna Frantzen

"Caledonia," a production of authentic Scottish music, will be presented this evening at 8 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium by the Singers and Dancers of Scotland under the direction of Andrew Macpherson. The program is one of the college lyceum Artists Series.

Founded by Mr. Macpherson, the company has had a meteoric rise to popularity and success in Scotland and Great Britain. This is the company's first tour of the United States and Canada.

Leading Soloists

In creating "Caledonia," Mr. Macpherson sought out leading soloists throughout Scotland. The result is a truly unique production, representative of Scotland at its very best.

Among the artists who will be featured in the trans-Atlantic tour are S. Gordon Lang, baritone, and Hilda Wilson, soprano, both of whom enjoy enormous popularity in Scotland as concert and television personalities.

The dance director of "Caledonia" is Bruce McClure, an authority on the Scottish dance. Many of the musical settings and arrangements have been created by the director, Andrew Macpherson, and will be heard here for the first time.

Varied Program

Music and dance are skillfully interwoven throughout the program. All the regions of Scotland are depicted: the Border, the Southern Uplands, the Lowlands, the Highlands and the Hebrides.

A special section of the program is dedicated to Robert Burns and will include interpretations of such favorites as "Ye Banks and Braes," "Comin' Through the Rye," "O My Love

(Continued on page 4)

Blackwell Chosen Head For Upcoming Elections

PEGGY BLACKWELL

Peggy Blackwell, a senior social science major from the Northern Neck, Virginia, has been elected to be the chairman for the major - minor elections of 1961.

Peggy will be in charge of the voting which is to take place in March. Among her duties will be to see that each class nominates its four candidates for the major elections and elects two representatives to the screening board. She will be chairman of the screening board and will supervise the elimination of candidates to three for each office.

The screening board is composed of two persons elected by each of the four classes, the heads of the four major organizations, and the chairman of major - minor elections.

While at Longwood, Peggy has participated in various activities. This year she is serving as vice president of the senior class and as president of the Northern Neck Club.

Baptists Sponsor 'Cherub' Tradition

Each January, just before exams, the BSU sponsors Cheerful Cherub week. During this week those who participate take something each day to the girl whose name they have drawn. This may be a small toy, candy, or a treat from the "rec." The giver is the Cherub and remains anonymous until the last day when she reveals herself. This is always a lot of fun and serves to cheer-up your friends while they are studying for exams.

The treat can be left any time of the day, but the cherub should be careful not to get caught. To add to the suspense and fun, you may wish to leave a verse or clue with your treat.

This year Cheerful Cherub week will be from January 16-22. On Wednesday, January 11, those who wish to participate will sign up in the Rotunda and names will be drawn the following day.

Everyone is urged to participate and enjoy Cheerful Cherub week. Don't be left out of the fun!

Faculty Attend Annual Meeting For Scientists

Five members of the science department traveled to New York City during the Christmas holidays to attend the American Association for the Advancement of Science convention.

The attendants from Longwood were Dr. Elizabeth Burger, Dr. R. T. Brumfield, Miss Page Davis, Dr. and Mrs. George W. Jeffers, and Dr. Carolyn Wells.

The Association met from December 26 through 31. This was the 127th meeting of the Association and the eighth meeting to be held in New York.

The meetings, which were composed of discussion groups, symposia, and lectures, were held in five leading New York hotels. A total of 71,000 scientists registered for the convention.

The Association represents biology, chemistry, physiology, and all pieces of science. Throughout the week 1,400 scientific papers on recent research were presented. In addition, 110 exhibits on various types of research were presented, and thirty-eight scientific movies were shown. The delegates attended the lectures, symposia, etc., which interested or applied to them most.

Miss Burger had the opportunity to hear the address by the outgoing president of the Association, Paul E. Klopsteg.

The 1961 meeting of the AAAS will be held in Denver, Colorado.

Mail Procedure To Be Alleviated Of Inconvenience

Beginning sometime next semester the mail delivery system at Longwood College will undergo a radical change.

Instead of the approximately 1000 girls crowding into the tiny post office every morning, only a third of the student body will receive mail there. This third are the freshmen who live in Ruffner, Tabb, Post Office, and Student Building. All other classes will receive their mail in their respective dormitories. Cunningham and Wheeler will have their own post offices.

This change is to be effected to alleviate the confusion and inconvenience of the old system, according to Mr. John E. Allen, director of public relations and development at Longwood College.

Operation of the new post offices will begin as soon as the new mailboxes are installed in the dorms. The additional post offices will make it possible for each student to have her own box, changing the present system of having two or three in a box.

All registered mail and packages will be picked up in the old post office and students in other dorms will be notified with package slips.

'I Don't. . . So I Won't'

It is not with astonishment that we recall the phrase, "I don't feel like studying, so I won't." On campus the statement is as familiar as hello or thank you. What is surprising is that the statement is rarely refuted.

Too often we tend to think of vocation in the future sense; too often we fail to take seriously the vocation of being a student. Studying, one might expect, is the purpose of our being here in the first place; however it is usually a most neglected matter — one subject to our whims and everpassing fancies.

To the thoughtful, our attitude must present an irresponsible, immature, undisciplined person as the typical Longwood College student. Most of us are not here solely to indulge our moods and be amused; most of us plan to be teachers ourselves-soon. Therefore, it must be reasonable to expect us to study not as much as we want to, or have time to, but as much as we need to.

We need to pull our "I don't . . . so I won't" attitude out of its hiding place in the bottom of our minds and examine it critically in a mature light. Finding the attitude out of style, perhaps we can alter it a bit. To this end hard work and concentrated effort can accomplish a great deal. If we aren't afraid of them.

—Judy Detrich

A Rude Awakening:

There is a serious concern on the part of a few people here; the concern centers around you and me, the students. This minority is concerned with how very little we know and how very little we seem to care about not knowing. Someone asks, "What is the difference between a monarchy and a republic?" "I don't know" the student answers, implying," I couldn't care less." "Why should I? I'm not a history major." If such an exchange is representative of the prevalent attitude here, something needs to be done to shake us from our frivolous world of unreality.

Such a question doesn't concern the history class alone; education is no child's game. Education is arming us with the tools—or weapons—to face the responsible situations of adult life. How could this student who can not or will not distinguish very fundamental forms of government possibly grow up to assume the responsibilities of our form of government—which, by the way, is not supposed to be a monarchy. Our lack of understanding is a basic problem.

Somewhere along the way to college, many of us have failed to grasp the fundamentals of communication—how to read and write intelligently and expressively. But instead of being alarmed we, having passed freshman English, expect to be able to disregard communication principles in the history, chemistry, or education class. Woe be unto the professor who demands coherence in our work; for we say that he is impossible, too demanding, and unfair!

Could it be we have been so pampered and coddled that we actually resent hard work? Being human, we enjoy getting by unpleasant assignments with as little effort as possible. But is this attitude realistic? Wouldn't it be better to learn some principles of mature living before we are found with a teaching situation or a family to raise?

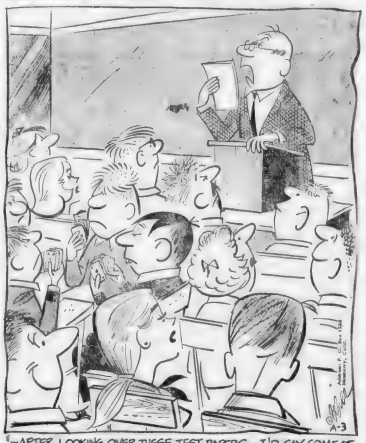
Our attitude is not entirely our own doing, for the professor who allows us to bully or flatter him into postponing tests, eliminating research papers and parallel assignments, or dismissing classroom lectures is aiding our easy attitude. How can we recover from our illness if the doctors allow us to prescribe our medicine? How can we thank them for being so nice, 'neat,' and easy when their mildness means we fail to recover? Presumably the faculty has principles and ideals and should be firm enough not to be swayed by our whining and wailing. Being humans, they will at times give in to more temporal demands. It is each student who must realize that she needs a very real education, and who must make it clear that she, and many more like her, will not respect the professor who compromises his principles to popular demand.

The desire for a change must come from the student body. Difficult as it may be, we need to alter our attitude, making it clear to the faculty that we will appreciate the difficult lessons they must teach us; that we want to grow in maturity; that we want them to make us prove we are capable of mastering difficult or uninteresting work; that we would rather fail a course now than face a possible breakdown because of an avoidable, unnecessary future failure. Longwood would be a vastly different place and we would be better and happier adults, if and when we, as college students, could bring ourselves to expect hard work and to consider it "ivy."

—Judy Detrich

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920



Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 1606

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member: Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class), Columbia Scholarship Press Association (Rating first place).

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 8, 1934. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

LITTLE MAN on CAMPUS by BIBLER

"—AFTER LOOKING OVER THESE TEST PAPERS—I'D SAY SOME OF YOU COULD WELL AFFORD TO PAY MORE ATTENTION IN CLASS."

Post - Season Inventory Uncovers Unusual Gifts

By Mary Beth Olson

Once every 365 days Christmas rolls around! At Longwood the season inspires students to withdraw their lifes' savings from the bank and wander downtown in search of the "perfect" gift for a roommate, suite-mate, teacher, or closest friend. Some particularly lazy students find it less wearing to simply send a suite-mate down into Farmville's thriving business district to buy a box of pizza mix to go with the pizza pan that she will receive as a gift. Emmy Lou Critcher knows about that!

While shopping with my roommate who was searching for a gag-gift costing no more than twenty - five cents, she asked me for suggestions.

"Why, Margaret, there's some bubble stuff with its own blower. Anyone would love that — they could sit and blow bubbles in their spare time." And I certainly am going to enjoy blowing bubbles if I ever find a spare moment.

A certain very athletic physical education major received a yoyo to improve her muscular coordination. Ann Agee's wearing a wooden rat pinned to her coat collar . . . no doubt a result of someone's idea of the "perfect" gift!

Longwood's own Santa Claus, Mr. Helms, was given a genuine nose warmer to keep his nose warm during those Christmas parades through Farmville.

Carolyn Elliot received a useful gift — a little lipstick mirrow with a light. Now when entering her darkened dormitory room she need only flip on the light on her mirror and proceed to apply her lipstick.

A friend of mine who was stumped in her gift-buying gave me a penny with instructions, "Don't spend it all in one place!" Now I'm stumped.

Brenda Mitchell found that even her favorite boy sometimes slips up — a blouse too small and a skirt too large. Carol Cutler (if she were to use Metrecal religiously for the next thirty years) might be able to ride in style in her plastic jeep or miniature Austin Healy.

Ask Mary Field about her "conscience." It's a small black ball of fuzz with two beady eyes peering out. A perfect gift??

Moldy chocolate bars, contem-

(Continued on page 3)

—Staff Photo

COMPARING UNUSUAL CHRISTMAS PRESENTS. M. Field holds her "conscience," C. Elliott uses her unique mirror, and Mr. James Helms tries on his electric nose-warmer.

Dusty Attic Discloses Scrapbook Treasures

By Lillie Rogers

A telephone call always holds a certain element of surprise. This was especially true last November for Mr. Foster B. Gresham, assistant professor of English at Longwood College. The call he received resulted in Beorc Eh Thorn, local honorary English society, having an almost complete record of its 25-year history.

The most recent scrapbook of the society goes back only as far as 1955 when the portrait of Mr. James Grainger, former chairman of the department of English at Longwood, was presented to the college.

One of the two older scrapbooks that date from the establishing of Beorc Eh Thorn in 1935 by Mr. Grainger was thought to have been permanently lost. In November, however, Mrs. Iris Fergusson, a former member of Beorc Eh Thorn, telephoned Mr. Gresham that the scrapbook was, to her surprise, among stored articles in her home. Mr Gresham recovered the book and returned it to the society.

The three scrapbooks, one an impressive hand-made wood and leather affair, the other two more conventional, contain not only a record of the society's growth, but a fascinating anecdotal account of famous people as well.

Interesting Replies

In 1936, for example, author John Erskine, in accepting a speaking engagement, wrote modestly, "It will be a lecture rather than a recital . . . but if you have a piano on the stage I'll be glad to play one or two simple things if it gives the audience any pleasure." He closed on a practical note — "Anything you want to do after the lecture will be quite agreeable provided you get me to the train on time."

Also from 1936 is a letter from One West Main St., Richmond. In refusing an invitation the reclusive author said ill health obliged her to "save myself for my work." The letter was signed "Ellen Glasgow."

Noted Poets

Prize winning poet Robert Frost read to the society in 1940 and again in 1946. He was described as "not a large man but the biggest thing in the room."

In 1941 another famous poet, the laconic Carl Sandburg, lectured and read to Beorc Eh Thorn. He was apparently somewhat acclimated to audience questions. "How did I happen to write 'Fog'?" he asked rhetorically. "If you ask me that, I'm quitting." He closed with an equally penetrating remark. "We better start for Lynchburg."

The second World War apparently did not halt the stream of distinguished visitors although it may have altered it somewhat. Charles Morgan, noted English novelist, examined the war situation in 1941 less than a week before the United States entered the war. In speaking of England's need for allies he said, "It's up to America now."

Probably of greater interest today was the visit of Vladimir Nabokov, author of the controversial Lolita. His appearance was perhaps overshadowed by the bombing of Pearl Harbor that same day.

Colonnade Beginnings

The scrapbooks also contain the early history of the Colonnade, for the magazine was started by Beorc Eh Thorn. One of the earlier stories is headed by this epigraph—"Martha loved Alex, but her first duty was to Drew's children. Should duty triumph over love?" To the curious, the story, which is fortunately not quite as melodramatic, does end happily, of course.

The older scrapbooks cover Beorc Eh Thorn history from 1935 to 1949. The third scrapbook, although begun as recently as 1955, is not without interest, however. Among the latest entries is a lively letter from Katharine Anne Porter. And who knows what its now blank papers will contain?

'The Night Before'

By Joann Kleinecke

'Twas the night before exams
And all through the dorm
The particular woe of each miss took its form.
Books, pencils, and papers were stacked everywhere
In hopes that some studious miss would be there
To apply her young mind to the task of the day—
To learn the most with least effort, leaving time for play!
So, Roomie and I in mud packs and hair nets
Had just settled down for a long evening's sweat.
When in the next room there arose such a clatter, '
We felt most compelled to see what was the matter!
When what to our four peering eyes did appear
But a party-type party, which we hold most dear!
We must have deliberated for fully a minute
Before deciding to include ourselves in it!
Now, I ask you quite honestly, what else could we do?
The rest needed the moral support of we two.
After playing some bridge we all pooled our wealth
To buy some more food—(we must keep our health!)
After three hours of playtime or more
A sincere "Studying" sign found its way to our door.
We spoke a few words and then went to work
We will make "A's", we must not shirk;
But lying down to catch "just five minutes rest" on her bed,
Roomie conked out and slept as if she were dead.
So, what could I do, but just turn out the light?
Happy failure to all, and to all a goodnight!

Letter Queries Library Move

Dear Editor:

We would like to know why the library material is being moved during the week of exams! We have been aware for some time that the moving was going to take place in January, but never considered the possibility of its taking place during exams.

We realize the time it takes for them to prepare to move and that the schedule may have been upset, but we are still concerned about what is happening. Many students who will desire access to certain books during exam week are worried that they may not be able to find them. They have considered checking them out, but then other students in the class would not be able to use them. We have not been able to decide upon a solution to this problem.

We have also been told that the library may be closed during exam week. We hope that this is just a false rumor that we have heard and is not an actual fact. We checked into the situation, but were unable to find out exactly what will be done. In any case, we think the student body should be informed.

Since the Rotunda has proven itself to be a reliable means of informing the students of campus situations, we are requesting the correct information concerning the library from you.

Thank you,
Concerned Students

Editor's Note: A news article concerning the library situation may be found on page 1. Happily, Concerned Students, you have been the victim of false rumor.

Dear Editor:

As the time for the election of new heads of the publications here on campus approaches, I would like to call to mind the excellent work of the Rotunda

(Continued on page 4)

News Summary

Dooley Faces Surgery, Algerians Attack Polls

Physician Thomas Dooley recently returned to a Manhattan hospital with an apparent recurrence in his spine of the cancer that attacked him in his chest in 1959. In Hong Kong Tom Dooley said: "I know that my kind of cancer as yet has no cure."

Algerian Nationlist Rebels attacked a polling Saturday at the edge of the Sahara Desert. Ten Moslems were killed and about the same number wounded. This was the first major report of violence in the voting on President Charles DeGaulle's offer of self-determination to Algeria.

A United Nations Report stated Saturday that order has been restored along the Congo frontier between Kivu Province and the Belgian administered U.N. trust territory of Ruanda-Urandi. A Belgian official said that the border situation had been quiet since January 5.

Cuba has clamped down new restrictions on persons trying to leave the country. At the same time, the Castro regime made a bid for reconciliation with the incoming Kennedy administration.

A three-judge federal court ended the hearing on the constitutionality of Virginia's anti-trespass laws passed by the 1960 General Assembly. Before the session closed in Richmond Friday, the court heard arguments for and against the laws aimed at curbing sit-in demonstrations; there was no indication when a decision would be reached.

The third Annual Pilgrimage was held in Farmville January 2, bringing approximately 500 to 600 citizens together for the five hour session. Following a private business meeting in the morning session, the afternoon session consisted of a succession of speakers, including Dr. Ralph Abernathy, president of the Montgomery, Ala., Improvement Association. The pilgrimage for free public school education was sponsored by the Virginia Christian Leadership Conference and the Prince Edward Christian Association.

French Convention Attracts Draper

Miss Helen Draper, chairman of the department of modern languages, attended the thirty-third annual meeting of the American Association of Teachers of French at the Sheraton Hotel, in Philadelphia, December 29 and 30, 1960. She also attended the "Open Public Meeting on Modern Foreign Languages and Their Teaching" held Friday, December 30, at the Hotel Sylvania, in Philadelphia, under the auspices of the National Federation of Modern Language Teachers Association.

At these meetings Miss Draper attended lectures and panel discussions about teaching French in elementary or secondary schools, or colleges. The use of electronic equipment in laboratory work was also discussed. Miss Draper also attended previews of movies to be used in teaching French grammar and culture.

Wolfpack Loses Conference Tilt, Tigers Defeated

By Sue Beardmore

After patiently playing a slow first half, deliberately staged by VMI, West Virginia's Mountaineers took action and speeded up the game to win by an 87-72 margin in Southern Conference play Thursday night on their home court. Sophomore star Red Thorn of WVU led the scoring with a total of 24 points. Overall, VMI has racked up seven losses and only two wins.

Duke and North Carolina met Saturday night for an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game. The Wolfpack surged ahead at halftime, but Duke came back by scoring eight consecutive goals and maintained the lead throughout the remainder of the game. Blue Devil captain Howard Hurt and sophomore Art Heyman together totaled 47 points for Duke. The final score was Duke 81, North Carolina 67. This is the eleventh vicitory for Duke in tweldy starts.

The Hampden - Sydney Tigers now stand 2-9 in Mason-Dixon Conference basketball after being defeated 95-83 by Mt. St. Mary's Friday night. The Mounts, never trailing, took advantage of sloppy ball - handling by the Tigers and gained a 20-point lead midway through the second half. Phil Lotz, freshman, led the Tigers as top scorer with 19 points.

American University's Eagles waited almost too long before coming to life to beat Navy 74-68 at Annapolis last Saturday. Ably aided by his teammates, Bill Holwee scored 20 points for the Eagles.

VARSITY BASKETBALL MEMBERS Betty Lou Dunn and Sandra Phlegar tie the ball, as Peggy Waldo and Faye Ripley follow action. —Staff Photo

Varsity Hoopsters Anticipate Success

By Lois Peters

Once again Lonewood should come up with that winning combination as only two varsity basketball players were lost through graduation. Those selected to represent the blue and white on the basketball court this year are seniors Barbara Brantley, Mable Healy, and Carolyn Thorpe; juniors Sarah Buston, Trina Childress, Virginia Parker, Faye Ripley, and Linda Sudduth; sophomores Betty Lou Dunn, Lindy Hatch, Carole Nye, and Sandy Phlegar; freshmen Shirley Carr, Norma Endy, Doris Harrison, Sharon Sarver, Carolyn Setzer, Ann Snead, Jean Still, and Peggy Waldo.

As the familiar sound of the bouncing basketball can be heard in the gym, each player is putting forth her best efforts to mold a winning team for the upcoming games. The team can only be as good, though, as its coaches and managers. Longwood's basketball team has two very able varsity managers this year in Linda Sudduth and Sarah Buston.

Linda, from Culpeper, is a junior library science major and has been on the varsity basketball team for two years. Last year she was co-manager of class basketball. Linda is also a member of the A.A. Council, the Rotunda staff, and received a bid this fall from Boerc Eh Thorn.

Sarah, from Tazewell, is a junior physical education major and has also been on the varsity basketball squad for two years. Sarah, along with Linda, was co-manager of class basketball last year. She is also a member of the H2O Club, the A.A. Council, and the varsity hockey squad.

These two girls certainly have the qualifications to do a fine job. It is their responsibility to help decide the dates of the games and to obtain officials for all games.

The managers are also responsible for taking charge of, and care of, all equipment used. It is also their job to record attendance at practices and to make a report to the A.A. Council at the end of the season.

Linda and Sarah both commented on the excellent team we have this year and expressed their hope that everyone would come out to support the team at future games.

The varsity schedule is as follows: February 8, Hollins, here, 3:30 p.m.; February 10, Roanoke, there, 7 p.m.; February 18, Madison, there, 3 p.m.; February 25, Mary Washington, there, 2 p.m.; and March 4, Westhampton, here, 2 p.m.

Teacher Thwarted By 'Eager' Students

By Betty Jane Stegall

Have you ever tried to teach a group of eighth graders the fundamentals of tennis, hockey, or even basketball? Some of our student teachers did and are doing just that thing right now. Let us picture a senior physical education major, Bobby Caples, in her role as teacher preparing her students for a new unit in basketball.

"Now, class, before we go into the gymnasium to engage in this new sport, let us discuss it a bit. Umm, Emma, would you please describe, as you see in your mind, the basketball . . . net."

"Well, eh . . . it ain't too big, and it ain't really too little either. Guess you'd say it was sorta middle size. In my mind I see it sorta as a bottomless bushel basket covered with cobwebs."

"Thank you, Emma. Um . . . perhaps you might be interested in previewing the list of rules I handed out for you to study. Lucille, tell me, please, how many players are on a team?"

Rules?

"Twenty-four counting all four benches."

"The number of players participating in the game, Lucille."

"Oh! Uh, twelve."

"One team, Lucille."

"Well, why'n you say so, Miss Caples. Six peoples."

"Six people, Lucille, not peoples."

"Well, that's what I . . ."

"Forget it, Lucille. Pearl, what is a goal?"

"Oh, yes, Miss Caples. A goal is something everyone who exists today should . . ."

"Uh. Excuse me, Susan, would you help Pearl out, please. She seems to have gotten on the wrong track."

"Yes, M'am . . ."

"No! No! Not out the door! The question! The answer! Oh, forget it. Let's go to the gym and try playing the sport."

"Tweat . . . Tweat! No, Gertrude, you're traveling with the ball and you can't do that."

"I can't. How can I get down to that basket then?"

"You must dribble, Gertrude, and bounce the ball up and down twice and run at the same time."

"Awful lotta trouble ain't it? Seems as if you oughta push . . ."

"Never mind what's easier, just do it!"

Forward Charger

"Tweat . . . Tweat! You're charging an awful lot, Rebecca. Watch out now."

"Why, Miss Caples, I ain't never charged a thing in my. . ."

"Read your rules, Rebecca. You just can't run over somebody. Why don't you change with Gloria and be a forward?"

"Why, Miss Caples, My Ma'd beat me all the way home if I was the least bit forward."

"No, Gloria. Play on the other end of the gym and try to shoot for the basket. With the basketball."

"Tweat . . . Tweat . . . Foul, Emma, foul."

"Well, Miss Caples, I wish you wouldn't call me such names in front of everybody even if you do think it. I ain't never! I'm just gonna bring my ma up here tomorrow . . ."

"No, Emma, I didn't . . ."

"Who wouldn't get foul running like a horse all . . ."

"No, No, Emma, I meant that . . ."

"I know . . ."

"All right! So you know. Now be quiet and know to yourself. Better still, everyone may be excused now to go take her shower."

Yes, this is the life of a student teacher. Tomorrow promises to be even more exciting. Want to join us?

Unique Articles

(Continued from page 2)

porary cards, nebbishes, and many other equally necessary evils turned up in students' lockups. Be of good cheer, fellow students . . . Only 348 days to go till next Christmas!

Examination Schedule

First Semester

1960-61 Session

Examination Day and Date	Morning 8:05-11:05	1:05-4:05 Afternoon
Saturday afternoon and Sunday—Reading Period
Monday, January 23	9:05 TTS Classes TT Classes	11:05 TTh Classes 2:05 TTh Classes
Tuesday, January 24	1:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	9:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Wednesday, January 25	11:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	8:05 MFW Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes TWThFS Classes
Thursday, January 26	3:05, 4:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes TTh Classes MW Classes WF Classes	8:05 TThS Classes TTh Classes
Friday, January 27	10:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes	10:05 TTS Classes TT Classes
Saturday, January 28	2:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes

Tuesday, January 24, 7:00-10:00 p.m.—CONFLICTS, Room 21

Any student with an examination conflict should notify the professor responsible for administering one of the examinations in conflict. The professor will deliver the examination for the student to the Dean of the College before the Tuesday evening examination conflict period.

Any deviation from the above schedule must be approved in advance by the Associate Dean of the College.

Examinations for evening classes will be scheduled on the evening of the regular class meeting during the examination period.

"Your grandchildren will grow up under Communism!"

—says NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

Will the Soviet threat come true? Will your grandchildren live under Communism? Forget God? Salute the Soviet flag?

"Never!" you say. But are you sure? How can you oppose Communism? One sure way. Help Radio Free Europe! What does it do? Is broadcasts the news of freedom to 79 million people behind the Iron Curtain. It helps keep them from turning to Communism. It poses a major obstacle to the Russians starting a war. But Radio Free Europe depends on individual Americans for its existence. Will you help? Give a dollar? Give 5 dollars . . . or more?

Give Now To . . .

RADIO FREE EUROPE

The American People's Counter Voice to Communism

Mail your contribution to Radio Free Europe Fund, P. O. Box 1963, Mt. Vernon 10, New York

Gosh frosh!

how'd you catch on so quick? Catch on to the fact that Coca-Cola is the hep drink on campus, I mean. Always drink it, you say? Well—how about dropping over to the dorm and downing a sparkling Coke or two with the boys. The man who's for Coke is the man for us.

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Job Directory Available To Longwood Students

The new enlarged 1961 annual Summer Placement Directory, the largest and most comprehensive listing of actual summer jobs, projects, awards, and fellowships is now available. This is the same directory used each year by over 1500 college placement offices and copies can be examined at most University Placement or Deans' offices, college and public libraries, and school superintendents' offices.

This unique directory is particularly prepared for college students, teachers, professors, and librarians. Jobs for which high school seniors may also apply are indicated.

Unusual Opportunities

Some of the over 14,000 unusual summer earning opportunities listed throughout the United States and many foreign countries include citizenship projects to study the U. S. government, scholarships for studying archaeology in Greece, baking bread and pastries in Alaska, theatrical apprenticeships in summer play houses, conducting tours to Europe, summer newspaper fellowships for journalism teachers, internships in social agencies and hospitals, on-the-spot studies of business firms by college professors, secretarial work at the United Nations, church caravans, trainees on a cruise ship, and a concert tour to Europe for singers with the All-American Chorus.

Study projects, camp positions, jobs and apprenticeships with summer play houses and music theatres, and work at inns, resorts, restaurants, hotels, motels, lodges, and dude ranches are some of the other varied offers made to students and educators. Many branches of the U. S. Government in Washington and throughout the country have also requested their openings to be included.

Information Given

All openings have been submitted directly to the Institute and include job descriptions, dates of employment, necessary qualifications, number of openings, salaries, and the names and the addresses of the employers. Helpful information is given on how to apply for positions and each directory contains a sample resume to assist applicants.

The Summer Placement Directory can be obtained for $3.00 directly from The Advancement and Placement Institute, Box 99P, Station G, Brooklyn 22, N. Y.

Editor's Letters

(Continued from page 2)

staff under the editorship of Sandra Weaver.

First should be mentioned the deletion of the "Social Notes" column, interesting doubtless to some, but none-the-less repetitious and not of high caliber journalistically. In addition, the wider use of pictures, particularly those random shots of familiar campus scenes, has contributed definitely to "livening up" the make-up of the paper. Another innovation was that of the April Fool's Day issue last spring, a surprise which, if somewhat daring, added an appreciated spark of the unexpected.

The definite stands taken in editorials have also been commendable and timely, particularly the one challenging the reaction of the student body to the Martha Graham dancers. An equally appropriate editorial was the one questioning the ruling on the time a student may leave class if the professor is late. Its success was noted by a reply in the following issue.

Finally, I would like to thank the editor for the cooperation she has given in working with the various campus organizations for publicity purposes. For this, as well as for the improvements mentioned above, she and her staff deserve a vote of congratulations for a job well done.

A Senior

Dear Editor:

For some time we have been concerned about students using the lawn in front of Wheeler dormitory as a short cut to the main entrance; therefore, we were very pleased to see the men putting wire across the hill and at the bottom to prevent students from walking on the grass.

If each student would make it her own personal responsibility not to take some of these short-cuts, then the school would not have to take maintenance steps in preventing this from occurring.

Thank you,
Juniors

February Degrees Conferred Upon 26 As Semester Ends

Twenty-six seniors will have met their graduation requirements at the end of this semester. Eleven of these graduates will leave to fill teaching positions.

Those who have obtained teaching positions for the fiscal year 1961 are Patricia Anne Barrow, Sandra Booth, Hampton; Judith Beckner, Radford; Mary Booth, Nancy Olinger Caudill, Roanoke; Norma Anne Routt, Lindy Lee Landsdown, Roanoke County, and Nannie Lou Caldwell, Chesterfield County.

These students also obtained teaching positions: Linda G. Payne, Nancy Lee Cole, Danville; and Robert B. Thomas who will being teaching in Amelia second semester.

Other February graduates from Longwood are Sally Thomas Wallace, Katherine Wallace, Nancy Moran Swann, Martha Gray Shirley, Nancy Gordon Martin, Kay Pierce Long, Roberta Koons, Evelyn King, Julie Hollyfield and Elsie Jane Freeman.

Also, Elizabeth Elliott, Laura Jane Cliborne and Patricia Hampton Bolt.

—Staff Photo

STRIKING A "COMIC" POSE, a Longwood student contemplates coming exams in a most familiar manner.

Placement Institute Publishes Journal

The Advancement and Placement Institute urges all American education who are able to do so to take advantage of the many opportunities to teach in foreign lands both for the contributions they can make in interpreting our country abroad and for the enriching experiences in international understanding they can bring to our students in this country upon their return to the schools of the United States.

Education Recruited

The Institute, a non-commercial professional information and advisory service for the field of education, has been publicizing foreign education positions in its monthly non-fee placement journal, Crusade for Education, since 1952. Last year the Institute assisted administrators in hundreds of overseas schools in more than 65 countries in Europe, the Near and Far East, Africa and South America, to recruit American educators for positions at all levels from kindergarten through university.

While every issue of Crusade includes many overseas opportunities, the annual International Issue is especially devoted to foreign positions in order to give educators ample time to complete application procedure for September 1961 positions. This International Issue includes specific data, including qualifications and salaries, about actual teaching, administrative, librarian, research, and science positions in many schools in many lands.

Positions Vary

Many of these positions pay travel expenses and, in most cases, the language of instruction is English. This issue features an article on teaching and living in England and an article describing the experiences of a teacher who has lived and taught in the Government Dependent Schools in Okinawa, the Philippines, Cuba and the Azores.

The International Issue may be examined at most Deans' Offices, University and Public Libraries, and School Superintendents' Offices or may be ordered from The Advancement and Placement Institute, Box 99-M, Station G, Brooklyn 22, N. Y., for $2.00.

Adjustment Problem To Confront Future

By Neal Banks

In the coming semester, Longwood will welcome a Japanese student for the first time in the school's history. As an institution of learning we should be proud and gratified; as students, interested and receptive; and as individuals, gracious and outgoing.

It is difficult to fully comprehend the change that will take place in this girl's life. The adjustment is much greater for the oriental student than for the western European. They are often completely baffled and confused by American life and custom, and it is, to a great extent, our responsibility to make this adjustment as easy as possible for them.

The far Easterner will be amazed at the freedom American young people have socially. The casualness and freedom to which we are so accustomed is a far cry from the strict and formal existence practiced in Japan. We must realize this, and make extra effort to introduce the new student to her surroundings.

Friendship Necessary

This friendship need is the basis of happy adjustment for the foreigner. If we will take time to understand her awe and indoctrinate her to our customs, we shall soon find her to be much like ourselves. Her diffident attitude will disappear as she begins to be in time with American ideas and practices.

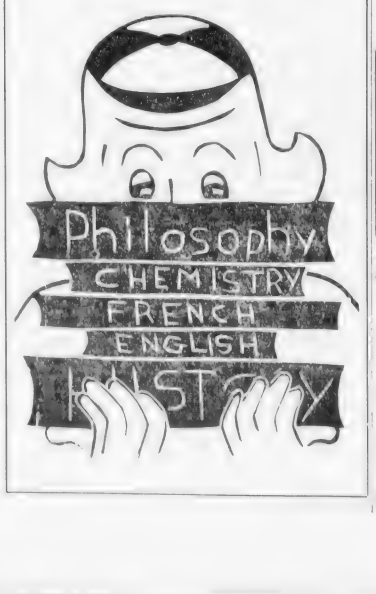
There is bound to be loneliness, frustration, and unhappiness for the new student during the early days of her stay. It is doubtful that she will make the initial effort toward an introduction, but rather will shy away indefinitely. Bishwa D. Chatterjee, himself a one time exchange student, says, "An Asian student may fail to take the hint when learning someone's name, and may merely shake the hand proffered, because nobody has told him that he also is expected to introduce himself."

Habit Hurdles

This is what we must realize: that it is not lack of willingness that makes the orientals appear disinterested, but rather lack of information. She will not understand American jokes, her food habits will be different, and she will not speak the English language well. These are paramount hurdles, and may at first appear insurmountable without guidance.

In a sense, we are on trial during the following semester. It will be interesting to see how we, too, adjust to this new situation. It is also a completely new experience for us: let us hope that we pass the test.

Chorus To Show Various Moods



(Continued from page 1)

Is Like a Red Red Rose" and "Scots Wha Hae."

Among the larger dance sequences are "The Dashing White Sergeant," "Provost Skene's House," "The Duke of Perth" and the vigorous "Ubhi-Abhi" of the Highlands. All performers will wear the colorful dress and costumes of their land-vivid tartans by the women and the Royal Stewart kilts by the men.

Choral singing will range through many moods, from gusty humor to deep pathos, culminating in a series of songs and ballads known to everyone and celebrating the Scotman's deep attachment to his land and its traditions.

Tickets for the performances may be obtained at the box office the night of the performance.

See Our Scarab Watchbands and Bracelets

MARTIN, THE JEWELER

EVERYTHING ON SALE!
Skirts as low as $2.99
Sweaters as low as $2.99
Blouses reduced from $6.99 to $1.99 to $3.99
Dresses and Coats Also Drastically Reduced
DOROTHY MAY

- Mad Memo Pads
- Loco - Labels
- Batty - Banners

Lanscott's Gift Shop

The Washington School for Secretaries

Business training that is worthy of a college education.
Employment Placement and Career Guidance.
Mid-year, Summer, Fall enrollment.

District 7-2480

NATIONAL PRESS BUILDING, 14th & F STS., N.W., WASHINGTON 4, D.C.

EUROPE 1961
STUDY AND TRAVEL

Classes in Leading European Universities Combined with Instruction while Traveling to meet American Requirements for Academic Credit.

Modern Languages Social Science
Civilization & Culture

UNIVERSITY OF PARIS (SORBONNE) French Language, Literature, History, Art combined with five country European Tour.

June 9 — August 31 (84 Days) All Inclusive Price—$1296.00

UNIVERSITY OF MADRID Spanish Language, History, Geography, Literature, Philosophy, Music and tour of England—Spain—France.

June 14—August 31 (78 Days) All Inclusive Price—$1170.00

UNIVERSITY OF HEIDELBERG German Language, History and Civilization—Plus 7 Country Tour of Europe.

June 30—Sept. 4 (66 Days) All Inclusive Price—$1255.00

UNIVERSITY OF FLORENCE Art, Music, Culture, Italian Language, History and Literature plus 5 Country Tour of Europe.

June 10—Sept. 1 (84 Days) All Inclusive Price—$1689.00

RUSSIAN STUDY TOUR Russian Language and Civilization, four weeks preliminary study in London and four weeks in Russia.

June 9—August 31 (84 Days) All Inclusive Price—$1689.00

INCLUDING: Trans-Atlantic Transportation by sea. All hotels, breakfast and dinner while traveling in Europe, full board in Russia, full board while attending the courses, tuition, all sightseeing and transfers.

Study Arrangements Directed by the International Education Advisory Committee in Accordance With American Accreditation Requirements.

or

OFF THE BEATEN TRACK PATHFINDER TOURS

AROUND THE WORLD aboard the luxurious, air conditioned 28,000 ton "HIMALAYA" of the Pacific & Orient Line. Shore excursions in the world's most exciting cities—Honolulu—Tokyo—Hong Kong—Singapore—Bombay—Naples. With four days in London and return to New York by jet flight. All meals, transportation, sightseeing and hotels. All For Only $199.00. July 11—Sept. 4.

BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN— Aboard the "ARKADIA" of the Greek Line to England—France—through Scandinavia to Russia — Rumania—Bulgaria—Yugoslavia—Hungary—Czechoslovakia—Poland and sail home from Germany. June 9—Aug. 1. All Hotels, transportation, all meals in Russia, two meals in Europe, all sightseeing and transfers. Total Price—$1472.00.

EUROPE AT LEISURE — London—Stay in a Castle on the Rhine—Relax in Lucerne and charming Kitzbuehel—sunbathe in Iesolo on the Italian Lido—Rome & Paris. Trans-Atlantic aboard the "ARKADIA," all hotels, two meals per day in Europe, all meals on board ship, all transportation, sightseeing and transfers. July 21 — Sept. 13. All Inclusive Price—$1499.00.

For Further Information Write:
Lanseair Travel Service, Inc.
1026 17th St., N.W. Washington, D.C.

Library
Longwood College
Farmville, Virginia

The Rotunda

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., February 8, 1961 | No. 11

Shaw, Wellard Plays Featured In Spring

"The Man Who Died Laughing" by James H. Wellard, associate professor of English at Longwood College; and "Arms and the Man" by George Bernard Shaw will be presented by the Longwood Players in Jarman Hall March 22-25. The first try-outs for the plays were held earlier this week. Final try-outs are being held tonight at 7:30 in Jarman Hall.

Wellard's first full - length play, "The Man Who Died Laughing," is being produced for the first time. It is a three-act mystery comedy set in modern England. Previously, the Players produced "The Electronic Triangle," a one - act play by Wellard.

Dr. Wellard has written seventeen books. His latest novel, "The Affair in Arcady," is being made into a movie by Paramount Studios. The film production of Wellard's "Memoirs of a Cross - Eyed Man" will star Peter Sellers, England's top comedian.

At the end of this semester Dr. Wellard is leaving longwood to begin script writing in London, England.

"Arms and the Man," written in 1894, was George Bernard Shaw's fourth play. Set in Bulgaria, it concerns a soldier who perfers candy to battle. As do most of Shaw's plays, "Arms and the Man" ridicules pretentiousness and calls for intellectual courage.

Summer Institute Featured In June

The Longwood College summer school session begins on June 19, and ends on August 12.

Courses have been planned for both graduate and undergraduates. These courses will be taught in 3, 4, 5, 6, and 8 week periods. The three and six week sessions will concern graduates and advanced undergraduates. The eight week session concerns undergraduate courses.

This summer session will include two Summer Institutes, one for secondary teachers of math, and one for secondary teachers of language arts. These five week institutes begin on June 25 and end on July 29. Classes for these institutes will be held six days a week.

Summer school catalogues may be secured from the Public Relations Office.

Bookstore Uses Self-Help Basis For First Time

In its first two days of operation Longwood's new self-fervice bookstore sold books to over two-thirds of the student body.

The self-service method has been used before at other colleges but not at Longwood until now. Using this system, no more than ten students at a time are allowed into the actual book section of the store. One cash register is sufficient to ring up the sales.

Tentative plans for an even more efficient bookstore are being made by Mr. Jake Wamsley, business manager, and Mr. John E. Allen, public relations and development director, in cooperation with Bookstore Manager Mrs. Margaret Cox.

In September, the walls of the bookstore will be lined with new, deeper bookshelves. There will only be one shelf in the middle of the room. This plan will avoid any crowding which might otherwise occur.

Also in September the books will be arranged alphabetically according to subject.

Scholarships

Students wishing to receive State Teachers' Scholarships for the summer or winter session are requested by Mrs. Watkins to apply as soon as possible.

Applications from Longwood students will be sent in by the executive secretary immediately for early consideration.

Application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Watkins.

Job Interviews Offer Positions, Employ Seniors

The schedule of the job interviewers for the week of February 6 through February 15 has been announce.

Interviewers

Miss Winnie Sutherland, assistant director of personnel, Fairfax County Schools, will interview on Monday and Tuesday, February 6 and 7. Mr. Walter Brewster, director of personnel at the Norfork City Schools, will be here on Monday, February 6.

On Wednesday, February 8, Mr. Cashell Donahoe, assistant superintendent of the Henrico County Schools, will be on campus; also on February 8, Mr. H. C. Paxson, assistant superintendent of the Norfolk county schools, will interview.

Late Interviews

On Thursday, February 9, Mr. Stuart Beville, superintendent of Prince William County Schools, as well as Miss Louise Luxford, director of personnel of the Princess Anne County Schools, will interview; on Monday, February 13, Mr. S. C. Morgan, superintendent of the York County Schools will be here and on the 15, Miss Dorothy Gibboney, director of personnel at Roanoke City Schools, will be here to interview interested seniors.

Mr. Donahoe is planning a two-day visit to the college, interviewing on February 8 and once again later in February.

Bluford To Conduct Religious Emphasis

DR. ROBERT BLUFORD, JR. is the guest of Longwood College for Religious Emphasis Week.

Night Services, Individual Talks In Week's Plans

By Mary Byrd Micou

Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored annually by the Longwood YWCA, will begin on February 13. Dr. Robert Bluford, Jr., will be the guest of the college during this week of services for religious re-evaluation by the college students.

Dr. Bluford as Director of Campus Christian Life for the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education is coordinator of the Presbyterian program for students at more than 200 colleges and universities in the South and supervises the work of the Presbyterian Faculty Christian Fellowship, an organization of over 6,000 Presbyterian university and college professors.

A native of Richmond, Dr. Bluford graduated from Hampden-Sydney College and from Union Theological Seminary in Richmond. He has been minister to students at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and has served as pastor in Raleigh, North Carolina, and in Gaffney, South Carolina.

While he was attending Hampden-Sydney, Dr. Bluford was the first honor graduate of his class, president of the student body, president of Omicron Delta Kappa; and he received the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallion for service to the college. During World War II he was a flying squadron leader in the European theatre. Dr. and Mrs. Bluford and their three children now live in Richmond.

The theme for this week of rededication and learning will be "Keep Looking Up."

Religious Emphasis Week begins with an evening service in Jarman Hall at 6:45. At 10 p.m. on Monday a discussion group will be held in the Y Lounge. The series of 6:45 evening services in Jarman Hall will continue through Thursday. The 10 p.m. discussion groups in the Y Lounge will also occur daily through Thursday.

In addition to the evening services and discussion groups, the student body will have other op-

(Continued on page 3)

Universities Abroad Offer Foreign Study

Four British and an Austrian summer school are offering special six-week courses to American undergraduate and graduate students in July and August, 1961, it was announced by the Institute of International Education.

Under the British University Summer Schools program students can apply for study at one of four schools, each concentrating on a particular subject and period. At Stratford-upon-Avon the subject will be Elizabethan drama; at the University of London the course will be the study of English literature, art and music of the 17th and 18th centuries, using materials preserved in London's buildings, galleries and records; at Oxford the subject will be English history, literature and the arts from 1870 to the present. The theme of the Edinburgh School will be the political and economic history, philosophy and literature of Britain from 1559 to 1789. Although the courses are designed for graduate students, undergraduates in their last two years at a university will be considered.

The inclusive charge for board, residence and tuition for six weeks at each of the four British summer schools is approximately $254. A limited number of full and half scholarships are available to undergraduates and graduates in this program.

The University of Vienna, offering summer courses at its St. Wolfgang Campus near Slazburg, combines study with outdoor life at a mountain lake. Its aim is to enable English-speaking students to become acquainted with Austrian educational and social values. Courses being offered include German language, liberal arts, law and political science, and physical education. General eligibility for either a three or six-week program is determined by at least two years of college study, but applicants for certain courses must meet other specific prerequisites.

The fee for the full six-week program, including tuition, maintenance, tours and excursions, and attendance at the Salzburg Festival is $250, with an optional four-day trip to Vienna costing $30. A few scholarships covering partial or full fees are available.

Applications for both the British and Austrian programs may be obtained from the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th St., New York 21, New York, or from one of the Institute's regional offices. British summer school scholarship applications must be received before March 1, 1961, and admission applications before March 31. Scholarship applications for Austrian schools must be returned by March 1, and admission applications by May 1.

Library Calls In Overdue Books

Due to the inconvenience and confusion during the period of moving, the library has announced that no fine will be charged for any book due on or before February 6. Books due after February 6 will accumulate fines as usual. At the same time, the library staff urges all students to return such books without waiting for overdue notices.

The temporary library is now established in the training school building and is fully equipped to render library service until the remodeled library is ready for occupancy sometime next year. The library hours are the same: 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday and Saturday; 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., Monday-Friday; and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday.

The cooperation of the student body is needed so that overdue books may be returned to circulation.

Agee Oversees Longwood Paper As Trial Editor

Trial editor-in-chief of this week's Rotunda is Ann Agee of Farmville. Ann is now serving as assistant desk editor.

Working under Ann for this trial issue are Mary Byrd Micou, managing editor; Judy Detrich, news editor; Mary Beth Olson, feature editor; Lois Peters, sports editor; and Donna Frantzen, desk editor.

Completing the trial news staff are Donna Hemphill, assistant news editor; Pat Rea, assistant feature editor; Sue Beardmore, assistant sports editor; Mary Jo Bartley, assistant desk editor; Page Tolleson, make-up editor and Lewan Rippey, exchange editor.

This is the second trial issue of the period ending the newspaper's fiscal year. The purpose of the trial issues is to select the editors for the coming year. Next week's paper, the final trial issue, will be edited by Mary Byrd Micou.

'Parisian Square' Highlights Dance, Spectrum Of Purple Set For Decor

JUNIOR DANCE CHAIRMEN, A Wells and P. Skellie make plans for February dance. —Staff Photo

Leaders Chosen, Plans Underway For February 24

Chairmen of the Junior Dance this year are Anne Wells and Patsy Skellie. The semi-formal dance will take place on Saturday, February 25th in the gym, which will be decorated in a spectrum of purple around the theme "Parisian Square."

Anne, an elementary major from Waynesboro, is a member of the Longwood Players, Cotillion Club, Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority and is on the circulation staff of the Rotunda and Colonade. An elementary major, also, Patsy comes from Elkton and is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, the Longwood Players and the H2O Club.

Heading the various committees of the dance are Theme, Diana Snow; Music, Pattie Norman; Tickets, Gayle Jones; Advertisement, Emily Smith; Favors, Betsy Wilson; Decorations, Sandra Wise, Lynn Davenport, and Ginnia Chapman; Invitation, Virginia Kemp; and Technical and Lights, Mary Lou Wood and Page Tolleson.

Playing for the dance will be

Bell And Clock System

After six years of attempts on the part of the college, a legislative appropriation has been made for the installation of a bell and clock system throughout the school. By now, this may have become apparent to most students here.

One's first reaction to this might be one of horror, accompanied by thoughts of a rude awakening at 8 a.m., and every hour on the hour in the morning. This seems to eliminate any possibility of remaining asleep after 8 o'clock. (For those fortunate enough not to have early morning classes.)

Further investigation into the system reveals that it has many advantages, and that seeming disadvantages will actually not exist.

The bells and clocks are being installed so that a time system for classes and meals can be co-ordinated over all the campus. This means that all classes will begin and end simultaneously, that there will be sufficient time to get from class to class, and that the question of tardiness will be settled. Moreover, the bells can be regulated so that in the dorms the volume will be reduced to an inoffensive level, whereas in the classroom halls it will be reasonably loud.

Installation of the bells should be completed within six to eight weeks, resulting in a time system which is consistent and objectionable to no one.

—Ann Agee

Voting Interest Urged

In the last election held at Longwood, only a little over fifty per cent of the student body voted. Considering the fact that the outcome of the election determined who would have the responsibility of directing major-minor elections this is deplorable.

Major-minor elections concerns every student on this campus. The people who are elected to these offices will direct activities at Longwood; therefore, they are, either directly or indirectly, the concern of each student here.

It is, of course, impossible to have one hundred per cent participating in voting. Many freshmen did not vote in the fall election because they felt they did not know the candidates well enough to judge them. Many upperclassmen did not have time. The freshmen are now familiar with most of the upperclassmen, and it is hoped that some of the upperclassmen will find the few minutes that it will take to check off an election ballot in this election.

Since Monday night the various classes have held meetings in order to elect screening board representatives and to make nominations for the elections. Tonight, the final class meeting will take place for this purpose. So far the interest shown at these meetings has been good. Let us hope that this interest continues and grows throughout the important weeks to come, and does not follow the pattern of the last election.

Just Imagine If . . .

What would happen at Longwood if:
The student waitresses revolted and stopped serving us our food?
Dr. Moss went fishing and refused to help us with our schedules?
Charlie Hop stopped smiling?
The Physical Education Department stopped teaching health education?
Campus Fees stopped functioning?
The Rec ran out of pepsi syrup?
Circus came in May?
Manufacturers stopped making margerine?
Chi ran out of paint?
The head table ran out of announcements?
The cut system were abolished?
Cumpulsory lights-out were levied on upperclassmen?

Points To Ponder

Francis Bacon once said that "The wonder of a single snowflake outweighs the wisdom of a million meteorologists."

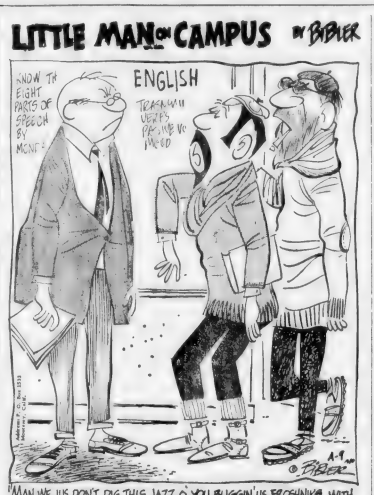
Balzac said that "Hope is a light diet, but very stimulating."

Bertrand Russell once said that "Of all forms of caution, caution in love is perhaps the most fatal to true happiness."

Maurice Maeterlinck in The Treasure of the Humble stated that "We do not know each other yet. We have not yet dared to be silent together."

—The Readers' Digest

The Rotunda



ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia. Box 168

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class), Columbia Scholarship Press Association (Rating first place)

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress on March 3, 1924. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

'61 Fashion Prophecy Includes 'Vital Look'

Basically, the 1961 fashion look can be described as the "Vital Look." This means an air of typically American vitality and excitement beneath a surface sophistication.

In hair fashions the hallmark of the Vital Look is hair artfully abbreviated in length, sleek and cheeky in form, and forward-looking in direction. Remember that hair will still be short this spring, but definitely not cropped . . . In other words, a little longer than in the past but still on the short side.

Color plays a dominant role in the Vital Look. At a recent press show in New York, all phases of the haircoloring spectrum were shown, from blonde to black velvet.

Line, always the most vital feature of any fashion, continues to be soft. This is one reason for the extensive use of fake fur, softly flattering on coats, suits, dresses, and shoes. Dresses are bias cut to reveal — but not to exploit — the figure.

Femininity Forcasted

Dungarees and chunky sweaters are still fine for sports events. But today's basic styles demand that girls be girls. The divided skirt, which gives freedom without a masculine look, is a case in point.

The upcoming styles on the horizon are lots of capes, including many on suit jackets . , slashed seams which are seductive in a ladylike way . . . colors in tones of purple and lavender and melting into pink . . . lots of knits with an emphasis on openwork . . . fake fur that will go into warm weather as a trim. And note that all of these items fit into the general trend to softness.

At Mr. Mort, they predict the culotte replacing Bermuda shorts. Also, jersey knickers, worn under tweed skirts that button down the front or are sidewrapped, overblouses and tunics sashed in leather, dimensional wools, lots of 'sweet' colors, such as yellow, pink, and raspberry, and black accessories used with navy are foreseen.

An emphasis on the costume look for week end travel such as dress and jacket, or dress and coat, are in view.

Colors Softened

At Ship 'n' Shore, color is predicted as the number one fashion item: the shock shades toned down. They feel, too, that the bateau neck, no-sleeve look will be important. Belts will be of special interest — wherever they land, be it waistline, above, or below.

The experts at Nantucket Naturals are predicting continued success for the bias-cut top, the easy sashbtie belt, and the low waistline, plus the colorless look.

In makeup, emphasis is still on the eyes. But now we are more subtle and more skillful. With the heavy look toned down for daytime, eyes are still emphatic. (The Italians taught us what we should have known: eyes are our most important feature and speak more eloquently — and with fewer mistakes — than mouths.) Lips are full and softly-colored, not sharp and brilliant. Lipstick shades tend to rosy or pure beige.

—Ruder and Finn Release

Bridge Players, 'Mad' Readers Fill Spare Time

By Mary Beth Olson

In a recently conducted survey — that sounds impressive doesn't it?—it was discovered that very few Longwood girls read anything outside of and beyond their assigned reading. Apparently class parallel fills what spare time students have. Parallel and bridge?

While canvassing the campus, one relies primarily on observation. These observations may have included you. See if you recognize yourself.

A girl was crouched on her bed with her head bent in a position assumed by many devout Moslems. Her nose was embedded in an inspiring piece of literature: "I Loved Him, but His Mother's Poodle Hated Me." Lying close at hand was a story entitled "I've Got to Tell Him But I Can't" or "The Drawbacks of Halitosis."

Seated at her desk one student was engrossed in a critical analysis of the latest issue of Mad. Reading Mad is the intellectual pastime of many students. Life is a popular periodical, too. There are many fascinating pictures, large print, and a seven dollar student rate. The complaint of one student was that whenever she planned to indulge in a few moment's relaxation with her latest Life magazine she found that her roommate had settled down to an exciting afternoon of reading . . . that same magazine.

The daily newspaper is a popular publication at Longwood College. It is not only interesting and informative, but useful as well. It can be placed under a rack of wet clothes, over the face to muffle snores, around a package, and inside the Athletic Association's storage closet. Newspapers do not go entirely unread, however. Some students are avid readers of Peanuts. Their whole lives are tied up in Linus's blanket and Beethoven's birthday.

Although most Longwood students are over seventeen years of age, Seventeen provides an excellent way to avoid studies.

(Continued on page 4)

Phi Mus From LSU View 'Northern' Life

By Donna Frantzen

Missie Powers and Barbara Walters, representatives of Phi Mu Sorority, transferred to Longwood this semester from Louisiana State University. The girls are here to colonize a chapter of Phi Mu. Next year they will return to LSU.

Transfer Sudden

The change in schools came rather suddenly. About two weeks ago, at a wedding reception, an alumna of Phi Mu asked Missie if she'd like to go to Longwood. After receiving an okay from her parents Missie talked it over with Barbara and they arrived here last Tuesday.

Missie, a business education major, was a day-student at LSU, living at home in Baton Rouge, while Barbara, an elementary major from Laurel, Mississippi, lived in a dormitory.

Both girls remarked about the tremendous differences between colleges. LSU has an enrollment of 12,000. (The girls outnumber the boys 3:1). The average class has about 45 to 55 students, but it is also possible to have a class with up to 250 in it. The freshman year is referred to as Junior Division and a student must have thirty semester hours with a C average to be promoted.

No Beatniks Here

Missie remarked that there aren't any beatniks here, whereas they have several at LSU. "The girls wear black long stockings, black skirts and sweaters, leave their hair uncombed, and use piles of green eye shadow." Barbara sported knee socks and scarab bracelet — both new additions since coming to Longwood. "We'd never heard of scarabs," Barbara said, "and would have been laughed out of Baton Rouge for wearing knee socks."

Another difference noticed by the girls was the over-all friendly attitude present at Longwood. "We've never had so much attention in our lives," chorused Missie and Barbara, "the faculty members go out of their way to be helpful, and take a more personal interest in each student. Barbara said that the dorm life is about the same — bridge, music, yelling, and no studying. Both Missie and Barbara remarked about food here, they love it! "The meals at LSU are all cafeteria style and the food isn't seasoned at all."

Longwood Tradition

When friends found out they were transferring to Virginia they were teased a good deal about absorbing some "Virginia culture." Missie brought her rebel flag feeling that it might come in handy. One thing present at Longwood that LSU lacks is the preserving of tradition. "People at home talk about it," said Barbara, "but that is as far as it goes."

Phi Mu will not rush this spring until after formal spring rush by the other eight groups. Plans for their rush are as yet indefinite but several members of national will visit the campus later in the school year.

—Staff Photo

LSU TRANSFERS. M. Powers and B. Walters take a break as they settle in their Wheeler room.

Longwood Girl's Pocket Reveals Hidden Secrets

By Betty Jane Stegall

You don't know how well off you humans are. Always able to do anything you want . . . free to go anyplace you please . . . what a life. How would you always like to be in the dark about everything, just hanging around and getting your mouth stuck full of things you don't even know what they are. Feeling low half the time . . . so low sometimes you think your bottom's gonna fall out. How would you like to live the life of a pocket like me. No particular pocket — just a plain old square pocket.

Uphs! We're being removed from the coat hanger . . . must be the early morning rush to breakfast where I'll end up being the refuge for toast and jelly. Boy, if pockets could talk Mrs. Tucker would have us removed. Griefs! the least she could do is wrap it up . . . ants will be out again tonight. Another thing about this girl — they'll never be able to classify me with any particular race just because she doesn't own a cap to her fountain pen. Besides getting stabbed to death my face is varying shades of blue, black, green and red.

Colds must be in season again. Here comes one tiny wadded up kleenex and six classes ahead of us. Should prove interesting. And for goodness sakes I wished she'd get a box of gum for her birthday or something so I wouldn't have to save the same piece for her three days in a row.

I'm . changed cigarettes brands . . . using Seaweeds now. At least it has a flavored filter. The only thing about that is the smell counteracts with that Gay Toothspray that she carries with her so she won't have to go back to the room after lunch. Easier to use she says and that "it's the dental squirt that just doesn't hurt, gives her a permanent smile so she can always flirt." Her motto is Be true to your teeth or they'll be false to you. Anyway by the time all those smells mingle I really have P.O. (pocket odor).

Maybe I gripe a lot . . . but I realize my blessings. I'm luckier than my brother on the right hand side. He got his heart torn out at the age of two months by an exacto knife on the way to art class. Oh . . . they took stitches but Highpockets will never be the same. He just can't hold up like he used to . . . everything he has just seems to slip away.

Life does get bad at times but just about the time things get the grittiest the cleaners come along and smooth things out and make them really fit in. Life could get worse . . . I could be-

(Continued on page 4)

News Summary

Heaviest Space Ship Launched By Russia

By Page Tolleson

Snowstorms buried the northeastern United States this week. The snow virtually immobilized cities, as highways became blocked and commerce and industry came to a halt. Throughout the storm-battered area, ranging from the Carolinas, northward and into the Central States, transportation was crippled, many power lines were out of commission, and normal activity was disrupted. These were the third major storms in six weeks for much of this area and came in a wake of a record 16 days of sub-freezing temperatures, the first time it has been that cold for that long since 1880.

State Senator Robert Young Button of Culpeper announced Saturday that he would enter the July 11 Democratic primary as a candidate for Attorney-General. Button comes into the primary with a background of broad experience in law, and in legislative and administrative fields of state government. His entry was not unexpected. For a month or so, informed politicians predicted Button would emerge to round out an 'organization' ticket, headed by Attorney-General Harrison for Governor, with state Senator Mills E. Godwin, Jr., of Suffolk, for Lieutenant-Governor.

The Portuguese owners of the Santa Maria reclaimed the virtually deserted liner Saturday, when Capt. Henrique Galvao, to avoid direct surrender, turned the vessel over to Brazil Friday. Brazilian President Quadros then announced that the vessel, second largest in Portugal's merchant fleet, would be handed back to the Portuguese government. The Portuguese government, in turn, returned it to its owners, the Colonial Navigation Co., who plan to take legal action against Galvao for the seizure, during which a ship's officer was killed. Thus ended the sea-going phase of a bizarre revolution that began in the Caribbean January 22.

The Soviet Union Saturday launched the heaviest satellite yet — more than seven tons — as part of its program to develop a heavy-weight space ship for manned flight. The Soviet Tass news agency said the device was circling the earth every 89.9 minutes and reaching 263.5 miles at its farthest point from the earth and coming to within 138.5 miles at its closest point.

The USO, United Service Organization, celebrated its 20th birthday Saturday, as a volunteer club offering moral, spiritual, recreational, and educational guidance to servicemen throughout the world. The USO has served as a bridge between the military and civilian population at home and abroad.

A complex machine for use in brain surgery will be demonstrated for the first time in the United States this week at the Medical College of Virginia. The machine's developers, Belgian neurosurgeon, Dr. Albert Derey-macker and a Belgian engineer, Dr. Gilbert De Dobbeleer, say the equipment's applications will encompass such maladies as epilepsey, cerebral palsy, and Parkinson's disease, and deep brain tumors. About five years of work went into the production of the equipment and its cost is estimated at $400,000.

Sports Highlights

Michigan Bows, Carolina Clipped In Court Capers

By Sue Beardmore

West Virginia overcame a 13 point lead held by North Carolina midway through the second half of the game to upset the Wolfpack 86-78. The sudden surge forward by West Virginia was led by sophomore Rod Thorn who tied the score with a jump shot, 76-76. The next goal put the Mountaineers ahead throughout the remainder of the game. West Virginia's record now stands 16-3, and North Carolina stands 11-8 in this season's conference play.

Ohio Leads

Ohio State added another win to their now 6-0 record in Big Ten play this season as they defeated Michigan 80-58 at Ann Arbor Saturday night. The Buckeyes' All-American, Jerry Lucas, racked up 17 points while his teammates, Mel Nowell and John Havlicek, each added 18 points. The aggressive Michigan team fought diligently, but proved to be outmanned by the Buckeyes.

United States Olympic player, and leading scorer in the Big Ten, Terry Dischinger managed to score 30 points with seemingly little hindrance from an injured finger as Purdue met and defeated Wisconsin Saturday night, 69-58. Outstanding for the losing Badgers was sophomore Ken Siebel who led his team with 21 points. Purdue's Big Ten rating now is 4-2 and Wisconsin stands with a 1-3 conference record.

Storm Cancels Games

Friday's storm played havoc with collegiate basketball schedules along the Atlantic seaboard this past week end. More than two dozen basketball games were canceled or postponed along with several swimming, hockey, wrestling and fencing events.

Patronize
The Rotunda
Advertizers

BASKETBALL CO-CAPTAINS Pat Southworth and Mable Healy discuss team tactics in preparation for their opening game. —Staff Photo

Varsity Team Elects Captains For Season

By Marjorie Freese

Basketball and volleyball, the major winter sports of Longwood College, are getting underway as this semester opens. Games have been scheduled for the coming months to be played both here and at other schools.

The varsity basketball squad includes Carolyn Thorpe, a senior from Drakes Branch; Barbara Brantley, a senior from Suffolk; Trina Childress, a junior from Norfolk; Faye Ripley, a junior from Lee Hall; Sara Buston, a junior from Tazwell; Linda Sudduth, a junior from Culpepper; and Lindy Hatch, a sophomore from Falls Church.

Also on the team are Sandra Phlegar, a sophomore from Brookville; Pat Southworth, a senior and co - captain from Fredericksburg; Mable Healy a senior and co - captain from Church View; Virginia Parker, a junior from Culpeper; Betty Lou Dunn, a sophomore from Brookville; Carol Nye, a sophomore from Fort Sheridan, Illinois.

Many freshmen also made the squad. They were Peggy Waldo, Norma Eudy, Jean Still, Ann Sneed, Carolyn Setzer, Gay Taylor, Sharon Sarver, Doris Harrison, and Shirley Carr.

The varsity managers are Sara Buston, and Linda Sudduth.

The game schedule is as follows: February 8, Hollins here; February 10, Roanoke there; February 18, Madison there; February 25, Mary Washington there; February 27, MCV here; and March 4, Westhampton here.

The class team has not been picked in basketball. The managers are Ann Simmons and Alma Jean Wright. Basketball practices are each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 4. To be eligible one must have eight practices. The team will be picked at a later date.

The class volleyball team is managed by Lefty Snyder, a sophomore, and Gibby Britt, also a sophomore. Those practices are held Monday and Wednesday at 7 p.m., and Friday at 3 p.m. The volleyball class teams have not yet been chosen. Eight practices are necessary in order to be eligible for the team.

Captains Named

Varsity Squad Selected, Class Games Organized

By Lois Peters

Once again basketball captures the spotlight as the Longwood varsity basketball team nears the opening of its season against Hollins, February 8 at 3:30 p.m., in the Longwood gym. Anticipating another successful season, the team realizes they must have a captain as well as a manager and coach. The basketball team captain must be very enthusiastic to carry the team over rough spots they will encounter during the season.

The Longwood basketball team has elected as their co-captains, senior physical education majors Mable Healy from Church View and Pat Southworth from Fredericksburg.

Healy Active

Mable has qualified herself for this post by playing all class sports and varsity hockey and basketball. In her junior year she served as manager of varsity basketball and this year is a member of the Ways and Means Committee. In addition, Mable has been a member of the Athletic Association council for the past two years and is a member of the Monogram Club. She is a member of the Cotillion Club and was honored this fall with a blue blazer by the A.A.

Southworth Serves

Pat Southworth has qualified herself for this position by participating in all class sports and varsity basketball and hockey. In her sophomore year she served as class hockey manager, and in her junior year she served in the same capacity for the varsity hockey team. Also active in other activities, Pat is president of the senior class, vice president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, recording secretary for Zeta Tau Alpha, and was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She has been a member of the Athletic Association for the past three years and was awarded a white blazer in the fall by the A.A.

Of their new responsibilities, Mable and Pat say, "We are very honored to be elected co-captains of the team. The team has good possibilities and we hope to make a good showing as other teams have done in the past."

REW Features Alumnus Of H-S

Continued from page 1)

portunities to hear Dr. Bluford. He will speak at assembly in Jarman Hall at 1 p.m. on Tuesday. Dr. Bluford will be available for personal conferences throughout the week. A morning meditation in the Episcopal Church will conclude the week-long program on Friday at 7.

The YWCA plans to make available to the student body a suggestion box for the week, enabling students to take a more active part in the program.

The members of the Y cabinet have set up a list of goals for the success of Religious Emphasis Week which affects the entire student body, since every student is a member of the YWCA. These goals include personal evaluation of faith, lasting impressions of Christ, strengthening of belief, a search for answers to personal questions, and the making of better Christians.

The goals and the motto for the week are designed to offer the college student a challenge—to ask questions, exchange ideas, and to gain a more meaningful faith.

Divots To Play

(Continued on page 3)

an eight piece combo from Roanoke known as the "Divots", formerly known as the "Shades." They have played for several VPI combo parties.

"Your Grandchildren will grow up under Communism!"
—says NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

Will the Soviet threat come true? Will your grandchildren live under Communism? Forget God? Salute the Soviet flag?

"Never!" you say. But are you sure? What can you do to oppose Communism? There is one sure way. Help Radio Free Europe! What does it do? It broadcasts the news of freedom to 79 million captive people behind the Iron Curtain. It helps keep them from turning to Communism. It helps pose a major obstacle to the Russians starting a war. But Radio Free Europe needs help. It depends on individual Americans for its existence. Will you help? Give a dollar? Give 5 dollars . . . or more? Surely your heart tells you to give something—so that our children—and all children—shall live in freedom throughout the world.

Give Now To . . .
RADIO FREE EUROPE
The American People's Counter Voice to Communism

Mail your contribution to:
Radio Free Europe Fund
P.O. Box 1961, Mt. Vernon 10, New York

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

AD MAT NO. RFE34-61—100 LINES

See The New English
Translucent China
by Royal Doulton
at
MARTIN,
THE JEWELER

Come To The
SNACK BAR
for Relaxation and Refreshment!

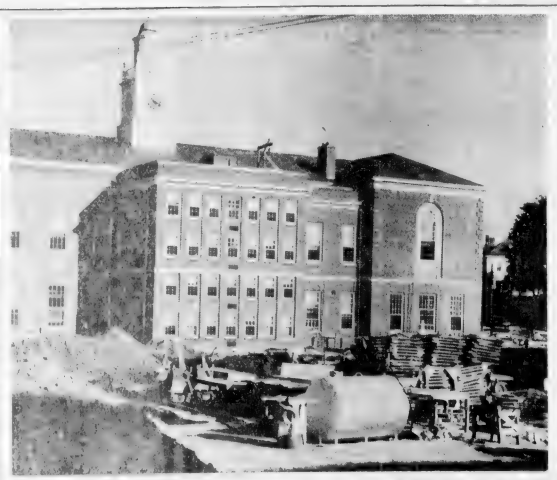
Bottled under authority of
The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

WFLO Approved To Inaugurate FM Transmitter



Radio broadcasting in Farmville will be expanded through a new FM transmitter to be installed soon by WFLO. The Federal Communications Commission has approved the construction of new facilities at WFLO which will include a new FM transmitter radiating over 6,000 watts effective power, at 96.7 megacycles, and the addition of a new FM 3 by an Andrew antenna to the station's present tower.

The station will be able to operate for unlimited hours with the new FM facilities. Daily broadcasts on FM and duplicate the AM program during part of the day, and a portion of the day will be devoted to separate programs on both AM and FM. The new service is expected to cover approximately the same area in which WFLO AM is now heard.

Mrs. Carla B. Keys, owner and general manager of the station, said that she was "very happy to learn of the FCC approval of the new FM application. We are very pleased that our community will be provided this additional service," she said.

Mrs. Keys commented that she was especially proud of the fact that the FM operation would be on an unlimited time basis, without the restrictions of daylight hours only. WFLO-AM is licensed to broadcast during daylight hours only.

Construction of the new FM station is expected to be underway in the near future, and should be completed in early spring.

BOOKS GET NEW COVER as library construction begins. Builders have moved in equipment and are preparing to remove the old stacks.

40 LC Students Practice Teach This Nine Weeks

Forty Longwood girls are student teaching this nine weeks in Roanoke, Cumberland Court House, Charlotte Court House, Appomattox, and Dillwyn.

The girls teaching at Dillwyn are Mary Copely, Kathryn Hubbard, and Dorothy Jones. The seven teaching at Appomattox are Katie Bolt, Barbara Elder, Fran Gallahan, Elizabeth Robertson, Beretta Banks, Archer Cassada, and Betty Tucker. Those teaching at Charlotte Court House are Pare Davis, Sandra Ferebee, Nancy Morris, Joyce Odom, Geraldine Pumpo, and Lillie Rogers. Longwood students at Cumberland Court House are Sarah Hawes, Geraldine Ludwick, Victoria Malley, and Gladys Wells.

The Longwood girls practice teaching in Roanoke at Jefferson are Neva Arnn, Lee Burnette, Nancy Cullipp, Gwen Keesee, Alice Layne, Barbara Radley, Sarah Rock, Barbara Scarce, and Janet Wainwright. Dorothea Brown, Pat Callahan and Beatrice Rowles are teaching at Fleming High School.

Also, teaching in Roanoke at Crystall Springs School are Betty Abbott, Lee Holt, Clara Dell Kidd, Mary Jane Rowall, and Gloria Jean Underwood. At Wasena are Ellen Grady, Patricia Wise, and Gaye Yates.

Charleston Dialect Humorized

Editor's Note: The following article was published in the February, 1957 Rotunda. It was originated as fashionable humor, and accepted as such by the Longwood Students. How much has taste in humor changed? Do you still find this humorous? If so, is your laughter at the humor of the article, or is it sarcastic?

Nothing makes an American feel more like a stranger in his own land than to strike up a conversation with a man from another part of the country—and suddenly realize he can't understand what the guy's saying.

A Texan driving through Brooklyn who stops and asks a native for directions can hardly believe his ears. Surely this must be a different language.

In a way it is. Brooklynese is one of many regional American languages. There are so many, in fact, that some bright publisher ought to come out with a verbal Baedecker that will guide the hapless tourist safely through all the strange accents of his homeland, from Maine French to Pennsylvania Dutch.

A step in this direction has just been taken by the Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier. It has published a "Dictionary of Charlestonese," by columnist Ashley Cooper, to help outsiders understand a form of English handed down since 1670 in the venerable port city which is to the Old South roughly what Mecca is to the Moslems.

Here are a few typical examples of Charlestonese and how they can be translated by the trained ear:

A boot—Approximately.

Balks—A container, such as a match balks.

Barter—Something to spread on bread.

Beckon—Meet from a pig, often eaten with aigs for brakefuss.

Caller—Part of a shirt that goes around the neck.

Cane chew—Aren't you able to, i. e., "Cane chew talk like a good Charlestonian?"

Garner—A man who tends to flower beds.

Granite—"He was granite a pardon by the gouv-ner."

Harmony—Cooked grits.

Hominy—What number?

Ice cool—The institution of learning which stands midway between grammar and college.

Jell—Place of confinement for criminals.

Lawn—Not short.

Lucid—Leggo it.

Mine eyes—Salad dressing.

Minuet—You and I have dined.

Pastor—Field where cows graze.

Poet—To transfer a liquid, i. e., "poet from the pitcher to the glass."

Sex—One less than seven.

Tin sin stow—The foive and doyme.

Vertigo — What happened to him?

Yawl—Mode of address used by N'Yawkers when visiting in the South.

(By Hal Boyle from the Newark Evening News).

Reading Survey

(Continued from page 2)

Gazing at the current fashions stimulates a severe case of daydreaming and sometimes a severe case of overcharging at downtown Farmville stores.

Visions of Exodus, The Affair In Arcady, and Peyton Place dance through enterprising student's study - worn brains.

Students of Longwood, It's that long cherished "spare hour." Do you crawl wearily onto your bed, lazily stretch your legs, wiggle your toes, prop up your pillows, yawn once or twice, and then place your glasses firmly on the bridge of your nose? Are you planning to read? — or are you trying to look studious and intellectual while you sleep?

American University Proposes Workshop

The School of Government and Public Administration of The American University, Washington, D. C., will offer its fifth annual Comparative Government Workshop Abroad during the summer of 1961.

Six credit hours will be given for the study tour of the governments of nine major western European countries. The workshop consists of seminars with European officials and other public affairs leaders, discussions with experts on government, and field trips to agencies and organizations of selected European governments.

Director and professor of the course will be Dr. Emmet V. Mittlebeeler, professor of government and public administration, The American University. Dr. Mittlebeeler, a practicing attorney, formerly taught at the University of Louisville, and has served as assistant attorney general of Kentucky.

Graduate and qualified undergraduate students with a basic background in government, history, international relations, political science and related fields are eligible to enroll if they have never visited Europe. The dates are approximately June 25 to September 10, 1961, and countries to be visited are Holland, Denmark, Germany, Sweden, Switzerland, France, Great Britain, Yugoslavia, and Liechtenstein.

Tour price will be approximately $1,369 and includes round trip transportation by student ship from New York, tourist hotels and meals, and comprehensive sightseeing program via motor - coach.

For further information contact Dr. Emmett V. Mittlebeeler, School of Goverment and Public Administration, The American University, 1901 F St., N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

Pockets Speak Up

(Continued from page 2)

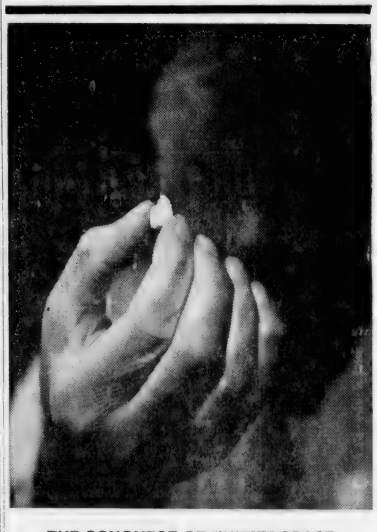
long to a pool table and really get knocked around or be a kangaroo pouch — then life would really be jumping. Just a word to you humans though . . . Be kind to pockets, their "hole" life depends on you.

Local Alumnae Hold Benefit Card Party For Student Fund

Last night the annual local alumnae association's benefit card party was held in the Ruffner recreational hall with approximately 36 persons attending.

The proceeds are donated to the Mary White Cox Scholarship Fund, which consists of an annual grant of one hundred dollars to a local person who is attending Longwood College and who needs the money in order to remain in school. The recipient of this scholarship must be from Farmville or the surrounding area, and is selected by a group of faculty advisors from her school.

The fund was first instituted upon the death of Miss Mary White Cox who served this school for over forty years. In 1902 Miss Cox began her career at Longwood as assistant to the head of the home department. In 1915 she became head of the home department (a position that is comparable to our dean of women), and continued in that position until 1944 when she retired.



Pictures Wanted

Any students who have snapshots of any phase of college activities, and who would like to give them to the Virginian for publication, are requested to turn them in to Sandra Ferebee, South Cunningham 218, by the end of this week.

See The Valentine Cards
and
Favors At
Lanscott's Gift Shop

Special on February 22
$1.00 Stationery—50c
620, 120, 127 Film
2 rolls for 65c
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

The Washington School for Secretaries
Business training that is worthy of a college education.
Employment Placement and Career Guidance.
Mid-year, Summer, Fall enrollment.
District 7-2480
NATIONAL PRESS BUILDING, 14th & F STS., N.W., WASHINGTON 4, D.C.

THE CONQUEST OF "INNER" SPACE
Between the fingertips of a man lies a substance that holds the answers to unsolved problems of life and disease. The substance is DNA — deoxyribonucleic acid.
Scientists exploring sub-microscopic worlds now know that nucleic acid transmits the hereditary characteristics of all living things from generation to generation. This has resulted largely from studies showing that naked nucleic acid in viruses will infect susceptible cells.
With such exciting leads, the exploration of "inner" space goes forward. Its goal — the preservation of human life. You support such promising scientific research when you say "Yes" to the New March of Dimes.
PLEASE SAY YES TO THE NEW MARCH OF DIMES
BIRTH DEFECTS • ARTHRITIS • POLIO

The Rotunda

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., February 15, 1961 | No. 12

Board Selects Detrich, Micou, Elliott

Faculty Selects Gills As Blossom Princess

Representing Longwood in the thirty-fourth annual Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester on April 27 and 28, is senior Dottie Gills.

Each year, a faculty committee selects a girl who is representative of the student body, and possesses the qualifications of beauty, personality, and poise.

A business major from Bluefield, West Virginia, Dottie is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, past treasurer and current secretary of that organization, and a member of the Cotillion Club. She has been first attendant to "Miss Bluefield" this year, and in 1958 she was Alpha Sigma Alpha representative to the "Miss Longwood" contest.

At the Festival, the princesses will be entertained by tea dances, formal balls, informal receptions, parades, and the famous pageant on Thursday. This year, for the first time in more than two decades, a professional play director will be employed. In the past, the pageant theme has been written, staged, and narrated by Dr. Garland Quarles, an uncle of Longwood senior Cherry Gorham.

The pageant program is designed to interest spectators of all ages, and includes an enactment of nursery rhyme favorites of children, a historical drama, and the change of seasons from Winter to Spring, interpreted by various dance numbers.

Many state officials will be present at the Festival, including the governor and lieutenant governor of Virginia and governors of adjoining states. The Grand Marshal of the parade, whose name is not revealed, will be a celebrity. Recently, the star of television's "Maverick" served as Grand Marshal.

Along with Longwood's representative, there will be present at the Apple Blossom Festival, princesses from every college and university in Virginia, in addition to the princesses from the four horticulture areas of the state.

Cotillion Club Bids Issued Tomorrow

The Cotillion Club will issue approximately two hundred spring bids tomorrow. These bids will be placed in the respective mail boxes in the morning.

The bids, being printed for the first time, will be given mostly to the members of the Freshman Class and the remainder to the members of the upper classes.

After supper Thursday night the girls who are accepting the bids will report to a meeting where they will be given information concerning the Cotillion Club, its dues, and the system of "goating." These new members, the goats, will have the duty of decorating for the annual Cotillion Club dance, which will be held April 15.

Students Elect May Day Heads For Spring Fete

The election of chairman and business manager of May Day was held Wednesday, February 7. Elected chairman was Betty Jane Stegall; business manager, Nancy Kelly.

Stegall, Kelly Active

Betty Jane, an elementary major from Fieldale, is active in many phases of Longwood activities. She is a member of the Longwood Players, treasurer of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity; member of the Colonnade and Rotunda staffs, is on House Council, a member of Cotillion, and was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Nancy is a business major from Hurt. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, FBLA, and Cotillion.

Betty and Nancy say, "We're very much honored with the prospects of working with the student body on May Day. We

(Continued on page 4)

—Staff Photo

MAY DAY CHAIRMAN Betty Jane Stegall and Business Manager Nancy Kelly begin preparations for festivities.

—Staff Photo

PUBLICATIONS EDITORS M. B. Micou, C. Elliott, and J. Detrich hear of their appointments by the Publications Board.

Classes Elect Members To Board For Elections

The classes of Longwood have elected their screening board representatives for major elections, which will take place on February 28. Elected to serve on the board are Patsy Carr, Carolyn Thorpe, Mary Byrd Micou, Jane Pennington, Alice White, Wistie Rochelle, Carol Baumgardner, and Terry Swann.

Representing the seniors are Carolyn Thorpe, a physical education major from Drakes Branch, who is a member of the Athletic Council, varsity hockey, basketball, and archery teams, and the winner of a white blazer this year. Patsy Carr, a social science major from Dinwiddie, and a member of Delta Zeta sorority, Pan Hellenic Council, Cotillion Club, Student Education Association, Rotunda circulation staff, last year's screening board and Who's Who, is the other senior representative.

The junior representatives are Mary Byrd Micou and Jane Pennington. Mary Byrd is an English - Spanish major from Chester. She is president of Sigma Kappa sorority, newly appointed editor-in-chief of the Rotunda, a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Delta Epsilon, and the H2O Club. Jane is a music major from Buckingham and is president of Sigma Alpha Iota, the Cotillion Club, and the band.

Representing the sophomores are Wistie Rochelle, a French major from Lynchburg, a member of Kappa Delta Sorority the 'Y' Cabinet and state treasurer of the Canterbury Club. Alice White, a biology maor from Suffolk, is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority and the Longwood Players.

The freshmen elected Terry Swann, an elementary education major from Richmond, and Carol Baumgardner, a psychology major from Roanoke. Carol was co-chairman of freshman Circus skit.

These girls, headed by Major and Minor Elections chairman Peggy Blackwell, will make up the screening board along with Ann Hardy, president of Student Government; Page Davis, president of House Council; Cherron Kelly Dunman, president of the YWCA; and Mary Hite Grayson, president of the Athletic Association. This committee will narrow the list of girls nominated by the classes for president of Student Government, House Council, YWCA, and Athletic Association down to three girls under each office.

The slate of nominees will be presented in assembly on February 28, and a primary will take place that afternoon. The final election between the top two remaining girls will take place on March 2. Students are urged to see members of their class's screening board and discuss the nominees' qualities with them.

Last Trial Issue Edited By Micou

The third and last trial issue of the Rotunda had as its editor-in-chief Mary Byrd Micou from Chester, Virginia.

Serving under Mary Byrd as managing editor this week was Ann Agee. Donna Frantzen served as news editor and Donna Humphlett was the assistant news editor. The feature editor was Gail Arnn and the assistant feature editor was Pat Rea. Lois Peters served as sports editor, with Sue Beardmore as her assistant.

The desk editor for this week's trial issue of the Rotunda was Mary Jo Burrow and the assistant desk editor was Doris Smith. The make-up editor was Page Tolleson and the exchange editor was Iowan Rippey.

The photographers were Linda Sudduth and Flossie Barnard.

The three trial editors-in-chief have been Judy Detrich, Ann Agee, and Mary Byrd Micou.

Three Juniors Head College Publications

The Publications Board tonight announced those who were elected to head the staffs of the three Longwood publications for 1961-62. Judith Van Detrich, Colonnade; Mary Byrd Micou, Rotunda; and Carolyn Elliott, Virginian; are the newly selected editors.

Detrich Edits Colonnade

Judy Detrich, a junior English major from Hampton, will edit the Colonnade. Judy, a member of the magazine staff for three years, is past managing editor. She is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, Beorc Eh Thorn, Cotillion Club, and is past feature editor of the Rotunda.

She stated, "The last few years have brought many changes in the Colonnade. I hope that the next year will reflect the influence of these changes and be a year of further improvement for the magazine."

Brightwell Manages

Managing the business side of things for the Colonnade will be junior Polly Brightwell, a business and English major from Charlotte Court House. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Delta Epsilon, and Phi Beta Lambda.

Polly, who served as last year's business manager for the magazine, said, "I have enjoyed it so much in the past. I like the combination of business work with the literary angle."

Micou Edits Rotunda

The Rotunda will be edited by Mary Byrd Micou. Mary Byrd, a junior English and Spanish major from Chester, is past sports editor of the newspaper, president of Sigma Kappa social sorority, and a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, Kappa Delta Pi, Beorc Eh Thorn, and H2O Club. She was recently elected class representative to the Screening Board.

She stated, "Working as editor-in-chief of the Rotunda will be the continuation of some of my most pleasant Longwood associations. Only now I feel the full responsibility of keeping the newspaper the voice of the students."

Eddy Handles Business

Susan Eddy, a junior elementary education major from Winchester, will serve as the Rotunda's new business manager. She is acting national advertising manager of the paper, having been on the staff for two years and also working with local advertising.

Active in class activities and Cotillion Club, she stated, "I was very much surprised and quite honored."

Elliott Edits Virginian

Carolyn Elliott, a junior English major from Hopewell, has been chosen the new Virginian editor. She is past assistant literary editor of the yearbook, and is a member of Cotillion, Longwood Players, French Club, and the Rotunda staff, which she served as assistant circulation manager.

She stated, "Oh, I was so surprised and excited at the same time. The responsibility of putting out the Virginian is a difficult one, but one which I will gladly undertake. With my staff I will try to make the 1962 Virginian among the best."

Elmore Selected

The business management of the yearbook will be taken care of by Mary Leach Elmore, a junior elementary education major from Charlotte, North Carolina. She is historian of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, treasurer of the junior class, and a member of Cotillion Club. She has been class representative to the yearbook for two years.

Mary Leach commented on her new position as follows: "I am very pleased and I anticipate a very successful financial year for the Virginian."

—Staff Photo

BUSINESS MANAGERS S. Eddy, M. L. Elmore, and P. Brightwell settle down to work on their respective publications.

More Than A Job

A few minutes ago I took my last walk to the Rotunda office as the newspaper's editor. On the way over I noticed the many changes that have taken place since my first walk. There were no children playing behind the library, in their place was the iron skeleton of the new addition to be completed by fall. I passed many college students coming from the new dorm on their way to the elementary school building which now houses our books instead of the town's youth.

Yes, many things have changed. But many things have fortunately remained unchanged. The support that the students, administration, and faculty have given to the newspaper is as excellent as it has been in the past. During the many times I perched unsteadily on those limbs, you never failed to keep me from falling. I still wonder why at times you didn't knock me down, but I'm thankful now that you had faith in some of my ideas.

My deepest thanks go to the staff of girls who never let me down. We shared much more than a love for journalism I'm sure. I will never forget the first day one of you decided to keep your birthday from going unnoticed by printing the information on some yellow paper and sticking it on the wall. Since then I see that our signs on the "bulletin board" have grown closer together and with them our friendships.

I would also like to thank those that kept the business staff running, from the business manager on down to each typist and paperfolder. Without you the editorial staff could never have functioned. All of the papers the Farmville Herald so diligently delivered each Wednesday at 5 o'clock, making all of our corrections, would never have reached their recipients.

Through everything-penalties from class cuts, sleepless nights, bad grades, tears, and embarrassing printing errors which shall remain anonymous - there will never be anything else that could mean any more to me, than having served Longwood as Rotunda editor. I have gained a knowledge and self-satisfaction I never want to lose.

I leave the Rotunda office in the more-than-competent hands of the new editor and her staff. I do this proudly, knowing that the Rotunda will continue to represent freedom of expression at Longwood now and in the future.

—Sandra Weaver

Current Issues Shunned

The modern college is supposedly molding the modern college student into the well-rounded citizen of the future. We are daily drilled and lectured to about various aspects of our varied culture. We learn to work the algebra equation, we become familiar with basic principles of some science or another, we study English composition and we appreciate literature. But this is not enough.

Is it possible for an educational institution to produce young adults able to cope with the problems of tomorrow merely by filling them with a knowledge or even an understanding of history, language, science, mathematics, and the like? Is not an understanding of the history we are making now just as important to the preparation of tomorrow's citizens? We cannot hope to handle the problems of the future intelligently, whether it be by correct thinking and voting or by more positive action, if we do not have a grasp of current history.

A Longwood group took a brave step in the right direction last year by sponsoring a panel on current events and by posting daily headlines. An even braver step would be an accredited class in current events at this college. But the bravest step of all would be to defy campus conformity and take an interest in current issues. It's a long shot for the citizen of tomorrow, but who can say what might be the result?

—Mary Byrd Micou

Essence Of Chi

Like many things Chi had a simple beginning. It was in 1900 at the time of its founding as it is now — not people, but a spirit and a desire on the part of a group of Longwood students to inspire others with this spirit. This is and always has been Chi.

Every year the spirit of Chi has been demonstrated in some more concrete way. Throughout its existence Chi has strived to enrich Longwood's tradition, meaning and enjoyment. The varied projects have included replacing Joan of Arc in the Rotunda when the original was beyond repair; landscaping the Dell at Longwood Estate so that successive generations of Longwood students might enjoy the beauty and closeness of May Day; tiling the floor in the Rec; and laying cornerstones for Stevens, Jarman and South Cunningham. These are tangible evidences of Chi, but are not the very essence of its meaning.

The intangible spirit of Longwood that is present in the heart of each girl here is the real reason for Chi's existance. This spirit that expresses itself in friendly hello's that make Longwood famous for warmth and friendliness; the enthusiastic support of the many and varied activities; the beauty and ideals of our traditions; the cooperation of the student body; and just that certain something that makes Longwood live in the hearts of her alumnae — these are the essence of Chi.

—CHI

Improvement Sought For Reading Defects

By Gayle Arnn

How well can you read? This is the question of paramount importance that every student at Longwood College or any institution of higher learning is faced with sooner or later, either directly or indirectly. The gap between high school and college is probably wider in the field of verbal skill than in any other area. Upon entering college, the high school student finds himself confronted with a mountain of work that requires the ability to read carefully and quickly and to express oneself clearly and effectively; the textbooks are thicker, have smaller print, and contain more difficult vocabulary; parallel reading, term papers, and themes seem to hinder the student's progress even further.

Some Ill Prepared

Although most of the students have been successfully trained in the secondary schools for college work, many have been ill-prepared and find progress very difficult. It is not because of a lack of intelligence, but because of a lack of verbal skill, that many such students have been discouraged with the steepness of college work and have slipped behind.

Must the students crippled by the lack of reading skill be forced to climb without any aid the same rugged trail at the same rate of progress as those who have been well prepared? Several years ago the members of the English Department began asking the same question; they concluded that a reading program should be devised as a cruich to facilitate the task for the students who were ill-prepared. Such a program was developed, but after being in operation for several years, proved to be only partially successful.

New Program Adopted

Last spring the college adopted a new reading development program which is now being administered under the supervision of Foster B. Gresham. The SRA (Science Research Associates) Reading Laboratory was developed in 1950 by Don H. Parker, and was published in 1957. This laboratory is designed to enable each student to begin where he is in reading achievement and to move ahead in speed, comprehension, and vocabulary building at his own learning rate. Thus a student with only a ninth grade reading level can move ahead as rapidly as his initiative and capacity will allow him to a college reading level.

Although the program was adopted last spring, it was not put into operation until last semester. The classes for this program had to be limited because of the lack of facilities to only those who showed marked deficiences in verbal skill on the freshmen English placement tests. Within two months, some students had advanced from tenth grade reading level to college level, and others showed marked improvement.

Hopes To Expand

This semester several upper classmen have been admitted to the classes. By next spring Mr. Gresham hopes to have expanded the program to include more students who, though not marked for deficiency, desire to take the course for their own personal benefit. It is with optimism and appreciation that we commend Mr. Gresham for his fine work with the reading development program. We hope that it will continue to enable many students to overcome their reading handicaps, so that they may pursue their academic aspirations with as much facility as anyone else.

Adding Of Bells Strikes Terror, Joy In Students

By Judy Detrich

Hundreds of years ago someone installed the first bell—probably in a monastery or cathedral somewhere. Perhaps its presence caused as much comment as that of the new bell and clock system here. Monks scurried around complaining mildly that they somehow felt disciplined from an outside source and pressured to be punctual. Yet the new system survived the initial unwelcome and spread to cities and universities throughout the world. On land and sea the bell—or the gong or the factory whistle—has lost any annoyance associated with it; instead the sound is the center for romantic and sentimental associations.

Further Innovations

The contemporary campus scene is faced with a futher innovation the epitome of timekeeping: a synchronized bell and clock system, installed throughout the classroom and dormitory buildings of the college at great trouble and expense.

How is this system received at its onset? The receptions are varied: the ivy-tower type bemoans the further intrusion of a world demanding precision and discipline; the casual co-ed groans because her best alibi for tardiness is about to be removed, the scientists among us delight in the installation of a precise way to time their latest experiments. The psychology fans present eagerly anticipate a new study - the effects of a time system on the collegiate generation. Frances Frosh likes the system because it reminds her of the good old high school days; everyone likes it because at last they'll know what time it is-at last, time will be the same from the Rotunda to the Wheeler wilderness.

Romantic Alumnae

Romantic and sentimental at-

(Continued on page 4)

News Summary

Lumumba's 'Escape' Starts Investigation

Patrice Lumumba, ex-premier of the Congo is dead. The Congo government's original story was that Lumumba and his fellow prisoners overpowered their guards. Many believe Lumumba was either shot or died from beatings. "It could be an old wartime story of 'shot while trying to escape,' " said one diplomat.

General Dag Hammarskjold ordered an investigation by his representative Rajeshwar Dayal after hearing of the so-called escape.

US Ambassador Stevenson in a talk with Hammarskjold said he "deeply deplored" the assassination of Lumumba. Diplomats from other nations have expressed great concern also over this new development in the Congo.

France extended sincere regrets to the Soviets for the shooting of a plane carrying the Soviet President.

France has promised a full investigation of the incident, which occurred when a French jet fighter intercepted an Ilyusher 18 plane carrying Brezhnez to Morocco on an African tour and fired bullets across its nose.

French officials say the Soviet plane failed to follow the proper flight procedure. The Soviet government has rejected their explanation and says it will not drop the issue by any means.

Secretary of Labor, Arthur J. Goldberg, while touring unemployment areas, claims the US is in a full-fledged recession. He has urged the support of President Kennedy's bailout program. Goldberg says the problem is a serious one with which Kennedy is deeply concerned.

Goldberg says, "These problems cannot be solved by business alone, labor alone, or by the government. We don't want another WPA. We want to provide jobs through private industry."

Former Ambassador William D. Pawley testified at a closed-door hearing of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee last September 2.

Pawley says he visited Batista for the purpose of getting Batista to capitulate to a caretaker government unfriendly to him but satisfactory to us.

If Batista had agreed, the US would have backed the government and blocked Fidel Castro's coming in. Three weeks after Pawley's pleas to Fulgencio Batista, Castro began taking over and Batista was forced to flee.

Valentine Fad Flares Throughout Campus

By Gayle Arnn

Cupid's familiar arrow, piercing deep in a few love-stricken hearts last week, touched a little spark of feminine ingenuity which set the entire campus blazing with a new fad. The feminine sex, already notorious for exploiting established precedents and customs since it first borrowed the boyish bob and pegged slacks from its masculine superiors, has succeeded in chalking up another point for its notoriety with a new fad. As of this year, the big question is, "What are you giving him for Valentine's Day?"

Last week, amid the anticipation of grades and the undaunted endeavors to stick to those "new semester's resolutions," most of the girls seemed to squeeze in enough time to utilize their domestic inclinations in fashioning some novelty to give their sweethearts for Valentine's Day. By far the most fruitful product of these efforts was the under shorts, uniquely designed to convey the Valentine theme, and more politely referred to as "Valentine Pants." As the girls modeled their pants in the dorms, one observed pictures of hearts, cupids, and nebbishes, as well as phrases like "My heart 'pants' for you," "I Love You," "Sweetheart," "Be Mine," "KA," etc.

While the Valentine Pants dominated the scene in most of the dormitories, a few girls chose less explosive methods of bombing the usual tradition. One girl, for example, decided to give her financee a pillow case with "Sweet Dreams" embroidered in a heart on the front, and the names and dates of the "milestone events" in their courtship embroidered on the back.

Others deviated still less from the established custom. Instead of sending the usual "For My Sweetheart on Valentine's Day" card, many girls have switched to the contemporary channels with cards such as "You deserve the best for Valentine's Day . . . so here I am," or, to the opposite extreme, "You always seem to have the worst luck . . .that's why you have me."

(Continued on page 4)

—Staff Photo

HOMEMADE VALENTINES are modeled by C. Sammis, B. Hughes and J. Cundiff.

Lady Hoopsters Down Roanoke In Opening Game

Longwood opened the basketball season Friday, February 10, when the team traveled to Roanoke College for a two game series.

The game began badly for the first team. After the first two minutes Roanoke College was leading by eleven points. Then things began to click for the Blue and White, and at the end of the half, Longwood trailed by only one point. After the halftime break, the Longwood team made a startling comeback to lead in score 45-28 at the end of the game.

The second game of the night was equally exciting as the first one, with Sandra Phlegar, Gay Taylor, and Peggy Waldo playing forward, and Sarah Buston, Linda Sudduth, and Faye Ripley playing guard. Serving as substitutes in this game were Carolyn Setzer, Jean Still, Norma Eudy and Ann Snead.

According to the Longwood co-captains, "Things began to click for them from the opening play." Longwood led in points throughout the entire game, the final score being 51-27. The second team's teamwork was excellent.

The opening game was doubly exciting in that two minor accidents occurred. Pat Southworth, co-captain of the Longwood team, sprained her ankle in the first few plays. Carolyn Thrope, forward, broke her glasses and having borrowed someone else's went on to accumulate many baskets for her team.

The first team consists of the following players: forwards: Pat Southworth, Barbara Brantley, and Carolyn Thorpe; guards: Mabel Healy, Virginia Parker, and Trina Childress. Substituting in the first game were Linda Sudduth and Lindy Hatch.

The team will travel to Madison College on February 18 for another two game series.

Bond Offered

The First National Bank of Farmville has offered a $25 Government bond to the winner of the public speaking contest to take place during the annual regional meeting of Future Business Leaders of America to be held March 18 in the Student Building at Longwood College.

The winner of this contest will be eligible to compete in the state finals later this year in Richmond.

Campus 'Cheer' Comes To Court With New Squad

An addition has been made to Longwood's varsity basketball team in the form of eight newly elected cheerleaders.

The cheerleaders, two from each class, were elected by their individual classs. They are seniors, Bobbie Caples and Carol Boley; juniors, Mollie Johnson and Eleanor Bradford; sophomores, Beth Goodwyn and Dot Womack; and freshmen, Joan Perry and Molly Freeman.

The cheerleaders are sponsored by the Athletic Association Council and will cheer, starting February 27, for the team's home games.

They will all be dressed in blue-pleated skirts, white long-sleeved blouses and blue tennis shoes. Pom poms made by the girls will finish their costumes.

The squad has learned several songs and cheers including "W-E-L-C-O-M-E" and "Raise a Cheer for Longwood." According to Eleanor Bradford, "Most of us were cheerleaders in high school and so our cheers are modified from ones all of us knew."

—Staff Photo

BLUE AND WHITE CHEERLEADERS B. Caples, M. Johnson, E. Bradford, M. Freeman, B. Goodwyn, C. Boley, J. Perry, and D. Womack stand ready to urge team on.

Wildcats Score Win, Irish Lose To Titans

By Marjorie Freese

Northwestern University won a Big Ten victory against Wisconsin by a score of 54-52. There were five tie scores and fourteen changes of leads during the game. With 2:43 minutes to play in the game, Ken Siebel of the Badgers made his seventeenth shot of the game to tie the Wildcats 52-52. The Wildcats then went into a "freeze" to keep the ball. In the last six seconds of the game, Bill Casciatore of the Wildcats shot his third basket in the game and made the score 54-52.

Dave Debusschere, a potential All-American on the Detroit Titans, scored 26 points and recaptured 19 rebounds to help hand Detroit a 82-71 victory over the Notre Dame Irish. The Titans had built up a twenty point lead in the first half against the Irish, but they lost it when the score became 64-63 for the Irish. Seven minutes before the end of the game, Frank Chickowski pushed the Titans into the lead with a lay-up and a free throw. Larry Hughs, Dave Debusschere and Charley North all added to the score in the remaining minutes of the game.

Another close and exciting game was played between Maryland and South Carolina, with the Gamecocks edging the Terps by a 64-61 victory. Scotty Ward pitched in two free throws in the last nine seconds of the game to give the Gamecocks the winning score. Maryland was top dog in both halves. In the early part of the first half, the Terps held a 15-5 lead. The chief feature of the Maryland team's game was the rebounding and scoring of Bob McDonald, who was the top scorer with 24 points. Ward was South Carolina's top scorer with 19 points. The victory gave a 2-8 record in the ACC to South Carolina and an overall of 8-11. Maryland has a 3-6 conference standing and an overall of 10-8.

H20 Sets Show In March

—Staff Photo

SPRING WATER PAGEANT CO-CHAIRMEN C. Wilson and M. Nocher make plans for Rebel water fete.

Nocher, Wilson Selected To Head Spring Pageant

By Ginny Gilmore

The South will rise again as the H2O Club presents their spring water pageant, "The Confederacy," on March 16 and 17. Morag Nocher and Claudia Wilson, both juniors, were chosen as co-chairmen for the pagent.

Claudia Wilson, an elementary and social studies major from London Bridge, lists swimming as her main interest. Because she lives close to Virginia Beach, she also does much water-skiing and enjoys all water sports. Her other interests include horses, music, and reading for pleasure when there is time. "In elementary education you learn to be interested in everything," she admits.

Professed Confederates

Since she has spent all her life in Virginia, she professes to be a staunch supporter of the Confederacy.

Morag Nocher, a physical education major from Lynn Haven, claims that her main interests lie in the field of sports. She also claims reading and music of all types as her interests.

She has been a member of both the varsity hockey team and the varsity archery team for two years. She has also played on the class volley ball, basket ball, soft ball and tennis teams. She has been a member of the Athletic Association for two years and is now serving as treasurer of the H2O Club.

She, like Claudia, is a staunch Rebel, in spite of the five and a half years she spent in Connecticut.

The club, with the help of Mrs. Bobbit, decided on the theme because of the recent 100th Anniversary of the Confederate States of America.

Watkins Reveals Job Interviews

The Dean of Admissions, Mrs. Mary W. Watkins, has announced the schedule of job interviewers for the week of February 15 through 22.

Miss Elsie Semms of First and Merchants Bank, Richmond, Virginia, was at Longwood today interviewing those interested in secretarial and banking careers. Interviewing seniors for teaching positions was Dr. Paul Munro, Superintendent of Lynchburg City Schools.

Mr. DeWitt Miller of Roanoke City Schools, Mr. Charles Smith of Hopewell City Schools and Prince George County Schools, and Mr. C. W. Miller, assistant superintendent of Hampton City Schools, will interview for teaching positions Monday, February 20.

On Tuesday, February 21, Dr. Sission of Richmond City Schools will interview for teaching positions. Mr. Cashell Donahoe, assistant superintendent of Henrico County Schools, will return for a second day of interviewing.

Mr. Ballard of Anne Arundel County Schools, Annapolis, Maryland, will interview for teaching positions on Wednesday, February 22.

H2O Theme Revealed For Water Pageant

The H2O Club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Eleanor Bobbit, has announced plans for the spring water pageant, to be held on March 16 and 17.

The theme of the Water Pageant will be a very timely one commemorating the one hundreth anniversary of the Civil War. It will be named "The Confederacy" and highlights of the Civil War will be spotlighted. To add a bit of variety to the show, the co-chairmen have tentative plans for using pantomime and singing.

Props Needed

Many confederate hats, flags, and costumes will be needed for the show. Anyone having anything that may be useful for the Water Pageant and doesn't mind lending it, please contact one of the co-chairmen or Janice Harris.

A list of participants for each number will be posted on the H2O bulletin board. Also a schedule for the various practices will be posted. Practices will begin on February 27. The different committees will be posted on the H2O bulletin board for anyone to sign up who is interested in helping.

Committee Chairmen

The committee chairmen for the Water Pageant are as follows: Ann Smith and Lefty Snyder, backdrops; Rosa Petit, music; Janice Harris, props; Hannah White, caps and makeup; Melissa Rowe and Jeannine McKenzie, costumes; Bobbie Caples, publicity; Ann Ransom, door and ushers; Jackie Davis, lighting; Faye Ripley, party; and Beverly Kersey, programs.

Faculty Attends Annual Meeting

The forty-seventh annual meeting of the Association of Virginia Colleges will be held on February 17 and 18 at Hotel Roanoke. Attending this meeting from Longwood will be Dean Ruth B. Wilson, Dean C. G. Gordon Moss, and President Francis G. Lankford.

A panel will discuss "The College and Its Constituency" in the afternoon session on Friday, February 17, with H. Sherman Oberly presiding.

On Saturday, February 18, Dr. Ruth B. Wilson, Dean of Women, Longwood College, will preside over a panel discussing the subject, "The Counselor Looks at College Admission."

A discussion of the Community College Program in Virginia has been tentatively scheduled for this session.

Health Ed Study Helps Students Improve Selves

By Sue Beardmore

Many courses offered at Longwood are subject to criticism, but there is one for which we can all be grateful. Our required course in College Hygiene, better known as "Health Ed," provides us with the opportunity to enrich our knowledge of today's health problems. But more important than that, we get a chance to improve (assume farce: oops, phase) of personal health such as losing (or gaining) weight (with Doctor's permission), stopping or cutting down on smoking, getting more rest, exercise, relaxation, or improvement of study habits.

The so called self-improvement project is assigned the first day of class along with a term paper, an advertising project, parallel, and occasional tests. More noticeable than often, students derive long range and lasting benefits from this rather renovating project.

Have you noticed the numerous slender girls tripping around the campus lately? Did you know that the price of sandwiches in the Rec has gone up due to the drop in cigarette sales; that the library is expanding and grade averages are higher than ever before because of the marked improvement in study habits; that professors have been commenting on the bright-eyed and alert students (they're getting more rest); and that participation in class games has risen sharply because more girls are seeking exercise?

To what can we attribute this renaissance at Longwood — our very own two-credit course in Health Education! Some may be critical, a few even slightly bitter, but what can be better than improvement?

Patronize
The Rotunda
Advertizers

BETWEEN MEALS . . . get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Senior Personalities Show Many Facets

By Donna Frantzen

Bobbie Caples and Cherron Kelly Dunman were chosen senior personalities by the senior class for the 1960-61 school year. Five girls were nominated by the Green and Whites of 1961 and from these the final two were chosen for their all-around friendliness and sincerity, and a willingness to be of help whenever possible.

Bobbie Caples, a physical education major from Portsmouth, has been on the AA council for three years. She is a member of the Coalition Club, Monogram Club, and Longwood Players. In connection with the drama club she played the part of "Rose" in "Plow and the Stars" last year and also took part in the one-act play.

Pep Club

Last year Bobbie was one of a four girl pep team which sought to keep class spirit alive even though the class was divided into two dormitories. The pep team also cheered at all class games. She has played class hockey and was on the archery squad; last year Bobbie played varsity hockey. This year Bobbie will be publicity chairman for Water Pageant and co - chairman of dances for May Day. She was also chosen to be one of the two cheerleaders representing the senior class on the newly formed squad.

Of course the inevitable, "How did you feel when you found out you were chosen senior personality?" had to be asked. Bobbie replied, "It made me feel . . . you know . . . I don't know how to say it . . . well you know . . . kinda nice that people thought enough of me to vote like that. I thought it was really sweet." When asked to give some of her impressions of Longwood: "After almost four years here I've gotten to know this place pretty well," she said, "but no matter how long you're here you don't get to know everybody. I was so homesick at first that I figured since my clothes were already here I'd stay for a year, but after that I'd never come back. Of course here I am. I wrote home so often at first telling Mother how homesick and blue I was that she wrote back and said, 'Be thankful you're not in a mental institution.' "

First Impression

"My first impression of Longwood was that people were trying to be friendly and yet, like hospital workers, were only making an attempt to conceal from you that you had a horrible, deadly disease. Now I'm so used to speaking to everyone that I even catch myself speaking to total strangers at home."

When Bobbie graduates she will have a minor in biology and history. She would like to teach physical education in the Norfolk area.

Student Government

Cherron Kelly Dunman, a business education major from Pearisburg and a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, has been on student government for four years. She was on the freshman commission, treasurer of the Junior class and on the Y cabinet for four years. A member of the BSU for four years, last year Cherron served as first vice-president. She has been a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma for two years and is secretary this year. She has also worked as the business manager of the Longwood Handbook.

This year Cherron was elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" and was the Madonna in the Christmas Pageant. She was also elected as president of the Y cabinet for this year.

On December 18 of last year Cherron became Mrs. Dunman. Her husband is now in the service, and is stationed in California. "It has been a temptation to leave," Cherron said, "but college is too important and we'll have the rest of our lives together, but it's so hard!"

Cherron said that she was "Very surprised and very happy when they told me I'd been chosen as a senior personality. I feel very grateful to the wonderful class to which I belong."

After graduation Cherron will join her husband in California and then they will return to Virginia in the fall. She will teach while her husband completes his schooling at VPI.

May Day

(Continued from page 1)

realize that we can't do this alone, and hope that each individual will make it her May Day and will work with that idea in mind. Let's get started as soon as possible so we can have the biggest and best May Day yet."

Choice Of Theme Narrowed

The choice of a theme for May Day has been narrowed down to three. It definitely will not be a fairy tale. Several committees have been appointed. In charge of May Court is Fran Gallahan; programs and publicity, Ann Kovacevick and Katie Mae Bolt; costumes, Janet Stanley, Susan Lane, and Laurice Hamlett; dances, Bobbie Caples and Janice Harris; props, Ruby Simpson and Winnie Ezolf; transportation, Peggy Whitaker; technical, Neal Banks; May Day dance, Sue Sharpe; Music, Julie King and Libbie Predmore.

—Staff Photo

SENIOR PERSONALITES C. Kelly Dunman and B. Caples strike a pose while waiting for the senior rec to open.

Presbyterian Addresses Students During Week

By Page Tolleson

This week, Longwood students are having Dr. Robert Bluford, Jr., Director of Campus Christian Life for the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, as guest speaker for Religious Emphasis services held on campus throughout the week.

Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored annually by the Longwood YWCA, began Monday, February 13, and will continue through Thursday, February 16, of this week. Dr. Bluford, already a favorite of the girls who have heard him, is available for personal conferences with Longwood students throughout this week in order that he may better get to know the student body individually.

Dr. Bluford has chosen 'Understanding Our Christian Faith' as a general topic in the series of talks he is giving each night in Jarman Auditorium at 6:45 p.m.

The nightly discussion group sessions, held in the Student Lounge at 10:00 p.m., have proved equally rewarding in discussing problems of college students, their worries and beliefs, and have clarified the basic fundamentals of what they really believe.

Dr. Bluford feels that college students of our day and age have more problems and more questions to answer. One student was heard to remark, "Dr. Bluford really seems to understand a college student's problems, for he told me mine last night!" Longwood students generally agree that they are very fortunate this week in having such an interesting, likable, and inspirational speaker to "stir their thinking," challenge them to personal evaluation, and to gain a more meaningful faith.

Besides the regular night services, opportunities for personal conferences and discussion groups in which Longwood students and faculty may have the privilege of seeing and hearing Dr. Bluford, everyone is encouraged to try to become acquainted personally with Dr. Bluford throughout the week.

A morning meditation in the Episcopal church will conclude the week-long program on Friday at 7:00 a.m.

Company Brings Silver Contest To LC Students

During the months of February and March, Reed & Barton, America's oldest major silversmiths, are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which valuable scholarship awards totalling $2050 are being offered to duly enrolled women students at a few selected colleges and universities.

Longwood has been selected to enter this Competition in which the first grand award is a $500 cash scholarship; second grand award is a $300 scholarship; third grand award is a $250 scholarship; fourth, fifth and sixth awards are $200 scholarships; and seventh, eighth, ninth, and tenth are $100 scholarships. In addition, there will be 100 other awards consisting of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $50.00.

In the "Silver Opinion Competition," an entry form illustrates twelve designs of sterling with nine designs of both china and crystal. Entrants simply list what they consider the six best combinations of these. Awards will be made to those entries matching or coming closest to the unanimous selections of table-setting editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

Lee Burnette is the student representative who is conducting the "Silver Opinion Competition" for Reed & Barton at Longwood. Those interested in entering the "Silver Opinion Competition" should contact Lee in Room 127, Wheeler, for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the Competition rules. She also has samples of 12 of the most popular Reed & Barton designs so that entrants can see how these sterling patterns actually look.

—Staff Photo

SOPHOMORES' VIEW of snow covered campus from roof of North Cunningham.

29 Principals, Advisors Visit From High Schools

Principals and guidance counselors from 29 Virginia high schools will visit Longwood College on Thursday, February 16, to meet with the freshmen who graduated from their respective schools.

The visitors will interview these students in the morning and will discuss these interviews with the Longwood faculty and administration in the afternoon.

Opportunities Discussed

Areas of discussion will include opportunities Longwood College offers for educational success, recommendations to the college for improvements, and recommendations for improving the programs of the students' respective high schools.

Schools Represented

High schools which will be represented are Albemarle, Appomattox, Bluestone, Brunswick, Chatham, Churchland, Climax, Cumberland, Franklin, George Mason, Greensville County, Halifax County, Hopewell.

Other schools sending delegates are Jefferson, John Marshall, Lane, Maury, Newport News, Petersburg, Prince George, Renan, Scottsville, Southampton, Suffolk, Thomas Jefferson, Victoria, Warwick, Waynesboro, and Wilson Memorial.

Valentine Fad

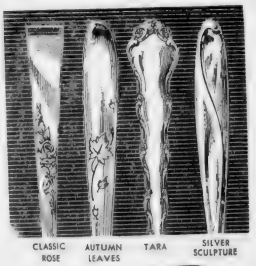
(Continued from page 2)

Observing the way the fad has spread this year, it appears that more fuel will probably be added to make the blaze even greater in the years to come. Unlike the pegged slacks and boyish bobs, it is doubtful that the flame will be hindered by masculine opposition. But watch out girls! — you may have to battle with some strong parental opposition!

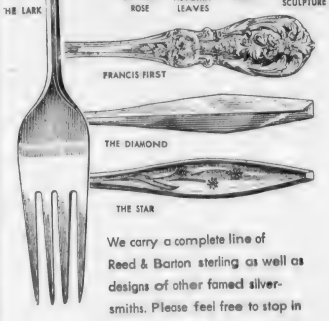
Bell System

(Continued from page 2)

tachments? Well, not quite. Wait twenty-five years or so. Then when we, the returning alumnae, gaze at the mechanical and blank face above us, we'll shed a tear or two for the nostalgic old days of yesteryear, as we recall past memories in the wake of a sound comparable only to the ringing of a thousand alarm clocks!



STARTS JAIL SCHOOL



Jailed for six months as a narcotics addict, a Long Island teacher started a school for young prisoners in the Nassau County Jail. It proved so successful, says the December Reader's Digest, that it has been continued and other communities may adopt the idea as a means of juvenile rehabilitation.

We have your favorite sterling pattern as featured in Reed & Barton's

SILVER OPINION COMPETITION

We carry a complete line of Reed & Barton sterling as well as designs of other famed silversmiths. Please feel free to stop in even if you are "just looking"

Martin
THE JEWELER
"Gifts That Last"
FARMVILLE, VA

Library
Longwood College
Farmville, Virginia

Attend Junior Dance

The Rotunda

Hear Forum Discussion

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., February 22, 1961 | No. 13

Freshmen Cast Roles, Set Plans

Freshman Production will be presented March 3 at 8 p.m. in Jarman Hall. Heading the production are Betty Ann Rex and Peggy Whittaker, co-chairmen.

Plans for Freshman Production have been completed. The cast includes Jo Ann Self, Lois Obenshain, Gayle Ray, Sally Ackiss, Susan Brittingham, Sue Mosely, Vivian Taylor, Carol Carawan, Ginny Sturm, Evelyn Gray, Dana Brewer, Betty Atkinson, Linda Jarman, Barbara Poland, Ginny Summers, Regina Collins, Joan Meadows, Carol Combs, Betsy McCorkle, June McLaughlin, and Judy Partrea.

Committee chairmen are Jo Ann Self and Mary Anne Lipford, script; Ann Hubbard, dance; Marian Russ, lighting; Brenda Isbel, stage manager; Becky Lane, props; Sandra Cowan, costumes; Peggy Thorpe and Charlotte Brooks, programs; Pat Hudson, tickets; Betty Sue Owen and Ann Fentress, publicity; Peggy Tant, make-up; Linda Edwards, music; Melanie Wilkes and Judy Woodyard, scenery.

Detrich Selects Colonnade Staff For New Year

Colonnade editor - elect Judy Detrich has announced the following staff for the 1961 student literary magazine.

The editorial staff will be divided into four departments: essay, short story, art, and poetry. Each department will consist of three staff members, the first one listed being head of her division.

These members are as follows: essay, Gayle Arnn, Mary Jo Bartley, Jean Pollard; poetry, Eleanor Kevan, Alice Joy Peele, Rebecca Wilburn; short story, Mary Kay Rice, Donna Humphlett, Linda Poff.

Melanie Wilkes and Judy Woodyard will be co-art editors.

Josie O'Hop has been chosen assistant business manager. Gaynor Vanlandingham, circulation manager, and Judy Smith, head typist, comprise the rest of the business staff heads.

The new staff will edit the May issue of the Colonnade.

Theme Unknown, Students Elect Court Nominees

The candidates for this year's May Day Queen and court have been chosen. The following girls have been selected as nominees for the queen and maid of honor. Betty Jane Allgood, Fran Gallahan, Sue Gosnell, Judy Harris, and Beverly Kersey.

The nominations for the court are Josie O'Hop, Ginny Summers, Sandy Little, Zee Tapp, Lois Peters, Jo Savage, Nan McLaughlin, Mac Brown, Sue Spicer, Betty Rice Dawson, Vanetta Remaine, Brenda Smith, Dottie Gills, and Betty Wood.

The election will be February 27.

The Queen and her court are selected only on the basis of their beauty.

The theme of May Day will be released within the next three weeks. May Day activities are scheduled to take place May 6, and it is hoped that everyone will participate.

Longwood Forum

The Longwood Forum is sponsoring a discussion on international affairs next Monday afternoon at 4:45 p.m. in the Student Lounge.

As this is to be a very informal discussion, everyone is urged not only to attend but also to participate. There will be no panel, and everyone will be free to ask any question and to make any observation or comment.

No time limit has been set in order that anyone can leave whenever he desires. Free cokes will be served to all attending.

French Novelist To Visit College, Deliver Lecture

Madame Marguerite Yourcenar, a French novelist, will visit Longwood College, Wednesday, March 1. Madame Yourcenar will speak to interested students at one o'clock in West Wing 106 on "The Novelist's Problem in Dealing with History."

Born In Brussels

Madame Yourcenar, born in Brussels of French descent, has taught at Sarah Lawrence College. She has written plays and has translated Virginia Woolf's The Waves into French. Her historical novel, Hadrian's Memoirs, won the Prix Femina, one of the four major French literature trophies.

This novel, the product of twenty years of research in Greek and Latin documents, was abandoned again and again. Finally Madame Yourcenar succeeded in putting down in print the ideas she has carried in her head for twenty years.

Hadrian's Memoirs

Hadrian's Memoirs is written

Madame Marguerite Yourcenar

of an epistle telling of the life and times of the great Roman Emperor of the second century. A critic of the Saturday Review has made the following comment:

"Even a reader indifferent to history and historical personages must find the Hadrian here presented a full and sensitive man well worth knowing; by an imagination informed and controlled by scholarship, Miss Yourcenar breathes life into the enigmatic data concerning the man and communicates a vivid sense of the multifarious empire he ruled."

"Madame Yourcenar is an admirer of Faulkner ,Thoreau, and Dos Possos. She feels indebted to American university libraries for their courtesy. She is visiting Longwood in connection with the Visiting Scholars Program.

Junior Dance Theme Set For Unveiling On Saturday

—Staff Photo

COMMITTEE HEADS (left to right) P. Tolleson, S. Wise, L. Davenport, V. Kemp, D. Snow, G. Jones, and P. Norman discuss Junior Dance plans.

'Divots' To Perform In 'Parisian Square'

By Donna Frantzen

The annual Junior Dance presented this year by the class of 1962 will be held February 25 in the Longwood gymnasium from 8 to 12.

Music for the semi - formal dance will be furnished by the Divots, an eight piece combo well known around the Roanoke area. The Divots, formerly known as the "Shades," have played frequently at VPI. The combo is made up of college boys and they have a vocalist. This year is the first time a combo will replace the traditional orchestra to play for the Junior Dance.

Spectrum of Purple

The gym will be decorated in a spectrum of purple around the theme "Parisian Square." The ceiling, made from blue cheesecloth for a "heavenly" effect, will be at the level of the balcony. The walls will be arrayed with various shades of lavender crepe paper with a mural on each wall depicting a Parisian scene.

The couples will enter under an arch of triumph and dance around a fountain which will be situated in the middle of the floor. Statuettes will be arranged around the fountain with purple lights playing on them. All lighting will be affected by variegated colors of floor lights. The bandstand will be arranged like a sidewalk cafe.

Intermission Parties

During intermission the sorority rooms will be opened and refreshments will be served. While the dance is in progress the freshman commission will sell refreshments.

No smoking will be allowed in the gym but the Student Lounge may be used for that purpose. All those attending the dance must also enter and leave through the Student Lounge.

The receiving line will include Dr. and Mrs. Francis G. Lankford, Jr., Dean Ruth B. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bobbitt, Miss Barbara Dowd, the president of the freshman class, the president of the junior class, and the dance chairmen, Patsy Skellie and Ann Wells.

The favors will be cards carrying out the basic color scheme of white and purple.

Tickets are on sale this week in the smoker at $1.50 per couple. After the dance there will be a gathering in the Junior Rec to which all are invited.

Committee Heads

Committees of the dance are theme, Diana Snow; music, Pattie Norman; tickets, Gayle Jones; advertisement, Emily Smith; favors, Betsy Wilson; decorations, Sandra Wise and Lynn Davenport; invitations, Virginia Kemp; and technical and lights, Mary Lou Wood and Page Tolleson.

In summing up their feelings about the dance Patsy and Ann said, "We've had a lot of fun working together and everyone has cooperated. We feel that this will be one of the best dances at Longwood and hope to see everyone there."

Play Casts Selected; Repertories Planned

The coming Spring plays, given by the Longwood Players and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs jointly, will be presented on Founder's Day week end, March 22-25.

Casts Announced

Casts for the plays have been announced. Characters in "The Man Who Died Laughing," by Dr. James Wellard, are Gerald, Alexander Blackburn; Florence, Matilda Conley; Miss McDougall, Betty Atkinson; Lidia, Judy Partrea; Saul Kober Jerry Goode; Professor Tezel, Ernie Posey; Brooks, Ed Baker; Ferguson, Alan Stein; Roberts, Cab Venable; Chauffeur, Randy Keller.

Cast in "Arms and the Man," by George Bernard Shaw, are Mary Beth Olson portraying Raina, Bobbie Caples as Catharine, Ernie Posey as Bluntschille, Liz Deichmann playing Louka, Cab Venable as Sergis, Al Ross as Petgoff, Ed Baker as Nicola, and "Bo" Blue as an officer.

Repertory Introduced

The plays are being presented in repertory, and many of the same students have been cast in each production. Repertory is the presentation of two plays which alternate on four evenings. Shaw's play will be staged on the first and third nights, and Wellard's play will be presented on the second and fourth nights. Concerning repertory, Ginnia Chapman, technical director, said, "We are trying something this year which is new in the educational theatre, but is often done in the professional theatre. Its success will depend on the reaction of the student body and the community."

Production "First"

The presentation of a play in production for the first time is unprecedented in the experience of the Players. Dr. Wellard, professor of English here, has presented the opportunity of staging his play for the first time.

Directing "The Man Who Died Laughing," is Mr. David Wiley, professor in the speech and drama department. Assistant director is Neal Banks, and stage manager is Emily Shelton. Mrs. David Wiley will direct "Arms and the Man," and Cecil Kidd and Roberta Coldiron will serve as assistant director and stage manager, respectively. Working crews will be the same for each play, and the Players request that persons interested in working with a [illegible] contact Ginnia Chapman or an assistant director, as help is badly needed.

Micou Chooses Editorial Staff For Fiscal Year

Mary Byrd Micou, editor-in-chief of the Rotunda for 1961-62, has announced the newspaper's new editorial staff.

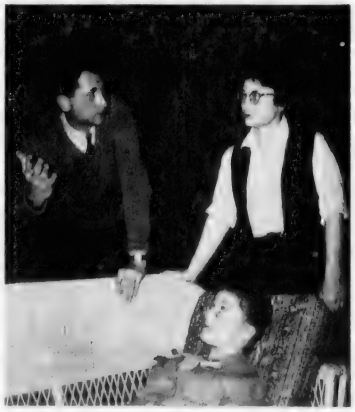
Ann Agee, a sophomore from Farmville formerly serving as desk editor, will take the position of managing editor. Working as assistant managing editor will be another sophomore from Richmond, Neal Banks.

Sophomore Donna Frantzen from Portsmouth will serve as news editor, assisted by freshman Donna Humphlett of Petersburg. Feature editor Gayle Arnn, a sophomore from Martinsville, will have sophomore Mary Beth Olson from Hampton as her assistant.

Freshman Mary Jo Bartley from Richmond, desk editor, will have another freshman, Doris Smith of Roanoke, assisting, her Lois Peters, a junior from Lynchburg will serve as sports editor, with junior Sue Beardmore of Cincinnati, Ohio, as assistant.

Two new positions have been added to the editorial staff.

(Continued on page 3)



Group To Stage AeschylusDrama For LC Lyceum

"The Oresteia" of Aeschylus will be presented in Jarman Hall March 8 at 8:00 p.m. by Players Incorporated, the longest running national repertory company in the United States.

This acting version of one of the masterpieces of Greek tragedy was presented on television in 1959 by "Omnibus." The three plays of the Oresteia Trilogy have been adapted into one theatre evening by Leo Brady.

The company has recently completed an off-Broadway engagement at the Carnegie Hall Playhouse in New York City. They have made several trips abroad under the auspices of the Department of Defense to en-

(Continued on page 3)

Staff Photo

REHEARSING FOR "THE MAN WHO DIELD LANGHING." J. Partrea looks up as A. Blackburn gestures to M. Conley.

Hats Off

—to those who attend the forum discussion next Monday.

—to professors who hold extra, optional class meetings on their own time for the good of their students.

—to the YWCA Cabinet for a fine, weeklong program of religious emphasis.

—to early birds who wake their slothful roommates for classes.

—to two former Rotunda editors for much-needed encouragement, advice, and time.

—to those who restrain themselves from spreading rumors.

—to the major-minor elections chairman for a difficult job being well done with little recognition.

—to editorial readers.

Upside-Down Values?

Among college students today there is a prevalent attitude which is doing as much as any lack of progressive educational measures to retard the processes of higher learning. That attitude is the professed indifference of most collegians to the academic in their lives. It is "out" to go to college for reasons intellectual, or at least to admit going to college for such. It is "in" to be mediocre. The "curvebreaker" can be downright unpopular.

We have an upside-down set of values academically. This is not entirely the students' fault. Our society has made the "average student," the "average housewife," the "average citizen" some sort of standard to be adhered to instead of a symbol of the norm.

Certainly it is easier to be mediocre, and some of us will never achieve any pinnacles of scholastic success. There is no blame in this, nor is there any in emphasizing qualities other than grades. We cannot all be straight "A" students. But we can all give credit where credit is due.

'Keep Looking Up'

We have just experienced what we feel and hope was a very successful Religious Emphasis Week on our campus. Our theme of "Keep Looking Up" was not merely a slogan for one week but a thought which we should keep in our minds and hearts throughout the years ahead. If we "Keep Looking Up," we will truly share the love and power that comes from above.

In our discussions and talks this past week, we were made more conscious of the deeper essentials of life. These thoughts, in which we should find our own answers, should be put into action now through our daily Christian living.

1. What is the length, depth, breadth, and height of your faith?
2. What controls you—the crowd, circumstances, consequences, noble convictions, or Christ?
3. Who or what is your Master?
4. What does your worship mean to you?
5. Do all things work for good?

We should examine our faith to strengthen our beliefs, and we must remember to always "Keep Looking Up" to feel the real presence.

—YWCA

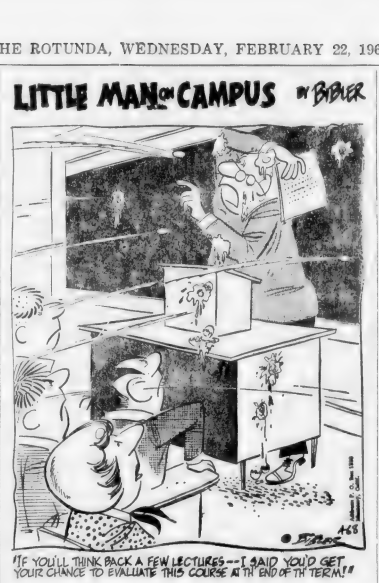
Letter To The Editor

Cut System Revision

Dear Editor:

I have many questions concerning the revised cut system that went into effect this semester. I understand that each professor is given a list of the number of cuts to which each student in his classes is entitled, and then keeps a record of the number of class absences taken. When a student takes more cuts than she is entitled to the cut is then handed in as an overcut.

What I do not understand is what happens when a student has missed class because of an infirmary illness, or has been granted an excused absence. In the case of an infirmary excuse does one give her slip to her professor and have him take care of it or does it go through the registrar? If one is excused by the dean for a trip, or such, does the dean's office take care of it? This seems like a very confusing procedure and I feel that many professors do not have the time to keep all of these things straight.



I think that we should be told a little more about the procedure that is being followed if we are to understand it. I feel that this new procedure is a more mature thing that the students are dealing with, and we are fortunate to be treated as mature adults. However, I do feel that we should be more informed.

I hope that you can make me a more informed student.

Thank you,

A Junior

(The revised cut system is literally a revised method of reporting cuts, designed to eliminate some of the book work involved in recording overcuts. Using the revised system, the Registrar's office keeps a record of each student's excused cuts and when an overcut notice for a student comes in from a professor, that student's record is checked. If she has excused cuts on record, she is not issued an overcut notice. — Editor)

Library's Old Brick Mourns Past Years

By Bettie Jane Stegall

For many years I stood faithful, strong, steadfast, and sturdy, supporting everything I held near and dear to me, the stacks! Then one day a bull dozer ripped my heart out. They said that it was for the good of the school, but now as I lie in a mudhole I somehow feel doubtful. I'm brick number 61 and for many years have witnessed many scenes in the 900 to 1000 block of the library.

From my position I saw many youngsters engaged in activities. There were the couples looking for books?? I've sat beside Dr. Swertfeger as he hmm . . . hmm . . . read his indexes and table of contents. Hmm . . . Freshmen frequently debate in my presence everything from "Peanuts versus the Oedipus Complex" to "Guess what group came by today?"

Opinions of professors as students "hurriedly" read parallel are voiced quite freely. If only I could get out of this mudhole, what I couldn't blackmail people with! Not only with opinions, but the robberies I've seen could keep a police chief busy for a month just filling out the reports.

I've seen students almost fight because there was only one copy of "Venus Between Us" by the two big K's. I've cushioned many a head while many slept and many wept.

I'll miss all these things—the laughter, the seldom silence, the study, the big bonfire in the spring, the tears, the tolls (bells and money). . .Yes, I'll miss them all.

Every day for the past three days I've been moved to a different mudhole. There are rumors among my fellow bricks that we're to be used for the foundation of the new laundry. If this is true, then I guess there is something to the old saying that "Everything comes out in the wash." I hope so anyway, because I'm too young to rest in peace.

Marital Teams On Faculty Enlighten Curious Campus

By Mary Beth Olson

The Longwood faculty and administration is comprised of several married couples. Since most of us are incurably romantic and insatiably curious, perhaps you have wondered how they met—their first impressions of one another—and their reasons for settling in Farmville, Virginia.

Mr. Clark, who manages our dining hall, while in Washington, D. C., encountered two friends who persuaded him to join them for a nightcap. Soon after the men were seated two young ladies entered the cocktail lounge after an evening at the theatre. One of the gentlmen accompanying Mr. Clark was acquainted with the ladies; introductions were made. Little did Mr. Clark realize that he was gazing at his future bride.

Courtship By Mail

Mrs. Clark was under the impression that the distinguished gentleman across the table was very tall. (After they were married she confessed her disillusionment — when Mr. Clark stood up he was much shorter than she had imagined!)

"I was certainly not thinking of marriage," said Mr. Clark. He tried to "hold onto his freedom."

However, when he entered Officer's Candidate School, they continued their courtship by mail. At last he realized that marriage was imminent. He was thwarted by the fact that he was not allowed to leave camp. Therefore, the future Mrs. Clark was responsible for buying the wedding license, choosing her wedding band, talking to the minister, and arranging the church service.

At 2 a.m. Mr. Clark arrived in Washington, D. C., once again — only twelve hours before the ceremony. The wedding turned into a mock heroic rout. Seventy-eight of his fellow officers were changing trains in Washington and decided to attend their classmate's wedding. Mrs. Clark was married with full military honors — kissed by 78 men!

Mr. and Mrs. Clark left Florida "with certain misgivings" to join the Longwood administration.

"I enjoy the girls," said Mr. Clark. His wife likes Longwood because of the "nice, friendly attitude of students and faculty."

"I'm ashamed to tell you," muttered Mr. Clark. "I've been in the food business for thirty-six years." He and his wife both enjoy people, and they have found that Longwood not only exudes a "friendly" atmosphere, but also it is located close to their daughter and their two granddaughters.

Cafeteria Meeting

Mrs. Dorothy Schlegel was attending Columbia University in New York. On Sunday night in the year of 1933 she first encountered Mr. Marvin Schlegel.

"Eating is one of the dearest things in her life," said Dr. Schlegel. Therefore, it is appropriate that this couple met in the John J. Cafeteria of the University. On weekdays two streams of traffic surged down the cafeteria lanes. However, it was Sunday night—a young lady was absent-mindedly entering the non-existent cafeteria line, when she hard a soft-spoken masculine voice say, "If you go down that line, you won't get anything to eat!" She turned and saw the gentleman smiling warmly.

"It was his smile that first attracted me," said Mrs. Schlegel.

Eight years after their first encounter the Schlegels were married—to this day they still remember their first words to each other.

Mrs. Schlegel recommends "going to graduate school" to capture a Mrs. degree.

Their first years together were busy ones. They visited Charlottesville and the University of Virginia and William and Mary in Williamsburg. Mrs. Schlegel was enchanted by both of the colleges and expressed a desire to live and work at both. As fate would have it, the Schlegels secured positions at William and Mary in Norfolk — which closed a week after their arrival! Mrs. Schlegel did have an opportunity to attend the Williamsburg college of which she'd dreamed. She also lived in Charlottesville due to Doctor Schlegel's change of position.

It was at the University of Virginia that the Schlegels befriended Dr. Lancaster's daughter (Dr. Lancaster is a former president of Longwood College) and heard that Longwood was in need of a history professor.

When Mrs. Schlegel located Farmville, Virginia, on the map she cried, "I just can't go there!" Her husband persuaded her to take a look at the college—and she in turn was persuaded to stay by the prospect of living in Doctor Simkins' red - brick house surrounded by pine trees and by the time of year—it was May Day!

"It reminded me a little of England when I looked out the window of the Weyanoke Hotel," said Mrs. Schlegel. They became fond of the college, the campus, and the girls.

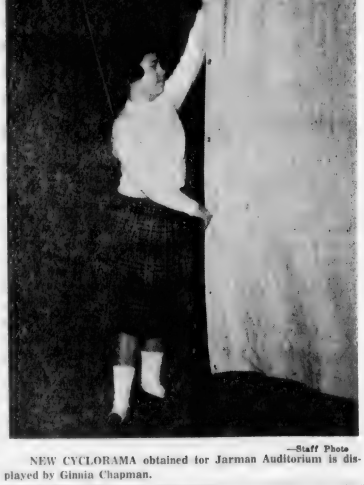
"The girls are just about my speed!" said Mrs. Schlegel. "I can't imagine a teaching situation I'd enjoy more than this."

College Dance

Mr. Myers, a business professor, and Mrs. Myers, a cashier for the Longwood bank, attended the same college—Western Pennsylvania. She was a Freshman and he was a Junior. It was a romantic occasion when they first met—the Annual Sodbusters Ball—a college dance guaranteed to bring upper classmen and freshmen together.

What was Mr. Myers's first impression of his future wife? "Well, I married her, didn't I?"

In 1941, a book salesman told the Myerses about a position that was open in the Longwood faculty. They climbed into their 1941 Mercury and sped to Farmville, Virginia.



"Ever since I've been here I've liked the college and the town better than any small college or town I've been in," said Mr. Myers. He feels that the college as a whole "has a nicer group of girls and a nicer student body" than any college with which he has been acquainted.

Both From Midwest

Doctor Landrum, the head of Longwood's business department, and his wife were both from the Midwest and were employed at Longwood when they met.

Mrs. Landrum, a physical education instructor, has had numerous job offers from other colleges, but "We are particularly fond of Virginia girls," said Doc-

(Continued on page 4)

—Staff Photo

NEW CYCLORAMA obtained for Jarman Auditorium is displayed by Ginnia Chapman.

New Cyclorama Recently Bought For Auditorium

By Neal Banks

Jarman Auditorium has a new addition — a twenty by eight foot cyclorama. The longed-for acquisition finally arrived just before exams, and lay unobtrusively in the Jarman workshop until time could be found to hang it.

What is a cyclorama? It's a very large backing of a light color used to obtain special effects in the theatre. The beautiful sky seen through the window in "Hedda Gabler" was produced by using the old "cyc" curtain. By changing the light pattern the "cyc" adjusts to different moods Sunsets, clear skys, storms anything at all is possible to create.

Trying to hang the new eighty foot drop in a forty foot opening presented difficulties. Because the "cyc" had twenty extra feet on each side that were out of sight lines, arms had to be attached

(Continued on page 4)

News Summary

Study Suggests Cut In National Security

The United States's spending on national security could be reduced by more than half in the next ten years if an acceptable disarmament agreement were achieved, a special study has concluded. By that time, the cutback could amount to 23 billion dollars a year.

The study by the Bureau of the Budget suggested that the annual level of national spending of 45.6 billion dollars "might well decline to 22.4 billions by 1970." The program most directly affected would be U. S. contributions to foreign economic development. More money would be available for this purpose if disarmament agreements were concluded.

Three Asian - African nations put before the United Nations Security Council Friday their plan for peace in the Congo—including use of force if necessary by United Nations troops to stop civil war.

In addition to authorizing use of force the resolution urges: (1) immediate evacuation from the Congo of all Belgian and foreign mercenaries, (2) halting of all states of departure of such personnel to the Congo, (3) immediate and impartial investigation into the death of former Congo Premier Lumumba.

A new defense witness in the kidnap-murder trial of Melvin Davis Rees, Jr., contradicted the testimony of two earlier witnesses this week.

Twenty-one year old night club entertainer Pat Routt, former common-law wife of Rees, testified that she alone saw Rees off from Norfolk on his way to play in a Washington night spot January 11, 1959, the night the government charged that Rees abducted the Jackson family in Louisa County. She also said she had not seen anyone else until the next morning.

Earlier, Glenn Moser, Rees' long time chum and the person that informed authorities that the musician may have kidnapped and slain the Jackson family, testified that he was present the evening Rees departed, and Mary Scarborough, Moser's friend, testified that Moser and Pat Routt were in the Norfolk beach-front cottage of the four about 9 o'clock, singing and playing a guitar. The 32 year old musician faces a possible death penalty if convicted here in the U. S. District Court.

President Kennedy Thursday prodded the nation's governors to act at once so a billion dollars in federal funds can be poured into road and school projects that would put more men to work. Kennedy asked their cooperation "to speed these and other public programs to strengthen the economy in your area and throughout the nation."

Duke Tops Navy, Tech Trims UVa In Court Capers

By Sue Beardmore

Duke took command of the game Saturday night and squeezed to a 75-73 victory over Navy in a non-conference basketball battle. With only twelve minutes remaining to be played, Duke romped ahead 11 points and from then on it was any man's game. Art Heyman, sophomore star for Duke, dropped in a free throw in the final second and clinched the win for the Blue Devils who now stand 18-4 for the season. The Middies outscored the Blue Devils from the floor, but Duke hit 29 of 47 foul shots.

It seems as if the University of Virginia's basketball team is trying to equal its football records (29 consecutive losses) as they lost their 19th game to Virginia Tech at Blacksburg Saturday. The Gobblers were leading 60-23 at halftime. The final score was Tech 105, UVA 70. Only one other Cavalier team has ever lost that many games.

Indiana racked up an easy win in Big Ten play by stomping Wisconsin 98-48. Indiana had previously lost three straight games, but Olympian Wlat Bellamy led the determined Hoosier team with 28 points. Top scorer for the Badgers was Ron Jackson who scored 26 points.

Northwestern, sparked by the skillful shooting of Bill Cacciator, overcame a ten point lead held by Illinois and moved ahead 61-60 midway through the second half of a fast paced basketball game Saturday. It was a crushing defeat for Illinois who lost by six points, 78-72.

Enrollment Grows, Highlander March

A census report in The Tulane Hullabaloo of Tulane University in New Orleans, Louisiana, shows that 3.6 million persons are enrolled in colleges and professional schools. This is a 50 per cent increase in the past five years.

The B. C. Bee of Bridgewater College announced plans for a cherry pie baking contest. All students of Bridgewater are eligible, except home economics majors. It is interesting to note that last year all entries and winners were boys.

The Highlanders, the Scottish band of Radford College, presented their annual concert February 17. The band marched in Macy's Christmas parade in New York and the Oyster Bowl parade in Norfolk during the fall quarter. Other trips are planned for the coming months.

—Staff Photo

PRACTICING BASKETBALL SKILLS. D. Harrison lifts ball as J. Still and A. Snead try to box her in, while another varsity freshman, S. Carr, moves to the play.

—Staff Photo

WORKING AT DESK, Miss Rebecca Brokenbrough determines marks for her physical education classes.

Classes To Compete For Color Cup Lead

By Lois Peters

With the Red and Whites in the lead for the color cup, the Green and Whites will try to gain ground in the next color cup competition, class basketball and volleyball. Tentative dates have been set for the games. They are scheduled to begin on March 8 or 9 and continue the next week.

Eight Practices

All persons participating in these games must attend eight scheduled practices unless they are enrolled in a physical education class that is teaching basketball or volleyball. Many of the classes are lacking a sufficient number of players to make a team. In order to keep the competition keen, all girls who are interested in playing for their respective classes are requested to get their required practices.

Class Managers

Ann Simmons and Alma Jean Wright are serving as class basketball managers for this year. It is their duty to be sure the basketball games have the necessary officials for the games.

Serving as class volleyball managers are sophomores Lefty Snyder and Gibby Britt. They will be responsible for handling all officials for the volleyball games beginning February 23.

To be eligible to take part in the swimming meet a student must have eight practices. These practices may be obtained in the following ways: (1) eight practice sessions which meet at 5 p.m. each Thursday, (2) enrollment in a swimming class (equal to four practices, and four additional practice sessions which meet Thursday at 5 p.m., (3) four regular "rec" swims and four of the practice sessions meeting at 5 p.m. on Thursday.

A student must have a minimum of four of the special practice sessions to be eligible to participate in the swimming meet.

Last year the Green and Whites won the swimming meet competition. "Sinkers" are invited to come out and cheer their team to victory.

Swimming Meet Rulings Require Eight Practices

By "Lefty" Snyder

"On your mark, get set, go!" This familiar phrase will soon be echoing through the Longwood pool as the class swimming meet draws near. The date for the competition has been set for April 13.

Under the supervision of the H2O Club, special practice sessions for developing swimming meet skills and techniques will be held each Thursday at 5 p.m.

Rotunda Staff

(Continued from page 1)

Joining the staff as exchange editor will be freshman Lewan Rippey from Richmond. Junior Page Tolleson from Gordonsville will serve as makeup editor.

Take A
Study Break
At Your COLLEGE
SNACK BAR

See Our Line Of CHARM BRACELETS
and CHARMS
• Longwood Seal
• Longwood Pennant
MARTIN,
THE JEWELER

LC Faculty Member Former Hockey Star

By Janice Harris

One of Longwood's most outstanding faculty members is Miss Rebecca Brockenbrough, associate professor of physical education.

Miss "B," as she is fondly known by the student body, came to Longwood in the fall of 1950. Before coming to Longwood, she was the head of the physical education department at Saint Margaret's Episcopal School in Tappahannock.

Native of Richmond

A native of Richmond and a graduate of Westhampton College, Miss "B" majored in mathematics and English. "Physical education wasn't offered as a major then, but I took all the activity courses that initiated as a member of the Mortar Board, which corresponds to our Alpha Kappa Gamma on a larger scale.

In 1922 Miss "B" played in the first National Hockey Tournament ever to be played in America. She played again on the team in 1924. The teams weren't organized as formally as they are now, according to Miss "B." Students of Westhampton and Sweet Briar and graduates of Bryn Mawr and Vassar were members of the team. Miss "B" played inner for these tournaments. In 1925 their team was invited to play an English touring team in America, which was an "experience."

Army Life

One of the most interesting phases of Miss "B"'s life involves her three and a half years in the army. She was one of the first two women in Virginia to be sworn into the Army.

She received her training in Des Moines, Iowa, was promoted to captain, and afterward spent eighteen months overseas. She was stationed at the US headquarters in England where much of the planning for invasion was done. She also spent part of her time in Fontainbleau, France.

Miss "B" doesn't limit her interests to those of her profession. She especially enjoys raising flowers, and she has a small garden where she grows roses, azaleas and chrysanthemums. She also enjoys reading, mainly for entertainment, and subscribes to two current events magazines, two professional magazines, and two pertaining to flowers.

Favorite Hobbies

One of Miss "B" 's favorite hobbies is photography. Any member of the varsity hockey team can vouch for that statement. She never attends a game without her camera and is forever posing the team and getting "action shots."

When asked what her primary interests were, she replied with a smile, "I think that's obvious—sports." Miss "B" has no favorite as far as sports are concerned. "I like them all, and the one I'm participating in at the moment is the one I like best."

Players Group

(Continued from page 3)

tertain troops in Korea, Japan, the European command and the Arctic Circle.

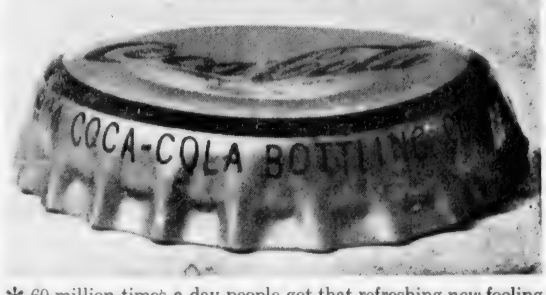
Members of the company are graduates of the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C., noted for the many Broadway hits which have originated in the theatre there.

The idea which became Players Incorporated came to Father Hartke, head of the speech and drama department of Catholic University. Players Incorporated was created to bring good productions of theatre classics to places that might never see them, as well as to provide a way for the graduating students to apply their skills and talents.

Chairmen Solicit Flags, Costumes For Water Fete

Preparations for the H2O spring water pageant, "The Confederacy," to be held on March 16 and 17 are well under way.

Sue Beardmore, chairman of script, met with her committee composed of Claudia Wilson and Morag Nocher (co-chairmen of the pageant), Dibby Mohr, and Mary Byrd Micou. The script has been completed, and the music for each number has been selected.



The chairmen of the various numbers have been notified, and practices will begin February 27.

Many confederate hats, flags, and costumes are still needed for the show. Anyone having access to props of this type should contact Morag Nocher, Claudia Wilson, or Janice Harris. These props will not be used in the water.

Anyone interested in helping with the pageant may sign up on the H2O bulletin board under the committee of her choice.

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARK

6 · 10⁷ · 365¼*

* 60 million times a day people get that refreshing new feeling with ice-cold Coca-Cola!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Longwood Role As Refugee Site Defined By CD

By Mary Jo Bartley

The Longwood College campus became involved in active role in the civil defense program during the past week.

The college, especially a large section taken up by Wheeler and part of Jarman Hall, became the designated supply storage area. The campus is one of the [illegible] for Farmville and Prince Edward County.

Refugee Area

According to Mr. E. F. Stemlin, civil defense coordinator for Prince Edward County, "Farmville is considered to be a refugee area, not a target area. In case of enemy attack and bombing, injured refugees from cities such as Norfolk and other target areas will be taken care of by our emergency equipment."

Stored in Wheeler are hundreds of items including beds, pillows, oxygen tanks, many kinds of medicines and a great variety of basic hospital equipment which would be useful in case of an attack. Perishable medicines are being kept in refrigerators in Stevens Hall.

Emergency Equipment

An electric generator is also part of the emergency equipment. Because of its size it is being stored at the Farmville municipal warehouse instead of at Longwood.

Dr. Francis J. Clements, local health officer, is directly responsible for the operation of an emergency clinic at the college. Working with Dr. Clements would be local doctors and surgeons.

Kappa Delta Pi Holds Banquet In LC Tea Room

Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society, held its annual banquet on Thursday, February 16, at 5:30 p.m. in the Tea Room to welcome new members into the organization.

The original speaker had an attack of pneumonia and was not able to come. Dr. Francis G. Lankford, Jr., who was to be the alternate guest speaker, became ill, and Miss Ruth B. Wilson read his speech "The Master Teacher" was the topic of Dr. Lankford's speech, and it presented the characteristics of a good teacher.

Those at the banquet besides the old and new members were

Old Colonnades

Anyone interested in obtaining back issues of the Colonnade is invited to stop by the Colonnade room between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Thursday, February 23. The issues dating from 1944 to the present, offer an interesting account of trends and literary expression [illegible] at Longwood.

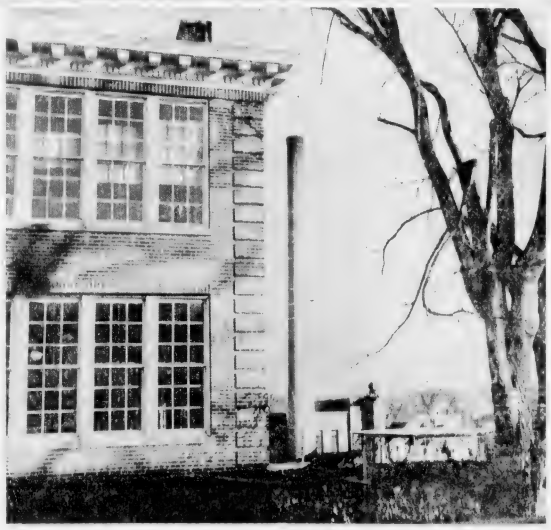
Any extra issues left after [illegible] will be disposed [illegible] accurately.

Research Grant In Music Study Awarded Molnar

The Virginia Center in Richmond and Longwood College have received a grant to Dr. John W. Molnar, chairman of the music department at Longwood College. The grant will enable further research by Dr. Molnar on "Art Music in Colonial Virginia."

Used As Lecture

The first stages of this study were presented by Dr. Molnar in a lecture to the Institute of Southern Culture at Longwood last July. This lecture, and other discussions at the Institute, will be published soon.



Dr. Molnar received his doctorate degree from the University of Cincinnati. Before coming to Longwood in 1949, he was conductor of the University of Cincinnati Glee Club and Oratorio Society, the Cincinnati Conservatory Opera, and the Cincinnati Conservatory Summer Symphony. He also has had extensive experience in Kentucky as a band, choral and orchestral director. His orchestrations have been performed by the Arlington Civic Symphony, the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra.

Articles Published

A number of Dr. Molnar's articles have been published in professional journals, and he recently presented a paper on the results of his present research to the Lynchburg Chapter of The Colonial Dames of America.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard B. Brooks, Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, Dr. Donald Wesley, Dr. Charles H. Patterson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lewis O. Turner, Miss Kate G. Trent, and Miss Wilson.

Kappa Delta Pi is a national honorary society for those interested in the teaching profession. To be eligible for membership, one must be at least a junior and in the upper fifth of the student body scholastically.

—Staff Photo

POWER HOUSE SMOKE STACK rises to the right of the former Farmville Elementary School, now temporary Longwood library.

Thirty Second Blast Indicates New Alarm

The Fire Drill Committee has recently changed its regulation regarding the warning siren. In the future, a fire drill will be signalled by a thirty second blast on the siren and fire horns instead of the five short blasts on the siren previously used.

In the case of a real fire, the siren will continue until disconnected by the fire department. This change has been made so that it will be possible to distinguish it from the siren used by the city. Thus it will be possible to have the same type of signal for drills as would be employed in the event of an actual fire.

Students are reminded of the regulations for a fire drill as stated in the Student Handbook:

Night Drills — Shut the windows; leave on overhead lights; take coat, shoes, book, towel, and scarf; leave doors open and go single file to the designated exits; do not play with fire extinguishers or fire sirens.

Day Drills — Students must leave classes immediately upon hearing the fire siren; all instructors, day students, and members of the administrative staff are requested to leave the building; persons leaving the buildings should exit through the nearest door.

Haley, Garland Serve Infirmary As New Nurses

Mrs. Eva Haley of Keysville has replaced Mrs. Edith Wamsley in the college infirmary. Mrs. Haley is a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia and previously held a position with Southside Hospital as day supervisor. She also did relief work as well as private duty.

About one year ago Mrs. Haley became interested in working here and spoke to Dr. Graziani, college physician, about obtaining a job.

She said that she enjoyed the students and found them very stimulating and interesting.

Mrs. Frances Garland of Worham came to the Longwood infirmary in September after seventeen years with Dr. H. C. Alexander of Farmville. Mrs. Garland completed nurse's training at Lynchburg General Hospital. Since then she has held positions with Southside Community Hospital and Beckley General Hospital, Beckley, West Virginia.

When asked how she liked working here she replied, "I just love it. The girls are all so cooperative."

Landrums Offer Unique Motivation

(Continued from page 2)

tor Landrum, "they are eager to learn. We try to stimulate them and get their interest."

Doctor Landrum feels that he and his wife work as a team—helping one another form educational objectives despite their diverse fields.

"It is amazing what girls can do when properly motivated," he said.

"I feel that we are making a great contribution to the state and to the nation by preparing physical education teachers and business teachers." It is this feeling of contribution that has spurred on the Landrums and made teaching rewarding rather than drudgery.

Incurable Romantics of Longwood College, I hope that this has served to curb your curiosity!

Eight Sororities Begin Week Of Formal Rushing

The eight national sororities on the Longwood campus are in the midst of their formal rushing program. Those sorities having teas are: Alpha Sigma Alpha, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Sigma Tau, Delta Zeta, Kappa Delta, Sigma Kappa, Sigma Sigma Sigma, and Zeta Tau Alpha.

The first teas were held on Tuesday, February 21, in the chapter rooms. The second teas will be held tonight, February 22. Signing of the preferential bids will follow these teas.

Bids will be issued Thursday, February 23, at 12:00 by Dean Wilson, advisor for the Panhellenic group. Formal pledging will follow at 5 p.m. in the chapter rooms.

Phi Mu, the new sorority colonizing on this campus will have its first formal tea on Sunday, February 26. They will complete their pledging by the first week in March.

New Cyclorama

(Continued from page 2)

to the back pipe on which to extend the curtain. The completed effect is a curtain that almost completely embraces the stage playing area, and makes any sort of desired background possible.

The new cyclorama is a very definite asset to Longwood productions. Though it is not the first, it is the biggest and most serviceable. It will probably be seen for the first time in this spring's Longwood Players productions.

Patronize The Rotunda Advertizers

For Gifts For Your Sorority Sisters Visit Lanscott Gift Shop

George Washington's SALE—FEB. 22nd
One Table Books 22c
$2, $3 & $4 Books $1.22
BIG SPECIAL on TYPEWRITERS!
(Register for the FREE Gift)
Weyanoke Book Shop
200 High St.
Farmville, Va.

Annual Institute Begins Lectures For 1961 Series

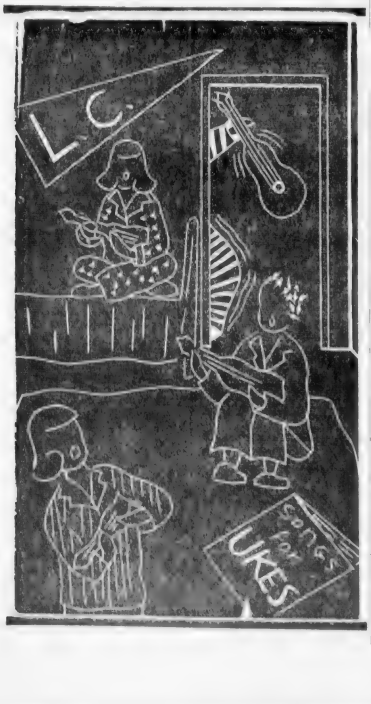
The sixth annual Institute of Southern Culture will be held at Longwood College, April 21, 1961. The Institute was established at Longwood in 1956 to promote the study of traditional aspects of Southern civilization through academic course work, special lectures, and through the publication of research in the field.

The first lecture at 11 a.m. will be given by Dr. Willard Throp, professor of English at Princeton University, on "The Writer as Pariah in the Old South."

At 4 p.m. Dr. Richard K. Meeker, associate professor of English at Longwood College, will discuss "The Shadowy Stories of Ellen Glasgow."

The final lecture, "Faulkner and the South," will be presented by Dr. James B. Meriwether, assistant professor of English, University of North Carolina, at 8:00 p.m.

The lectures will be held in the lounge of the Student Activities Building and are open to the public. Materials appropriate to the lectures will be exhibited in the Longwood College Library. Financial support for the Institute has been provided by the Longwood College Alumnae Association.



In addition to the spring lectures, the Institute has also scheduled summer lectures which will be presented July 26, 1961.

Gallery Displays Ross' Art Work In Kansas Show

A collection of wood and linoleum cuts by Miss Annie Lee Ross, associate professor of art at Longwood College, is now being displayed at an exhibit in the Birger Sandzen Memorial Art Gallery, Lindsborg, Kansas.

A pupil of the late Swedish-American post-impressionist painter, Birger Sandzen, Miss Ross later taught at Bethany College in Lindsborg as his assistant.

Miss Ross has had a number of exhibitions of her paintings, prints and wood and linoleum cuts, including a one-man show with the Salina, Kansas Art Association. She also presented a research paper on "Domestic Architecture in Virginia" at the Institute of Southern Culture at Longwood College last spring. The lectures at this Institute are now being printed in book form and will be available in the near future.

The Luckless Legion by Irwin Caplan

Almost 300,000 casualties occurred on slippery roads in 1958.

Longwood College
Farmville, Virginia

The Rotunda

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., March 1, 1961 | No. 14

'Night To Remember' Set For March 3

Campus Primary Narrows Choice Of New Leaders

Under the chairmanship of senior Peggy Blackwell, the primary for major elections was conducted yesterday in the Rotunda from 12 until 6:45 p.m.

This election narrowed the field of three candidates to two for each major office, to be voted upon in Thursday's final contest.

The screening board for major elections, consisting of two representatives from each class, the four organization heads, and the major - minor chairman, submitted their slate of nominations to the student body on Sunday. Mattie Blewett, Pat Hickey, and Jo Savage were the board's final selections for Student Government president candidacy.

The YWCA president nominees were Virginia Kemp, Nancy Pretty, and Page Tolleson. Trina Childress, Keaton Holland, and Morag Nocher were candidates for president of the Athletic Association, and students voted for Ann Howell, Shirley Mills, or Diana Snow for House Council president.

Minor elections — the election of the vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the four major organizations — will be held in late March. The minor elections screening board will consist of the current organization heads, the newly elected presidents, and Peggy Blackwell. This board will draw up a slate of three nominees for each minor office, to be voted upon by the student body.

The percentage of votes cast by each class will be tabulated and announced.

Sororities Hold Formal Rushing, 65 Accept Bids

Eight national social sororieties on the Longwood campus last week extended bids after a week of formal rush.

Sixty-five girls pledged after attending parties on February 21 and 22 in the sorority rooms located in Student Building.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Alpha Gamma Delta pledges were Sandra Foster, Helen Fox, Mary Lou Mullins, Kathy Shelton, Diana Snow, Brenda Timberlake, and Pat Winstead.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Pledging Alpha Sigma Alpha were Sandra Burnett, Roberta Coldiron, Evelyn Gray, Ann Hubbard, Brenda Mitchell, Sandra Revelle, Betty Ann Rex, Kay Ware, and Signe Young.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Pledges of Alpha Sigma Tau were Carol Axelson, Barbara Fields, Mary Anne Lipford, Judy Melchor, Judy Partrea, Pat Pinkston, Betty Jean Russell, and Peggy Whittaker.

Delta Zeta

Carol Combs, Earline Cook, Frances Ann Daniel, Shirley Dunnavant, Cissie Griggs, Anne Lawrence, Margaret McMullen, and Joyce Smith pledged Delta Zeta.

Kappa Delta

The following girls pledged Kappa Delta: Nancy Burke, Ann Carroll, Judy Humphries, Becky James, Lynne Osteen, Joan Perry, Ginny Sturm, Liz Taylor, and Betty Vance.

Sigma Kappa

Sigma Kappa pledged Carol Benton, Earlyne Brown, Charlotte Craig, Betsy Grant, Linda Jarman, Charlotte Jones, Vivian Taylor, Judy Tytus, and Susie Waters.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Sigma Sigma Sigma extended bids to Betty Boyd, Verna Holden, Ginny Summers, Peggy Tant, and Diane Turner.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Receiving bids from Zeta Tau Alpha were Joan Baldwin, Jerolien Clarke, Marinda Farias, Stacy Jackson, Kathleen Laing, Joyce Lake, Carol Martin, Barbara Moyer, Terry Watson, and Janet Wright.

May Court

Senior Fran Gallahan from Colonial Beach has been elected May Queen for the annual May Day festivities held at Longwood Estate on Saturday, May 6. Maid of Honor is Betty Jane Allgood, also a senior, from Boydton.

Those selected to serve on the May Court are seniors Sue Gosnell from Arlington, Judy Harris from Fort Ord, California and Beverly Kersey from Richmond. Juniors represented are Nan McLaughlin from Woodberry Forest, Zee Tapp from Versailles, Kentucky and Jo Savage from Danville. Those serving from the sophomore class are Mac Brown from Greenville, Sandy Little from Norfolk, Josie O'Hop from Norfolk, Vanetta Remaine from Roanoke, Brenda Smith from Norfolk and Sue Spicer from Richmond.

Professor Sees Eastern Africa Expansion Crisis

Dr. Walter W. Deshler, professor of geography at the University of Maryland, will be at Longwood College Thursday, March 9. "Population in Eastern Africa, Explosion Ahead" is the subject of the speech which will be given by Dr. Deshler at 10 a.m. in Jarman Auditorium.

DR. WALTER W. DESHLER

Lafayette and Oxford

Dr. Deshler received his BA degree from Lafayette College in 1943 and attended Oxford University from 1950-51; he received his MA degree from the University of Maryland in 1953 and his PhD in 1957; he has been an instructor and assistant professor at the University of Maryland since 1953.

At present, Dr. Deshler is a member of the Association of American Geographers, the Fellow Royal Geographical Society, the Fellow African Studies Association, the Washington Anthropological Society and Governing Board, and the Institute of African Relations.

British East Africa

Dr. Deshler was in British East Africa from 1952-54 under a Fulbright Fellowship and was a member of the Oxford University Expedition Club to northern Kenya in the summer of 1957.

Dr. Deshler comes to Longwood as a part of the Visiting Scholars Program of the University of Virginia. This lecture is open to the public and all students are urged to attend.

—Staff Photo

MASTER OF CEREMONIES (S. Brittingham), treats Fifi Latour (J. Self), to a "Night to Remember" as Maw (S. Mosely) and Paw (V. Taylor) watch.

Training School Used As Interim Library

Within one month the vacated elementary training school has been transformed into one of the most vital places on a college campus—the library. The elementary school will serve as the college library until February 1962, when the remodeling of the library building will be completed.

Complete Collection

Practically the complete collection of between 65,000 and 70,000 books are now shelved in the basement and on the main floor of the elementary school. Only the fiction books are not shelved. Due to a delay in receiving shelves for the fiction collection, the library staff has alphabetized the books on the floor of a room on the main floor. The shelving has arrived now, however, and will be in use within a week.

The improvised library has caused little confusion and handicap to the student body. Mr. Charles E. Butler, college librarian, states that he is very pleased with the response the students have made. The only drawback to the situation, he says, is the scarcity of tables and chairs. There are few tables on the basement floor, but ample seating facilities are available on the main floor.

The Longwood Library League has made posters which indicate the divisions of the library. The reserve books and reference books are in the area to the left of the entrance in the basement. The 300 and 500 books, plus the office, pamphlet and picture files, and microfilm apparatus, are in the first room on the right, just beyond the circulation desk. The bound periodicals are shelved in the right rear room, opposite a large room which shelves the 100's, 600's, 700's, 900's, and biographies (92's).

The card catalogue and shelves of journals and magazines line the wall on the right side of the rectangular corridor, which is used for seating space, on the basement floor. On the left side are the newspaper rack and the indexes, which extend to the other end of the corridor where the encycolpedias are shelved.

The main floor of the elementary school is divided into square areas for juvenile literature, fiction books, state-approved textbooks, the library science collection, a smoking lounge, and a corridor of study tables.

Interior Remodelled

The college library, which will be completely remodelled in the interior, will provide space for the library collection to double within the next twenty years. The new library, which Mr. Butler predicts to be "spacious, attractive, and functional," will [illegible] of additional space but it will be [illegible] a complete new lighting system.

The [illegible] will be [illegible] open rooms, rather than [illegible] to the floors of stacks.

(Continued on page 3)

Freshmen To Enact TV Show Satire

Each year, the Freshman and Sophomore classes present their traditional class production. Friday night at 8, the Freshmen will enact a comedy theme based on a well-known television program. The title, "Nothing Brings You a Night to Remember", is a satire on a famous sponsor's show, "This is Your Life".

Success Story

The story concerns a young girl who went to Hollywood and "made good" as movie star, Fifi Latour. Her life story is told on "A Night to Remember", and she is reunited with her family, famous people who helped her to success, and her former boyfriend. By means of flashbacks, she is shown her experiences as a students at Longwood College. A group singing variations on Kingston Trio songs, dancing numbers, and buzzing by Top Rats, remind her of her former college days.

Co-chairmen of the production are Betty Ann Rex, of Charlottesville, and Peggy Whittaker, of Roanoke. The musical score and lyrics to orginal songs are by Betty Ann Rex.

Cast Numerous

Cast in the production are, Jo Ann Self as Fifi Latour; Susan Brittingham as master of ceremonies; Mary Anne Lipford as the newspaper reporter; Sue Moseley as Maw; Vivian Taylor as Paw; June McLaughlin as the cameraman; Gayle Ray as Miss Stickson; and Dana Brewer as Mr. Browse. Portraying Georgi Kastov is Ginny Gilmore; mistress of ceremonies, Betty Ann Atkinson; Gloria Swamp, Ginny Summers; J. P. Perkins, Regina Collins; Ferdie Fretwell, Joan Meadows.

Children will be played by Cookie Blackstone, Martha Rose, Annette Fitzgerald, Betty Thompson, Betty Wall, Betty Sue Owen, Margaret McMullen, Jo Ann Cohen, Pat Pinkston, Della Bruin, Lois Obenchain, Barbara Ramsey, Beth Worley, Sandra Cowan, and Nancy Dobyns. The tap dancing group will include, Diane Kersey, Jackie Forrest, Jane Bryan, Charlotte Jones, Linda Drumwright, Lynn Martin, Joyce Walburger, Verna Holden, Carolyn Anderson, and Brenda Timberlake. The following will be folk dancing: Rena Weld, Jane Carol Maddox, Annette King, Noel Dyson, Carroll Tew, Margie Twilley, Alta Strickland, Marilyn Kilgore, Ann Hubbard, Terry Watson, and Myrtle Thomas. Included in the cast are the Top Rats of the class of '64.

In charge of lighting are Mary Lou Wood, Bettie Jane Stegall, and Marian Russ. Assisting with the production are Dibby Mohr and Janice Harris.

Tickets are 35c, and may be obtained from Freshmen, or at the door.

Annual Meeting Names Lankford College Officer

Dr. Francis G. Lankford, president of Longwood College, has been elected president of the Association of Virginia Colleges.

He was elected president during a two-day convention held February 17-18 at the Hotel Roanoke in Roanoke, Virginia.

Other Officers

Other officers named at the meeting of the association were Dr. John M. Turner, dean of Lynchburg College, vice president, and Dr. Lloyd J. Davidson, dean of the faculty at VMI, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Lankford has previously served as chairman of the nominating committee in 1960. Dean Ruth Wilson of Longwood College served as vice president of the association last year.

33 Colleges

Approximately 33 colleges are members of the Association of Virginia Colleges. The annual meeting is held each year in February.

—Staff Photo

THE LIBRARY'S MOVE to the training building has created few operational difficulties for L. Carson, M. Blewett and M. Warren.

When Winter Comes

Longwood's rooftops are once more populated by eager sun worshippers, and the forsythia bushes in front of Main Cunningham tentatively poke out a few brave yellow blossoms.

Madras and tennis shoes come out of the backs of closets, sunglasses reappear, and young men's fancies turn to thoughts of baseball and concerts on the fraternity house lawn.

The green benches around campus become favorite meeting places; studying is very hard; Easter plans suddenly are important.

May Day doesn't seem so far away after all, and it's not quite so hard to get up in the morning.

That it may snow tomorrow doesn't matter at all, because yesterday spring came to Longwood.

Let Us Hear From You

Every Wednesday, excepting vacation time, four printed pages of college news is distributed to the students and faculty on this campus. The front page is spread with big events — Circus, May Day, Graduation, Dances. Personalities — Circus chairman, May Queen, new presidents are featured, along with other bits of organization and faculty news. On other pages are the sports news and the different columns — all for your information and entertainment.

And then there are these editorials. Have you ever considered for whom in particular this column is written? Or do you usually just skim over this and skip on to a story? Now, ask yourself this: How many times during the last week have you complained about some condition on campus, or praised some successful event or person, or felt the need to voice your opinion about anything concerning Longwood? Perhaps you just dropped it indifferently or decided there was nothing you could do about it anyway. But there is a way for you to voice your opinion and comment about our college — in letters to the editor. If you gave your personal opinions in letters to the Rotunda more people would read editorials, and your ideas, praise, requests, or complaints would be known. Until you begin to use the Rotunda in this way, its job as a student newspaper will be of no service to your college life welfare. Not that we think any drastic conditions exist at Longwood, nor do we wish to start a crusade for any changes, but we would like each of you to feel that you can express yourself in your paper.

Letters to the editor will be carefully considered and checked before printed. We don't want misunderstanding or biased opinions, but we do want to know how you feel!

(The Rotunda news box is located across from the wires.)

—From The February 19, 1958 Rotunda

Views Render Relief For Week End Blues

By Ann Kovacevich and Betty Jane Stegall

Have you ever been bored on a week end at Longwood? Well, if you haven't you're abnormal, at least according to Freud (Freud Us). Never fear, someone's always looking out for your interests. We are here to say we have an answer — or better still — answers! We decided that boring situations can be and should be alleviated (in other words finessed). As a result of much consultation we would like to present to you some of our findings. No names are being used and anything incriminating is purely intentional and was meant to be taken that way. We have a feeling the meeting will be long Tuesday night. Do not fear, we shall not disclose anyone's name in connection with statements . . . room numbers maybe . . . but never names. To proceed with the results:

One Senior suggested having parties in the AA cabin at Longwood Estate. (Which AA?) An organization president said, "Have sockhops. . . PLAY (with expression) . . . Just bop everywhere ! ! On the other hand, one student would like for the library to remain open on Saturday nights. This is where a Soph's answer would seem appropriate, "You can't do but so much . . . that would go over . . . with everybody."

Outsides Offer Aid

We obtained several interesting comments from non-Longwood students (the outside world). Three MCV students stepped on the elevator and said "What are you trying to do? Get away from it all?" When they learned the motive of our action, they answered, "You just gotta learn how to operate!" A parent riding up suggested that her daughter's boyfriend be brought in to relieve the blues.

Student Government also expressed it's opinion (it didn't realize it at the time). One said, "Sleep them off or do something daring." Another, "Choose up sides and make faces at each other," and still another suggested an installation of IBM Dating Machines, peanut butter orgies, and 48 hour Saturdays. One other did comment that she felt a recreation center should be built (where I don't know . . . Maybe on Ely Street . . . Well, do we or don't we own it?).

We did get some answers many times — these students felt that free movies should be shown in Jarman Hall on Saturday nights and that combos be brought in on alternate Saturdays. Money? Campus Fees was their answer.

Recreation To Rescue

Overall recreational facilities such as horseback riding, gymnasium activities, rec swims, and golf were mentioned. Some felt

(Continued on page 4)

Spring Excursion To Famed Estate Enhances New Life, Old Traditions

By Gayle Arnn

"Any sunny afternoon in the spring or fall of the year will find a group of college girls gaily trudging in the narrow, twisted roads that leads from Farmville to Longwood, the hundred acre estate owned by the State Teachers College and situated approximately a mile east of town."

Although the above paragraph was taken from a manuscript entitled "The Story of Longwood," written in 1946 by Jane Waring Rufin, it is just as valid today, fifteen years later. As spring fever hits more and more girls, incapacitating their mental activities and renewing their physical vigor after a winter of hibernation, history repeats itself—the college girls are seen gaily trudging the twisted road that leads from Farmville to Longwood Estate.

Secret Attraction

What is the secret attraction about Longwood Estate that seems to draw everyone in that direction once the weather gives the "go ahead" signal? The answer to this question probably lies buried in the treasure chest of sentimental traditions that has continued to become fuller each year, giving Longwood its wealth of memories.

From 1765 until 1811, Longwood Estate was in the family of three generations of Johnstons, the first being Peter Johnston who purchased the estate from John Nash. At that time the land extended well beyond the present site of Hampden-Sydney College. In 1774 Johnston offered to the Hanover Presbytery a tract of land on which to erect the Prince Edward Academy, which later grew into Hampden – Sydney College.

Probably the most prominent of the Johnstons was Joseph Eggleston Johnston, who belonged to the third generation and was a distinguished general in the Civil War. Most authorities hold that he was born in what is now the Longwood House.

Most Distinguished Man

Longwood Estate was sold in 1811 by Peter Johnston, Jr. to Abraham B. Venable. At that time the estate consisted of 1,182 acres of land. Some authorities contend that Abraham B. Venable was the most distinguished man ever born in Prince Edward County. After having served in the United States House of Representatives and Senate, he became the first President of the Bank of Virginia, in which capacity he served until his death in 1811. When he died, the Estate was inherited by his brother Samuel who passed it down to his son Nathaniel E. Venable in 1814. Nathaniel E. Venable and his wife Mary Embry Scott had eleven children who in turn also had large families.

In reference to the Venable estate, Jane Waring Rufin has this to say in "The Story of Longwood"

"With such a family, and so many grandchildren returning to visit their grandparents, it is easy to vision life at Longwood in those days before the great conflict between the North and the South . . . It is easy to picture the broad, level lawn, shadowed by spreading trees, with grass growing long and thick up their very trunks, and calves and colts grazing in the dappled shade. The large gardens are abloom once more when one pictures that plot of land to the rear of the house in which flowers and vegetables grew side by side, and roses and violets mingled democratically with onions and cabbages, where sweet old-fashioned flowers bloomed in tiny borders and nut trees were cultivated."

But in the midst of such serenity, fighting did break out. According to some sources, General Lee and his staff spent at least one night at Longwood during the course of the war.

Not Kept Up

Upon the death of Mary Embrey Scott Venable (her husband had died nineteen years earlier) in 1855, the estate was divided among her children. In 1873, the Venable heirs sold 200 acres of the land and the Longwood dwelling to Wright Barber. During the years when the Barbers lived at Longwood the dwelling was allowed to run down, and the grounds were not kept up. Finally Dr. J. D. Eggleston and two other enraged citizens purchased the burying ground and deeded it to Hampden-Sydney College. Finally in 1928, the dwelling house and 88.7 acres of land surrounding it were purchased by the State Teachers College in Farmville.

Restorations

It was the desire of Mrs. J. L. Jarman to restore the estate to its former beauty and to make it into a recreation spot for students of the college. To the accomplishment of this end, Jane Waring Rufin describes the improvements which Mrs. Jarman helped to initiate:

"The broad expanse of field stretching to the front of the house was made into a golf course; a riding ring was added to the east of the course; a small cabin and open fireplaces were constructed in the woods at the foot of the hill to the west of the house. The gardens were replenished and planted with many flowers. The giant box bushes were transplanted and trimmed, the lawn sodded and cared for. Large flood lights were attached to the outside of the house to light night occasions."

Over One Hundred Acres

From time to time more land has been purchased and the estate now consists of over one hundred acres of land. Miss Rufin sums up clearly and concisely the totality of Longwood's wealth of memories in the final chapter

(Continued on page 4)

Stuffed Pets Unfold Secrets, Sentiments

By Mary Beth Olson

On every bed throughout the Longwood dorms rest stuffed animals in various positions—sitting with hunched shoulders, standing stiff and erect, sprawling with arms and legs askew, and lying prostrate. Each girl has selected a favorite animal chum and tends to be particularly partial to it. The animals seem to recall a sentimental memory or two.

"Toothpick" lies in a crumpled heap—his spider-like arms and legs twisted in all directions. His red suit is soiled, his tassled hat is frayed, and his face grins through a coat of grayish grime. "Toothpick" was the product of a grandmother's loving hands. His freshman year at Longwood passed uneventfully as he sat motionless upon his pillow. This year, however, has proved disastrous! He sprawls carelessly at the foot of the bed, suffering from two broken legs and a broken arm. His tattered limbs remain attached to his gnarled body with the aid of three strong safety pins.

A certain patriotic junior owns a red and white striped dog of which she's very fond. It is not only ornamental, but also useful. In his little stomach there lurks a hidden zippered compartment—perfect for storing old dust rags, shoe polish, waste paper, and occasionally pajamas.

Lying in majestic splendor, the prized lion rests on his torn leg. The leg has remained unmended since the accident occurred. It was ripped by a very special male friend while he was celebrating a basketball victory. Now the lion is perched on a madras spread staring thoughtfully into space reliving that glorious occasion.

Junior, an undernourished panda - bear: Huckleberry, a V.P.I. pooch; and Kitten, a white angora cat lie in cluttered array — mementoes of a past, present, and future love. "Phew" is a William and Mary skunk who stands watch on a night-stand. He acts as sole protector of a gold-framed picture.

"Teddy-bear" — named by an original and inspired sophomore —casually reclines on her bed as reminder of the world "champeen" rodeo cowboy who won "Teddy" for her. An "original and inspired" freshman is the proud owner of an octupus. His name? "He hasn't got one!" So "He-hasn't-got-one," the creme-colored octopus, crouches on the arm of a chair with his eight yarn legs dangling. He appears a little forlorn—his head is bent forward and his button eyes gaze glumly at the floor. Poor nameless octopus!

Another freshman is also the proud owner of a nameless pet. But maybe this is rather appropriate since this madras dog who wears a scarab bracelet as a collar is symbolic of the majority of Longwood girls.

Feopus, a large white bear, adds to the decor of the room—he matches the bedspreads. Soft and cuddly as he is—he can be pounded and prodded into a pillow-shape — a definite study asset! A small red nebbish doll snuggles against a "NO PARKING" pillow — a valentine present from a devoted "roomie."

Ancient loves glimmer in the button eyes, friendship glows in the ragged stitching, and a treasured memory nestles in the velvet-soft ear of every animal. They silently guide, quietly watch, and softly comfort — a friend that never fails.

—Staff Photo

SPECIAL PETS NESTLE in arms of A. Fitzgerald, B. Thompson, and A. Staples.

Letters To Editor

Election Campaigns Arouse Controversy

Dear Editor:

After much careful consideration on the pros and cons of campaigning for major-minor elections we would like to present a summary of our views.

Under our present system, students are nominated because they are qualified and are elected for the same reason. If these students, nominated by the student body, were not qualified they would not have been passed by the screening board.

After qualifications, the other factor involved is that of the character of a person running for an office. If these students haven't proved themselves to the students in the time they have been at Longwood, a few posters or speeches made by someone else isn't going to elect them. You do not learn about a person's character from a poster or campaign speech. You learn it from her as an individual and her actions.

The best way to find out about a person's character is to do it yourself. In this way you get unprejudiced information that is dependable information.

It is also felt that campaigning results in friction among the candidates. Because of this, name calling is inevitable. This situation would prevent many qualified girls from even running, for the simple reason of not wanting to become involved in such undesirable circumstances.

Campaigning puts too much emphasis on the election of an individual and not on the election itself. When so much emphasis is placed on an individual an actual defeat results at the end. Under our present system no one loses in the sense of actually suffering through a de-

(Continued on page 4)

Stevenson Seeks Aid From United Nations

By Page Tolleson

Ambassador Adlai Stevenson said Friday he will seek the United Nations action condemning revenge killings in the Congo. Stevenson took notice of reports that 11 more leaders had been executed in the Congo. This time the killings allegedly were carried out by Lumumbists in the Oriental province.

Stevenson declared his "revulsion and shock" at the reports that Senator Alphonse Songolo and about ten other members of the Congo parliament had been executed by the leftist regime of Antione Gizenga at Stanleyville.

A line of severe thundershowers moved eastward across most of the state last weekend causing some heavy flooding and wind damage in the Southwest. In general, the storm line was about 10 miles wide and extended north and south. It moved eastward at speeds of up to 30 mph.

King Mohammed V, whose nationalism stirred Morocco to independence, died Sunday night following a minor nasal operation. He was succeeded by his eldest son, Crown Prince Moulay Hassan, 31.

Doctors said the operation took 25 minutes and was carried out normally. Ten minutes later, despite injections and shock treatment, the king died of heart failure.

The death of the 51 year old ruler brought the possibility of a crisis in this Moslem realm of one million where in six years of independence the bloom had been worn somewhat from the hero image of the monarch.

The chairman of the State Pupil Placement Board said here Sunday the Virginia Constitution should be amended to permit the payment of tuition grants to students attending sectarian schools. The state limits the appropriation of public funds for students in public and non-sectarian schools under an amendment adopted at a Constitutional Convention in 1956.

E. J. Oglesby told the United States Civil Rights Commission that in not using this money in sectarian schools "you are violating the First Amendment to the United States Constitution" and "we are losing the opportunity to do a great thing for education" by restricting these grants.

A British scientist announced in Washington Friday that he had discovered the bones of the oldest member of the human race known to science.

Dr. Louis S. B. Leaky, an anthropologist who discovered them in recent excavations in the Olduvai gorge of Tanganyika, East Africa, said the bones were those of an 11 year old child, and are believed to be "considerably older" than 600,000 years old. He said a more definite date for the child's existence will come later after a more detailed study of the specimens.

Tar Heels Take Atlantic Title, Army Defeated

By Marjorie Freese

North Carolina won top place in the ACC by defeating Duke 69-66 in the last seconds of the game which had to be played in overtime. The Tar Heels had to play without two of their men and Duke was without their star, Art Heymen, all of whom were suspended because of participating a free for all on February 5, when these two teams met.

The leads changed several times, with Duke ahead 63-58 in the last 2:49 minutes. The Tar Heels then surged ahead and defeated the Blue Devils in the overtime.

Navy defeated Army in basketball 61-55 to tie the Winter Sports Events at Annapolis 4-4. The Middies edged into the lead after Army hit a cold streak just after the half, and kept it throughout the rest of the game.

Hampden - Sydney gave Randolph-Macon the quarterfinals of the Mason - Dixon Conference tournament by getting defeated 94-69.

The Tigers have lost three out of the four games that they have played with Randolph - Macon this season.

For the first fourteen minutes of the game, the Tigers kept it close. But as the game progressed the more experienced Yellow Jackets pulled away. The Hampden-Sydney team is made up of mostly freshmen and sophomores which probably accounts for the difficulty.

The widest margin in the score was 38 points when the score was 89-51, but the Tigers pulled it up to a 25 point margin in the last part of the game.

Campus Sports New Machinery

Twenty-two new vending machines have been installed on the Longwood campus.

The twenty-two include cigarette, candy, popcorn, sandwich, and ice cream machines. They are located in all the dorms and other buildings on the campus.

The new machines were put in by a company contracted by the college. The campus snack bar receives a percentage from the sales of the machines. The value of the machines, estimated by Mr. Jake Wamsley, business manager of the college, is $14,000.

Patronize
The Rotunda
Advertizers

College To Send Pageant Entry To Flag Festival

The Fiesta of Five Flags pageant in Pensacola, Florida, will select a Longwood girl to compete with the representatives of 35 southern colleges for the title of "Miss Golden Anniversary of Naval Aviation."

The contestants must be at least 18, but not more than 25 years of age, must be single, of good character, and possess poise, personality, intelligence, charm, and beauty of face and figure. She must have an overall C average and display talent in a three-minute routine in singing, dancing, playing a musical instrument, dramatic reading, art display, dress designing, or may give a talk on the career she wishes to pursue.

Fiftieth Anniversary

The Fiesta of Five Flags is an annual festival commemorating the history of Pensacola under five flags. This year's celebration will honor the fiftieth anniversary of Naval Aviation.

$2500 Award

Each contestant for "Miss Golden Anniversary of Naval Aviation" will receive a trophy, while the winner will be awarded a $2500 scholarship or savings bond and an all expense trip to Hollywood. There she will be taken on a tour of the movie studios, Disneyland, and Knottsberry Farm. The first runner-up will receive a $1000 scholarship or savings bond, and the girls voted Miss Congeniality and Most Talented will receive $250 scholarships or savings bonds.

Applications

Applications for the contest may be obtained at the Dean of Women's office from March 1 to March 17 and should be returned by March 17. The girls planning to enter here at the college will have an informal and formal meeting with the judges and present their three-minute talent routine.

The girl selected as "Miss Longwood College" will have her transportation to and from Pensacola paid for by the college. She will be in Pensacola from June 6 to June 11 and will be a guest of the pageant.

—Staff Photo

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION COLOR CUP bears green and white ribbons for fourth consecutive year.

Longwood Team Loses To MWC

The Longwood basketball team traveled to Mary Washington College for a two game series on Saturday, February 25.

This was the first time that Longwood has ever played the Mary Washington team, and they found their team to be excellent in teamwork, sportsmanship and hospitality.

First Team

Serving as forwards for Longwood's first team were Barbara Brantley, Lindy Hatch, and Carolyn Thorpe. Guards on the first team were Trina Childress, Mable Healy, and Virginia Parker.

Substituting in the first game were forwards Pat Southworth and Sandra Phlegar. The final score in the opener was Mary Washington 56, Longwood 42.

Rally This Week

The second team rallied again this week. Forwards on the team were Joy Moore, Pat Southworth, and Peg Waldo, and guards were Sarah Buston, Faye Ripley, and Ann Snead.

The rest of the team served as substitutes. The final score of the second game was Mary Washington 30, Longwood 26.

The team will play Westhampton College at Longwood Saturday, March 4.

Student-Faculty Game Scheduled

Everyone prepare for an entertaining and humorous time March 6 at 7 p.m. when Longwood faculty members meet Longwood students in a contest of skill, wit and stamina.

Yes, it's time for the annual volleyball game between faculty and students, which is sponsored by the Athletic Association. Juniors and seniors will be matched against such able athletes as President Lankford, Dr. Wesley, and Dr. Meeker. Dr. Moss will serve as cheerleader for the faculty. Other team members include Mr. Helms, Dr. Brumfield, Mr. Merritt, Dr. Sneller, Mr. Ballew, Dr. Lane, Mr. Scott, and Dr. Simonini. The women faculty members will be represented by Miss Allen, Mrs. Bobbitt, Dr. Burger, and Miss Dowd.

To those who haven't participated in this event in previous years—good luck, and have fun!

Phone Books

The Public Relations Office has available current telephone books for most of the localities in the state of Virginia and Washington, DC. Students may come to the Public Relations Office and use these directories at any time.

Library

(Continued from page 1)

More individual study tables will be available and small private rooms will be built for group study. A separate microfilm reading room will also be added.

If the library facilities had not been moved to the elementary school and had had to remain in operation in the library building, the construction would have been much slower and would have caused more inconvenience. For the duration of the remodeling the library staff will do all it can to offer the student body the most adequate services possible in the temporary library.

Freshmen Win Tilt

The Prince Edward Academy basketball team was welcomed here Thursday, February 23, by the freshman basketball team. After a close and exciting game, Longwood became victorious, winning 31-23.

The freshman team consisted of those freshmen who had acquired the eight practices necessary to be eligible for the class basketball team.

The freshman members of the varsity basketball team played also, and everyone was given an opportunity to play.

An informal gathering was held in the little gym after the game.

Enter St. Patrick
Party Favor Contest
MARCH 1-15
1st Prize—Bavarian
China Cake Plate
by Schumann
SEE LANSCOTT'S
For Details

Get a Tasty Treat
at your COLLEGE
SNACK BAR

Try Our
HAMBURGER SPECIAL
French Fries
Fruit Salad
Coke or Pepsi
65c
THE COLLEGE SHOP

Color Cup Presents Challenge To Classes

By Lois Peters

What colors will be on the color cup at the end of this year? Will the Green and Whites hold their supremacy which they have held for the past four years? Or will this be the year the Red and Whites recapture the color cup?

These are questions that have been running through the minds of many Longwood students. This is very understandable as the awarding of the color cup is one of the big events in the college each year. It is awarded to the class color winning the majority of the athletic events held on the campus. Sister classes, freshman-junior and sophomore-senior, support each other and strive to win each event contested. Points are awarded toward the color cup to the colors that win in hockey, basketball, volleyball, tennis, swimming, archery, and softball. It is possible for the classes to tie for the color cup but it has never been known to happen.

In looking over the past fourteen years the Green and Whites have been victorious eight times while the Red and Whites have won the cup six times. But this was not the beginning of the color cup. According to Miss Olive Iler the color cup idea was here at Longwood when she came in 1933. So how old the color cup really is is not known. The one that is displayed now in the home office is not the original one. It only dates back to 1945-46, when the Red and Whites captured it. One of the color cups was stolen and never returned. Also many classes have stolen the color cup and kept it hidden until at last when they returned it, there would be different colors on the handle. Much of the Longwood spirit has revolved around the color cup.

It is very interesting to note that the color cup was alternating almost perfectly until the Green and Whites managed to control it for four straight years. In 1945-46 the Red and Whites won; 46-47 Green and Whites; 47-48 Red and White; 48-49 Green and White; 49-50 Red and White; 50-51 Green and White; 51-52 Red and White; 52-53 Green and White; 53-54 Red and White; 54-55 Red and White; 55-56 Green and White; 56-57 Green and White; 57-58 Green and White; and 58-59 Green and White.

As far back as can be remembered, the athletic events included in the winning of the color cup have been the same. Last year in class hockey the Red and Whites and Green and Whites tied thereby giving both colors five points apiece. In basketball the Red and Whites picked up ten points as they won readily in this sport. Volleyball being one of the Green and Whites' strong sports, found the Green and Whites victorious. With the swimming meet and tennis matches the Green and Whites picked up two more wins. The Red and White roared back to win archery only to have the Green and Whites win softball in a very close game. This game the Green and Whites' total of 45 points to the Red and Whites' 25 points. This was how the color cup competition went last year. How will it go this year? So far the Red and Whites are leading by ten points with their victory in class hockey. On March 8 or 9 class basketball competition will begin with volleyball competition on alternate days. Then the swimming meet will follow and both Red and Whites and Green and Whites are urged to get in their practices so they can swim for their respective colors.

The color cup race should really prove to be an exciting one this year. Who's going to win? You never can tell. Maybe this will be a Red and White year.

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS

BETWEEN CLASSES...
get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!
Bottled under authority of
The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

President Proposes New Education Plan

By Donna Humphlett

President John F. Kennedy in a special message to Congress has proposed a $5.6 billion program of Federal grants and loans to strengthen the country's education program. He called for nearly $2.3 billion over the next three years in direct grants for teacher salaries or classroom construction. Under Mr. Kennedy's program no state matching funds would be required, nor would segregated schools be excluded from Federal aid. This program would not benefit any church schools.

The Kennedy program favors low per capita income states as long as they spend a relatively greater share of their per capita income on schools than is spent nationally. It would also compel several states to raise the amount of their spending on schools to qualify for a full share of Federal aid.

As to segregated schools getting Federal aid, Representative Powell (D., N.Y.) who in the past has pushed amendments limiting federal school aid to integrated schools, has said that he will not introduce such amendments if the President enforces integration vigorously by executive order.

To please Northern liberals and integrationists, ten per cent of each state allotment will be earmarked for "areas of special educational need." The Wall Street Journal said that this could go to raise the educational norm of Negro students transferred to white schools, as well as to city slum neighborhoods, migrant worker education, and the training of retarded children.

College Housing and Scholarship

The President also called for an increase in the aid granted to the college housing construction. This is designed primarily for dormitory construction, but additional proposals were made for the construction of college classrooms, libraries, and laboratories.

Kennedy's Federal scholarship program would be administered by the states and provide distributions up to $1000 a year. Competitive exams set up by the states and approved by the Federal Office of Education would be given. Winners could attend the school of their choice, state or privately - supported. The schools where the scholarship students attended would be granted $350 per scholarship to defray the cost of operations.

Is such a program unconstitutional since the means of education has been reserved for the states? Walter Lippman says it is not. In his February 24 column he stated that the present cost of education is too great, the population too large for the states to bear the total cost of education by themselves.

Lippman points out that states of low per capita income spend a greater percentage of this income on education then do richer states, but their low incomes stifle any ambitious educational programs.

Brooks Comments

Associate Professor of Education Dr. Richard B. Brooks realizes that, "It is inevitable that we are going to have federal aid in education. The main bone of contention is if the money goes for teacher salaries the teachers will be dependent upon federal control. This is a genuine fear and the people have just enough evidence from the past to support that fear."

Dr. Brooks cited cases such as GI Bills, Federal scholarships and loans, and the Morrill Act of 1862, which provided land grant colleges, that revealed Federal aids which led to a certain amount of Federal control.

Dr. Brooks referred to the February Virginia Journal of Education. Students and teachers in this State as well as in others have to contend with class room shortage and teachers with substandard salaries. In addition teachers have to fight the lure of jobs with better salaries.

Both play an important role in determining the type of education a child will receive. In some areas of Virginia one out of three teachers holds master's degree; in others, one out of three do not even have bachelor's degrees, instead they have Special licenses which allow them to teach without having a full college education.

Bittinger Recognizes Need

Mr. M. Henry Bittinger, associate professor of history and social sciences, feels that, "It is an acceptable program provided that effective precaution is taken to divorce centralized financial aid from centralized control and direction. There is a definite need to improve the standards of education throughout the entire fifty states if we are to accept the growing and serious responsibility of world leadership."

The Virginia Journal of Education quoted Arthur S. Fleming, former secretary of health, education and welfare, who feels that the nation will fall short in the field of education, "unless the federal government assumes a far greater share of the total responsibility than it has to date."

Open Discussion On World News Held By Forum

A informal discussion on national and international affairs, sponsored by the Longwood Forum, was held Monday afternoon at 4:15 in the Student Lounge.

The free-for-all type of discussion centered around a discussion of the three C's: Cuba, Congo, and Communism.

Mr. Harold K. Magnusson, instructor of geography started the hour long conversation with a question concerning the current tour of Africa by the newly appointed Undersecretary of State for African Affairs, Williams. His question concerned a recent statement made by Mr. Williams and its effects on our good will with Britain.

Consensus of Opinion

The consensus of opinion was summed up by Mr. Henry Bittinger, associate professor of government and economics, that although Williams' "Africa for Africans" speech has caused some temporary friction, the feeling will not last because neither nation can afford it.

The discussion rapidly gained momentum as the problem of Communism was approached. The group recognized the problem the United States has for as Dr. M. W. Schlegel, professor of history, noted, the United States' first position was as a leader of colonial revolt. However, we are now forced into an anti-freedom camp, the Communists being the upholders of a new freedom.

Basic Problems

The basic problems might lie in that the struggling countries of the world contain a poor class which is restless and which desires a change. The richer classes, however, are the ones which control the government, and they resist change. Since the United Sates is aligned with their government, it is the Communists who are in a position to step in to side with the struggling classes. Since the poor have never been the recipients of a colonial government, they are almost forced to look for something new, and Communism in most cases must be this something new.

Closely connected with the discussion of communism was the question of Cuba. Senior Carol Boley stated that she felt that the situation there was quieter. Members of the group pointed out that this might be because Castro is involved with internal problems, such as rebel bands and a crop of sugar cane approaching harvest time.

Returning to the problems of world relations, the group discussed at length the "peace, or freedom, core" program. This program, it was felt, might be a key to better relations for it would provide a means for understanding through American youth who would settle in other countries, identifying themselves with the people of these various nations in an everyday working situation.

Virginia Kemp, a junior Social Science major, stated the problems of India in world trade. At a conference on world trade which she attended, the United States Ambassador to India had stressed the important role the United States could have in helping India by entering into a larger economic exchange with that nation.

The discussion was ended with the realization of the close links between world economics and foreign relations. The importance of the United States' role as an unselfish leader among nations was stressed.

The Forum is planning several other such informal debates throughout the semester. The aim of such bull sessions is to stimulate an active interest in current problems and events.

—Staff Photo

A. KOVACEVICH, B. J. STEGALL, J. MAUPIN, M. BROWN participate in elevator poll on boring Longwood week ends.

Campus Issues Aired In Student Letters

(Continued from page 2)

feat. If someone had beforehand gone all out on compaigning to win, so much emphasis would have been placed on the fact that they were running it would result in an actual failure.

Campaigning takes time and money that students do not have. In the proposal before Student Government it is stated that a limit of $12 be placed on campaigning. This money may come from "any donations from any source." With a set-up for obtaining money from "any source" it would be technically impossible to check these "sources".

At the present our campus is not large enough to require such a proposal. In years to come it may become a necessity. By that time it is hoped that the Screening Board will have grown large enough to handle such a system. At the present the Screening Board has enough work to do without having to handle campaign propaganda.

There are many other areas that we have not gone into. We hope that you will ponder them yourself, and arrive at a mature conclusion in the best interest of Longwood.

Thank you,
Betty Jane Stegall
Sandra Weaver

The proposal before Student Government, as mentioned last Tuesday in assembly, is in reference to campus campaigning. What was not mentioned was the content and purpose of that proposal — so before the discussion begins on this coming Tuesday night (March 7), let's see exactly what the proposeal is.

Article VI, Section 8: Campaigning shall be permitted on campus, during major - minor elections, with the following restrictions.

a. There shall be a Campaign Board composed of the members of the Election Screening Board, being elected by the respective classes. The duties of the Campaign Board shall be to make any additions to and enforce the restrictions of the several elections.

b. Each candidate shall, upon her discretion, select a person to serve in the capacity of campaign manager and any other capacity that she shall desire.

c. Campaigning may not begin before a two week period prior to the election and may not continue longer than 48 hours before the final casting of ballots.

d. Each candidate shall be allowed to appear before a general assembly of the student body on the last Tuesday before election.

e. There shall be a limit of twelve dollars placed upon the several candidates for campaign expenditures. The amount shall also include the value of any donations from any source and an itemized statement of such expenditures shall be submitted to the secretary of the Campaign Board no later than 48 hours before the final casting of ballots.

f. Penalties for infraction of restrictions:

(1) Any candidate, and-or members of her campaign, who shall not adhere to the established restrictions for elections shall be subject to a fine of not less than 5 nor more than 250 of the final count of votes cast in her favor.

(2) The Campaign Board shall impose such penalties at its discretion by a majority vote.

Think seriously about this proposal and our growing campus. See you on Tuesday?

Wendy Warren
"Sam" Murray

Dear Brick 61:

You will be happy to know that your future is not destined to be that of a foundation for a new laundry, but on the contrary it will be the subsurface for part of the new landscaping between Wheeler Dormitory and the library extension.

Your job for the future will be to hold up the grass and shrubs that will provide beauty and feeling for the future generations of Longwood ladies.

A fellow bricklover.

Dear Editor:

What's the hurry? A very disturbing incident occurred last week in assembly. It seems that people are not showing the proper respect to our Alma Mater. Is it because they do not understand the proper procedure?

Only Seniors are supposed to leave as the Alma Mater is being played and then only when they are in academic ature. Everyone else is asked to remain standing until the organist has completely finished playing it, even if the Seniors are all out before she has finished. A few more minutes won't hurt because if you're late, everyone else will be too, including the professor. So let's hope that our past action was due to ignorance of procedure and not to disrespect or thoughtlessness.

Two Seniors

Dear Editor:

A situation exists on Longwood's campus of which we, as upperclassmen, are not very proud. The situation we speak of is that of students painting Chi signs green.

The first time this happened we, like everyone else, thought it was humorous. But since then the humor has been replaced by concern. We are concerned because we do not know how to interpret this act. Is it an interest in Chi, or is it a disrespect of Chi? We have decided that it reflects a disrespect on the part of the students involved, but we hope we are wrong.

As students we do not know much about the activities of Chi, but we do know that Chi is the spirit of Longwood College. If Chi is shown disrespect, Longwood is shown disrespect. This attitude does not belong on our campus. Nostalgic as it may sound, we are proud of our college and its traditions. We are ashamed of those who are not proud.

There is nothing wrong with chastising Chi, it is natural. It is fun. However, all things can be carried to extremes.

We hope that what we have said will help people to realize that what they have done has been unfavorably interpreted. We also hope that they did not mean their actions to be interpreted as such, and will, in some manner of their own choosing, show that they are respectful Longwood students, and not disrespectful ones.

Thank you,
Three Juniors

Bridge, Dancing Among Solutions

(Continued from page 2)

that week end round robins in golf, tennis, and other sports would fill depressive hours. Bridge tournaments for the good bridge player and lessons for the learners were also suggested. Quite different from our next answer, "Clean the room and take a nap." Another asked for later hours, particularly on Saturday night.

No Saturday classes, be pinned to Hampden-Sydney, picnics with entertainment, try on other people's clothes, room service for all three meals, a place to dance and eat like old Cedarbrook, dating and a juke box in the senior rec, making the place coed on week ends, and having the rec open all the time on week ends were other suggestions offered. A retort was sounded to the last when a rec worker was also on the elevator. She felt that someone should offer to work in her place to make her week ends more pleasant.

Solving Or Creating?

We were really hurt several times when people decided to either walk away or ignore us. Then there was the girl who said, "They don't need improvement . . . we can already bowl." Of course there were those who thought LC week ends were beyond help . . . but I might add they are the ones who never stay her on week ends.

Now we're wondering if we are actually solving a problem or creating one. Some students didn't realize how bored they were until they talked to us. Oh well, we'll solve that problem next week . . . See ya' then.

Shop At
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY
for your SCHOOL SUPPLIES
SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

Photographer

Freshmen and sophomores interested in photography who would like to work in news photography for the Rotunda are invited to notify Flossie Barnard or Linda Sudduth. Training can be arranged, and no experience is necessary.

67 At Longwood On Dean's List For Fall Session

The following students made Dean's List for the fall session, 1960-61: Betty Jane Allgood, Janet Anderson, Alice Boggs, Carol Boley, Bobbie Bolster, Dana Brewer, Dorothy Burnett, Martha Burrough, Nedlee Chapman, Jerolien Clarke, Sandra Clements, Barbara Cole, Eugenia Cousins, Janet Culpepper, Janet Daniel, Page Davis, Betty Sue Dickenson, Brenda Duke, Betty Fielder, Callie Foldesi, Donna Franizen, Louise Garner, Cherry Gorham, Mary Hite Grayson, Joyce Grizzard, Mary Roberta Harris, Rosemary Henry, Rose Marie Johnson, Gloria Kafer, Nancy Kelly, Joann Kleinecke.

Also Mary Catherine Lancaster, Elaine Lohr, Janice McClenny, Charlotte McClung, Nancy Morris, Marie Murphy, Gloria Newton, Morag Nocher, Frances Norpayne, Caroline Phillips, Bill Pleasants, Jean Pollard, Margaret Pond, Ann Ranson, Betty Ann Rex, Anne Taylor Rowell, Jo Savage, Ann Simmons, Mary Elizabeth Smith, Susan Stalnaker, Janet Stanley, Ann Swertfeger, Helen Gene Taylor, Lucy Grey Trotter, Marjorie Twilley, Janet Underwood, Virginia Van de Riet, Thelma Wall, Frances Weaver, Melanie Wilkes, June Woodward, Alma Jean Wright, Marty Wyatt, and Signe Young.

Grounds Expand, Estate Is Asset

(Continued from page 2)

of her book:

"Today Longwood stands as a beautiful memorial to the work and enthusiasm of Mrs. Jarman as well as to the memory of the illustrious Johnstons and Venables who lived on the estate.

"Eager students practice on the golf course as well as expert players from the town; here in the spring is held the annual May Day; in the dell, classes and sororities and honorary organizations have picnics and parties; various groups from the college spend week ends in the cabin or in the big house; banquet tables are set up in the house for formal occasions; and on hot spring week ends many trudge to Longwood for the enjoyment of a walk or maybe just a cool drink of water.

"When students graduate from the State Teachers College (Longwood College), they carry with them memories of many and various happy hours spent at Longwood, and when they return to their alma mater on a visit, Longwood is always a point of interest.

"Truly, Mrs. Jarman's dream has come true. Longwood, just as charming as it ever was and now as much a part of the college campus as are the buildings in town, sheds forth its light and shares that charm with all who come."

European bankers react favorably to Kennedy.

See Our Selection
of
$8.78—$32.50
EASTER DRESSES
THE DOROTHY
MAY
Farmville, Virginia

The Rotunda

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., March 8, 1961 | No. 15

Eddy To Attend Festival Queen In Blossom Fete

Longwood Junior Susan Payne Eddy and Miss Susan Ray Kuykendall have been chosen as the Maids of Honor to Queen Shenandoah yet to revealed, for the

SUSAN EDDY

Apple Blossom Festival on April 27-29.

Mrs. G. Frank Stinnett, director of the 1961 Department of the Queen and Her Court, announced the selections.

Both Maids of Honor, ranking members of the Apple Blossom court, are from Winchester and, for the first time in Festival history, both have the same first name.

Susan, a graduate of Handley High School, is majoring in elementary education. She is business manager of the Rotunda, and is a member of the Cotillion Club.

The Maids of Honor accompany the Queen to all Festival events—the luncheons, receptions, dances and ribbon-cuttings, as well as gracing the Royal float, with other members of the Apple Blossom Queen's retinue, in the Grand Feature Parade on Friday, April 28, at 1:30 p.m.

Social Sorority Presents Bids, 34 Acknowledge

On Friday, March 3, thirty-four Longwood students accepted bids to Gamma Iota, a new chapter on the Longwood campus of the Phi Mu Sorority. Plans for this event have been in the making since the arrival of Missie Powers and Barbara Walters from Louisiana State University to Longwood College at the first of the Spring semester.

The issuing of bids on Friday followed a busy schedule of rush parties which were held from Saturday, February 25, through Wednesday, March 1.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Landon A. Freear, the national representative of Phi Mu to Pan-Hellenic Council visited Longwood and stayed for the accepting of the bids and the pledging ceremony which took place on Sunday afternoon. At this ceremony the following girls received their pledge pins and became official pledges of Phi Mu Sorority:

Barbara Ann Adkins, Danette Avery Blundell, Jacqueline Sue Boggs, Ellen Marie Brady, Charlotte LaVerne Brooks, Jean Elizabeth Brown, Nancy Carole Dobyns, Betty Ruth Dunnavant, Mary Elizabeth Eller, Kathleen Flynn, Jacqueline Ann Forrest, Katie Harnsbeger Fulton.

Also, Judith Allen Garnett, Judy Raye Giles, Carol Lorraine Hall, Stacie Lynn Hohenstein, Margaret Ann Hughes, Joan Tyler Ivy, Ann Gail Jones, Lynda

(Continued on page 3)

Yearbooks

Yearboks will be delivered in May at Senior Assembly which is the last assembly before the ten day period.

The deadline for write-ups of organizations and indentification of pictures for the 1961 Virginian was March 2 according to Mary Lee Warriner, yearbook editor.

The Virginian staff has been getting copy pages in order, seeing that the captions correspond with the pictures, and proofreading. Mr. F. B. Gresham, assistant professor of English, is the official proofreader for the yearbook staff.

C. W. Warthen Co. in Lynchburg publishes the yearbook. As usual, its theme and color will remain a secret.

Longwood Hosts Annual FBLA Area Conference

Delegates from sixteen high schools are expected to attend the annual regional meeting of District II of the Future Business Leaders of America on March 18 in the Student Building to compete for prizes and opportunities to enter state and national competitions.

During the morning, contests will be held in spelling, essays, scrapbooks, exhibits, bulletin boards, parliamentary law, Mr. and Miss FBLA, and public speaking.

The First National Bank of Farmville is offering a $25 Government Bond to the public speaking contest winner.

The afternoon session will be taken up with electing new officers for the coming year. The installation will be in the afternoon also.

Representatives from the following schools are expected to attend: Appomattox High School, Appomattox; Dan River High School, Ringgold; E. C. Glass High School, Lynchburg; George Washington High School, Danville; George Wythe High School, Richmond; and Halifax County High School, South Boston.

Also represented will be Hopewell High School, Hopewell; Manchester High School, Richmond; Midlothian High School Midlothian; Midway High School, Church Road; Montvale High School, Monvale; Nelson County High School, Lovingston; Powhatan High School, Powhatan; Prince George High School, Prince George; Renan High School, Gretna; and Sunnyside-McKenney High School, McKenney.

The day's activities will be supervised by the Longwood Business Education Department.

Former Student Shows Paintings

Miss Barbara Bishop, a 1960 graduate of Longwood College, has had three paintings accepted at the Winston-Salem Gallery of Fine Arts. The eleventh semi-annual show will be judged by Dorothy Miller, Curator of Collections, Museum of Modern Art, New York City.

Miss Bishop is doing graduate work in art at the Women's Division of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro.

Posts Assumed By Heads For Major Organizations

—Staff Photo

NEWLY ELECTED ORGANIZATION HEADS J. Savage, M. Nocher, N. Pretty and A. Howell prepare to assume their new responsibilities.

New Junior Leaders To Be Inducted Soon

By Ann Agee

Within the next few weeks, the newly elected heads of the college organizations will take their oaths of office. Elected heads are juniors, Morag Nocher, Athletic Association; Ann Howell, House Council; Jo Savage, Student Government; and Nancy Pretty, YWCA.

Nocher To Serve

Morag Nocher, a physical education major from Lynnhaven, is a dean's list student. She has played varsity hockey for two years, and class basketball and volleyball for three years. She has been a member of the varsity archery squad for two years, and is this year serving as manager of archery. Morag has served on the AA council for three years, is a member of the H2O club, now serving as treasurer, and was recently elected co-chairman for the Spring water pageant.

Heads House Council

Ann Howell, of Richmond, is a biology and history major. Active in campus activities, she became a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma in the fall of this year. She has been a member of the college choir and the Madrigals for two years, serving as secretary-treasurer of Madrigals last year. Also, she has been co-chairman of music for her Freshman class production, for Circus in the past two years, and for class songs. In her sophomore year, Ann served as temporary freshman house president and treasurer of House Council. This year, she has served as treasurer of that organization.

Of her election, Ann remarked, "I am very pleased and honored to have the opportunity to work again with House Council. I'm aware of the responsibilities involved, and will do my best to live up to the example of my predecessor".

Savage Serves

An elementary major and dean's list student from Danville, Jo Savage has served on Student Government since her freshman year. This year she is serving as treasurer of Student Government and business manager of the Handbook.

Jo has been active in sports since her freshman year, and serves on the AA council. She has played varsity hockey, class hockey, volleyball and softball, and has participated in numerous water pageants. Various other activities include serving on May Court for two years, serving as a Top Rat of the class of '62, social chairman of Alpha

(Continued on page 3)

'Nothing' Brings Freshman Class Success, Praise

"Nothing Brings You a Night to Remember" produced by the freshman class played Friday night, March 3, in Jarman Auditorium to an audience of 530 students and friends.

The show, a musical comedy take-off on "This is Your Life," took in $157 and is expected to clear $100-$125 after program, prop, and costume expenses are deducted.

The Class of 1964 presented production co-chairmen Betty Ann Rex and Peggy Whittaker with sterling charms in thanks for their hard work and time spent in preparing the show.

Acknowledgments were given to Miss Barbara Dowd, class sponsor, and to Mr. Wiley and his play production class.

Players Bring Drama To Longwood Stage

Players Incorporated, the longest running national repertory company in the United States will present "The Oresteia" of Aeschylus tonight in Jarman at 8 p.m.

Currently touring for its 12th consecutive year, the company of Players Incorporated is practically the only touring company in the field today that carries really complete productions. The company is "on the road" annually from fall to spring. Their troupe is made up of fifteen actors who double and triple in playing parts.

"The Oresteia", originally a trilogy which took three days to perform, will be presented tonight as one play.

The Triology was first produced in the year 458 BC. It is said to be the last work of the great tragic poet, Aeschylus.

The action of the play begins after Agamemnon, ancient King of Argos, sacrificed his daughter Iphigenia to appease the gods. His wife, Clytemnestra, forgives him and becomes the lover of Aegisthus while Agamemnon is in Troy leading the Greek forces in battle. Clytemnestra has kept another daughter, Electra, with her but has exiled her son Orestes to Phocis and now plots the murder of Agamemnon.

The cast in order of appearance is as follows: watchman, John Bergan; Orestes, John Knight; Agamemnon, Clyde Wadlow, Jr.; Clytemnestra, Marcelee Costello and Aegisthus, Richard Robison.

The members of the company are graduates of the famous Speech and Drama Department of the Catholic University of American in Washington, DC which is noted for the many Broadway plays which have originated in the University Theatre.

The Oresteia was arranged for the modern stage by Lon Brady and is directed by James D. Waring.

LC Professors Plan To Attend AAUP Meeting

The Virginia Conference of the American Association of University Professors will hold its fifth annual meeting Saturday March 11, 1961, in the VEA Building in Richmond.

Attending the conference as delegates from Longwood College will be Dr. R. C. Simonini, Jr. and Dr. Marvin Schlegel, local chapter president. Dr. Richard K. Meeker will also attend as secretary - treasurer of the state conference.

The theme of the program will be "Our First Five Years." After registration there will be a report and discussion by delegates and special chapter reports. This will be followed by resolutions and the election of officers.

At 1:30 Dr. Bertram Davis, staff associate, Washington headquarters, will speak on "The Role of the AAUP."

Closing the conference, Dr. William H. McFarlane, director of the Virginia State Council of Higher Education will speak.

IN THE PLAYERS, INCORPORATED PRODUCTION of "The Oresteia" Clyde Wadlow, Jr. plays Agamemnon and Mary Harrigan plays his daughter, Electra.

Rotunda Reviews Policy

(Recently the ROTUNDA has received several unsigned letters to the editor which we have been unable to print because we were unfortunately not able to determine their origin. In an effort toward more complete coverage of the opinions of the entire student body, we reprint a statement of policy which appeared in the April 27, 1960 issue of the paper. — Editor)

By gathering and publishing the news in all phases of college life, it is our aim to keep the students, faculty, administration, and alumnae informed of current campus affairs. It is also our intention to reflect the opinions of all on campus.

Editorials may be written by staff members or by guest writers, usually faculty or heads of campus organizations. As stated in the masthead, unsigned editorials are the thoughts of the editor. All other are signed by the contributing writer.

Opinionated columns on the feature or another page generally run under the by-line of the author who may state his opinion within the realm of good taste. Even if the name of the author is not expressed, it must be known by the editor before the story can be published.

The Rotunda not only will accept but invites Letters of the Editor. It is important to the life of the college that student attitudes be thus reflected. These letters, however, must be written legibly, in good taste, and signed. As in the columns, the author's name may not be printed, but the editor must be informed of the source.

The ideas stated in these columns, letters, and editorals, belong solely to the author; they are not necessarily shared by the entire staff. We do, however, wholeheartedly believe in the writer's privilege to express in print his beliefs and will, accordingly, stand behind him.

Any failure, no matter how minor, in reporting news or editing it, can throw accuracy out of bounds. The Rotunda is not infallible; at times we slip and are in error. Each member of the staff has certain definite responsibilities which must be met if the paper is to succeed in fulfilling its policy. There are deadlines and obligations of which we are constantly aware, and ever meeting, but we cannot succeed alone.

It is only through your interest and help that we can remain in the ranks of good journalism. We will fulfill our obligations, hoping that you will fulfill yours.

Pride In Tradition

Tradition is a strange and wonderful thing. Shirley Jackson provokes disturbing thoughts on the subject in her short story, "The Lottery." Perhaps a few disturbing thoughts concerning the traditional are called for now and then; certainly, Shirley Jackson thought so. Let's have them now. According to Mr. Webster, tradition is "the handing down orally of stories, beliefs, customs, etc. from generation to generation." Incidentally, the word tradition derives from the Latin traditio, meaning originally a surrender or delivery.

College girls are famous for their sentimentality. Don't we say, ". . . but it just wouldn't be the same"? Of course if we make a change in a tradition it won't be the same! Else why change? Must we escape in our sentimentality to such an extent that we cannot reason between what is bad, what is good, and what is best? Let us not make tradition a substitute for intelligent thinking.

How many times we've heard the statement, "Longwood is a school founded upon tradition!" Certainly we are proud that our college is old and that it is a living monument to customs and beliefs that are tried and true. But tradition can be as dangerous as radicalism, and if we do take the time to think we will find ourselves censuring a person or a practice solely because he or it does not adhere to traditional concepts.

This is not to say that to call something a tradition is to condemn it. Neither is "traditional" a synonym for "perfect." Do not say "This is a tradition at Longwood, therefore I am for it," but instead "This is right and good, therefore I am proud that it is traditional at Longwood."

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia, Box 168.

Mary Byrd Micou ..... Editor-in-Chief

Ann Agee ..... Managing Editor Susan Eddy ..... Business Manager
Donna Feuerstein ..... News Editor
Gayle Acree ..... Feature Editor
Lore Perera ..... Sports Editor
Mary Jo Barrow ..... Desk Editor
Lewan Rippey ..... Exchange Editor
Eleanor Hayward and Linda Goldrich ..... Photographs
Jane Hooper ..... Circulation Manager
Dr. James Wellard ..... Faculty Adviser

Unsigned editorials written by the editor.

Member: Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press (Rating first class), Columbian Scholastic Press Association (Rating first place), Intercollegiate Press.

NEWS STAFF: Nan Hicks, Assistant Managing Editor; Donna Humphlett, Assistant News Editor; Mary Dick Dunn, Assistant Feature Editor; Sue Bradshaw, Assistant Sports Editor; Doris Smith, Assistant Desk Editor.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879. Represented for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

Varied Topics Open Spirited Comments

By Ann Kovacevich and Bettie Jane Stegall

The elevator got boring so we decided to move on to something else. What we don't know, but maybe you will by the time you finish reading the article.

Day started off well today, I didn't find my toothbrush until ten o'clock and then I found it in my roommate's paint cup. It wouldn't have been so bad even then if I had noticed the paint on it before I brushed my teeth.

Have you ever taken astronomy? From those of you who have missed out on it, either have your eyes put on top your head or buy a used periscope. If there are two things I hate it's cricks. Wonder who that girl going there is . . . has bedroom eyes . . . a pillow under each.

We were wondering . . . do you think a person is crazy if she talks to herself? We decided no . . . only if she listens . . . what do you think?

Only 22 days 'til Easter. Wonder if we'll have died eggs in the dining hall again.

Only 88 days till graduation when the seniors will be given sheepskins to cover up their intellectual nakedness. We'll be college bred, a four year loaf on father's dough.

Everybody thought Chi walked the other night until someone saw a girl in a contour sheet.

You want to talk about the political situation in China? Might as well, can't dance and it's too wet to plow. A funny thing happened the other day in class. A student came in and apologized to her professor for being late. It seems that she overslept in her last class.

As I was passing by the phone the other night I overheard, "Certainly I love you. Who's this calling?" Must be nice. You've heard the saying "Black collects everything but men and money," haven't you? Well, did you know scotch tape will help take lint off?

Speaking of lent, have you ever just felt like giving up? Bet you wish we would now. Found out one thing at the volleyball game tonight. There is something spiked at Longwood.

Have you heard what the only difference between Longwood and

(Continued on page 4)

Apologies Made, Sentiment Aired In Open Letters

A few nights ago the most highly respected tradition of Longwood College was offended. Although it was not the intention of those involved to mock or disgrace CHI this was the seeming result.

The fact that this disrespect for CHI was unintentional makes the matter nonetheless serious. However, we would like for the student body to understand how deeply sorry we are for our conduct.

Nothing we can do or say will erase this thoughtlessness. We have no excuse to offer. We ask only that you try to understand that the spirit out of which this action was conceived was not disrespect for CHI.

Perhaps it is hard to believe but we truly love and respect CHI and its meaning. It is because of our sincere concern that we have written this letter.

We can only express once again to the student body, administration, and especially those associated with CHI our deepest regret for our thoughtless action.

Brenda Isbel
Marian Russ
Christine Longstreet
Cassie Griggs
Lynne Osteen
Lefty Snyder
Sandra Feedman
Jean Bristow
Kay Godwin

To the Editor of the Rotunda:

Much of the uproar about Chi recently has been based on a misunderstanding, for which Chi itself is largely responsible. Every year since I have been here, this organization has announced through its spokesmen that it is, or it stands for, the spirit of Longwood College.

Consequently, many students have been led to believe that loyalty to Chi and loyalty to the college are synonymous, and that a refusal to endorse Chi is the same as a refusal to support Longwood.

Let there be no confusion: Chi is not Longwood College, nor does it fairly represent the spirit of the College. No one person—not even President Lankford—is the spirit of Longwod, nor is any one organization.

Probably there is no one spirit anyway but many spirits. There is an academic spirit, I hope, and a social spirit, and a moral spirit, and many more spirits. They are all a part of the complex combination of people and books and buildings and machinery that are called Longwood College.

I have no objection to any group doing anonymous good deeds, and anyone who wants to wear a white sheet ought to be free to do so. However, I do object to an organization that wraps itself in a cloak of secrecy and pretends to be the spirit of Longwood College. This presumptuousness deserves to be satirized. I hope this college is bigger than Chi, and I hope Chi is big enough to realize this.

Richard K. Meeker

Character, Customs, Hidden In Nicknames

By Becky Tuck

While touring the campus of Longwood College, the renowned establishment of higher learning for prospective school teachers, one might become disconcerted by the piercing shrieks of supposedly refined students whose utterances seem to resemble such things as "Susie," "Leach," "Sugie," "Muley," and "Whip." Fear not gentle people, for this is not a strange new language—you are hearing nicknames!

Flattering or Otherwise

Perhaps at some time in each person's life he is tagged with a nickname, flattering or otherwise. Many are fortunate enough to shed these endearing or insulting names with the conclusion of adolescence, but numerous individuals enter college with an unusual pseudonym or even receive one during their four years at Longwood. Let us examine closely several of these well-known nicknames that are found among the student body and faculty.

"Mickey"

Even though she may be seen in the vicinity of Student Building on Tuesday nights wearing a black gown and a somber countenance, one of the most esteemed figures on the campus is known as "Micky" to her playmates. This is certainly no bad reflection on her "off-duty" behavior, because her games and ideas have provided many hours of amusement for those students who are unable to take advantage of Farmville's innumerable opportunities for week end diversion.

Lovely Visage

Because of her lovely visage, which bears close resemblance to a bloom in June, her movement, as graceful as that of a flower gently swaying in the breeze, and the profound and beautiful words which flow from her lips ("Really?" or "It's not a big thing!"), one of Longwood's most notorious juniors is called "Lotus of Arc" by almost everyone who knows her. She is also the proud possessor of several other titles, but Lotus will do for now.

"Charley Hop"

Have you ever wondered why Mr. French is known to all who love him as "Charley Hop?" It seems that when he was at VPI, our beloved chemistry professor had a shock of black hair and a complexion that had a slight yellow cast. In fact he looked so much like a Chinese man, Charley Hop, who owned a laundry in the town, that Mr. French's roommate and associates accused him of being the old man's twin brother, and even called him Charley Hop. The name has spread and has followed him to Longwood, where many freshmen wonder who Mr. French is during their first weeks at school.

Recent Movie

A recent movie has prompted several of her classmates to call one of our juniors, who could pass for a little Chinese girl, "Suzie Wongwood." There is a group of seniors known as "Gooh," "Cheesy," "Pugs," and "Sage," but it's difficult to say what the story behind such unique names is. The there's our right-handed "Lefty," and the "Bum" in the freshman class. "Zee" has kept her real name very well concealed, but a look at school records may reveal an amusing fact.

Some nicknames are merely the result of childhood antics or a mother's doting, but the original of others may prove to be humorous and unusual. So, the next time you and your friends are searching for a topic for one of your stimulating college discussions, try nicknames!

—Staff Photo

LONGWOOD GEOGRAPHY INSTRUCTOR H. Magnussen at home in his classroom in Stevens Hall.

Longwood Graduate Returns, Professor

By Donna Humphlett

By now it is quite a familiar sight to see Mr. Harold K. Magnusson, instructor of geography, carrying movies and film strips from the visual aids room in West Wing to Stevens Hall where he shows them to his geography classes. He says, "I believe in audio-visual education."

Longwood Graduate

This is Mr. Magnusson's first year at Longwood as a teacher, but he says, "I feel right at home here. I did both my undergraduate and graduate work at Longwood—Class of '56."

During his 22 years in the US Navy, Mr. Magnusson's major interest became geography. He has spent time in Panama, Cuba, and California.

Navy Career

In 1953 after completing his Navy career, Mr. Magnusson entered Longwood College. In 1956 he graduated with a major in social studies. He received his Master's degree in education from Longwood College in 1959.

Before coming to teach at Longwood, Mr. Magnusson was

(Continued on page 4)

News Summary

Kennedy Considers Home Peace Corps

By Page Tolleson

President Kennedy said Sunday a Peace Corps on the home front, as well as overseas, is getting consideration at the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt suggested that some of the volunteers might be used in depressed areas of the US, such as in slum areas, in education and retraining.

Mr. Kennedy created the agency on a temporary basis by executive order on Wednesday and asked Congress to establish it permanently by law. The idea would be to send abroad men and women skilled in various fields, to help emerging nations build their potential.

"With all the emphasis on a life of ease which we hear so much about in this country," said the President, "this response is one of the most encouraging things I have seen." Approximately 500 to 1,000 volunteers will go abroad this year.

Secretary- General Hammarskjold Tuesday called for additional UN troops to carry out a new Security Council peace plan aimed at averting civil war in the Congo. But Congolese Premier Ileo lined up with Katanga's President and rejected the new Congo plan.

"The Congolese people are ready to die to defend our sovereignty," Ileo told a news conference. "We are ready to defend ourselves . . . if the UN uses force, we will reply with force."

Kennedy sent a personal message to Premier Khrushchev expressing hope for an improvement in US-Soviet relations. US Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson, Jr., left Washington Wednesday to convey the message, after two weeks of detailed consultation with officials of the new administration.

The message was a move to encourage closer dealings between the US envoy and Soviet officials and to promote a fuller use of normal diplomatic channels in exchange between the two great powers.

The House Ways and Means Committee reached agreement last week on Kennedy's top priority legislative proposal — additional benefits for unemployed.

Aides said action was expected soon to make nearly 1 billion dollars available for extra unemployment payments for up to 13 weeks.

The United States Tuesday named three Astronauts to "begin concentrated training immediately for a manned space flight this spring atop a Mercury Redstone rocket.

The three chosen to begin training for the first US manned shot are John Glenn, 39, of Ohio; Virgil Grisson, 35, from Indiana, and Alan Shepard, 37, of New Hampshire.

LC Teams Lose To Mighty WC In Close Games

By Joyce Powell

The Longwood basketball team met the Westhampton College team in a two game series on Saturday, March 4.

This was one of the best teams that Longwood has played this year. Westhampton's team in winning both games showed excellent team work and sportmanship.

Serving as forwards in the first game were Barbara Brantley, Carolyn Thorpe, and Lindy Hatch. Guards were Trina Childress, Virginia Parker, and Mable Healy. Substitutes in the first game were forward Sandra Phlegar and guard Jean Still. The final score was westhampton 61, Longwood 44.

The second game was very close with Longwood leading until the final minutes when Westhampton pulled ahead. The final score of the second game was Westhampton 41, Longwood 34.

Playing as forwards were Sandra Phlegar, Peggy Waldo, and Joy Moore with Gay Taylor, and Carol Setzer substituting. Guards were Faye Ripley, Sarah Buston, and Linda Sudduth. Substituting in this position were Ann Snead, Shirley Carr, and Jean Still.

In Presidency, Pretty Heads 'Y' For Next Year

(Continued from page 1)

Sigma Tau sorority, member of the Cotillion Club, and member of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Pretty To Head "Y"

Nancy Pretty will serve as president of the YWCA for the coming fiscal year. Nancy is an elementary major from Danville, and a member of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority and Cotillion Club. She was elected to Freshman Commission, and served as treasurer of the group. She is now serving as secretary of the "Y." Nancy has been an active participant in class productions and Circuses, and last year she was elected secretary of her class.

Commenting on her recent election, Nancy said, "I feel humble and undeserving." With an eye on the coming year, she remarked, "I hope that, with God's help and the help of the cabinet, the spiritual life of the college will be enriched."

The new officers will be installed on March 21, during assembly.

Patronize
The Rotunda
Advertizers

WVU Defeated, GW Whips W&M To Win SC Title

By Sue Beardmore

William and Mary put a finish to the University of West Virginia's six year reign as Southern Conference champs Saturday in a thrilling game by outscoring and outplaying the Mountaineers 88-6.

WVU's sophomore star, Rod Thorn, seemingly having tournament jitters, was held scoreless throughout the game. Jeff Cohen proved to be the most valuable player for the Tribe team scoring 38 points. The defeat for WVU was the first tournament loss in 19 games.

George Washington, with only a 6-16 regular season record, defeated William and Mary for the Southern Conference Championship title 93-82. Jon Feldman, of George Washington, scored an all time tournament record with 45 points. He stands only 5-10, and is the smallest player on the team. Jeff Cohen, of William and Mary, also smashed a three-game tournament record with his 102 points. During the past season GW has lost twice but they won the time it counted most.

Ohio State clinched the Big Ten Conference crown by beating Michigan 91-83. They now have to defend their NCAA championship title.

The elimination games will begin March 14 with Ohio State favored to win. Jerry Lucas, the Buckeyes' All-American, is expected to be the "spearhead" of the team.

Wake Forest captured the Atlantic Coast Conference title for the first time in eight years of ACC history in a triumphant win over Duke, 96-81.

Last year Duke defeated Wake Forest for the title 63-59. The victory for Wake Forest puts them in contention for the NCAA title. The first team they will encounter March 14 will be St. Johns at Madison Square Garden.

—Staff Photo

WATER PAGEANT COMMITTEE HEADS R. Petit, M. Rowe, J. MacKenzie, F. Ripley and J. Davis relax after practice.

Pageant To Feature Music Of Civil War

By Lois Peters

Morag Nocher and Claudia Wilson, co-chairmen of the spring water pageant entitled "The Confederacy," have announced the names of the numbers that will be presented in the pageant.

They are: "Ring 'de Banjo" choreography by Claudia Wilson; "Hurrah For the Bonnie Blue Flag" by Mary Byrd Micou; "Camptown Races" by Ginger Culpeper; "Sweet Lorena" by Cherry Gorham; "General Lee's Grand March" by Claudia Wilson; "Yellow Rose of Texas" by Janice Harris; "Old Folks at Home" by Hannah White and Cherry Gorham; "Marching Through Georgia" by Morag Nocher; and "All's Quiet Along the Potomac" by Mrs. Bobbitt and Miss Dowd.

One of the special numbers will be a comedy written by Mrs. Bobbitt named "Guber Peas."

Starring in this number will be Sue Caravella, Barbara Gray Martin, Carol Nye, and Claudia Wilson. There will also be a singing group with this number. "Turkey in the Straw" written by Morag Nocher will be a dance number. Sounds of the sea will be featured in the number "Battle of the Monitor and the Merrimac" which was written by Morag Nocher and Claudia Wilson.

The backdrops will portray the beginning of the Civil War in the South and the ending of the war at Appomattox with the surrendering of Lee to Grant.

A few authentic Civil War props will also be used in the pageant.

Music for the pageant is being taken from three albums. They are "The Confederacy," "The Blue and the Gray," and "The American Sing."

Four performances of the pageant will be given. On Thursday, March 23, two performances will be given with the first show at 4 p.m. and the second at 7 p.m.

Tea Introduces Phi Mu Pledges To LC Campus

(Continued from page 1)

Gaylie Jones, Judith Stuart King, Jean Ellis Lowery.

Marilyn Rae Miller, Linda Marion Nelson, Nancy Anne Parker, Margaret Jane Pennington, Linda Lee Poff, Elizabeth B. Robertson, Anne Taylor Rowell, Jo Ann Self, Judy Deanna Smith, Patricia Carmen Soret, Carroll Ann Tew, and Julia Kent Waldo were pledged.

Mrs. Laura Felton of Washington, D. C., the District Alumnae Director; Mrs. Betty Walsh of McLean, Virginia, District President; and Mrs. Margaret Ann Schermerhorn, a former District officer from the Alumnae Chapter in Richmond were all present at the pledging.

Following pledging, the new Phi Mu's entertained the sponsors of the sororities on campus, representatives of the sororities, and Pan-Hellenic representatives with a tea which was held in the Phi Mu Sorority room.

The colony of Phi Mu at Longwood will become a chapter officially with an installation service on May 13.

See Our Line Of CHARM BRACELETS
and CHARMS
● Longwood Seal
● Longwood Pennant
MARTIN,
THE JEWELER

Class Competition To Begin March 13

Class games will begin next Monday, March 13, instead of this week as originally planned.

Class volleyball will begin on Monday with sister classes playing: freshman-junior and sophomore-senior.

On Tuesday, March 14, basketball will begin with sister classes playing each other. On Wednesday volleyball will continue with the freshman-senior and sophomore-junior games.

The freshman-senior and sophomore-junior basketball games will be played on Thursday. Class games will resume on Monday, March 20, with the juniors playing the seniors in volleyball.

The junior-senior basketball game will be played on Tuesday. The freshman-sophomore volleyball and basketball games will be held on Wednesday and Thursday respectively.

Since points are awarded toward the color cup to the color which wins these games, everyone is urged to support his class.

Hungry?
Eat At Your College Snack Bar!

Students Claim Victory Over Stalwart Faculty

By Lefty Snyder

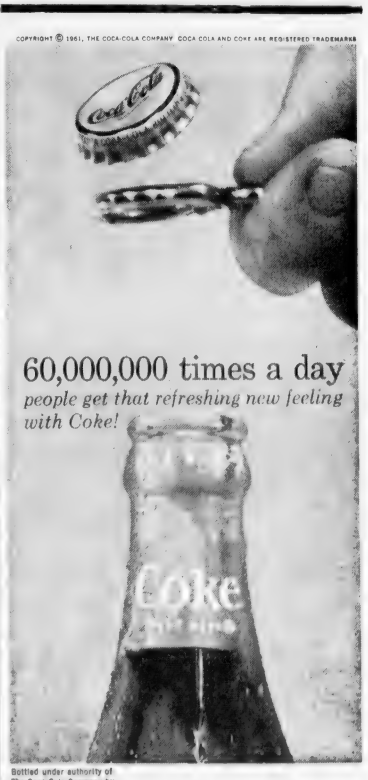
Cheers of "We want Dr. Sneller" and "C'mon Mr. Merritt" echoed throughout the gym Monday, March 6th, as the faculty pitted their wit and endurance against the students in the annual Student-Faculty Volleyball game. The two-out-of-three game series was won by the students 8-7 and 12-10.

In the first game, the starting line-up for the faculty consisted of Mr. Allen, Mr. Ballew, Mrs. Bobbitt, Dr. Brumfield, Dr. Burger, Miss Dowd, Dr. Lane, and Dr. Meeker. The beginning eight for the students were seniors Bobbie Caples, Barbara Brantley, Sandra Ferebee, Mary Hite Grayson, Gladys Patrick, Judy "Speedy" Robertson, Pat Southworth, and Mary Mercer Wright. As the teams took their positions on the floor, head coach and cheerleader, Dr. Moss, encouraged his team with a hearty "cheer." The faculty won the first two points of the game, but the students quickly caught up with them and from then on it was "touch and go." At the end of the first half the score was tied 5-5.

Play was resumed after a brief interval during which the faculty huddled around Coach Moss and came out with a loud, "Here we stand like birds in the wilderness." Mr. Helms came into the game in the second half, while Clara Lee Parker and Mable Healy went in for the student team. Coach Moss, delighted after each faculty point was scored, cheered his team onward with a boisterous, "Yea!" but the students succeeded in winning the game by one point.

Two more performances will be presented on Friday, March 24, at 7 p.m. and again at 9 p.m.

Morag and Claudia urge everyone who is interested in helping on any commitee to please sign up on the H2O bulletin board.



The second game was as hilarious as the first and equally exciting. New players for the faculty were Mr. Merritt, Dr. Sneller, and Dr. Wesley. Once again the faculty took the lead in scoring points. At the end of the first half the faculty led 8-2; and from the side lines came cheers of "Our team is Red Hot!!!" However, the Seniors were determined to catch up with their opponents and they did just that! Coach Moss called time out as his team began to fall behind, but this did not stop the seniors' sudden burst of energy. They won the second game by a narrow margin of two points and won the series with scores of 8-7 and 12-10.

A third game was played 'just for fun" and to the delight of everyone the faculty finally overpowered the students, winning the game 8-6.

This time the faculty team was all male. Those playing were Mr. Allen, Mr. Ballew, Mr. Helms, Dr. Lane, Dr. Meeker, Mr. Merritt, Dr. Sneller, and Dr. Wesley. Since there was a shortage in tennis shoes, Mr. Helms and Dr. Sneller played with one tennis shoe on and one off. The students playing were Barbara Brantley, Trina Childress, Sandra Ferebee, Mable Healy, Clara Lee Parker, Gladys Patrick, "Speedy" Robertson, and Mary Mercer Wright. Substituting in the second half were Bobbie Caples and Mary Hite Grayson. Mrs. Bobbitt, Dr. Burger, and Miss Dowd and Coach Moss started the game off with a bang by cheering, 'Reh, Rah, Our Men!"

Encouraged thusly, they led at the half 6-3; and they continued to stay in the lead until the buzzer sounded at the end of the game. The score was 8-6 faculty. The faculty then gave 15 "rahs" for the students, while the students chanted "2, 4, 6, 8, who do we appreciate? — Men!" The evening proved to be one of fun for all—spectators and players!

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS

60,000,000 times a day people get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of
The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Film Available

"Museum in Action," a new color-sound film documenting the diverse activities of America's first state-owned art museum has been released by the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond.

Narrated by the noted English journalist Alistair Cooke and directed by Academy Award winner Richard de Rochemont, the half - hour 16mm film is being offered for free showings by television stations, schools, clubs, libraries and other groups.

One of the few films of its type available today, "Museum in Action" was produced as part of the Virginia Museum's 25th Birthday celebration.

Inquires for booking should be addressed to State Services, Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond 20, Virginia.

Baptist Revival Theme Revealed

Plans are well underway for a campus-wide revival to be held March 10, 11, and 12.

The hymn, "Teach Me, O Lord, I Pray," has been chosen at the theme for the weekend, with each service emphasizing one of the stanzas, "Teach Me, Train Me, Use Me."

The revival will be led by three preministerial students from the University of Richmond, Dickie Spain, Rod Hale, and Frank Knill. Dickie, the state BSU president and student assistant at the First Baptist Church of Richmond and Rod Hale, assistant pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church of Chesterfield County, will be the two speakers. Frank, who is the student assistant at the Park View Baptist Church of Richmond, will lead the revival singing.

Services will be held each evening at 8 p.m. in the Baptist Church. A banquet is being planned for Saturday; and on Sunday evening immediately following a fellowship supper, the revival team will lead Union Vespers at the Methodist Church.

Class Sees Exhibit

Motoring to Richmond, Longwood's art appreciation class along with Miss Annie Lee Ross, associate professor of art, visited the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts on March 3 to see the "Treasures in America" exhibit which is on display there at the present time.

The exhibit featured paintings from other museums in the United States. The class also saw the permanent collection on display there.

Humor Provided By Observations Of Campus Life

(Continued from page 2)

Hades is? Hades is cool!

Thought I had insomnia last week so I went to the infirmary where they told me to soak it, take APC's, and get plenty of sleep. Don't you think our laundry bears a mark of irony?

Have you heard? They're passing out No-Doz next year instead of assembly numbers.

Thinking for a change, the other day in class, as we were debating psychiatry in relation to treatment for schizophrenia, a problem came to my mind. I amazed myself by solving it. Doctors who treat split personalities must use sectional couches. Wonders never cease.

I expect by the time people finish reading this article we'll feel like a door — slam!

School spirit is coming back — even had a chance to get "dampened" — rally Juniors! A word of wisdom to all you engaged Seniors — alimony is the high cost of leaving.

Guess that's what I should do right now. It's almost morning . . . guess I better go hunt my toothbrush. Something for you to ask your date this weekend: "Are you man or mouse? Come on, squeak up!"

—Staff Photo

MAY COURT PLANS are being made by May Court representatives B. Smith, J. O'Hop, V. Remaine, F. Gallahan, J. Savage, S. Little, and S. Spicer. Not pictured are B. Allgood, M. Brown, S. Gosnell, J. Harris, B. Kersey, N. McLaughlin and Z. Tapp.

Southern Aid Continues

State legislatures in the South acted in 1960 to continue a trend toward increased state funds for higher education in the region. Since 1951, state appropriations to public colleges and universities in the South have increased 95 per cent, but still the percentage of support from state funds will have to increase to finance higher education in the future.

These trends in support of higher education were released recently by the Southern Regional Education Board. Increased state support, reflected by action of the 1960 legislatures, took several forms. During the past year at least three Southern states have passed measures providing for student aid, and a program guaranteeing student loans was enacted in another state. But at least as many student aid or loan measures failed passage.

The SREB report states that loan and scholarship funds should be a matter of special concern in the South where the average family income is lower than in the nation, indicating a greater need for scholarships in this part of the country. In spite of this, there is less scholarship aid available per college — age youth than in the rest of the country.

At least five Southern legislatures have made specific provision for raising salaries this year. Their action underlines the region's acute problem of keeping faculty salaries in line with those of other parts of the nation.

In spite of legislative attention, the gap between Southern faculty salaries and those elsewhere remains about the same as it was five years ago . . . between $1,000-$1,500 a year. The Board says an extra effort will be required if the South is to catch up with other parts of the US.

The problem of support for higher education will become more acute as the full tide of post-war babies reaches college age within the next few years. Higher tuition cannot solve the problem without damaging the American principle of public education at low cost, the SREB said. Even with a 100 per cent tution hike in the South's schools, the agency predicted a threefold increase in state support would be needed to pay for demands of higher education in the next ten years.

New Professor Shows Interest In Maps, Books

(Continued from page 2)

the general supervisor of Prince Edward and Cumberland County schools.

As to hobbies, Mr. Magnusson likes to build radio receivers, and wants to start a collection of old maps, preferably those antedating the Civil War. If any of the Longwood girls find any old maps lying around their homes, he would appreciate it if they would bring them to him.

Fond Of Reading

He is also fond of reading, "I read anything I can get my hands on. Historical novels . . . anything." One of the books on Mr. Magnusson's desk was Shirer's The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich. Several other books were lying on his desk.

The Magnussons have two children—a girl, Judith, 21, and a boy, Michael, 19. Judith plans to enter George Peabody College to work on her master's degree in library science. Michael, at the present, has no plan for the future.

Born In Texas

Mr. Magnusson says he married a Virginia girl and for that reason they live in Virginia. Mrs. Magnusson was born in Texas, but was raised in Virginia in Lunenburg County. The Magnussons make their home there near her relatives. He says that they prefer living in the country to living in town. They have a small farm, but are not doing any farming.

Sorority Chapter Inspection Planned

A national inspection of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority will be held on campus March 8-10 by Mrs. Wallace Chandler of Richmond, national constitution chairman.

Inspection is held every other year. The inspection program is to include officers' conferences, model business meeting, pledging, sorority party and conferences with the college administration.

Kennedy Plan Proposes Federal Educational Aid

This is a follow-up interview on the news feature on Kennedy's educational program in last week's Rotunda. — Editor)

There is a prevalent attitude that, wanted or unwanted, Federal aid to education is inevitable. President Kennedy has a plan for federal aid to education before Congress now.

But what effect will such aid have on the American people? How will it effect our educational programs? Will our programs become more efficient because the administrators will be spending federal money?

"Means Control"

Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, professor of history and social sciences and dean of Longwood College, says, "I do not believe in federal aid to education, because it will mean federal control of education and the eventual destruction of local and regional cultures and the substitution of them by one common culture."

Refers To Construction

Dr. Marvin W. Schlegel, professor of history and social sciences, in referring to the aid which the federal government plans to give to the construction of schools says, "The building is the least important part of education. As a building it is primarily a local monument." Mr. Schlegel pointed out that if the locality, the state and the nation are involved in education, all three should participate in its support. Education used to be an entirely local matter, it then turned to the state for more support. Now it is in the stage of transferring from the state to the nation for support.

"States Will Withdraw"

Associate professor of history and social sciences, Mr. James Helms believes that, "The federal government will control education if it pays for education. The federal government can do just as good a job of mismanagement as the states. The states won't manage money any better just because it's federal money. If the federal government starts paying the bills, the states will withdraw, resulting in no change but who pays the bills." He added, "The state governments are doing the job and statistices prove it. There is no need for federal aid."

Mr. Harold K. Magnusson instructor of geography, feels that ". . . federal aid will result in federal control. Education will become indoctrination rather than a true education." Mr. Magnusson added that if the federal government wanted to aid the states in their educational programs, the amount of money taken from the states and put into federal hands should be reduced. This money left in the states could then be designated for education.

Some feel the need for additional aid in education, but fear that federal aid will not end with education. They ask, "Is this nation to come face to face with a cradle to the grave program?"

Church News

By Ann McCants

Union Vespers will be held at the Baptist Church Sunday night, March 12.

Jointly sponsored by the Methodists and Baptists, the program will be preceded by supper at 6 p.m. in the social hall of the Baptist Church. Those who wish to attend the supper are asked to sign up on the church bulletin board by noon on March 10.

The program will begin at 7 p.m. in the social hall of the church. This year the program will be a panel composed of three boys from the University of Richmond: Dickie Spain, Rodney Hale, and Frank Hill; and two Longwood girls, Betty Jo Shelton and Mel Lewter. The topic for discussion by the panel is "Does our present form of college life decrease our individuality?"

Everyone is invited to attend this inter-denominational supper meeting in the social hall of the Baptist Church.

Closed On Sunday

SOUTHSIDE SUNDRY

Effective at Once!

Enter St. Patrick Party Favor Contest

MARCH 1-15

1st Prize—Bavarian China Cake Plate

by Schumann

SEE LANSCOTT'S For Details

Buy For Easter Gifts

The Interpreter's Bible

The Layman's Bible Commentary

Billy Graham's My Answer

Peter Marshall's First Easter

Jones, Seven Words To the Cross

Easter Ideals

Weyanoke Book Shop

200 High St.

Farmville, Va.

State Theatre

FARMVILLE, VA.

NOW PLAYING

WILLIAM HOLDEN

The World of Suzie Wong

FRI.-SAT.—MARCH 10-11

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come"

SUN.-MON.-TUES.-WED.

MARCH 12-13-14-15

Metro Goldwyn Mayer presents A Katzka-Berne Prod.

"Where the Boys Are"

In CinemaScope and METROCOLOR

MARCH 16 THRU 22

THEY TURNED A JUNGLE INTO AN ISLAND PARADISE!

WALT DISNEY'S SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON

TECHNICOLOR® FILMED IN PANAVISION®

Be an American Airlines Stewardess

Travel while you work!

Starting salary: $335 per month, plus expense allowance—$365 after one year. Periodic increases thereafter.

No previous airline training necessary. American Airlines trains you free at its unique Stewardess College.

You must be:

☐ single

☐ 20 to 26 years old

☐ 5'3" to 5'9" tall, weigh 105 to 140 proportionately

☐ have 20/50 vision without glasses. (Contact lens wearers may be considered.)

Apply now for training

Summer-Fall, 1961

Come for an interview

MARCH 7th

(call placement office for appointment)

AMERICAN AIRLINES

AMERICA'S LEADING AIRLINE

The Rotunda

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., March 22, 1961 | No. 16

Major Organizations Under New Direction

Thirteen positions were filled in the minor elections for the four main Longwood College organizations.

Holland To Serve

Newly elected Athletic Association officers who will serve under President Morag Nocher are Vice-President Keaton Holland, Secretary Janice Harris and treasurer Carol Nye.

Keaton is a junior from Holland, Virginia. Carol and Janice are both sophomores and are from Fort Sheridan, Illinois, and Danville respectively.

Snow Elected

President of House Council Ann Howell, from Richmond, will be assisted by newly elected Vice-President Diana Snow, a junior from Natural Bridge. House Council secretary will be sophomore Ann Peters from Salem and treasurer will be Pam Bullen, a sophomore from Arlington.

Vice-President Blewett

Student government president for 1961-62, Jo Savage, has as her vice-president Mattie Blewett, a junior from Hampton. Student Government secretary is Annice Bailey, a sophomore from Norfolk and treasurer is Beth Goodwyn, a sophomore from Chester.

Serving under Longwood's new YWCA president Nancy Pretty are Vice-President Page Tolleson, Secretary Sandra Little, and Treasurer Sue Spicer.

Freshman counselor for next year is Betty Ann Rex. Page is a junior from Gordonsville; Sandra, a sophomore from Norfolk; Sue, a sophomore from Richmond; and Betty Ann, a freshman from Charlottesville.

Education Group Presents Bids, Holds Reception

Bids were issued by the Longwood chapter of the Student Education Association to all juniors and seniors in the field of education. A reception was held on March 9 for all these students to explain the purposes, dues, and participation in this organization. Membership in this organization now stands at 150.

Affiliation

The SEA is affiliated with the National Education Association and the Virginia Education Association. Members are recognized as student members of these organizations and are afforded all the privileges of associate members of the NEA and VEA.

Purposes

The purposes of the SEA are to develop an understanding of the teaching profession through participation in the work of local, state, and national education associations; to acquaint students preparing to teach with the history, ethics, organizations, policies, and programs of these associations; to interest capable students in education as a career and to encourage careful selection of persons admitted into the profession; and to give students practical experience in working together.

Fall Bids

The next induction of new members will take place in the fall, when the SEA plans to allow two sophomores from each department, recommended by the faculty to be inducted.

Annual Contest Entries Sought

The Colonnade, student literary magazine, has announced its annual literary contest. The contest, which is open to all students, will consider entries in two categories: short story and poetry.

Cash Awards

A first and second place award will be given in each division. First place awards will be fifteen dollars; second place winners will receive ten dollars.

Entries Typed

Entries should be typed with the author's name attached but on a separate sheet of paper. The contest will close on April 6. Entries may be submitted to Judy Detrich or to any member of the Colonnade staff.

Work Published

The Colonnade sponsors the literary contest to encourage an interest in creative writing on campus. In addition to the cash awards, winners will receive recognition in assembly and have their work published in the spring issue of the Colonnade.

—Staff Photo

COMMITTEE HEADS MEET to perfect May Day Plans. Pictured above are S. Sharp, N. Banks, W. Egolf, B. Caples, A. Kovacevich, J. Harris, J. Stanley, L. Hamlet, L. Predmore.

Models Sought

Mademoiselle magazine is now looking for coeds 5'5" to 5'9" in stocking feet, who are slim and photogenic.

The August issue of Mademoiselle is entirely devoted to the college student and only college students are used as models. College girls who are going to be in or near New York before the end of April, are invited to stop by Mademoiselle's offices. Interviews will be held on Friday or by appointment.

Those who are interested and will not be in New York are asked to send a snapshot with height and weight noted. Contact Barbara Smallwoodd, Mademoiselle Magazine, 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, New York.

Wilburn Authors Poem Selected For Publication

Rebecca Wilburn, a sophomore English major from Ripplemead, is the author of a poem which has been selected to be included in an anthology of poetry published under the auspices of the Riverside Poetry Contest.

From over 1,000 poems submitted, 63 poems were selected on a basis of poetic maturity in conception and in technique to be published. Among the poems to be published in Riverside Poetry IV is Rebecca's poem, "Temple to my Idol," which appeared previously in the spring, 1960 issue of the Colonnade.

Rebecca, a Colonnade staff member for two years, states, "I had no idea that I would win anything — but, of course, I'm glad I did."

The anthology will be published in August by Twayne Publishers.

May Day Theme Commemorates Early Civil War

In a few short weeks the dell at Longwood Estate will take on the splendor and significance of the early 1860's as May Day 1961 presents "The Sound of Distant Drums."

The story of the Civil War will be retold through dances, songs, narration, and moving scenes as the symbolic meaning of one of America's greatest experiences is expressed.

Commemerative Theme

The May Day theme was selected in commemoration of the Civil War and its centennial. The committee, in expressing its views, commented, "Even though this is not a traditional theme, we feel that it is especially appropriate and will prove quite meaningful to the student body."

The Civil War's symbolic meaning will be stressed throughout, as statues come to life and who, alongside drummer boys, flags, children, plantations, and armies, will tell the part they played and why it was important.

The VMI cadets will participate in an opening dance sequence with the May Court in addition to their past role as escorts.

New Ideas Included

Many new ideas have been planned by the committees and will be released at a later date. Heads of the various committees are programs, Ann Kovacevich, Janet Stanley, and Katie Mae Bolt; costumes, Susan Lane, Laurice Hamlet; dance, Janice Harris, Bobbie Caples; May Day dance, Sue Sharp; music, Libby Predmore, Betty Ann Rex, Dodie Webster; props, Ruby Simpson, Winnie Egolf; transportation, Peggy Whittaker; technical, Nell Banks; and May Court, Fran Gallahan. Active participation and cooperation will be needed if this is to be our best May Day yet.

Plays Open Tonight With Shaw's 'Arms'

—Staff Photo

A SCENE FROM "ARMS AND THE MAN" which will be presented tonight is being rehearsed by C. Venable, E. Posey, and M. B. Olson.

Wellard Drama To Interchange With GB Shaw

By Ann Agee

Opening tonight is the first play in the Longwood Players' repertory production, "Arms and the Man," by George Bernard Shaw. The plays will run on alternate nights through Saturday, with James Wellard's "The Man Who Died Laughing" beginning tomorrow night.

"Comedy of Manners"

"Arms and the Man" was written in 1894, and became Shaw's first successful venture in the literary or dramatic field. He called it a "comedy of manners," intending to "poke fun at romantic or idealized concepts of warfare and love." He reveals romanticism as "sham and pretense" by comparing romanticism with realism. The play includes some moral conclusions, but is concerned mainly with producing comedy, based on the moral concepts.

"Arms and the Man" is more widely known under the title, "The Chocolate Soldier," a musical version adapted by Oscar Straus.

Modern Setting

Thursday night's production is a mystery comedy set in modern times, revolving around a theme concerning relatives who try to settle an inheritance upon themselves. The play, itself, is not heavy or classical in tone. As Wellard comments, "My purpose was to write a piece of entertaining theatre. It has no message or moral as in a serious drama; it strives simply to provide an evening of light, gay entertainment."

"The Man Who Died Laughing" is Wellard's first three-act production. His first attempt at playwriting produced "The Electronic Triangle," a one-act presented at Longwood several years ago.

Casts Interchange

Cast in tonight's play are the following: Major Petkoff, Al Ross; Catherine Petkoff, Bobbie Caples; Raina Petkoff, Mary Beth Olson; Louka, Liz Deichmann; Sergius, Cab Venable; Captain Bluntschli, Ernest Posey; Nicola, Ed Baker; Russian Soldier, Mike Couchman.

Cast for "The Man Who Died Laughing" are: Gerald Canterbury, Alexander Blackburn; Florence Canterbury, Matilda Conley; Lidia Canterbury, Judy Partrea; Saul Kober, Jerry Goode; Hilda Mac Dougall, Betty Atkinson; Professor Tezel, Ernest Posey; Dr. Roberts, Cab Venable; Ferguson, Alan Stein; Constable Brooks, Ed Baker; Chauffeur, Randy Keller.

Elaborate scenery has been constructed by the crews. Much of it will be used interchangeably for both plays, keeping building cost and labor at a minimum.

Admission for Longwood students is free. For high school students in groups, admission is 50 cents, and all adults, one dollar.

'Y' Easter Program To Be Held March 28

The annual Easter sunrise service, presented and sponsored by the YWCA, will be held March 28 at 6:45 a.m., in the sunken gardens outside Tabb Hall.

The co-chairmen of the pageant, chosen by the Y Cabinet, are Nancy Hague and Harriet Brooks, both sophomores.

The theme of the pageant will be "Thy Will Be Done." This year there will be several important changes in the service.

There will be five moving scenes, with the action shifting from one scene to another. The five scenes will be the communion, the garden of Gethsemane, the trial with Pilate, the bearing of the cross and the crucifixion, and the resurrection.

This year, for the first time, there will be a Christ played by a student who will be chosen by the co-chairmen at a later date. The Christ figure will move from scene to scene as the action changes.

As before, the choir composed of the various church youth choirs and volunteers will sing. There will be a main narrator.

Try-outs for the various parts will be announced by the co-chairman later. The list of chairmen for the different committees has not been completed as yet.

LC To Celebrate College Founding March 24 And 25

The annual Longwood College Founders' Day week end is to be held March 24-25. It will begin with registration for rooms at 2 p.m. Friday, March 24, and will end with an open house at the Alumnae House at 4-5 p.m. March 25. Hosting the affair will be the members of the Granddaughters Club.

Players, Jongleurs To Perform

At 8 p.m. Friday, the Longwood Players and the Farmville-Sydney Jongleurs will present to the alumnae "Arms and the Man" by George Bernard Shaw. The following night they will present "The Man Who Died Laughing" by Dr. James H. Wellard, as guests in honor of the Bash at Longwood College.

From 9:30-10 p.m. Saturday, the Farmville Alumnae Chapter

(Continued on page 3)

El Club Espanol Runs 'Flamenco,' Spanish Cinema

By Mary Lou Plunkett

Habla usted espanol? Whether he speaks Spanish or not, every student will surely enjoy the movie Flamenco which will be presented here Tuesday, April 11, in Jarman Auditorium from 7:30 until 9 p.m.

The movie will be sponsored by El Club Espanol. The student body is invited and there will be an admission charge of fifty cents.

The movie was filmed in Spain, and it will include an authentic, picturesque cavalcade of Spanish dance, music and scenery. Included in the film will be the world-famous flamenco dancers: Antonio, Pilar Lopez, and Ballet Espanol artistes in their own villages; music of Albeniz, Granados, and other popular composers; and a bullfight sequence with Juan Belmonte, one of the world's greatest bullfighters.

The film will be in Spanish with English titles by Walter Terry.

Commend Or Condemn?

The winter issue of the Colonnade has been a controversial one, to have contained so little material. "Mumbo-Jumbo," we concede, falls short as an artistic creation even though its purpose is a comparison of styles. It would have been possible, and this is not necessarily the writer's fault, to choose another style which would have been amusing in satire and more worth while. All the "Little Black Sambo" writers, however, showed ingenuity in their work.

"Josephine" has a great deal in common with Salinger's Holden Caulfield, particularly in his manner of expressing himself. "Josephine," however, lacks the depth of character, or perhaps the vivid manifestations of character, one would expect in a short story of this type.

More short stories, please! This plea is directed to the student body rather than to the magazine staff, who would publish more if they were available.

Judy Detrich's essay on E. E. Cummings is easy and informative reading even for those who are not English majors; essays of this type would benefit the entire student body. Selections in the field of poetry are, as almost always, pleasing. Art work for the winter issue was particularly outstanding.

In summary, we see more to commend in this issue of the Colonnade than to condemn in it. We are fortunate in having an instrument of student expression such as the Colonnade. May we neither abuse our privilege nor talk ourselves out of it!

Poor Planning

Two weeks ago the student body was required to attend a showing in assembly of the first half of "Marjorie Morningstar." The second half was scheduled for an hour when nine campus organizations have regularly scheduled weekly meetings, meaning that approximately 225 girls had to sit through the first half of a compulsory movie. Organizations having meetings at the time scheduled for the second half of "Marjorie" rescheduled their meetings.

But this was not the end of the confusion. The film then ran into dinner hour. The dining hall staff cannot be blamed for closing the dining hall doors at the time they are regularly requested to do so by the admininistration, and the student body cannot be blamed for asking to be fed after staying to see the end of a movie, the first hour of which they were required to watch.

The fault lies in poor planning by the assembly committee, and we forgive them, for everyone makes mistakes. We forgive them for the confusion, that is, but not for requiring us to sit through an hour of "Marjorie Morningstar." We suppose that this was an effort to bring us what we want in assembly. But is this what we want? We can get the same thing at the State Theatre. But the State Theatre cannot give us a live performance of the "Oresteia," a renowned speaker on a scholarly subject, or insight into a phase of life peculiar to Longwood College.

We can only secure worth while programs by letting our student representatives know that our mature tastes and interests call for judgment in the selection of required assembly programs, and that we will go to see "Marjorie Morningstar" if we so desire on our leisure time.

—Staff Photo

MONSTER ACCEPTS A. Peele's small sacrifice with gurgling, hoarse voice.

Machines Give Relief To Habitual Patrons

By Mary Beth Olson

The mighty structures loom tall and glowering in the dimness. Their vivid uniforms follow the well - proportioned lines of the monstrous body. The appendages are almost nonexistant—the legs are dwarfed to the point of utter invisibility. Decorative buttons in bright array file across the gaudy costumes.

No Emotion

The luminescent faces betray no emotion. They stand expressionless and erect. The huge impassive faces gaze contemptuously at the "riff-raff" as they gather. The quiet of the dimly lit chamber in-pires the precise brain to wander—wander to the other colonies established in similar sanctuaries.

Lowly Sacrifice

The young girl stepped hesitantly forward, trembling as she clutched the sacrifice. She surveyed the callous faces and timidly chose the one of lowest rank. His massive chest bore only two metallic buttons.

She stooped in reverence and presented her lowly sacrifice. A gurgling, hoarse voice issued forth muttering unintelligible sounds. The girl smiled wanly and scurried from the musty sanctuary.

Unfeeling Colony

Silence shrouded the empty room and the whirr of distant machinery echoed within the chamber. The unfeeling colony settled down to a quiet hour of meditation—an hour to commune with scattered relatives in other groups.

Gaping Monsters

Suddenly there was the creak of a turning knob and a groan of bending hinges. Another young maid came to pay homage to the gaping monsters. Slowly she drew near—her fist was tightly clenched about some treasured offering. There was no sound. A beam of light seeped through the partially open door illumnating the grotesque figures and

(Continued on page 4)

Letters To Editor

Editor States Goals, Letter Defends Chi

Dear Editor,

For the past few weeks three C's—Chi, customs, and Colonnade—have been causing considerable controversy on campus. Because the Rotunda reaches the majority of the student body, I should like to use its power to reply to some of the criticism concerning the student literary magazine.

After reading the Colonnade, eyebrows have been raised and so has the question, "What will people think?" What people will think is the first consideration of the Colonnade for the next three issues.

The Colonnade will strive to publish written expressions of the best thinking done here at Longwood and to include material which will stimulate mature thought on the part of other members of the student body.

Such goals mean that the Colonnade cannot avoid a subject because it is controversial or considered taboo by a fraction of the students. Too, the Colonnade cannot continue to publish material which is entirely lacking in mature purpose. This means that a story, even a parody, such as "Mumbo Jumbo," would have no justifiable reason for publication, its intention being neither literary nor thought provoking.

This does not mean that any subject, including sex, will be avoided in the magazine. The Colonnade will not question subject matter, but purpose and presentation instead.

The Colonnade is proud of its lack of censorship, simultaneously realizing that this means the responsibility falls upon the student staff. This being the case, the Colonnade will not jeopardize its freedom for unworthy issues; on the other hand, the Colonnade will gladly publish any creative expression reflecting and provoking mature and free thought, humor, or feeling, regardless of public opinion.

Judy Detrich, editor
Colonnade
Student Literary Magazine

To the editor of the Rotunda:

"The purpose of Chi is not inscribed upon paper, but is an organization which plays a vital part in maintaining the spirit and traditions of the college. Chi hopes that these will never cease to exist, for this is Longwood." 1

Chi and Longwood synonymous?

To our knowledge, Chi has never stated that it is the spirit of Longwood, or that it is or ever will be the sole source of the over-all spirit of the College, but they endeavor to maintain this spirit through their participation in the various fields of campus activities.

Anyone who does not fully understand the real meaning and significance of something and appreciate the immaterial worth of it as well as its dollar value cannot justly criticize it.

The so - called cloak of secrecy conceals individual identity, which is immaterial to the purpose of Chi, but it is a means through which Chi carries out its purpose effectively.

"The purpose of Chi is not inscribed upon paper, but can be found only in the hearts and minds of those who seek it . . ." 2

1 1960 Virginian Page 152
2 1959 Virginian Page 142

Signed,
Concerned Students

Dear Editor:

Since the lack of school and class spirit was brought to the attention of the student body during assembly last Tuesday, some students have made several attempts to revive the enthusiasm which, until this year, has been taken for granted and supported by every class.

These attempts, however, have not been successful and have, upon occasion, been met with definite resistance.

Are we to assume that Longwood College students are no longer interested in upholding the traditions and spirit which has always distinguished and characterized our school as being exceptionally friendly and close?

We all love Longwood; if we didn't we wouldn't be here. So let's all try sincerely and wholeheartedly to revive the wonderful spirit which has long prevailed among our classmates and throughout our campus.

Concerned Students

Students Puzzle On Predicament Of Easter Eggs

By Ann Kovacevich and Bettie Jane Stegall

Easter is a wonderful season of the year . . . for everyone except rabbits, chickens and eggs. Have you ever thought what it would be like to be an egg? Well, we hadn't either until Mary Byrd suggested it. Since thinking involves the use of the brain we started out to see if there were any available . . . we then found out that our professors seek relief and leave at five (some earlier, very few later) thus we had to resort to the use of students. Names will be omitted to protect the eggs.

Regrets Absence

One girl looked at us in stunned bewilderment and said quite sincerely, "But I won't be here Easter." Another girl who happened to be out of it said "Out of it" and also added "I can't remember, but I'll let you know." Someone who seemed to think it was crazy said, "Southside Hospital is just two blocks down the street, and Dr. Graziani's office hours are posted, but I'm sure they'll open up the infirmary tonight for a case like yours."

"Huh? . . . I couldn't really say, but I think I'd feel. . . . well I don't know . . . this is the hardest question I have ever had to answer. I'd feel terrible, like someone was going to step on me." This was the answer received upon awakening someone.

Secret Desires

Would you be surprised to learn that lots of girls on our campus would love to be eggs One girl said it would be fun if she were colored and decorated. She did add that she thought it would be horrible if she were to be hidden and not found. "Oh I'd love to make little children happy" . . . A retort to this was, "I'd get tired of people hunting for me," and "that depends on whether I'd be soft-boiled or hard-boiled . . . don't want to change my nature . . . besides soft - boiled eggs are messy." One girl even gave a psychological reason, it being, "I'd feel squelched 'cause my mother had given me away."

Don't Fit In

A few others included: "But eggs don't fit in with Lauderdale —maybe a few rabbits, but no eggs!" "Feel like hiding in the grass" . . "I'd be afraid someone would eat me." "I'd be mad 'cause it would be the ruin of me, as well as the end."

A few choice comments like "Rotten, stewed, laid and hard-boiled" were also offered. There were lots of good suggestions, but we sort of agreed with one girl who said, "I don't know — what does an egg do? Tell me that and I'll know more how I'm supposed to feel." So that's our project for this week . . . to find out just how an egg does feel. If you know please let us know.

New Foreign Language Laboratory Keeps Pace With Revised Concept Of Teaching And Learning

—Staff Photo

LANGUAGE LABORATORY provides variety of learning experience for Longwood students.

By Mary Jo Bartley and Gayle Arnn

During the past few decades, vacationing abroad became more extensive, and new doors were opened to the foreign language student in international exchange programs, and to the students of foreign language on the professional level through international politics.

There slowly unveiled an awareness on the part of American scholars that the foreign language textbooks, geared toward teaching the student the written form of a language, were inadequate for a time when societies of different [illegible] were drawn together politically, socially, and economically, the main link became understanding of and ability to speak fluently the spoken language of a country.

Extensive Research

Such awareness gave birth to extensive research and experimentation in new and better methods of teaching foreign languages. It was through such research and experimentation that two noted scholars, Theodore Mueller and George Brodhun, made the following observation: ". . . a language, whether native or foreign is best learned orally. Psychologically and at any age level, language is an oral phenomenon. The first reaction to any situation is speech, whereas we write only with effort. The written form of a language is a secondary code which actually is far from the spoken language.

"In spite of the prestige of the written language through literature and the fact that its use is a mark of literacy, writing is a code or sign of language, a means of recording speech. Putting speech into writing has always arisen from a desire or need to make words permanent. This had led inevitably to the effort to achieve striking effects and has produced imperishable written testimony of the power of language in the form of literary masterpieces.

End Products

"These are, however, with all their great prestige and beauty, the end products of a lifetime of language learning and of sternly imposed self discipline in the use of language. The eventual ability of students to understand and appreciate literary expression depends upon a command of the basic patterns of the language. Literary mastery is the highly [illegible] practiced and discriminating use of the basic structures of the language."

This line of thinking spread contagiously throughout the nation, bringing prompt and immediate remedial action first on the college level and then on the secondary school level. Finally, some grammar schools began to utilize the oral method of teaching a foreign language.

One of First in Nation

Longwood College was one of the first colleges in Virginia and in the nation to stress the oral

(Continued on page 4)

Spring Revives Baseball Season; Teams Shape Up

By Marjorie Freese

With spring just around the corner, the spirit of baseball will be coming into full swing. Not only are the professional ball teams getting into shape, but also the collegiate teams are giving baseball the place of honor in their schedule of spring sports.

The first conference game is scheduled for March 30. Other non-conference games will probably be played before in preparation for these scheduled games.

Already this season, Davidson, as well as Virginia Tech, and several other schools have played games.

Last year the Citadel tied with Richmond for the SC pennant with 8-2 records. There should be some real sparks flying in this year's race due to the Citadel coach's Mack Erwin, transferring his teachine and coaching ability to Furman. As is it now, the teams that Erwin has coached are to be possible championship contenders.

But it still might be a great mix-up with West Virginia and George Washington as major threats and Richmond and VMI as possible dark horses. The rest of the conference does not seem to hold any real threat to anyone.

The experts see the outcome of the 1961 SC race as possibly Citadel as pennant holder with Furman in close second. Next West Virginia and George Washington and Richmond would follow in that order. VMI is a very good possibility to come next, followed by VPI. Davidson comes next with a good potential catching man, but the pitching worries the experts.

William and Mary is low man on the totem pole because of losing six of last year's starters. This leaves the coach with a very inexperienced team.

All in all it should be quite interesting to see how close the predictions of the experts come to the final analysis.

Teachers Discuss English Education

Articulation of English instruction between elementary school, high school, and college levels will be the theme of the Eleventh Conference of Teachers of English in which two Longwood college professors will participate. This conference is scheduled for March 25, at the University of Virginia.

Mr. Foster B. Gresham, assistant professor of English, will attend as executive-secretary of the Virginia Association of Teachers of English which holds the spring meeting concurrently with the conference.

Dr. R. C. Simonini, Jr., professor of English, is editor of the association's "Virginia English Bulletin" which is published three times a year at Longwood and is sent to more than 1300 sub-cribers in Virginia and other states.

—Staff Photo

POOL DEPICTS CIVIL WAR THEME. "The Confederacy" which was presented by the H2O Club Thursday and Friday.

Attention

Carol Nye and Clara Lee Parker, tennis managers, have announced that varisty tennis tryouts will be held next week.

Color Cup Race Heightens Spirit As Classes Vie

The Red and Whites overcame the supremacy held by the Green and Whites for the past several years by winning this year's volleyball competition. As a result of winning the volleyball contests, the Red and Whites took a strong 20-0 lead for the color cup.

In the past week's volleyball games, the freshmen and juniors handily whipped the sophomores. The seniors handed the freshmen a loss while the juniors came back in the second game to capture an 8-8 tie after losing the first game to the seniors. As a result of the junior-senior game, the volleyball points toward the color cup were awarded to the Red and Whites.

The only basketball games that have been played are the sister class games. A strong freshman team easily handed the juniors a defeat. Meanwhile the seniors romped to an easy victory over the sophomores. Tuesday night at 7 o'clock the freshman senior game will be held, and at 7:45 the sophomore-junior game will be played. On Thursday the freshman-sophomore and the junior-senior games will be held.

The winner of the color cup might easily hinge on the outcome of the basketball games.

—Staff Photo

RED AND WHITES TAKE IT EASY after winning ten points toward the color cup. They are S. Mosely, Brenda Isbel, "Butch" McDaniel, and Lois Obenschain.

H2O Water Pageant Interprets Civil War

By Cherry Gorham

Spectators viewing the H2O Club's "The Confederacy" last Thursday and Friday enjoyed the usual polished performance. Yet too few of them had an opportunity to appreciate fully the efforts of the many people working behind-the-scenes.

The costumes and props, such as the Confederate and Union caps, were unusually well-done and appropriate. Yet how many spectators realized that in the locker room hurried hands were making repairs on oil-cloth that just wouldn't hold together in water?

Many Participate

There were also the many people who spent literally hours coloring programs or balancing precariously on a ladder beside the pool pinning up stars. Through a week of mid-semester tests, the swimmers faithfully appeared for rehearsals. And the worth of their work was witnessed at the four performances.

Narration, another innovation in "The Confederacy," was handled with finesse by Zee Tapp. The script, a chronological tying together of the varied music of the Civil War period with historical sketches, was prepared by Sue Beardmore and Dibby Mohr.

Mary Byrd Micou is the toast of H2O for stepping into one of the duets when one of the regular swimmers became sick just before the last performance. From her smooth and relaxed appearance the audience could not have detected the switch.

Active Cooperative

During the shows themselves a vast amount of coordination goes on. Swimmers are helped in and out of costume; props are moved; signals are flashed from one end of the pool to the other.

The timeliness of "The Confederacy" is especially commendable. With the addition of such numbers as the dancers and the Monitor-Merrimac incident, chairmen Morag Nocher and Claudia Wilson, with the aid of Mrs. Robert Bobbitt, can be justly proud of having produced a true pageant, using the medium of water.

College Alumnae Plan Festivities

(Continued from page 1)

will host a coffee in the Alumnae House.

Program To Open In Jarman

At 11:15, the Founders Day program will begin in Jarman Hall. The Reverand J. Hoge Smith, Jr. of Farmville Presbyterian Church will open the program with the invocation. Mrs. J. Spencer Burger, president of the Association of Alumnae, and Ann Hardy, president of Longwood College's Student Government Association, will greet the alumnae.

Lankford To Speak

The speaker, Dr. Francis G. Lankford, Jr., president of Longwood College, will address the alumnae on "Longwood's Place in Higher Edveation in Virginia." Also included in the program are the Madrigal Singers and slides and class songs.

Other Points Included

Other points of interest on Saturday's schudile are the Alumnae Association business meeting, the alumnae luncheon in the college dining hall, the reunion festivities. And from 4-5 pm, Dr. and Mrs. Lankford will hold open house.

Swimming Meet Scheduled Soon, Colors Compete

By Sue Beardmore

"On your mark, get set, go..." as another sports competition between the Red and Whites and Green and Whites in the annual swimming meet gets under way. Eight "rec" swims, four of them scheduled practices every Thursday at five, are required of those planning to enter. Pointers are reviewed at the supervised practices on turns, racing starts, bobbing, and diving.

The various swimming events on the agenda now are the 50-yard free style, bobbing, the 50-yard relay (front crawl), diving (front header and two optionals), a pajama relay, the 25-yard breast stroke, and the 25-yard back crawl.

Wendy Warren and Joanne White, in charge of the meet, urge each girl to get her practices before the date of the contest, April 13. Thus far, only seven Red and Whites and seven Green and Whites have signed up to participate.

Simonini To Head Workshop Activity

Dr. R. C. Simonini, Jr., professor of English, will be chairman of a series of workshop sessions during the Conference on College Composition and Communication to be held in Washington, D. C., April 6-8.

Assisting Dr. Simonini in the workshop topic on "Bridging the Gap Between Secondary Schools and Colleges" will be professors from Indiana University, Florida Southern College, North Carolina State College, the University of North Carolina, and the U. S. Naval Academy.

Record Evaluated

Season Summarized In Basketball Review

By Lefty Snyder

The Longwood basketball team ended its season here March 7 with a record of only three defeats and two victories, yet their wins and losses are unimportant for they are still Blue and White champions of good sportsmanship and school spirit.

Potential Ability

The season cannot be declared unsuccessful for the potential ability of the team in years to come has been instilled in the many underclassmen who played on the team and who gained much skill and experience during the season.

Two Game Opener

The basketball season began with a bang February 10; the Longwood hoopsters traveled to Roanoke College and proceeded to win the two game series. The first game was a thriller as the Blue and White came from behind to win the game 45-28.

Forwards playing in the first game were Pat Southworth, Barbara Brantley and Carolyn Thorpe; guards were Mable Healy, Virginia Parker and Trina Childress. Substituting in the first game were Lindy Hatch and Trina Childress. The second game proved to be equally exciting; the team stayed in front all the way and gained a 51-27 decision over the opponents.

Mary Washington

February 25 found Longwood at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Virginia, where both teams suffered their first upset of the season. The hostess team displayed excellent teamwork as well as fine sportsmanship and hospitality.

Shooting for the Longwood College team in the opening game were forwards Barbara Brantley, Lindy Hatch, and Carolyn Thorpe. Guards were Trina Childress, Mable Healy, and Virginia Parker. Substituting players were Pat Southworth, Sandra Phlegar. The final score tallied MWC 56, Longwood 42.

The second team, sparked by forwards Joy Moore, Pat Southworth, Peg Waldo, and guards Sarah Buston, Faye Ripley, and Ann Snead put up a strong offense but failed to overcome their staunch adversaries. The final score of the second game: Mary Washington 30, Longwood 26.

One Sided Game

The Medical College of Virginia arrived at Longwood February 28 and encountered the Longwood team composed of the freshman and sophomore varsity members. The game was one-sided all the way as Longwood led 34-8 at the half and clinched the victory with a score of 64-15.

Lindy Hatch, Joy Moore, Sandra Phlegar, Carolyn Setzer, Gay Taylor, and Peg Waldo served as forwards while Jean Stall, Norma Eudy, Shirley Carr, and Ann Snead kept the advances of MCV to a minimum of 13 points.

Mighty Westhampton

The next two game contest was held here at Longwood on March 4. The Blue and Whites were pitted against a mighty Westhampton College team, and the first team was overpowerd 61-44. Although the second team led throughout the game, Westhampton pulled ahead in the final minutes of the game to win 41-34.

Hollins Last

The final game of the season was played here March 7 against Hollins College. Once again Lady Luck frowned upon Longwood as both teams suffered another defeat.

The first team kept pace with their opponents until the final quarterof the game when Hollins widened their lead and scored a victory of 40-34.

The starting six for Longwood were Carolyn Thorpe, Barbara Brantley, Lindy Hatch, Virginia Parker, Trina Childress and Mable Healy. Substitutes were Sandra Phlegar and Linda Sudduth. The second team lost by only two points as Hollins executed a narrow victory of 20-18.

BETWEEN BITES... get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Calendar Filled By Many, Varied Greek Activities

By Betty Rice Dawson

At this time all sororities are busy selecting themes for Greek Sing which will be held on Monday, March 27, in Jarman Auditorium. In addition to Greek Sing rehearsals and pledging, there are various other sorority activities taking place on campus.

The Alpha Gamma Delta pledges are making posters for the Panhellenic Dance to be held soon after Easter Vacation in the gym.

On March 9 and 10 Mrs. Chandler, national ASA parliamentarian, was on campus for Alpha Sigma Alpha National Inspection.

Alpha Sigma Tau sorority entertained the Phi Mu's at a formal tea on March 9 in the AST chapter room.

The Delta Zetas also entertained the Phi Mu's. They enjoyed a bermuda coke party held in the cypress room on March 20.

The pledges of Kappa Delta are planning a tea for the pledges of all other sororities.

On March 5, Mrs. Landon Freear, National Panhellenic Conference delegate of Phi Mu, was on campus for the Phi Mu pledging. After the pledging, the pledges were honored at a tea.

Recently the Sigma Kappas gave Fran Gallahan a surprise party in the chapter room. This was in honor of her selection as May Queen.

Next Tuesday Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority will have an Easter party for a needy family. There will be an Easter egg hunt for the children.

Virginia Lee Kemp, Jerry Clark, and Kathy Patterson attended the Zeta worshop at George Washington University on March 17-19.

Yesterday, March 21, Zeta Tau Alpha members and pledges entertained members of the administration, Zeta patrons and patronesses, and Zeta town alumnae at a tea in Wheeler Rec. During the tea, the piano given by the Zeta Tau Alpha Foundation in memory of Miss Leola Wheeler was officially presented to the college.

—Staff Photo

MINOR OFFICERS OF Student Government, House Council, Athletic Association and YWCA are B. A. Rex, J. Harris, C. Nye, A. Bailey, B. Goodwyn, A. Peters, P. Bullen, and S. Spicer. Seated are D. Snow, M. Blewett, P. Tolleson, and K. Holland.

Begle, Shuster Inform Campus In Recent Visits

In conjunction with the Visiting Scholars Program of the University of Virginia, Dr. Edwin G. Begle, director of School Mathematics Study Group, Yale University, will speak in Stevens Hall tonight at 7 pm. His topic will be "Better Training for Mathematics Teachers."

Revising Curriculum

The Yale study group, composed of leading college mathematicians and secondary school teachers, is attempting to improve the teaching of mathematics in secondary schools. The group has begun to revise the mathematics curriculum used in secondary and junior high schools.

The revisions will be administered and tested throughout the United States, with the results being evaluated by the group.

Authors Many Articles

Besides authoring many articles on studies in this field, Dr. Begle received his BA and MA degrees from the University of Michigan and his PhD from Princeton.

He is a member of the Mathematical Association of America, National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, American Association for Advancement of Science, and Fellow of Berkeley College, as well as serving as secretary of the American Mathematical Society.

Shuster Speaks on Germany

Also coming to Longwood as a part of the VSP of the University of Virginia was Dr. George Nauman Shuster, college president, author, and authority on Germany, who spoke March 16 in Jarman Auditorium on the subject "Germany:1961."

Dr. Shuster has received degrees from Columbia University, St. Thomas College, New York College of Music, Jewish Theological Seminary, Loyola University, and University of Freiburg.

He has served as the chairman for the Historical Commission to Germany for the War Department. As well, he is the recipient of the Knight Commander's Cross of Merit in Germany.

Children's Camp In Craig County Aids Afflicted

By Libby Predmore

Craig County, Virginia, is the site of Camp Easter Seal, a camp for children of all ages who are afflicted by polio, epilepsy, rheumatic heart conditions, mentally retarded, or are handicapped in any way.

Therapy and Treatments

At Camp Easter Seal, these children are given therapy and various treatments, and many of them speak their first words and take their first steps.

With the help of doctors, nurses, and a well-equipped staff, these children are given the opportunity to participate in outside activities and a chance to spend their summer months as any normal child.

Financial Circumstances

However, every deserving, handicapped child is not fortunate enough to be able to attend Camp Easter Seal due to financial circumstances. It takes $175 to send one child to this camp.

Each year many organizations and individuals make it possible for these underprivileged children to attend Camp Easter Seal.

Longwood's Opportunity

This year Longwood has the opportunity to support this cause. On March 28, representatives will collect money on the halls of each dormitory.

Language Education Aided By Laboratory

(Continued from page 2)

system of teaching foreign languages. The first foreign language laboratory, which was also one of the first in the state, was begun in the 1940's when the department of foreign languages was located in the library building.

In 1950 a laboratory containing six booths was opened on the hall in Post Office where the department of foreign languages is now located.

The department has two types of language labs. The first is the library laboratory in which tapes and records are made available to students for study. This study lab contains ten dual channel recorders.

There are thirty listening booths, and ten of these can be used for master recordings which have silent periods during which the student speaks into a microphone and records her own words. These are used in the study lab. The student recordings are erased without erasing the master record. The library lab was installed in the department in 1956.

Further Advancement

In addition to supplying the students with a language laboratory, Longwood has further advanced its foreign language department by the exchange program, whereby a Spanish and a French student are employed to help the foreign language students in oral drill work.

The most important improvement in the foreign language department came last summer when another language lab was installed. It is a classroom lab and combines tape and disc recorders. Twenty booths are equipped for listening and recording. The entire classroom has forty listening positions.

Simultaneous Programs

Through the use of laboratory facilities it is possible for the class instructor to have three different programs in simultaneous operation. During the lab sessions the students speak into individual microphones and the professor may listen to and converse with any student she prefers separately. This provides the student with an opportunity to obtain individual instruction and criticism of her classwork.

The results of such achievements in the foreign language field are both immediate and long-range. Many of the foreign language students have obtained success through the teaching of a foreign language here at home or abroad, and others have equally succeeded in obtaining good government positions through their mastery of certain foreign languages.

Vending Machine Is Hard Master For College Girl

(Continued from page 2)

their sneering faces.

Highest Rank

A shudder passed through her —the object of her sacrifice was selected and he bore the highest rank. His uniform was heavily decorated and his cold stare inspired awe.

Timidly she stooped and placed her offering. The fantastic mouth was drawn into a straight line—wide and gaping. The gift was accepted in silence. The creature did not utter a sound.

"Out Of Order"

The girl was seized by a fit of anger provoked b ythe surly—natured mammoth. She raised her fist to strike a mortal blow. She paused — a flash of white in the dimness caught her eye. She leaned forward to scrutinize it. "OUT OF ORDER"

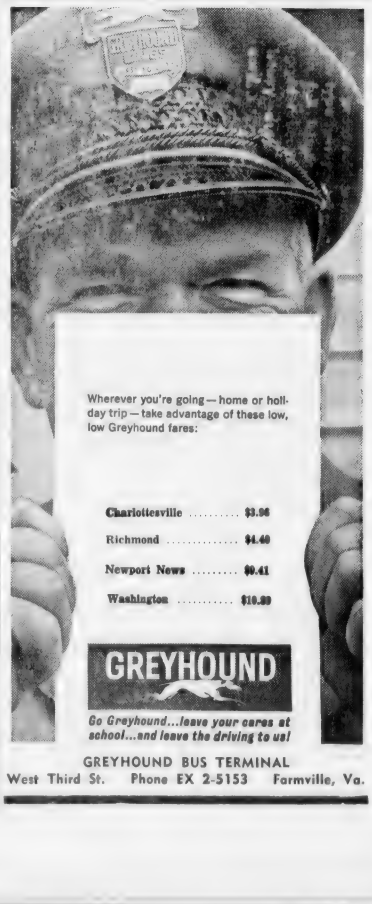
She sighed sofily, "So much for the nicotine fit!"

Newberrys WOW! What a Value!

DRESSY AND TAILORED EASY-CARE NEW BLOUSES

1.98 and 2.98

Frilly blouses... lovely lace-trimmed blouses, or with dainty embroidery touches! Also, smart tailored blouses with shirt, peter pan, spread or platter collars ... tuck-in or overblouse styles. Sheer cottons, cotton broadcloths, dacron polyester-and-cottons – many with wash 'n wear finishes. Sizes 32-38 and Jr. Petite sizes 7-13.



Patronize The Rotunda Advertizers

March Sale of Rytex Hand-Craft Vellum Personalized Stationery Double the Usual Quantity Only $3.19 MARTIN, THE JEWELER

Easter Gifts That Last! Bibles, Revised & King James Easter Greeting Booklets Treasure of Religious Art Easter Stories for Children Seven Words to the Cross Billy Graham's My Answer Peter Marshall's The First Easter Weyanoke Book Shop 200 High St. Farmville, Va.

Wilson Tennis Balls $2.75 for 3 Special To Longwood Students $2.25 for 3 Courtesy of Southside Sundry

Stop Where You Are and Visit Your College Snack Bar

Wherever you're going — home or holiday trip — take advantage of these low, low Greyhound fares:

Charlottesville $3.96
Richmond $4.40
Newport News $9.41
Washington $10.89

GREYHOUND

Go Greyhound...leave your cares at school...and leave the driving to us!

GREYHOUND BUS TERMINAL
West Third St. Phone EX 2-5153 Farmville, Va.

Fine Arts Festival April 20-27

The Rotunda

Institute Of Southern Culture April 21

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., April 19, 1961 | No. 17

Photo By R. D. Fore

MISS LONGWOOD title brings smile as well as a trip to Pensacola, Florida to Dibby Mohr.

Contest

Announced last night as winner of the Miss Longwood Contest was Dibby Mohr, an elementary and history major from Lynchburg. Now Dibby will compete in the Fiesta of Five Flags contest, to be held in Pensacola, Florida, on June 6-11. The contestants in the Longwood contest went through screening similar to that to which the winner will be submitted in Pensacola.

Summer School French Teacher Added To Staff

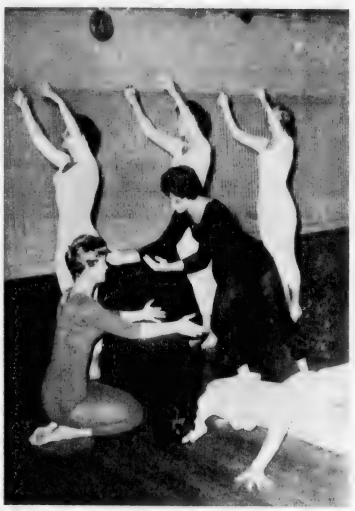
Mademoiselle Lyliane Michel, a professor at Lyon, France, will join the Longwood summer session faculty as an instructor for the summer institute for secondary school teachers of French.

Studies at Sorbonne

Mlle. Michel is a graduate of the University of Paris, having received her licence - es - leres (Master of Arts) at the Sorbonne. She holds a certificate of proficiency in English from the University of Cambridge.

Background Varied

She has worked with the American Friends Service Committee, organizing groups of American and French students to discuss the problems of political, social and cultural interests, aimed at promoting better international understanding among students. As a church worker, she organized youth discussion and Bible study groups. She participated in an International Seminar on problems of economics, and has done social work with displaced persons.



As an instructor in the college Modern Language Institute, Mlle. Michel will live in the dormitory with students of the French Institute and participate with them in both social and academic affairs.

In announcing the appointment, Dr. Lankford noted that Virginia is a leader in the formation of state summer language institutes. He also pointed out that there are twice as many applications for the institute as there were at this time last year.

Correction

The March 22 issue of the Rotunda stated that the Longwood basketball team suffered a defeat to Hollins College. This was incorrect. The Longwood team won both of the games played.

Fine Arts Festival To Open Tomorrow

--Staff Photo

DANCERS PREPARING FOR FINE ARTS are L. Kaye, S. Waugh, G. Taylor, B. L. Dunn, S. Waters, and L. Eller.

Choral Concert To Begin Series In Jarman Hall

LC, W&L Choirs Present Program

By Ann Agee

Beginning tomorrow night, Longwood will present its fourth annual Fine Arts Festival, which will be initiated by a joint choral concert by the Washington and Lee University and Longwood choirs at 8 p.m. in Jarman Hall.

Conducting the choral program will be Mr. Robert Stewart, associate professor of music at W&L and concertmaster of the Roanoke Symphony Orchestra, and Dr. John W. Molnar, head of the Longwood music department. Accompaniment for the respective choirs will be provided by Miss Josephine Bailey, University and Longwood students, and members of the Roanoke Symphony and of the Youth Symphony. Playing for W&L will be Warren Hopkins, and for the Longwood choir, Joan Ivy and Dodie Webster.

On Friday, the Institute of Southern Culture lectures will be given, opening with a lecture at 11 a.m. in Student Building on, "The Writer as Pariah in the Old South," by Dr. Willard Thorp, of Princeton University. At 4 p.m. Dr. R. K. Meeker will speak on "The Shadowy Stories of Ellen Glasgow." Dr. James B. Meriwether, of the University of North Carolina, will end the lectures with the final talk, "Faulkner and the South," at 8 p.m.

Sunday afternoon will feature a faculty recital in Jarman Hall given by Miss Josephine Bailey and Mr. James McCombs. The recital will begin at 4 p.m.

The Madrigal Singers will present a "Matinee of Music" on Monday at 4:30 p.m. in the Virginia Room, and on Tuesday at 1 p.m. Orchesis will give a dance program. Ending the Festival series will be a faculty piano recital by Mr. Sterling Adams.

Throughout the Festival, paintings by Julian Binford, professor of art at Mary Washington College, will be on exhibit in the lobby of Jarman auditorium. A student art exhibit, also, will be on display in the art department during the Festival, and a half-hour color film entitled, "Charles Smith's Block Painting," will be shown at 5 p.m. April 25.

Faculty Members To Act In 'Follies'

The Faculty Follies, sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma, will be held April 27 at 8 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium. Various members of the faculty of Longwood College will be participating in the show.

Original Skits

They will have original skits and will render many favorite songs.

The admission will be 35 cents. The proceeds will go to the Faculty Endowment Fund. This fund was established by the Executive Board of the Alumnae Association to establish a group insurance plan for the faculty.

The program chairmen for the Faculty Follies are Mary Hite Grayson and Peggy Green. Their committee chairmen are publicity, Cherry Gorham; costumes, Pat Hudson; poem, Lynn Speakman; and door and ushers, Patsy Carr and Becky Tuck.

Leaders Honored

Alpha Kappa Gamma Taps Ten In Service

By Libby Predmore

In an impressive ceremony on March 28, the Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, a national honorary leadership fraternity, tapped into its membership three seniors and seven juniors.

Membership for this organization is based upon character, having made the school a better place, and having excelled in one of four phases of campus leadership: scholarship, athletics, campus leadership, or social leadership. Its members strive for the highest in ideals and womanly service.

Three Seniors, Seven Juniors

This spring, three seniors, Patsy Carr, Sandra Clements, Betty Jane Stegall; and seven juniors, Pat Hickey, Becky Tuck, Jane Pennington, Page Tolleson, Judy Detrich, Sandra Weaver, and Mary Byrd Micou were tapped.

Patsy Carr, a senior social science major from Dinwiddie, was top rat for the class of '62. She is a member of Cotillion, Delta Zeta sorority, Rotunda staff, and Who's Who. She served as president of summer school Student Government, 1959 and 1960.

Sandra Clements, a history major from Glen Allen, has served as editor of the Handbook, president of Pi Delta Epsilon, vice - president of Kappa Delta Pi, and as class representative to the screening board. She is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, Boerc Eh Thorn, and Who's Who.

"Something Wrong With Lights"

"I thought something was wrong with the lights," remarked Betty Jane Stegall, an elementary, social science, and English major from Fieldale. "Steg" served as sophomore production chairman, sophomore Circus chairman, senior float chairman, and chairman of publications board. She is a member of the Alpha Psi Omega, Colonnade, and Rotunda staffs, Pi Delta Epsilon, Longwood Players, and Who's Who. She is at present serving as May Day Chairman.

(Continued on page 3)

Staff Photo

IN IT'S TAPPING CEREMONY, March 28, AKG received J. Pennington, S. Clements, B. J. Stegall, P. Carr, J. Detrich, P. Hickey, P. Tolleson, and S. Weaver into membership. Missing from this picture are M. B. Micou and B. Tuck.

State Teachers' Language Meet Convenes Here

The foreign language teachers of the secondary schools and colleges throughout the state will attend a joint meeting of the Virginia chapters of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish, Portuguese, and French at Longwood on April 22.

The morning session will consist of registration, business meetings of the associations, and an inspection of the college language laboratory.

Luncheon will be served in the college dining hall to approximately 75 people.

During the afternoon session, Professor Jacques Lusseyran, visiting professor of French at Hollins College, will give an address in French. The title of his speech will be "Is Poetry of Today Hermetic?"

Thorpe Receives Grant From UT

Senior Carolyn Thorpe, of Drakes Branch, was recently awarded an assistantship by the University of Tennessee.

Master's Degree

She will enter the University in September to begin her study toward a master's degree in health and physical education and will teach fifteen hours per week in the Knox County public schools.

Many Activities

Carolyn has served on the Athletic Association Council for three years and was president of the Monogram Club. She has also been on the varsity hockey, basketball, and archery squads. This fall she was elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Wave Visits

Lt. Mary Lou Brown, Waves representative, will be on campus all day, Wednesday, May 3. She will meet with interested students in the Rotunda.

Five Day Show

Virginia Artist Exhibits Works During Festival

Mr. Julien Binford, professor of art at Mary Washington College, will exhibit a collection of his works during the Festival of Fine Arts April 20-25.

Mr. Binford, a native of Virginia, was raised at his grandfather's home in Powhatan County and in Richmond and Atlanta, where his father was in business.

Studies in Chicago

He studied at the Art Institute of Chicago under the Russian painter and stage designer Boris Anisfeldt, and the art historian Helen Gardner. Graduating with honors, he was awarded the Chicago Art Institute European Traveling Fellowship for travel and study in Europe.

Well-Known Muralist

Julien Binford's works have been shown in Major American National Show, Salon d'Automne, Paris, Pittsburgh International, Carnegie Institute, the Golden Gate International Exposition and other exhibits. He is a well-known muralist having executed important mural commissions in the South, including Thomas Jefferson High School, Richmond; Virginia State Library, Richmond, and in New York City.

One Dorm — One Class?

"Class spirit" is one of the most discussed and least clarified terms thrown about in daily campus conversation. The most recent usage of the term has been in reference to that bone of contention, the rooming situation. Among those students who take time to read the letter to the editor on this page asking for more information and our relayed message from the administration (which, incidentally, has already been given to the Freshman class once) will be a group who will shake their Rotunda at their tablemates and say, "But what about our class spirit? Our class is split!"

The general assumption seems to be that "class spirit" can only be fostered within a class which lives in the same dormitory. It "class spirit," then, some sort of marvelous, magical potion of the feeling of fellowship exuding from the walls of a dormitory mutually shared? Does a class by choosing to live in the same building become an enthusiastic, well organized group of girls?

Class spirit exists in the character of the individual. It is not a blanket identity conferred upon a group of girls who by coincidence graduated from high school in the same year, and attend the same college, and live in the same dorm. It is an active interest in those things apart from the academic life of the small college which give it a life, individuality, and atmosphere of its own. This active interest will not come from living in one.

Century — Old War

Anyone naive enough to believe that the War Between the States ended in 1865 abruptly discovers his mistake upon entering the South in 1961. Not only are there external evidences of the presences of the war — statues, flags, weapons, markers — to be found in profusion, but also a very real theatre of war may be discovered among Southerners. Beauregard's staunch stand and familiar motto are often too true to be a laughing matter South of the Mason-Dixon line.

Yet this is understandable for the South has a tendency to change, and forget, slowly. Too, something as devastating and personally tragic as a war which divided families, and friends, and countrymen, which ended in destruction and defeat, would necessarily leave a deep impression on the minds of all those who survived it. It is not at all difficult to understand why the war is still remembered in both the North and the South.

What is surprising — no, shocking — is that such a tragic event should be romanticized so quickly. The next few years will mark the first hundred years since the war. How is this anniversary being observed? By a Civil War Centennial which will attract thousands of tourists to scenes of battles, to pageants, and to shops where they may buy everything from minnie balls to authentic Confederate money. Is the war a subject for such celebration? Or has the materialistic and fun-loving attitude of the American people prevailed to the extent that the honor of war and its serious purpose are forgotten by hordes of tourists and profiteers.

At the risk of sounding cynical, it seems typical that the actions of a thousand tourists and profiteers should receive more glamour and glory than the work of the Union and Confederate soldiers who sacrificed not only their friends and property but also their lives. Aren't we still a long way from achieving the task which remained before us on November 19, 1863, ". . . that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

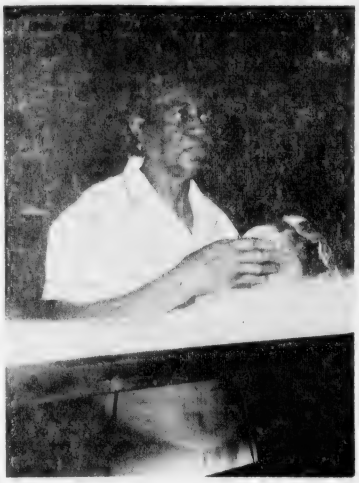
—Judy Detrich

The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 29, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination period by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia Box 168.

Mary Byrd Mixon ..... Editor-in-Chief



Ann Agee ..... Managing Editor
Steve Eddy ..... Business Manager
Donna Frantzen ..... News Editor
Gayle Aron ..... Feature Editor
Lois Peters ..... Sports Editor
Mary Jo Bartles ..... Desk Editor
Lewan Rippey ..... Exchange Editor
Flossie Barnard and Linda Suddarth ..... Photographs
Jane Hunger ..... Circulation Manager
Dr. James Welland ..... Faculty Advisor

(Unsigned editorials written by the editor)

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press Rating first class, Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Rating first place), Intercollegiate Press.

NEWS STAFF: Neal Banks, Assistant Managing Editor; Donna Humphlett, Newspaper Novel Editor; Marie Bell Jessee, Associate Feature Editor; Sue Beardmore, Associate Sports Editor; Doris Smith, Assistant Desk Editor.

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Farmville, Virginia, under the Act of [illegible] Subscription for national advertising by the National Advertising Service. Printed by the Farmville Herald.

—Staff Photo

THE DINING HALL'S undisputed authority, Miss Sally, stands at her station.

Sally To Retire After 47 Years Of LC Service

By Neal Banks

Here at Longwood there are many familiar things that we seldom stop to think about. They are all around the campus and become so habitual that they are never realized until they are gone.

Forty-Seven Year Tradition

The dining hall staff, however, is very much aware that a forty-seven year tradition is about to come to an end. "Miss Sally"— in reality Miss Sally Stokes— is about to retire. She first came to work for the college in 1914, and no one in the kitchen can recall a time when Miss Sally wasn't here.

"She was here when I arrived; and I've been around a long, long time myself," someone said.

Undisputed Authority

Miss Sally is the undisputed voice of authority as far as the other help is concerned. For instance, as tables are being set up the following is likely to be heard:

"Miss Sally, I'm out of teaspoons. Can I have some of yours?"

"No, ma'm, I just gave you some. Go on, get out of here and find your own," Miss Sally jokingly says.

Naturally many changes have occurred over a period of forty-seven years.

"Old Days"

"It's hard to believe sometimes that this is the same dining hall. In the old days we didn't have any drapes, and not half as many tables. The kitchen has changed, too. It's much larger now, and of course, much more

(Continued on page 4)

Story Of May Day Reveals Old Themes

By Bettie Jane Stegall

One year it is a fairy land, with the trees as goblins and the grass a carpet for the queen beautiful. Another year it takes on the splendor of an historic setting as past events are told and future hopes revealed. Yes, the settings in the dell at Longwood Estate fluctuate as often as the years themselves.

On May 6, 1933, the pageant was entitled, "An Old English May Day," with the dell playing the role of Sherwood Forest. With the rising of the sun, the merry crowd of villagers and country folk gather in the outskirts of Nottingham and listen to the proclamation of the order of the day.

Many are the trials of strenght and skill, many the rustic dances which enliven the day. With the crowning of the queen, comes the climax of a day of mirth and reveling. As dusk descends, the tired and happy throngs disperse, lighted on their way by the flickering firefly. When the last mortal has left the green, the firefly beacon summons the spirits of the night.

Six years later on the sixth of May, 1939, the theme dealt with "The Faerie Queene." "The Legende of the Knight of the Redcrosse" . . . the story of a faithful young consort who rejects the evil lures of a lady suitor. Peasants, lords, and ladies join in gay revelry, honoring the faithful knight and their new Queene.

In 1941 came a change in date as well as in theme. This time of May 10, "America in the Making" told of our great land in the beginning — young, strong, untouched, stretching from sea to sea. To it from other lands came the oppressed, fearful, hopeful.

Gladly the land embraced them, gave up its riches, imbued them with its own youthful vigor. Woodland, delta land, prairie land, mountain and valley beside folk of almost every nationality told of what and who had and is making America. Their motto was the inscription from the base of the Statue of Liberty.

In 1954, the theme again dealt with history. This time with "Past and Present in the Heart of Old Virginia." It began with the settling and establishment of Prince Edward County, continued through the Indian Era, Pioneer Era, Colonial Period, Educational Trend, Agricultural Development, and the Civil War Era. From here it went to the Reconstruction Era, Depression Era, and lastly to the Present Day.

With the last in mind it seemed to say that hope found its way from depression, a war was won by a patriotic nation; finally, out of the past arose the present day still carrying traditions inherent in the heart of old Virginia.

May 7, 1955 found "Alice in a Land of Wonder," as the dell again took on its fairyland array. All ended well as Alice crowned the queen in the end.

Peter Pan followed Alice in 1958. Even though the rain forced him into Jarman Auditorium, the spirit was soon picked up and Jarman borrowed from the dell its imaginary setting.

Saturday, May 2, 1959, "Snow White's Spring Fantasy" captivated the audience as they again found themselves back in the dell. As Prince Charming came riding in to claim his princess, another May Day ended leaving the people with a feeling of enchantment and content.

Last year we visited "The Land of Oz," and a land of wonderment it was. The tin soldier came to life and with the scarecrows and other participants, told of a delightful journey through a land that had not yet been explored.

Soon another May Day will take its place alongside the countless number of those of the past. Next year "The Sound of Distant Drums" will only be sounds . . . sounds of the past echoing stories, symbols, songs, and happenings of a great period of time in our history that was the one real factor that made America different —the Civil War. Yes, another May Day . . . but still not what one would term "another" . . . for to us it is different, more personal, because it is ours . . . now May 1961.

Letters Reprimand Student Conduct, Tardiness

Dear Editor:

During the three and three quarters years I have been at Longwood, I have watched conditions [illegible] I have looked on apathetically as certain [illegible] have inspired letters of protest. No controversy [illegible] compelled me to jump into the line of fire as [illegible] of certain students at a recent assembly.

[illegible] more acutely aware of the problem because (1) I am personally acquainted with the speaker and could feel the embarrassment that she must have felt and (2) because I was sitting in the back of the auditorium rather than in the senior section.

I am certainly not judging the behavior of the student body but only the fifteen or so girls around me who were not able to show some amount of decency and courtesy for forty-five minutes.

It is bad enough when members of our own college group cannot be afforded this respect; but when an ousider, whose only impression of Longwood may have been formed at that assembly, sees supposedly mature girls behaving in such a manner, then the situation is indeed shameful.

Whether the topic was or was not of major importance is immaterial. What is material is that 17, 18, 19, year-old girls should be able to conduct themselves in such a way that they will not resemble something just released from a cage.

I am well aware that this letter is not going to create an attentive assembly; and I do realize, as I have stated before, that for every girl being rude there were probably twenty more paying some semblance of attention. But I can create the hope that on some Tuesday in the near future girls can come to assembly with letters home already written, naps already taken, lab assignments already completed, and gossip already discussed.

Then, perhaps, with these necessities disposed of, they can give the attention that a speaker has the right to demand—whether it is Rock Hudson speaking on "What a Man Looks For in a Woman" or an agricultural expert speaking on "The Deficiency of Asiatic Farming."

Sandra Clements

To the Editor:

Because the administration allowed an unusually large class to enter Longwood College last fall, an unusually large number of girls are on a waiting list, awaiting room confirmations.

False accusations are being made, tears shed, and anxiety felt.

How many girls does the administration feel will drop out? How many are on the waiting list? And does the administration think it fair that girls have to shift from room to room as student teachers come and go?

Some of the situation could be cleared by the administration issuing statistical information to the freshman class. Perhaps then this class will realize that the splitting of classes was inevitable. It was just unfortunate that room shortage and the Wheeler situation coincided.

A Student

(Editor's Note: Upon checking with administrators it was revealed that there will be a room for every present Longwood student who returns next year. If alterations are necessary, they will come in cutting the size of the incoming Freshman class. Further information was not available.)

Dear Editor:

As members of the Class of '64, a class that has made many contributions to the spirit of Longwood, we wish to express how hurt we are because of the recent display of disconcern (sic) shown to us by the administration of his college and by our sister class.

We are confident that all interested students are aware of the utter chaos that has resulted from the decision made by these two parties, without the consultation of the Freshman Class, to declare all upperclass dormitories "open." True, these dormitories were "open;" however, they were "open" only to the classes of '62 and '63.

The Freshman Class is extremely insulted by the attitude taken toward it. It seems that the administration, that has constantly reminded us of the love they hold for us, can see no further than the size of the enrollment of the Class of 1965. It seems that the junior class, offered their choice of two beautiful dormitories, could see no further than their own selfish means.

This action has resulted in the division of next year's sophomore class physically as well as spiritually. How can we ever again hope to achieve the unity and devotion we once shared as a red and white class at Longwood College? Promises, rumors of an increase of drop-outs, "boarding houses," etc., will not serve to restore our injured morale. We feel that an apology is forthcoming and are sure it will be granted.

Disappointed Freshmen

Dear Editor:

What objection has Longwood to promptness? Why is it that we who represent the college are so unable or so unwilling to arrive and to leave on time?

It should be obvious that to enter Jarman or any other room in which a program is being presented, after the program has begun, without being more than conspicuous, but positively disturbing, is practically an impossibility.

Yet, whether it is a class, an assembly, or worst of all, an "outside program," there are always those who are late—not just a minute, but five and ten minutes late.

There may be several reasons for this; and although they are absurd, they are no more absurd than the tardiness itself.

Could it be that there is such a lack of training in common courtesy that Longwood is unaware of its fault? Could it be that we at Longwood so object to, or are so uninterested in any "outside influences" not directly connected with the classes themselves that we wait until the last possible moment to arrive and for the first possible moment to leave?

Is it that a conversation, or two more puffs on a cigarette are considered more important than being in place when the program is renewed after an intermission?

Perhaps it would be wise to take a look at our actions; to remind ourselves that we are not students and faculty of a kindergarten, nor members of a bridge club, but are representatives of an institution of higher learning and therefore presumably represent the intelligent, mature members of society.

Signed,
Ellen Dupuy
Lucy Swink
Jean Pollard

Patronize
The Rotunda
Advertizers

News Summary

Vietnamese Election Defeats Communists

By Page Tolleson

South Viet Nam, a republic since 1956 ,ended its first presidential election last week in a major victory over Communist rebel attempts to block the voting. Government officials estimated about 70 per cent of the nation's voters turned out to cast ballots.

The officials also said the Communists had apparently changed to peaceful tactics because one attack aimed at Americans (a hand grenade and ambush) killed a Vietnamese and wounded ten others. "The Communists have lost face. They did not sabotage the elections as they said they would do," said one of the officials.

Viet Nam terrorists planned to keep voters at home and to sabotage the election process. The heavily guarded voting polls revealed the re-election of President Ngo Dinh Diem to another five-year term.

The world's first space traveler met with the world press in Moscow Saturday and avoided answering how he landed after orbiting the earth in a Russian spaceship last Wednesday.

Major Yuri Gagarin was very vague as to whether he had ridden the spaceship all the way to the ground or had parachuted. Collective farm workers said they saw him parachute and greeted him as he landed.

Gagarin said, "The entire spaceship and its parts can be used again." Another question left unanswered was the fact from the Soviet news agency timetable which said it only took 15 minutes for Gagarin to travel from Siberia to South America, but 53 minutes to complete the next leg from South America to Africa.

The 27-year old Soviet astronaut's first words from outer space were: "How beautiful it looks." Gagarin has been named "Hero of the Soviet Union," the highest award possible; he said he had made no preliminary test flights in a ballistic rocket before he was sent on his successful 108-minute flight into orbit.

President Kennedy Sunday added 1.9 million dollars to the budget of the Office of Education for research projects aimed at improving education.

One project requesting funds is to improve the teaching of English in all grade levels through the college sophomore year. Another project aims at identifying talented pupils early and providing them with an educational environment in which their talents can best develop.

Pilots of Prime Minister Castro's air force revolted Saturday and attacked three of the Cuban regime's key air bases with bombs and rockets.

Two of the World War II B-26s landed in Florida a few hours after the attack and the pilots said they had been planning to escape Cuba for months and decided to teach Castro's intelligence agents 'a lesson' on the way out.

Cuban foreign minister Roa accused the United States as directly responsible for the dawn attacks. Soviet Foreign Minister Zorin told the 99-nation committee:

"With a single word from the United States, not one plane would have bombed Cuba. The fact was that this word was never spoken."

Seven persons were killed and 29 wounded in the attacks on Havanna and Santiago. Ambassador Stevenson denied the charges of "vandalistic aggression" and "imperialistic piracy" by the United States government.

Ten Recognized In AKG Tapping

(Continued from page 1)

Pat Hickey, a junior elementary and social science major from Richmond, has served as president of Freshman Commission, top rat, treasurer of her sophomore class, and president of Newman Club. Also she has been government representative her junior year and this year is serving as a senior representative. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority.

Another junior, Becky Tuck, a Spanish and English major from Greensboro, North Carolina, is president of next year's senior class, vice-president of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority, and a member of the Rotunda feature staff. She is past president of the junior class. Becky is a past recipient of the Dabney S. Lancaster Scholarship Award.

Jane Pennington, a music major from Buckingham, has served as sophomore Circus co-chairman, Freshman Production co-chairman, vice-president of Longwood Band, president of Sigma Alpha Iota, junior representative to Circus Court, and junior representative to screening board. She is a member of Phi Mu Sorority and Cotillion Club.

Page Tolleson, one of the seven juniors to be selected, is an English, speech, and drama major from Gordonsville. Page has served on the Executive Council of the Baptist Student Union, and as a member of the Choir, Spanish Club, Longwood Players and radio workshop, Student Education Association, Rotunda news reporter, chairman of YWCA Easter pageant, and delegate to 'Y' summer camp and leadership conferences. At present she is serving as vice-president of the YWCA.

Judy Detrich, an English major from Hampton, is editor of the Colonnade, historian of the Class of '62, historian of Boerc Eh Thorn, past feature editor of the Rotunda, and a member of Coulllon Club, and Pi Delta Epsilon.

Sandra Weaver, a biology major from Newport News, remarked: "I'm very pleased because it is one of the nicest things that has happened to me since I've been at Longwood." Sandra is past editor-in-chief of the Rotunda, publicity director of the Colonnade, a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, Canterbury Club, Cotillion Club, and French Club.

A junior English and Spanish major from Chester, Mary Byrd Micou, was also tapped. Mary Byrd is present editor-in-chief of the Rotunda and president of Sigma Kappa Sorority. She was a junior representative to the screening board. Also, Mary Byrd is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, '20, Kappa Delta Pi, Boerc Eh Thorn, and the Spanish Club.

Semifinal Games Near Completion In Class Tennis

By Sue Beardmore

Class tennis managers, Carol Nye and Clara Lee Parker, have announced that the tennis matches, which began last fall, are expected to be completed within the next few weeks.

Those semi-finalists competing in the single tournament are Barbara Brantley who will play Lois Obenshain, and Clara Lee Parker who will play Janice Harris. The winner of the semi-finals will play "Lindy" Hatch who has already reached the finals.

The players in the doubles tournament consist of five red and whites and five green and whites. These games are now in progress.

Tryouts for the Varisty tennis team were held last week. The members will be posted in the near future. Longwood's tennis matches are scheduled as follows:

	April
25	Madison	Away
	May
2	RPI	Home
8	Westhampton	Home
9	William & Mary	Away

—Staff Photo

ARCHERY ENTHUSIASTS, M. Nocher and F. Ripley, practice before meets begin.

Teams Are Targets For LC Robin Hoods

Longwood's own lady Robin Hoods may be found once again behind the elementary school stringing bows and crawling along the ground in search of arrows that missed the targets.

Tryouts for the varsity archery team were held last week. Shooting for a place on the team were Carolyn Thorpe, Alma Jean Wright, Morag Nocher, Faye Ripley, Flosie Barnard and Betty Lou Dunn.

The schedule of varsity games has not been completed, although tentative plans are being made. A game has been scheduled with Weshampton College May 8. Possible matches are being planned with Randolph-Macon Woman's College and Lynchburg College.

The class archery games are also being planned. Managers Morag Nocher and Betty Lou Dunn report that they will probably be scheduled for sometime in May. Anyone not enrolled in an archery class who is interested in playing archery for her class may contact Miss Brockenbrough.

Graduates Of Longwood Return As Instructors

A learning institution can only realize the full extent of its influence by first hand observance of the progress made by the institution's graduates as they are confronted with, and make their way in the world.

Last week end the physical education department of Longwood College had this privilege and prestige, as three of its graduates returned to the campus, and used their occupational skills—skills that were developed by the school and perfected by experience—to aid in the program for the Physical Education Workshop that was held here at Longwood, April 4-5.

Miss Jean L. Bentley, Miss Mildred Droste, and Miss Rachel Peters were all physical education majors at Longwood and are now employed as coordinator of Health and Physical Education of the Roanoke City Schools, a professor at Mary Washington College, and a physical education teacher at Annandale High School, respectively.

In the program last weekend, Miss Bentley was general chairman of the Workshop Committee. She has recently been elected incoming president of the Virginia HPER. Miss Drost returned to the campus as leader of the golf clinic, while Miss Townsend led the discussion group.

Each person expressed her feelings upon returning to the campus of Longwood and of the importance of the workshop which was conducted here. The following comment was made by Miss Bentley:

"It was with a feeling of pride that I returned to Longwood this weekend. It is wonderful to be able to come in and be given such excellent cooperation from the administration, staff, and major students. It makes you realize that they are interested in your work and you as an individual. I just wish that I had time to sit down with each major and give her a few hints as to what to strive for professionally while she is still in school, so that she will be better prepared to get out in the world.

"Although there are many physical changes, the working relationships and close feeling of the students make me realize that there is still the Longwood spirit prevailing."

Mildred Droste expressed a similar attitude when she said: "It was a great honor to be asked back to teach at Longwood for the DGWS workshop. Buildings have changed the appearance of the campus, but the memories cannot be replaced. I enjoyed being back and talking with many friends who were here when I was a student.

"I would like to extend my deep appreciation to the Department of Physical Education and to the physical education majors for the organization of the workshop, the tea, and for making our stay here at the college so enjoyable."

Finally, Rachel Peters reiterated the feeling of pride and accomplishment: "My first impression upon arrival at Longwood after several years was that I was unfamiliar with the physical plant. The new dormitories are lovely.

The faculty members have an amazing ability to remember former students, and the students welcomed me with their smiles and hello's. Although my principal reason for coming to Longwood was to participate in a workshop for teachers, it was also an opportunity to visit my alma mater. Upon my departure this weekend, I have a renewed love for Longwood and a deep appreciation for the faculty who prepared me to teach."

Place Your Order For CALLING CARDS
at
MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
$2.75 and Up

Longwood PE Alumnae Return For Work Shop

By Gayle Arnn

Longwood was host this year at the Third Workshop for High School Teachers. The members of the physical education staff as well as physical education students helped to conduct and direct the various events in which the visiting physical education teachers from all over the state of Virginia participated.

Teaching at the Third Division of Girls' and Women's Sports Workshop for high school teachers were four Longwood graduates. Miss Jeane L. Bentley, physical education major, was general chairman of the Workshop Committee sponsored by the DGWS of the Virginia HPER. This was Miss Benilev's third workshop, the first of which was held at Radford College and the second at Camp Richmond. Miss Bentley is coordinator of Health and Physical Education of the Roanoke City Schools and a rated official in basketball and hockey. Recently Miss Bentley was elected incoming president of the Virginia HPER.

Miss Mildred Droste, major in physical education of the class of 1944, returned to the Longwood Campus as leader of the golf clinic. Miss Droste teaches at Mary Washington College.

Miss Rachel Peters, also a physical education major, led the archery clinic. Miss Peters is teaching physical education at Annandale High School.

Miss Lee Townsend, minor in physical education with a master's from Smith, led a discussion group. Miss Townsend teaches at McLean High School, McLean, Virginia.

The physical education staff also participated in the Third Workshop for High School Teachers. The group was welcomed at the first general meeting on Friday night by Miss Olive T. Iler. Miss Eleanor Bobbitt and Miss Rebecca Brockenbrough poured at the Tea which was held Saturday afternoon in the YW Lounge and the Games Room.

Mrs. Emily K. Landrum led the modern dance clinic, which consisted of two sessions. The first was a general session in which exploratory experiences in movement or through techniques led to basic understandings of teaching and learning in dance, as these draw from the everydayness of dance; the use of jazz music, of popular recordings and the soundtracks from TV or movie films were incorporated in the exhibition. The second session dealt with particular problems in dance teaching.

Physical education majors assisted in registration, housing, ushering, and with special duties in relation to all teaching clinics; they were in complete charge of a tea for the visiting teachers on Saturday afternoon.

Barbara Brantley and Carolyn Thorpe assisted at registration on Friday evening and Saturday morning. All junior and senior majors acted as hostesses for the incoming teachers by helping them get settled for the weekend. Morag Nocher, Clara Lee Parker, Faye Ripley, and Jennette Talbott were in charge of equipment for the archery, tennis, track and field, and golf clinics, respectively.

Bobby Caples was in charge of the tea for the visiting teachers in he YW Lounge and the Games Room. She was assisted by Sarah Buston, Trina Childress, Mable Healy, Barbara Martin, Joy Moore, Lois Obenshain, Earline Queen, Faye Ripley, and Alma Jean Wright.

All junior and senior physical education majors participated in two clinics. Modern dance on Saturday morning and body mechanics on Saturday evening was considered class work for the courses in Dance Methods and Corrective Physical Education.

Before the adjournment of the workshop program on Sunday, devotions were held in the little auditorium, with Dr. Lankford making the closing remarks.

History Society Debates Slavery As War Motive

Pi Gamma Mu sponsored a debate held in the Student Lounge at 4 p.m. on April 10. The topic for debate was "Slavery as a Cause of the Civil War."

Participating in the debate were affirmative, Rose Marie Johnson and Dr. Marvin W. Schlegel; negative, Becky Carpenter and Mr. James M. Helms; and moderator, Virginia Lee Kemp.

Fundamental, Most Important

Rose Marie spoke first, stating that slavery was the fundamental and most important cause of the Civil War. Her point was that the Old South was held together not by geography, nor by regional culture, but by the attitude of "white supremacy."

She continued to cite examples to prove that slavery was an old issue by 1860 but had increased in emphasis when it became a moral and religious, as well as a political, issue. Rose Marie concluded, "If it had not been for slavery, there would not have been a Civil War."

Agrarianism, Industrialism

Following Rose Marie's speech, Becky Carpenter introduced the negative arguement. Maintaining that slavery was not the primary cause of the war, Becky pointed to the battles between states' rights and federal centralization and between agrarian and industrial economy which played an important part in the controversy.

North And West

Dr. Schlegel introduced the idea that too often people forget that there was an agrarian North and West, as well as an agrarian South, the only difference being the presence of the Negro in the South. He continued to say that it was this question of slave labor that aligned the North and the West against the South.

Factors Meshed

The final speech was presented by Mr. Helms who stated that factors were "so completely meshed that it is impossible to sort out primary and secondary causes." He then pointed out that slavery was like a catalyst, uniting such factors as environment clash, expansion, moral reformation, and economy to an actual war.

The rebuttal which followed introduced the question of the effect of the sentimentally way of life in the Old South on the war, and examined the previously set-forth statements.

Following the rebuttal session, the debate was opened to the audience for a period of questioning and then dismissed by the moderator.

VPI Victorious, Blue Devils Win

By Marjorie Freese

VPI edged the University of Richmond by 2-1 in a Southern Conference baseball game. The Spiders were in the lead with a 1-0 beginning in the first, but the Gobblers came up one and one more to pass Richmond in the eighth.

This loss tarnished the Spiders' debut in the Big Five. They were the defending champions. It also put a damper on their Southern Conference hopes.

Duke held a lead over the Cavaliers of Virginia by a score of 9-2 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game. It was the fourth consecutive defeat for the Cavaliers and the fourth consecutive win for the Blue Devils. The Cavaliers did manage to pull a tie in the second half of the first quarter, but beginning in the third inning, Duke piled up two points. Virginia could not catch them, and the Blue Devils went on to pick up five more points in the ninth inning.

South Carolina came in first with 85 points, followed by Virginia with 61½ points. NC State came in with a 59 score for this Atlantic Coast Conference competition.

Virginia was defeated in a lacrosse game by Johns Hopkins by a score of 13-4. Johns Hopkins is the undefeated lacrosse team.

Campus Greeks Choose Officers For Fiscal Year

Recently the sororities elected their officers to serve for the coming year.

Those elected to lead their respective sororities were Delta Zeta: president, Jean Bass; vice president, Shirley Harman; second vice - presidents, Cissie Griggs and Shirley Dumaravat; recording secretary, Becky Brown; corresponding secretary, Nancy Nelson; and treasurer, Roselyn Wright.

Kappa Delta will be led by president Peggy Green; assisted by vice president, Pam Bullen; secretary, Ann Carroll; treasurer, Betsy Wilson; and assistant treasurer, Joan Perry.

Sigma Sigma Sigma president, Liz Deichmann will guide, president, Becky Tuck; recording secretary, Sue Sharpe; corresponding secretary, Vicky Johnson; and treasurer, Betty Boyd.

Zeta Tau Alpha president, Ginna Chapman will be assisted by first vice president, Virginia Kemp; second vice president, Norma Wahl; recording secretary, Dotsy Moody; corresponding secretary, Betty Rice Dawson; and treasurer, Margaret Vaughn.

Alpha Gamma Delta selected as president Claudia Wilson to serve with first vice president, Jean Pickrell; corresponding secretary, Mary Warren; recording secretary, Marty Wyatt; treasurer, Donna Franzen.

Sigma Kappa elected Beth Goodwyn president. First vice president will be Mary Lee Warner; second vice president, Mary Byrd Micou; recording secretary, Gail Crawford; corresponding secretary, Ann Peters; and treasurer, Sandra Freedman.

Phi Mu president, Judy Smith will preside over vice president, Taylor Rowell; recording secretary, Judy Waldo; corresponding secretary, Nancy Parker; treasurer, Gail Jones.

Alpha Sigma Alpha's president Ginny Whipple will lead first vice president, Sherrill Hudlow; second vice president, Signe Young; treasurer, Sue Spicer; corresponding secretary, Pat Hickey; and recording secretary, Charlene Owen.

Alpha Sigma Tau president, Winnie Egolf, has as assistants vice president, Linda Kay Hartman; recording secretary, Niki Fallis; corresponding secretary, Mary Lou Plunkett; and treasurer, Khaki Turner.

THE NINE SOCIAL SORORITIES on campus recently elected their presidents. They are G. Chapman, C. Wilson, P. Green, J. Smith, W. Egolf, L. Deichman, B. Goodwyn, and J. Bass.

—Staff Photo

Pi Delta Epsilon Issues Nine Bids For Membership

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary collegiate journalism fraternity, issued bids to students service on the staff of one of the three major Longwood publications, the magazine, the newspaper, and the yearbook.

This fraternity honors students who have shown a degree of excellence in the field of journalism on either the editorial or business staff of these publications.

Pi Delta Epsilon strives to teach the ethics, techniques and mechanics of journalism and seeks to strengthen and support campus publications by bringing staff members together on a common ground. Membership is limited to juniors and seniors who have rendered at least two years of work on a publication.

Those receiving bids were Carolyn Elliot, Mary Leach Elmore, Susan Eddy, Mary K. Rice, Jean Bass, Bettie Jane Stegall, Mary Rob Harris, Peggy Green, and Linda Siddduth. Initiation took place last night after dinner in the Y-Lounge.

Miss Sally

(Continued from page 2)

convention."

One Month Away

Miss Sally has lived in Prince Edward County all of her life, and since coming to work for the college, has never been away except for a month when she was ill.

"I may retire at the end of this session, or maybe I'll wait until next year. Forty-seven years is a long time. I'll probably miss everything at first"

And of course, Longwood will miss Miss Sally Stokes.

THE PLAQUE BOUGHT BY AKG for Wheeler dormitory with Circus proceeds is received by B. Carpenter, G. Vanlandingham, B Dimmavant.

Staff Photo

Pi Omega Pi

Visitors Install Business Group On LC Campus

The Delta Rho chapter of Pi Omega Pi, the national honorary business education fraternity, was installed at Longwood College on April 14, 1961.

Business Major Wins Top Honor In State Event

Katie Mae Bolt, a business education major, has won the state title of "Virginia Phi Beta Lambda Miss Executive of 1961."

The eleventh annual convention of the Virginia Chapters of Future Business Leaders of America and Phi Beta Lambda was held in Richmond, Virginia on April 14-15, at the Hotel Richmond.

Another Achievement

Dr. Landrum, chairman of the business education department, stated that this adds another great achievement to the long list already made by the business education students and faculty members.

During the past five years, when the State contest for Miss Future Business Executive was given, Longwood Business Education seniors have won four times and the National Contest once.

Dr. Landrum said that this is one indication that Longwood may be graduating the highest quality of college business education majors.

Examination

In order to win this title, Katie Mae had to take a rigid written examination on the national level of general fundamentals and principles. This examination included math, spelling, English grammar, judgement, memory plateau, and general knowledge.

The three candidates making the highest scores on the exam were then interviewed by a panel of judges composed of successful business executives who rated them on such items as personal appearance, personality, evidences of potential executive ability, conduct during the interview, evidence of career planning; and academic average and participation and leadership in college activities were taken into consideration.

Banquet For Winners

A banquet was held Saturday night in the Winter Garden of the Hotel Richmond in honor of the winners. Katie Mae was presented with a Certificate of Award for first place winner plus an engraved silver Revere bowl.

The purpose of this fraternity is to benefit students who are currently enrolled in the business teacher - education curriculum. The major aim is to create and encourage interest and promote scholarship in business education.

Requirements

Each candidate must be at least a sophomore and must have a "B" average in all business and education subjects. She must have completed a minimum of twelve semester hours of business subjects and three semester hours in education before being elected to membership. She must have at least a "C" average in all other college courses.

Installation

The new chapter was installed by Dr. Audrey V. Dempsey, assisted by Miss Lena Ellis, both of East Carolina College, Greenville, North Carolina.

Miss Ellis is a former sponsor of Beta Kappa Chapter at East Carolina College and has had several years of experience with Pi Omega Pi.

Dr. Dempsey is past National President. She has served in National offices of Pi Omega Pi for a total of ten years, as National Editor, National Organizer, National President, and as a member of the National Council.

New Officers

The newly elected officers of the Delta Rho chapter are as follows: president, Gayle Jones; vice president, Lana Jo Tucker; secretary, Pauline Brightwell; treasurer, Marilyn Miller; and, historian - reporter, Elizabeth Clay.

Charter members of the Delta Rho chapter are Carol Barnes, Sue Gallahan, Gwen Keesee, Frances Norton, Mary Rideout, Iris Wall, Frances Weaver, Pauline Brightwell, Mary Elizabeth Clay, Gayle Jones, Judy Smith, Brenda Duke, Diana Euksuzian, Sherryl Gates, Marilyn Miller, Caroline Phillips, Lana Jo Tucker, Frances Webster, Diane Whitley, and Hattie Lasley.

Attend
W&L - LC
CONCERT
April 20

Wilson Tennis Balls
Can of 3
reg. $2.75
Longwood Special
$2.25
Southside Sundry

Cotillion Dance Shows Students 'Roman Holiday'

The Cotillion Club presented its annual dance April 15 from 8 to 12 p.m. in the Main Rec. The theme of the dance was "Roman Holiday." Music was provided by the Ted Simms Band.

Receiving Line

In the receiving line were Bobbyee Bolster, president of the Cotillion Club; Dr. and Mrs. Lankford, Dean Wilson, Sanda Watkins, Judy Welch, secretary; Virginia Van de Riet, treasurer; Nancy Lechler, business manager, Dr. and Mrs. Richard B. Brooke and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Helms chaperoned the dance.

Roman Motif

In a Roman motif the rec was decorated with murals depicting life in Rome. The band was seated on a representation of a Roman temple. Roman figures and Roman columns were placed at intervals around the rec. Betsy Joyner was in charge of decorations.

A party was held in the Senior Rec for the members of the Cotillion Club immediately following the dance.

Never Receives Summer Study, Research Grant

Dr. Maurice C. Neveu, assistant professor of natural sciences, has been awarded a grant for summer study at Brandeis University, Waltham, Massachusetts. He will do independent research work under the guidance of a faculty member of his choice in the Department of Chemistry.

This award is being made under the National Science Foundation program in the "Research Participation for College Teachers." The duration of the program will be from June 17, 1961 to August 31, 1961.

The National Science Foundation program provides opportunities for approximately 350 science teachers to gain research experience during the summer. Teachers at both the predoctoral and postdoctoral level are eligible.

NORRIS HOUGHTON

Noted Director To Give Lecture On Drama Trend

Norris Houghton, theater producer, director and lecturer, will speak at a joint meeting of Beore Eh Thorn, honorary English society, and Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity, on April 25 at 7:00 p.m. His topic will be "Trends in Contemporary American Theater."

Guest Director

Dr. Houghton is adjunct professor of drama and was guest director of the Experimental Theatre at Vassar College last year. He was stage designer and director of various Broadway productions: founder and co-director of the Phoenix Theatre, New York City, and the director of the American National Theatre and Academy. He is the author of "Moscow Rehearsals," and "Advance From Broadway."

Visiting Scholar

Dr. Houghton will come to Longwood under the visiting scholars program of the University Center in Virginia.

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. "COCA-COLA" AND "COKE" ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS.

BETWEEN BITES...
get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!
Bottled under authority of
The Coca-Cola Company by
Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Library
Longwood College
Farmville, Virginia

The Rotunda

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., April 26, 1961 | No. 18

College May Day Civil War Theme Plans Complete

On May 6, at 3 p.m. at the Longwood Dell, twenty snare drummers and a variety of patriotic songs and dances will blend to present "The Sound of Distant Drums" — this year's theme for May Day.

The script, which is completely original, exemplifies the symbolic meanings of the Civil War. These symbols form the basis for all of the songs and dances.

Neal Banks and Dibby Mohr have been selected as narrators for the pageant.

In addition to the usual procession, this year the May Court will present a Southern Ball dance with their VMI escorts.

Beginning the pageant will be a Drummer Boy's Dance composed of twenty snare drummers which will introduce the skit. The drums will constantly be in the background, thus keeping the theme of ". . . Distant Drums."

Following, will be a Plantation Dance, a Sword Dance, a Children's Dance which will express the feelings of the children of this period, and a Dance of the Flags which will show the unity and strength of purpose that both the North and South felt.

During the Battle Dance, General Robert E. Lee, portrayed by Keaton Holland, and Ann Agee as General Ulysses S. Grant, will make their entrance.

The Dance of the Statues is a solemn dance paying tribute to those who lost their lives during the war.

Carpetbaggers, scalawags, and mugwumps show the contention felt during the reconstrucdion period.

Red, white, and blue streamers signifying the birth of a new era will be entwined to form the traditional Maypole.

Sprinkled throughout the pageant will be songs by the choir and audience, narration and pantomime.

The finale will be composed of every May Day participant singing an original song to fit the skit and holding red, white and blue flash cards, shaping the present American flag.

The props committee has been busy building a split-rail fence at the Dell. Many people are needed to help complete this project. Anyone interested in helping on props is asked to see Winnie Egolf.

May Day is a Longwood tradition with all students responsible. It cannot be carried out with the help of only a few.

Practices are now being held every night, and it is of utmost importance that everyone attend.

The Longwood bus will furnish transportation to and from the Dell every afternoon.

Practices

Practices in the Dell for May Day will begin tomorrow. Bus schedules are to be announced.

Campus-wide support is needed in order to make May Day a success.

Student Recital Features Piano, Voice Offerings

A two-piano recital will be presented Sunday afternoon, April 30, at 4 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium. Joan Tyler Ivy and Raye Turner from the class of Sterling Adams will play.

Their selections will be "Sheep May Safely Graze," by Bach, "Memories of Childhood" by Pinto, "Dance of Death" by Saint-Saens, "Mother Goose" by Ravel and "Scaramouche" by Milhaud.

On April 16 at 4 p.m. a joint recital was given in Jarman Auditorium. Linda Forrest, a pianist, began the program with "Sonata in E flat major" by Beethoven.

Julia King, a soprano, then sang "Mondnacht" by Schumann, "Der Tod das ist die kuhle Nacht" by Brahms, "Chanson Triste" by Duparc and "Apres un Reve" by Fsure.

Linda followed with "Polonaise in C minor" by Chopin. After a brief intermission Julia sang "La Boheme" by Puccini.

Linda played two selections, "Pavane" by Ravel and "La Cathedrale Engloutie" by Debussy, and Julia King ended the program with "American Lullabye" by Gladys Rich, "Velvet Shoes" by Randall Thompson, "A Nun Takes the Veil" by Samuel Barber, "Sleep Child" by Starling Cumberworth, and "Into the Night" by Clara Edwards.

Linda is a pupil of Sterling Adams and Julia, a pupil of James McCombs. Julia was accompanied by Elizabeth Howard.

Colonnade Staff Reveals Winners Of Competition

The Colonnade staff has announced the winners of the annual literary contest sponsored by the magazine.

In the poetry division, "Broken Patterns," by Eleanor Kevan, a sophomore, was awarded first place. "No," a poem by Gayle Ray, a freshman, won the second place award; and "Foghorns" by Eleanor Kevan won an honorable mention.

No First Place Story

No first place short story was chosen; however, Diane Leavitt, a sophomore, won a second place award for her story, "Tambrey, Where Is Your Soul." Donna Humphlett, a freshman, also won a second place award for her story, "Many Minus Two."

Cash Awards

The first place winner will receive a cash award of $15. Second place awards will be $10 each. The winning entries will be published in the spring issue of the Colonnade.

Writing Encouraged

The Colonnade staff sponsors the annual contest to encourage creative writing among the students of Longwood College. Judges for the contest consisted of a faculty member, a townsperson, and a student from the senior class.

Beorc Eh Thorn Elects Officers For Fiscal Year

Emily Smith, a junior English major, was elected president of Beorc Eh Thorn, local honorary English society, on March 16.

Other officers elected at that time are Peggy Green, vice president; Susan Stalnaker, secretary; Ann Taylor Rowell, treasurer; and Judy Detrich, historian.

A member of Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Gamma Mu, Student Education Association, and the Cotillion Club, Emily has held no other offices in Beorc Eh Thorn. Susan and Taylor also hold membership in these same organizations, and Taylor is a member of Phi Mu sorority.

President of Kappa Delta sorority, Peggy is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, Pi Delta Epsilon, Kappa Delta Pi, and the Student Education Association. Judy is an English major from Hampton Virginia, and a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma and Pi Delta Epsilon, as well as being editor of the Colonnade.

Fourth Fine Arts Series Draws To Close Tonight

—Staff Photo

ENDING THE FESTIVAL OF FINE ARTS, Mr. Sterling Adams will present his piano recital tonight in Jarman Hall.

Adams Piano Recital Completes Festival

The fourth annual Fine Arts Festival will end tonight with a faculty piano recital by Sterling Adams.

Mr. Adams' recital is at 8 tonight in Jarman Hall. He will play selections by Brahms, Chopin, Debussy, and Bach-Busoni.

This piano recital will end Longwood College's Fine Art series which began last Thursday night with the choral concert given by the Longwood College choir and the Washington and Lee University Glee Club. Also taking part in the concert were the Lexington Chamber Orchestra and the John A. Graham Brass Choir.

Robert Stewart, associate professor of music at Washington and Lee, and John W. Molnar, head of the Longwood music department, conducted. Featured in the concert were solos by John Baker of Washington and Lee and Julia King of Longwood.

Southern Institute

The Institute of Southern Culture lectures were given on Friday. In the morning Dr. Willard Thorp, professor of English at Princeton University, spoke in Jarman Hall on "The Writer as Pariah in the Old South." This was the second time in the last three years that Dr. Thorp has spoken to Longwood students.

In the afternoon Dr. Richard K. Meeker, associate professor of English at Longwood College, made a speech on "The Shadowy Stories of Ellen Glasgow."

"Faulkner and the South" was the subject of the evening speech given by Dr. James B. Meriwether, assistant professor of English at the University of North Carolina.

Music Department

Sunday afternoon the department of music presented Josephine Bailey, organist, and James McCombs, baritone, in a joint faculty recital. Heard in the recital were compositions by George Frederick Handel, Robert Schumann, Cesar Franck, Samuel Barber and others.

Madrigal Singers

Monday afternoon the Longwood College Madrigal Singers directed by James McCombs presented a "Matinee of Music" in the Virginia Room.

Featured singers in the program were Madeline MacNeil, soprano; Julia King, soprano; and Jean Dancy, mezzo-soprano. Accompanists at the piano were Elizabeth Howard, Jane Pennington, and Raye Turner.

Orchesis

The program for Tuesday afternoon was 'Orchesis Presents an Afternoon of Dance," under the direction of Emily K. Landrum. Dance arrangements presented were "Folknik," "Two Dance," "Then It Passes," "2° East 3° West," "We," and "To Us."

There was also a student exhibition in the halls of the art wing. The student exhibition will continue until May 15. "Charles Smith's Block Painting," a thirty minute color film was shown this afternoon in Jarman Hall as a part of the art department's program.

Card Party Held To Benefit Fund

The Farmville chapter of the Longwood Alumnae Association had a card party in the main rec April 16.

The card party was given to raise money for the Mary White Cox Scholarship Fund, and the evening was termed successful and entertaining.

The Mary White Cox Scholarship was started in honor of Mary White Cox, a former dean of women at Longwood.

The scholarship is awarded to a local girl who is chosen according to her need, her academic record, and her desire to attend Longwood College.

Chorus Line To Tango

'Follies' To Feature Professorial Talent

By Ann Smith

The Faculty Follies, sponsored by AKG will be presented April 27 at 8 p.m. in Jarman Auditorium. The tickets will be 35 cents and are on sale after meals in the smoker. They will also be on sale at the door the night of the performance.

Piano, Vocal Medley

The Follies will open with a piano and vocal medley of old popular songs by two well known personalities from the English department. The opener will be billed as "Roger Williams and Polly Bergen." The act will be presented in a night club setting with low lights, tuxedos, and evening dresses.

Wild West Setting

In contrast to this sophisticated number will be a saga of the wild west presented in a barroom setting. Many old favorites will be seen — Matt Dillon, Miss Kitty, Chester, and, of course, an evil villain. Mr. Helms will be the hero in this inspiring story of good over evil, and Dr. Lankford will play the villain!

Dr. Wesley will preside as a teacher in a classroom scene. Among his pupils will be Mrs. Bobbitt and Dr. Moss

Chorus Line, Tango

There will be many other acts presented by the members of the faculty. Among these acts will be a chorus line from the science department — the "Flaming Mamies." There will be a professional tango performed by Miss Nichols and Dr. Wellard.

A group of five well-known campus personalities will act as MC's, introducing the acts.

No Rehearsals

Some of these acts will have [illegible] rehearsal. There will be no dress rehearsal. When the Follies are presented on April 27, it will be the first time that many of the acts will even have had a run-through.

'Model' Venture At Mademoiselle Proves Exciting

By Bobbi Goodman

While most of us played our usual round of bridge over the past week end or traveled to Hampden - Sydney on Saturday night, one Longwood Lady was undertaking a Cinderella adventure in formidable New York City.

This lucky lass was a blonde sophomore from Norfolk, Brenda Lee Smith. This all came about when Brenda's roomie noticed a small article in the issue of the Rotunda preceding Easter vacation which advised any student interested in modeling for the college issue of Mademoiselle magazine to write to the New York office.

Knowing that Brenda would never enter on her own, Roomie entered her and announced to the candidate the following day that she was "candidating."

"I wrote a letter, sent in her pretty little snapshot, subtracted a few pounds here and there from her measurements, sent off the letter, and forgot about it," said Roomie.

The editors of Mademoiselle

(Continued on page 3)

Staff Photo

PROFESSIONAL TANGO DANCERS. Miss Nichols and Dr. Wellard, rehearse for "Faculty Follies."

Spring Fancies

In Spring, a Longwood girl's fancy lightly turns to:
—her long-ignored tennis racquet
—bench-sitting
—prayers after supper
—convertibles
—trips to the Tastee Freez
—"roofing it"
—golfing at the Estate
—May Day togetherness
—college Easters and Finals
—class lectures on the lawn
—color cup
—June 4
—. . . thoughts of love.

—Ann Agee

Free Publicity!

One of the major purposes of The Rotunda is to give coordination to all of our college activities. Your newspaper offers each organization the opportunity to give publicity through its facilities.

Almost every organization on campus has a reporter. We are not necessarily asking that the reporters submit news stories; however, we are asking that each reporter realize her duty of notifying our staff when there is need for a news release.

The Rotunda now has a very large staff, including many reporters. If an organization at any time would like for a reporter to follow up its activities in our paper, it would be very much help to us if someone would notify our news editor, Donna Frantzen, or drop a notice in the The Rotunda box. This is only an effort to make sure that our news staff gives adequate publicity to all of the organizations. Our editors cannot always know about everything that is taking place on campus.

It is our aim to increase interest in all activities here at Longwood, as well as The Rotunda. Any good leader of an organization should assume the responsibility of maintaining or creating interest in her organization. It is our duty to give full coverage, but we do need your help.

Your cooperation and support will be very much appreciated.

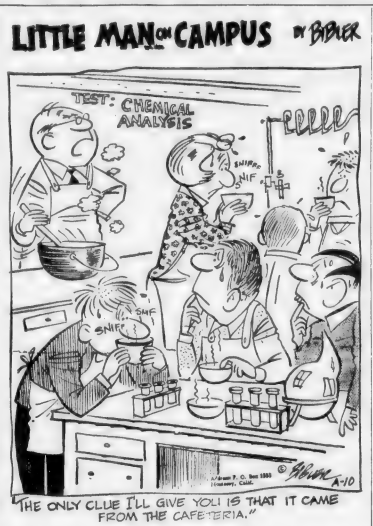
Test Your Manners

Whether you are hurriedly eating a sandwich before a one o'clock exam, having an informal dinner at home, or dining formally, good table manners are equally important. Table manners can be tricky, and you never know when that important date is going to take you out to dinner at the King Carter. By following good habits of table etiquette while here, we can enjoy the self-assurance and the ease of this social grace on any occasion.

Take the following test and see how you rate on the knowledge and use of proper table manners.

Is it good manners to
1. Eat lettuce which is a garnish for a salad?
2. Butter a whole slice of bread?
3. Put two or three oyster crackers at a time in your soup?
4. Put an elbow on a restaurant table between courses?
5. Put more than one kind of food on a fork at one time?
6. Cut a club sandwich with a knife?
7. Use your spoon to test coffee before drinking it?
8. Leave a spoon in a shallow soup plate?
9. Put butter on bread with a fork?
10. Put butter on vegetables with a fork?
11. Rest the handle of your knife on the table when it is not in use?
12. Eat the skin of a baked potato?
13. Help yourself from a common dish with your individual silver?
14. Use your fingers to help yourself from an individual salt dish if there is no salt spoon?
15. Eat chicken with your fingers in a restaurant?
16. Cut more than one bite of meat at a time before transferring your fork to your right hand?
17. Drink bouillon from a cup?
18. Talk when you have food in your mouth?
19. Use a knife for cutting lettuce?
20. Dip a soup spoon away from you?
21. Put salt for celery on the tablecloth?
22. Stand for the blessing, if it is the custom?
23. Break open a baked potato with your fingers?
24. Leave a spoon standing in a cup?
25. Push your plate back when you have finished eating?

(Answers on page four)



The Rotunda

ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 20, 1920

Published each week during the college year except during holidays and examination periods by the students of Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia Box 168

Mary Byrd Micou ..... Editor-in-Chief

Ann Agee ..... Managing Editor
Susan Eddy ..... Business Manager
Donna Frantzen ..... News Editor
Gayce Ann ..... Feature Editor
Lois Peters ..... Sports Editor
Mary Jo Bartley ..... Desk Editor
Leonie Hopper ..... Exchange Editor
Flossie Barnard and Linda Sinclair ..... Photography
Jane Hanger ..... Circulation Manager
Dr. James Wellard ..... Faculty Advisor

Sadism Still Active In Sense Of Humor

By Donna Humphlett

We live in a sadistic age. We do not laugh insanely as we put out another's eyes, nor do we scream for the death of gladiators, or serve hungry lions human flesh. One could point out that we of today are so removed from these things that we have formulated a code of ethics for waging war. These things are true, but today even the most timid person can be the most hard-hearted sadist, for we of today prefer to be vicarious rather than active sadists.

Our sadism is even reflected in our sense of humor. We laugh uproariously as one of our friends tells the latest cruelty joke.

When the laughter finally dies down, someone comes forth with something like, "That's as funny as Fats Domino playing 'I'm Walking' in a polio ward." And another "joke" quickly follows suit.

When we have drunk our supply of "jokes" dry, we look for something else to do. If a fire engine suddenly rushes by, we pile into a car, and follow it to the scene of the fire. There we stand open - mouthed as we watch the fire consume lives and property. Standing as close to the fire as it is safe, we inch closer when the fireman is not looking, and become quite angry when he pushes us back.

We not only rush to fires, but also to the scenes of automobile accidents and train wrecks. Here we are entertained by watching distorted bodies being pulled from the wreckage. To some of us this is almost as good as the circus freak shows. Finally, when all the blood has been wiped up, we get into our automobiles, and en route home we have the fun of discussing each gory detail of the wreckage.

All this goes to prove that we are not as far removed from our ancient ancestors as we prefer to think. But by limiting our sadistic activities to jokes and rushing to fires, we are able to conform to the modern tenets of how one should conduct himself, yet still experience the thrills had by the ancients.

Bridge Gains Momentum In College Curriculum

By Pat Hurst

What did college students do for recreation, B. B.? Before Bridge, that is. In the twenty-six years that contract bridge has been an official game in the United States, it has soared to the top of the list of college students' favorite hobbies, pastimes, and intellectual pursuits.

A dormitory room which does not have at least two decks of shuffle-worn cards and a "We-They" pad is certainly not "college." The familiar cry "We need a fourth" is one of the most over-worked sentences in collegiate language, for it can be heard on any hall, in any dormitory, in any college no less frequently than every fifteen minutes.

College bridge players, more accurately college students in general, owe their thanks to a group of Americans who became intrigued with playing plafond at the Travelers' Club in Paris. This was in 1925, and auction bridge had previously made its way into the United States. But the principle of bidding a specific number of tricks rather than just for one of the four suits appealed to the American bridge enthusiasts. They applied the plafond principle to auction bridge, and on a steamship voyage from Los Angeles to Havana in 1925, the group fixed the rules for contract bridge.

It is fitting that college students play bridge, for not only is bridge the king of intellectual games, but has a classical background. Beginning early in the eighteenth century as whist, the game has evolved through several stages to the currently spectacular contract bridge. Alexander Pope, in his "Rape of the Lock," even made a topical allusion to ombre, a trump game which readers of the classics recognize as very similar to their own dominating pastime.

Whist thrived for 15 years in Europe before it was supplanted by bridge whist. Lord Broughman introduced the latter at the Portland Club in London in 1894.

Its popularity flourished for ten years until auction bridge stole the scene. Auction bridge (in which the players bid for the trump suit individually rather than in partnership) spread so widely that by 1908 an official code of laws was drafted. In the 1920's the American Auction Bridge League was formed in this country.

As a result of the voyage from Los Angeles to Havana, contract bridge spread like a fever in the United States. It usurped auction's popularity and soon had its own American Contract Bridge League with elaborate offices on Sixtieth Street, New York City.

Contract bridge, in its less than three decades, has become such a vital part of campus activity that it is commonly referred to as "Bridge 301" or "Afternoon Lab." It is "the thing" for quiet parlor dates, sun-bathing, a train ride, an hour between classes, a lonely Saturday night, a study break, an afternoon at the frat house, and wherever and whenever four people congregate. (Three and a dummy hand will do in a pinch.)

Charles Goren, along with Webster, Shakespeare, Plato, and a few others, has even made his way onto every bookcase in the dormitories. He has also transformed the reading habits of many collegians who automatically turn to his column in the daily newspapers. His nickname, "Charlie," has even been transplanted to the most ardent players on campus.

Perhaps "Bridge 301" will officially find its way into college catalogues, but required or elective? If the trend happens to be on classical appreciation and intellectual stimulation, surely it will be required.

AKG Recognizes Faculty's Support

Dear Editor:

We would like to bring to the attention of the student body the cooperation of the faculty and administration in supporting the Faculty Follies to be presented tomorrow, April 27, in Jarman.

It is not always an eagerly anticipated experience to perform in a humorous skit or commercial, especially when one has attained a position of dignity in the college. Yet in this our professors have shown their willingness to work with the students outside the classroom.

In addition, they are lending their services to support a worthwhile cause, that of the Endowment Fund. Proceeds from the show will be given to this faculty insurance program which will enable the college to continue to attract and maintain competent instructors and professors.

The faculty is presenting a talent show to benefit Longwood College. Let us show our appreciation and respect for them as well as for the Endowment Fund—by supporting this activity.

Alpha Kappa Gamma

Hats, Ukes, Tenny Pumps Sweep Ivy Fans

By Becky Tuck

Are you "ivy?" In other words, when you itemize your wardrobe, do you include a straw hat, tennis shoes, and accessories such as bongos or a ukulele?

For those of you who have been buried in your studies lately and are unaware of the S.H., U., B., T.S. innovation which has descended upon Longwood, perhaps we should examine more closely the typically "ivy" student.

Casual Air

Worn with a casual air, the right straw hat can be a definite asset to any girl's appearance. However, it not only complements a neat outfit (preferably anything that resembles madras or batik, has a McMullen collar, and bears the label "Villager", but it also serves several useful purposes: (1) If your eyes are sensitive to light, for one reason or another, you'll find that the proper straw hat is a wonderful sun-shield. (2) Unless you buy a hat three sizes too large for your head, it's difficult to cover wire curlers with a straw hat, but pin curls fit under them very nicely. (3) When it is worn slightly to the back of the head, a hat covers most of the hair, making it necessary to roll only the bangs. (4) If you find it necessary to travel incognito, a larger hat pulled down over the ears will cover most of your head.

Hats A Must

As you can plainly see, one of these hats is a must for every college girl. But, by all means, look before you buy! Even though there are many imitations on the market, only a man's straw hat with a madras or batik band will do.

"Tenny Pumps"

It is unnecessary for tennis shoes, better known as "tenny pumps," to conform to such strict "ivy" standards. Since the big issue here last spring (khaki versus white), many colors and styles have appeared. The most popular color still seems to be dirty white, but khaki and green are proper also. Never be seen wearing clean white tennis shoes or ones with fewer than three holes in them. If you find it necessary to buy a new pair, you might try the new tapered-toe shoes, as you receive a free balloon with each purchase. One more warning — don't buy the high-topped variety.

Ukes, Bongos

When you're dressed in your "iviest" outfit, you must find a set of bongos and a ukulele. It's nice if you can play at least one, but it will be sufficient to carry either around under the pretense that you can produce musical sounds.

You are now ready to join a group. Look around for at least three girls wearing straw hats and tennis shoes, who are sitting on the floor singing and playing "My Lover and I," or "Walking Along." If they invite you to come in, you've made the grade —you're "ivy."

—Staff Photo

STRAW HATS WITH BATIK, MADRAS bands adorn "ivy" uke players S. Burnette, L. Edwards, B. Moore, S. Barclay.

News Summary

Kennedy Victorious, US To Launch Robot

By Page Tolleson

The nation's population, as of March 1, is estimated officially at 182,714,000. This figure, says the census bureau, includes members of the armed forces abroad. Since January 1, the population has increased by 457,000, the bureau estimated.

A state of emergency has been proclaimed in France. The French government said Saturday the Junta consisting of French Foreign Legion paratroopers and European settlers at Oran took over Algiers. General Maurice Challe heads the insurrection and this action of the Junta split the 500,000 man French Army in Algeria into rival groups.

Communications with the French territory were cut off except for broadcasts over Radio Algiers in the name of Challe.

Most of Algeria remained loyal to DeGaulle and supported his plans to start negotiations with the nationalist rebels for an end to the nearly seven-year old Algerian rebellion and plan for eventual independence from France.

In a matter of days, the United States space agency plans to put a Mercury space craft with a talking robot aboard into orbit. The capsule will be launched by an Atlas missile from Cape Canaveral, Florida.

The robot will "breathe, sweat, and talk" in realistic fashion. If the craft performs properly, the vehicle will orbit 100 miles above the earth at about 17,500 miles an hour. It is scheduled to land in the Atlantic 300 miles east of Bermuda one hour and fifty minutes after launching.

The Cuban situation remains a touchy one in the UN. The Soviet campaign seeking US condemnation fell flat Wednesday.

The collapse of the nationalist invasion was noted this week as rebels escaped to the Escambray Mountains in central Cuba. Premier Khrushchev blamed the US for the abortive invasion of Cuba and called the attempt to topple Fidel Castro "a crime which has revolted the whole world."

Premier Castro appeared on television Sunday to give a victory speech. The rebel exiles in Miami said recruiting and training for the effort to overthrow Castro would continue.

President Kennedy met with Republicans, among them Eisenhower, last week to discuss the Cuban situation. In a news statement, Eisenhower urged all citizens to support their president but he did not endorse Mr. Kennedy's position.

Student Model Finds New York Cold, Uninviting

(Continued from page 1)

apparently agreed with the student body who voted Brenda on May Court a few weeks ago. The unbelieving miss received a telegram last Thursday inviting her to New York for a fitting for the August issue.

As the rest of us trotted to class Saturday morning, our model-to-be flew to New York, hunted down the Mademoiselle offices, and made her entrance. Inside she found approximately forty college girls from all over the US who had been selected from 3000 applicants to represent their colleges at the fitting.

"The girls weren't very friendly, I didn't think," Brenda says. "They wouldn't say 'Hi, how are you?' like Longwood girls always do. They were from Sarah Lawrence, Pratt, Wellesley, Pembroke, Pittsburgh Tech, Boston U, and I met a really nice girl from Mary Washington, the only other Virginia school represented.

"The Northerners had long straight hair, skirts above their knees, gobs of eye make-up, and the standard hat boxes of the model. I waited fifteen minutes, scared to death, and feeling very much out of place.

"Some of the girls were discussing hair coloring and I turned to the girl on my left (who had false eyelashes) and asked if her hair was naturally that blonde. 'Darling,' she said, 'There is no such thing as natural beauty in the world today. One has to fight to be lovely.' I wondered if maybe I shouldn't have put on a little more than my usual lipstick after that.

"Finally, I started trying on clothes, which was absolutely fascinating. The new styles are unbelievable. They had an entire room full of new pointed toe shoes; only the points were square — understand? — and another room full of gorgeous pocketbooks and another with jewelry and accessories.

"I tried on culottes, a coat, a suit, a muumuu, and enjoyed it all thoroughly. Then they let us go and said they'd call if they decided any of us would be in a group to model at Princeton next week end.

"I, remembering Easters at UVa, muttered, 'Golly, I'd be willing to give up UVA anytime for Princeton,' and one of the Northern girls beside me proved to be quite human after all when she gasped in an awed voice, 'Gosh, UVA! Is that the University of Virginia? My heavens, UVA!' "

After leaving Mademoiselle at 1:30, Brenda had planned to look over New York, but when she almost got run down by a Yellow Cab at the first light and got knocked across the street by the crowd at the second, she decided to call it a day and returned to Idlewild Airport where she sat waiting for her plane for four hours. "I couldn't even talk to anyone because I couldn't understand a word they said. I think they're all foreigners up there."

So if you've ventured to ask Brenda if she had a good time in New York, you can now understand why she says, "It was really one of the most interesting experiences ever for me, but I certainly didn't care much for New York City. Do you think I should wear a little more make-up?"

—Staff Photo

VARSITY TENNIS MANAGER, L. Hatch, demonstrates skill to A. Green and R. Weld.

Instructors Return To Learner's Plight

By Janice Harris

"Splash, splash! Now, you see, the water's not going to hurt you." Such statements, in pleading tones, can be heard ricocheting from the walls of the pool as Longwood girls learn how to teach children how to swim. This is the scene of Mrs. Bobbitt's Water Safety Instructor's course.

In this class, the girls become the beginning swimmers and learn strokes under the leadership of the students within the class. From the beginner stage, they progress to the intermediate and swimmer stages, until they eventually reach senior life saver. They learn how to coordinate the basic strokes and give constructive criticism as to teaching methods.

You may think it's difficult to place yourself, a somewhat competent swimmer, at this stage, in the position of a first rate beginner. However, you discover so many bad habits that you've adopted during the years that it's an excellent opportunity to get rid of them for good.

This class is the setting for many delightful events. It seems as if Carol Nye is actually reverting to her childhood, for she really enjoys it. This can be seen through her childlike antics such as dunking the "other children."

Then there is "Lefty" Snyder who is the envy of the entire class. She has the distinction of being the only girl in the class who can float, horizontally, that is, and the rest of the class looks on with a greenness of face.

And then there's little laughing girl, Dudlie Brooks. She enjoys the antics of others so much that she has difficulty keeping her gaily giggling head above water.

Now, who should swim on the scene, (and we use the term loosely) but Carolyn Thorpe, who insists on swimming with her mouth wide open, out of which pour the words, "I'll never learn how to dive!"

As we leave the swimmers to their tasks, we can hear these words of Mrs. Bobbitt's, "Alright-ee, now; count off by fours."

Officer Installation Held By Association

Installation of the new Athletic Association officers was held Wednesday, April 19 at five o'clock in the AA Games Room.

Morag Nocher, a junior from Lynnhaven, Virginia was installed at President for 1961-1962. Serving as Vice-President will be Keaton Holland, a member of the class of 1962 from Holland. Other officers include Secretary Janice Harris, a sophomore from Danville, and Treasurer Carol Nye, a sophomore from Ft. Sheridan, Illinois.

Class and varsity managers for hockey, basketball, archery, tennis, softball, volleyball and golf for the coming year were also installed. Trina Childress will head the Publicity Committee. Members of the committee include Ann Green, Shirley Metcalf, Linda Sudduth, Sarah Buston, and Judy Brewer. The Social Committee Chairman, Joy Moore, has the following capable committee members, Ann Snead, Shirley Carr, Lewan Rippey, Ellen Brady, and Jean Still. Barbara Gray Martin, Chairman, Sharon Sarver, Jackie Forrest, Emma McDaniel and Peggy Waldo will be serving on the Ways and Means Committee. Sally Sims will head the Recreation Committee having as her co-workers Sandie Waugh, Sue Moseley and Linda Drumwright. Barbara Stewart, a sophomore, will be Chairmen of the Tidewater Hockey Tournament to be held at Longwood next year.

Miss Iler, advisor to the Athletic Association, was present at the installation.

Booklet Offered On Employment During Summer

Thousands of college students are wanted this summer—at $75 to $100 per week— to fill glamorous and interesting jobs.

This break for students who need vacation employment comes from an unexpected source. Big family-style amusement parks, the nation's newest extravaganzas, are paying college students bonus wages.

In a recent interview, William W. Snow, employment counselor of Weston, McMurray Inc. (50 Broad Street, New York City), explained the whys and hows of this new and still rapidly developing situation.

Attractive Locations

The employment peak begins in June and continues until Labor Day. And the jobs are located in prime vacation spots: New York, Southern California, Texas, Massachusetts, Ohio. Others are opening soon in Washington and Florida.

According to Mr. Snow, many park managers favor hiring college students because their youth, enthusiasum, and glowing good spirits rub off onto others. Surveys show that as a result customers enjoy the parks more, stay longer, return more frequently, and spend more money.

This fits in nicely with the fact that students are free to work during America's main vacation months, exactly the season when the parks need large staffs.

Unlimited Positions

Including both the unusual and the ordinary kinds, there is a fabulous variety of job openings.

There are jobs for host and hostesses to greet guests at the main gates, answer questions, and help park visitors enjoy the various rides and amusements. There are jobs in guest relations and child relations for persons able to set others at ease. There are jobs for security officer, groundskeepers, and costumers.

Special talents sought, but not required, include "Spielers" and lecturers. Stagecoach drivers and shogun riders. Tugboat operators, riverboat pilots, submarine operators. "Indian" canoers. Harness makers and horse shoers.

Exclusive inside information about these jobs has been put into a brochure that is packed with the facts needed: A list of available jobs and their pay ranges; a list of parks and employment managers; application deadlines and dates of hiring peaks; and answers to the questions most frequently asked by applicants. Plus—detailed instructions about how to apply, when to apply, where to apply, what to stress, what not to say. Rush one dollar (to cover costs) to "Student Jobs," Weston, McMurry Incorporated, 50 Broad Street, New York 4, N. Y.

THE COLLEGE SHOP

Try a Hamburger Delight,

French Fried Onion Rings,

Drink—65c

Remember Mother

with Lingerie

from Dorothy May

Gowns—Slips—Panties

Examination Schedule

Second Semester

1960-61 Session

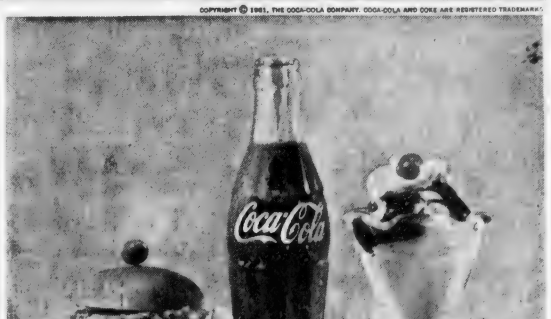
Examination Day and Date	Morning 8:05-11:05	Afternoon 1:05-4:05
Thursday, May 25	Reading Period	Reading Period
Friday, May 26	8:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes	9:05 TTS Classes TTh Classes
Saturday, May 27	11:05 TTh Classes 2:05 TTh Classes
Monday, May 29	1:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	9:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes
Tuesday, May 30	11:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes	8:05 MFW Classes MTWTF Classes MW & WF Classes TWThFS Classes
Wednesday, May 31	3:05, 4:05 MWF Classes MTWTF Classes TTh Classes MW Classes WF Classes	8:05 TThS Classes TTh Classes
Thursday, June 1	10:05 MWF Classes MW & WF Classes MTWTF Classes	10:05 TTS Classes TT Classes

Tuesday, May 30, 7:00—10:00 P.M.—Conflicts, Room 21

Any student with an examination conflict should notify the professor responsible for administering one of the examinations in conflict. The professor will deliver the examination for the student to the Dean of the College before the Tuesday evening examination conflict period.

Wilson Tennis Balls

Can of 3



reg. $2.75

Longwood Special

$2.25

Southside Sundry

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS.

GREAT BETWEEN COURSES!

Get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

Southern Institute

Three Scholars' Spring Lectures Provoke Review

By Donna Humphlett

The [illegible] of Southern Colleges [illegible] were held April 21, 22, 23. Dr. Willard Thorp of Princeton University spoke on "The Writer as Pariah in the Old South."

[illegible] "The Shadowy Stories of Ellen Glasgow" was the topic of Dr. Richard K. Meeker's talk. The final talk at [illegible] was given by Dr. James B. Meriweather of the University of North Carolina. His subject was "Faulkner and the South."

In opening his lecture, Dr. Thorp explained why he had used the word 'pariah' in the title of his talk. He loosely identified the name of the lowest caste of India with the position of the writer in the ante-bellum South.

Art of Living

The South felt no need, as did New England, for creating an American literature; the people preferred to express themselves in the art of living, said Dr. Thorpe. Even the nature of southern society was against the writer.

Educated men, in their free time away from their plantations, sought recreation in sports and at the tourist attractions. These men felt the need for professional men — doctors and lawyers, but none was felt for the writer.

Writing as Avocation

In this position, the writer seldom could support himself as a writer. He had to make his living in one of the more respected fields, and have writing as his avocation. Even when this was done, many resorted to the use of pseudonyms to escape the scorn felt for the writer. Because of the attitude taken toward the writer, the South, with the exception of Poe, produced few great literary men before the Civil War.

Success Story

At 4 p.m., Dr. Meeker, in his talk, "The Shadowy Stories of Ellen Glasgow," spoke of her life as being a success story. He said that she devoted her entire life to recognition as a "writer and a woman." When she first started writing there was no respect for the short story as an art form, and she said, "I will become a great novelist or none at all."

But later she turned to the short story. Not only was the short story becoming acceptable and profitable; but during the tumult of World War I, Miss Glasgow seemed to lose the sense of evolution necessary to write the novel.

Supernatural

In her short stories she makes use of the supernatural. Dr. Meeker pointed out similarities between her "Jordan's End" and [illegible] "The Fall of [illegible]." He referred to parallels in plot and the use of a symbolic house and its influence on its inhabitants.

In conclusion Dr. Meeker said of Ellen Glasgow, "She had all the equipment for a great short story writer except respect for the form."

Faulkner and South

At 8 p.m., Dr. Meriweather speaking on "Faulkner and the South," closed the lecture series. He said that no other writer has so closely identified himself with a section of the country as has William Faulkner himself of his native state, Mississippi. The setting is in the South.

Faulkner's attitude toward interpretation has antagonized both interpretative and [illegible]. He [illegible] Faulkner's [illegible] at once and appears [illegible] do not want it enforced at all.

Northern Readers

Because [illegible] Faulkner's [illegible] north of the Mason-Dixon line and are unaware [illegible] towards Faulkner, Dr. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Mason-Dixon Ball May 6

The Rotunda

Participate In May Day

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., May 3, 1961 | No. 19

'Distant Drums' To Echo In Dell May 6

Speakers Announced For Commencement

The baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of 1961 will be delivered by the Reverend Dr. A. H. Hollinsworth, Jr., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Roanoke. The service will be held in Jarman Auditorium at 3 p.m. on June 4.

Leonard G. Muse, president of the State Board of Education, also from Roanoke, will deliver the commencement address that evening. Dr. Lankford will present the diplomas to the graduating seniors.

Class Day Ceremonies

Senior Class Day exercises will take place on June 3 at 3 p.m. The welcome address will be delivered by Senior Class President, Pat Southworth.

The class history will be presented by Judy Harris. Katie Mae Bolt will present the gifts, and the class will sing their class and farewell songs. The daisy chain ceremony will take place after the exercises.

LC Pilot Groups Student Teach On Trial Basis

Longwood College has made arrangements with the Richmond public school authorities to have Student teaching on a trial basis in that city. Student teaching in Richmond is limited to those girls who can provide their own transportation and living quarters.

Summer School

This summer four girls will teach at the secondary level for eight weeks at John Marshall, George Wythe, or Thomas Jefferson High School. During this eight week period they will cover a year's work. Because so much ground must be covered, girls doing their student teaching in the Richmond summer schools must feel confident about their subject matter.

Pilot Group

If the summer session proves profitable, ten girls in February, 1962, will be sent to teach on both the elementary and secondary levels. This group will be considered a pilot group in seeing how problems in establishing a student teaching program turn out.

Upon the success of the pilot group, fifteen girls will be sent to Richmond in each student teaching block beginning September, 1962. The same provisions will be made for those girls as are being made for the summer session and pilot groups.

Other colleges which already use Richmond public schools for their student teaching programs are Westhampton, RPI, University of Richmond, and Duke.

AKG Convention Draws Members Of Local Circle

The University of South Carolina played host to the Spring Planning Conference of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

This conference is responsible for planning the 1961-1962 activities of AKG. Longwood was represented by several of the junior members of Alpha Kappa Gamma: Peggy Green, Ann Howell, Jane Pennington, and Page Tolleson.

Minnie Lee Dean, a Longwood alumna and the national president of AKG, provided the girls transportation to South Carolina.

May Day Dance Theme To Cross Blue, Gray Line

By Page Tolleson

May Day weekend will close its traditional festivities next weekend with the Mason-Dixon Ball to be held in the Main Rec. Saturday night, May 6, from 8 until 12 p.m.

The Ball, under the direction and chairmanship of Sue Sharpe and Beth Goodwyn, will carry out the Civil War theme in decoration.

Theme Colors

The theme colors will be blue and grey and the setting will be enhanced by murals of the civil war and plantation scenes. At either end of the Rec, a Confederate flag and an American Flag will be hung. Statues of Lee and Grant will be displayed in the center of the dance floor.

Musical Entertainment

The VPI Collegiates will be rendering an evening of musical entertainment at the Ball, one of Longwood's four major dances of the year.

Tickets to the semi-formal dance will be sold each night this week for $2 in the Smoker. The May Court figure will highlight the gaiety and grandeur of the Mason-Dixon Ball.

Chorus Tryouts For Next Year To Start Soon

Choir tryouts for next year's Choir will be held this spring, starting immediately, and lasting until the end of the semester.

Tryout Appointments

Tryouts will also be held at the beginning of next semester, but it is strongly urged that any of this year's students who wish to sing in the Choir should try out now. Appointments for an individual tryout may be made by singing for a time on the schedule sheets that are on the door of Dr. Molnar's office, in the Music Building.

Requirements

The requirements for admission into the Choir are (1) an acceptable singing voice, (2) an accurate musical ear, and (3) the ability to carry a part independently. Previous choral experience the ability to sight-sing, or to play the piano, are not required, but they are preferred.

Choir may be taken for one-half credit a semester, or for no credit. It is important, however, that the time should be put upon a student's schedule, especially if done for credit, so it is best to try out now.

—Staff Photo

SELECTING MOUNTS for May Day festivities are A. Agee and K. Holland.

Admissions

Class Of '65 Draws From Eleven States

Next year's freshman class, the class of '65, will consist of approximately 400 girls from elevn states and Japan.

Out of Virginia's ninety-eight counties, 74 will be represented in this class. States other than Virginia represented by the class of '65 are Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Washington, D. C., New York, Florida, Connecticut, West Virginia, California, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania.

The Japanese student will be considered a special student as she already has her degree. She will take English courses, and return to Japan to teach English.

1100 Applications

There were over 1100 applications for the 400 available places. By March 15, the class enrollment had been completed and a waiting list begun. As there is room made for them, girls on the waiting list will be granted a room on the basis of their high school records, standing in their classes, and college board scores.

Many Rejected

In a letter to Virginia's high school principals, Mrs. Watkins, director of admissions, said, "We are greatly distressed that we do not have room for the many well-qualified students who want to come to Longwood next fall. . . . The competition for admission to Longwood College has also necessitated our rejection of a larger number of applicants than usual . . . Our freshman class of 1961-62 will be made up of students mostly from the upper fourth of their high school class."

LC Professors' Prints Displayed

The second annual Virginia Printmakers Exhibition sponsored by the University Union Fine Arts Committee is being presented this week. The Exhibit contains original prints of woodcuts, wood engravings, etchings, and lithographs.

Miss Annie Lee Ross and Mrs. Janice Lemen, two of Longwood's professors, have exhibits in this exhibition. Miss Ross's woodcuts are entitled "Lunchtime" and "St. Francis."

Mrs. Lemen's serigraph is entitled "Purple Pine."

It is hoped that this Printmakers Exhibit will continue over the years to bring to the people of Virginia an excellent representation of works in the Graphic Arts by Virginia Artists.

Home Ec Group To Show Styles

The Longwood Home Economics Club will present a fashion show entitled, "Pretty as a Picture," on May 9 at 8 pm in Jarman.

The garments to be modeled have been made by members of the Home Economic Club. Each student is cordially invited to attend and no admission will be charged.

On Sunday the new members and officers of the club were installed. The officers for the year 1961-62 are, president, Sue Ann Sowers; vice president, Sara Young; secretary, Anne Snead; treasurer, Nell Martin; historian, Judy Giles; and reporter, Elouise Rowser.

May Court, Escorts To Highlight Pageant

By Ann Agee

Saturday, May 6, will bring with it a symbolic revivification of scenes familiar during the War between the States, through interpretive songs, dances, and music, carrying out the original theme, "The Sound of Distant Drums."

Drums Featured

Opening the pageant will be the presentation of the May Court with their cadet escorts, followed by a ballroom dance, circa 1861. Setting the tone for the pageant, and emphasizing the theme, twenty drummer boys will enter, playing snare drums and preforming a dance.

Dances Varied

Various other dances are to be performed by physical education classes and volunteer students. The Plantation Dance will express the way of life of the people involved. The Sword Dance will symbolize the preparation for war, and the Children's Dance will reflect the attitude of the children. The Dance of the Flags will attempt to show the overall feeling of both the North and the South toward the war, the Battle Dance symbolizing the actual combat, and the Dance of the Statues recalling the lives lost to both sides. The dances of the Carpetbaggers, Scalawags, and Mugwumps have been included to symbolize the political and social aspects of the Reconstruction.

Maypole New

Innovations made this year include songs by the college choir, songs by the audience, and a finale. In keeping with the theme, a three-tiered maypole will be used, with streamers of red, white, and blue, in place of the traditional pastel colors.

Directing the May Day preparations have been Bettie Jane Stegall, as chairman, and Nancy Kelly, as business manager, assisted by committee head Winnie Egolf, props; Susan Lane and Laurice Hamlet, costumes; Libby Predmore, music; and Ann Kovacevich, publicity.

Honorary Group Accepts Eleven In Membership

Orchesis, honorary organization of modern dance, initiated eleven apprentices as members in a ceremony, April 26 in the Little Auditorium.

Students are invited to become apprentices if they show an interest in dance through proven ability to perform or manipulate techniques, which most often comes from actual class work in modern dance—Physical Education 231 Movement Fundamentals and Physical Education 232—Modern Dance.

Initiates

The following were initiated as members: Linda Davenport, Dottie Kaiser, Anita Lykken, Mary Rollins, Gaynelle Taylor, Elizabeth Vance, Peggy Waldo, Sue Waters, Sandra Waugh, Lillian Wilkins, and Marty Wyatt. Patricia Duke was initiated as an honorary member of the organization.

Donna Marquette, as president presided with the assistance of Carol Boley, La Verne Collier, Janice Harris, Lena Kay, Gretchen Latchford, Carol Nye, and Sandra Watkins.

Weaver To Head Longwood Circle Of AKG Society

Officers for the Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma recently have been elected for the coming year.

Weaver To Serve

To serve as president is Junior Sandra Weaver, a biology major from Newport News. Sandra is past editor of the Rotunda, publicity director and staff writer for the Colonnade, and a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, Canterbury Association, and the French Club.

Pat Hickey, a junior elementary and social science major from Richmond, has served as president of Freshman Commission, treasurer of her sophomore class, president of the Newman Club, and class representative to Student Government for two years.

Serving as secretary will be Jane Pennington, a music major from Buckingham. Jane has had experience as co-chairman of both Freshman Production and sophomore Circus. She is a member of Phi Mu sorority, the Co-lillion Club, and Sigma Alpha Iota.

SANDRA WEAVER

Treasurer Green

Peggy Green will serve as treasurer for AKG next year. Peggy is a junior English major from Newport News. She also has been elected president of Kappa Delta sorority for next year.

Becky Tuck, a Spanish and English major from Greensboro, North Carolina, will serve as historian. Becky recently has been elected class president for next year, and vice president of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

Torchbearer reporter for the coming year will be Judy Debrich, from Hampton. She is now serving as editor of the Colonnade, junior class historian, and Boxer Eli Theta historian.

A Dining Hall Reminder

It has come to our attention recently that many of the students do not know whether or not food may be taken out of the dining hall. Many of those who do know are disregarding the rule, which is found on Page 47 of the Student Handbook, and which states, "Students must not remove any dishes, silver, napkins, or food without the permission of the Dietitian". The one exception to this rule is fresh fruit.

The three major reasons for this rule are:

1. Some types of food spoil rapidly if they are not kept under refrigeration. If they are eaten after they have spoiled, serious illness can result. Food carried from the dining hall by students is rarely kept in a refrigerator and can spoil very easily if it is not eaten immediately.

2. If food could be taken from the dining hall, too many girls would skip meals and eat tidbits (usually a piece of cake or a roll) brought back to them by friends, thus losing the benefits of three balanced meals a day.

3. If the student body was permitted to take food from the dining hall, it would become such a large-scale operation that a great deal of additional food would have to be bought to replace that which was taken. As a result, room and board rates would have to be raised.

We are asking each of you to remember this rule and abide by it.

—House Council

A Salute To The Boss

The unquestionable success of the faculty and administration's talent show last Thursday proved that it was anything but the "Follies" so labeled originally.

The enthusiastic audience, composed chiefly of students, showed a very genuine appreciation for the time, talent, and good will displayed. The stature of the participants was most certainly elevated; in addition, the spirits of spectators and, in many cases, faculty, received a boost. A very big vote of appreciation goes to our newest campus stars.

Many students also help immeasurably by loaning costumes, by assisting backstage with costumes and props, or by working with the acts. Similarly, the posters and the dining hall banner publicizing this event were willingly — and well — made by students. The Longwood Players were more than generous in loaning costumes, and the Jarman custodian was on hand to help with heavy props. Without all these people, the success of the Follies would not have been possible.

Finally, the student-audience itself deserves commendation for supporting this activity and for helping to swell our growing Faculty Endowment Fund. Longwood College has proved again in this activity that when it comes to a successful and fun-filled evening, "There's No Business like Show Business!"

—Alpha Kappa Gamma

Looking To The Future

Much is said about Longwood spirit and the intangible qualities that embody the symbol of Joan of Arc. We are a student body loyal to our traditions and proud of our past. There are very few, I am sure, who would care to alter any of these things, for they are worthy of our respect and the ideals that all of us would hope one day to obtain. The fact cannot be ignored, however, that Longwood is growing steadily each year, and with this growth comes an inevitable expansion of ideas and thoughts. It will become increasingly difficult to maintain a status quo as the college opens its doors to more and more students.

We are frequently told about maturity, or rather, an evidence of our lack of it. If we are expected to practice these qualities in actuality rather than theory, the responsibilities that create this maturity are a necessity. It will become increasingly impossible to expect our student government to extend a controlling hand to each individual as it has done so often in the past. This is, however, the step that leads to greater self-discipline, and an awareness of ourselves as responsible people.

We can hope that our governing body will realize these things, and that, along with the full cooperation of the entire student body, will provide the adequate measures that Longwood's growth and expassion will require. An honor council, entire in itself, along with two separate bodies that create the laws and sit in judgement of these will be the vital new organs that will facilitate a larger campus life. And to make these new organs a success, all must make an added effort to remain open-minded in thought and action.

It is sincerely wished that each student will continue to hold dear those things which we have taught by the symbol of Joan. But at the same time let us hope that each student and organization will readily accept and admit to those things that will make our college an even finer institution than it now is.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS BY BIBLER

"NICE DAY FOR FLYING, PROFESSOR, I NOTICED TH' SUNDECKS AROUND TH' CAMPUS ARE JUST COVERED WITH GIRLS."

Stray Animals Find Friend In Cat Lover

By Libby Predmore

It's not unusual for Mrs. Charlie Hubbard of Farmville to come home and find a new stray kitten stuck between the screen and the front door or in the living room. She merely makes the newcomer a member of her household, just as she has done all of her life.

"I've loved them all of my life. I think it's something which I inherited from my father and hold of pets keeps Mrs. Hubbard busy, but to her, that's all in the pleasure of looking after the animals. You see, everyone of them is a stray and came to her "sickly and pitiful and needed nursing back to health." Mrs. Hubbard says, "My heart really goes out to one that is completely down and out. I will never buy a pet, because there are too many little things wandering the streets that need a home."

—Staff Photo

FRIEND TO ANIMALS, Mrs. Hubbard, prepares to feed two of her 29 cats.

family," remarked Mrs. Hubbard.

29 Cats, Five Dogs

At present Mrs. Hubbard has twenty-nine cats and five dogs, but of course this number is very unstable, since new strangers are constantly appearing.

It's quite true that her house-

Know Names

All twenty-nine cats know their names and come promptly when called. Among these are Buzzie, Becky, Bob (because of his bobbed tail), Tammy, Jet, Bambie, Ermine, Mitzi and Bitzi.

The oldest of the collection, Honey Bear, is twelve years old. Honey Bear spends much of his time resting on the walk in frout of the Hubbard house and has become almost a landmark to frequent pas-ers-by.

One of the dogs, Whitey, is completely blind. Mrs. Hubbard had Whitey for several years before he lost his sight. At first the dog could not understand this tragedy, and would just sit in his box for days. Eventually he got so he could find his way around the house, and then later, the garden. Soon he was as much of a man-about-town as ever.

Suppertime

Around 4:30 every afternoon, all of the pets instinctively return home, for they know that it is suppertime. After their hearty meal of Puss' n Boots, they retire for the night into their living quarters which are behind he Hubbard household.

Mrs. Hubbard's cats and dogs get along fine together except for an occasional act of jealousy. However, this flare-up is usually quickly settled, because Mrs. Hubbard distributes her love equally to all of her pets.

No Favorites

"I don't have a favorite. They know that I love eacH one of them," she stated. And her little ones certainly should realize this for she gives them each the love, attention, and care which a mother would give to her children. As can easily be seen, they are all one big happy family.

Boerc Eh Thorn Gives Bids To 12 For Next Term

Beorc Eh Thorn, local honorary society in English, has issued spring bids to twelve Longwood upperclassmen.

Among those receiving bids were Pauline Brightwell, Susan Crisman, Niki Fallis, Carole Ferrell, Joyce Grizzard, Dibby Mohr, and Frances Norton.

Nancy Anne Parker, Brenda Raine, Becky Tuck, Becky Wilburn, and Lee Brunette also received invitations to membership.

Initiation for new members was held today.

Students Evaluate Recent Post Article

The following students have presented their views on a recent article on Prince Edward County in The Saturday Evening Post.

Brenda Isbel, a freshman from Portsmouth, made the following remarks.

"In my opinion, the article "Public Schools Died Here" which was recently published in Post magazine is very informative. In most instances the facts presented appear to be accurate but close comparison of the article with other sources indicates slight discrepancies in the statistics used by the author.

"The author's approach to the subject is somewhat confusing. Although the article is definitely slanted it seems to be slanted in both directions. This is, I believe, an attempt to achieve some degree of objectivity. However, the conscientious reader detects this and therefore the effectiveness of the method is destroyed.

"The author seems to have skillfully veiled the facts through his techique of slanting so that they will give the reader the impression he desires. Therefore the reader must be concerned not only with a consideration of the accuracy of the facts but also with the manner in which the facts are presented.

"The article in question will be interpreted differently by each individual who reads it. Because the author has slanted the article it becomes the responsibility of the reader to evaluate the article for himself and decide whether the facts have been misrepresented through false reflections and misrepresentation."

Junior Sandra Weaver from Newport News made the following analysis of the piece.

"The Post article, in my opinion, presented a very perceptive picture of the positions of the whites and Negroes of Prince Edward County to those who already know something of the situation, but not to those who are uninformed. I think that Mr. Goodman, in trying to be objective, became inconsistent and alternated between sympathetic and unsmpathetic attitudes to both positions.

"This may be due to the fact that he obtained the how's and why's of the existing circumstances from both groups and then failed to determine which were accurate, thus causing confusion when the facts were all combined into one article.

"I feel that an unfair picture was painted of both Reverend Griffin and of the other people who are against the closing of the schools. In describing Reverend Griffin as forty-three years old, heavy-set and slightly disorganized, the reader immediately wonders just what kind of disorganized method of leadership he employs.

"Mr. Goodman stated that while he was in Prince Edward he found only one white person . . . speaking against the closing of the schools. Either Mr. Goodman wasn't here very long or he didn't have time to listen to more people. Maybe he found only one person who at the moment had the courage to stand up for his feelings, but there are others who have in the past and will in the future stand up for what they know to be right."

Alice White, a sophomore from Suffolk, said, "After reading the article in The Saturday Evening Post, I felt rather uneasy about the existing situation in Prince Edward County. The article certainly makes the white people in this district seem like tyrants who rule with heavy hands over the Negroes.

"I believe that the article may be somewhat one-sided since it was written by a northerner who must have had definite ideas on his subject before he ever approached Prince Edward County. And yet, there are some very disturbing facts brought out in this article which certainly merit the attention of headstrong Southerners.

"The article presents a clear and sound argument stating that the Negroes are not being treated fairly. The Negroes should have equal rights and facilities in order that they might prove themselves either worthy or unworthy of the white people's respect. I believe that this could be accomplished without integration making it easier for both races to adjust.

"The article also shows how conformity is becoming a great disadvantage to our nation's progress. Any citizen of our nation should be able to express an opinion, and even though his ideas might be disagreeable to others, his opinion should be respected. These are the main things that disturbed me about the article, "Public Schools Died Here."

News Summary

Algiers Revolt Ends, PE Order Requested

By Page Tolleson

Another week gone by sees an end to the Algerian revolt with the surrender of the insurgent leader, General Maurice Challe. The end was hastened by De-Gaulle's orders to wipe out the rebels as necessary, to restore order.

The navy dealt the insurgents their first major military blow when a group of paratroopers tried to march on a big naval base at Oran. A cruiser fired a warning shot and the troops fell back.

Algiers radio reported that "republican law and order" was being reestablished in the capital of the North African territory.

An airborne invasion on key French cities was anticipated, but 41 planes in all since Saturday flew in formation from Algiers to France, their crews remaining faithful to DeGaulle.

Tuesday, the day before the end of the insurrection, the United States offered President DeGaulle "any assistance he might want" to protect his republic from the Algerian rebels. Legal proceedings, that could result in death sentences for all the insurgent leaders, have begun.

The United States Justice Department last Wednesday asked for a federal court order to bar state support of any public schools in Virginia until Prince Edward county schools are reopened on a racially non-discriminatory basis.

The petition asked for court orders restraining the non-maintenance of free and public schools in Prince Edward county and the legality of tuition grants for students attending the privately operated school for whites, the Prince Edward Academy.

The petition also requested that tax credit for contributions to the Prince Edward Foundation not be allowed and another plea against the unconstitutionality in allowing county officials to circumvent the federal court orders. The government called such actions 'unlawful circumvention of such decree.'

Attorney - General Kennedy said, "We have brought this action to protect the integrity of the judical process of the United States." The petition will presumably be presented May 8 at a court hearing on another phase of the Prince Edward case. The complaint was filed in behalf of Prince Edward Negroes by the NAACP.

A Cape Canaveral contractor, Henry Gable, said Wednesday labor unions have done more damage in the nation's missile program than the Communists ever could. Gable said there have been deliberate work slowdowns and inflation of labor costs.

There was no immediate comment from the unions but C. J. Haggerty, president of AFL-CIO building and construction department, said he will probably be on call as witness this week and is ready to answer all questions.

Gable testified that the strikes were used as a form of 'patriotic blackmail' to force payment of needless overtime to workers at Cape Carnaveral and at the Vandenberg Air Force missile base in California.

Adolf Eichman has stated that he is willing to take the stand in his own defense and submit to cross - examination. his chief counsel Dr. Robert Servatius of West Germany said Saturday.

After twelve days on trial before an Israeli tribunal Eichman believes he has a fighting chance to escape hanging. The former Nazi Gestapo officer is on trial as "planner, initiator, organizer, and executor of the 'final solution of the Jewish problem.' "

Eichman's defense is based on the plea that he was merely transportation officer following military orders in deporting Jews to camps where millions were put to death during World War II. He has denied he was ever directly involved in killing a single Jew.

Daylight Saving Time went into effect at 2 a.m. Sunday for about ninety million Americans in sixteen states. DST has been approved in 35 Virginia cities and towns and 24 counties.

Colleges Honor 2 LC Graduates, Williams, Cowles

Two Longwood College alumnae have won awards for doctoral study, according to recent announcements from university graduate schools. Both girls will study for the Ph.D. degree in English.

U. Of Pennsylvania

Roberta Scott Williams of Farmville has been awarded a $2700 University Scholarship by the University of Pennsylvania. She is a 1957 graduate of Longwood and received the M. A. degree in English from the University of North Carolina where she studied under a Carnegie grant.

For the past three years she has been assistant professor of English at Glenville State College, West Virginia.

Wisconsin

Virginia P. Cowles of Minor will be a teaching assistant in English next year at the University of Wisconsin where she will teach one class and pursue graduate studies towards the doctorate. She received the A. B. degree from Longwood in 1956 and the M.A. degree from the University of North Carolina in 1959.

For the past two years she has been instructor in English at Bradford Junior College, Massachusetts. Last year she won a Reader's Digest Foundation Fellowship for summer study at the University of London.

Wisket Match

For a nominal fee of ten cents, the student body once again will have the opportunity to witness another match of skill and wit when the students meet the faculty in what should prove to be a thrilling and- or (hilarious) wisket game! The AA has not selected a definite date thus far, but it is rumored that the event will take place some time next week.

Proceeds will go to the Hockey Camp Fund. Jackie Forrest, Brenda Isbel, and "Lefty" Snyder are in charge of arranging the game.

Corps Volunteer Needs Described

What is the Peace Corps looking for in a Volunteer?

A specific "needed skill" is the first requirement. The Peace Corps was established to respond to requests from host nations.

The range of needed skills is great. Most nations requesting Volunteers will be industrially less developed than the U.S.A. They will want engineers, technicians, teachers, craftsmen and administrators.

Other countries will seek to improve their agricultural system, creating a need for farmers who understand the land and the use of modern implements and for agricultural specialists with college degrees.

Government and political science majors may be in demand by a newly formed nation anxious to establish an effective administration.

Teachers are in short supply in South Asia, Latin America and Africa. Some will be called upon to teach English, others to work in secondary schools. Some nations will want college - level teachers in a wide variety of subjects.

—Staff Photo

DURING GOLF CLASS practice, B. L. Dunn lines up drive.

Orchesis Names Harris To Head Organization During Coming Year

At a recent meeting, April 26, Janice Harris was elected president of Orchesis, honorary and active organization of modern dance at Longwood College. Janice was featured in two compositions of the recent Dance Concert given within the Fine Arts Festival.

Elizabeth Vance was elected vice president, an office which is functioning rather than nominal in name. Elizabeth appeared in several compositions of the recent Dance Concert of the Fine Arts Festival. As a transfer student from Mary Washington College and a student of Floyd Ward before coming to Longwood, she has promise in the modern dance idiom because of the training in ballet.

Her intentions are to include as many of the dance courses in her studies toward a degree as the curriculum will allow. She claims her whole point of view regarding the dance changed when she started taking a theory course, Dance in Our Daily Lives, which helped her to see dance everywhere one looked for it.

Gaynelle Taylor was elected secretary of Orchesis. Gaynelle shows promise in dance, is a sister of a graduate major in physical education, and hopes to make her own mark in the dance.

Patricia Duke was elected honorary member of Orchesis for her fulfillment as treasurer of the club and because of her qualifications as a major in business education. When asked if she would serve again, she willingly without hesitation said she would be happy to do it again.

LC Tennis Team Downs Madison In Match Series

By Lefty Snyder

The varsity tennis team traveled to Madison College Tuesday, April 25, to engage in their first contest of the season; and they arrived back at Longwood declaring a sweeping victory over the "racquet set" at Madison.

Five Matches

Five matches were played, and the Blue and White claimed an easy victory in each one. Barbara Brantley, Clara Lee Parker, and Gladys Patrick, all senior members of the team, each played singles matches.

Lindy Hatch and Ann Egerton, both sophomores, enacted a decisive victory in their doubles match. The remaining doubles match, played by partners Barbara and Gladys Patrick, also proved to be another victory for Longwood as well as a well played game.

Archery Managers For 1961-62 Chosen

Christina Longstreet and Betty Lou Dunn will both serve as the Longwood varsity archery managers for the 1961-62 year.

Members of the varsity team include Lois Peters, Morag Nocher, Flossie Barnard, Carolyn Thorpe, Betty Lou Dunn, and Faye Ripley.

Two Matches

There are two archery matches planned thus far. The first is with Westhampton on May 8, here at Longwood. The second is with Randolph-Macon on May 13, at Randolph-Macon.

Class Teams

Betty Lou Dunn also mentioned that the class archery teams will probably begin their matches very shortly.

Longwood Special
Wilson Tennis Balls
Can of 3 only $2.25
reg. $2.75
Southside Sundry

Place Your Order For CALLING CARDS
and STATIONERY
at
MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
$2.75 and up

Mother's Day
Gifts
Lanscott's Gift Shop

Golf Captures Interest Of Longwood Students

By Lois Peters

As the weather begins to warm, a new sport begins to create enthusiasm at Longwood. Maybe you have blinked warily as you have watched girls tromping around at 8 o' clock in the morning armed with golf bags. If you've wondered what they are doing, just ask them about the required third periods.

Longwood's physical education department offers two golf classes for those students interested in playing. These two classes take care of the beginning and advanced golfers. Both of these sections of golf are taught by Miss Olive Her.

For students who are interested in playing golf, Longwood maintains a 9-hole golf course at Longwood Estate. There is no fee for the Longwood students and only a very small one for Hampden-Sydney students. The physical education department is equipped with clubs that are used by Longwood students. Also transportation to Longwood Estate is furnished by the college.

Before you can advance to Longwood Estate though, there are many things for the beginning golfer to learn. The game of golf has a jargon of its own plus many courtesy rules. This golf jargon can only be understood by fellow golfers. And of course you have to spend many hours on the athletic field to acquire the techniques of the swing, the follow through, and the ability to hit the ball when you swing. When you have finally mastered the techniques, jargon, and rules of golf then you are ready to proceed to Longwood Estate.

Your first day on the golf course can prove to be a very thwarting one. After you ramble around the golf course and finally decide on the starting point, you are already exhausted. After you drive the ball, you face many problems too. You never know which club to use next. Then there is the problem of finding your way from one hole to the other. When you think your frustrations must be coming to an end, trees step right in the flight of the golf ball, creeks manage to hold your golf balls, and the woods reach out and hide them. Finally in complete despair you give up on any lost ball and get a new one.

Even though your first day at Longwood Estate may prove to be very trying, you realize just how much fun it can be!

Longwood Hosts District 4-H Club Demonstrations

The East Central District Four H Club Contest Day was held on Saturday, April 29, at Longwood. Demonstrations in different fields of Home Economics and Agriculture were held.

The Four H-ers, representing sixteen counties, demonstrated their abilities in contests connected with foods, clothing, home improvement, and home grounds beautification. Egg grading, forestry, home electrification and public speaking were some of the other contests.

The demonstrations were held in the audio-visual department, the auditorium and the home economics building. Miss L. Bernard and Mrs. N. Griffin served as judges in the home economics building.

The two top winners of each contest will go to Blacksburg in June to compete in the State Short Course Contest. The winners there will receive state awards.

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS

BETWEEN FRIENDS...
There's nothing like a Coke!

Get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of
The Coca-Cola Company by

Lynchburg Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., Lynchburg, Va.

College Ten-Year Development Plan To Include Construction, Renovation

By Mary Byrd Micou

On March 23 the Virginia State Capital Outlay Commission visited Longwood to hear building requests and the ten-year development program on which it is based.

Discussion and Tour

During a brief discussion and a tour of the campus President Lankford unfolded long range building and renovation plans for the college and requested $6,079,267 from the state to carry out these plans. Of this amount, $4,519,267 would come from the state's general fund. The remaining $1,560,000 would be raised in bond issues.

Dr. Lankford explained that the administration expects an eight hundred student increase in enrollment during the next ten years. This increase will raise the total college enrollment to approximately 2,000. The $6,079,267 would take care of the necessary changes to accommodate the enlarged student body.

Five New Dorms

Among the necessary developments planned to meet future needs are five new dormitories, to house approximately 160 students each. One new dormitory would be built during the next biennium, two in the second biennium, and two in the third. Student Building would be remodeled and converted completely to dormitory rooms.

The training school, now being used as a temporary library, would be remodeled for college classrooms and laboratories.

Another wing is planned for Jarman Hall to accommodate music, drama, and dance facilities.

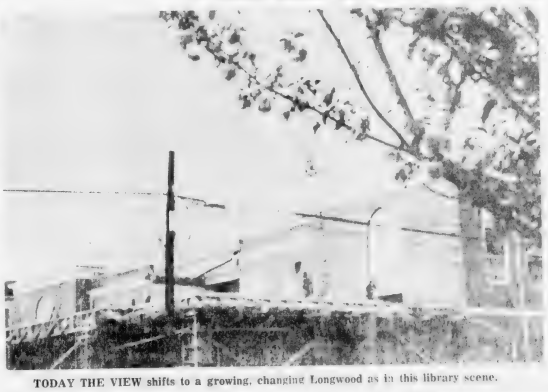
Activities Building

A student activities building is tentatively planned to take care of those organizations and activities now housed in Student Building.

The next construction on campus will be a new physical education building. Workers will break ground for the new building sometime this year.

Second Biennium

During the second biennium a new athletic field would be added. Additions would be made to the training school. Second and third floor Ruffner Hall would be remodeled for administrative office space. Utilities would be improved and the Post Office floor would bere modeled.



Parking Lots

During the third biennium pullities would be improved, tennis courts added, and parking lots completed. Although present kitchen facilities are adequate, the college dining area would have to be expanded.

More definite plans for development will be released as appropriations are established and land is purchased.

LONGWOOD, in 1898, shows the influence of Victorian architecture.

TODAY THE VIEW shifts to a growing, changing Longwood as in this library scene.

Longwood's History Story Of Contrasts

(Excerpts reprinted from the Alumnae News Bulletin of Longwood College, December 1955)

Longwood College, the oldest institution for the higher education of women in Virginia and third oldest in the United States, was established in 1839 as the Farmville Female Seminary. Since its beginning Longwood has developed from one small building in the town of Farmville to fifteen acres of campus in town and a country estate of 113 acres.

Oldest Building

Although there is some confusion as to the whereabouts of the original building, early board meeting minutes indicate that the oldest building (built in 1839) on the campus is the west part of the Rotunda where the Virginia Room and the Dean of Women's Office are now located.

Most campuses of older colleges display a heterogeneous architecture of classical, Victorian, Gothic, or modern forms which reflect prevailing tastes at the time various buildings were constructed. It is a miracle that this did not happen to Longwood in the 116 years of the development of its physical plant.

And it is only because of a remarkable coincidence that the architecture of the College remains today essentially the Virginia Georgian style. The same Ionic Porticoes, red brick facade, and decorated cornice of dentils suggested in the original building begun in 1839 have been reproduced in many of the later buildings.

It is not generally known that when the original building of the Farmville Female Seminary was incorporated in a much larger structure as the campus grew between the years of 1839 and 1902, the style of architecture was changed from Georgian to Victorian.

A photograph of 1898 shows a characteristic Victorian tower, pointed arches, and chimneys which give the effect of battlements. However, when West Wing was built in 1903, Dr. Jarman at the same time had the facade of the main building completely renovated to its original form—Virginia Georgian.

The influence of rounded red brick arches, green - shuttered windows, second - story balustrades, a rotunda, and colonnades was brought by Dr Jarman during his student days at the University of Virginia. Dr. Jarman had the Victorian tower at Longwood replaced by the Rotunda and had architects employ other Jeffersonian patterns in all of the buildings erected during his presidency. As a result, the campus now shows a neo-classical influence.

Student Building

In 1907 the Student Building, probably the most popular project ever undertaken at Longwood, was begun. The students, faculty members, alumnae and other interested persons made the building possible through their contributions.

The State of Virginia appropriated money for the building on certain individuals and organizations contributed over $100,000. In 1923 just before the building was completed, the campaign for money reached a climax as everyone was caught in its spirit. Money came from unusual sources indeed — in chapel on March 6, 1923, members of the local Ku Klux Klan presented a small box containing five $25 gold pieces to Dr. Jarman to show their interest in the project. The Esco Theatre gave several benefit performances, the proceeds of which went to the Student Building Fund.

At the same time, the College suffered its first major fire. As the Student Building was nearing completion in November, 1923, the Dining Hall burned in a fire which destroyed the South Wing of the College. Within a year, however, the dining hall was rebuilt.

The Colonnade connecting White House and Student Building was built in 1926. A senior dormitory (now Main Cunningham) was built in 1928 at a cost of $125,000. This provided dormitory space for 136 girls.

Longwood Estate was purchased by the College in 1928, repaired, and was opened as a recreation center in 1929. In 1931 the first May Day celebration, now a college tradition, was held there.

Pi Delta Epsilon Elects Officers For 1961-1962

Pi Delta Epsilon, the national journalism fraternity, elected officers last Tuesday night, April 25.

The incoming president is Mary Lee Warriner. She is a junior biology major from Amelia. Mary Lee is first vice-president for Sigma Kappa social sorority next year. She is one of the senior representatives to the Virginian staff and is a member of Lychnos science and mathematics fraternity.

Judy Detrich was elected vice-president. She is editor of the Colonnade and historian of Beore Eh Thorn, the honorary English fraternity. Judy is historian for the class of 1962. She is a member of the Cotillion Club and works on the Rotunda Staff. She was tapped by AKG in the spring. Judy is a junior English major from Hampton.

Mary Rob Harris is secretary. She is president of the Lychnos Society next year. Mary Rob was business manager of the Virginian this semester and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary society in education. She is a member of SEA and on House Council this semester Mary Rob is a junior general science major from Hampton.

Jean Pass is the new treasurer. She is president of Delta Zeta social sorority next year. Jean is literary editor of the Virginian, a member of the Cotillion Club, the Richmond Club and belongs to SEA. She is a member of the H2O Club. Jean is a junior elementary major from Chester.

Sandra Weaver is the incoming editor. She is president of AKG next year. Sandra is past editor of the Rotunda and is publicity director of the Colonnade. She is a member of the Canterbury Association. Sandra is a junior biology major from Newport News.

Greeks Enjoy Varied Calendar Of Events

By Betty Rice Dawson

During the past month the calendar of events of the social sororities on campus includes initiation, installation of officers, banquets, parties, and other activities.

AGD

April

24—Pledges gave members a party in the chapter room.
28—Members gave pledges a party in the chapter room.
29—"International Reunion Day" celebrated with a banquet, outing, and cabin party at Longwood Estate.

ASA

April

12—Initiation after which the chapter had dinner at Cedarbrook.
18—Installation of officers in the chapter room.
22—State Day in Richmond. Twelve members attended.

May

Picnic is being planned for the senior ASA members at Sydnor's Lake.

AST

April

15—Intermission party for the Cotillion Dance.
24—Pledges gave actives a party in the chapter room. During the party the pledges presented a gift to the chapter.
27—Initiation of new members.
28—Weiner roast at the Methodist Student Center.

May

2—Installation of officers.
16—Senior Banquet in the Tea Room.

DZ

April

18—Installation of officers.
20—Card party in Richmond with Richmond Alumnae.

May

4—Banquet to be held in the Tea Room.

KD

March

27—Pledges gave actives a party in the chapter room preceding Easter Vacation.

April

22—Initiation. The week-end activities included a banquet, informal party at the home of Miss Stubbs, KD advisor, and a breakfast.
25—Installation of officers.

PM

April 28-30

District Convention held at the Raleigh Hotel in Washington, D. C. Attending were Missy Powers, Barbara Waters, Stuart King, Danette Blundell, and Judy Smith.

May 13, 14

—Activities of the week-end will include Installation of Gamma Iota Colony, initiation Saturday afternoon, followed by a banquet Saturday night. There will be a Tea Sunday afternoon in honor of the new initiates.

SK

April

18—Installation of officers in the chapter room.
29—Initiation and spring banquet.

May

8—The new initiates will give the other members a pizza party in the chapter room.
9—Weiner roast given chapter by patrons.

SSS

April

20—Founders Day was celebrated by a banquet.
28—Initiation and the chapter members spent the night at Longwood Estate.

ZTA

April

15—State Day was held in Bethesda, Maryland.
21—Initiation of new members.
22—Picnic and pajama party at the home of Mrs. Robert Merritt, Zeta advisor.
25—Standards Program — Mrs. Griffin spoke on wedding etiquette.
26—Installation of officers in chapter room.

Patronize
The Rotunda
Advertizers

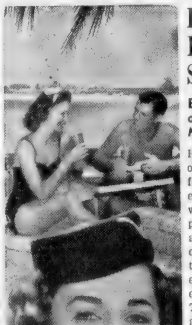
Church News

Wes-Fel Installs 1961-62 Officers In April 30 Meet

On Sunday, April 30, the Westminister Fellowship had as guest speaker Dr. John W. Molnar, head of the college music department. Dr. Molnar spoke on the subject of hymnology.

As part of the program, the officers for the coming year were installed. The incoming officers are president, Dudley Raine; vice president, Martha Warren; secretary, Lucy Swink; and treasurer, Robert Arehart.

After the program, the fellowship members attended a social hour at the home of their minister and his wife, Reverend and Mrs. J. Hogg Smith.



On Sunday, May 7, the Wes-Fel will travel to Natural Bridge for a picnic and the evening spiritual program under the bridge. Any Wes-Fel member who plans to attend must sign up on the church bulletin board by Friday, May 5.

The last Wes-Fel program for this year will be a communion service, to be conducted by Dr. Ben R. Lacy of Hampden Sydney, with Reverend Smith assisting.

AIRLINE OPPORTUNITY

BE AN EASTERN STEWARDESS

Enjoy Five Weeks of FREE Training in Magnificent Miami

Here is the career opportunity of your life-time. A fabulous future awaits you as an Eastern Air Lines Stewardess . . . with travel, prestige, good pay! You'll be trained at Miami Springs Villas . . . America's most beautiful stewardess training center — where you'll enjoy swimming, golf and the enchanting resort atmosphere. To qualify for consideration as an Eastern Air Lines Stewardess, you must be single, 20 years of age (girls age 19½ may apply for future consideration), 5'2" to 5'8" tall, weight in proportion to height, at least 20/40 vision without corrective lenses. You must be a high school graduate. Ability to speak Spanish and French, although not required, is a point in your favor.

Now interviewing for current and future openings!

SEE: Mr. T. I. Truttman
LOCATION: Placement Bureau
DATE: Wednesday, May 10, 1961
TIME: Sign Up In Placement Office

Or Write To:

A. J. REID, Regional Employment Manager
Eastern Air Lines, Inc.
Miami International Airport
Miami 48, Florida

Library
Longwood College
Farmville, Virginia

Exam Period May 25-June 1

The Rotunda

Commencement Exercises June 3 and 4

VOLUME XL | Longwood College, Farmville, Va., May 10, 1961 | No. 20

Capacity Crowd

Weather Moves 'Distant Drums' To Jarman Hall

By Ginny Gilmore

Because of wet ground and the threat of more rain, the annual May Day pageant Saturday was moved from the Dell to Jarman Auditorium. A capacity crowd turned out to see a revivification of memorable scenes recalling the Civil War.

The pageant opened with the traditional crowning of the May Queen, Fran Gallahan. The attendants, wearing identical white dresses with pastel lace inserts, were escorted to the stage by VMI cadets.

Drummer Boys

After the crowning ceremony, the "sound of distant drums" shifted the setting back to the time when rumors of war between the North and South were uppermost in the minds of the people. Drummer boys formed different formations to varying cadences, wearing black knickers and red suspenders.

During this time, the sounds of happy folk and children enjoying a prosperous land could be heard. Plantation workers, dressed in field clothes, danced together while little girls in pantaloons and hair ribbons danced with little boys in short trousers and bow ties.

Division

Then came the division between the North and South, portrayed by dancers in red, white and blue costumes marched to form a Confederate flag. Soon proud soldiers readied to go off to war to defend their cause. Sword dancers in ruffled shirts danced proudly to show their assurance of a quick victory.

War brought about a shortage of money, its value deflated. Dancers in money bags covered with bills shotlished together to portray its decreasing value.

As the war continued, battles became more desperate with each side trying to hold out a little longer to insure their victory. This determination was shown by Northern and Southern troops marching doggedly into battle. As their battle ended, they made way for Generals Lee and

(Continued on page 3)

Picnic

The annual faculty-administration picnic will be held at Longwood Estate on Tuesday, May 16.

In compliance with custom, retiring members of the faculty and administration of the college are honored. Being recognized this year will be Miss Jessie Patterson.

Senior Banquet Set For May 15 By Sophomores

The Senior Banquet will be held May 15 at 7:30 p.m. in a section of the dining hall marked off especially for the banquet. The banquet is a special dinner given by the sophomores in honor of and for the senior class.

Sophomore co-chairmen for the banquet are Ann Agee and Niki Fallis. Their committee chairmen are entertainment, Sally Sims and Ann Peters; favors, Mary Beth Olson and Gari Dickson; table decorations, Susan Lane; programs, Jo Ann White and Josie O'Hop; decorations, Margaret Vaughan and Betty Lou Dunn; flowers, Weezie Powell and Vanetta Remaine. Senior chairman for the Banquet is Libby Arehart.

The decorations will be eight or nine framed pictures set on easels. The color scheme, which will be carried out both in decorations and table decorations, will be green and white.

Entertainment

The entertainment will be presented in three parts and all entertainment will be by sophomores. First, there will be a singing group of six. Following this, there will be a poem presented by Rosa Petuit, "Ode to the Seniors." Last on the entertainment program will be a ten minute skit centered around the theme.

The order of the program will be the invocation, the welcome given by class president Pat Southworth, the entertainment, main course, and last on the program, the farewell given by Pat Southworth.

172 Seniors To Graduate In June 4 Commencement

—Staff Photo

GETTING READY for Senior Class-Day activities are J. Harris, class historian and P. Southworth, class president.

Weekend To Feature Traditional Program

By Gayle Arnn

It is with paradoxical emotions of anticipation and regret that 172 seniors of Longwood College will make their last solemn march down the aisles of Jarman auditorium. The invaluable knowledge that has been accumulating during their four years of hard work will be accounted for in their diplomas, the guide to even broader horizons.

Essence

This in a broad sense is the essence of commencement at Longwood College — a tradition to be continued this year for the seventy-seventh time — a tradition filled not only with mixed emotions, but more concretely with various traditional activities.

Commencement activities for the 172 candidates for degrees will begin Saturday, June 3, at 2 p.m. with Senior Class-Day exercises, the first of which is the traditional daisy chain; at this time the seniors and their little sisters form a '61 on the front lawn.

Address

Highlighting the exercises will be the commencement address to be given this year by Leonard G. Muse, president of the State Board of Education, whose topic will be "Step to the Music You Hear."

Pat Southworth of Fredericksburg, president of the class, will present the welcoming address; Judy Harris, Newport, R. I., will give the class history, followed by presentation of gifts by Katie Mae Bolt.

Reception

A reception is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at the president's home and at 10:30 the traditional lantern parade will be staged on campus. During this parade the seniors' little sisters march behind them, carrying lanterns, into the Rotunda where songs are sung.

The baccalaureate sermon will be given at 11 a.m. June 4 in Jarman auditorium by Dr. A. H. Hollingsworth, Jr., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Roanoke.

Candidates

Of the 172 seniors, 52 are candidates for bachelor of science degrees in elementary education, 47 for bachelor of science in secondary education, and twenty for bachelor of arts in secondary education.

There are 27 candidates for bachelor of science in business education and ten for bachelor of science in home economics education.

Six each are candidates for bachelor of music education and bachelor of arts, and four are candidates for bachelor of science.

Honor graduates will be announced at commencement exercises.

3,000 Applicants

Smith To Model In College Issue Of Mademoiselle

By Bobbi Goodman

Brenda Smith, a sophomore from Norfolk, will represent Longwood College in the August issue of Mademoiselle Magazine.

Brenda's application to model was submitted in March to the editors, and she was one of thirty girls selected from 3,000 applicants to go to New York for a fitting in April.

College Issue

From the thirty, a number

BRENDA SMITH

were selected to model in the college issue of the publication in the fall. Brenda returned to New York last week for final photographs.

The Mademoiselle model is a history major, a member of the Cotillion Club, and was a representative to May Court this year. Brenda has previously modeled for Norfolk department stores, but this is the first time she has ever been featured in a national magazine.

Fabulous Experience

Brenda says that going to New York was a fabulous experience but her main fear right now is that "I'll probably have to put on my bifocals to find my picture in the magazine." The editors of Mademoiselle, however, have reassuringly scheduled her for a full page spread.

Griggs Assists

1962 Virginian Staff Announced By Elliott

Carolyn Elliott, editor-in-chief of the 1962 Virginian has announced her staff for the coming year. Assisting her as assistant editor is Cissie Griggs.

Carol Benton will act as assistant business manager to Mary Leach Elmore. Jean Bass will serve as literary editor and will have Susan Rollins as her assistant.

Photography editor, Janet Wright, will be aided by Ann McCants. Joan Lord and Lewan Rippey will be the sophomore representatives. Junior representatives will be Wanda Barnett and Anne Friedman.

Mary Rob Harris, Jean Cloud, and Ann Smith will act as senior representatives. Typists for the Virginian will be Anna White and Joyce Waldaburger. Other staff members are Peggy Green, Jerry Clark, Mary Lee Warriner, and Libby Predmore.

—Staff Photo

MAY QUEEN. Fran Gallahan, watches May Day Festivities with escort, William Mizell and Cadet Dave Plageman.

Lankfords Hosts

AKG Recognizes Campus Leaders At Annual Picnic

On Wednesday, May 17, Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership fraternity, will give a picnic to recognize all new presidents of organizations. Dr. and Mrs. Lankford will serve as host and hostess at their home where the picnic is to be given.

Workshop

In past years the fraternity has been a leadership workshop but this year it will be a social event. This is the fourth year AKG has sponsored such an event.

Mrs. Kathleen Cover, advisor to AKG, was invited along with Miss Elizabeth Burger, Miss Virginia West, and Miss Florence Stubbs.

This is AKG's last event for the year.

Business Society Founders Visit

Four of the founders of Delta Rho chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national honorary business education fraternity, returned to the Longwood campus May 6 to participate in pledge and initiation services.

Graduates of last year's class, the four are Miss Christine Jones, of West Point; Miss Nancy Mills, Vienna; Mrs. Evelyn King Thompson, LaCrosse, and Mrs. Mary Eustace Smith of Walkersville, Maryland.

Two additional founders, Miss Frances Norton and Miss Frances Weaver, now students at Longwood, were initiated at the installation ceremonies of the new chapter on April 14.

To The Seniors

A part of our college is leaving. A part of a fine network of interacting personalities grown and developed to form a dynamic institution is being torn away. Another segment will grow to replace the segment that is lost, but the end result cannot be the same. Year after year, it is never the same.

The students who leave and do not return will leave their imprint upon the college in the ambitions they bequeathed to underclassmen, in their services to the school, and in friendships. They are leaving a way of life behind. But they are taking with them a part of our life and we, too, shall continue to grow and change.

This is the tragedy and the beauty of our existence here. We have lived as if it were forever, and it is only until graduation day. We shall remember the Class of 1961 because with them we shared a unique experience. Together we were Longwood College.

Our thought for the seniors upon commencement is not goodbye. It is a hope that each of us, as individuals and as a college, shall look for something of beauty that has come of our time spent together, and that we shall carry it with us when we leave.

Who Is Joan Of Arc?

In 1431, Joan of Arc, a village girl from the Vosges, was burned for heresy, witchcraft, and sorcery. Joan's history did not end with her death; instead, it began there. Who she was and what she did has become the subject of controversy and the fuel for the imagination of people ever since; her story has yielded to the romantic notions of Mark Twain and to the genius of Bernard Shaw. Not only creative work, but also standard works of reference succumb to the melodramatic legends of the wicked bishop and the martyr-maiden of France.

Likewise the microcosm of Longwood College succumbs to the story of Joan of Arc. Five hundred and thirty years have passed since Joan's life ended; yet there are those who believe that Joan of Arc exerts an influence here today. The question is what has been made of the Joan legend here. Besides those who take Joan's story quite literally, there are those who regard her as a symbol of the status quo to which all should comform, unquestioningly. Too, there are those who twist the ideals of Joan of Arc to fit their own ideas, and do so without any consistency or honesty. These people misinterpret or misunderstand what it is about Joan of Arc that has instilled admiration.

They may be shocked to discover that she was a non-conformist. At seventeen, Joan left the farm to induce Charles VII of France to entrust her with the leadership of an army against English invaders. Her military successes crowed a king and led to her capture and ultimately to her death. Among other things, Joan refused to accept the specific woman's lot, and dressed and fought and lived as men did.

Most significant of the things she has become is symbolic of all people who have the courage to define their convictions and to act upon them, preferring to die, if necessary, rather than to conpromise what they feel to be right. Joan was attractive in the fifteenth century because she was not malicious, selfish, cowardly, or stupid. Her story is attractive today because it embodies ideals worth striving for. Joan of Arc is not a goddess to be bowed before, instead she is a symbol of those qualities which she considered of value.

Desecration of this symbol does not occur when someone objects to the statue of Joan of Arc which is placed in the Rotunda, or when someone stands up for a personal conviction which contradicts the "spirit of Longwood". Those who misunderstand Joan of Arc are those who shroud her with a cloak of awe and mysticism, proclaiming that Joan of Arc is their example, while at the same time failing to search for personal "visions" or simultaneously sacrificing their convictions to that fickle will o' the wisp, pubic opinion.

—JVD

Drums Are Silent

The drums are stilled, the costumes are put away, and the lines of the script and song are only silent thoughts never to be repeated in a May Day program again. What still does remain, however, and will remain for many years to come, especially in our minds, is the spirit and cooperation with which it was presented.

At the last minute the rain may have dampened the Dell, but it only gave the cast, the committees, and everyone else more incentive to make our program a success. For this we wish to say a sincere thank you. There were times when everything went wrong — when we complained, yelled, screamed, and even pulled our hair. We ask that the crimes be understood and not held against us, for we were only striving for the best possible May Day. Come next May when the work roll is called, may our thought will be with you; come the day, however, we'll be back. With umbrellas, just in case! Thank you again.

—May Day Committee

—Staff Photo

CUTTING UP IN ANATOMY CLASS, M. Burroughs probes into the intestinal mesenteries.

Young Girls' Fancies See Visions Of Lab

By Mary Beth Olson

Oh joy! It's Thursday afternoon at Longwood C. The sun is shining, the birds are singing, the grass is growing.

Favorite Shirt

I don my favorite white shirt —the one that's got the big blue ink stain on the left pocket, the mustard on the right sleeve, and the trememdous grease spot on the shoulder. I tried to remodel it by taking the collar off and cutting off the sleeve above the mustard. It didn't help very much.

Now where did I put my drawing pencil . . . in the drawer? Nope. I remember, I stuck it in my glasses case. Where did I put my glasses case? Oh yes, in my raincoat pocket! Let me see . . . the raincoat? It must be in the closet. Darn, I wish I didn't have to tie the closet door shut!

Lab Paper, Manual

I guess I'd better locate my lab paper, too . . . and my notebook . . . and my lab manual . . . and my dissecting kit . . . and my colored pencils . . . and my cigarettes. Oops! I'll need a dime for a coke.

Gosh, it's such a pretty day. There sure are a lot of people on the roof. I bet I could get a terrific tan lying up there. Oh dear! It's two o'clock . . . I'm off!

* * *

I remember the science building—red brick with three steps up to the door. The corridors are dark and cool. The lab has nine tables and a large aquarium. There in the sink, are all the specimens with name tags on each one.

Formaldehyde

I remember the "unforgettable" smell of formaldehyde, the clank of instruments, the look of awe on aspiring biologists' faces, but most of all I remember the people.

There was Sandra Weaver garbed in a striking black rubberized apron, wielding her favorite scalpel. Her hands are a living Platex ad—"I dreamed I dissected a turtle in my Platex rubber gloves." She insists that they prevent what she calls "formaldehyde rot."

Judy Tucker, a crutch at her right hand, is crouched over her specimen. In one hand she holds a pencil—poised and ready to write—in the other hand she holds an "ice cold" coke.

Chrysemys Picta

Keaton Holland drowzily smokes a cigarette as she stares at the injected insides of a Chrysemys Picta. Barclay Woodward and Mary Lee Warriner mumble to one another as they pry, pull, push, punch, and puncture their vicitms.

Ann Howell and Jane Martin listen to the radio—music to dissect by? Shirley Harman gives her cheerful monologue — "A ventral median incision? Is the "Ventral" the top or the bottom? Where's the median line? This little blue thing here? Oh, it's not, huh? Oh, my gracious!"

* * *

That sun's pretty hot. I didn't have that cut to spare. I should never have done it! Gretch, would you pass the sun tan lotion?

Classmates Depart To Enter New Roles

By Judith Pharr

What are people doing? Where are they going after leaving Longwood this June? This is a topic currently discussed on our campus. It's a question all are asking.

Many of our classmates are entering the state of matrimony. Among them are blonds (said to be preferred by gentlemen) such as Mac Brown, Bobbie Hughes, Mary Mercer Wright, Sue Gossett, Mary Dire Grayson, Lee Burnette, Carol Buckner and Susan Kelly.

Those not so fortunate as to be blonds are still faring quite well. Among them are Cherry Gorham, who is planning to be married in July; Jane Price and Dudley Brooks, who will take the "big step" in August; and Judy Pollard who will be a "Mrs." in January.

Quite a few girls who are seen every day in the dorms and throughout the campus won't be anywhere near Longwood in the next few months. Virginia Van de Reit, a perky senior, will be moving to Arizona immediately following an August wedding, while Bobbie Hughes will set up housekeeping in Rhode Island. Adela Boyer will be playing the dual role of a Florida college student and housewife.

Others entering matrimonial bonds this summer are Poo Butterworth, Gretchen Zimmerman, and Fran Gallahan.

Not all of the "Longwood Ladies," however, have marital interests. Josie O'Hop will begin working for the Central Intelligence Agency in Washington, DC; Jane Brook and Gail Deaver are transferring to Pan American business college in Richmond; Carol Cutler has been accepted at the University of Virginia, along with Wendy Warren.

Sandra Fcrebee has taken advantage of a wonderful opportunity by accepting a teaching position in Alaska on one of our naval bases; Betty Jane Stegall has secured a position in the much sought after Fairfax County; Betty Jane Allgood and Barbara Chaffin have signed contracts to teach elementary school in Yorktown; and Dottie Gills is planning to be an airline stewardess for American Airlines.

Many girls will be leaving Longwood in June — graduating seniors as well as members of the junior, sophomore, and freshman classes. All are leaving behind friends and memories, but so much lies ahead . . .

PTA To Present Dance Program

The Farmville PTA through the Floyd Ward School of Dance is presenting a dance recital in Jarman Hall Friday, May 12, at 8 p.m. The benefits of the recital will go to the PTA.

Two Longwood students, Lena Kay, a sophomore from Newport News, and Nancy Wallace, a senior from Norfolk, designed the costumes and arranged the choreography.

The school is attended by local children from four years old to teen age.

The first act of the recital will be "Persian Fantasy." The second act will be "Tropical Holiday." A cha cha and a rumba will be performed by the ballroom dance class. Nancy will perform a tap dance; Lena, her Persian dance.

Peppered Roof Heralds Arrival Of Golden Rays

By Becky Tuck

With the first reasonably warm rays of sunshine that appear intermittently from behind the snow clouds of late February begins the "roof season."

During the initial weeks of the season, only a few brave blue girls dare to tan more than their noses, but as the temperature rises, the roofs of the dormitories begin to resemble massive checkerboards of blankets and prone bodies, and the young girls' fancies turn to thoughts of a golden tan.

It is important for one to realize however, that the life of a "roofer" is not an easy one, and any aspirant to the title should be thoroughly acquainted with the hard work and hazards through which she must suffer in order to be successful in her venture. Therefore, let us review a typical day in the career of a "roofer."

At approximately 9:55 a.m., the general alarm, "To the roof—the sun's shining," is sounded, and several hundred girls rush dutifully to their rooms to collect their supplies. Professionals know to gather a blanket, baby oil, sunglasses, money, cigarettes, three books of matches, peroxide, a bottle of water, a radio, a pillow, cards, a book of some sort, and stationery the previous night to prevent their missing any valuable rays. Standard attire is brief underwear, but a few girls appear in postage stamp bathing suits or a few scarves. At 10:00 a.m. the "Roofers" convene and choose their stations. (The ones by the walls go fast!) After oiling herself, pouring peroxide on her forelocks, and tuning her radio to the best static, the "roofer" begins to concentrate on the day's work— to get burned. At the beginning of the season, she is careful not to get more than a second degree burn, but as time passes and others begin to look browner, she takes no precautions. A highlight in the day's activities is the election of a "rec" girl, who is responsible for remembering the orders of at least eight of her friends, juggling numerous pepsis and sandwiches, and distributing the correct change to everyone.

The afternoon hours seem to be most hazardous for the "roofer." She experiences at least 30 seconds of mental agony when she is forced to decide whether or not she will cut her afternoon lab; birds invariably fly lower; amateur "roofers" shade her as they leave their positions; the tar begins to bubble; paper cups are blown about by gusts of wind; and ogling Hampden Sydney boys focus their binoculars on her as they hang precariously from a circling plane.

After suffering for at least five hours, the weary "roofer" staggers to her room, goes through the daily ritual of comparing tans, and applies a generous coating of sun-burn lotion. Yes, the life of a "roofer" is a hard one, and her only reward is a lovely golden tan that fades after five days of the monsoon season.

LITTLE MAN on CAMPUS by BIBLER

Spaceman Returns, Ambassador Reports

By Page Tolleson

Astronaut Alan B. Shepard returned safely to earth Friday after being launched 115 miles into space — a perfect flight that gave the United States a mighty stride forward in the space race with Russia.

The 6 by 9 foot space capsule reached a speed of 5,100 miles an hour before plunging back down into the Atlantic 302 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral, where it was picked up by a helicopter.

The doctors who monitored Shepard's condition by radio during the flight—which subjected him to stresses up to eleven times that of normal gravity—reported the lean, muscular Navy commander was probably the calmest man in the whole operation.

President Kennedy telephoned his congratulations within minutes after the astronaut's arrival on the carrier.

Premier Khrushchev announced Saturday that bilateral negotiations on disarmament between the Soviet Union and the United States would take place "in a short time." Although Khrushchev assailed the "aggressive imprecialist circles in the West," his remarks about the United States were regarded as remarkably mild in tone.

They in no way reflected the vituperation heaped on the Kennedy administration during the last several weeks — especially since the Cuban invasion.

The flat assertion that his government was preparing for disarmament negotiations with the United States, and the caution with which he discussed other East-West problems, including Laos, indicated that Khrushchev might once again be trying to swing the pendulum toward improved relations with the United States. He did warn that if the United States "unleashes aggression against Cuba," it would face heavy consequences.

Attorney-General Robert Kennedy spoke at Athens, Georgia Saturday with a speech on civil rights in which he dealt with the Prince Edward County, Virginia school case. He dealt specifically with strong Southern criticism of his recent legal action on the school situation in Prince Edward county.

Kennedy has asked the federal courts to force reopening of the county's public schools, closed to avoid desegregation. Kennedy said the Justice Department is not attempting to close Virginia's public schools but that "our position is quite clear. We are upholding the law." Kennedy further stated that, "I cannot believe that anyone can support a principle which prevents more than a thousand children from attending public schools—especially when this step was taken to circumvent the orders of the country."

Roving Ambassador W. A. Harriman returned from an eleven day, seven-country Asian mission Saturday to report that hopes for a neutralized Laos now apparently rest with Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Harriman said that all leaders he had talked with had agreed on the need for unifying and neutralizing Laos after the establishment of a cease fire.

President Kennedy said Friday the government is considering the question of supplying military forces for use against Communist encroachment in South Viet Nam. In a news conference, Kennedy also touched on subjects such as Cuba, Udall, the international picture, Latin America, minimum wages, and missiles.

May Day

(Continued from page 1)

Grant to meet and declare peace.

Surrender

After the surrender of the South, the sorrow continued, as grief-stricken families and friends mourned the deaths of those who had died. A pause in the joy created by peace took place as anguished mourners paid tribute to dead heroes in the Statue Dance.

Although the war was over and both sides rejoiced, hard times beset the South with the control of the Carpetbaggers, Mugwumps and Scalawags. Carpetbaggers with their sure supply of money and Scalawags, with hopeful promises, tried to lure the doubtful Mugwumps to their sides. Finally, they split up and each went off to his chosen side.

May Pole

After many years of struggling to again create a prosperous nation, the new era starts. May Pole dancers skipped around a May Pole with red, white, and blue streamers in matching costumes.

In the finale, the entire cast recalled the words of Abraham Lincoln and his hope for a united, democratic nation.

Alpha Psi Omega Awards 'Oscars' For Stage Work

Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity, has announced the "oscar" awards given yesterday in assembly.

Receiving the award for best actress was Neal Banks, for her portrayal of Hedda Gabler in Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler," presented by the Players last fall. Neal is a member of the Longwood Players and has received a bid from Alpha Psi Omega.

Al Ross, a Hampden - Sydney freshman, was voted best actor by the members of the Longwood Players. He portrayed Major Petkoff in the spring play, "Arms and the Man."

Recognized as best worker was Junior Ginnia Chapman. Ginna has served as assistant director for "Hedda Gabler," and as technical director for "Arms and the Man" and "The Man Who Died Laughing." She is a member of the Longwood Players and Alpha Psi Omega.

—Staff Photo

PREPARING for student-faculty wisket game are S. King, V. Taylor, and L. Taylor.

—Staff Photo

AFTER THREE YEARS AT LONGWOOD, Miss Barbara Dowd is preparing to leave and teach at Memphis State.

Randolph Macon Offers African Research Class

Fourteen students at Randolph-Macon Woman's College may soon be experts on the most expertless political hotbox in the world. They're members of the college's recently launched course on Africa South of the Sahara—one of the first classes of its kind at any women's college.

Strickland

Dr. Shirley Strickland, course instructor, has gone to extensive efforts to make the course informing, stimulating, and valuable. An assistant professor of sociology and anthropology, she spent all of last summer doing trial research at New York's Public Library. Earlier she attended an African Symposium with Ralph Bunche, noted African authority, Julius Nyerere, chief minister of Tanganyika, and others.

Rare Volumes

During Dr. Strickland's New York research she was able to find and purchase a rare 20-volume set on basic cultures. In addition, she recommended 35 other books which were obtained by the R-MWC library. These, combined with the college's regular materials on Africa, provide substantial information on at least 20 major tribes and countries. Few college libraries have more.

The last half of the course will consist almost entirely of student reports and discussions of current events. During the first half, Dr. Strickland lectured on geography, races, and cultures, and the girls read two or three books on related general subjects in addition to those they read for their projects. Complicating their studies are the frequent changes in the number and names of African countries — changes that outdate maps and books almost as soon as they are printed.

VAS Members Meet May 10-13

On May 10-13, the thirty-ninth meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science will meet in Lexington, Virginia.

The Academy is an organization of Virginia scientists and laymen who are interested in science. This organization originated at Williamsburg in 1923 as the Association of Virginia Biologists and later developed into a non-profit organization known as the Virginia Academy of Science.

Representatives attending the Academy from Longwood include: Mr. Merrit, Mr. Scott, Miss Burger, Dr. Jeffers, Dr. Brumfield, Dr. Wells, and several biology majors.

On Friday, May 12, Dr. Brumfield and Mr. Scott will present a paper on Nucleic Acids and Root Geotropism.

Center Director To Speak At LC On Speech Plan

Dr. James M. Mullendore, director of the Speech and Hearing Center at the University of Virginia, will visit Longwood College on Wednesday, May 17.

Dr. Mullendore will discuss the Cooperative Program in Speech Correction and Audiology between Longwood College and the University of Virginia with interested students from 3 to 4:30 p.m. in West Wing 18.

The Speech Correction and Audiology program consists of three years' study at Longwood and one at the University of Virginia. The degree from Longwood College could be either a Bachelor of Science degree in Secondary Education or a Bachelor of Arts degree in Secondary Education with a major in speech correction and audiology.

This program will go into effect this coming September at Longwood.

Faculty To Play In Wisket Game

The players have not been announced, but the date of the student-faculty wisket game has been set for May 11. The Athletic Association is sponsoring the game and plan to use the proceeds to help pay expenses for those Longwood girls going to hockey camp this summer.

Jackie Forrest, Brenda Isbel, and "Lefty" Snyder who are in charge of the game have expressed the hope that the student body and the faculty will support the game "even though the color cup isn't at stake. They feel certain that everyone can afford one-tenth of a dollar (admission price). Let's not let them down—The game should prove to be most interesting at any rate.

Dowd Takes Position At Memphis State U

Miss Barbara Dowd, Physical Education Instructor at Longwood leaves at the end of the semester to accept a position at Memphis State University, Memphis, Tennessee. Having been graduated from Memphis State in June, 1957, with a B.S. in Physical Education, Miss Dowd will feel at home in her new position. She will assume the duties of instructing team sports and heading an extensive intramural program as well as other general service courses.

When asked how she felt about leaving Longwood she commented, "I hate to leave because everyone has been so wonderful here — students, faculty, and staff. I'm so thankful for the opportunity and the responsibilities that have been placed on me here as they have helped me tremendously, both personally and professionally. I have grown very attached to Longwood and will miss it very much."

During her three years at Longwood, Miss Dowd has become very much a part of Longwood. She is sponsor of the freshman class, co - sponsor of Alpha Gamma Delta, coach of the varsity tennis team, and assists Mrs. Bobbitt with the H2O Club. She also assists the techniques class as well as instructs freshman physical education classes, beginning swimming, and Health Education.

A native of Leland, Mississippi, Miss Dowd received her M.A. degree from the University of Alabama where she received the only graduate assistantship offered that year in the physical education department. As a part of the assistantship, she taught in the women's physical education department at the University of Alabama. She completed graduate school in August, 1958 and assumed her position at Longwood in September of the same year.

While at Memphis State doing undergraduate work for her B.S. degree, Miss Dowd excelled in varied campus activities. Graduating cum laude, she was selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and Mortar Board. A member of Alpha Gamma Delta Fraternity, she was also active in the sports program there.

One of Miss Dowd's favorite hobbies is sewing which is evidenced by her extensive wardrobe. Another hobby of Miss Dowd is instructing swimming, which she does every summer in her home town. Along with these hobbies is her interest in sports. When asked which was her favorite sport she replied, "I really can't say because I enjoy them all."

As for her plans this summer, Miss Dowd will continue her studies at Alabama before assuming her new position.

Longwood will certainly feel the loss of Miss Dowd and wishes her much success in her new position.

Officers Chosen For Fiscal Year By Swim Group

On Monday, May 8, the H2O Club slate of officers for the 1961-62 year was announced at a luncheon in the Longwood College tearoom. At that time, gifts were presented to Mrs. Eleanor Bobbitt and Miss Barbara Dowd for their guidance and help throughout the year.

Guests at the luncheon were Miss Brockenbrough, Miss Iler, Mrs. Landrum, and Miss Dowd.

The new officers are president, Ginger Culpepper; first vice-president, Ann Smith; secretary, Anne Greene; treasurer, Janice Harris; and historian, Joanne White. The co-chairmen for the Christmas water pageant were also announced. They are Ann Smith and Joanne White.

LC Team Loses Racquet Match On Home Court

By Lefty Snyder

Although a playful wind blew dust across the tennis courts, Westhampton College and Longwood continued with their battle of the racquets. The match was held here, Monday, May 8.

One Win

Of the five matches played, Longwood won one. In a singles match lasting approximately two hours, Barbara Brantley defeated her opponent 6-1, 4-6, 6-2. Clara Lee Parker and Gladys Patrick lost their matches with scores of 8-6, 6-3, and 6-4, 5-7, 6-4 respectively.

Doubles

In the doubles, Ann Greene and Lois Obenshain won the first set 6-3, but lost the remaning sets 6-1, 6-3, to lose the match. Ann Edgerton and Lindy Hatch, also paired in a doubles match, suffered a loss of 6-2, 6-4.

Those who saw the matches witnessed fine tennis as both teams were strong. The skill and endurance displayed on the courts resulted in many beautiful, well played shots.

Longwood Wins Over RPI Team

On Tuesday, May 2, the varsity tennis team once again donned their white tennis skirts as they welcomed RPI to our Longwood campus.

The Blue and White came out on top, winning three and tying one of the five matches. Senior Barbara Brantley won her singles match 6-0, 6-0; Clara Lee Parker and Gladys Patrick, also seniors, helped to keep Longwood victorious.

Patrick defeated her opponent 6-1, 6-2, while in another singles match, Clara Lee and her rival each had one set to their credit when the game was called due to lack of time.

In the doubles matches, Ann Downey and Lindy Hatch teamed together to capture a victory of 6-3, 0-3. Ann Edgerton and Sandra Phlegar suffered a defeat in their match.

Patronize
The Rotunda
Advertizers

See the Selection
of
Mother's Day Gifts
at
MARTIN,
THE JEWELER

Select A Shower Gift
from
LANSCOTT'S

Longwood Special
Wilson Tennis Balls
Can of 3 only $2.25
reg. $2.75
Southside Sundry

Mother's Day Gifts!
MOTHER'S DAY BOOKLETS
The New English Bible
Billy Graham's My Answer
The New Joy of Cooking
Civil War Titles
Poetry Collections
Best Sellers
Weyanoke Book Shop
200 High St.
Farmville, Va.

108 Placed

Graduating Seniors Receive Assignments

The Office of Administration has released information concerning the teaching assignments of June and February graduates.

Those receiving the bachelor of science degree in elementary education are assigned to the following areas: Roanoke, Betty Abbott; Mary Booth; Nancy Caudill; Lieff Landrum; Nancy Leeber; Jean Patrick; Janet Underwood; Mary Jo Rozell; York, Betty Lou Allpool; Barbara Chaffin; Nancy Quarles; Hampton, Sandra Dodd Angle, Patricia Barrow; Norfolk, Frances Ayres; Bette Jean Chatt, Marilyn Lee Holt; Kathryn Ann Hubbard, Sarah Marion Lampton, Elizabeth Walker; Beverly Jean White; Nottoway, Emily Shelton; Prince William, Frances Tune; Bedford, Judith Beckner; Danville, Sara Bo well, Nancy Cole, Patsy Felts, Barbara Moore; Chesterfield, Nannie Caudill, Catherine Reid; Princess Anne, Betty Chappell, Virginia Coleman, Elizabeth Dunn, Beverly Kersey, Gaye Yates; Lynchburg, Gaye Yates; Brunswick, Clara Kidd; Alexandria, Doris Webster.

The following areas have been assigned to those receiving the bachelor of science degree in secondary education: Richmond, Ann Crowder, Franklin, Barbara Brantley; Huguenot Academy, Dorothy Burnette; Portsmouth, Bobbie Caples; Norfolk, Lou Ella Culler, Ruth Phipps, Sandra Watkins; Pulaski County, Nancy Cullip; Fredericksburg, Jean Gates; Patricia Southworth; Charlotte Court House, Mable Healey, Carolyn Oliver; Princess Anne, Alice Layne, Virginia Van de Relt; Roanoke, Geraldine Ludwich, Mary Earline Queen; Newport News, Janice McClenny; Churchland, Joyce Odom; Lynchburg, Clara Lee Parker; Danville, Linda Payne; Prince William, Nancy Speakman; Henrico, Jennette Talbott; Amelia, Robert Thomas, Jr.; Fairfax, Doris Tolley; Mecklenburg Gladys Wells; Wells; Alexandria, Alma Jean Wright.

Carolyn Thorpe will attend the University of Tennessee graduate school, and Sandra Ferebee will teach in Alaska. Rose Marie Johnson will work with the government in Maryland.

Those areas assigned to graduates receiving the bachelor of arts in secondary education are: Henrico, Sandra Clements; Norfolk, Matilda P. Conley, Harriet Dawson, Patricia Pascal, Judith Robertson; Fairfax, Elizabeth Elliott; Rockbridge, Cherry Gorham; Newport News, Roberta Koons; King William, Jeanette Metcalf; Mecklenburg, Nancy Morris; Roanoke, Norma Routt; Hampton, Nancy Umbarger; Princess Anne, Hannah White; Lynchburg, Katherine Yeatts; Nansemond, Gwen Worrell will attend graduate school.

Seniors receiving the bachelor of science in business education have been assigned to these areas: Russell, Linda Campbell; Prince George, Lenna Claborne; Pulaski, Cherron Kelley Dunman; Roanoke, Margaret Lacy, Sue Ellen Sites, Nancy Swann; Lawrenceville, Evelyn King Thompson; Culpeper, Frances Ann Weaver; Henrico, Marian Zimmerman. Katie Mae Bolt will take a secretarial position in Miami, and Patricia Bolt has a secretarial position in Charlottesville. Mary Rideout will be working for the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Those receiving the bachelor of science in home economics education will be teaching in the following areas: Suffolk, Elsie Albertson; York, Elizabeth Ann Arehart; Roanoke, Mary Barnes; Ann Arundel County, Maryland, Mary Elizabeth Lee; Richmond, Melissa Rowe.

Those receiving the bachelor of music education degree will teach in the following areas Mecklenburg, Nancy Cobb; Roanoke, Gloria Jean Dancy, William Lee; Newport News, Linda Forrest; Hampton, Martha Jean Helms.

Those receiving the bachelor of arts degree who will teach in the following areas: Princess Ann, Judy Harris; Roanoke, Martha Shirley. Nancy Lemen will attend graduate school.

Carol Boley, a bachelor of science recipient, will teach in Charlotte, Virginia Havener will continue her nurse's training.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu, honorary history and social sciences fraternity, initiated five new members Monday, May 1 in the Cypress Room. The new members are Kay Huffman, Patsy Carr, Rosemary Henry, Helen Gene Taylor, and Dibby Mohr.

The group will have a picnic Thursday, May 11, in Appomattox. Included in the trip to Appomattox will be a tour of the McLean House and the surrender grounds.

—Staff Photo

CAMPUS NECESSITY, the mailbox, has visit from S. Starr.

—Staff Photo

PHI MU, new Greek colony on campus, prepares for week of activities.

'Inspirational Week' Precedes Initiation

Phi Mu, the new Greek colony on the Longwood campus, is this week venturing into a round of gala activities which will culminate Sunday, May 14th, in a Tea honoring its new initiates.

Inspiration Week, being held this week, is a time of preparing Phi Mu pledges for their responsibilities and privileges as members. Specially planned activities prior to chapter installation are varied and numerous.

As part of a pledge project, Phi Mu pledges will divide into two groups and visit the local Southside Community Hospital on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week.

Socialize

Phi Mu's will 'socialize' Thursday night at a Coke party and "sing" in their chapter room. Friday afternoon will find Phi Mu's picnicking at Longwood Estate.

The National Council representative, Mrs. Landon Freear, of Fort Worth, Texas, will arrive Thursday to witness the weekend's activities and assist in the chapter installation. Mrs. Freear is the National Panhellenic Conference Delegate for Phi Mu Fraternity.

Make History

A historical moment for the national Phi Mu Fraternity will be the installation of the Longwood chapter, Gamma Iota, and the initiation of the 32 pledges on Saturday, May 13, at 2 p.m. in Student Building.

A banquet at 6:30 p.m. in the Tearoom will follow in the day's sequence of events. Missie Powers will act as toastmistress of the banquet. Barbara Louden of American University in Washington, DC, will give the welcome to the new Gamma Iota chapter. Miss Ruth Jenelle Spear, assistant dean of women at Longwood, will give a welcome from the college. The speaker for the evening will be Dean Ruth B. Wilson.

Parents Invited

A Sunday afternoon tea from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the Student Lounge will honor the new initiates. Parents and distinguished guests have been invited to attend.

The chapter installation will draw Phi Mu's to Longwood campus from college chapters at Madison, William and Mary, Roanoke College, and American University. The above college chapters comprise the District IV group of Phi Mu's. Mrs. Thomas Felton of Washington, DC, the District IV president, and Miss Linda A. Dean, district treasurer, will also be on hand for the ceremonies.

Corps Officials, NEA Announce Joint Program

Richard M. Carrigan, director of the Student National Education Association, on April 28 announced a cooperative program between the Student NEA and Peace Corps officials to recruit teachers for Peace Corps work. The program will operate on 840 college and university campuses where there are Student NEA chapters.

Peace Corps questionnaires and information booklets are being distributed by Student NEA to its 70,000 members following a meeting April 3 of NEA officials and Thomas Quimby of the Peace Corps staff, Mr. Carrigan said. Additional materials have been sent to chapter headquarters for distribution to other students.

"President Kennedy has stated that teaching will be a major point of emphasis of the program," NEA President Clarice Kline wrote in a letter accompanying the questionnaires. She added that no youth group "is more vitally concerned than members of the Student National Education Association."

Until Congress passes the necessary legislation, the Peace Corps is operating on a temporary basis. The President has said that he hopes for at least 500 recruits to be working at the "grass roots" level in underdeveloped countries by the end of the year.

Granddaughters Choose Officers For Next Year

The Granddaughter's Club held a meeting after lunch Wednesday, May 3, to elect officers for next year.

The following officers were elected: Jane Hanger, president; Shelby Lucy, vice president; Bettie Ann Rex, secretary; Mary Ann Lipford, treasurer; Laurice Hamlet, historian; and Frances Haga, Bonnie Gentry, and Barbara Fields, social chairmen.

It was also decided that instead of a picnic the club would have a dessert party Thursday, May 18, at 6:30 p.m. in the Alumnae House.

Note

The Rotunda wishes to correct an error in the April 26, issue. "No" was given in answer to the question, Is it good manners to stand for the blessing, if it is the custom? The correct answer is Yes.

Morris Receives Davidge Award For UVa Study

Nancy Morris, senior English major at Longwood College from Darlington Heights, has been awarded a Virginia Mason Davidge Fellowship for graduate study at the University of Virginia. She plans to work in the field of American literature towards the M.A. degree in English.

During her four years at Longwood, Nancy has been a member of honor societies in English, journalism, and education, essay editor of the student literary magazine, a member of the YWCA cabinet, and vice-president of the Baptist Student Union.

She has just completed an honors paper on "American Negro Poetry: A Critical Analysis." Her oral examination for honors will be held on May 18 with a panel of visiting and local professors participating.

Madrigal Group, Choir Announce 1961-62 Officers

The officers of the Longwood Choir for the year 1961 - 1962 are president, Madeline MacNeil; vice-president, Pat Sadler; secretaries, Raye Turner, Alice Joy Peele; treasurer, Joan Ivy; assistant treasurer, Betty Ann Rex; and publicity chairman, Kackie Turner.

Madrigals

Madrigal officers for the year 1961-1962 are president, Kackie Turner and secretary-treasurer, Zee Tapp.

Graduation

Concluding its activities for this year, the Longwood Choir will sing for graduation June 4, 1961.

GENTRY STUDIOS
Salem, Va.
Midwinter College Specials!

Jack Frost
1—8x10 Black & White Portrait
5—Billfold Size
Reg. Price $13.50
Special $8.95

Breezy
3—5x7 Portraits
12—Billfold Size
Reg. Price $24.50
Special $16.95

Snowdrift
1—8x10 Deluxe Oil
3—5x7 Portraits
6—Billfold Size
Reg Price $30.50
Special $20.95

Blizzard
1—11x14 Wall Portrait in Brush Oil
3—8x10 Portraits
6—Billfold Size
Reg. Price $45.00
Special $30.95

Just Say "Charge It" — We Welcome Your Account

8"x10" or 5"x7" GLOSS PRINTS $2.00 EACH

6 BILLFOLD SIZE—$3.00 12 BILLFOLD SIZE—$4.50

We Can Color Your 8"x10" or 5"x7" for $4.50

Just mail us a postal card or letter giving us your name and address and the name of "Special" wanted.

We Know the Photograph You Used In the VIRGINIAN.

START

DETECTED ERRORS ON THIS FILM MARKED OUT IN PERMANENT INK.

THE CORRECTIONS FOR DETECTED ERRORS APPEAR AT THE END OF THE ROLL AND ARE PRECEDED BY A RECORD ADDITION SHEET.

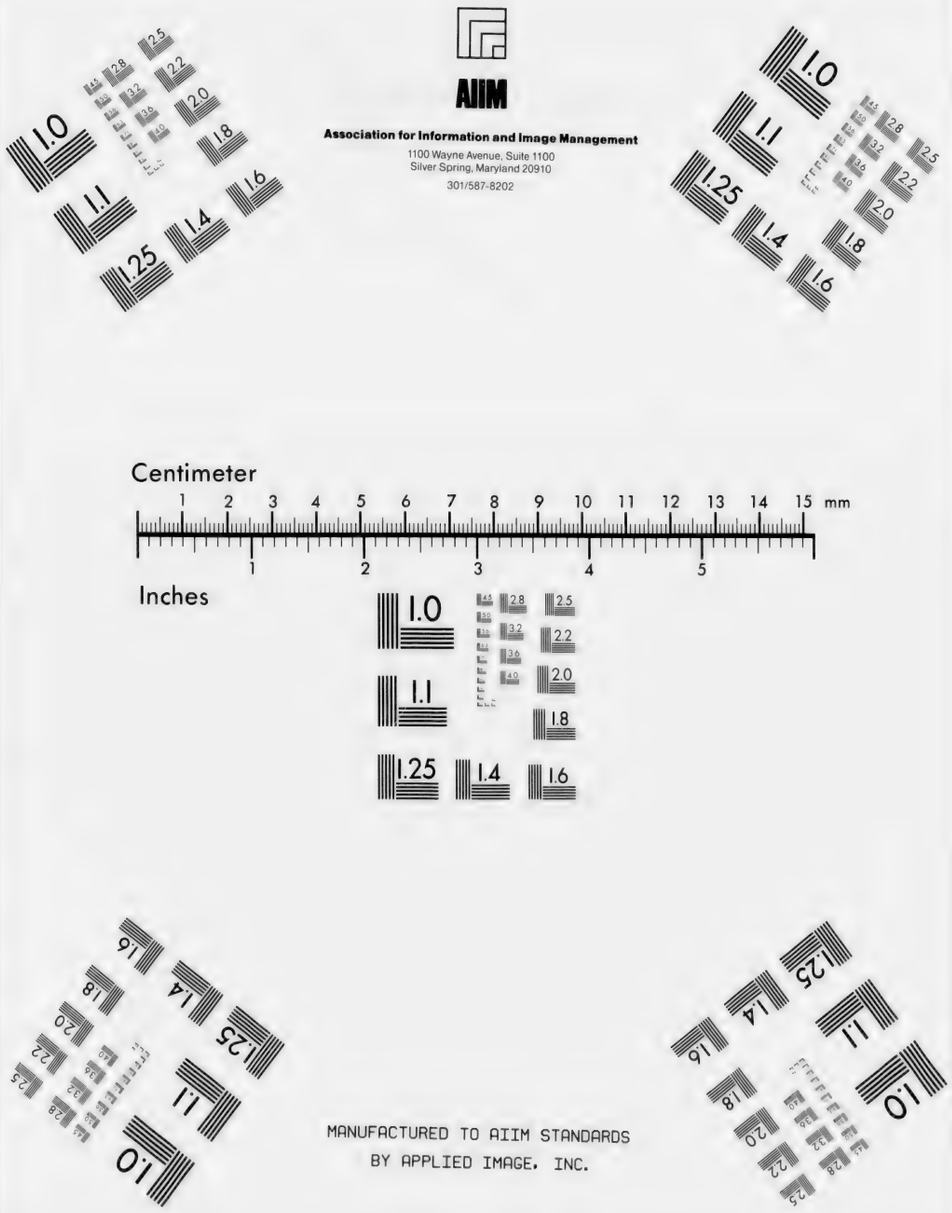
Microfilmed by TPS Imaging Solutions

110 Vista Centre Drive, Forest, VA. (804) 385-4600

R-139C

B^2 A B^1 B^1 A B^2

CERTIFICATE OF AUTHENTICITY



THIS IS TO CERTIFY that the microphotographs appearing on this Film-File (Roll Number 5 **)
starting with 29-32 Sept 23, 1949 - May 20, 1953
and ending with _____ are accurate and complete reproductions of the records of (Company and Department) Longwood
_____
as delivered in the regular course of business for photographing.

Date Produced: 10 / 25 / 95 (Month) (Day) (Year)
Camera Operator: Lena Holmes
TPS Job No#. RP19546
Camera: Type MRC-1 No#. 2
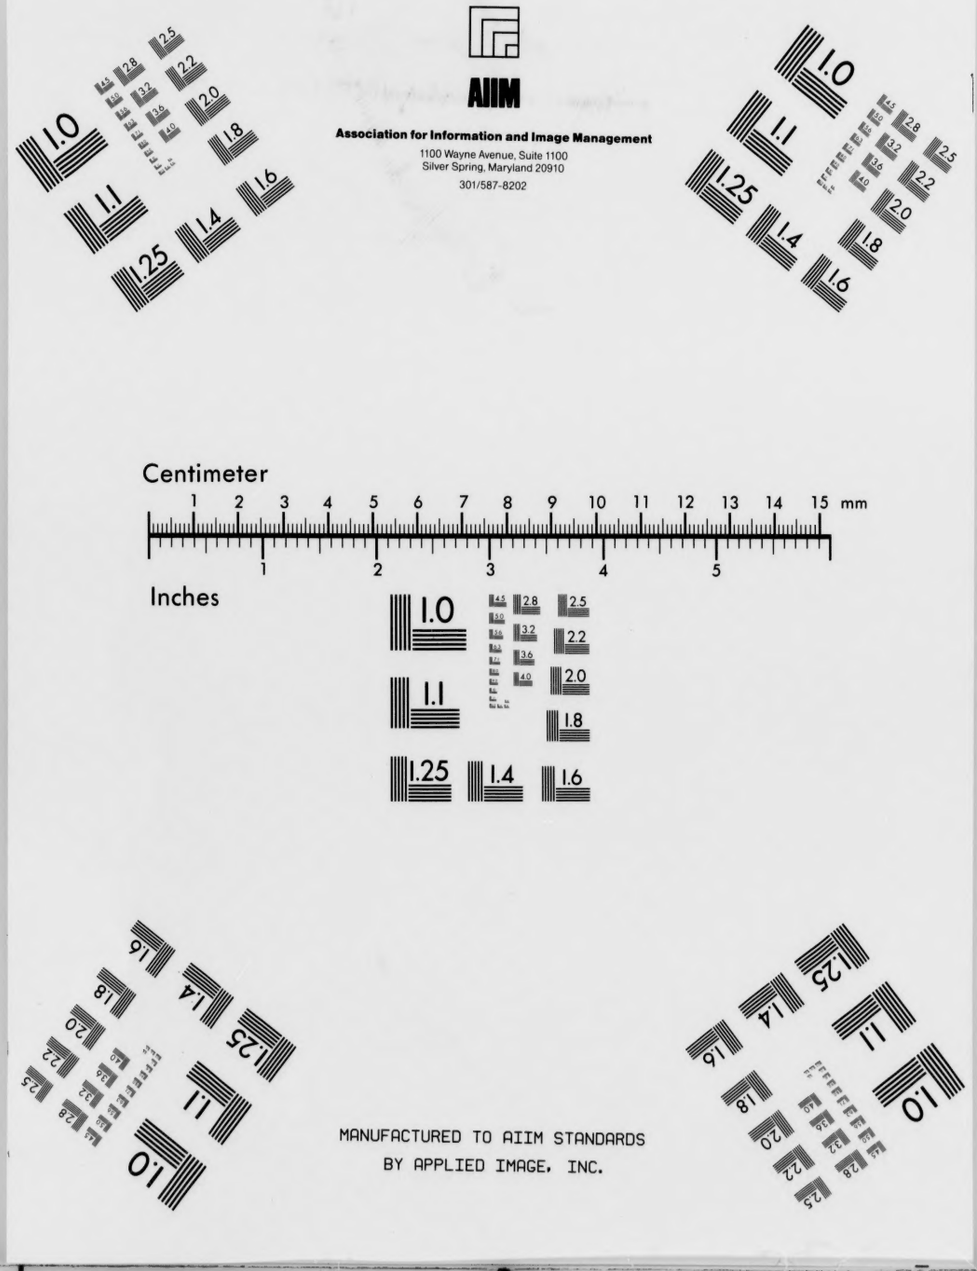
Film Unit No#. 2
Original Box, Tube, Container Number(s) _____

Microfilmed by TPS Imaging Solutions
110 Vista Centre Drive, Forest, VA. 24551 (804) 385-4600
1259 Willlamson Road, SE, Roanoke, VA 24013 (703) 342-3659

R-126B D.C.



AIIM
Association for Information and Image Management
1100 Wayne Avenue, Suite 1100
Silver Spring, Maryland 20910
301/587-8202
Centimeter
Inches
MANUFACTURED TO AIIM STANDARDS
BY APPLIED IMAGE, INC.

B2 A B1 B1 A B2

B 2
A
B 1
B 1
A
B 2

B2
A
B1
B1
A
B2

AIIM
Association for Information and Image Management
1100 Wayne Avenue, Suite 1100
Silver Spring, Maryland 20910
301/587-8202
Centimeter
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 mm
Inches
1 2 3 4 5
MANUFACTURED TO AIIM STANDARDS
BY APPLIED IMAGE, INC.

B² A B¹ B¹ A B²

CERTIFICATE OF AUTHENTICITY

THIS IS TO CERTIFY that the microphotographs appearing on this Film-File (Roll Number 5 **)
starting with 29-32 Sept. 23, 1949 - May 20, 1953
and ending with 38-40 Oct. 1958 - May 1961
are accurate and complete reproductions of the records of (Company and Department) Longwood

as delivered in the regular course of business for photographing.

Date Produced: 10 (Month) 26 (Day) 95 (Year) Camera Operator: Lena Holmes

TPS Job No#. RR19346 Camera: Type MRC 2 No#. 2

Film Unit No#. 2 Original Box, Tube, Container Number(s) ____

Microfilmed by TPS Imaging Solutions
110 Vista Centre Drive, Forest, VA. 24551 (804) 385-4600
1259 Williamson Road, SE, Roanoke, VA 24013 (703) 342-3659

R-126B D.C.

B² A B¹ B¹ A B²

END

Microfilmed by TPS Imaging Solutions

110 Vista Centre Drive, Forest, VA. (804) 385-4600

R-1408

B^2 A B^1 B^1 A B^2